GOLDIE'S ESCAPE.

"The snow is dreadful trying to my eyes!" said one old farmer, brushing away a very susplcious moisture.

"And mine, too, when it first comes," added another, imitating his movement.

Farmer Mellen had reached the centre of the little thicket now, and through the leafless branches of the saplings the men saw him suddenly spring forward, stoop, as if to pick up something, and then fall heavily to the ground.

"Just as I expected!" exclaimed the man who had first suggested the idea of suicide.

"I guess he's found her! We'd better go out and see," suggested another.

Thereupon they all started toward the pool. Upon arriving there they found Farmer Mellen insensible, lying prone upon his face, with Goldie's red-and-white plaid shaw! tightly clasped in his hand.

Very new are the hat shapes covered with suede or suede cloth, the latter decorated with flowers having very pointed petals and clustered on the brim, which is turned back flat.

Silk plush, almost "shaggy" in effect, is being projected by certain of the leading fashion creators as something novel and distinguished. Its hief use will be as a trimming and for millinery purposes.

The revival of fringe trimming is supposed to bear some relation to the tentative resuscitation of mid-Victorian styles, with their suggestion of fulfichus and the "bonnet" accessory.

White double-faced satin with a soft color on the under side makes up into delightful coats, the big collars and cuffs showing the colored side and mesis overtook him and he was retouches of black velvet or heavy lace serving as additional trimming.

One of the most accomplished and enough amusement from correcting plausible swindlers in Germany is at large again after serving only a fev when the warder went to his cell the bird had flown. The bars of the cell window, which looks out on to a narrow lane, were filed through.

> The swindler who goes under many names, was serving a sentence as General Count von Passy. He first became prominent about five years ago as Major von Schiemangk, and called himself an American major of cavalry. His uniform was that of the United States cavalry, plus several bits of cald leaves and the side breaking. The front is in Princess effect and the side breaking. bits of gold lace and numerous gilded buttons, which were not in the army regulations. He cynically explained afterwards that ladies liked these gilded additions, and that they enabled him to reach their hearts.

Fooled Once Too Often.

We are informed of a racy incident which our readers will appreciate The story goes that Premier Morris promised a certain Labrador merch-ant the establishment of a Marconi station at a harbor on the Labrador which the merchant was interest. The undersanding was that the station would be put up and be in working order early in the season, so that advantage might be taken of its presence as occasion required during the fishing season. Late in the season the fit-out arrived on the scene.

The fishery was over and there were is set for Nov. 10th. some 7,000 quintals of fish to be shipped. This fish was kept there because the merchant had been relying on the establishment of the station to get fish carriers as he should want them. So disgusted was the merchant with the breach of faith that he materials, and the things had to be carried north and men taken to the place on the return trip to land them. He declares that he has been fooled once but that he will take good care not to be fooled again.

Tim Shannahan on the Fall Trade

And now the busy season is arrived once more and the inviting gansey hangs outside the drapery door, swayed by the cold northeaster. The sound of the nail drawer is in the air, and half damp carters grumble as they often grumbled before; express drivers and errand boys trip over obstacles in the dark while they search for the schooner that has just hauled out in the stream, and skippers of schooners grumble about their cull. The vendor of partridge berries and dried caplin are on their rounds, while the "pricer" goes from store to store and jades the assistants seeking quotations. The man who did well on the Labrador swaggers along with a half stogged pipe, and looks as if all the world stood back and wondered, and the keen-eyed shopman shakes his hand and asks the old-time question of "How are all home?" From the south side of Water Street comes an occasional time on an accordeor tunes we know Water Street comes an occasional tune on an accordeon, tunes we knew so well, as the "Irish Washerwoman" or "She was Lovely and Fair as the Roses in Summer." In fine the Fall trade has opened. But there are many old scenes that we miss, such as the auctioneer perched on a count-er waving a pair of blankets, or enderly plucking on a piece of fancy moleskin.

The outharbor man of to-day is not the outharbor man of days gone by. Noisy preachers have preached the doctrine that the St. John's dealer is out to do him every time, and consequently he has grown suspicious. Before now the outharbor man didn't lose days and nights travelling the town in search of the right place to buy. He had confidence in the salesmen and he saved time and trouble. To-day salesmen and shopkeepers are just as upright and honest as then. Competition is greater and keener and therefore all this anxiety about prices is absolutely unnecessary. Ask any man who travels this town looking for prices if there is any great difference in any of the stores and he will ence in any of the stores, and he will tell you that there is not. He will tell you that hunting this town is a waste of patience and energy. But the man who is ready to die for the outharbor man is abroad, and he never dies. On the contrary he grows fat and profits by making a soft living by pretending to lose sleep in making the outharbor man wise.

This kind of work is a downright insult to the intelligence of the fishermen and it is high time that they be told to take a dive for themselves off some good long wharf and forget

Surely the fisherman's life is hard ive before he sets out to buy his ods for the winter.

STORY OF SUFFERING.

A TALE OF ENDURANCE.

CURLING, Bay of Islands, Oct. 11 A most remarkable story of suffering and superhuman endurance is told by Amanda Howell, of Bonne Bay. who spent eleven days in the woods without food or shelter.

FALLS OVER THE CLIFF.

Two weeks ago, the girl, for son reason or other, left her home in the direction of Trout River. She wandered aimlessly for eleven days through the woods, subsisting on roots and berries. All sense of direction was lost by her. On one parti cularly dark night she stumbled over the cliff upon the jagged rocks, lac erating her feet frightfully, and be ing further injured by the rocks and earth falling upon her. With wonder ful courage she tore off her undergar ments bound up her bleeding feet

DROPS UNCONSCIOUS.

Heavy seas hurled her against th rocks and she was obliged to ascend the cliff again. Every step was now a torture. She found an abandone camp, and stayed there overnigh continuing on her way in the mornin This was kept up till the tenth day when, as she saw the lights of the S.S. Portia, she sank down unconscious.

FOUND BY FRIENDS.

Searching parties came across he and Mr. Pebble took the girl to hi home. Dr. Moseley found that gan grene had set in, and advised that she be sent at once to the Hospital in S John's. On her arrival at Curling, I Fisher met the girl, and after an ex amination also urged that she pro ceed there forthwith, as it would l necessary to have one of her feet an putated immediately.

AMPUTATION NECESSARY.

The young girl left in the expres to-day, accompanied by her father and Constable Quinlan. In her statemen she says that certain parties ha been persecuting her, and she wa made frantic. She has little know aledge of the experiences which sh has undergone, saving the accident -Daily News.

Away Goes All Stomach Misery

No Indigestion, Heartburn, Gas Dyspepsia five minutes later.

If you had some Diapepsin hand; and would take a little now you stomach distress or Indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will di gest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, o what little you do eat seems to fil you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have hear burn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cen case of Pape's Diapepsin and take little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid no stamach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath witl nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as If your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all

LONDON, To-Day,
The Rt. Hon, Walter Long, in opening an Anti-Home Rule campaign at Darlington argued that self-government upon the lines of Canada and Australia meant virtual separation.
Canada to-morrow, if she chose to do so, could throw off her allegiance to the British flag. The great Dominions have no intention of doing so. They loved the Mother Country, and would stand by her. Should they leave her,
the separation would not interfere

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Consecan, Ont., writes,—"For five years I suffered with what three doctors called psoriasis. They could not help me and one of them told me if any one offered to guarantee a cure for $50.00 to keep my money as I could not be cured. The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head, and the itching and burning was hard to bear. We hope soon to hear him in another of his able discourses.

of his able discourses.

On Monday morning, the 7th inst., early, a certain party could be seen going to and from certain houses in an excited manner. Curiosity soon overtopped some lookers-on and questions began to be asked by them as to what was on the carpet now. After a while the answer came in this amusing form:—"Invitations are being issued for a "Tart in a Pot Party." which is to be held in Mr. William Clarke's house in honour of his daughter Lizzie's safe return from Boston. However the "Tart in the Pot Party" came off as expected and everything worked harmoniously except for the non-appearance of one person whose presence would have made the whole affair much more successful, but as it is rumour has it that a marriage will likely be the outcome of the "Tart in the Pot Party.
