Sweet Eva!

CHAPTER XLII

"She may not have come up to town at all; what makes you think she has?"

No answer. Peter drew the rug more closely about him; he was chilled and miserable. It was long past midnight when they reached London; the streets were deserted save for an occasional taxicab or a solitary policeman.

Philip slow down a little—he seemed to be looking for some particular turning; suddenly he swerved the car round, turned sharply to the right, and stopped outside a high, unpretentious looking block of flats.

Peter glanced up at it impatiently; there was only one lighted window of the many overlooking the street; he asked an irritable question.

"What on earth . . . who lives here?" Philip got out; he shut the low door of the car with a little alarm; his brother-in-law caught a glimpse of his face as he turned away, and in all his life he never forgot the look in Philip's eyes or the tone of his voice as he answered hoarsely:

"Calligan."

CHAPTER XLIII

Calligan had passed a miserable day. He had rung up the Winterdicks' flat in the morning, and learned that Eva had gone to Apsley, and since then he had not known a minute's peace.

He had done the right thing in urging her to go, he knew, and yet he hated to think of her down at the Highway House, unhappy, and in all probability, unwanted. He felt as if he had deliberately driven her to further pain and suffering.

He had tried to get into touch with Peter and failed. He had spent the day wandering about town more wretched than he had ever been in all his life, and during the long evening he had sat in the untidy sitting-room at his bachelor flat, smoking innumerable cigarettes and seeing Eva's face in every cloud of smoke.

It was a quarter to two when he heard a car come up the street, and instantly he was sure that in some way, this late visitor was connected with himself.

But he never for a moment guessed that it would be Philip, and he fell back with a little ejaculation of surprise when, as he opened the door, Philip pushed roughly past him and went on uninvited into the sitting-room.

Calligan followed. He made no comment, but his quick eyes saw the way in which Philip looked hurriedly round as if in search of someone, and his heart began to thump.

Eva! Where was she? What had happened? But he betrayed nothing of his agitation; he waited quietly for Philip to explain. Then all at once Philip turned on him with a roar.

"Where is she?" She's been here, I know! Where is she?"

Calligan met his friend's eyes steadily; he saw their mad look of passion, and knew that it would only infuriate him more to pretend that he did not understand. He answered at once: "I have not seen your wife since last night; she went down to Apsley this morning, I believe—I give you my word of honour, Philip, that I have not seen her since last night, and that I have not the least idea where she is."

"It's an infernal lie! I don't believe you . . . She's been here . . . She left Apsley to-night by the last train. She meant to come to you—she did come to you. She's been to this flat—it's no use denying it. I wouldn't believe you if you swore it." His voice broke; he held shaking hands to his friend, "Tom—for God's sake, tell me where she is—"

Calligan was very white, but he stood his ground resolutely.

"I give you my word of honour that I don't know," he said steadily. "She has not been here—if she had . . . He stopped; he could not trust himself to say any more, then he broke out again. "What has happened? Why do you think she's here?—Heavens, man!—why can't you explain—?"

Philip's white face flushed scarlet. "You! to ask for explanations," he sneered. "I tell you this pretended innocence doesn't go down with me." His voice rose again passionately, his chest heaved with his laboured breathing; he turned on Calligan suddenly with raised fists. "Where is she—tell me where she is, you . . ."

The Broken Circle!

CHAPTER I

The walls of the pretty country town of Harbury, in Kent, were all placarded with the name of Martin Ray—Martin Ray, the Radical, the Reformer; "the Voice of the People"; as he liked best to call himself; the philanthropist, the hater of queen and aristocracy, the teacher of treason; the man who worked for, yet lived upon the people; the man who was half genius, half madman, half poet, full of great thoughts all distorted, full of grand ideas all wrong; a man whose lips had been touched by the divine fire of eloquence, who could stir the hearts of the people as the wind stirs the leaves; a man who had magnificent conceptions of what the world might be made, yet failed utterly in making them practical; a man over whom a wise government hesitates, hardly knowing whether to crush him or to take him by the hand and make a friend of him. More than one prime minister had knitted his brows over the name of Martin Ray; more than one popular outburst had followed the first of this man's words. He was earnest and sincere. He hated everything that pertained to royalty; against the queen as a woman, he said never a word—against her as the head of the State he uttered thunders of wrath. It is aristocracy he hated with honest hatred. He would have taken the broad acres of duke and earl and shared them among the laboring poor. He protested that the monopoly of wealth by a few was a gross injustice to the many; he swore that he would give his life to undo the wrong; at the same time, he was content to live himself upon the subscriptions of the people whom he misled and excited to sedition.

He could be tracked easily as the flaming fire that leaps the prairie. Wherever he went he was followed by loud murmurs of popular discontent, and then came riot and imprisonment. In quiet hamlets, in sleepy villages, in peaceful towns, in factories, workshops, and streets, his words fell, and set fire to those who listened.

At Harbury there had been a trial for bribery at the elections. "There is sure to be a flaw in the armor there," thought Martin Ray; "it is the very place for a paying lecture by the 'working-man's friend.'" So the walls of the old town were placarded with the name of Martin Ray, the famous Radical, and the people thrilled to see the new champion of popular rights. Harbury had always been a quiet Conservative town, the inhabitants of which had rarely troubled themselves with politics, save at election times; but now among the poor and the artisan class a new light was spreading. They were no longer to be repressed and condemned; every man was to have his due; there should be none very rich, none very poor. And the man who was to help in the accomplishment of all this was coming—"the Voice of the People," Martin Ray. No wonder that the old walls were placarded, and that every gate and door bore his name.

The largest placard of all was that opposite the house of Ames Hatton, who lived in Castle Street, Harbury, the last descendant of what had once been a wealthy and powerful family. For generations they had faded and decayed; they had no longer houses or lands, nor even position; and Ames Hatton had been compelled to apply himself to one of his professions. He was a solicitor, with a small but paying practice; and being a staunch Conservative, the name of Martin Ray in large letters opposite to his door displeased him greatly.

Dye Silk Stockings, Blouse or Sweater in Diamond Dyes

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your materials will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

GOOD INTENTIONS.

I know not what my neighbors say as I pursue my plan, and undisturbed I go my way, and do the best I can. I know that no man is so wise, so virtuous, so generous, that he will not be carrying gya be criticised and panned. And so I strive to do what is right, and care no whoop or hoot if what I do stirs up the spite of any cheap galoot. I used to worry when I heard how men had roasted me; my heart, by dire emotions stirred, was gloomy as could be; and I would not wonder why applause I could not gain from Joseph Jinks or Henry Spry, or Abner P. McLane. The years slid by as years will slide when they're not fastened down; age came, and I no longer tried to please the whole blamed town. Men's words no longer jarred my nerves, I said, "I know my worth; if other guys don't like my curyes let them fall off the earth. If I do what is right and just, as down the world I go, it cuts no grass if I am cursed by all the skates I know. Oh, my intentions are the best a man can pack around, and taunt and jeer and back and jest are only empty sound." I care not what my neighbors say about the things I do, as calmly I pursue my way, with righteousness in view.

Bonfires Every Night.

BREAKING DOWN AMMUNITION ON THE BELGIAN BATTLEFIELDS.

Every night at a certain town in Belgium strange bonfires is lighted. During the day from 150 to 200 tons of ammunition left over from the War—some 30,000 projectiles of every description that is—are stripped of their fuses. Then they are laid with open mouths alongside shallow trenches that have been filled with brushwood and sprinkled with picrate and cordite taken from the shells and cartridges.

By 5:30 in the afternoon the great fire is ready to be lighted, and Mr. F. A. Tabot, in an article in The World's Work entitled "Wealth From War Waste," gives a thrilling description of the way in which it is done. "Sharp to the minute shrieks a whistle, and there is a wild stampede of workers from the clearing. A motor car has driven up unobserved, bearing the safety Inspector and his assistants. Fring the Trail With Blazing Torches. "He makes a hurried examination of the now silent and tenacious clearing, re-arranging the shells here, and trimming the trails somewhere else. Meanwhile an assistant has emerged from his shack with four long steel rods, an armful of rags, and a bucket of paraffin.

"The rags are wrapped round the ends of the rods and saturated with the inflammable liquid, and sharp at 5:40 a match is struck and four blazing torches distributed among the safety officials.

A CHANGE IN OPINION.

Once upon a time there was a young woman who held certain very decided opinions about the social order. One of them was that the men who held the big positions in industry and received the big salaries were not as a rule greatly different from the men who did not win these plums. She granted that they must be reasonably clever, but she felt that the big factor in their success was opportunity, the luck of getting in with a good company and of being on the spot when there was an opening, more often than any extraordinary brain power.

That, as I said, was once upon a time. Since those days that young woman has been in a position where she has met a few of these big men and often has heard them tell their life stories.

They ARE Different. And in every case she has found that men who hold commanding positions are commanding men. They are different. Either in the tremendous energy they put into their work or in the quality of brain they bring to bear on it—usually in both.

Moreover she has found that the men who reach these high positions were always doing something more than the average man at all stages of their career. One, whom she met recently, started as a telegrapher. Presently he became a newspaper man and soon he was the star reporter, and at the age of 19 he had bought a small paper and raised its circulation from 6,000 to 20,000.

Exactly the Same Opportunity. The reason that man holds the position he does in the magazine world to-day is because he had more brain power or put more energy into his work than the other men who were telegraphers with him or worked in the same newspaper office that he did.

The next question that inevitably arises to her mind after seeing a man like this is: could these other men have put this extra amount of energy into their work if they had tried? It is a question she has never been able to answer. There is no doubt in her mind that some people are born with better brains than others, but as to whether people are born with the will power that makes a man go at a thing hard instead of easy, or whether they can develop this will power by use, she has never been able to decide.

One of the Biggest Questions. She is inclined to think it can be developed. What do you think? You may perhaps wonder that I know so much about the inside of this woman's mind. O perhaps you have already guessed the reason.

QUIT TOBACCO

So easy to drop Cigarette, Cigar, or Chewing habit

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. All desire stops. Shortly the habit is completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

By next morning the shells have burnt themselves out and are sufficiently cooled to be handled. They are then sent away to have the driving hand removed, and the ground is prepared afresh for the next bonfire.

Censuses B. C. When and where was the first census taken? It is said that there was a census system in Babylonia, before 3,800 B.C. in connection with a complete system of fiscal control. There are at the British Museum some of the returns of later census in Babylonia in the form of a part of 30,000 tablets dated some 2,500 to 3,000 B.C. Those tablets deal with the administration of the temple property, with agriculture, stock raising, and the produce of farms and gardens. In 1017 B.C. Joab was directed by King David to go through all the tribes of Israel from Dan to Beersheba and to number the people. Joab's census gave the number of men of Judah and Israel "who drew the sword" in one case of 1,300,000, and another 1,570,000, but the first figure was stated to be incomplete, for after numbering for some months and twenty days, Joab "finished not, because there was wrath for it against Israel."

The first and original Cold and Grip Tablet, the merit of which is recognized by all civilized nations.

Backache

Backache is the outstanding symptom of kidney disease. Women often make the mistake of attributing other causes and overlook the derangement of the kidneys until serious developments have made it difficult to obtain permanent relief.

This letter points to a treatment which has been so thoroughly tried and proven so effective in the great majority of cases that you cannot afford to overlook it when cause arises for its use.

Mrs. Albert Brunet, R.R. No. 1, Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the past two months, having been afflicted with kidney trouble. I used two doctors' medicine previous to this, without any good results. A friend told me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the second box made me feel a good deal better. I have now used about six or eight boxes, and am completely relieved."

The Effect of Virol as a Tissue Builder

BABY MOSS.

"Owes her robust health to Virol."

Cranfield, 50, St. Albans Road, Moseley, Birmingham, Aug. 20, 1920.

Gentlemen,

Enclosed you will find photograph of my daughter at 17 months old. I think you will agree that she is a splendid testimony to the value of Virol as a body builder. From early days Virol has been added to her milk food, and I am quite sure that she owes her robust health to this addition.

I have many times recommended Virol and in every case there has been improvement in general health, rapid growth and easy assimilation of food.

Believe me to be, Yours faithfully, (Signed) Geo. Moss.

Lloyd George Retains Premiership.

British Political Crisis at an End--Free State and Republican Troops at Odds--Ulster Members Leave Commons--S.S. Bornholm Jammed in Ice.

CRISIS TERMINATED.
LONDON, March 6. It was authoritatively reported in Parliament this afternoon, says the London Press Association, that the political crisis has been terminated by the decision of Premier Lloyd George to continue in office in deference to the urgent appeal of his Unionist colleagues. The question of guarantees of loyalty from the rank and file of the Unionists has been temporarily waived, says the report. This appeal is understood to have been made to the Premier at a dinner given last night by Lord Birkenhead, Lord High Chancellor, where the international situation was strongly emphasized. His Unionist colleagues assured Mr. Lloyd George of their anxiety to do everything possible to support the Coalition Government.

FREE STATERS WIN.
LIMERICK, March 6. Free State troops beat the Republican army in a race here to-day and occupied the barracks and proceeded to patrol the streets in armored cars. The Republicans are said to have abandoned the idea of seizing the barracks though they occupied the principal hotels.

SLATTERY IN CHARGE AT LIMERICK.
DUBLIN, March 7. Richard Slattery, Minister of Defence in Dail Eireann, stated to-night that James Slattery, famous Irish Republican fighter who participated in the Easter week uprising, had been appointed to take charge in Limerick on behalf of the Free Staters.

CONFERENCE TO MEET APRIL 10.
PARIS, March 6. The Italian Government to-day informed the French foreign office that April 10th was a satisfactory date for the opening of the Genoa Conference.

ULSTER MEMBERS PROTEST.
LONDON, March 6. All Ulster members walked out of the House of Commons this evening when during a discussion in the committee stage of the Irish Free State bill the closure was adopted on section 1 of clause 1 which is the operative provision of the bill as it declares the treaty shall have the force of law. The closure cuts out fourteen proposed amendments. Captain Craig, Unionist member for South Antrim, protested that the Government had refused to alter a single line of the bill at the request of Ulster members yet had altered the bill to meet a resolution passed by Dublin people. One member while going out declared it would be well to discuss the bill elsewhere.

YOUNGER A PENITENT.
LONDON, March 6. A provincial paper has published a statement to the effect that Sir George Younger has expressed regret that his recent speeches had been interpreted as a challenge to the Premier's authority and declaring for a continuance of the Coalition Ministry until general elections.

NORMA STRONG'S CREW AT NEW YORK.
NEW YORK, March 7. Captain S. Penney and five men of the wrecked British schooner Norma B. Strong arrived here from the Azores Islands to-day. Their schooner was abandoned on February 8th while on a voyage from Cadiz to Newfoundland.

NEWFOUNDLANDER KILLED.
ST. JOHN, N.B., March 6. Joseph Colbert, aged 26, of St. John's, Newfoundland, working on the steamer Bethlehem here to-day was caught in a winch and died from injuries. His skull was fractured.

BORNHOLM ICE-BOUND.
HALIFAX, March 6. The steamer Bornholm, five days out from St. John's, Newfoundland for Halifax, is stuck fast in slob ice about 70 miles South Southwest of Cape Race, according to a wireless to the Naval Intelligence Staff here. She has coal on board to last eight days longer. The message came from the steamer Canadian Sapper, via Cape Race. The Sapper worked four hours yesterday afternoon and evening to reach the Bornholm, but was unable to get closer than two miles. She then proceeded for Halifax, at slow speed, through heavy ice. She gave the Bornholm's position as Latitude 46.09, North 54.10, West. The Red Cross liner Rosalind, which arrived from St. John's yesterday, reported that she had only sixty miles of open water out of the 540 she covered on the trip, and had had to run southerly as far as Sable Island to get around the heavy ice floes.

FIFTY FAILURES.
BOSTON, March 6. The list of stock brokerage houses cancelled touched the fifty mark to-day when involuntary bankruptcy petitions were filed in the Federal Court against Ethinge and Wall and I. H. Mullins and Company.

NO U.S. ARMS FOR CHINA.
WASHINGTON, March 7. The shipment of arms or ammunition from the United States to China was prohibited by proclamation by President Harding to-day.

SOCIALIST STATE LEAGUE.
DRESDEN, March 6. Three German States, Saxony, Brunswick and Thuringia contemplate establishing a union to further their common interests without impairing their separate independence. These three have Socialist Governments. Inquiry will be made of other German-governed States for opinions as to practicability of a comprehensive "League of Socialist States."

WRECKED BY DYNAMITE.
ST. CATHERINES, Ont., March 6. The Macedonian Bakery here was totally wrecked by dynamite placed in the oven. This is the sixth dynamite plot against business places in this district within two years.

MEIGHEN RE-ELECTED LEADER.
OTTAWA, March 6. Hon. Arthur Meighen was re-elected leader of the National Liberal and Conservative party at a meeting of members and supporters of the party held in the reading room of the House of Commons this afternoon. An official statement said the name of a party and the question of holding a National Convention had been discussed but no decisions had been reached when adjournment was made. All Provinces were represented at the meeting. It is understood a large number present favored return to the old name of Liberal-Conservative party.

LAW BREAKERS IN U.S.
NEW YORK, March 6. Margot Asquith, in an interview to-day, said she had come to America a tentative Prohibitionist, but was now a confirmed wet. Prohibition is a bad thing as administered in America, Mrs. Asquith said. Drinking by young men and girls was shocking and apparently due to the fact that it was considered chic to violate the law.

WILL REPORT PERMANENT BILL.
WASHINGTON, March 6. Leaders of the Senate Finance Committee plan to complete the revision of the Permanent Tariff Bill and report it in ten days. They are being subjected to tremendous pressure by manufacturers to report the bill.

SNIPERS AND MILITARY FIGHT IN BELFAST.
BELFAST, March 6. Severe fighting occurred between military and snipers in the Stanhope District of the city this afternoon. Thomas Eastwood was shot and killed.

KILLED BY POWDER EXPLOSION.
BIRMINGHAM, Eng., March 6. Seven girls were killed and thirty severely injured in an explosion of powder which they were removing from cartridges at Tipton near here. The faces of the injured girls were blackened beyond recognition. The explosion blew off the roof.

LITTLE HOPE FOR RECIPROCITY.
OTTAWA, March 6. Returning here to-day Finance Minister Fielding stated that he had visited Washington to make an informal inquiry as to the disposition of leading public men in the United States towards better trade relations with Canada. He had received warm expressions of appreciation of Canada as a good neighbor and customer, but what might occur if formal negotiations for reciprocity were taken up he could not say. The Act of Congress approving of the Reciprocity Pact of 1911 still remains on the Statute Books, but it was the intention to introduce a clause in the present Tariff Bill abrogating it. The Fordney Tariff, however, authorized the President to open negotiations with any country willing for reciprocal agreements. The present situation, Mr. Fielding thought, was complicated by the formation of an agricultural bloc which took the position that the Canadian farmer was a competitor of the American farmer.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.
BELFAST, March 6. Trouble is feared along the Down section of the frontier as a result of strained relations due to trials of Republicans which were concluded in the County Down Assizes Court with sentences being imposed from one to seven years. James Monaghan, local commandant of the Irish Republican Army at Newry, was sentenced to seven years penal servitude. When the sentence was pronounced he protested "as an officer of the Irish Republican Army I am outside the jurisdiction of this court." Richard McVaugh, for having arms and explosives in his possession, was sentenced to three years. John Morgan was sentenced to six months hard labour for carrying a rifle at the funeral of a Sinn Fein commandant.

A MATTER FOR PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.
LONDON, March 6. Questioned in the Commons to-day regarding the situation in Limerick, where several hundred armed men were reported to be in rebellion against the Provisional Government, Winston Churchill said he accepted responsibility for law and order on behalf of the British Government and added, "I am confident we are best discharging that responsibility by leaving it to the Provisional Government to take suitable action." Pressed as to what action had been taken Churchill said he wished to be fair to the Provisional Government in order not to compromise any measures it might be taking.

WILL FIGHT FOR WHEAT BOARD.
OTTAWA, March 6. Strong pressure for the appointment of a Canada Wheat Board will be made during the coming session of Parliament, according to Western members arriving here. The Government is supposed not to have made a decision yet, but if the measure is not proposed by the Government it will be introduced by the Progressive group.

New Pope as Mountaineer.

RESCUE OF ALPINE GUIDE FROM DEATH.

Pope Pius XI, the new occupant of the Chair of St. Peter, comes of humble parentage. He is the third of a family of six, of whom only two (a brother and a sister) besides himself are now living. He was born and passed his boyhood in Decio, a small village outside Milan, where his father, Francesco Ratti, was a silk manufacturer, though not boasting of riches. The new Pope has always been fond of his native place, which he visited every summer. Before he became Cardinal-Archbishop of Milan he stayed at Decio at the house of a friend, a retired solicitor, who to a Times correspondent has told interesting intimate stories of the boyhood and youth of Pius XI. "We were chums," said the narrator, "and I could tell you a lot about our games and escapades. "At the age of ten we used to go for excursions over the near hills, and he distinguished himself by his agility and endurance. From our hills he turned to the Alps, becoming a great mountaineer.

An Alpine Rescue.
"In 1890 he reached the Dufour-Spitze, Monte Rosa, being the first to cross the Zumbstein Peak. This ascent he described in the bulletin of the Italian Alpine Club, of which he was a member.

"We were often together on these excursions, and I never saw a stronger or more enthusiastic climber. He constantly carried with him his Prayer-book, and would occasionally read a few sentences from it. What was more extraordinary to me was his perfect calm, even in difficult moments.

"I remember once on the Glacier of Paradise our guide fell into a crevasse and would have perished there had it not been for the presence of mind, skill, and strength with which Ratti held the ropes and, little by little, succeeded in drawing the guide back to safety. Even at the age of fifty he did some good climbs, but then he Rome, far away from his beloved Alps."

His holiness, as will be gathered, is a strongly built man, rather short; his hair, once red, is now almost entirely white, but his eyes preserve a youthful liveliness. There is an unmistakable air of dignity and reserve about him.—Lloyd's Weekly Herald.

GOOD FOLKS.
Good folks abide in every place. All cities know the friendly face. There is no dusty village street But what is glad with little feet. And feels the tread of kindly men Who walk to work and legio again.

Good mothers everywhere abide, Travel the country far and wide, And you shall find, wherever you go.

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!

And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes.

It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.

LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.

Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.

Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roasts.

Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.

The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?

Resolutions Made to Order.

The Advocate of late has been publishing a series of hand-made resolutions from the various Councils of the Fishermen's Protective Union...

The consensus of opinion therefore expressed, is not independent. It is by authority; and as no Council can very well afford to disobey the commands of the President...

The popular idea as expressed by resolutions of the F.P.U. is not, cannot, be convincing. There is too much of the ready-made style about them.

Why? Is it because of the influence which the prime mover has over them, or is it because they have to follow whither he leads in order to eventually claim their own.

Police Court.

An old offender was charged with being drunk. He was ordered to pay the cost of conveyance.
A man who was arrested for safe-breaking said he had a home but did not know why he had not gone to it last night. His Honor advised him to go there at once.
A man was charged with assaulting his wife. He pleaded not guilty. The plaintiff was accompanied into the witness box by her two children, one of whom refused to leave it, and greatly disturbed the peace of the court by his frequent cries of delight at the novel situation in which he found himself. Witness stated that defendant had hit her in the face and nearly broken her nose. His Honor severely lectured accused and bound him over to keep the peace.

Passing of Adam Budden

AT HEART'S CONTENT. Heart's Content mourns the passing of one of its oldest citizens in the person of Mr. Adam Budden. Mr. Budden had reached the age of 78, and yet knew no illness save the few days prior to his death in great respectability, he was held in great esteem by young and old. Many a one who has lost a good friend, and who needs to trouble comes to them for kindly advice given by their departed friend. Mr. Budden was a prominent member of the S. U. F., being identified with that Order for some 40 years.
He leaves a widow and two sons—John, residing at Heart's Content with his mother, and Herbert, of Messrs. Bishop, Sons & Co., Ltd., this city.

The funeral took place on February 25, followed by a large crowd of mourners, the S. U. F. turning out in large numbers to pay respects to their departed friend and brother.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

KING OF EGYPT.

LONDON, March 7. A despatch to the London Times from Cairo says the title of Sultan of Egypt is expected to be changed to King of Egypt, when British Parliament removes protectorate and recognizes Egypt's independence. The despatch adds that the new cabinet held its first council yesterday morning in Abdin Palace, with the Sultan presiding. The new constitution, with which Egypt will be provided, entails renunciation by the Sultan of some of his prerogatives.

BRITISH POLITICAL SITUATION.

LONDON, March 7. There is unmistakable relief in ministerial circles at the postponement of the political crisis, and it is now believed there will be no untoward developments until all events after the Genoa conference, to which the Premier attaches the greatest importance. It is believed that a desire to attend this conference was one of the reasons which induced Premier Lloyd George to remain in office. In circles hostile to coalition, emphasis is laid on the temporary nature of the settlement, and it is predicted that trouble will break out again. Unionist Ministers, however, are understood to be confident that if they stand together and show a resolute front in support of coalition principles, they will be able to prevent any growth of the disruptive influences now at work. Meanwhile the dehardest movement continues active, and discussion of the Irish Bill supplies them with occasion for demonstrating their hostility to the present ministry.

THE IRISH CONSTITUTION.

DUBLIN, March 7. The first draft of the Irish constitution was completed last night by a Committee of which Dr. Farrell is acting chairman. The draft will be submitted to the Provisional Government to-day for any changes that are deemed necessary. The constitution does not bind its people forever to an Irish Free State, and contains nothing forbidding them from continuing their struggle for complete independence, according to reliable sources reaching the Associated Press. The inclusion of North East Ulster within the Free State is provided for, six Counties would retain the powers they now possess, having their own legislatures functioning similarly to the legislatures of Canadian Provinces or States of United States, with certain restrictions. Thus any act passed by the Ulster legislature, if contested, would eventually come before a Supreme Court for all Ireland on the question of its consonance with the constitution.

GUNMEN IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, March 7. Gunmen were active in early morning hours to-day, increasing tension in this city, in spite of efforts by police and soldiers. One man was killed and another wounded.

AMONG THEMSELVES.

DUBLIN, March 7. Reports that Republican rebels have given Free State forces forty-eight hours notice to surrender Limerick police barracks to-day intensified the situation in Limerick, and caused anxiety to Free State. These rumors lacked substantiation, but it was agreed that Free State would stubbornly resist dispossession, and in the event of an attack, the barracks would be vigorously defended.

Memorial Sports Meeting.

$41,500 IN HAND TO DATE. Mr. J. C. Brien, Treasurer of the Memorial Sports Committee, announced to to-day's meeting that the net proceeds of the Memorial Ice Sports, after deducting all expenses, was approximately $1,120. It was decided that a cup should be awarded the Felldian hockey team which defeated the City team in the sports. Padre Nangle extended the thanks of the War Memorial Committee to all who had helped to make the sports a success. He stated that there were now $41,500 in hand and only $8,500 were needed to realize the objective of $50,000. It was decided at the meeting that a wrestling, boxing and gymnastic exhibition should be held in April. A special sub-committee was appointed in this connection and will meet this afternoon. A more complete report will appear to-morrow.

Moliere Mystery Still Unsolved.

The tricentenary of Moliere's birth, which has just been celebrated throughout Europe, has revived the rumors in Paris that perhaps an investigation of the Moliere case by a learned commission might provoke a literary riddle as great as that surrounding Shakespeare and Bacon. As a matter of fact only three signatures of Moliere are known to exist and while the author was prolific in his early career, not a single manuscript of any of his plays can be found. Does this signify that Moliere merely bought plays from writers poorer than himself in order to climb to fame under the king's patronage. To suggest this to the average Frenchman is to invite a roar of protest, for if there is one tradition to which the French cling it is admiration for the vague lines which the followers of Moliere have adopted as the highest standard of France's stage art. There is a century old rumor, however, that Moliere left all his documents hidden in a country house in central France with instructions that they be delivered to the king after the author's death. For 200 years apparently the instructions were not carried out and then one Sunday morning a peasant carrying a huge trunk appeared at the door of the National Library of Paris and said he had been instructed to deposit "these Moliere papers which had been found in cellars." The library's concierge, however, refused to take charge of the documents until the librarian was present, whereupon the peasant left in anger declaring that he would not spend a week-day to fuss with dirty documents. He kept his word and as a result the only signatures of the great writer known to be authentic are those preserved in a glass case in the Comedie Francaise, although experts are inclined to believe that another at the bottom of a receipt for a month's supply of wine and now kept at the National Library in Paris, and one at the City-Hall in Grenoble, where Moliere apparently served as godfather to a child born to a member of his troupe, are both real. The latter, however, is signed as "J. B. Poquein" instead of his professional name, but it also bears the signature of Madeline Bojart, who shared Moliere's trials and triumphs. Efforts are to be made to centralize all these documents at the Moliere Theatre in Paris.

MEMORIAL MEETING.—The Memorial Sports Committee met at a luncheon at the West End Candy Store to-day. Matters in connection with the recent Ice Sports were discussed, and other business came up for discussion.

Garlic and Panacea.

The Telegram's re-print in a recent issue of an item describing the value of Garlic as an internal disinfectant said nothing of Garlic, and its wonderful properties, that it is not fully entitled to. The writer is a witness, very much alive to-day, to its efficacy. Four years ago he was very seriously handicapped through dyspepsia and blood pressure troubles and their consequent attendant ills. Quite accidentally he saw in an American paper—"The Utica Saturday Globe"—a short article describing the benefits to be derived by those troubled with blood pressure by the eating daily of a few cloves of garlic. The writer tried it and within a week the distressing symptoms had absolutely disappeared. He is possessed of a very sensitive appetite and occasionally fails to be as discreet in eating as he should be, and on two occasions in the past year he overdid it and suffered a little for a few hours, but a few cloves of Garlic promptly rectified the trouble. Garlic can be bought in at least two stores in St. John's—a "head" of Garlic weighs in at about an ounce and contains from 6 to 10 cloves. The writer, at first, for about three weeks, ate about half a head a day and later on only one or two cloves, but for some months has used none. The heads should be broken apart and both ends chipped off a clove when it may be readily peeled, then cut in halves, slightly chewed and swallowed. At first it is a little unpleasant to eat, but a taste is soon acquired for it. Without a doubt the use of Garlic is generally and markedly beneficial.—COM.

Statesmanship.

This Colony has, more or less, been subjected to party politics and partisanship which the result of past years has shown to be no more than a needless, dwarfed and crippled policy to benefit the monopolist and party heeler.

Statesmanship calls for a leader versed in the art of government, who feels a sympathetic impulse to do good to the masses as well as the classes, and one who is skilled in legislation, and leadership and sound judgment and who has the ability and wisdom which constitutes a thorough political ruler.

What have we to-day as a result of party politics? What have they done to benefit one iota the general public of this Colony? How much has been done to reduce the public debt of this Colony?

This thriving valuable country cannot stand the strain of money grafting, or of mismanagement of administration. Where does a Governor figure when ministers under his guidance are forever heaping up riches from the treasure troves of Newfoundland?

February.

I've gotten into winter now, and everything it brings along seems but a timely curse, somehow. I try to greet it with a song. If morning shows a bank of white into the back yard and the front, I ply the shovel left and right, releasing no reluctant grant, or trodden paths of days ago.

Sealers Entertained.

A free entertainment was given at the Grenfell Hall last night to the sealers now in town. It was arranged by Mr. A. E. Holmes, the manager. The entertainment consisted of a cinema exhibition and gymnastic "stunts" by the Grenfell Gymnastic Club.

HIS DIARY. March 6th.—Little news anywhere nor have I seen a time so dull. To the Board of Trade where Sir F. McGrath tells me of news he has received from High W. J. Ellis. I meet Sir M. P. Cashin and he tells me of the "Sisto" being that she is still in ice off this coast.

An Object Lesson.

War Memorial Fund Office. G.W.V.A. Building, St. John's. March 6, 1922. Dear Sir.—Would you kindly publish the enclosed letter received this morning. I need not say that the wish that the grown-ups who have done nothing would take the lesson to heart.

Enjoyable Evening at the Nickel.

PATRONS PLEASSED WITH DELIGHTFUL SOLOS AND DUET. The vocal programme at the Nickel last night aroused much enthusiasm from a thoroughly pleased audience who were loud in their praise. Miss Ruth Chase, Soprano, rendered the well known sacred song, "Hear Ye O Israel" in a manner that commanded the individual attention of her hearers.

Extending Sea Jurisdiction.

NORWAY MAKES A TEN MILE LIMIT. COPENHAGEN, Feb. 2.—Norway undertook a short time ago to enlarge her territorial waters to ten miles (instead of three miles) in an endeavor to cope with the organized and ever-increasing smuggling of spirits into the country. The extension meant that all ships venturing inside the territorial waters were subject to search by Norwegian customs officers empowered to confiscate any cargo of spirits and under certain circumstances, authorized to seize the ship.

Speculating in Newsprint.

VIENNA.—A famine of white paper here, including newsprint, with constantly increasing cost, led the government to investigate, and inspectors found many large warehouses filled with paper of all grades. The mills, it is charged, have been storing their output with speculators doing an enormous business. The stocks are said to have changed ownership many times without a pound leaving the warehouses. The paper has been confiscated.

Fire Sufferers.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Will you kindly state in your paper that the house which was destroyed by fire on Kenmount Road, on the 11th of February, was owned by Mrs. Phillip Putt, and the tenant, Maurice Putt, lost everything excepting his horse and cow. He carried no insurances on his furniture. Maurice was in town at the time of the fire, and only that Phillip Putt was cutting wood nearby, the children would have died from exposure. The reason I ask you to report this is that people disbelieve that they are in need, owing to the names being similar. Maurice has suffered and is in need of assistance.

Yours truly, MRS. PHILIP PUTT. March 7, 1922.

Boots That Wear Well.

Twenty-eight years ago a young man went into a shoe store in Cincinnati and asked about having a pair of boots made. When shown boots made for other persons he remarked, "They're all right for most folks but I have to follow my butcher wagon and that's right hard on boots. Reckon you could make me a pair that would last?" Mr. Madden satisfied him on this point and the boots were ordered. Two years ago exactly twenty-six years after he bought the boots, the same butcher brought them back to Mr. Madden to be half-soled. They had been re-soled and heeled many times, but the uppers, made of English grain leather, were still in good condition.

Labor Will Fight for Municipal Control.

LONDON.—Labor is squaring up for a big fight to secure the municipal control of this metropolis through the London County Council elections, which takes place early in March. Labor's opponents, the Municipal Reform Party and the Progressive Party, although divided in policy, are practically united to keep out the socialists. The labor party collected an election fighting fund of £20,000 by a levy on all their members. Their program includes municipal trading on a large scale in meat, coal, bread, fish and milk, and the provision of various medical services free to all; which is characterized as a revolution in municipal government. The London County Council consists of 124 councillors, 19 aldermen and the chairman.

Ordered on Health Trip.

STOCKHOLM.—Prince William has been ordered by his physicians to leave for southern Italy to recover his health, which was badly shaken by fever contracted in the course of his hunting and scientific expedition into Central Africa. This, however, did not stop the royal scion and big game hunter from filling engagements to lecture before the students and faculty of Lund University, Sweden, and the University of Copenhagen. He had promised to deliver the lectures and this he did, then left for Italy.

Canalizing the St. Lawrence.

RESOLUTION BEFORE U.S. SENATE. WASHINGTON, (Canadian Press).—The resolution now before the U. S. Senate in which Senator King, of Utah, proposes a bargain by which Canada would be asked to give up territory in return for U.S. support of the St. Lawrence waterways project, is titled: "Resolution favoring the cession by the Dominion of Canada to the United States of certain territory between the northern boundary of New York and the mouth of the Richelieu River as a condition precedent to the participation by the United States in the canalization of the St. Lawrence River. The text of the resolution reads: "Whereas the project for the canalization of the St. Lawrence River, and the development of hydraulic power in connection therewith, between Lake Ontario and the head of tidewater in the St. Lawrence River below the city of Montreal at the joint expense of the Governments of the United States and the Dominion of Canada, contemplates that the Government of the United States shall contribute one-half of the cost of construction of the necessary channels, dams, locks, and hydraulic works in that portion of the St. Lawrence River between the northern boundary of the State of New York and the mouth of the Richelieu River, which portion of the St. Lawrence River passes entirely through Canadian territory, and, upon which the United States has no riparian rights,

Obituary

MATTHEW KIELEY.
By mail received recently by friends in the city, the news of the death of Mr. Matthew Kieley, son of Mary and the late James Kieley, H.M.C., was received. The deceased was ailing for a short while only and his passing came as a great blow to his widowed mother. "Mattie," as he was familiarly called by his many friends, was born in St. John's East, and was educated at St. Patrick's Hall. After leaving school he entered the employ of Jas. Baird's grocery store, and severing his connection there he has since resided in Roxbury, Mass., where up to the time of his early passing, he held a lucrative position with the Hood Rubber Co. His wife, (nee Sears) predeceased him some years ago. To the sorrowing mother and only child the Telegram and writer express the deepest sympathy.—Com.

The Housing Problem Again.

Dear Sir.—I would like to make a few remarks through the columns of your widely circulated paper re the housing problem of the city at present, which is very acute. There is at least one phase of the subject which needs attention. It is the number of houses unfit for habitation. Imagine a family of 7 or 8 living in one room, with two other rooms in the house unfit to go into, owing to rain pouring in when the weather is mild and snow drifting in when the weather changes. All the family is compelled to eat, sleep and wash in this one room. Nowadays if a man beats his child he is convicted and punished, but it seems not to matter how many lives a landlord sacrifices. I have a summary of the British laws before me and I am trying to distinguish the difference between the man who ill-used his child, who became ill from exposure, and the man or woman who lets a house knowing it is unfit for habitation, one in which children go to bed at night and get up in the morning with a wet shirt. I cannot find any difference in the offence according to law. Mr. Editor, the law regarding landlords is not carried out because people are too slow or too quiet to bring it to the attention of the authorities. According to the Working Classes Act, 1890, the implied conditions that all houses at the commencement of holding must in all respects be reasonably fit for human habitation. 53-54 Vict., C 70 to 75, also 8th edition 7 C, 44, 14-15. This is the British law.

Eddie McGinley Goes Over With a Bang.

The vaudeville sketch acted by Eddie McGinley at the Crescent last night, went over with a bang. The various items were well selected and well received by the audience. Eddie's opening number was a comic song, entitled, "That's How I Believe in You" and was followed by a series of jokes, skits and funny stories. His dramatic recitation "The Stacker" was exceptionally well rendered and clearly showed that Eddie is capable of interpreting dramas as well as comedy. He gave also a humorous recitation, entitled "Love in the Hallway." As a closing number he sang a famous "rag" that is very popular in New York musical comedy at present, and which scored an initial hit with local patrons at the Crescent last evening. This well-balanced show will be repeated to-day.

"When Moses was adopted and brought up in the Royal Court, he being a foreigner, could not use the royal symbol which was accordingly dropped, but he retained the rest of the nose, to wit, nose or horn. This interesting explanation is given by Professor Wallis Budge, Egyptologist of the British Museum."

THE PEOPLE OF NUBIA.

"As we reach the southern boundary of Nubia and approach the Sudan, there is a very noticeable change in race type. Here the men are a fine set of fellows, beautifully formed and well muscled, and in colour, black as ebony. But while black in color, their features are by no means negroid. The nose is straight, almost Grecian; their lips and chin well formed, and their hair wavy rather than kinky. The men are proud, powerful, and courageous, and under a good organization, and with proper training, make the best soldiers in the world. History tells us how they once conquered Egypt, under Pianki and afterwards, repeatedly repelled the foreign invaders from the south, and we have not forgotten the fight they gave the British during the Sudan war, when they were enlisted under the banner of the fanatical Mahdi."

British Notables Honored on Tavern Signs.

The personal element in tavern signs is abundantly illustrated in London.

A few years ago an analysis of the names of public-houses published in Kelly's Directory showed that all the most famous British kings and queens can be found on the list, in addition to fifty-two King's Arms, thirty-five King's Heads, sixteen Queen's Arms and thirty-seven Queen's Heads. Nineteen inns take as their patron the Duke of Wellington and seventeen Lord Nelson.

A catholic national portrait gallery could, indeed, be brought together from the London sign-boards. It would find room for Nell Gwynne as well as Bishop Bonner, for Lord John Russell as well as Cardinal Wolsey, for Captain Cook as well as Robin Hood, and for Sir Isaac Newton as well as Thomas a Becket.

Perhaps the most interesting of all the historical associations is the reminder, in the name of Peter the Great, of the great Czar's apprenticeship in a Thames shipyard.

The most surprising discovery is of the part English literature has played in suggesting names for London taverns.

Five are called after Ben Jonson, one after Macaulay, one after Milton, one after Robert Burns, six after Shakespeare, one after Sir Richard Steele—an inn on Haverstock Hill, Hampstead, where Sir Richard had a cottage—and one after Sir Walter Scott. Literature is further represented in a Comus, a Robinson Crusoe, a Sir John Falstaff and a Vicar of Wakefield.

A Deserving Case.

Mr. George Tricco, of Paradise, who was left destitute when his house was destroyed by fire last week, is now seeking assistance to rebuild his home. In the conflagration, which started in the early hours of Thursday last, Mr. Tricco, besides losing his house and furniture, also had his stable destroyed, his horse perishing in the flames. The man and his family are completely destitute, as vouched for by Rev. A. Pittman, an assistance rendered would be practical charity.

(Hr. Grace Standard, March 3.)
The blockade of the railway on this line owing to the snow-storms of the past two weeks, has been lifted and the trains resumed their usual daily schedule yesterday morning. On Wednesday afternoon the working trains from Carbonear to Brigus Junction met and left with mails and passengers for St. John's on time Thursday morning. It was late arriving here, as snow which drifted in the night had partly filled the cuts in the Valley, and left here at 10 a.m. The regular left St. John's at 9 a.m. and arrived here at four p.m. bringing a large number of passengers and a very large mail, local and foreign.

The Greatest of These.

Dear Sir.—Great credit is due the Majestic Theatre of this city for its action in turning over its business to the St. Vincent de Paul and Dorcas societies for the Lenten period, so that the charitable funds of those splendid organizations may be augmented. It is an act which is in thro keeping with the spirit displayed by the Majestic since its inception, three years ago this month. As I understand it, the Majestic management, Messrs. O'Neill, Condy and Whitten, have turned their theatre over to the two societies, with the idea of the societies getting all of the proceeds of the shows, less running expenses. This arrangement extends through Lent, and as a result many poor and needy people of St. John's will be relieved and aided. The Majestic theatre is the first in this country, I believe, to make such a generous donation to charity. The St. Vincent de Paul and Dorcas societies to all intents and purposes, represent the public, at least so far as the giving of charity is concerned. We all naturally look to them to attend to deserving cases of need. Now they have the big Majestic theatre in their own hands. It's therefore up to the public to "come across!"

The Sealing Voyage.

This year there will be an increase of about 91 men in the crews of the sealing fleet. Last year the nine ships took crews totalling 1,264. So far the price set is $4.00 per cwt. for young harks and young hoods, and $3.00 for old harks and old hoods. There is a rumor, however, that the price will advance a little in sympathy with the foreign demand. The ships last year brought in a total catch of 101,452 which realized $171,242.76.

Light That Rivals Sun.

A new beacon light for lighthouses said to be the most powerful artificial light ever produced—sending a beam thirty miles in the air that can be seen for 140 miles at sea—was tested recently in Brooklyn and pronounced a success.

According to Mr. Sperry, the inventor, the new light will not only revolutionize navigation at sea, but also, but will be of immense service to aviation and will make night flying at high altitude much safer than it is at present.

"Present lighthouses send horizontal beams," explained Mr. Sperry. "These are cut off by the horizon. The idea of the new beacon is a vertical swinging beam, which can be seen above a low lying fog and most fogs are low lying—and which shows its position by the number of its swings, or beats a minute.

The light tested is of 1,400 million candle power, almost the strength of the sun's rays at the surface of the earth.

The new light is produced by a "chemical arc," which introduces certain gases into the electric arc which renders them incandescent. It takes twelve to fifteen horsepower to operate it, nine to eleven thousand watts, approximately. Its comparison with the ordinary household electric, which usually consumes forty to fifty watts, can readily be made.

Searchlights of the same type, Mr. Sperry said, were sent to London during the war for use against Zeppelins and were extremely effective. They drove the Zeppelins so high, he said, that on one occasion their engines froze and a whole fleet was put out of action.

A Wonderful Monument.

DR. R. B. WETHERELL DESCRIBES THE ROCK TEMPLE OF RAMESES THE GREAT.

A member of the Telegram staff recently received a letter from Dr. R. B. Wetherell of Lafayette, Indiana. Dr. Wetherell, who visited Newfoundland last summer, writes from Abu Simbel, Nubia, where he is studying the Rock Temple of Rameses the Great. He enclosed several snapshots of this great temple, which is one of the wonders of the world, but unfortunately, these cannot be reproduced. The letter was written in January and Dr. Wetherell then intimated that he would be leaving shortly for Assuan and will return to America about the middle of April. It is possible that he may again visit Newfoundland in the summer.

The following extracts from his letter will undoubtedly interest readers of the Telegram giving as they do, first hand information concerning one of the most marvellous examples of monumental architecture existing within the world to-day.

THE ROCK TEMPLE OF RAMESES.

"I left Cairo three weeks ago, taking the Nile steamer to Assuan which is situated at the first Cataract, then changed to a smaller boat, to come here, for the purpose of studying the Rock Temple of Rameses the Great. I am familiar with the ancient remains of Memphis, Esela, Deledera and Thebes but this temple is quite different from those of lower Egypt, and is most interesting, both from the standpoint of Art and History, for after the death of this great king, the power of Egypt declined to be at last followed by the Assyrian, Persian, Grecian and Roman dominations. The wars Rameses carried on with Ethiopians on the south and the Hittites on the north brought to the country great wealth and a multitude of captives which were held as slaves and were used by the king in building the splendid monuments in Thebes and Abu Simbel, the latter, while not showing the fine architectural and pictorial art found in the great capital, is still very impressive, by reason of the majestic figures of the king which ornament the front of the temple. It was indeed the work of Titans, for the side of the mountain was first cut back about 80 feet and then, the front was carved in the living rock, leaving four gigantic carved figures. In a sitting position, two on either side of the entrance. These figures are 66 feet high, the faces are well modelled, and the features are handsome and full of character."

CUT INTO SOLID ROCK.

"The interior of the temple is cut into the solid rock of the mountain to the distance of about 150 feet and consists, first of an entrance course whose highly decorated roof is supported by four standing statues of Rameses, wearing the Royal Crown of Upper and Lower Egypt, the arms crossed over the breast, and holding the emblem of power and dominion. On the north wall is a pictorial representation of the victorious war over the people of Nubia, and on the south wall is pictured the battle of Kadesh, which resulted in the complete subjection of the Hittites. On the west wall is a beautiful carving in relief of the favourite wife of Rameses, called Neferari. The chamber also contains a tablet which states that in the battle of Kadesh the king was deserted by the army who beat a disorderly retreat, but he, accompanied only by his sons, calling on the god, Amon Ra for assistance, vanquished the enemy through his individual strength and valour. Next to the great court is a smaller chamber with four piers, well carved with figures representing Rameses and his beautiful wife sacrificing before the great gods of Egypt, Hathor, Amon Ra, Thot and Mut."

HOW EGYPTIAN KINGS WERE NAMED.

The chamber leads by a small door into the sanctuary. From Rameses according to the Egyptian religion every king was not the sovereign head of the people but was also high priest of the temple and a son of the god Ra or Amen, so that his royal name always contained the symbol of the god whose representative he was on earth. The name of Rameses II was Ra meses or Ra-mesut, and is translated, the son of Ra. (Dr. Wetherell has drawn the hieroglyphical representation of the name, but unfortunately, these can-

THE GULE OF THE COUNTRY-MAN.

Pawning off as local produce imported meat and eggs, is a practice which is now extensively engaged in by country people to their profit and the chagrin of housekeepers. The procedure is simple; the countryman buys several quarters of imported meat during the week, and brings it home where it is thawed and cut up to be brought to the city on Saturdays. In the matter of eggs, the countryman purchases a case of imported eggs, brings them home where they are repacked in baskets with straw or hay. The unsuspecting housekeeper thinking the goods are really from the country, willingly pays 20c per dozen more for the eggs, and 5 or 10c per lb. extra for the meat.

ONCE YOUR ROOM IS PANELLED WITH

Beaver Board

Your House Cleaning Trouble will be over

You won't have to worry about wall paper, no more paste to make, no more dirt to clean up, no more kalsomining or whitewashing to do, and no more expense.

A Beaver Board room saves money in the long run—the first cost is the last.

About $9.00 worth of Beaver Board will cover your ceiling. About $21.00 worth of Beaver Board will do your walls.

Panel your dining-room now with Beaver Board—it's the latest style.

IMPORTANT

Take care that you get genuine Beaver Board with the Beaver Brand stamped on the back of every board. Remember that the labour and cost of putting on imitations of Beaver Board are the same as if genuine Beaver Board was being used, but the real genuine Beaver Board will last as long as your house; it won't rot, won't peel, won't crack and is guaranteed to be superior to ordinary wall board. Get the genuine Beaver Board if you want satisfaction.

MARKET STRENGTH.
Inability to judge existing conditions has caused many investors to hold off, with the result that they have missed many nice profits.
There are many favorable factors just now, including low exchange, easy call money, short coverings and higher dividend rates.
We recommend that the very active issues should be purchased on all recessions.
Our Weekly Market Letter will keep you fully posted on New York Activities, and there's a copy for you without obligation.
