Woman's Auxiliary Annual Convention

Mrs. E. Douglas, Mrs. A. Feilde and Mrs. R. Smith attended as delegates from the Woman's Auxiliary of Grace Church the annual meeting of the diocesan board of the Woman's Auxiliary to the M. S. C. C. of the Church of England, held in the Parish hall of Christ Church Cathedral Hamilton, on April 26th and 27th. His Lordship, Bishop Clark, in his address alluded to the great wave of vice and crime which is sweeping over the world today, and said, "I believe the cause of this can be traced directly back to the homes, I do not think that parents are taking the same interest in their children as they used to do. Where are family prayers nowadays? Who ever hears of scripture reading in the home? Those great words 'wife' and 'home' and 'mother' are losing their meaning." Another great reason was that the laity had to go outside the church for fellowship. Members of the congregation did not fulfil their duties to their fellow-members, and there too many sets and cliques. His Lordship said that he himself had come across a case in this diocese where a young couple had come to a parish and had not received one visit from any member of the congregation of the church in two years. Another woman had acknowledged that she found her friends by joining a bridge club because she had found none in the church.

The Woman's Auxiliary is doing a splendid work in the church. There are at present 5669 members of the W. A. in the Niagara diocese. The receipts also show a substantial increase over last year. Mrs. C. S. Scott reported the total receipts for the year from the Extra Cent a Day fund for the year was $1,246.50, and from the United Thank Offering fund $1,826.96. Mrs. Thos. Halson, diocesan secretary, reported increased receipts over other years of $6,589.00 the total receipts being $13,964.86. For the Dorcas department receipts of $4,927.00 was reported. Miss Gilmer, Miss Hawkins and Miss Shore, young missionaries assigned to Home and Foreign fields, delivered able addresses on their work.

The Passing of the Horse

A story is going the rounds of a certain gentleman, who purchased a motor truck in Dundas, and drove over after it, after securing the motor he prepared to return home, but was in a quandry as to what to do with his horse and rig as it would be impossible for him to drive both home, so decided to turn his horse loose to find its way home as best he could. The horse not being used to so much freedom decided to inspect the railway line, with the result that the Western Express struck him and put him out of business. Our advice to intending purchasers of motor trucks is when they find themselves in a similar predicament to tie the steed on behind the gasoline launch and take a chance of the noble animal arriving home alive and well. The gentleman referred to lives, we are told, not many miles from the Mountain City.

No man is as clever as he thinks others think he is.

Will Dispense with Written Examinations

A change in the High School entrance examinations is being made to take effect this year. Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, has announced that High School Entrance Boards under the new plan will be left free to decide whether the candidates shall be accepted on the certificates of Public School Principals or shall write on the examinations as usual.

The boards will determine the conditions under which the Principals certificates are to be accepted. The boards may, in addition, recommend to the Minister the admission of candidates who in their opinion are fitted for High School work, even though, in certain respects, they have failed to attain the required standard at written examinations. Moreover, those who for adequate reasons were unable to write on the examinations, may have their applications for admission to High Schools considered by the Public School Inspectors and High School Principals at any time.

The changes involve considerable alteration of the existing regulations which will be modified accordingly. The chief complaint has been that admission by Public School Principals was hampered by a requirement that the promotion examination papers and results had been submitted to the Entrance Board and the result in the opinion of many was merely an entrance examination of a different sort. In future Entrance Boards may dispense with a set form of examination and accept such recommendations from Principals as are deemed satisfactory.

Patton-Baker Wedding

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday, April 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Baker, when their second daughter, Hazel Lillian, was united in marriage to Victor Arthur Patton, of Goderich, Ontario. The bride wore a gown of blue satin and carried a bouquet of carnations and ferns. Miss Nora Raynor, of Greensville, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. H. Cox, of Toronto, as groomsmen. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome brooch set with pearls, to the bridesmaid pearl earrings, and to the groomsmen gold cuff links. The happy couple left on the 8 o'clock train for Goderich and other points. On their return they will reside at St. Catharines.

The farmers are busy seeding at present.

Choral Club Concert

The Choral Club Concert to be given next Tuesday evening in the Rink promises to be one of the best events ever put on in Waterdown. The selections of Mr. J. C. Lougheed the whistler from the 91st Band of Hamilton, are alone worth far more than the price of admission. Mr. Lougheed went overseas with the 80th Battalion Band, and has performed at some of the largest music halls in England. He has whistled for all kinds and conditions of men, the soldier in the trenches, the curtain at home, and before royalty on the throne. The Welland Telegraph says, "His imitations of birds were very delightful. The calling of a brood of chickens together was as well done as one of the feathered creatures could have done it herself, and his imitation of the cry of the loon was weird and beautiful", and from an English paper, "John Lougheed, a whistler who imitates the birds with a wonderful accuracy and who whistles popular airs as they were never before whistled, along with imitations and impersonations that were more than clever, brought round after round of applause." He also gives trombone selections, and his skill in double stopping on this instrument is marvellous.

In addition to this there will be other pleasing novelties. A Japanese romance in costume, and a duet arrangement of that song everybody loves "When You and I were young, Maggie" to be given by a dear old lady and gentleman in old-time costume. A humorous quartette "A sure cure for the blues", and by request, the quartette that made such a hit at the Men's concert, "The House that Jack Built." Also solos piano numbers and readings by the Misses R. Weaver, V. Nicholson and J. Corry. These with the Choral numbers will make a splendid evening's entertainment. Proceeds for the Memorial Hall furnishings. General admission 35c. Reserved seats 50c. Program begins promptly at 8.15.

Club-Root of Turnips, Cabbage, Etc. (Experimental Farms' Notes)

Club-root of turnips and related plants causes a considerable loss in the eastern provinces. Diseased roots are greatly swollen, distorted and sometimes rotted.

CONTROL. If the following precautions are adopted the disease can be greatly reduced if not completely controlled:

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE. The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old veins.

(1) Plant only on disease free soil. A comparatively new piece of land which has never been planted with turnips, cabbage, rape, etc., and which hence may be regarded to be absolutely free from the disease is preferable.

(2) Liming is a good practice. Considerable benefit may be secured by applying three tons of air slaked lime or five tons of ground limestone any time before planting the crop; but the best results are obtained when the lime is applied immediately after the diseased crop has been harvested and a period of three or four years allowed to elapse before turnips or cabbages are again planted.

Spring Pruning (Experimental Farms' Notes)

If pruning is to be done this spring see that it is completed before the sap is flowing to any extent. Do not think it is necessary to take out a lot of wood from every tree. Much damage may be done by annual butchering.

POINTS TO REMEMBER. In cutting back a main branch and one of its strong growing laterals do not cut both to the base, choose the latter as the main branch to retain the lead.

Modern Slavery. There is no legal and formal slavery now in any Christian country. It survives in a mild form in most Mohammedan countries.

Birds Not Man's Enemies. It is a fact that if it were not for the bird life we would starve to death. The great natural enemy of man is any force that will destroy his food-stuffs.

FIND MURDERER OF PONTIAC GIRL

Flint Man Confesses to the Killing.

Says Girl Asked Him to Kill Her.

Pontiac, Mich., Despatch — Anson Best, formerly of Flint, Mich., confessed early this morning, according to Prosecutor Glenn C. Gillespie, that he killed Miss Vera Schneider, 18-year-old telephone operator, whose body was found early Sunday morning on the porch of an unoccupied dwelling.

Best, according to the prosecutor, had been questioned throughout the night, and broke down after being identified by a workman as having been seen washing his hands in the Clinton River, near the scene of the crime, a few minutes after its discovery.

"She asked me to kill her," Best was quoted as saying. He even declared, according to the prosecutor, that he met Miss Schneider for the first time late Saturday night.

The confession, Mr. Gillespie declared, was made in the presence of a stenographer and several police officers, and gave no other reason than that Miss Schneider begged Best to end her life because she was tired of living, and was "simply in the way of others." She even drew the handkerchiefs from his pockets and asked him to tie them together and place them about her neck. Best was quoted as saying The officers said Best told them that when he complied, he at first refused to pull the handkerchiefs tight, but she begged him to do so, saying she was ready to die.

DRIVE RUSSIA FROM SIBERIA

What Japan's Latest Demands Would Mean.

Soviet Leaders Make Firm Objection.

Vladivostok Cable — An aftermath of the first session of the Russian-Japanese Commission for the liquidation of the events of April 4 and 5, when the Japanese took possession of the newspapers of new demands by the Japanese Command on the Provincial Government that Russian armed forces, of whatever political party, must evacuate a thirty-kilometre zone wherever Japanese troops are stationed in Siberia. These demands were made at the beginning of the session, and it was asked that they be kept secret, but M. Vilevsky, the special Soviet Commissioner, gave them out to the press.

Publication of the demands brought out a lengthy statement from the Japanese Command, that in view of the publicity the Russians were giving the proceedings of the Commission, it was necessary to state the Japanese version of the events in Siberia since the formation of the Provincial Government. The statement places responsibility on the Russian Revolutionary Command, which, it says, has not been willing to co-operate with the Japanese Command in Siberia.

The new Japanese demands virtually mean liquidation of the Russian armed forces in Far Eastern Siberia. The reply of the Russian Commission to the Japanese demands included an assurance of evacuation by the Russian forces after the Japanese forces have been withdrawn, which evacuation in some districts has already been announced.

The Russians, however, insist on maintaining sufficient forces to aid in guarding the railway for assisting the evacuation of the Czechs and for co-operating with the allied railway organizations. They also wish to maintain sufficient naval craft to guard the fisheries and coast line.

COAL DIGGERS REFUSE OFFER

New York Cable — The General Scale Committee of the Anthracite Mine Workers, at a meeting late today, rejected the counter-offer of the operators covering their wage demands.

The operators, it was learned, offered wage increases averaging approximately 15 per cent, but did not grant the closed shop or the universal eight-hour day.

Further efforts will be made to get a more favorable proposition, and, this failing, appeal may be made to President Wilson for appointment of an arbitration Commission, failing which, a strike may be called.

Turks Ambushed French at Urfa

Paris, April 7.—Official accounts of the French retreat from Urfa, Asia Minor, confirm the reports that the retreating column was ambushed, although the French had an agreement with the Turks which they believed would ensure a safe retirement.

The French, the official messages show, left Urfa only when food and water were lacking, after a sustained siege of two months by forces equipped with artillery. The French losses in the siege are said to have been small, while the admitted Turkish casualties totalled 500.

FIUME COMPLETELY CUT OFF FROM THE OUTSIDE WORLD

And Poet-Aviator is Threatening a Counter-Action.

Trieste Cable — The blockade which Fiume is now undergoing, is admittedly the most severe to which it has been subjected. The communications of the town have been completely cut off, regular Italian troops tearing up sections of the railway and bringing up numbers of machine guns to guard the frontiers. Passage in and out of the city is absolutely forbidden, not even milk going in, and connection with the outside world by the sea route has been completely severed.

GENERAL POLISH ADVANCE ON THE BOLSHEVIKI IN UKRAINE

Drove 50 Miles First Day, and Within 60 Miles of Kiev.

Warsaw Cable — (By the Associated Press.)—A general advance by Polish forces along a 180-mile front into the Ukraine was announced in today's communique by the Polish general staff. The movement, it is set forth, is for the expulsion of the "foreign invaders"—Russian Bolsheviks.

The Poles covered about fifty miles on the first day of their forward movement, their advanced line taking them within sixty miles of Kiev.

The important towns occupied by the Poles on the first day of their movement included Owerucz, Jitomir and Bodditchev, and, further south, Winnitza and Zmyerynka.

Uprrings by civilian Ukrainians against the Russian Bolsheviks in the district west of Kiev are reported in despatches reaching here. It is said the Ukrainians are organizing because of a report that their country and Poland had signed a treaty by which the latter agreed to support Ukraina in her proposed march toward the Dnieper River.

TO MARCH ON MEXICO CITY

Large Force of Rebels Ready in Guerrera.

Disaffection is Spreading Elsewhere.

Augua, Preita, Sonora, Cable — Rebel troops are preparing to march on Mexico City from the State of Guerrera, General P. Ellis Calles, commander-in-chief of the Liberal constitutional army, announced here today.

The revolution in Guerrera he said, was more serious than the movement in Sinaloa, where troops under General Angel Flores continue to progress toward Mazatlan. The revolution is the result from Sinaloa and Sonora plan to join with the rebels in Guerrera for the attack on Mexico City.

Capture of Mazatlan by the rebels they expect, will easily lead to the subjugation of the balance of Sinaloa and rapid progress through Nayarit, which is said to be sympathetic with the Sonora cause. In Jalisco, the next state south, revolutionary forces are said to be making headway, as is reported also the case in Colima, where the capital city of Colima and the port of Manzanillo are objectives of the victorious rebel troops. # WHAT FOCH SAID TO THE GERMANS

When the Party Seeking Armistice Appeared.

Told by "Captain X," of French Army.

New York Despatch — Germany's appeal for an armistice on November 7, 1918 met with the laconic reply, "I have no terms," from Marshal Foch to Erzberger and the other plenipotentiaries, according to Raymond Recouly (Captain X), French biographer of Foch and Joffre, in an article entitled "What Foch Really Said" which will be published in the May issue of Scribner's Magazine out tomorrow.

Captain Recouly, describing the historic scene of the morning of November 11, when the generalissimo of the Allied forces, attended by a few members of his staff, signed the document in a railway dining car in a forest near Rethoude, a town between Campagne and Soissons, declared "the sight of butter seemed to fill the German envoys with joy."

The radio from the Germans asking for "a cessation of hostilities in the name of humanity," was received by Foch shortly after midnight on the 7th and at 1:25 a.m. on the 8th, Foch sent back his answer: "The German plenipotentiaries will have to go to the outpost on the main road from Maubeuge-la-Capelle-Guise." From this point they were brought by delayed stages to Rethoude, which they reached about 7 o'clock in the morning. Two hours later they were in the presence of the commander of the conquering Allied army.

"There was a cold salute," says Captain Recouly, "a bow in return; no presentations. The Germans took their places at the table in the dining car, where their names were written, and remained standing. The officers seemed embarrassed and upset. Not so the civilians who did not seem to care at all. They talked familiarly together; it was impossible to believe that their country's fate was hanging in the balance, and that they were there to sign the most 'kolossal' capitulation the world had ever seen."

"My army, navy and air forces are ready to occupy the coast of the Bay of Quarnero (on which Fiume lies), including Abbazia and Volosca, if the Nitti army continues its acts of reprisal against me," said the poet today.

"Foch: I have no terms to submit to you."

Count Oberndorf, the diplomatist in the German party, interceded: "If the Marshal prefers, we may say that we are here to learn the conditions on which the Allies would be willing to grant us an armistice."

"Foch: I have no terms," Erzberger, drawing forth a greasy paper: "President Wilson has informed our government that Marshal Foch has been invested with the power of submitting the Allies' conditions to the German plenipotentiaries."

"Foch: I will let you know the Allies' conditions when you have asked for an armistice. Do you ask for an armistice?"

"Ja!" exclaimed Oberndorf and Erzberger together.

"Foch: In that case I will read you the terms drawn up by the Allied governments." He sat down and the reading began. It lasted an hour, for the document had to be translated. The Germans pleaded for an immediate suspension of hostilities and for time to permit the Berlin government to examine the terms. Again Foch spoke:

"I am but the mouthpiece of the Allied governments. It is those governments that have drawn up the conditions of the armistice limiting the delay to 72 hours' duration. I have, therefore, no power to suspend hostilities without their authorization."

The Germans at once dispatched a messenger to Spa, with credentials and the request that his journey to Berlin be "facilitated." When the messenger reached the German outposts, it is related, the troops were so demoralized that they fired upon his white flag. Promiscuous volley firing continued and the emissary was unable to reach his destination until the next day. Meanwhile the German envoys had notified Foch of their difficulty and Foch agreed to permit them to send a German officer to Berlin by air. A plane was equipped and ready for the flight when word was received that the messenger had reached Berlin.

Plenipotentiaries: The plenipotentiaries are authorized to sign the armistice. (Signed) The Chancellor of the Empire." Three ciphered figures at the end of the message proved its authenticity. More than twelve hours of deliberation and debate over the "harsh" terms followed. Foch granted some concessions and refused the others.

Subsequently the weary French, English and Germans appended their signatures to the document, and, by prearrangement, six hours after the signing, or 11 a.m., of the morning of the 11th, operations ceased along all the fronts. Four years of warfare, which had cost more than 9,000,000 lives, was at an end.

HEADSTONES TO BE ALL ALIKE

On Graves of All Victims of the War

For Field Marshal or Camp Follower.

London Cable — The War Graves Commission has decided unanimously on absolute uniformity of headstones for the graves of every man and woman who was killed or who died in the war. The plain design in Portland stone has been selected, recording the name, regiment and rank, symbol of religious faith and the inscription which Kipling chose, "Their name liveth for evermore," with room at the foot of the stone for an inscription, limited to 66 words, to be personally chosen by those nearest to the dead. This principle of equality, whether for Field Marshal or camp follower, has the approval of the Government.

Kipling and Winston Churchill, with other members of the Commission, addressed a meeting of the army Committee in the House of Commons tonight. Kipling, with intensity of feeling, spoke in favor of absolute equality. He said the main object had been to aim at dignity and simplicity and a sense of abidingness.

Mr. Churchill said that the whole spirit of the army was in favor of equality and uniformity.

AN EX-PRISONER BROKE INTO JAIL

Joliet, Ill., Despatch—Robert Needham, paroled three weeks ago after serving part of a sentence for burglary, scaled the walls of the State penitentiary from the outside early this morning and sneaked back into prison. Officials said it was the first time a convict had climbed the walls to get back into the penitentiary.

"The only way to beat the high cost of living is to be in prison," said Needham, when asked his reason for returning to the prison.

BRITAIN ASKS JAPS TO EXPLAIN

London, April 7.—Sir Cecil Harmsworth, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, speaking in the House of Commons this afternoon, said that Britain "has made representations" to Japan concerning the harsh methods of that Government in suppressing protests by Koreans against Japanese rule. Sir Cecil added Britain was not prepared to take any further action in the matter.

"They can't live together and they can't live apart." "Umph! What's the solution of a problem like that?" "Chloroform; but, confound the luck, it's against the law."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

WHIRLWIND PETE

GASOLINE MIKE

THE REFEREE

Whirlwind Pete Champion Boxer of Waterdown

Waterdown is fast coming to the front as the home of champions. Last Saturday afternoon the first boxing bout of the season was pulled off in the presence of a large number of spectators in the amphitheater. As the day was an extremely warm one only five rounds were fought, the referee calling a halt at the end of the 5th round, thereby saving the pugilists from utter collapse. Whirlwind Pete was declared the winner on points. It was the intention of the promoters to have moving pictures taken of the match, but the boxers were too fast, the machine being unable to keep up with them. However we are able to present to our readers the photograph of the champion, his opponent, and the referee as they appeared after the fight. Whirlwind Pete's manager is now trying to sign up someone else for another match, but so far is meeting with little success.

LAST BIG BLOCK
Of Canadian Pacific Reserve Farm Lands
In Central Alberta and Saskatchewan

We would call your attention to these lands, the last large block of good virgin farm land in Western Canada, which marks the end of wholesale prices for virgin farm lands in the Prairie West.

News of this block being opened up is being advertised throughout Europe and the United States, and is being read by hundreds of thousands of people every week.

The American farmers have been quick to see the opportunities offered in the Western Provinces of Canada in the past, and I am sure that they will see this last opportunity as quickly as any, and that there will be thousands of them going to see these lands as soon as the snow begins to thaw in the spring. It is, therefore, up to us in Eastern Canada to make arrangements to visit the West and see these lands at the earliest possible opportunity, and I cannot urge you too strongly if you are at all interested in getting a farm of your own, to take advantage of this last opportunity. Those who act now and secure some of these lands will reap the benefit of a quicker increase in value than at any period in the past, and the land will pay for itself from the crops in a few years.

Those who do not wish to improve the land at once may purchase land on our ten year contract, one-tenth cash, balance in nine equal payments at 6%, which does not require improvement of the land, or you can pay in full if you choose.

Those who get there first will get best selection and best location.

Sunday School Lesson VI, May 9, 1880, Eli and his sons. Temperance lesson, 1 Samuel 2:12-17; 4: 1-18, 4:5-18. Commentary.—1. Israel's defeat at Ebenezer (vs. 1, 2). The first sentence of v. 1 belongs properly at the end of the preceding chapter. The next sentence introduces a new narrative. The Philistines were a constant menace to Israel. They had their place in the fertile plains along the coast of the Mediterranean Sea. They had come forth from that region that they controlled, in one of their raids upon the possessions of the Israelites, and reached Aphek. The army of Israel went out to a place afterward called Ebenezer, a few miles north or northwest of Jerusalem, where they encamped. Israel had become aroused by their repeated encroachments and decided to make an effort to free themselves from their oppression. In the battle that followed the Israelites were signally defeated, losing four thousand men.

II. The Ark of the Covenant in the Camp (vs. 3-9). 3. 4. The elders of Israel were greatly affected by this defeat and wondered why the Philistines were victorious. They decided that if they should bring the ark of the covenant, which was a symbol of Jehovah's presence, into the camp, victory would be certain for them. They imagined that Jehovah would fight for them and seemed to ignore the fact that they had forsaken him. They sent therefore to Shiloh, seventeen miles north of Jerusalem, where the tabernacle was, and the ark was brought to the camp under the care of Hophni and Phinehas, sons of Eli. 5. Shouted with a great shout.—The exultation was not because of the reverence of the people of Israel had for God and his laws and ordinances, but because they had strong expectations that they would now be victorious over their enemies. It was to them the same as if their army had been increased by a large number of fighting men. "Had they humbled themselves and prayed devoutly and fervently for success, they would have been heard and saved. Their shouting proved both their vanity and irreligion."

6. What Meaneth the Noise.—The Israelites had just been greatly humiliated by their defeat and the Philistines might well wonder why the people of Israel were thus exultant. Hebrews.—The name by which the descendants of Jacob, or Israel, were called. The word means "beyond," and was first applied to Abraham because he came from beyond the Euphrates. 7. The Philistines were afraid.—When they learned that the most sacred object in connection with the worship of the Israelites, even the symbol of the divine presence, was in their camp, they were far less confident in their strength than they were before. Woe unto us.—The Philistines were troubled because they thought that Jehovah had come into Israel's camp, and they did not know that he had really departed from them. 8. These mighty gods.—The Philistines were polytheists and supposed that the Israelites, also, served many gods. They knew what had been done for Israel three or four hundred years before this, when they were delivered from Egyptian bondage. It is likely that they had heard how God opened the Jordan for the passage of Israel into Canaan and had given them the city of Jericho in a marvelous manner. 9. Quit yourselves like men.—The Philistines realized that more than ordinary efforts would be necessary if they would defeat their enemies, hence this emphatic call to courage and strength.

III. Israel's second defeat and loss (vs. 10, 11). 10. And Israel was smitten.—Instead of humbling themselves and crying to God for help, the Israelites trusted in the presence of the sacred ark to save them. Their trust was in vain. The courage of the Philistines was that of desperation. Their lives and liberty were in danger. Their enemy was weak with overconfidence. The Philistines were easily victorious. Fled every man into his tent.—The thought is that every one who could, fled for safety to his own home. The army had been utterly routed. A large proportion of the people of Israel lived in tents. The men of the army made no effort to reunite to oppose the Philistines. 11. The ark of God was taken.—So far from the ark's saving Israel, it was itself captured by the Philistines, and thus the Israelites' nation and its religion became despised by the heathen.

IV. Eli's death (vs. 12-18). 12. Came to Shiloh.—The distance may have been twenty miles. A practiced runner could cover the distance in three or four hours. Clothes rent.—To tear upon clothing was a sign of grief. Woe came upon his head.—Aile also was a token of grief. 13. Kill . . . waiving—He was occupying his official seat, which was by the gate of the tabernacle enclosure or by the side of the city. He was anxious for the ark of the covenant. 14. What meaneth the noise of this tumult.—Eli's interest in the battle and his anxiety for the safety of the ark of the covenant made him eager for news. He knew from the noise that something unusual had taken place. 15. Ninety and eight years old.—He had become feeble at the age of fifty-eight. His eyes were dim.—Although his physical powers were decaying, he had a vital interest in the welfare of Israel. 16. What is there done, my son.—While Eli was desirous of knowing the progress of outcome of the battle, he was not prepared for what he was about to hear. 17. The messenger answered.—This reply described the calamity that befell Israel and Eli in its four great features. 1. The army of Israel was defeated. 2. There was a great loss of life. 3. The two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were slain. 4. The ark of the covenant was in the hands of the Philistines. 18. Made mention of the ark of God.—Eli had borne the news of Israel's defeat and of the death of his sons, but when he heard that the ark was taken he could not bear it and he died. His heart was set upon the service and honor of Jehovah.

Questions.—Who was Samuel? Where did the Philistines live? What were the relations between the Philistines and the Israelites. Where did the Israelites and the Philistines meet in battle? What was the result of the first engagement? What course did Israel take with the hope of being victorious in the next engagement? What were the results of the second engagement? What prediction was fulfilled with respect to Eli and his sons?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.—Responsibilities of parents and children.

I. A degenerate priesthood.

II. The covenant annulled.

III. The house of Eli overthrown.

1. A degenerate priesthood. Eli was high priest when the ark was at Shiloh, which accordingly was the centre of Jewish worship. He was the first high priest of the house of Ithamar, the youngest son of Aaron. In his social position and personal character no man in the kingdom stood higher. His two sons were also priests, though they "knew not the Lord." If birth and blood could qualify men for moral service, they would have been fitted to succeed their father. Their office was holy, but their character was corrupt. The priestly office was administered with the utmost rapacity and selfishness. Those who should have been examples of holiness were the promoters of vice. The current of their lives should have borne them toward that which was pure and noble, but they cast all aside, became monsters of iniquity and transformed the tabernacle into a place of shame. The social consequences were appalling. Shocked by their priests, "men abhorred the offering of the Lord." Forms remained sacrificed were offered, ceremonies observed, but religion was decayed and noisome.

II. The covenant annulled. "There came a man of God unto Eli." This remarkable messenger is nameless. He was exalted both in character and in commission. Eli is charged with ingratitude and rapacity. "And honor thy sons above me." He chose to gratify his degenerate sons rather than to honor God by removing them from the priesthood. A mild remonstrance neither met his own responsibilities nor reformed their lives. Righteousness is more than amiability, and there is a weakness which approximates wickedness. What Eli sought to avert befell him. The authority and influence of his house ceased in Israel.

III. The house of Eli overthrown. Samuel was entrusted with the hopeless message. The crisis of judgment came with the Philistine attack. Defeated, the men of Israel sought to retrieve the disaster by carrying the ark of God into the battle. The superstitious effort proved wholly unavailing. It had no protection for disobedience. Upon the priests and people of Israel rested the curse of unfaithfulness. They had neither confessed their sins nor corrected their lives. The religion of the nation was akin to that of a heathen when God told both rulers and people that their iniquity was an abomination. Their feasts were "a trouble and a weariness," because of unrighteousness. "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" There is an obedience unto punishment. They had refused obedience unto life, now came obedience unto death. The desire for deliverance from the Philistine oppression was both natural and right, but it was unaccompanied with a purpose to submit to the law of Jehovah. The conditions of success given by Moses (Deut. 27: 1-7, 15) were ignored. It is useless to say, "Let us fetch the ark," while ignoring the law, or to say, "The temple of the Lord," while dishonoring the God who dwells therein.

Praises this Asthma Remedy. A grateful user of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy finds it the only remedy that will give relief, though for thirteen years he had sought other help. Years of needless suffering may be prevented by using this wonderful remedy at the first warning of trouble. Its use is simple, its cost is slight and it can be purchased almost anywhere.

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

How Stomachs Can Be Restored to a Vigorous, Healthy Condition.

Not to be limited in diet, but to eat whatever he desires is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to this happy condition, because all people cannot eat the same things, with equally satisfactory results. It is literally true that "what is one man's food is another man's poison." But it is possible to set tone up the digestive organs that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach lacks tone there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the very best way to build up and enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous dyspepsia. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in even the most obstinate cases of stomach trouble is given by Mrs. S. Morrison, Varney, Ont., who says: "I shall always feel indebted to a friend who advised me to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had been a sufferer for upwards of twelve years with stomach trouble which resulted in a general weakness of the whole system. My meals always caused me great discomfort, and at times I would go hungry rather than undergo the suffering which followed meals. I was constantly taking something or other recommended for the trouble, but without finding a cure, and often the trouble kept me in bed when I should have been about doing my household work. My friend, who had had a similar attack, came to see me and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which had cured her. I got a supply at once and began taking them, and soon found relief. By the time I had used eight boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, and with a good appetite and a stomach restored to normal. Had I known of this medicine earlier it would have saved me years of suffering, and I urge any who may be in a similar condition to try these pills at once."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

JUST GLEANINGS.

Mostly On the Subject of Tea and Also Teapots.

When you put the best teapot on the shelf to stand a while, be sure to have inside of it a lump of white sugar; when you go to use it, remove the lump, wash pot in clean hot water, no soap, allow it stand for half an hour with hot water in it, and there will not be even the slightest stale taste. It is often the taste with tea and coffee pots after an idle period; soap should never be used in the inside of a teapot.

For satisfactory results every English woman will tell you the first requisite is a brown pot, next good, and not necessarily high-priced, cleanliness of boiling water, hot water is of no use, and it must be freshly boiled, freshly drawn water; always scald the pot, throw away that water, put the tea in the pot and pour the boiling water on it, allow to steep for a few minutes, then serve. Tea must be served scalding hot or ice cold.

A Simple and Cheap Medicine.—A simple, cheap and effective medicine is something to be desired. There is no medicine so effective, a regulator of the digestive system as Parlee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple, they are cheap, they can be got anywhere, and their beneficial action will prove their recommendation. They are the medicine of the poor man and those who wish to escape doctors' bills will do well in giving them a trial.

Perfume in the Early Ages.

From the very earliest ages man has loved sweet odors. In the Bible we read of the burning of incense on the altar, and the very word perfumery (under which head we may include all delicate fumes or smells) comes from the Latin fumus, smoke or vapor. The early Egyptians knew the use of the still, and adapted it to the separation of the odoriferous principle from fragrant plants, but the most ancient odors were drawn from natural gums, such as camphor, myrrh and cinnamon.

Externally or Internally, it is Good.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas Electric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissues as few liniments do, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. ## THE PRINCE'S RANCH

The Prince of Wales plans for his ranch in Alberta are described in detail by the agricultural correspondent of The Times.

Its 7,000 acres (he says) are entirely under grass, and at present it is without suitable or adequate buildings. The soil is a rich alluvial loam, and the grasses it carries are luxuriant and provide good feeding for stock in summer and winter. A certain area is mowed every year to provide hay for young stock in winter, but the greater part is grazed throughout the year. The climate is severe, but cattle and horses can be out-wintered with safety and advantage. The summer production of grass exceeds the present requirements of the stock on a properly managed ranch, and the surplus, then withered and dry, but of about the same feeding value as English hay, suffices to carry the animals through the winter. The climate renders this simple system of "haymaking" completely practicable in Alberta, and only the needs of young stock housed in winter have to be provided in the elaborate British method. Although there is no arable land within the limits of the E. P. Ranch at present, the acquisition of cultivated land is contemplated with a view to making the ranch better adapted to the requirements of the improved classes of cattle and sheep it is proposed to introduce. With the same object, suitable buildings and fencing are to be erected in due course.

The ranch is to be stocked with cattle, horses and sheep. Hitherto horses have been bred chiefly but cattle-raising will form the main feature of the ranch will form the main feature under His Royal Highness's ownership. The immediate supervision of the ranch will be entrusted to Professor Carlisle, who, with Mr. Lane's approval, will add this to his managerial duties on the latter's famous Bar U ranch of 120,000 acres. The stock to be sent out from this country will comprise Shorthorn cattle, thoroughbred horses, Dartmoor ponies, Dartmoor-Arab crosses, and Shropshire and Kerry Hill (Wales) sheep. The consignments of cattle, ponies, and pony-Arab crosses can be supplied mainly from the Prince's farm in Cornwall and Devon, and selections of thoroughbred horses have already been made at Newmarket, while the close-kooled sheep of Shropshire and North Wales are preferred because of their purity for the climate.

The breeding of Shorthorn cattle will be the principal enterprise and the Royal owner is fortunate in being in a position to supply from his noted herd in England most of the shipment of about a score of highly-bred Cruickshank Shorthorns that are to form the nucleus of the new herd. This herd is capable of carrying about 700 head of cattle in addition to other stock. At first the herd will consist principally of the ordinary-grade cattle, but as the best of the breed are bred strains multiply and proper the commoner kinds will be displayed by registered Shorthorns of the best families and lines.

The enterprise would be important and of wide interest if it were merely to be confined to the ordinary-ranching line; the system of management it is proposed to pursue increases its value and intensifies its significance. The E. P. Ranch is to be the home of a herd of pure-bred Shorthorns of the best type, the should be of inestimable importance to the business of stockbreeding in Western Canada.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Thousands of mothers state positively that Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine they know of for little ones. Their experience has taught them that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them and that they can be given with perfect safety to children of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Joseph Therrien, St. Gabriel de Brandon, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine I know of for little ones. I thought I would lose my baby before trying the Tablets but they soon made him healthy and happy and now I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

She Guessed.

"Robson, do you know why you are like a donkey?" the jester asked.

"Like a donkey?" echoed Robson, opening his eyes wide. "I don't."

"Because your better half is stubbornness itself."

The jester pleased Robson immensely, for he at once saw the opportunity for a glorious dig at his wife. So when he got home he said:

"Dear, do you know why I am like a donkey?"

He waited a moment, expecting his wife to give it up. But she didn't. She looked at him somewhat pityingly as he answered:

"I suppose it's because you were born so."—London Tit-Bits.

Companionship.

If the boy is not a companion to his father it is generally because the father was not a companion to the boy when the boy was a little fellow. Companionship is something which must grow through the years, especially for two people who live under the same roof and share the same fortunes.

The Black Diamond.

Although white diamonds come chiefly from the Transvaal, the black diamond is found in its greatest purity in Brazil, and especially in the Province of Bahia. For its finest specimens so far discovered a price of $30,000 was paid—quite insignificant when compared with prices paid for white diamonds.

No surgical operation is necessary in removing corns if Holloway's Corn Cure be used.

Says She Cannot Praise Them Enough

MRS. GAUVIN TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Says Her Back Was so Weak She Could Hardly Walk, But Now She is a Different Person.

St. Jeanne d'Arc, N. B., May 3.—(Special)—Among those in this neighborhood who are enthusiastic in their praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mrs. Joseph Gauvin, a highly respected resident here.

"I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills enough," Mrs. Gauvin states. "My back was so weak I could hardly walk. I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I feel a different person."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a tremendous amount of good."

Of the many persons paying their tribute of praise to Dodd's Kidney Pills, it is noticeable that the great majority are women. The reason given for this is that the great majority of women's ills come from the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Healing and strengthening them, they enable the kidneys to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood is the foundation of health. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not help weak or sick kidneys.

Salads of Gelatine

Just now, when the spring vegetables are so expensive, it is a good thing to have on hand several of these recipes for gelatine salads. With them you can make a very few vegetables go a very long way.

For tomatoes in jelly make an aspic. This calls for two cupsful of stock; chicken is the very nicest. Put it into a saucepan with a tablespoonful of chopped carrots, onion, celery and a sprig of parsley. A bay leaf, a clove and a half a teaspoonful of peppercorns will make it more savory if you have them. Cook for 10 minutes, strain and pour over half a box of gelatine. When dissolved add the juice tomato in the centre of each square and serve on lettuce with Mayonnaise. Any vegetable can be used in this way.

A BUNCH OF ASPARAGUS.

For an asparagus salad wash very carefully one bunch of the grass and cook as usual. Measure out two and a half cupfuls of the water in which it is cooked, add a little chopped onion and celery and half a teaspoonful of salt, and simmer for a quarter of an hour. Moisten one and a half tablespoonfuls of powdered gelatine in a little cold water and strain the stock over it. Cut off the tips of the cooked asparagus and line tiny molds with them, or else spread them over a layer of the hardened gelatine and cover the same as the tomatoes were covered. The rest of the asparagus can be used for creamed asparagus on toast.

A GOOD SALAD.

Another good salad is made with nuts, celery and apples. Moisten a package of gelatine in half a cupful of cold water and dissolve it in two and a half cupfuls of boiling water. Add the juice of three lemons and a quarter of a cupful of sugar. When it is about ready to set stir in one cupful of finely cut crisp hearts of celery, a cupful of apple cut in tiny dice, and half a cupful of broken pecan meats. Turn into little individual molds. Serve on dress or shredded lettuce.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constant internal remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surface.

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

Broom Corn in Argentina.

In Argentina the cultivation of broom corn is conducted along simple lines not differing much from that of ordinary corn. The broom corn is frequently sown after the wheat, flax or oats crop on the property has been harvested, and if there is abundant rain, and if the frosts are late a good yield may be obtained, thus giving two harvests in the same years from a single piece of ground.

Righted in Time

Moya clasped her hands together. True to herself! It was very cruel of him to talk like this, she thought. Or cruel of Fate to bring this about, to make the very man she had distrusted and dreaded her friend and champion instead. It was almost laughable, this desire of his to help her. And yet she felt a sob in her throat.

Guy looked away from her out to sea. He spoke slowly.
"I've always thought," he said, "that the love of two young hearts, fresh and unstained by the world, was the most beautiful thing in life. I know people often laugh at what they call boy and girl affairs. But I'm sure that first love is often the best and highest. It often guides one safely through the most dangerous years of life. It's a beacon and an ideal. I never had that beacon myself. It's one of the many things I missed in life. I just had to go on as best I could, fighting and working, and often losing all ideals altogether. It's only of late years that I've got back my early faith in life, thank God. Take my advice—it's the advice of one who has suffered much in life, and thought much of it. Keep your faith, and hold fast to your love above all things. Nothing will recompense you for its loss."

He halted abruptly, as if he was going to say more. Then he went along the shore, and left her there thinking of his words.
She had never met anyone like him lute sincerity straight to the heart of life, brushing aside all shame.
And he thought her true. And wanted to help her keep her truth. What would he say if he knew? That was the one question tormenting Moya as she sat there.

The very waves whispered it insistently. The gulls waited it to her as they skimmed the sea. The breeze echoed it. What would he say?
How different this was to all her trivial childish thoughts, her petty, frivolous little plots and plans. How he would scorn her if he knew, instead of looking at her with that large, kindly gaze which seemed to take so much more of life than she had ever dreamed.

Surely life had changed since yesterday. It had been a plaything till then. And now? Well, it held grave purposes and big ideals. It partook of the big things Guy Berkeley was doing in his life.
"He's sorry for me," thought Moya. "I know exactly what he thinks. He thinks the matter unjust and unkind. He's afraid I may lose happiness, and he wants to help me. Oh, what a horrible mistake it all is. And it's my own fault. All my own fault."

She was honest enough to own that. "There's only one comfort," she whispered. "He guesses nothing. And perhaps if I had not engaged to Barry he would have guessed the matter's wisdom. He must have done, he may do even now. And then he would have thought me too designing and scheming. Oh, I could not have borne that."

Perhaps things were best as they were. Moya endeavored to cheat herself into the thought that they were. But every time Guy's large kindly grey-eyed gaze swept back into

"Gosh! How my back aches!"

After Grip, "flu" or colds, the kidneys and bladder are often affected—called nephritis, or inflammation of kidneys. This is the red flag of danger—better be wise and check the further inroads of kidney disease by obtaining that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, known as Anuric (anti-uric-acid), because it expels the uric acid poison from the body and removes those pains, such as backache, rheumatism in muscles and joints.

Naturally when the kidneys are deranged the blood is filled with poisonous waste matter, which settles in the feet, ankles and wrists; or under the eyes in bag-like formations.

Send 10c. for trial pkg. of Anuric to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch Laboratory, Bridgeburg, Ont.

FRANZON, Ont.—"I was troubled with rheumatism in the right limb and hand for several years, and lately in the left shoulder. The only way I could lie was on my back. I had great difficulty to get down and more to get up. Recently I had a very severe pain in my back, and in right hand it is very slight and getting less all the time. I can now sit or lie in any position I wish without discomfort or pain. I certainly will recommend Anuric; there is nothing nearly so good; I have tried them all."—Graham Ross, cor. Duke and Waterline.

her memory, the same humiliating feeling of pettiness and unworthiness came across her.

"He said he had missed many things in life," she said ponderingly. "It seems to me he has everything worth having. And I—"

She thought of Una's question: "Aren't you missing something?" It fitted into Guy's words like the pieces of a puzzle.

"Una and Guy Berkeley think alike," mused Moya. "I laughed at her yesterday, but I believe I am the only one to be laughed at. Yes, they think alike. I wonder—"

She stopped. Perhaps those two

End Your Catarrh To-day

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages. The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe and guaranteed in every case.

would do more than think alike. Her eyes had gone to the top of the cliff. She saw Guy's tall figure there. It was not alone. He was walking side by side with Una. Yes, it seemed so very probable that those two should do more than think alike, and Guy, after all, was those things which he said he had missed in life.

CHAPTER III.

Barry came swinging along the sands. He balanced himself with careless agility along the breakwater, and dropped down neatly by Moya's side.

"Hallo," he greeted. "Golly, how you started! Never knew you to be so nervous before. Hold on! You'll overbalance and I shall have to fish you out of the deep blue sea."

Moya turned round, perhaps her eyes spoke, for he laughed.
"You don't seem best pleased to see me. Nice behaviour, I must say, for one's fiancée. Well, Moya, how did you carry it off? Successfully?"

Moya stirred uneasily, and did not answer. Barry went on: "So the guest has arrived. I saw him on his way from the station. I guessed it must be he. Not half a bad-looking chap. Something rather distinguished about him, and out of the ordinary. Say, Moya, don't you, on second thoughts, prefer him to your humble servant?"

"Oh, don't be silly," said Moya irritably.
Barry whistled. "What did your mater say about it?" he pursued. "You're very secretive this morning. Moya, what up?"

Moya swallowed hard. "Oh, the mater. She pretends to look upon it as a boy-and-girl affair, says it's not worth forbidding, and will all blow over. Oh, Barry, I'm so ashamed and annoyed about it. I wish you would not laugh."

Barry pulled his face straight accommodatingly. "I say, that's rather a cute way of taking things. Might have an effect on our friend from London, eh?"

"Oh, don't," began Moya again. "He's quite different to what—"

She pulled herself up on a fresh thought.
"What do your people say about it, Barry?"

Barry for a moment seemed to lose his nonchalant ease.
"Oh, you know the dear old mother," he said. "I really felt—yes, I don't mind owning up—downright uncomfortable when I told her. She seemed so pleased. She said she always hoped it would be one of you girls, and that an aim in life would steady me. She called you her few little daughter, and hopes you'll go and see her as soon as possible."

Moya's face fell in dismay—laughed uneasily. At the bottom of her heart she had always envied Barry his mother, so easygoing, affectionate and kind. And now it meant playing on her kindness, too, just as she had unknowingly played on Guy's. Oh, why had she not thought of all this, what was bound to happen, before she plunged on her headlong course?

"She hoped it would be one of us girls," she repeated. "Oh, that was Una, Barry. Your mother's got a soft spot in her heart for her, I know. She would only be disappointed if it was I. Only she's too kind-hearted to show it, dear, old thing."

Barry leaned down, picked up a stone and flung it viciously seawards. "I tell you," he said in a low voice, "I shall be glad when I'm out of this hole. You talked of being in one. I'm bothered if it's as bad as this. I did not think it out before I agreed to your mad scheme. It wasn't worth it. A bit of fun. Deceiving them. No, most decidedly it isn't worth it, not even for the sake of your worthy friend, the fortune-grabber."

Honesty stirred in Moya. She did not like to tell Barry, but she had to do so.
"Oh, Barry, he isn't what I thought he was. He's quite different. He told me all about it last evening."

"He didn't lose much time, then," said Barry contemptuously. The suitor seemed to have talked Moya over pretty easily.

"Oh, I don't mean that. How can you think of it? He told me all about it—why he had taken the money. Why he was glad it was not left to me. Yes, he had the honesty to say that. I never heard anyone talk like that before. He looks upon it as a trust—to help others. That's his life. And when I understood—"

Oh, Barry, I felt so petty. That I had thought such things about him, while he was living out his life for others."

Moya paused. "That's why he came down here, you see. Not for the reason we thought. He wanted to tell me, and make me understand. I don't believe he has any such notion in his head as the mater has been imagining. It isn't in him to even guess at such things. He's too single-minded. And he even—"

She stopped. She could not tell even Barry how Guy had offered himself as her champion, had bade her be true to herself and her love—of the deep, solemn words he had uttered, words that by very contrast of their own depth made her feel so shallow and petty.

"He's using the money for all sorts of big schemes," she went on. "Not exactly charity. He told me a lot about it last evening. But helping people to help themselves. Oh, it's wonderful to think what money can do in bringing happiness to others. Now, I should have just spent it on myself. It would have only made me vain and conceited, and very likely in the end as mercenary as I thought once that he was. But oh, Barry, it makes such a difference knowing all this. Instead of it being amusing—a good bit of fun—to deceive him, it seems now so petty."

"Tell him, then," said Barry. "If he's a good sort, he'll understand."

Moya drew a long breath. How little Barry himself understood! Was it not literally impossible to tell Guy?

"Oh," said Barry, quite eagerly. "let's break it off—here and now. What object is there in this pretence any longer?"

Moya shook her head emphatically. "Oh, we can't," she cried. "Not now at any rate. Can't you see that? It would be utterly impossible now, of all times. And then he would—"

She stopped herself on a queer little laugh. She could guess what Guy would do if he was told the engagement was broken off. He had constituted himself her champion. He would be distressed for her sake. Probably he would think her mother to blame, and try to make matters right again. He might even see Barry, to try and bring the supposed lovers together again.

Oh dear! What a stupid tangle it was! Moya felt like one who has carelessly entered a labyrinth. She was learning at this moment one valuable lesson, that when one takes an we're utterly unsuited to each other? Nothing more simple!"

Nothing more difficult! Moya gave again that queer, annoyed little laugh. As if Guy would not consider it his duty to patch up a quarrel between lovers! She foresaw long explanations, evasions, excuses—another labyrinth more winding and dark than this was. And she dared not tell Barry. Barry would only see the funny side of it—would probably think it rather amusing to get a rise out of old Berkeley. One could not depend on Barry where a joke was concerned—or what he thought was a joke.

At Many Times Effort Has Been Made to Enforce Simplicity.

Luxury taxation is by no means a new idea. In Rome, more than 2000 years ago, the Oppian law enacted that "no woman should possess more than half an ounce of gold, or wear a dress of different colors, or ride in a carriage in the city or wear a dress of different colors, or ride in a carriage on occasions of public religious ceremonies." In 187 B. C. a law was passed to limit the number of guests at entertainments.

A limit was set on the cost of funerals and funeral monuments. And there would certainly be some outcry in this country against the methods of Julius Caesar, who had officers stationed in the market place to seize provisions forbidden by law, and sent soldiers to feasts to remove illegal eatables!

In our own country, the fourteenth century found extravagance in dress rampant, and during the reign of Edward III. laws were made to restrain it. Food, also, has been regulated by old English laws. In the reign of Edward II. a proclamation was issued against extravagant catering in the castles of "great men"—London Tit-Bits.

I am ready to admit that, after contemplating the world of human misery for nearly 60 years, I see so wretched of the world's misery but the way which would have been found by Christ's will if He had undertaken the work of modern, practical statesman.—G. Bernard Shaw.

important step in life, whether it be in jest and earnest, one generally has to step further on still—it takes courage to step back again. At any rate, it took more courage than Moya felt she had now.

She dared not tell Guy the truth. He had offered to be her friend. In her heart she felt proud that he, a man of such big purposes and ideals, should be willing to give his friendship to a little girl like she was—frivolous, careless, who had never thought about life at all, and just played at it till now. She did not want to lose that friendship. Guy thought her true to herself. What would he say if he knew?

But still less could she let Guy think Barry and she had broken off the engagement.

Barry threw her a humorous glance. "You're very lacking in initiative this morning," he remarked. "Yesterday you were full of schemes, and scorned me because I found it hard to make convenient excuses and reasons at a second's notice. I'm the resourceful one now.
