Anglicans Prefer Summer.

The Roman Catholics appear from the city hall records to prefer to be married in the autumn. Any old time in the year suits the Presbyterians But the good old summertime is when the Anglicans increase their standing most in the columns of marriage statistics.

Last Christmas week, December, 1920, the figures for the week included 6 Anglican 3 Methodist, 2 Presbyterians and 2 Roman Catholic weddings. The Bane Day, December 25.

As it was, both the 9:20 and 10:20 trains were crowded to the limits of comfortable capacity, and trains leaving since have filled up quickly from the crowds left over from previous trains. Although the present incumbent of the position in the local office had nothing to do with the fight to keep that vacancy for a district man, it is now alleged that he was partly instrumental in creating the opposition. From casual observation it would appear that it is the intention of the higher authorities down at the capital to make him "the goat."

Compared With Canada. Conditions in these Scandinavian countries in so far as the pulp and paper industry was concerned, were more serious than in Canada. Many of the pulp mills were shut down entirely. Some of them had taken on long-term contracts at profitable prices with mills in Great Britain and France, but had not been able to enforce these contracts. In Finland, where the currency was more depreciated than in any other European country, except Germany and Austria, the mills were more active, especially in exporting to the United States. But the currency advantage was proving a rather dubious one, as manufacturers found the higher profits absorbed by the higher cost of necessary imports.

"British paper makers," Mr. Beck declared, "expect to benefit by pending tariff legislation which undertakes to give protection to certain 'key industries,' including paper making. They have also been granted a substantial tariff preference by Australia and arout to recapture that market, which was largely supplied by Canada during the war. It would be interesting to know how Canada came to be excluded from this preferential arrangement, since late last fail, Mark Sheldon, the Australian trade commissioner to the United States, met a number of Canadian manufacturers in Toronto and declared that Australia was quite willing to extend the preference to Canada if this country would give certain concessions. A memorial was passed and forwarded to the Government at the time, by the local manufacturers." Protection in Britain.

BRITISH BY-ELECTION CAMPAIGN IS WAGED ON ECONOMY POLICY

London, Aug. 24.—(Canadian Press Cable).—It is long since Great Britain saw an election campaign so extraordinary and campaigning so irresponsible as that taking place in the vacant constituency of Westminster Abbey, where polling will take place tomorrow. This is especially evident when it is remembered that this division was at one time reckoned as a closed Tory pocket. It is now a borough in which the two Conservative candidates both deny allegiance to the Coalition Government of Lloyd George. One of the Conservatives, ance to the Coalition Government of Lloyd George. One of the Conservatives, Col. CONSTRUCTIVE POLICY WANTED.

Some interesting points in regard to present economic conditions in the country have been brought up at the annual meeting of the Trades and Labor Congress now being held at Winnipeg. In a memorandum wit will himself. It is also pointed out that many submitted by the executive council, attention was called to the fact that the federal military and naval appropriations for the year 1921 showed an increase for the upkeep of military and naval forces of nearly $2,000,000, and a decrease in constructive public undertakings, for which appropriations have been millions. A comparison made between these two items is fraught with significance. In place of doing everything possible to relieve the labor situation along sound economic lines by developing the resources with which Canada is teeming, the Government is still thinking

In speaking of the natural resources of the country imperially. one immediately thinks of the vast agricultural, mineral and forest wealth with which the Dominion is endowed, end which is to a great extent untouched. We do not hesitate to say that were such a vast quantity of rich possibilities ready to hand in Germany that country would be at them for all she was worth in an effort to pay off her huge bill for war reparations. Such a policy would be infinitely more sound than the spoon-feeding of sickly industries and the doling or lays. out of relief to the victims who have been deprived of the means of earning a livelihood.

Coal and iron, as well as the more precious metals, ire found in many parts of the Dominion, and the wealth of the country is an asset that cannot be overestimated. Norway and Sweden have derived good things, and Scott lays his foundations slowly but vast revenues from their timber resources, particularly the supply of pulpwood, and Denmark, with an energy and enterprise to be admired, has surprised a tale of bawdry, go to any modern novelist, but not the world by her dairy products.

The war has placed a huge burden of debt on the country, the interest on which alone amounts to an appalling sum, but in place of trying to pay off this form:dable obligation by sound economic methods the Government is chiefly concerned in window-dressing souls, but to make them worth saving." Scott is and keeping up appearances. OUR WOODLAND WEALTH.

OUR WOODLAND WEALTH.

The forestry section of the Ontario Department of Agriculture is gradually making headway in its mission of educating the people in the advantages that pertain to the conservation and renewal of any timber resources of the province. The day is long since past when farmers used to haul into the market load after load of cordwood to be cut into lengths with which to replenish the kitchen stove, this fuel being in the majority of cases composed of valuable hardwoods, such as beech, oak and birdseye maple. Had there not been such a prodigal use of this material, the country would have been richer today. But there is no use crying over the past; the present and future is with what we have to deal.

In various parts of the country local organizations among the farmers have done much to advance the cause of farm forestry, and many have seen that a grave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been committed in the past by denudgrave error has been contained to the did a good work and we hope they may yet help us, for if we long had two or three rooms in such grave error has been committed in the past by denuding non-agricultural soil of its trees, and the remedy advocated is that those areas should be replanted. Owing to the fact that the forest crop takes so long to come to maturity, selfish reasons have had a tendency to cause the individual to shirk the responsibility. Unfortunately there does not prevail a sufficient amount of that generous and farseeing spirit which makes the planter think of those who come after; but he is standing in his own light in adopting this attitude, for in the event of his realizing his property he will find that he has a good asset in a well-planted area of non-agricultural land.

In Europe it is a recognized principle that forestry must have the aid and supervision of the state if anything like a national policy is to exist. Similarly it would be well if in this country the farmer should receive all possible assistance in carrying out a policy which will in many cases benefit posterity more than farmers in the older parts of Ontario depend almost entirely on the supply of coal for fuel. It is time that a decided halt should be called in this direction, and some practical system

A New York hotel has established, or will shortly establish, a "thinking room" for the benefit of authors singers, actors, and so on, who want some quiet place, free from the noises of the city, to think in. We don't quite see that this is a good idea unless these great thinkers are compelled to sit still, and think, and do nothing else; and even at that how long would the thinkers think while staring at each other, and what would their thinks be worth? Further the matter is complicated by the announcement that a plano will be installed, but it "will be manipulated by players whose efforts do not properly come under the classification of distressing noise." Suppose, however, that an author does not like piano music; how about his thinks? The best cure for the thinkers would be to go to a newspaper office and see how men both think and write there with all kinds of noises going on; that would teach them that "thinking rooms" are not absolutely necessary for concentration upon work.

LOVE'S WAGES.

The wages of Love are small, so small,

A glance, a smile, or the clasp of hands,
The coin of a heart that understands;
A name soft whispered, a lingered kiss—
The wages of Love are paid in this.

But oh the magic such coin can buy— The waking joy of a dawn-flushed sky, Drudgery speeding on skylarks' wings. Songs in the heart beats of common things; And firelit shadows of evening blent With peace and comfort and all content.

The wages of Love are small, so small. One scarce could say they cost at all: Ore scarce lonely and hearts still ache Yet lives are lonely and hearts still ache In bitter lack for the wee coins' sake; And many a silk-clad life of ease Would barter its purse of gold for these.

THE BUTTERCUP.
[Howard S. Pearson.]
One flower there is to poet's pen
Almost unknown:
By every path in every mead,
A careless and uncared-for weed,
Self-sown.

Yet none with touch more free or hold The vernal landscape paints with gold So fair. Lowly—more fain for show than use, Heedless, unheeded, wild, profuse, And free as air.

The lowing herd avoids-the very child Disdains; one only friend, the all-embracing Culls the frail bloom whose passing show made blithe.

The laughing plains.

Grass of the field—tomorrow doomed to die Unwept—unknown:
There's not a flower that with a smile more trank
Held its gold chalice to the sun or drank Its radiance deeper down.

The rose may canker and the lily pine;
There would be dole. I ween.
Yet rose nor lily leave the world so bars
Or make the widowed fields so blank, as where
The buttercup hath been.

Cuplet of burnished gold with sunshine crowned.
Thy lot be mine;
To live obscurely happy—but to die Missed and lamented—'tis a destiny One half divine.

THE publishers of this paper draw your at= tention to the advertising columns, and particularly to the advertisements of the local merchants.

These merchants have invested their money in goods to satisfy the needs and desires of us all.

Their enterprise is a distinct service to our com= munity. For this reason we should buy from them to the best of our ability and in so far as our needs and judgment of value dictate.

Then, too, the general commodities advertised in our columns are worthy of consideration. It is desirable that readers should ask merchants to supply advertised goods wherever possible. By doing so the cycle of trade is kept alive and intercommunity commerce is stimulated. We repeat read the advertisements.

HARNESS RACES AT

JUST BETWEEN US

Tomorrow is the day on which the M.-O. magnates are scheduled to meet at lay City. It is believed that the object of the meeting is more or less to legalize famous Sunday meeting. Maines agreed with the with the action the directors took with regard to a sinking fund for the league, but of course balked when it came to the summary dismissa of his favorite umpire, Delave.

Harmony is not likely to be the keynote of the affair, and as a matter of fact there is likely to be quite a long line of linen hanging out in the backyard when the session is through.

Feeling against London in Kitchener and Hamflton runs strong, flooded and saturated as the two cities have been by Maines' propaganda.

The London Club have had no dealings with the Hamilton Club, but have ever been ready to help out the Beavers, so in the latter case it's a case of bit-

However, that's the way of the world and especially baseball.

Even the injection of the few haphazard rules which govern honorable ness dealings would do the Mint League an immense amount of good.

Outfielder.

The Boston Red Sox, who come here on Tuesday next to meet the London Champs and at present near-champs again, will probably find the welcome they'll receive in London a pleasant change from the receptions they get when playing on their own backyard. Boston fans have boycotted the Red Sox because of a difference in prices at the American and National League Parks, claiming that the former charge too much. However, that doesn't affect their playing, and the Red Sox are a justly feared aggregation around the unior circuit. However, it isn't so much the Red nowever, it isn't so much the Red Sox as the fact that Clarke Pittenger and Ernie Neitzke, members of the London championship team of 1920, will be on the line-up. Neitzke has done little but hurl to the batting cages, but Pitt has been in a good many games and has made a home for himself with and has made a home for himself with the Sox. Pitt had little to learn about fielding, but his batting was rather woeful when he struck the Sox camp. That will be the greatest change the fans will see in Pitt—his batting. He was made over into an entirely new batsman by Duffy, who is one of the managers in the big tent who looks after the rookies himself instead of letting them stand entirely on their own feet from the time Pittenger very nearly became a volunteer minor leaguer again last spring.

He went out one day and made five wobbly boots in succession.

Pitt went back to the hotel and packed his grip. He was on his way to Toledo when Neitzke and some of the veteran members of the club got him and talked him out of the miscue blues.

The Rovers have not yet been presented with their cup, but the league will arrange an exhibition fixture for St. Thomas either next week or the week following, and the presentation will be made.

Now that Alberta has come forth with an out and out professional hockey league, the "amateur out of the West," who was a distinctive character of amateur hockey, will lose individuality. It won't mean much of a change to hockey in Alberta, but it will probably age consciences which have been under hockey in Alberta, but it will probably ease consciences which have been under strain for years. Although everybody has handed them the pennant, the Pirates themselves are not spending any of the series money yet. With 38 games more to play, the Pirates only have to win 25, while the Giants would have to win 32 out of 35 games.

Nothing short of a freak wave can damage the Buccaneer craft. President Maines is said to have stated that in case of a rumpus with London he would come out on top. In case of a rumpus? He's a regular tank for punishment if he hasn't awakened to the fact that he was the central figure of a very lively rumpus right in London town a few weeks ago.

Maines probably believes it was cheers he heard as he left the door that night.

Word from Ottawa regarding the plenty Cup game between London and district team and Ottawa Lyalls is still being awaited. It is expected, however, that London team will leave on Friday night for the capital, and preparations are being made for the trip.

Lyalls have a fine reputation, but it is generally believed that the London-ers will be able to pull off a win.

The London team will be the same that made the trip to the Soo—practically the Public Utilities team. The Utilities filled the breach at an opportune moment, when a team could not be gathered in time for the Soo trip, and while a good many of them were picked for the original Plenty Cup originally slated as a team.

They are playing in top form right now, and will have no alibis if they fail to come through with a win on Satur-old and the same of them.

American Customs Officers Refutes Charges Made at Winnipeg as Without Foundation.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 23 .- Declaring the District Judge Tuttle here today made attacks on the department of labor sion of the Trades and Labor Congress

The department of labor was charged with unfairly reducing the wages of the men working on the Welland ship canal and for forcing them to work under unfair conditions. The men made no complaint to the Government, Senator Robertson said, and they had every opportunity to do so. The grievance, if there was one, should have been made to the proper authorities, and not indiscriminately aired for political purposes at the congress meeting.

The senator has sent a letter to President Tom Moore of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, which he asked the president to read before the congress and deny the truth of the allegations made by the speakers.

Former Commander of Fighting 18th Addresses Border Kiwanis.

Col. Wigle urged the members of the club to be good citizens. The speaker said that a man's citizenship is shown in his conduct in the every day affairs of life. Two maxims for good citizenship were given by Col. Wigle: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," and "Punctuality."

If the men of the Border Cities will treat each other fairly, it will be of great benefit to all of them, the speaker said. He stated that a person with a had character may cause one to form said. He stated that a person with a bad character may cause one to form a bad opinion of the club. and asked all the members to live up to Kiwanis cents per the members to live up to Kiwams ideals.

The tendency of the modern business world is to have men combine, not into partnership, but into incorporated companies, Col. Wigle told the Kiwanians. This necessitates that every man be awake every minute of the day and be punctual at all engagements, he said.

The speaker praised the concert given by the Orpheus Club last winter under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, and stated that concerts like that one were of great benefit to the community. It was announced at the meeting today that there will be no meeting next Tuesday. Instead, the meeting will be held at Devonshire Park, Wednesday evening, Aug. 31. Members of the Kiwanis Club of St. Thomas, and the Detroit and Cleveland baseball teams will be the guests of the local Kiwanians.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Aug. 23.—
Fine harvest weather prevails here today, with hot sun and slight breeze an ideal day for ripening. Reports from farmers indicate record wheat yields on nearly all the farms in the Prince Alberta area.

The oat crop is probably the best ever harvested in Saskatchewan, according to Andrew Knox, M.P., who has been farming near Prince Albert for many years. Many oat fleilds will run between 80 and 100 bushels, while the majority of the wheat fields will yield between 35 and 50 bushels.

Though nothing has yet been done, word of the attorney-general's intended action has evidently reached the railroad officials, who, so far, have not taken steps to remove any of the liquor ordered by warehouses here.

The statement was made today by a man in close touch with the situation is as follows: "The Canadian Pacific Railway has been asked to move several carloads of whiskey from the distillery at Waterloo to Windsor. Although they have not refused to move the liquor, they have not, so far, taken any steps to transport it. We know that the attorney-general intends trying to stop the transportation of liquor through the province, and We think that it is quite probable that the railroad is holding back, pending action on the part of the attorney-general. "It is very strongly hinted, that, if such is the case, the Canadian Pacific Railway will welcome a lawsuit as a test case. They are quite anxious to find out just what will be the result, he said.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.-A statement handed out by the department of agriculture late this afternoon reads:

A conference was held in Ottawa today between Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance; Hon. Dr. Tolmie, minister of agriculture; C. A. Bogert, president; Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, Sir John Aird, C. E. Neil, E. C. Pratt and J. P. Bell, officials of the Canadian Bankers' Association, respecting the present unsatisfactory condition of the Canadian beef cattle industry. It was recognized that some special measures be taken immediately for the protection of ranches, cattle dealers, cattle feeders and farmers. Owing to restricted markets and a pronounced reduction in prices, Canadian cattle cannot at present be sold to advantage.

As a result of the discussion that took place, assurance was given by the bankers that all reasonable consideration will be extended to deserving borrowers against livestock especially with regard to periods of loans and renewals ed that some kind of fire protection the village is badly needed.
