JOHN BOSTWICK'S BATTLE.

Among the many snug homes in the mid-land counties of England there are few more attractive than that of John Bostwick. He and his wife had been married ten years, and four children had blessed their union, which was a genuine love match. They had lived happily together, and only once had their sky been clouded. That was when little Mary, a bright, pretty girl of six, had died in her mother's arms and was buried in a grassy corner of the parish churchyard. But both father and mother were young, the other children seemed to cuddle still closer to their parents' hearts, and smiles finally came back where tears had been, as sunshine follows a shower. Yet not at once, for Mary had been her father's pet, although he could not be said to have neglected the others for her sake. For John was a domestic man, and when the day's business was done, he was sure to go straight home, his mind full of pleasant fancies about the greetings that awaited him there.

Matters went on in this way for, perhaps, a year after the death of little Mary; when the husband and father began to look and act unlike his old self. It was not drink or bad company—his wife well knew that—for no man in broad England had better principles or steadier habits than John Bostwick. At first she noticed that his step was slower than it used to be; that his face looked anxious and drawn, and he appeared to enjoy his meals less than formerly. Once he had been lavish of his compliments on the dishes she prepared; now he no longer praised her skill as a cook. Occasionally he would speak rather peevishly of the cares and vexations of his business, yet she had often heard him express a wish that he had more to do, so strong and vigorous did he feel and so elastic were his spirits. The fond wife knew enough of her husband's affairs, however, to be certain that he was already planning and toiling beyond his strength. This labor, with his half-hidden grief over the loss of little Mary, was bringing trouble, but in what form she could not tell.

Mrs. Bostwick had not noticed this change without speaking of it to him and urging him to tell her just how he felt, and, if necessary, to consult a medical man. But he had invariably answered, "Oh, Susie, don't worry. I haven't felt very well, lately, but it's nothing serious. You shouldn't notice it. I'll be all right, soon. Perhaps I've worked a trifle too hard this summer. I don't need a doctor nor any medicine. You would have me real ailing if I let you do as you like."

Speaking in such words as these John would quiet his wife for the moment, but he did not convince her.

One night late in September he entered the house earlier than usual and sank into the arm-chair before the fire. The children gathered around his knees and began their prattle of the day's events in their small lives; and to ply him with questions as to what he had seen and done since that distant period in a child's estimate—the morning. Making short replies or none at all, he pushed them gently away, bent his head upon his hand, and remained perfectly silent. Entering the room from another part of the house, and surprised to see her husband home so early, Susan walked softly to his side, pressed a welcoming kiss upon his forehead, but with the wise instinct of women, made no remark. Dinner was presently on the table; the food was plentiful and good, yet it was a dull and cheerless meal, for "Papa," contrary to his habit, ate little and said less.

Seeing that her husband was really ill Susan persuaded him to retire to bed. Yet he could not sleep. He was sick at the stomach and very feverish. His breath was short and quick, and his hands and feet cold.

Why He Quit the Business.

Kosciusko Murphy, who is a bookkeeper in a grocery store, met a friend who clerks in a cigar store on Austin avenue, and asked him for a cigar.

"Ain't got any," said his friend.

"Ain't got any?" said Kosciusko. "Why, when I used to work in a cigar store I always had my pockets stuffed with cigars."

"Yes; probably that's the reason you ain't in a cigar store now," was the crushing reply.

STOMACH AND LIVER COMPLAINT.

Chatham, N.B.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

May 30th, 1897.

GENTLEMEN,—I herewith enclose to you a few statements from parties who have used your Seigel's Syrup and Pills, of which I could get dozens. I have sold about 20 dozen Syrup and Pills the last year past, and must say that all those who tried the Syrup and Pills all say it is the best medicine they have ever tried, for the various diseases for which it is recommended. I have also used the Syrup and Pills myself for dyspepsia of long standing, and find it the best remedy for derangements of the Stomach and Liver, for which I have tried many other medicines, without the desired effect. I can send you many more testimonials if you require them.

Yours very truly,

ALEX. McDONALD.

"John," said Susan, "you had better let me send for the doctor. You never had a spell like this before, and it worries me."

"Nonsense, wife," he replied, sharply, "it's a mere cold, and it will work off itself. Do lie down and be still."

But there was to be no rest for either of them. All night long he burned with fever. At times he was light-headed and talked in a disjointed fashion of his business and of little Mary. An hour or two after midnight he fell into a troubled sleep, from which he awoke several times with a cry, as people do from nightmare. Morning came at last, and in spite of his wretched night Bostwick arose, swallowed a cup of strong coffee, and went to his business. The reader may say he was a fool, but John Bostwick had the old-fashioned English grit, and would stick by a friend or fight a foe as long as he could stand up and see. And illness was his enemy.

His wife, less pugilistic, attended to her most pressing household duties, and then sought an hour or two of much needed rest.

Nature loves pauses and intervals. Only one sea-wave out of many is dangerously large. She gives us neither good nor bad without a break. For some time there was no repetition of the miserable experience just related. But John was not himself again. In mind and body he had lost his grip. He grew more and more testy and irritable. Little things fretted him. He mistook molehills for mountains. He acted like a man who expects bad news—he knows not what nor whence. He complained of headaches, dullness and inability to fix his attention on any single object or purpose. The children no longer counted on "Papa," as a playmate. Now and then he would speak so roughly as to send them to their mother in tears and terror. He partook of his meals mostly in silence, eating little and speaking only to find fault. Surely our friend John was getting into very bad form indeed.

Patient Susan bore all this as well as she could. She knew her husband had not changed; it was the mysterious disease which had swept the smile from his face and the loving words from his lips.

John Bostwick was a hopeless dyspeptic. His whole manner told the story. His business friends remarked that he did not show his former sharpness and clear-headedness in buying and selling. He said he had a feeling at the pit of his stomach as though something was gone; a sensation that food could not overcome. Quite often he would be seized with sickness and throw up his food because he could not digest it. He had a bad taste in his mouth, especially in the morning, and was disgusted to find a slimy substance on his gums, and when Susan hinted to him how offensive his breath was he angrily told her to mind her own business. Nothing can more forcibly indicate what a change had come over the considerate and gentlemanly John Bostwick. He had pains in his chest, sides and back, and underwent miserable torment from constipation. For the latter trouble his physician prescribed cathartics and laxatives, none of which gave more than transient relief. How tired the poor fellow got of salts—Epsom salts, Rochelle salts, and all the salty tribe. They made him sick and chilled him to the marrow. And as to the pills which he was coaxed to swallow, they weakened and worried him without abating one jot the constipation that gave rise to all his pains and sorrows. Having exhausted nature without curing the disease, the doctors washed their hands of John's troubles and withdrew from the field.

Then his friends took their turn at advising and dosing the luckless man. There was hardly an old woman's decoction or a patent medicine in the kingdom that he did not make a trial of; yet the disease marched steadily on, and through her failing hopes and falling tears poor Susan saw the ap-

Husband—I have just ushered that impertinent Miss Smythe to the door. This is the eleventh time this week she has called on our son, and I have sworn never to give her his hand.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup Compelled Him to Change His Opinion.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

Madford, Man.
May 15th, 1887.

Sirs,—I have been one of those that do not believe in Patent Medicines, nor did I ever allow my name to appear in print, in such testimonials as some have, and still I always thought that they were only put forward as an advertisement to sell such medicine. Well, to be faithful and do my duty, I feel that I would do anything for my suffering neighbors, and therefore I introduced Seigel's Syrup, and may say that I have been in business in Manitoba for over seven years and I have always sold more of Seigel's Syrup than any other medicine, and more of Seigel's Syrup than all the rest put together; it is all that I represent, a true and honest medicine. For all the dozens I have sold, I may say that I am selling more at the present time than ever I did; the medicine will sell on its own merits. Believe me,

Yours truly,

proach of the terrible day on which her John would sleep beside their little Mary and she would have to travel on—alone! For the once energetic and masterful man was now obliged to place his business in other hands and confine himself to the house and its vicinity. On attempting a short walk one fair day, accompanied by his little boy, John suddenly reeled and fell full length by the side of the road. The child's screams alarmed the neighbours, who lifted him to his feet and assisted him home. He said that as he was walking slowly along, the landscape began to whirl; then all was dark, and he remembered no more until he found himself supported by his friends. This was vertigo, one of the results of advanced chronic dyspepsia and nervous debility.

At this stage of John's ailment the slightest exertion tired him and the least excitement brought on palpitation of the heart, of which at times it seemed he would suffocate. Bad dreams nightly disturbed his sleep and the horror of them would often remain vivid for hours after he awoke. Worse than all, a portentous cough set in, with light-coloured expectoration, which after a time was streaked with blood.

Susan, now thoroughly alarmed, was convinced that her husband was fast dying of that dread scourge, consumption, and all who saw him were of the same opinion. After this frightful aspect of the disease showed itself there seemed no ground for hope. Poor John Bostwick grew more thin and feeble daily. His tongue was covered with canker spots, his face was sharp and his eyes more prominent as the flesh wasted away. He almost revolted at the sight or smell of food, and a glass of milk two or three times a day was about all he could take. It really looked as if he must perish of starvation, as indeed he was doing, for dyspepsia both poisons and starves its miserable victims. Thus the dreary winter passed, the longest and saddest in the life of the anxious yet patient mother and the strangest in the lives of the children, who, from day to day, looked eagerly from the window, wondering how soon the summer would come again.

One day in the following May, Bostwick was feeling somewhat easier than usual, and his wife said: "John, it is beautiful weather and our kind neighbour, Gordon, says he would like to have you go for a little drive with him. I very much wish you would go if you are at all able, dear John; it may do you good."

It was a struggle to persuade the weak and broken man to make the necessary effort, but he did so at last, and with a smile on her weary face, yet with tears of sorrow in her fond blue eyes, Susan watched the wagon pass slowly along the foot of the hill and out of sight. It seemed to the poor woman that her husband, who was, if possible, dearer to her in his helplessness than he had been in his strength, would go from their door but once again, and then—overwhelmed at the picture her fancy had conjured up she walked quickly from the porch.

What followed must be briefly told. When Gordon, with his charge, had driven about a mile across the sweet and sunny English landscape they both saw a man coming towards them, walking with a long, free, swinging stride, as though he had a stock of health and vigor for himself and half a dozen other men. A minute later Bostwick said: "Gordon, I think I know that man. That should be our old acquaintance, Sam Fisher, who left here for Australia some seven or eight years ago to seek his fortune, and he looks as though he had found it."

"Yes, that's Fisher right enough," responded Gordon, "and he's better dressed and broader across the shoulders than he was when he went away."

The horse was halted, and Gordon hailed the pedestrian with a cheery, "Halloo, Sam; I'm glad to see you back," and the hail was returned with an equally hearty, "Same to

DYSPEPSIA CURED AFTER TRYING SEVERAL DOCTORS.

Myrtle, Ont.,

A. J. WHITE & Co. April 3th, 1887.

DEAR SIRS—Three years ago I was attacked by Dyspepsia and Indigestion. I called in our family doctor, and he tried the utmost of his skill to cure me, but failed to do so. I went to another very skilful physician in Whitby, and took his medicine for six months, but it failed to do me any good. While I was taking his medicine I was as bad as ever, and declining all the time. I left this doctor and tried another; he also failed to do me any good. By this time I was about discouraged, and a friend advised me to try the Homeopathic doctors, which I did,—I went to the best in Toronto and told him all about my case. He seemed to understand my case and gave me medicine to take home and use. If I had continued taking it I would not have lived long; its effects were such that I was compelled to give it up. I then commenced to take your Mother Seigel's Syrup, and thanks to God, I have been getting better, and can now work about as well as ever I could. I have been gaining flesh since I commenced to take it, and would not be without it if it cost me $2.00 a bottle.

Yours truly,
REUBEN HURLEUT.

you, old fellow; I'm glad to be back, and I hope all friends are well."

So saying, he put one foot on the wheel and gave Gordon a warm grasp of the hand. Then gazing at Bostwick, who had not yet spoken, Fisher asked, with a degree of hesitation, "And can this be John Bostwick? It is; and yet how altered! Why, John, if I had not met you within a mile of your own doorsill, I shouldn't have known you."

Bostwick rather reluctantly admitted his own identity, and then, with Gordon's help, told Fisher how he came to be in so sad a plight.

Fisher heard the story through without a word, and then remarked: "Bostwick, it's a sorry business, but I know what will cure you. The year after I arrived in Australia, I went through such an illness, and never expected to see Old England again. Every symptom you have described I had. I was then working in Melbourne. In about six months after the first attack I gave up doing anything, and in six months more I made up my mind that I should find a grave where I had come to find a fortune. The doctors told me I had a profound seizure of indigestion and dyspepsia, complicated with liver and kidney trouble. They did what they could, but they didn't go to the bottom of it. When I was about as bad off as I could be, an old acquaintance from London happened to call, and smiled when I prophesied my own funeral. Thinking I was not a proper object of ridicule, I resented his levity, and he said: 'Fisher, where have you been all your life not to know that the successful remedy for the disease you suffer from is Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup?' I said I had heard of it a hundred times, but had no faith in it. 'That's because you haven't used it,' says he. Then he went on to tell me what he knew about it in similar cases, and ended up in these words: 'Try it, or let it alone, just as you like, Sam. If you try it, you'll see England again; if you let it alone, you'll be buried in Australia.' I did try it, and the result is I am here telling you to do the same thing."

When Fisher ceased speaking, Bostwick thanked him, and on the return drive bought a bottle of the syrup and took it home with him.

From that day the fight between John and his enemy began afresh. For some weeks the issue was still doubtful. His wife helped and encouraged him at every step. The first sign of the coming victory was that he began to sleep better. Then the cough became quieter and he raised less. Then he was able to take and digest tender beef and other nutritious food. An increase of strength followed, of course. Now and then there was a slight relapse, but on the whole, the process of improvement went on.

Susan's heart ran over with gladness when John came to the table for the first time in several weeks, ate with something like an appetite, and finished with kissing the children and herself.

When he had gone to his room for a short nap, the mother gathered the little ones around her and said, in tones full of pleasure: "My darlings, we'll keep papa yet."

And "keep papa" they did, for in four months from that day John Bostwick was back to business, blessing the day that Sam Fisher returned from Australia and almost compelled him to use Mother Seigel's Syrup.

The above is the history of an actual occurrence, and with changes of names and circumstances it is a type of multitudes of similar cases in almost every town and city in this populous country. Bostwick's misfortune consisted in having so long neglected the remedy. Yet we must pardon him, for he used it as soon as he believed in it. Knowing his story, you, dear reader—if you experience the symptoms of his disease—need not wait. Indigestion and dyspepsia, the scourge of civilization, must be checked at once. What one bottle of Seigel's Syrup will do in the early stages, it will take half a dozen to do when the trouble affects the liver, and five times as many when the blood is thoroughly poisoned and every organ of the body has been attacked.

Taken according to directions, the wonderful preparation of Mother Seigel, the good old German nurse, will effect a cure.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is for sale by all chemists and medicine vendors, price 60c. per bottle, and by the proprietors, A. J. White & Co. (Limited), Herald Building, 6 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, P. Q.

IT HAS NO EQUAL FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Millington, P. Q.

June 2nd, 1887.

A. J. WHITE & Co:

DEAR SIRS,—I could send you a great many testimonials where the parties have received great benefit from the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup. I have never heard of any other remedy equal to it for dyspepsia; it has performed some wonderful cures here. Money would not tempt me to be put back where I was when I began to take this medicine; if I had not got help I would have been obliged to give up business, but the Seigel's Syrup has nearly cured me of dyspepsia. I would advise every one who is suffering from dyspepsia, to try Mother Seigel's Syrup.

THE SHORT AND SIMPLE ANNALS OF THE POOR.

Mr. Levi Todd, the able and well-known consulting chemist, of 154 Moss Lane East, Manchester, kindly writes us the following most interesting letter, under date of July 19th, 1887. Mr. Todd's profession, which calls on him to prescribe in chronic and difficult cases, as well as his personal reputation, eminently qualify him to judge of the action of medicines, and render his statements intelligent and trustworthy. He says: "You will remember that I was one of the first to introduce Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup in the North of England. Years have gone by since then, and my interest in this remarkable medicine has increased as I have heard of the cures it has effected in all parts of the country. And I take particular pleasure in calling personally, when I can, on those who have been cured, and listening to their stories from their own lips. Some of these are so pathetic, and the final result so happy, that I can hardly restrain my feelings as I sit and hear them. I cannot refrain from giving you one which was related to me this present week. I had heard that an estimable lady, who lived in the same town as myself, had been cured of chronic indigestion and dyspepsia, and that the details of the case had made much stir in the neighbourhood. I found her at home and very willing to tell me all about her illness and how Seigel's Syrup had made her strong and well again, and in repeating it to you I use almost her own words. She, however, urged me not to make her name public for the present, but consented that any one who should doubt her story or desire further information might write to me in her stead. On her making known to me, at least in part, her reasons for this desire, I felt, and do now feel, bound to respect them.

"It is about twelve months ago, sir," she began, "that I was first taken: in the summer of last year. I think it was worry and trouble that brought it on, for I never ailed anything before. My husband and I have five children to care for, and how to provide for the family often makes one anxious, you know, sir. The trouble commenced with a dull feeling at my side and under the shoulders. I thought at first it was only hard work, and being shut up in the house, and it would soon pass off. But it didn't, and soon I began to feel ill in other ways. After eating my meals I would have a sense of a load on my stomach, a bad taste in my mouth, headache, and a miserable low feeling as if something dreadful was going to happen. I felt that tired and listless that neither my work nor anything else was any pleasure to me. Why, sir, I have sat hour after hour and cried, so miserable and helpless did I feel. My food did me no good, and my appetite got so poor I could not relish scarcely anything. Sometimes something so sour would come up in my throat as to almost choke me, and a nasty wind or gas came up from my stomach that I can compare to nothing so much as addled eggs for taste and smell. It was so bad it made me sick from head to foot.

"That came from the food lying undigested in the stomach, I suggested. It is really death and putrefaction inside the body.

"I believe you, sir," she answered, "for I know thousands suffer in the same way and do not know what is the matter with them. Well, to make my story short, sir, nothing that I took or did gave me relief, much less had I the slightest hope of getting well. I saw no prospect before me but of growing worse and worse until my husband would be without a wife and our children without a mother. It wouldn't be true to say I could walk, I was so weak. Indeed, I could only just crawl about the house. Nothing would stop on my stomach."

"I have been for an hour at a time vomiting up a bitter yellow fluid, and after these terrible

SICK HEADACHE CURED.

Freeport, N.S.,
June 1st, 1887.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

DEAR SIRS,—In repeating my order for one gross of Mother Seigel's Syrup, I beg to say that we find it excellent family medicine, and freely recommend it to our friends, to whom it never fails to give satisfaction. For sick headache and general lassitude it is a Sovereign remedy, and its effects are lasting. The only limitation to its sale is its great curative power; those who use it for a time soon need it no more.

MARY W. HAVEY,
Postmaster of Freeport, N.S.

spells I would lie back on my bed so prostrated and exhausted that you would hardly have thought there was any life in me.'

"Didn't you find any medicine to stop that dreadful sickness and vom'ing? I asked.

"'Oh, no, sir,' answered the poor woman, 'I took everything people told me to, and the neighbors were very kind, but the trouble was so deep that all I took had no more effect than so much water or tea. So low-spirited was I with all this that I often wished and prayed that I might die and be at rest.

"Why did you not consult some good physician? I enquired.

"'Indeed I did, sir,' she replied. 'I went with Mrs. Lamb, a neighbour, to see a physician who was highly spoken of. He said he thought my trouble was only indigestion, and he could set me right. I was under his care for several weeks. He gave different kinds of powders, pills, and mixtures, but I did not get the least bit better. Just as my heart was nearly broken with grief and anxiety there happened one of those things that make us believe there is a God who cares for us when every other help fails.'

"What was it that happened? I asked, with keen interest.

"'It was this, sir,' answered the speaker, with pleasure shining from her eyes. 'One day a little book was left at our house. At first I paid no attention to it, but my niece read a little from it, and presently she said: "Aunty, here is something that will cure you—it is Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup!"

"'I looked at the book again, and it seemed so true and honest that my husband bought a bottle of Mr. Stacey Hall, the druggist, Stretford Road. Oh, sir, I cannot tell you how much depended on this, for I am sure if the Syrup failed to help me I should have given up all hope and died. After the second dose I found that my food settled better. In a few days the vomiting stopped and my head felt lighter. The sour stuff and bad taste ceased to trouble me, the pain in my side went away, and I soon began to get stronger. Now I felt so hopeful and happy that I would have kept on with this wonderful medicine if I had to sell my bed to buy it. I did keep on, and now I am as strong and well as I ever was in my life. My husband and neighbours were so surprised that they could hardly believe that I was really well again after being so near to the borders of the grave. You may tell Mr. White how grateful we feel to him for being the means of saving me.'

"In the course of her narrative the lady named several of her neighbours who knew the truth of all she had said, and gave me her consent to call and ask them any questions I pleased. Without their expecting me, or knowing a word of what she had told me, I did so, with the following result:

"Mrs. Metha Lamb, living at No. 42, Allen Street, near Stretford Road, Manchester, where she had resided 14 years, said she had known the lady I had been conversing with ever since the latter was a child. She remembered all the facts of her illness. She often visited her while she was so bad, and was distressed to witness her dreadful sufferings. She said that much of the time the poor woman was too weak to stand up, and when she did attempt to walk it was painful to see her dragging herself across the room holding her stomach with both hands as though she were sinking through the floor. Her skin was always very yellow, particularly about the eyes, and she could not do any house-work whatever. Mrs. Lamb said she went with her to see a physician, as she was too poorly to go alone. I never expected she would recover. It was awful to see her retching and vomiting as if she would throw up her very stomach itself. When she bought Seigel's Syrup, I said: 'My friend, it is only an old woman's tale; it won't do you any good.' I remember her

A. J. WHITE & Co.

GENTLEMEN,—It affords me great pleasure to inform you that Seigel's Syrup and Pills have given every satisfaction. I could quote numerous cases that are known to me, where great benefit has been derived from the use of Seigel's Syrup. A mechanic who had been unable to work at his trade for seven years, has been cured by the Syrup. Another man who had not enjoyed a day's health for years, after using two bottles of Curative Syrup says. "I feel like a new man; I can work as hard and eat as hearty as when young." A lady customer, says; "My Doctor's Bills have made a poor man of my husband; last winter they amounted & mounted to Seventy-five dollars. Two bottles of 'Syrup' have cured me." It would take up all the space in your book to give all the voluntary testimonials I constantly hear from my customers. When one has customers who repeatedly assert that they would not sell a bottle of the Syrup for Twenty Dollars, if they could not replace it, I think a conclusive evidence of its merit and value.

Yours very truly,
J. W. DALLING.

buying it on a Saturday night, and on the Monday following, when I saw her she looked better already, and I know she is indebted to the Syrup for a recovery that seems to be little short of a miracle.

"Mrs. Mooney, living at No. 38 Allen Street, says she has known the person whose name I mentioned, for two years, and was in the habit of visiting her. She had never seen any one so ill and suffer so much. She was quite unable to do anything, and it was sickening to see her fearful spasms of vomiting. Many a time had she found her with her hands hanging down by her sides, and it was quite impossible to rouse her from the stupor she seemed to be in. She was a pitiful object, and Mrs. Mooney had often told the afflicted woman's husband that his wife's sufferings were miserable to see. 'When I heard of her trying Mother Seigel's Syrup,' added Mrs. Mooney, 'I laughed at her for spending her money so foolishly, but what was my astonishment and that of all the rest of the neighbours to see the great change in her after using it a few days. I am certain that she owes her restoration to health and strength entirely to Providence and Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I now take it myself, and have told many persons of the great good it has done in my own family.'

P.S.—I may briefly add that the narrator is a respectable woman of good repute in the neighborhood where she lives, and Mrs. Mooney, one of the witnesses, is the widow of a barrister's clerk, and is spoken of by everybody as a thoroughly trustworthy woman. She maintains herself and a family of five children by her labour. Mrs. Lamb, the other witness, is nearly sixty years of age and a woman of excellent character. In telling what she knew about her friend's illness and remarkable recovery, Mrs. Lamb pointed to a portrait of her father, which hung on the wall, and said: "He died from indigestion and dyspepsia, and I firmly believe that if he had taken Mother Seigel's Syrup he would be alive to-day."

MANY OTHERS SAY THE SAME.

But strong and truthful as the foregoing statements are, they are by no means more positive, clear and convincing than hundreds of others we could quote, did our space admit of it. The best we can do is to give the substance of what a few others say, leaving the reader to imagine the numerous and warm expressions of gratitude with which their letters are filled. Mr. Alexander Geo. Ellis, late of Belfast, Ireland, but now of Brockville, Ontario, Canada, writes, under date of Sept. 26th, 1887;

HIS WIFE'S GOOD COUNSEL.

"I should esteem myself one of the most ungrateful of men if I did not cheerfully bear witness to what Mother Seigel's Syrup has done for me. For years I suffered more than words can tell from that terrible disease dyspepsia. It came upon me gradually, as it does on all its victims, so that it is not easy to say just when it began. Yet I shall never forget the signs and symptoms by which its progress was announced. I would have wandering pains that I could not account for about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. I felt sleepy and dull and not at all like work. My sleep got to be poor, and I would wake in the morning more tired, if possible, than when I went to bed, and almost always there was a bad taste in the mouth at such times. And although my appetite got so poor that I ate but little I had the feeling of a heavy load on the stomach, as though I had actually eaten too much. This I thought was very strange, and it worried my mind. After a while I grew nervous, gloomy and irritable, and was all the time thinking some evil was going to happen, though I couldn't tell what to save my life. Often, on getting up suddenly from my chair, or when walking in the streets, I was taken with a giddy, whirl-

PAIN IN THE BACK CURED.

Ship Harbour, N.S.,
 May 9th, 1887.

A. J. WHITE & Co.
 GENTS,—Last fall I had a severe attack of pains in the back and hips, and was in constant pain. After using the Syrup and ointment for two weeks I was able to move about as well as ever. I have not had another attack since. It is also the best medicine for the stomach I have ever taken, and the pills cannot be excelled.
 Yours truly,
 BENJAMIN KEATING.

ing sensation, as though I should fall. My bowels were very much bound, my eyes took on a yellowish colour, and occasionally my skin became dry and hot; then the hands and feet would be cold and clammy. At last I was actually afraid to partake of any food whatever, and for months I existed on nothing but a little tea or coffee and bread daily. Even on this simple diet the agony I endured after eating ever so little was something I cannot begin to describe. I tried many of the best known 'remedies,' but found no relief from them whatever. I tried some of the best doctors in the various large cities, by whom I was 'doctored' and blistered till there was very little of me left, and at last I laid down in despair. My wife just then suggested that I should try one more 'remedy,' namely, Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. She procured a bottle for me, and strange to say, within twenty-four hours I obtained relief, in about three days I was able to take a little meat, and before I had finished the second bottle I was able to eat and enjoy my meals regularly. That is about eight months ago, and I am still able, thank God, to eat heartily of anything that comes in my way, without being anything the worse. I had intended, before leaving Ireland in March last, to inform you of what your medicine had done for me, but thought I would wait a while and see if it was really a cure or only temporary relief. I have no hesitation now, however, in declaring it to be the best cure I ever heard of. I feel sure that only for it I would have been in my grave long ago."

WE SHOULD READ THE PAPERS.

Thrilling Letter from a Nova Scotia Lady,
When in Great Trouble She Finds Help
Through the Family Journal.

South Farmington, N.S.,

May 9, 1888.

A. J. WHITE & Co., Montreal.

When a person has got home safe from a long and dangerous journey, his friends like to hear him tell what he has seen and the perils a kind Providence has delivered him from. And I think it is the same with sickness. So I am sure there must be many who will read what I have to tell and perhaps learn something from it that may be for their good. Writing is not easy for me, and I shall only go so far as to put down what is most important, asking you to let me do it in my own way.

I had been troubled with liver complaint for several years. What first brought it on I cannot say, but I well remember how I felt. My mouth had a bad taste, my head ached a good deal; a dull, heavy pain it was, with a sleepy sensation as though I had a poor night's rest; then my skin began to look yellow, and my hands and feet would feel cold as though the blood did not circulate through them. With this the bowels got to be very irregular, and I was much troubled with costiveness. This would be relieved for a day or two by an opening medicine, but afterwards it was as bad as before. Sometimes a spell of dizziness came on so suddenly I was obliged to sit or lie down till it passed over. Then I would have sickness at the stomach, and occasionally the only relief I could get would be in vomiting. No one who has ever suffered in this manner need be told how weakening and depressing this was. Then, besides, I was troubled with heartburn and a rising up of a sort of hot wind or gas into my throat and mouth.

When I spoke of this to others, as I often did, they would say, with the idea of comforting me, "Oh, there is nothing very bad the matter, you are no worse than you have been; there is no danger." But I was worse for all they said, and in the fall of 1884 I broke down completely. I had a sharp, cutting pain around my heart, and once in a while it would almost stop beating, and I had a feeling like as if I must smother, it was such hard work to get my breath. Then I had a pain over the liver, and such a distress and weakness low down in the small of the back over the kidneys. With this I noticed the urine looked very dark colored, and it came away often, but only a little at a time. Yet it was not always so, for there would be times when it was free and plenty and clear as spring water. But there was always more or less heat with it, and it made me very anxious and worried.

Indeed I was so frightened at things that we sent for the doctor and I was put under his care. He said besides the liver trouble my system was all out of order with nervous dyspepsia and prostration, and that the first cause of it was the indigestion that I had been afflicted with so many years. "You have let it run so long," he said, "that it will be an up-hill job to get you well again. All we can do is to try and hope for the best."

A Cause for Weeping.

In the theatre:

"But why do you weep? The acting is certainly not so touching."

"Excuse me, I am bewailing the money I paid to come in."

The Effect on the Patient.

Young physician (pompously)—Yes, I've called at Mr. Brown's three times a day for a week. He is a very sick man, Miss Smith.

Miss Smith—He must be by this time.

LIVER DISEASE CURED.

St. Brigide, Que., May 7th, 1887.

A. J. WHITE & Co.

GENTS—Miss Azilda Lomme, daughter of Mr. Pierre Lomme, of St. Brigide, has been cured of Erysipelas in the head, by the use of one bottle of your Seigel's Syrup, one box of Pills and one box of Ointment. I cured myself of Liver disease with two bottles of Seigel's Syrup and one box of Pills. I can say that almost every one who has tried the remedy has received entire satisfaction with it, so I think that it is my duty to make known the efficacy of the remedies.

Yours truly, DAVID LAPOND.

Then the doctor—and I have no fault to find with him—treated me in his way for three months. But it was no use, I grew worse and worse. My appetite had been wretched for a great while but it was now gone entirely. How I kept alive on the little I forced down was a wonder. I almost hated the thought of eating, yet I needed nourishment as a person starving needs it. I wanted the strength it would give me more than words can tell. There was food enough, Heaven knows, but none for me! How horrible is the thought that food is poison to the poor dyspeptic! Whether he eats or not he wastes away and dies all the same.

At this time I was so excitable, and my nerves so strung up and sensitive, that I was as much afraid of the least noise or sound as a child is of the firing of a gun. Even common talk nearly set me crazy. I had been plump and of good weight, but now my flesh was gone like the dew when it is dried up by the hot sun. It seemed to me I couldn't stand it much longer, and what if I couldn't? Who in my condition would want to go on living, with every day harder and more weary to get through from morning to night.

Seeing that no benefit had come to me, but rather the contrary, we employed another doctor who did his best for four months. And here I want you to understand that in all those four months I never slept once without taking some medicine to make me sleep! Few patients in hospitals I think have ever had a more miserable experience than that.

Once in a while, however, I could read a little, and one day as I was looking through the paper my eye fell upon an article about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. Thought I "that is just what I need," and oh! how I hoped that what was said about its having cured just such cases as mine might really be true, for you must know it is wicked and wrong to deceive poor sufferers merely to get them to buy what will not benefit them. There was no one in our place who kept Mother Seigel's Syrup, so I sent to St. John's and got a bottle, and by the time I had taken it I could sleep without any medicine to help me, and my appetite was much improved. How surprised and glad I was to find myself actually a little hungry, and natural hunger, too, for the first time in so long. I could eat and the food stayed on my stomach and was digested without giving me anything like the distress I used to have.

Then we went to Halifax and bought six bottles more, and I took it through the whole winter of 1884-5, I have no skill to tell you how I kept on getting better week after week. My bowels became regular and all the bad symptoms and pains left me—not at once, but one after another as the Syrup purified the blood. I felt as though I had come back to life after having lain, so to speak, for months in an open grave.

By the time spring fairly set in I was able to do my work and manage all my household affairs, and have done it ever since without a single day's help from anyone; and I am now a woman of sixty-three years of age. I am as fleshy as before I was taken sick, and for the past three years I have enjoyed life even more than when I was young, for I know what it is to be weak and miserable and then to be strong, happy and well. My present good health I owe to Mother Seigel's Syrup and I shall be grateful to her as long as I live.

People here are acquainted with my case and the Syrup is now widely known and used in this part of the country. If you think there is anything in what I have said that others would like to read you may print or publish it, although it is not as good as I would have written if I had more time and ability.

Yours very sincerely,
MRS. WILLIAM CROCKER.

THE GREAT WEIGHT OF EVIDENCE.

You have read the testimonial letters printed in this little book. If you are ill yourself, or have a dear relative or friend who is suffering from pain and disease, you are anxious to find relief and cure. It may be you have already tried many things without seeing any benefit come of so doing. Naturally enough, you make up your mind that all advertised remedies are just the same as those by which you have been deceived and deluded. You are, therefore, disheartened and discouraged. But is that a fair conclusion? Does it follow that because one makes a dozen failures in his efforts to do a certain work, he will, therefore, never succeed at all? Every sensible and honest man knows better than to reason in such a foolish way. We "try, try again," and at

An Impending Catastrophe.

"Look 'ere, Sal," yelled a Texas woman to her eldest girl, "don't bend over that well so fur! You'll fall in some day, and then we'll have to drink from the creek."

He Was Hopeful.

Smith—I see you are keeping company with Miss Jones yet.

Brown—Yes.

"Does it mean business?"

"Can't tell. I wouldn't be surprised, though, if I received a proposal soon."

BAD CASES OF DYSPEPSIA CURED.

Wapella, N. W. T.

May 7th, 1887.

A. J. WHITE & Co:

GENTS,—I have met with four bad cases of dyspepsia, and from three to six bottles of Mother Seigel's Syrup completely cured them. Some of my customers will not be without a bottle in the house, as it never fails to assist digestion when the gastric juices fail in their functions. I have known Mother Seigel's Syrup during 12 years, and it is with every confidence I recommend it to humanity.

Yours very truly,
T. J. SMITH,
Druggist and Gen. Merchant.

last we find that patience and perseverance overcome all obstacles.

Yet, why should you believe that Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup will accomplish what no other remedy has proved able to effect? We answer that it is no more than reasonable to suppose that what it has done so many times it will do many times more. We do not ask the public to take our word for this. We are interested in the sale of this medicine, and may not be impartial witnesses. But the persons who testify to what Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has done in their own cases may be assumed to be telling the simple truth, and no more than the truth. They have no interest in us. Whether we prosper in business or not, is nothing to them, any more than it is to you who are now reading these words. Their position is simply this—they have suffered from some of the diseases for which this medicine is recommended, and were either greatly relieved or entirely cured, and in their delight and gratitude they told us the pleasing story, and gave us permission to publish the facts to the world. This they have done, and are constantly doing, voluntarily, without solicitation, and with no hope of any reward save to carry out the Golden Rule—to do unto others as they would that others should do unto them.

Consider for a moment the weight and strength of evidence like this. Ought it not to convince all sufferers who may have hesitated or doubted? Does it not bid them take fresh courage, after all their sad disappointments and weary days—perhaps years—of pain and weakness? A remedy that can make such friends; that can draw such praise from the mouths of the people; that can cure ailments where all others fail, certainly has great and wonderful merit, and to doubt it is to deny the evidence of the most impartial witnesses, as well as proofs that have piled up from all sides from the hour Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup was first introduced to the people.

If there were anything in the least harmful in this medicine, enough has been sold of it in the last ten years to depopulate the country, and it would long ago have been suppressed and driven out of the market. But, on the contrary, the sales have steadily increased until it is safe to say it is known and used in almost every family in England and America. If this fact is not proof of its merits there is no longer any value in plain and undeniable truth.

RHEUMATISM.

NEVER before has there existed a remedy as unfailingly successful in rheumatic affections as Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. It lubricates the joints, promotes the secretions of the fluids necessary to remove the stiffness of the muscles, removes hardened deposits in the joints, greases the machinery of Nature and makes it move easily. One or two bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup will do more than a hogshead of liniments, for it carries out of the circulation the acrid humours in the blood, upon which rheumatism depends, and removes inflammation, soreness and stiffness of the muscles. A short trial will convince the most discouraged that it is all that is claimed for it.

DISEASES OF THE LIVER.

A PERSON in health does not know he has such a thing as a liver, but when the system gives way to the ravages of disease he is made sensible that he really has a liver. After one has spent a couple of years in India he knows there is a liver, generally to his sorrow, for this organ is the mainspring of the human organization. When the liver becomes disordered and diseased, the person affected is indeed miserable. He suffers with dull pains in the side, bad taste in the mouth, spots before the eyes, flushes of heat, irregularity of the bowels, piles, coated tongue, disordered stomach, heartburn, costiveness, and pain in the head. He frequently has a dry cough, high-coloured urine, yellow skin, and dull sleepy sensations, rendering him unfit for business or for employment. The hands and feet are cold, circulation of the blood sluggish; the patient suffers with vertigo, ringing in the ears, loss of appetite, nausea, and sick headache, heartburn, dry scurvy skin, etc.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup acts moderately upon the bowels, so as to produce two Adderly, Que.

DEAR SIR;—Owing to the wonderful cures it has made, I have a great demand for your Seigel's Syrup, and which is still growing. As instances of its high character and value, I may mention that it was in my case of the greatest value, having cured me of Indigestion and Rheumatism of the chest of long standing, and in fact at a time when I had tried several professional men, but without good result. I may also add that many of my customers speak in the highest praise of the value of your medicine, having cured them of long standing ailments; in fact in two instances, nothing can be said in too high praise of its curative properties, it having cured two of my neighbors of the same complaint I was suffering from, but in a much more acute form than my own. They also wish me to say that if it will do any good, I am at perfect liberty to use their names, especially so, that if in so doing it will cause a wider circulation to use these words; it cannot be in too many households. Another striking instance of its value, is that only a short time ago one of my customers drove over to my place, a distance of 25 miles, for the special purpose of procuring a supply of your valuable medicine for the use of his wife, who had been a great sufferer from the same ailments previously referred to, and only found relief when she was recommended and tried your most invaluable medicine.

Yours truly,

EDWARD IVES, P. M.

or three easy passages a day, without any purging or griping. It does not leave constipation, as most of the ordinary blood purifiers in use do, but produces harmony in every part of the system. The liver is invigorated to secrete healthy bile and to filter impurities from the blood. By the use of this wonderful regulator and invigorator all the disagreeable and painful sensations above mentioned are one by one removed as the blood is cleansed and renewed. The skin loses its sallow appearance, and the bloom of health and beauty takes the place of the haggard, sallow hue of disease. A dose of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, taken at night on going to bed, will, in a short time, give evidence of its purifying and cleansing properties by the brilliancy of the eye, the bloom of the complexion, and the vigor of the whole body. A few doses of Seigel's Operating Pills will aid in effecting a cure.

THE BOWELS AND THEIR FUNCTIONS.

THE bowels, in a healthy state, carry off all useless matter which can be carried off in solid form. Sometimes the main channel becomes choked up by slime on the coating of the intestines, which gives rise to constipation and irregularity of the bowels. If the bile is not thrown out from the liver in sufficient quantities, the bowels become costive and the membranes of the bowels become weak and irritated. When much irritation exists, diarrhoea ensues, because the bowels have not the strength to do what is required of them, and inflammation follows. The fundamental cause of this irregularity is indigestion. The effect of this constipation is something awful to contemplate. The foul gas that arises from the focal matter becomes absorbed into the system, and acts as a slow but deadly poison. We all know the injurious effects of when taken into the system, and we expend money and skill to so adjust the plumbing of our houses as to shut the poisonous gas out. We have carts going about the city pouring disinfectants into the sewers, so as to obviate the poisonous influence of this terrible pest, but we allow this same gas to be generated within our own system.

If by constipated bowels we permit the formation of this sewer gas within the system (for this is what it really is), we expose ourselves to a slow but deadly poison. We should make use of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and remove the constipation, and with it the danger.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

This is caused by a long continued state of impurity of the blood, which irritates the nerves. Sleepless nights, twitching of the muscles, trembling of the limbs, poor appetite, easily disturbed by noise or excitement, desire to avoid company, peculiar sensations over the entire body, are among the difficulties which attend this complaint. A dose of Seigel's Curative Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots, at night, will, in a short time, so cleanse the blood and soothe the nerves, and restore strength to the body, as to make life enjoyable and happy. Nervous debility vanishes before the quieting, purifying, and healthful action of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.

SICK HEADACHE.

There are few persons who, at times, are not more or less subject to sick headache. Moderate and occasional use of the Syrup is a sure preventive, as thousands who have tried it are willing to testify.

DISEASES OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is too weak to properly digest the food, the person so diseased is usually afflicted. Dyspepsia shows itself in very many disagreeable forms, but more frequently in diseases of the stomach after eating, soreness of the stomach, beating and trembling of the stomach and sides, a sense of fullness, headache, dizziness, bad breath, loss of appetite, difficulty in breathing, rest-

A. J. WHITE & Co.

I have sold your medicines very successfully among my friends near home, and at a distance, some persons have taken it that could not keep corn starch gruel on their stomach without vomiting it up, and in a week they could eat anything, their appetite craved, and in two weeks they could eat any hearty food without any distress whatever. And numbers have told me that have come quite a distance to buy it, that they could not do without it, and I have also sold it for other things besides dyspepsia, some use it for coughs, and liver troubles and jaundice. What I have told you is correct, and what has come under my observation with a girl that stated to me she had dyspepsia so bad that she could not keep the choicest corn starch gruel on her stomach, and in less than two weeks she could eat any kind of hearty food, and numbers have told me the same.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. BYRON HINES.

lessness, nervousness, loss of strength, etc:

The food remains in the stomach until it becomes corrupted, which poisons the blood, and produces the most painful and distressing feelings.

The stomach loses its tone, becomes inflamed and filled with slime and mucus. This produces giddiness, sick headache, choking up of the circulation, and pressure upon the brain. Seigel's Curative Syrup, or the Shaker Extract of Roots, cleans out the corrupt and noxious matters from the stomach, and strengthens the stomach to dissolve and digest the food, increases the flow and strength of the gastric juice, and produces harmonious action between the stomach, liver and intestines. All the organs work in concert—no jarring, no over-taxation of one organ above another, which always damages the nervous system and works havoc and decay.

Strength to the stomach, invigoration of the liver, and tone to the bowels must necessarily follow the use of Seigel's Curative Syrup. Mother Seigel assured me, when I was at her home, near Berlin, that a few packages of the Syrup cured cases of indigestion of twenty years' standing, which had baffled the efforts of the best medical talent in Berlin. It corrects acidity, and promotes a flow of healthy gastric juice, which dissolves the food, and carries it out of the stomach at a proper time.

DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

ALL diseases of the skin are blood diseases, for when the blood is pure the skin must be free from all unhealthy eruptions, and, as we have stated, all impurity of the blood is caused by indigestion. Pimples on the face or body, erysipelas, salt rheum, ulcers, sores, boils, carbuncles, and every disease which shows itself upon the surface of the skin, is caused by bad blood. Scabs in the hair, sore eyes, running from the ears, etc., are caused by vile humours in the blood, which can be speedily exterminated by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup.

The skin of old Mother Seigel was marvellously white and pure and smooth, and although sixty-five years of age she told me she attributed the ivory-like and elastic whiteness of her skin to the occasional use of the Syrup. The coarsest skin can be made soft and beautiful by the use of the purifying Seigel's Syrup. Rashes, festers, flesh worms, pimples, liver spots, blackheads, and all unhealthy appearances of the skin must yield to this great cleanser and brightener of the skin; for if the blood be pure the skin will be pure.

FEMALE DISEASES.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has given health and spirits to thousands of females. The hollow cheek, the sunken eye, the sallow countenance, the dark circles underneath the eyes, are all indicative of weakness of the female organs of generation, which is speedily overcome by the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup.

During pregnancy the Syrup can be taken with perfect safety in 10 to 15-drop doses instantly after eating. If the bowels should be costive, an occasional dose of the Seigel's Operating Pills will give great relief. Care should be used so as not to produce violent purging.

Its use removes obstructions and irregularities, brings the hue of health to the countenance, and it should be used by females suffering from the various diseases to which the sex is subject, such as leucorrhœa, or whites, falling of the womb, bearing-down sensations, &c. Two or three bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup will bring the flush of health to the cheek and vivacity and elasticity to the system. Flagging spirits are restored, and new life and vigour take the place of the loss of energy, sickness and decay.

The Artist Tells Her His Secret.

Lady—I like your pictures so much, and I would dearly love to be an artist. Won't you tell me the secret how to do it?

Artist—Most willingly, madam. You have only to select the right colors and put them on the right place.

PURIFIES THE BLOOD.

Elba P. O., Ont.

May 30th, 1887,

MR. A. J. WHITE, & Co.,

DEAR SIRS,—I find your Seigel's Syrup and Pills highly recommended by every one who has used them. I have been greatly benefitted by them myself, by being greatly strengt'ened. I recommend them as being the best medicines in the market, that I know of, for purifying the blood and building up the system, and dispelling dyspepsia.

Yours truly,

THOMAS SMITH.

Sometimes people overload their stomachs with a good dinner, so as to cause headaches and great distress. A good dose of Seigel's Operating Pills will prevent all these disagreeable effects.

FEVER AND INFLAMMATIONS.

When there are free evacuations each day by the water passages and by the bowels, and by the sweat of the body, and all the corrupt and useless matters are carried off, there can exist no inflammation or feverish system. Dyspepsia is the cause of these derangements. When these diseased particles are retained they poison the blood, which shows itself in various forms. When good and bad blood are struggling to get the better of each other the irritation produced gives rise to fever and inflammation. How necessary, then, to keep every outlet of the body free and open, that no clogging or impure blood may exist. By attending to these passages of evacuation, persons can live to old age without one feverish symptom; and when bruised or cut by accident the wound will immediately heal without inflammation, if the blood be kept in a pure and uncorrupted state by the occasional use of this strengthening, cleansing and invigorating Syrup.

PILES AND COSTIVENESS.

The soothing, balsamic, and healing properties of Seigel's Curative Syrup, render it of the utmost value in curing hemorrhoids, or piles. The movements from the bowels are made free, regular and natural; all irritation is removed, inflammation is subdued, and the piles disappear as if by magic under the influence of this agreeable regulator and healer. Costiveness or diarrhoea cannot exist when this regulator has done its work, for it promotes the exudation of sufficient bile and enough of the natural fluids of the intestines to regulate the movements and give tone to the bowels. Blind piles, bleeding piles, itching piles, etc., disappear with the use of the Syrup, and are cured as effectually when up in the bowels as when at the terminus of the intestines.

URINARY DIFFICULTIES.

When the body is in a healthy state, the various salts of the body are carried off by the water passages; but when there is a weakness in the urinary organs these particles do not pass off, but lodge in the bladder, kidneys and urethra, and keep growing in size by continued fresh adhesions until they sometimes form substances varying in size from that of a bean or pea to that of an egg.

Persons with gravel frequently pass some portions of it in their urine, but the main part of the sandy substance remains, and gives rise to inflammation, pain, heat and intense suffering in making water. The accumulation of sand covers up the water passage, and the urine cannot find an outlet, and the most intense misery follows. When the bladder is full, it must be emptied; but frequently the gravelly substances so clog up the mouth of the water passage that an instrument has to be used to push back the gravel and let the water off.

Language fails to describe the agonies of persons afflicted with stone and gravel.

Pain in the small of the back, hips and thighs; heat and inflammation; desire to make water, but cannot do so; and burning, smarting, indescribable agonies which render life a burden and death courted. Sometimes the particles of gravel are so sharp and cutting that they tear the sides of the urinary passages, and blood will come in quantities from the urinary passages. Sometimes the bladder and kidneys are filled with slime and cannot perform their duty. The water passage should always be kept free and open. When there is the least disposition to an accumulation of the gravel it should be immediately dissolved and made to pass off by its proper channel.

Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup cleanses the kidneys and bladder and water passages from slime and gives strength to the organs requiring sufficient power of endurance to perform all the labors required of them in carrying off the watery portion of the food, after all the nourishment it contained has entered into the blood, and gone to repair the daily waste of the system.

In Less Than Two Weeks.

There is a young lady still living near East Pubnico, Nova Scotia, who suffered so fearfully from dyspepsia that she could not keep the choicest corn starch gruel on her stomach without vomiting it up, and Mrs. Byron Hines, of that place, who knows the case personally, says that in less than two weeks after she began the use of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, she could eat hearty food. Numbers of other people of the neighborhood tell the same story. Mrs. Hines adds that for other ills besides dyspepsia, coughs, liver trouble and jaundice, the Syrup is taken with great success by the people in that part of the country. In understanding this the reader must remember that jaundice is liver trouble and that coughs often arise from a disordered state of the digestion.

Why He Drove 25 Miles.

One day a man came driving into the village of Adderly, Que., from his home 25 miles distant. His only purpose was to procure a supply of Seigel's Syrup for his wife who was suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia and the nervous troubles that follow, especially in the cases of women. Nothing else did her any good but under the action of the Syrup she was fast improving. Hence her husband's long drive. Mr. Edward Ives, Postmaster of Adderly, who mentions this circumstance also says the syrup cured him of indigestion, and rheumatism of the chest, of long standing, and that it did the same for two of his neighbors who had the same trouble even in a worse form than he had. Mr. Ives will give the names of these persons to any one who wishes to communicate with them.

Popular Because Honest.

Writing from his home at St. Valerian, Que., Mr. Arthur Ayette says he is convinced that Seigel's Syrup, Pills and Ointment are the best remedies made. They sell on their merits, as all remedies must that are to gain and hold the confidence of the people. He says also that he knows many who have used them for indigestion, dyspepsia and and other complaints for which they are recommended, and all these persons are greatly satisfied. Mr. Ayette himself has applied Seigel's Ointment for tetter and it gave him perfect relief.

Once in a While.

Nobody is so healthy but that he once in a while needs a medicine for the digestion and for the blood. The body, like other machines, will get clogged up and out of order. This is the reason why so many hundreds of families throughout the Dominion keep Seigel's Syrup constantly in the house. Speaking upon this point Mr. T. J. Smith, Druggist and General Merchant, of Wapella, N. W. T., says many of his customers do this because the Syrup never fails to assist digestion and relieve the stomach, no matter what the obstructing cause may be. Mr. Smith also says he can give the names, if required, of four bad cases of dyspepsia that have been completely cured by taking from three to six bottles each of Mother Seigel's Syrup. After an intimate knowledge of its action during a period of twelve years he commends it with perfect confidence.

Mr. Lafond Does His Duty.

We desire to impress upon our reader's mind that nine-tenths of the diseases from which people suffer arise from indigestion, dyspepsia and a torpid state of the liver. Whatever will cure these will cure a host of ailments that are mere symptoms and outgrowths of the real malady. Always bear this in mind when you are led to wonder at the numerous diseases that are actually cured by Seigel's Syrup. Mr. David Lafonde, of St. Brigide, Quebec, cured himself of liver complaint by using only two bottles of the Syrup, and one box of Seigel's Pills; and Azilda Lomme, daughter of Mr. Pierre Lomme of the same place was cured of Erysipelas in the head by one bottle of the Syrup, one box of Seigel's Pills, and one box of ointment. Mr. Lafonde, who states these facts very properly thought it his duty to make them known.

What They All Come From.

In the fall of 1886 Mr Benjamin Keating, of Ship Harbour, N.S., had a severe attack of pain in the back and hips so that he could get but little rest day or night. The cause of the trouble was no doubt with the liver and kidneys, and there may have been some rheumatism with it, for all these things arise first from indigestion, and a dull, inactive state of the liver, which in turn produces impurity of the blood. He began the use of Mother Seigel's Syrup for the inner trouble, and anointed the sore spots with Seigel's Ointment, and in two weeks he was able to move about as well as ever. He was thoroughly cured and has not had another attack since.

Only One Objection.

There is but one objection to Mother Seigel's Syrup: its curative power is so great that those who use it for a time soon need it no more. For sick headache, which usually arises from a sour or foul stomach, and for the feeling of lassitude and weariness that always accompany indigestion—for these things Seigel's Syrup is a sovereign remedy. And the best of it is that the Syrup does not merely relieve—it cures; its effects are lasting. Every family would be happier and richer if they would keep it in the house and learn to use it and depend upon it, for by so doing they could keep well, which is even better than to get well. We keep the Syrup in our family and praise it to all our friends. The above is an extract from a letter from Mary W. Havey, Postmistress at Freeport, N. S.

The Doctors Didn't Understand.

In the year 1883, Mr. Reuben Hurlbut, of Myrtle, Ont., had an attack of acute indigestion. The family physician was called in and succeeded in relieving some of the most painful symptoms, but at that point his skill was exhausted. The real trouble not only remained undisturbed but rapidly developed into chronic dyspepsia. Fearing that he was about to become an invalid for life he visited a physician at Whitby—a man of high reputation in his profession—and asked him to take charge of his case and to spare no effort to arrest the progress of the malady. This was done, and for six months Mr. Hurlbut followed the physician's advice and took his medicine. Unhappily there was no good result whatever, as the patient declined from week to week. His strength and flesh failed, and he suffered from all those distressing peculiarities of the disease which are elsewhere described in this book. Discouraged and disheartened he was then counseled to try the homoeopathic doctors, which he did.

He went to one of the best practitioners of this school in Toronto and once again repeated the facts of his case and told him what had been already fruitlessly done. The medical gentleman listened and finally gave the patient some medicine to use at his home. Concerning the effect of this Mr. Hurlbut says: "If I had continued taking it I believe I should not have lived long, I was compelled to give it up." At this time, when he was so low in health and hope, he happened to hear of Mother Seigel's Syrup as a cure for all diseases of the digestive organs. He began using it and began getting better almost at the same time. He rapidly gained in flesh and can now attend to his business as well as ever he could. In speaking of the value of Mother Seigel's Syrup Mr. Hurlbut recently remarked: "I would not be without it if it cost me $2.00 a bottle."

There are Many Like Them.

There is a lady living near Chatsworth, Ont., who could not eat any solid food without suffering the greatest distress. What to do she did not know, for the physicians seemed to have no medicine that would reach the case. After a time she found out in some way about Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup and resolved to try if it would help her. She has used three bottles and can now enjoy and digest her meals. Mr. Samuel Foster, chemist, of Chatsworth, who mentions the above case, also says he knows of many others which he can furnish if he is called upon to do so.

Plenty Of People Feel So.

When a man has suffered for years with any complaint and taken medicine until he is disgusted with the name and sight of it, and is no better off than he was at the start, he is in no condition to put much faith in any more so-called remedies. This was exactly the case with Mr. W. H. Miller, of Severn Bridge, Ontario. He had been plagued with dyspepsia and impure blood (they always go together) and when he was advised to try Seigel's Syrup and Pills he was just in the right mood to refuse. But he did try them, nevertheless, and now he calls them "wonder-workers." Yet the wonders they perform are due to the fact that they are a wise combination of the very roots and herbs nature has made to grow on purpose to heal our pains and sickness.

The Road To Poverty.

"What made a poor man of my husband was the money he had to pay the doctors for treatment and medicine that did him no good. Last winter these bills amounted to seventy-five dollars." The above words were spoken by a lady of Woodstock, N.B. She had been ill a good deal with indigestion and dyspepsia, and alludes to the burden it imposed on her husband. How surprised and delighted to find herself completely cured after taking only two bottles of Mother Seigel's Syrup. A mechanic of the same place, who had been unable to work at his trade for seven years, has also been cured by the Syrup. Another man whose name can be given by Mr J. W. Dalling, the chemist of Woodstock, had not enjoyed a days good health for years, took the Syrup and then said, "I can work as hard and eat as heartily as when I was young." Seigel's Pills are also giving universal satisfaction in New Brunswick, as they do everywhere.

Two Years' Good Work.

It is only about two years ago since Seigel's Syrup was first introduced to the good people of Red Point, Prince Edward's Island, yet a communication from Mr. Alex. R. Robertson, chemist of that place indicates how much good the medicine has already done. The most stubborn cases of dyspepsia have already yielded to its influence, and it is proving successful in kidney complaint where the sufferers were about ready to abandon all hope of recovery. The real cause of the value of the Syrup in kidney, bladder and in other urinal troubles is its power to tone up and invigorate the liver, for all serious ailments of the urinary organs begin in the digestion and in the torpidity of the liver. In such cases relief is usually felt after taking only a few doses.

We Congratulate Mr. Burns.

There is no greater pleasure in life than to feel thoroughly well and strong again after a long and distressing illness, and we can therefore easily believe Mr. James Burns, of 33 Murray street, Montreal, when he writes as follows: "I take great pleasure in informing you that by the use of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup and Pills I have been cured of chronic dyspepsia from which I had suffered about four years." Other sufferers may well take courage on reading these frank and cheerful words, for this gentleman had all the pain and bore all the misery they are called upon to undergo, yet Seigel's Syrup cured him after every other medicine had been tried in vain.

Yes, but it Comes Cheaper.

In a conversation which occurred in the summer of 1887, Mr. Aylmer Place, of Millington, P.Q., said to a friend: "Money would not tempt me to consent to be put back where I was before I began to take this medicine." He referred to Seigel's Syrup. And no wonder. He had suffered from dyspepsia, and all who have undergone the tortments of that common but terrible complaint will agree with Mr. Place that if a whole fortune were necessary to purchase a remedy for it they would not hesitate a moment. Mr. Place is now well and attributes his recovery wholly to Seigel's Syrup, which is offered at a price to put it within the reach of everyone whose life is made a burden by Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all complaints of the Liver and Blood.

After 12 Years Cured of Indigestion.

South Bay, Ontario, Dec. 7, 1885.

Sir,—I have great pleasure in informing you that I have been cured by your Seigel's Syrup and Pills. I suffered ten or twelve years with indigestion and constipation of the bowels, vomiting food and bile from the stomach, which caused great pain. I tried several good physicians, none of whom were able to give me any relief.

I tried several patent medicines, some of them giving relief for the time being, so you can easily see that I was discouraged, and it was with little faith that I commenced to take your Seigel's Syrup and Pills.

I started with your medicine about one year ago and have taken in all about 2 dozen bottles; it did take some little time to stop the vomiting, but I can say that now my health is greatly improved.

I will cheerfully recommend it to all suffering from stomach complaints.

I can give you the names of several others if you wish.

You may print this if you wish, as it may be the means of helping some other sufferer.

LEWIS M. WELBANK.

Petrolia, Ont., Dec. 1, 1885.

A. J. WHITE & Co., Montreal.

Dear Sirs,—Enclosed please find P. O. order for eleven dollars and five cents, amount of invoice of Oct. 17th.

Your medicines have given every satisfaction. I selected some severe cases for trial; the report from each one is very satisfactory, so much so, you will please fill the enclosed order for 6 doz. Syrup, 3 doz. Pills and 500 Almanacks and oblige. Yours truly,

GEO. DENHAM, Druggist.

THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE!

We make the statement, without fear of successful contradiction, that Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots, is the most certain cure for that loathsome disease—CATARRH—and all disorders of the body, arising from an impure condition of the blood, that the research of medical science has ever discovered.

A Doctor Recommends Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots for the Blood.

Rollersville, Sandusky Co., Ohio, Nov. 11, 1885.

Mr. A. J. WHITE, 54 Warren St., New York:

I have been badly afflicted with Rheumatism, and the doctor that attended me told me to try Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots, as he knew it to be a GOOD BLOOD MEDICINE, and as the Rheumatism was a disease of the blood it would help me. After I had taken the second bottle, I began to get better, and have been growing better ever since. I have now taken three bottles. One of my neighbors, a woman, was so badly afflicted with Rheumatism that she had to call a doctor. He attended her three or four weeks, but did her no good. She then tried Seigel's Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots—taking three bottles—and says it has done her more good than all the medicine she has taken in five years. ISAAC SMITH.

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

Many have wondered—and still the wonder grew—how a remedy which was confessedly a cure for but one single disease should attain to such enormous sales as Seigel's Curative Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots, has done; but when it is borne in mind that to Dyspepsia we owe almost all the ills which afflict us, it will be seen that a medicine which can cure that Main-spring of Disease must reach the cases of innumerable multitudes. Such is, indeed, the simple fact. Physicians are apt to give a variety of names to diseases which all come under the one category of Dyspeptic complaints—such as Malaria, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease and the like, all of which are simply due to obstructions of the system of waste and repair, to which we owe our very existence. It is far too common for our medical men to devote their attention and treatment to mere symptoms, when they should instead of this strike at the root of the evil, and thus eradicate symptoms and disease together. It is also a common error of doctors to make a faulty diagnosis of a case, and proceed deliberately to treat the patient for a disease which he is not suffering from. Far too many cases of so-called Consumption are nothing more nor less than cases of bad Dyspepsia, the symptoms of which are of the most painful character, but which readily yield to the soothing and healing influence of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, or Shaker Extract of Roots.

Constipation.

*South Bay, Ont.,

A. J. WHITE (Limited).
Gentlemen: Your Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is the best medicine ever introduced. I had, for twelve years, suffered greatly with constipation attended with spitting up of food. I was treated by several Doctors all to no purpose; at last I heard of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and although I had but little faith in it, I gave it a fair trial, with the result that to-day I feel like a different man. For stomach troubles it has the name here of being the best medicine in the Province.

Yours very truly,
LEWIS M. WELSHAND.

• HOW PILLS ARE MADE.

THE CUSTOM of taking medicine in the form of pills dates far back in history. The object is to enable us to swallow easily in a condensed form disagreeable and nauseous, but very useful, drugs. To what vast dimensions pill-taking has grown may be imagined when we say that in England alone about 2,300,000,000 (two thousand million) pills are consumed every year. In early days pills were made slowly by hand, as the demand was comparatively small. To-day they are produced with infinitely greater rapidity by machines especially contrived for the purpose, and with greater accuracy, too, in the proportions of the various ingredients employed.

No form of medication can be better than a pill, provided only it is intelligently prepared. But right here occurs the difficulty—Easy as it may seem to make a pill, or a million of them, there are really very few pills that can be honestly commended for popular use. Most of them either under-shoot or overshoot the mark. As everybody takes pills of some kind, it may be well to mention what a good, safe, and reliable pill should be. Now, when one feels dull and sleepy, and has more or less pain in the head, sides, and back, he may be sure his bowels are constipated, and his liver sluggish. To remedy this unhappy state of things there is nothing like a good cathartic pill. It will act like a charm by stimulating the liver into doing its duty, and ridding the digestive organs of the accumulated poisonous matter.

But the good pill does not gripe and pain us, neither does it make us sick and miserable for a few hours or a whole day. It acts on the entire glandular system at the same time, else the after effects of the pill will be worse than the disease itself. The griping caused by most pills is the result of irritating drugs which they contain. Such pills are harmful and should never be used. They sometimes even produce hemorrhoids. Without having any particular desire to praise one pill above another, we may, nevertheless, name MOTHER SEIGEL'S Pills, manufactured by the well-known house of A. J. WHITE, & Co., 6 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal, and now sold by all chemists and medicine vendors as the only one we know of that actually possesses every desirable quality. They remove the pressure on the brain, correct the liver, and cause the bowels to act with ease and regularity. They never gripe, or produce the slightest sickness of the stomach, or any other unpleasant feeling or symptom. Neither do they induce further constipation, as nearly all other pills do. As a further and crowning merit, Mother Seigel's Pills are covered with a tasteless and harmless coating, which causes them to resemble pearls, thus rendering them as pleasant to the palate as they are effective in curing disease. If you have a severe cold, and are threatened with a fever, with pains in the head, back, and limbs, one or two doses will break up the cold and prevent the fever. A coated tongue, with a brackish taste in the mouth, is caused by foul matter in the stomach. A dose of Seigel's Pills will effect a speedy cure. Oftentimes partially decayed food in the stomach and bowels produces sickness, nausea, &c. Cleanse the bowels with a dose of these pills, and good health will follow.

Unlike many kinds of pills, they do not make you feel worse before you are better. They are, without doubt, the best family physic ever discovered. They remove all obstructions to the natural functions in either sex, without any unpleasant effects.

THE GAMEKEEPER'S STORY.

There are very few men in England who are naturally more hearty and healthy than James Braddock. He is a gamekeeper, and lives at Jepson's Clough, Adlington, near Macclesfield. He is stoutly built, and until two years ago we may say he never had a week's illness in the whole sixty years of his life. One day this summer (1887) he was found at home, and in the course of the talk that sprang up, Braddock told the following story, which we print because it will interest many besides himself.

He said: "Perhaps you have already heard about my case, and if so, it's no use my telling it all over again."

"I heard it alluded to in Manchester," was the answer, "but I should like to hear it from your own lips."

"Well, sir," said James, "I'll run it over for you. I've told it lots of times, and it's always done good to somebody. It was two years ago this summer that I was taken very bad with indigestion. How ill I was, and how I finally got cured, is no news to the people in this part of the country, sir. Scores of them came from far and near to see me and talk to me about it. I first noticed a dull feeling all over me, and my appetite failed so that I could eat nothing without forcing it down, sir; and then it lay like a heavy weight on my stomach. Food used to make me feel strong for work and exercise, but now it seemed to do me no good at all. My mouth tasted bad, and when I looked in the glass I saw my skin and eyes had a yellow colour, and people said I was dreadfully bilious, my liver was out of order, and my blood all full of poison. And so I believed, for my head ached and my legs and arms ached, as though I had some manner of fever hold of me. I took pills, and a hundred other medicines, but they only made me feel a little easier for a day or two, and then I was worse than ever.

"After a bit, sir, I began to be short of breath, you know, and had to sit down and rest, when once I could tramp all day without being tired or once fetching a long breath. I couldn't make out what was the matter with me or whatever brought it on, but I kept on getting worse, and that much I was sure of. My heart would flutter and get weak and faint in my breast, and that frightened me more than the stomach trouble, for I didn't know then that the indigestion and dyspepsia were really the cause of it all, sir. People kept telling me I had the heart complaint, and was likely to fall down dead any minute. You may fancy how this took all the courage out of me, and I thought my work was done in this world. So it went on, sir, and neither my friends nor the doctors appeared to understand what was ailing me.

"One day I was taken with such a queer spell, it almost scares me to think back to it. I couldn't get my breath. I was choked as though a strong man had me by the throat, and I was sure I was going to die. The people fanned me and gave me whisky, and after a while I came out of it, weak as a cat, sir, and all in a cold sweat.

"But my stomach got worse afterwards, and I was afraid the choking might come back, and the next time it would certainly kill me. It was about this time, one day, I picked up a North Cheshire newspaper and began to read of a case like mine being cured by Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup. I thought half-a-crown would na' break me, and I bought a bottle. The first few doses did me good, sir. You wouldn't 'a believed it, neither would I, but it did. In a few days, maybe two weeks, sir, my stomach began to act, and my victuals stopped on it, and my strength begun to come back."

"You had no more choking, then?" said the visitor.

"No, sir, not after that. The fluttering of the heart troubled me no more, and the yellow went out of my eyes and skin; and, to put it short, sir, after taking two bottles of Mother Seigel's Syrup I got as well as ever I was in my life. What this medicine is made of I don't know, but I'm sure that it's not like anything else. If I hadn't seen that account of it in the paper, and been led to use it, as certain as I talk to you now, sir, I believe I should have been under the sod months and months ago. I tell about it to everybody, and will do so as long as I have a tongue in my head, sir."

PILL-TAKING MADE A PLEASURE.

As many people find it almost impossible to swallow the ordinary Pills on account of their size and taste, the introduction of

will be hailed with delight; for by this discovery, Pill-taking is made a pleasure. While SEIGEL'S OPERATING PILLS are so very agreeable on account of their small size and sugar-coating, they lack none of the medicinal properties of the very best Pills made. When once used, parties will gladly continue taking them in preference to all others, because they will find the effect so agreeable and at the same time very beneficial. They are mild but thorough, removing all obstructions, invigorating the liver and causing the bowels to move with the regularity of health. The best remedy extant for the bane of our lives—Constipation.

SEIGEL'S OPERATING PILLS (SUGAR COATED)

Cure Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after Eating, Pain in the Side, etc., while their most remarkable success has been shown in curing Sick Headache, yet SEIGEL'S PILLS are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels.

Even if they only cured Headache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these Pills valuable in so many ways, that they will not be willing to do without them.

But after all Sick Headache is the bane of so many lives, that here is where we make our great boast. These Pills cure it, while others do not.

SEIGEL'S PILLS are very small and very easy to take. Two to four Pills at bedtime make a dose. They are strictly vegetable, and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

GENERAL DIRECTIONS FOR TAKING MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP.

DOSE—FIFTEEN TO THIRTY DROPS, two or three times a day, in a wine-glass of water immediately after eating.

The quantity may be regulated by the patient, who will bear in mind that sufficient needs to be taken to operate on the bowels two or three times each day. The blood will thus be purified, the sweat-glands of the skin will be opened, and the flesh made soft and healthy as an infant's. The kidneys and liver will do their duty, and all humors of the blood will be driven out of the system, and the body purified and restored to a sound and healthy condition. The medicine must be taken INSTANTLY after eating, so that it will become mixed with the food while in the stomach.

Commence by taking ten or fifteen drops three times a day INSTANTLY after eating, in a little cold sweetened water. It is best not take the syrup on an empty stomach. If this does not give relief, increase the dose to thirty drops, always to be taken INSTANTLY after eating, so that the syrup may become mixed with the food while being digested. It is essential that the bowels be made to move freely every day, and if the above doses of syrup be not sufficient to effect this take one to four of Mother Seigel's Operating Pills at bedtime. It is better to take the pills than to increase the dose of the syrup.

Mother Seigel's Syrup is put up in a highly concentrated form, the full dose being thirty drops, (half a teaspoonful) and contains sixty average doses. being about One Cent Per Dose.

For Burns, Scalds, and all Inflammations, Piles, Chilblains, &c.

Every family requires some kind of Ointment to be kept in the house, to be used in cases of Burns, Scalds, Sores, Bruises, &c. For this reason we have made SEIGEL'S OINTMENT, which will be found invaluable in such cases.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

For Blisters, Burns and Scalds.—Spread a plaster with Seigel's Ointment on fine linen cloth, and apply to the part, so as to exclude the air; renew the plaster daily.

For Sprains.—Shower with cold water every day, and apply a plaster spread with the Ointment twice or three times a day.

For Sore Eyes.—Rub the Ointment on the eyelids once or twice a day.

For Bolls and Swellings.—Rub the Ointment on the affected parts several times a day.

For Piles.—Wash in cold water every day, and apply the Ointment two or three times a day.

For Inflammation.—Apply a plaster spread with the Ointment several times a day.

Rheumatism.—While waiting for the effect of Seigel's Syrup to operate upon the blood, the pain may be temporarily relieved by rubbing the part with the Ointment.
