WERE ALMOST HELPLESS FROM SHEER EXHAUSTION

St. John Schooner Winnie Lawry Driven Ashore and Crew Have Terrible Experience—D. J. Purdy, M. P. P., Will go to Scene of Disaster.

Word was received in this city last night from Capt. Hanford Whelpley of the schooner Winnie Lawry, which left this port on March 7, bound for New York with a cargo of 12,000 ft. of lumber and 300,000 lbs. of fish.

When the Winnie Lawry was abandoned she was full of water and was on the bar. Capt. Whelpley and crew planned to be rescued by the South Yarmouth tugboats from the owners of the vessel.

The Winnie Lawry was built at Waldoboro, Maine, 1874. She is 108 feet in length 29 1/2 feet in breadth and with a depth of hold of 10 1/2 feet. Her gross tonnage is 246 and net 215.

SOUTH YARMOUTH, Mass. via Hennis—D. J. Purdy, St. John.—"Don't know damage to the schooner. Tide ebbs and flows in hold on sandy bottom. Have to lighten deck-load perhaps more. Hand Mr. Purdy arrived from Fredericton this morning and intends leaving for South Yarmouth this evening.

The storm increased into a gale accompanied by snow and sleet. The Lawry set one of her anchors and then dragged the other. She was driven steadily before the southeast wind until she struck with great force upon Kilpad sandbar, just off the Bass River breakwater. The deckload of lumber soon became loosened and washed back and forth and much of it was carried away.

Within half an hour the captain and crew climbed aloft and lashed themselves to the rigging. Towards morning the gale moderated and the men had an easier time, although they were benumbed and weak from their exposure.

Capt. Charles Brown of South Yarmouth was the first to sight the wrecked schooner and he at once put off in a sloop yacht. He took off the seamen despite the rough sea. Capt. Allen of the Pollock Rip Lightship, who was visiting on South Yarmouth, had also sighted the Winnie Lawry and he, too, put out to the stranded schooner in a sloop launch, but the crew had already been rescued.

AS TO SPECIFICATIONS

The developments at the wharf enquiry appear to suggest that the aldermen must make up their minds whether it is worth while to prepare any specifications for a public work.

If tenders were asked for a wharf, and the tenders were to be of 22 feet long, except the covers, which are a very small part of the structure, and all but one tender assumed that they must adhere to the specifications, the price in their tenders would be governed by the probability or otherwise of their being able to get 22-foot timber. If one of them took a chance, and trusted to luck and the officials to be able to pull through with shorter timber, he might have an advantage over his competitors. This appears to be reasonably clear.

Again, if it is worth while to specify length and general dimensions and quality of timber, one would think it might be worth while to see that the specifications are adhered to. Else why have specifications?

Of course if it is worth while to specify length and general dimensions and quality of timber, one would think it might be worth while to see that the specifications are adhered to. Else why have specifications?

The whole subject appears to be somewhat befogged. Perhaps the aldermen will clear it up.

CLEARLY STATED

In an address on technical and industrial training, delivered before the Twentieth Century Club in Boston last week, Mr. James P. Musson, not only contended that manual training was needed in the schools, but that it should begin at the lowest grades. The following quotations from the address set forth very clearly views that are held by an increasingly large number of people.

"We are not paying too much attention to the training of officials, too little to the men and women who must do the fighting in this ceaseless struggle to subdue nature to the service of mankind? To secure not more and better officials, we need more and better officers, we need more and better machinery—we need higher skilled and better disciplined private behind these tools and machines. Today, at least to me, we find ourselves confronted with the evil results of over-concern for the development of the industrial superstructure, and neglect of the foundations upon which that structure has to rest. We find everywhere a dearth of men of skill, men who think about their work, men who take pride in a good job, men who are striving, as are the German workmen, to put the entire nation in the industrial forefront. The industrial leaders of Germany say, and I think with reason—that they have no fear of our competition in manufactures, so many years behind are we in the training for his work of the average workman. Yet in native ingenuity we are ahead of the Germans, while in highly educated industrial executives we are far behind them. We have been so fearful lest we should not give every boy and girl an equal chance that we have ended by cheating a great proportion of them out of any chance whatever. We have been so afraid of establishing a caste system that we have developed the most uncouth caste of all—a caste of men and women with no definite trade or occupation and with no chance to acquire one."

"On the ground that all children should have equal opportunity, we have established an elementary school course practically the same for every pupil, whether he is to go out as a day labourer at fourteen or is eventually to graduate from a professional school at twenty-five. The result is that, instead of giving a democratic training, we really have established a very special kind of education which, if it ceases—as for most children it does—at fourteen, is a child only (and most imperfectly) for some clerical vocation. In addition to this giving in the elementary public schools what is actually a limited class education, we also create the misleading impression that to be honorable and genteel one must work with the head rather than with the hands, thus deprecating overworking the most poorly paid occupations while failing to supply in adequate measure those skilled trades which offer a comparatively high reward."

"Regarding simply from the pedagogical standpoint, manual training should begin the moment a child enters school and should progress by rational steps to a workshop, while being caught and

"The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Globe notes that among the petitions in favor of the passage of the Lord's Day Bill is one presented a few days ago exclusively by Roman Catholics of the diocese of St. John, New Brunswick, and presented by Dr. Stockton, M.P.

"Taking the last five years as a basis for calculation, the Grand Trunk Railway Company has saved a thousand dollars a day for three months this winter owing to the light snowfall."

"Miller, of the senate, said to Miller of the day, 'I care not for borders, no not I for borders minds not me.'—Quebec Telegraph."

Thorough, should permit of spontaneity and inventiveness, should emphasize group work and the constructional side, and, above all, whether or not the pupil is to go into industrial life, should connect itself in the closest possible way with the industries of the neighborhood and of the city or town wherein the child resides. Far more should manual training do these things from the industrial standpoint, and because it does not, it cannot yet be considered an important factor in solving this pressing problem of technical training for the rank and file. The first thing to do, it seems to me, is frankly to acknowledge that an overwhelming majority of public school children are obliged, by unchangeable economic necessity, to leave school at fourteen—or as early as the law allows—and to enter for the rest of their lives some industrial occupation. That being so, it is the duty of the community to fit themselves for that inevitable vocation just as the college and school of technology fit for the higher vocations—not by teaching the knacks and tricks of any special trade, but by training those senses, aptitudes and general powers which lie at the foundation of industrial efficiency. There are certain fundamental studies which every child must, of course, take up. But in addition to those, the course of every elementary school should develop in the highest degree possible every child his powers of seeing clearly, hearing intelligently and using his hands skilfully, and should teach him how to work. Moreover school courses should be so elastic and adaptable to the individual as to meet the special requirements of the neighborhood or of the town in which the school is placed, and to give every child at least the root principles of that trade in which he is most likely to find ready and profitable employment. Even this, however, would meet in but very small degree the genuine needs of the industrial situation. There should further be provided on a large and generous scale, in both the mechanic and agricultural arts, not only a definite industrial training for the young men and women of push and ambition who seek the higher places, but also a real bread-and-butter education. The effect upon the general welfare of the community—the positive effect in increasing industrial efficiency and prosperity and the negative effect in diminishing the number of incompetent, unfortunates, and other social wrecks and burdens—is incalculable."

"BOOMSTERS" EXPOSED

Mr. E. W. Thompson, the able Ottawa correspondent of the Boston Transcript tells the people of the United States not to believe all they read about the "Americanization" of the Canadian west. What he asserts is so convincingly fortified by figures that there is no room for a reply. Eastern Canadian readers will be interested in Mr. Thompson's remarks. We quote:

Lately the United States public has been treated to a pleasing press propaganda that West Canada will come into the republic. For this expectation the only avowed basis is that, as the Canadian tariff taxes West Canadian farmers who use United States products, these farmers may turn annexationists to get United States agricultural machinery cheaply. In fact that machinery is now sold in Canada almost as cheap as in the adjacent States. Abolition of the tariff line would enable the United States implement-makers to get rid of competition from East Canada and make prices in West Canada suit themselves. That the Canadian prairie farmers could gain anything on the price of machines by annexation is doubtful, and they generally believe so. They have an association in which they commingle with many Winnipeg boomsters. At a recent Winnipeg meeting of these operators there was a good deal of indiscreet public bragging, that the press prophet in the case has been brought into, and circulated round about West Canada by the association. His peregrinations were closely attended by the associated boomsters, experienced principal functionary, who carefully filled the prospectus with the right way. Hence the prophecy may stimulate immigration from the States. It would not suit the boomsters to allege that United States immigration to West Canada is an annexation and a political design. Such allegation would signify in them a certain dislike of West Canada institutions, with which the association continually, and truthfully, asserts all settlers to be content. Moreover, Canadian authorities who subsidize the association's propaganda, might be offended if they appeared inimical to the perpetuity of the Dominion's separate existence.

There has been a great deal of uninformative nonsense written about the volume of United States immigration to West Canada. The movement consists mainly of persons who never were United States citizens. Of American citizens there were only 15,488 (men, women and children included) among the 43,543 immigrants from the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, and including 1895 only 62,717 United States citizens (men, women and children), have moved into all Canada. This implies a vast immigration of possibly 20,000, if all the United States citizens took the British oath of allegiance. It is curious that a great many of them do not forever Uncle Sam. During the same period (1896-1905), 37,301 Canadians repatriated themselves, nearly all coming from the States, and 112,099 persons migrated from East to West Canada. In 1904 the immigration to Canada from Great Britain was 49,274, and in 1904-05 it was 65,338. From Continental Europe immigration in the same years was respectively 54,728 and 37,265. The immigrant quinquennial census of the new province of Alberta and Saskatchewan may possibly show that they come undoubtedly, as many as 500,000 people. It is safe to say that there are not 40,000 in the number (including men, women and children) who were ever United States citizens, if the men all voted, and all voted one way, they would have less direct political strength in Canada than the Scandinavians and Germans united, much less than the English alone (to say nothing of Scotch and Irish). In much less than a generation Canadians alone. It is true that United States citizens, or former citizens in Canada, have been beyond their numbers. They hold this by their intelligence which conforms to the laws and the spirit of the institutions they meet to work. They are seen inclined to the disruption and annexation of Canada their influence would be swamped and lost. Those who change their allegiance usually change it with honest hearts. They become as good citizens of Canada as ever they were of the republic. Altogether the attempt to create in the States an opinion that Western Canada shows any sort of tendency or disposition to "look to Washington" is merely a piece of humbug worked in the States by boomsters who hope thus to add a little to the large American demand for West Canadian lands.

The following vivid description of life in the new Cobalt region is written by a staff correspondent of the Montreal Star: "Cobalt has been a jumping up in value enormously, one small centrally located, recently changing hands for fifteen thousand dollars. "In spite of the fact that there is but one provincial policeman for the district populated by over two thousand souls there have been but few breaches of peace. Last evening a fracas occurred between French-Canadian and Syrian squatters in which one of the former was seriously injured. Several hundred people surrounded his assailant, who escaped unhurt, but was shortly thereafter arrested. The case will be heard in court today."

ASSESSMENT COMPANIES

(Ottawa Free Press) A rap at the assessment system of insurance was the feature of yesterday afternoon's session of the Insurance Commission. Superintendent Fitzgerald called it "insane" and "undesirable" and predicted failure for the societies doing that class of an insurance business. "I think," he said, "it was a mistake to ever allow that form of insurance business in Canada." "How many companies are now doing such business in the Dominion?" he was asked by counsel. "There are four," he replied. "The Independent Order of Foresters, Commercial Travelers, Woodmen of the World and the C. M. B. A." "What do you consider to be the weakness of this plan of insurance?" "They pretend to collect as they go along. While the deaths are few the assessments remain small but as the deaths increase the assessments become larger. Then there are complaints among the members. The good risks drop out, the bad ones stay in because they cannot get insurance anywhere else. So the time comes when these societies find themselves in financial straits." "Do you get annual returns from the four societies you named?" "Yes." "And you expect them just as you did the old line or straight life companies?" "Yes." "They are not required to keep reserves?" "No, although they do." "How long has this form of insurance, this assessment plan, been permitted in Canada?" "Since 1883." "And you think it is an objectionable form?" "Yes, because—an undesirable class of insurance for the public." (Ottawa Citizen)

Questioned as to what the objection to the assessment plan was, Mr. Fitzgerald said that generally after going along a while they collapsed. They pretended to collect but the death rates increased, correspondingly the assessments became larger. Then members, some old or impaired ones, who couldn't get insured elsewhere, dropped out and it was only a question of time when the company went up. He cited several of such organizations which had failed since 1883 and said that the department did all it could to discourage this plan of insurance as insecure and not in the interest of the public.

JUDICATURE BILL AGREED TO

FREDERICTON, March 21.—The Judicature Bill was taken up in the house yesterday in committee of the whole. Mr. Allan presided. Hon. Wm. Pugsley reported on what has already been done on the bill which had been referred to a select committee which left the rules of this bill to be dealt with by several legal gentlemen. Referring to the bill itself he said: "The bill does away with the existing separate courts and makes a federal one of equity. There will be six judges, of whom three will constitute the appeal division, the chief justice being one while the other three will be trial judges. No judge will be allowed to sit on appeal on his own decision. Cases that are in the nature of equity will be assigned to one judge. I look with confidence to the operation of this bill which has not been brought in of our mere notion. There has been a strong pressure from the legal profession for several years past to have the judicature act adopted. One reason being that it will bring the practice of our courts in line with that of the mother country and most of the other provinces of Canada. Mr. Hazen said that although the legal profession recommended the Judicature Act they did not recommend the division of the court. He thought there was no need for the division of the court here. If the supreme court got abolished the judges, no doubt, will be re-appointed except perhaps a judge who had served long enough to retire on his full salary. In that case a vacancy for some one might be created which would leave another vacancy in some other office which might be useful in certain political exigencies. There is a provision in this act that three judges shall reside in St. John, one in Fredericton, one in some North Shore county, and one wherever the lieutenant-governor-in-council may appoint. I think that the judges should all reside near each other. In Nova Scotia all the judges reside in Halifax. The tendency of the day is to centralize, and if judges are to keep themselves well informed they should meet each other frequently. I understand that the premier thinks it would be a hardship to make the present judge come within the terms of this provision as to residence. Hon. Mr. Pugsley—I do not think it would be any hardship. The judges receive good salaries $8000 a year and there is no reason why they should live in places out of the way. He denied that the government had any motive in the change such as Mr. Hazen suggested. The court of appeal of three judges, I think, is quite sufficient. With regard to the re-appointments of the judges, it is true that I stated that in my opinion all the judges will be re-appointed. But I was only speaking for myself. It may be that the dominion government may think that when a judge has served out his full term he should retire. In my opinion it would be desirable if possible to have legislation that would require judges to retire at a certain age. But the British North America act does not give the parliament of Canada that power. If I remain one of the law officers of the crown until the next session of the legislature, I shall introduce a bill providing that the qualification of a judge shall cease when he arrives at the age of time expires, when he can retire on his full salary. I think it very desirable that there should be an age limit with respect to judges. Hon. Mr. Tweedie—I do not agree with the attorney-general with respect to the residence of judges, and I think it would be a hardship to ask these men to pull up their stakes and go to live in some other place. Therefore I shall move that the section with regard to residence shall not apply to the present judges. I regret that the leader of the opposition should always attribute to the government some ulterior motive. The judicature bill has been heard by the legal profession, and our only desire in passing it is to see that it works well for the interest of the country. The bill was then agreed to, with the addition of the amendment as to residence. Mr. Copp introduced a bill to revive the act to incorporate the Shesha & Coast Railway Company. The house adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

RECENT DEATHS

Mrs. R. A. Smith, of 101 Elliott Row, died on March 13, aged 84 years. She had been only a week, the cause of death being heart trouble. Mrs. Smith, who was the second daughter of the late Jas. Sturges, is survived by one son and three daughters besides her husband. One of the sons is in Newcastle, Grand Lake. The other son and the daughters live at home. Two married sisters live in Boston. Mrs. Smith was of an amiable and devout nature and was well thought of by all who knew her. The funeral took place last Friday to Ferris and Rev. Dr. G. O. Gates conducted the services. William Scott, of Oromocto village, died at his home there Saturday night, aged seventy-seven years. He was of kindly disposition, upright in his dealings, and much respected. He had many friends in St. John, North, who will be sorry to hear of his death. Deceased was unmarried. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Brown, of Houlton (Me.); Mrs. Randall, of Acadia, at the home; and Miss Lettella, at the home. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Dobbie officiating. Margaret W. Thorne, daughter of F. H. Thorne, passed away last evening at her home here, having nearly reached her 18th year, and was a bright and attractive child. For some time she had been suffering from tuberculosis, but was confined to her bed only for a short time. The funeral will take place from her late home Portland street, on Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m.

HEXTON, March 19.—The funeral of Mrs. John Orr took place today from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Gordon. The deceased was a daughter of the late Richard Lynn and was a highly respected and esteemed resident of Kent county for nearly sixty years. Her surviving relatives are one sister, Mrs. Wm. Weston, of Jardineville, Kent county, and two brothers, Richard Lynn, of Stockton, Australia, and John Lynn, of Port Ewen, New York. Her children—Mrs. Wm. Gordon of Hexton, Miss Annie, Richard Orr of Jardineville, Mrs. H. H. Pickett of St. John and Mrs. H. H. Warman, Moncton, survive their mother. The death of Charles J. Willis occurred at the residence of Mrs. Thos. Lawrence, 20 P. road, here, yesterday afternoon. He had been in failing health for some time. He leaves besides his father, W. M. Willis, three daughters and one son, all quite young. Mr. Willis was a cabinet maker, in the employ of Manchester Robertson Allison Ltd. The death of Anthony Acheson occurred at an early hour this morning at his home, 32 Protection street, Cadleton, after a lingering illness. He leaves besides his wife and one son, L. A. Acheson, of this city, one sister and two brothers. The brothers are Nathaniel and John, of Texas, and the sister, Mrs. A. E. Nugent Dunbar, of Macchemore Oostie, Scotland. The deceased was formerly of H. M. Customs here. He was born in Rutlandshire, (Eng.), a son of Rev. S. A. Acheson. He came to Montreal from England in 1839 to take a position in the Crown Lands Department at Ottawa, afterwards being transferred to the customs department in this city in 1871.

DEATHS CATHERWOOD.—On Tuesday, the 20th inst., at the residence of her son James, Hannah Gamble, widow of the late Robert Catherwood, aged 72 years. Notice of funeral hereafter. THORNE.—On March 20, Margaret W. Thorne, of Portland street, died, aged 12 years, 11 months. Funeral from the residence of L. H. Thorne, 78 Protection street, Thursday, 22nd, at 12 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are respectfully invited to attend. WILLIS.—At the residence of Mrs. T. Lawrence, 20 Paradise Row, on the 20th inst., died, Charles Willis, leaving four children—three daughters and one son, all quite young. (Boston and English papers please copy.) THE IDEAL WIFE

Shapes the Destiny of Men—The Influence of a Healthy Woman Cannot Be Over-estimated.

Seven-eighths of the men in this world marry a woman because she is beautiful in their eyes—because she has the qualities which inspire admiration, respect and love.

There is a beauty in health which is more attractive to men than mere regularity of feature. The influence of women glorious in the possession of perfect physical health upon men and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured. Because of them men have attained the very heights of ambition because of them men have been established and destroyed.

Mrs. Bessie Ainsley

What a disappointment then, to see the fair young wife's beauty fading away before a year passes over her head! A sickly, half-dressed woman, especially when she is the mother of a family, is a damper to all joyousness in the home, and a drag upon her husband.

The cost of a wife's constant illness is a serious drain upon the funds of a household, and too often forcing down to the level of a woman finds her energies flagging, and that everything she does seems to be done with a heavy heart.

Remember Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Ainsley it will do for other women who are in poor health and ailing.

It gives strength and vigor from the start, and surely makes sick women well and robust.

Remember Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound holds the record for the greatest number of actual cures of woman's ills.

Women should remember that a cure for all female diseases actually exists, and that cure is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have symptoms you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman, and I feel Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

POLICE BELIEVE THEY SAVED MONCTON MAN'S MONEY

Frank Hopper Imbibed Too Much and Joe Guthro Took Him Home as Guest—His Vest With Gold Watch Under Bed, Ragged Garment Substituted—Police Followed Pair and Made Arrest.

What is thought was a budding robbery was nearly nipped in the North End last night through timely and effective work on the part of the police. A young man named Frank Hopper, claiming Moncton as his home, was, the police believe, lured by Joseph Guthro to the place the latter calls home in an alley off Moore street. Hopper, they say, was in a stupor from drink.

Policemen Covy and Greer, in Main street, saw the two men through Morgan's alley and, suspecting what was in the air, followed. When they knocked for admittance, Guthro came to the door, and his welcome was the reverse of gracious. The police went in, and in a wretched room in the rear of the kitchen Hopper was found. Guthro's sister was also there.

Hopper's clothes, with the exception of the vest, were of excellent material and out. The vest was soiled and almost buttonless. A few minutes search, however, and his own vest, in the pocket of which was a gold watch, was found under the bed. He had apparently been relieved of his own garment and one belonging to his self-appointed host put on in its stead.

Both Hopper and Guthro were hurried to the North End station. Guthro was a trifle arrogant, and the former experienced some difficulty in furnishing a connected story.

"My name," said he, with a blouche, is Frank Hoppe-hopper, and yesterday morning I came from Moncton with $150. Here he felt in his trousers pocket and pulled out a pile of bills, which he showed on the guard room table. Again he felt through his coat and cash in one, two and five dollar notes rained out the table.

"What am I here for?" demanded Guthro, who was lurking about near the stove, "You can't hold me for anything. He's got all the money."

He was searched and $2 and a small quantity of change was found. This money, he declared with picturesque emphasis, belonged to him. The full amount in the possession of Hopper was $71. Guthro was held on the charge of stealing a gold watch and vest, and Hopper was detained as a witness.

Policeman Covy says that it was about 10:30 o'clock when he noticed Hopper, who is a slightly built, young chap, with brown moustache, wandering along Main street, with Guthro at his elbow. Presently they turned up Morgan's alley and within a very few minutes after their arrival at the Guthro home the police were outside the door.

Following the arrest a second visit was made to the house, for it was thought possible that a part of Hopper's money might be concealed on the premises. None, however, was found.

In the bedroom Guthro's sister was found almost concealed from sight beneath a heap of ragged blankets and coats. Close to the bed was a small crib, and in it an infant, who cried weakly when the police asked his covering of rags. It required several invocations of the most urgent character before the woman would rise from the bed. She was fully dressed.

"What are you looking for?" she inquired, eyeing the officers sharply as they turned over the quilt and investigated other parts of the room.

"Money."

"This looks like a place where you'd be apt to find money," she said with a short laugh. It took some time to thoroughly search, but nothing was found except another baby. Sickly and unweaned it lay among the rags.

ST. JOHN SCHOONER ADELENE ABANDONED AND WATERLOGGED

Provincetown, Mass., March 20.—The schooner Adele, of St. John (N. B.), was sighted waterlogged and abandoned sixty miles east of Highland Light on March 18, by the schooner Manuel H. Cunn, which arrived here today.

The Adele had a cargo of laths and was apparently bound to some southern port.

The schooner Adele left port on March 13 with a cargo of 1,237,000 lbs. shipped by Alex. Gibson & Co. to New York. The schooner is of 193 tons and was built at Roshney (N. B.), in 1883 by R. Tipton. She is 102 feet long, 28 feet beam with a depth of hold of 9 feet 9 inches.

Besides Capt. Smith and the crew of eight men, the Adele had received considerable repairs before sailing from here. She is owned by R. C. Elkin and others.

Little Damage to the Harry Miller
The big three-masted schooner Harry Miller, Captain Miller, anchored off the Beacon light, dragged her anchor in yesterday's blow and, at 10:30 p. m., was holed along the Beacon bar, the tide being low at the time. Captain Miller signalled for a tug, and the Lord Kitchener went to her aid.

As the water was too shallow to get closer than a couple of hundred feet to the schooner, it was necessary to take a hawser to her in a small boat.

As the storm was mostly toasting, there was no trouble in getting her off. She was towed to Gibbon's coal wharf, where she is now docked.

The schooner was in here about 6 o'clock Monday evening for harbor, being bound from New London (Conn.) with oak for the mill.

Captain Miller said last night that he did not believe the schooner was injured in any way, but he intended to let her on the blocks for examination. At the worst there would be, perhaps, her shoe started, Captain Miller accuses for the mishap by a shift in the wind.

"When we came in Monday night," he said, "the wind was blowing south-westerly, but as the tide went down she commenced to drag a little and as the wind was then southerly it swung her around on the Beacon bar. She was very heavy then, but about 8 o'clock this morning," said Captain Miller, "it was pretty ugly, but I don't know how much she could see the island."

The captain says that he will endeavor to have cargo delivered here, as he understands that there is ice at Sackville.

LUMBERMEN WILL CONFER

Within a few weeks it is expected that there will be held in St. John a conference between representatives of the St. John River lumbermen and the Grand Falls Power Company in an effort to reach an agreement upon features of the company's plans to which the lumbermen have taken objection.

The fact that the lumbermen have filed at Ottawa objection to certain parts of the works which the company proposes to build in its developments at Grand Falls, was published in The Telegraph some days ago and details of the lumbermen's protest given. At that time A. P. Barnhill, representing the company, was quoted as saying he believed the matters could be arranged and engineers representing the two interests could confer on the points at issue.

F. P. Carvell, M. P., of Woodstock, who has been representing the lumbermen in this connection, was at the Royal yesterday and said that the matter had not advanced any but a conference would be held here soon.

The lumbermen, he said, had no desire to hinder the company in its work but merely wanted their own interests safeguarded. Mr. Carvell said he believed an arrangement would be made but if not it would then be a matter for the local and federal governments.

Mr. Carvell, who came here from Ottawa on legal business, left again for the dominion capital last evening.

A SPRING TONIC

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make Rich, Red, Health-giving Blood.
Cold winter months, enforcing close confinement in over-heated, badly ventilated rooms—in the home, in the shop, in the school—sapped the vitality of even the strongest. The blood becomes clogged with impurities, the liver sluggish, the kidneys weakened, sleep is not restful—you awake just as tired as when you went to bed; you are low spirited, perhaps have headache and blotchy skin—that is the condition of thousands of people every spring. It comes to all unless the blood is fortified by a good tonic—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills not only banish this feeling but they guard against the more serious ailments which usually follow—rheumatism, nervous debility, anemia, indigestion and kidney trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal spring medicine. Every dose makes new, rich, red blood. Every drop of new blood helps to strengthen the overworked nerves. Overcomes weakness and drives the germs of disease from the body. A thorough treatment gives you vim and energy to resist the torrid heat of the coming summer. Mrs. Mack A. Menze, Sluice Point, N. S., says: "I was so completely run down that I could hardly work. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as I had heard them highly spoken of, and a few boxes worked a great change in my condition. I am now feeling as well and strong as ever I did and can recommend the pills to all weak people."

It is a mistake to take purgatives in the spring. Nature calls for a medicine to build up the wasted force—purgatives only weaken. It is a medicine to act on the blood, not one to act on the bowels, which is necessary. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood medicine—they make pure, rich, red blood, and strengthen every organ of the body. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brookville, Ont.

Dr. Mott desires to thank his friends for their kindness to Mrs. Mott during her illness and for their sympathy in her bereavement.

IS GREAT SEASON FOR FLOWERS AND RIBBONS

Bright Display at the Millinery Openings in St. John Today
—Patrons Here From All Parts of Provinces—The Styles
of the Season.

Today and tomorrow the annual spring
opening of the wholesale millinery houses
of this city occurs, and as usual the showrooms in which the vari-colored and many shaped headgear is shown, are thronged with milliners from all over the maritime provinces. All the old buyers and many new ones are to be seen, which shows that St. John is holding its position as the millinery centre for the maritime provinces.

There is a lot of work in connection with these openings and close in change will be having working night and day for the past week were feeling rather tired, though satisfied that their labors had resulted in one of the best displays ever shown.

Brook & Paterson have a good showing of all kinds of pattern hats, shapes, trimmings,
etc., and traces of the recent disastrous fire are hardly discernible. The corps of milliners in charge of Miss Margaret Smith were busily engaged in showing the varied display to buyers from all sections of the lower provinces. The fashionable pattern was a very short front sailor shape, raised very high in the back, made up of moline and crinoline braid in the new prune shades,
trimmed with shaded plumes and pearl ornaments. There were many others which lack of space prevents describing.

A specialty of Brook & Paterson's is the display of children's head wear. Some of the latest creations ever seen here being shown in white and colors, made up of brilliant, lace and ribbons.

The following interview with A. V.
Branscomb of M. R. A. Limited, taken from the last issue of the Maritime Merchant, will give some idea as to colorings,
materials and trimmings this year.

This season new hats are in much larger variety than last spring, and may be put into three classes, medium large, medium small, and small shapes. The crowns are mostly dome-shaped, but large oval and oblong crowns are also shown.

A very popular shape is the new French style, the crown of which is almost as large as the brim, with a deep fitted bandieu at back which lends itself beautifully to trimming. This shape will undoubtedly be a great favorite for early spring.

Body hats, plaques, hoods and cones are articles that enter very largely into the composition of "My Lady's Hat" this season. These are shown in Tussan Crinoline, Hemp, Pyroxylin and Lophors, and milliner, as they can be manipulated in so many different ways.

Leghorn hats will also be very much used, not so much in the shape with which the hat is generally identified, but in a variety of smart dress shapes and especially in some of the new styles. The fashionable color is in the natural unbleached color, but in some cases dyed in all the fashionable shades. Fine Milnes and French chips also play a very prominent part, the latter being perhaps the most popular of any one style of hat this season.

The new straw hat is now almost obsolete, the new brands being composed of beehair, cork, hemp, pyroxylin
and other fibers, and in some cases, real silk. These, of course, refer to the finer grades, as the fancy chip, palm and silk brim hats are also found in many new and beautiful designs. A feature of these last mentioned articles, is that each color is shown in three tones,
which will be found to blend so nicely
with the flowers.

That this will undoubtedly be a flower season is beyond question. Roses, lilacs, hyacinths, lily of the valley, etc., are in great abundance. These roses are a great favorite and are shown in all sizes, from a tiny bud to the full blown rose and words cannot describe the exquisite coloring of the flowers this season. Floral ribbons and hats are also largely shown,
made of all hewen mentioned above.

Of unusual seen ostrich feathers are
again the most important, and are shown
in medium lengths. White will and pale colors being most generally employed, a
decided novelty being the "Tiger Tip"
which gets its name from the peculiar
blending of the colors.

Quills and long pointed wings are also used on the smart tailored hats for early spring. These are generally feathers are again the most important, and are shown
in medium lengths. White will and pale
colors being most generally employed, a
decided novelty being the "Tiger Tip"
which gets its name from the peculiar
blending of the colors.

Opepy also plays a prominent part and several hats of mounting seems are shown including the new shawl and swan mountain. On the more dressy models prevailing is again shown, and in addition to black, white and natural, is used in all fashionable colors.

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing."
It is not true that some of the members of the council, present, passing, and past, have felt they had knowledge of many questions which belong to the heads of departments, and have called them to put in practice another old saying that
"the proper study of mankind is man."

Applying this to members of the common council, who were quite sure they are authorities, so that their heads, or some of their heads, have acquired the habit of carrying out their wishes by the diplomacy of personal canvases of members of the council, instead of working out the results by the laws of nature and business?

REPAIRING
THE DAMAGE

Inquiries at the office of the New Brunswick Southern Railway today elicited
the information that the work of repairing the line is going forward as rapidly as possible. It is expected that the damaged road-bed will be repaired today,
but the Digden bridge is considered unsafe and it may be a day or two before it can be repaired. However, a train was sent out from St. Stephen today and an examination of the bridge will be made.

It is possible that a train will be sent from the west side tomorrow if the repairs now being made to one of the engines can be completed in time. Apple McPhee is making every effort to have the line in operation as soon as possible.

According to word received from St.
Stephen, all those who were injured in Monday's accident are doing as well as could be expected.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 21.—London started
prices of Americans upward this morning,
but the response at the opening of the stock market here was irregular. A number of speculative shorts were covering, but the market in the general fall was rather languid and prices were narrow. Consolidated Gas 1 1/2, National Biscuit 3/4, Northern Pacific and Western Union were the only stocks traded rapidly over a range of 1/4 below last close. Market opened irregular.
