FRANC CAUSES FALL OF BRIAND CABINET

HERRIOT CALLED TO HEAD NEW GOVERNMENT

Public Roused

Hostile Demonstrations Against Radical League Forces Extra Police Protection

PARIS, July 19.—Close friends of former Premier Herriot today stated that he had succeeded in the task of forming a cabinet to succeed that of M. Briand. No official announcement of this has been made, however.

PARIS, July 19.—With dogged determination Edward Herriot, radical leader, today was at work on his arduous task of carrying out the desire of President Doumergue that he form a cabinet to take the place of that of Aristide Briand, which fell last week on the whole question of finance.

Early today he had secured a promise of the qualified support of the Socialists and the unofficial opposition of the powerful group led by Louis Marin, known as the Republican Union, and made up from the remains of the old National Bloc.

It seemed apparent that M. Herriot must act, or rather he would be obliged to contact himself with a Radical cabinet into which there would enter a few Moderates.

SOCIALIST AID NEEDED. Such a combination it was declared in political circles, would necessarily have to depend upon Socialist support, which it was assumed would be given only conditionally.

M. Herriot planned to see former Premier Poincare during the day. It was not known whether Poincare would consent to be named as Minister of Finance and it was known, however, that many Radicals express strong objection to the inclusion of M. Poincare in the Ministry.

DISPLEASURES SENATE. The crisis precipitated by M. Herriot in bringing about downfall of the Briand cabinet has caused extreme displeasure in the Senate and among some persons of the public and the newspapers.

It appeared certain today that even if M. Herriot succeeded in forming a cabinet it would receive even sharper opposition from the upper house than his last administration which was overthrown by that house.

GERMANY PESSIMISTIC. BERLIN, July 19.—The German press for the most part is favorable to M. Caillaux in the French crisis. Pessimism is expressed regarding the future of French currency and disastrous effects on German economies are foreseen.

Assessors Board Chairman Discusses, In Informal Way, Tax Matters

UNDER pressure of inquiry from all angles of public opinion the Times-Star this morning sought an expression of opinion from members of the Common Council and E. M. Olive, Chairman of the Board of Assessors, concerning proposed remedial measures in the matter of increased taxation.

THE Assessment Board chairman felt it would not be fair to ask him as a salaried employe of the city to express a personal opinion upon the workability of the present system of taxation. He was simply an instrument in the hands of the people to implement a law enacted with public consent.

MR. OLIVE says he is quite aware of the upset state of public mind regarding taxation, and nobody seeks relief from the financial stress more than himself. In a reminiscent vein he recalled the days when the present Assessment Act was being framed by Professor W. C. Keirstead of the University of New Brunswick, R. T. Hayes, then Mayor of Saint John, the late Dr. J. Roy Campbell, lawyer, and W. E. Scully.

CITES AN INSTANCE. IN the educational centre, Cambridge, where Harvard University is the one outstanding local industry, it might be so termed, taxation matters were highly unsatisfactory to the people.

THIS Cambridge case, Chairman Olive thought, might in many ways be applied in Canada, and it might be possible the same situation would arise as between Halifax and Saint John. As concerning the agitation of the Retail Merchants' Association to have taxes paid in installments, Mr. Olive did not express any opinion.

NEW BUILDING
LAW RECEIVES
CONSIDERATION

Mayor Thinks Inspector Under Act Will Need to be Super-Man
HIS WORSHIP ALSO COMMENTS ON SOO
Frink Criticizes Permission Granted Officials to Deviate From Law

That the framers of the new building by-law evidently expected the building inspector to be a man of sound common sense, an active personality and a super-man, was the comment of Mayor White this morning while various sections of the proposed by-law were under discussion. The by-law was the only matter taken up this morning, the time from 11 o'clock until 1 o'clock being taken up going over chapter 1, dealing with the general provisions.

These general provisions provide the building inspector shall be responsible for the carrying out of the Act and by-law, that the by-law shall, except in special cases, apply only to buildings to be erected or altered after it has passed. It provides for a committee of five to deal with disputes between the building inspector and the owner or architect of any proposed building; that the inspector may refuse to grant a permit when the particulars supplied do not seem to him to be sufficient to enable him to decide whether the building would be safe.

It also provides that the building inspector may require a land surveyor's plan as to the land on which the building is to be erected and that the inspector shall have the power to deviate from the requirements of the by-law, provided such deviation does not affect the safe construction or fire hazard of the building. The inspector is given power to refuse any permit if the provisions of the by-law are not carried out to his satisfaction.

The last section of Chapter 1 provides that no steam engine shall be located with wood, or any fuel except coal, unless the chimney is covered with a wire netting or cap sufficient to prevent the escape of sparks of fire therefrom.

In connection with the clause His Worship said there was another thing which should be watched in connection with steam boilers and the emission of soot into the air. He understood the only remedy for this nuisance was proper stoking.

In connection with the provision for the board of arbitration Commissioner Wigmore asked who was to pay the cost and suggested that the expenses be divided between the party asking for the board and the city.

SECTION SUGGESTED
It was suggested that an additional section be added providing that no permit be issued unless water and sewerage were already available and the grade of the street had been established.

Commissioner Frink questioned the wisdom of the clause giving the inspector power to permit deviation from the by-law, as in his opinion it placed that official above the common council, which was decided to secure the opinion of the city solicitor on that point.

At the time of adjournment the Mayor remarked that he thought the council had quite a holiday before them in going over the whole by-law section by section.

SIR R. BORDEN DENIES REPORT OF CANDIDATURE

The Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, former Premier of Canada, passed through the city on the noon train. He was looking particularly well and said he was enjoying excellent health. The former Premier was unaccompanied and stated he was going to Grand Pre, N. S., to sojourn a while in his native haunts, the homestead property.

Sir Robert smilingly confessed he had given no very serious thought to the present political situation. He said this with the benign air of one who was happy to be out of the turmoil. Asked if he supposed along what line the fight would be waged in advance of Premier Melgren's keynote speech tomorrow—he said he had not.

The former Premier also denied the report that he was to be a candidate in the coming elections. "No, sir, I am not," he said with that well-known emphasis of his deep bass voice.

Only the reporters recognized Sir Robert at the depot. He slipped into town, bought new tickets and boarded the C. N. R. diner without any political friends being aware of his presence in town.

FASTIDIOUSNESS. Clothes should always be hung on hangers as soon as they are taken off, and should be aired before they are shut away in the closet.

CLEANER FOR BLACK. Clear, black coffee, diluted with water, and containing a little ammonia makes an excellent cleaner for black cloth garments.

THE MORNING PRUNES. When your family gets tired of prunes in their usual dressed fashion, pit them, and add to a custard or reheat them with minced lemon or orange peel to the water.

SPRINKLE WITH THESE. A white broom is better than any hand for sprinkling clothes. A small water sprinker is also effective.

AVOIDING RUST. If new thwars is greased slightly and warmed slowly without burning it will not rust easily.

REMOVING SALAD OILS. Chopping bowls or wooden salad bowls that retain odor should be soaked in hot soda water, one teaspoonful of soda to one quart of water.

LET ICE MELT. It is not advisable to cover ice with blanket of newspapers as this prevents the circulation of the air currents in your refrigerator. You may save ice thereby, but you lose refrigeration.

TUMBLER AT RIGHT HAND. In setting the dining table the tumbler should be at the right of the knife near the end of the blade.

ARRANGEMENT OF MEDICINES. When arranging the medicine cabinet, place those drugs and medicines which are oftenest in demand on the front of the shelves and those for more occasional use in the back rows.

EFFECTIVE BLEUING. To blue your clothes most efficiently, use clean cold water and mix the bluing with the water before putting in the clothes. Do not allow them to stand in the water.

STOP FADING COLORS. When washing colored clothes always try a sample first, if possible, the first time you put them in the laundry. If there is danger of fading, set the color by soaping in a gallon of water with two cups of salt or one of white vinegar. Then dry before washing with soap.

NAME PUZZLING The origin of the name "Oriel" is lost in antiquity and is still puzzling historians. "Oriel" is a nickname, says Richard Ingham in a booklet on the "Oxford College mystery."

Malone's advertisement. Text: 'Athletes Who Live Long. (New York World.) That is a remarkable record of the Yale crew of 1886 who met and discussed old triumphs with not a member missing. Here are 10 men, counting the coxswain and substitute. All were more than 60 years old. In the year when they outpaced Harvard their statistical expectation of life was 40 years. The fact that they were still in the game in the line before the end of that period, apparently the heritage of a sound body does count for something and "athlete's heart" does not make untimely inroads upon all the groups of muscular young students.'

POEMS I LOVE

'The Stab' by Will Wallace Harney. THIS gruesome little picture has long had a place in my memory. I read it first as a boy, and the scene it conjured up has never left me. I should call it an etching rather than a painting—sharp, concise, with strong lights and shades. Harney left nothing else of notes.

DINNER STORIES

IT IS told that an impeccable nobleman saw a portrait in a London shop window in which he was much interested. He went in and ascertained that the price was twelve pounds and ten shillings.

"Give you ten pounds," he said to the shopkeeper, but the price was refused and there was no sale made.

Some time later the nobleman was dining in the magnificent new London house of a business man of the type called self-made. He noticed a familiar portrait on the wall.

"Ah," said the host, observing his guest's interest in the painting. "That is the portrait of an ancestor of mine."

"Indeed," said the peer. "Then we must be related," he continued with perfect gravity. "He was within fifty shillings of being an ancestor of mine!"

No Doubt. (Weekly Scotsman) A schoolmaster had explained to his pupil the functions of a British consul, and, to find out whether or not they understood, he asked, "If someone carried you off in an airplane, and, after a long flight, dropped you ten thousand miles away in a foreign country, what place would you seek first of all?"

A cager hand was uplifted, "Please, sir, the hospital," came the unexpected answer.

MINISTER OF TEXAS CHURCH HELD BY POLICE

Rev. J. Frank Norris Says He Killed Man In Self-Defence

CHURCH FILLED

6,000 Present as Pastor Discourses From Bible Text on "Condemnation"

Canadian Press

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 19.—Charged with murder for the killing Saturday of D. W. Chipps, Fort Worth lumberman, the Rev. J. Frank Norris yesterday preached his regular Sunday morning sermon from the text "There is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus."

Standing within fifty feet of the church study where Chipps was killed when he called to protest against certain utterances of the well-known fundamentalist, Dr. Norris, told one of the largest Sunday audiences he has ever commanded that his faith was stronger than ever.

The first Baptist church auditorium which seats 6,000, was filled to the doors with many standing and several hundred outside. When Dr. Norris finished speaking several hundred of his congregation sauntered down to the front of the church to shake the preacher's hand.

While this service was in progress, Chipps friends prepared for the latter's funeral.

PREACHER'S VERSION

According to the preacher's version of the shooting, given Saturday night, Chipps called at Dr. Norris' study and threatened to kill him. He demanded, according to the pastor's statement, that the latter desist from attacks on certain of Chipps' friends. Dr. Norris had launched an attack on Mayor H. C. Mescham for the purchase by the city of land for the opening of a street. In the church publication "The Searchlight," and in sermons, Dr. Norris is said to have charged that the street opening was designed to benefit Mescham's own property. He is owner of a large department store.

MANY VISITORS AT Y. M. C. A. BOYS' CAMP

Steady Stream of Cars Arrive During Sunday; The Day's Program

There was a steady stream of visitors to the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Oak Point on the river yesterday, most of the guests arriving by motor, others by steamer. Sunday mists were in force, no games were played, and the lads had the opportunity of mixing with their families. It was glorious weather, and the camp presented a neat and inviting appearance. The competition in cleanliness, camp orderliness, deportment, etc., seemed to have already, after three days under canvas, put the little fellows on their mettle. The camp is divided in Indian tribes, with the following chiefs: Mohawks, George Andrews; Micmacs, Herbert Denyer; Chippewas, Don Rivers, and Iroquois, Arthur Thorne.

Oarsmen Will Meet Tonight To Plan Race

THE matter of holding an elimination race to pick an oarsman to represent this city at the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines will probably be decided at a meeting of the Saint John Rowing Club to be held this evening in the Victoria Hotel. Considerable enthusiasm has been aroused over the meeting, and many of the local scullers in action, Hilton A. Belyas and other prominent local men have expressed their willingness to enter such a race which, if held, must take place soon.

SALVATION ARMY OFFICIAL IS COMING

New Field Secretary to be Here on Tour of the Maritimes

Lieutenant-Colonel L. E. Taylor, who recently was appointed Salvation Army field secretary for Canada East Territory, which includes the Maritime Provinces, is now making a tour of a portion of his jurisdiction, and is expected to be in Saint John on Tuesday of this week. He will conduct a public meeting that evening at the Rodney street barracks, West Saint John.

Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, who now makes his headquarters in Toronto, was in Fredericton over the week-end, and was assisted in his services by Major Burton of Saint John, divisional commander here some years ago. Since that time and until appointment to duties in the eastern area, he has been officiating as field secretary in the Canada West territory.

Bulgarians Deny Landslide Report

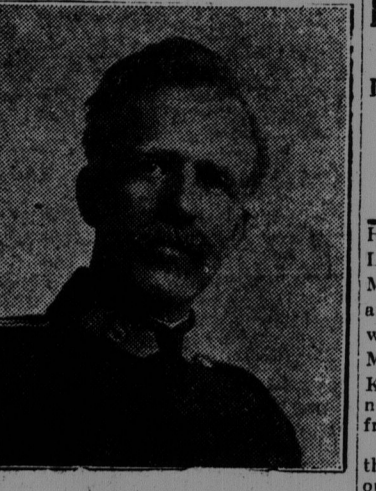

CANADIAN PRESS BELGRADE, July 19.—A semi-official note has been issued denying the report that many persons were killed in a landslide near Sarejevo, Bosnia. It says there was a cave in on the Sarejevo railroad, caused by floods, but that there were no casualties from landslides.

A report from Sarejevo by way of Laibach, also denies a railway disaster. A Vienna despatch of Saturday reported that 117 persons were killed by a great landslide, which, it was said, buried a train near Sarejevo. Most of the passengers, it was added, were smothered in the mountains of earth that fell on them.

In This Country, When a Man Marries He Either Rises or Sinks to His Wife's Social Level; But While She Can Make or Break Her Husband, She is Rarely Influenced by Him to Change Heresy.

A CORRESPONDENT asks: Which has the more influence in the family, the husband or the wife?

The wife. In this country it is indubitably the man that rules the roost.

IN EUROPE the man is the head of the house, in fact as well as theory, and a woman's social status is determined by that of her husband. If a Duke marries a chambermaid she becomes thereby a Duchess and entitled to walk out of a room before those who were born mere ladies, but in this land of the free it is differently ordained.

Here it is nearly always the wife who makes and holds the family's place in society. She determines, nine times out of ten, where and in what style they shall live and whom they shall know. She can raise her husband socially, but because he is a Steel King or a Coal Baron does not automatically make her a member of the social aristocracy.

Thus, in every community we have families that are content to be rich and fat and comfortable and remain in the station in life to which it pleased fate to call them before papa made his money. And we have other families who, with every turn of the wheel of fortune, have mounted another rung of the social ladder until by the time papa gets his million they are perched upon the very roof of the country club, so to speak, and are patronizing the clubbers.

And it is always mama who turns the trick. Papa couldn't do it to save his life. A socially ambitious woman with plenty of money to spend has only the sky as her limit and can fly as high as she pleases and take her family with her. But there is absolutely nothing that a socially ambitious man can do to elevate the family if he is married to a woman who has no social gifts whatever.

PERHAPS men are more adaptable than women are. Perhaps men are more easily influenced than women are. Perhaps they only follow the line of least resistance and find it easier to give in to their wives than to resist them. But, anyway, it is amazingly true that in the great majority of marriages the husband either rises or sinks to his wife's level.

If the wife is better bred, better educated and has had more advantages than the husband has had she refines and educates and polishes him, but if the man marries beneath himself, as the phrase goes, he doesn't raise his wife except in the rarest instances. She almost invariably pulls him down.

I HAVE seen—and so have you—brilliant, intellectual men who hardly read another book after they married dumb Dora, who themselves never looked at anything except the birth and death notices and the society column in the daily papers and who wanted to put in every evening at the movies or jarring.

I have seen broad-minded, generous men become as narrow and prejudiced and cold and stingy as the hard, nickel-raising, penny-pinching wives to whom they were married. I have seen a man with the flame of genius in his soul marry a dull, commonplace woman and let her put out the fire in him and make him as stupid and uninspired as she was.

And I have seen women take a rough diamond and polish it until it scintillated. I have seen women turn bores into gentlemen. I have seen women who broadened and humanized men and brought out all that was good in them, and I have seen women actually push mediocre men into success and thrust greatness upon men who could not have achieved it for themselves.

But I have never seen a man sleep a woman by a hair's breadth, except in the matter of making a dainty horse of her and dressing her up in Paris linen.

I HAVE never seen a husband whose influence over his wife was great enough to make her read if she had no intellectual yearning, or to make her control herself if she had a violent temper, or even to turn her into a good housekeeper if she was lazy and shiftless.

Therefore, as the wife's influence in the home is so much more powerful than the man's it is far more important that a man should use great wisdom and judgment in picking out a wife than it is that a woman should exercise equal discretion in selecting her husband. For the wife can to a large degree make her husband what she wishes him to be, but the woman rarely changes. What she is, she stays to the end of the chapter.

It is also far more important that children should have a good mother than it is that they should have a good father.

CHILDREN may have a very bad father, indeed. They may have a dishonest father, a drunken father, an immoral father and yet if they have a good mother her teachings will be powerful enough to neutralize the bad example their father sets them.

But if children have a mother with low ideals, a loose-living mother, there is nothing that their father can do, no matter how good and noble a man he may be, that will offset her bad influence upon them.

IT IS the mother's influence that rules the world. It is the mother who decides whether her children shall be educated or grow up in ignorance. It is the mother who instills ambition into her children and sends them out to do great things in the world or who encourages them in being shiftless drones.

It is the mother who teaches her daughters purity and her sons high standards of honesty or to take what they can get out of life the easiest way. It is the mother who makes the atmosphere of the home clean or filthy and who puts her indelible stamp on those who go out from it.

IT IS a fearful responsibility. Let us thank God that so many women use it wisely.

CHORUS GIRLS WANTED

BEHIND THE SCREEN

By JACK JUNGMEYER

THE glittered simplicity of Lon Chaney's off-stage life, in striking contrast to that of most Hollywood celebrities, has raised an air of mystery about this side of the famous character actor's existence. Very few of his studio associates know where Chaney goes or what he does after he removes the greasepaint.

He goes home. Then, with scarcely a variation he eats supper with his good wife, helps her wipe the dishes, dons his slippers, reads the real estate page of the newspaper and goes to bed. Once in a while he attends a fight. Outside visiting and visitors are rare events.

Hollywood's showplaces and soirées see none of Chaney. Hence the "mystery" about the man who has made a tidy fortune and a great reputation with his grotesque grimaces and bodily distortions.

There is something definitely aloof if not exactly anti-social about Chaney. He lives much within himself.

No man in his profession takes himself more seriously or studies the possibilities of misery more earnestly than the creator of such striking screen roles as the fake cripple of "The Miracle Man," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "Fagin," "The Phantom of the Opera," the evil brother in "The Blackbird" and the dive keeper in his most recent "The Road to Mandalay."

The front door of his modest home is the dividing line between professional concerns and domestic relaxations. Beyond this ill shop talk is taboo. And while Chaney himself never seems completely free from brooding some new character to add to his galaxy of crooks, outcasts or unfortunates, the occasional visitor may not pry into these preoccupations.

"My home," says Lon, "is my own, and the public, I'm sure, has no curiosity about my domestic life." Thus, amiably and tactfully, he has always diverted an intrusive interest in his private affairs.

HE STUDIES HANDS

Character study, the scrutiny of faces and gesturing hands, the revelation of a man's spirit in his physical contours, is an absorbing passion with Chaney.

Always he is on the alert for these character indications to be utilized combined and emphasized in his screen portraits. Frequently he follows strange "fox" miles, making mental notes of physical peculiarities and expressive gestures. Rogues galleries are mines of information and suggestion.

Hands fascinate him peculiarly. Members of Chaney's family were dead muscles, and Lon was compelled to communicate with them by manual talk. He understands to unusual degree how thought, impulse, passion may be conveyed by fist and finger.

Soft absorption, alternating between his professional and his home life, is the keynote of Lon Chaney's double devotion and whatever "mystery" may adhere in domestic sedation.

Two materials used together offer smart possibilities for the Summer day frock.

Any attractive white material lends itself admirably to combination with gingham or calicoes, and many smart designers are taking advantage of this fact.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

SEE-SAWING up and down Broadway I find the chorus girls most fetching in their new coats of sunburn. And due to this season's scantiness of costumes one producer, I am told, has issued orders that if they must get laid out at the beach to distribute the coat over their entire bodies in so far as possible.

Saw a most ingenious new motor coach parked near Times Square. Making trips between New York and Connecticut during lunch and dinner hours, it has a little built-in "diner" of four tables. Soon they'll have Pullman sleepers, I doubt not.

But for a "visiting fireman" I never should have noticed it. Few New Yorkers can tell you without due notice what the bright light signs of Broadway depict. Fewer still notice the frequent changes. But the visitors from the "sticks" know them "by heart."

On the abolition of a fast rising Broadway building are two huge electric signs. Obviously they must interfere with the operation of the contractor. Yet they are not taken down because the licenses for them could not be again secured and it is considered better business to interfere somewhat with construction than lose the bright light location.

Saw a new store at 42nd street and 84th avenue which rents for $3,000 per square foot. Yes, the owner of the building is a millionaire. And will continue to be.

Saw James MacKay, the sedate traffic cop at Fifth avenue and 47th street in the heart of the fashionable shopping belt.

And he was telling a tourist not to expect basement sales in that neighborhood. Jim, it seems, is supposed to have read all the ads in the morning newspapers and is asked many times a day "where the best sale is." He knows every "regular" Fifth avenue shoppee by sight and, unless busy with his traffic arm, generally manages to tip his hat as the auto passes.

Saw Broadway music stores display shulshes. This modest Hawaiian instrument, it appears, suddenly has taken our barolo proportions, thanks to the fact that one of the sailors on Commander Byrd's ship sneaked his pet "uke" aboard the plane in which Byrd circled the globe.

Saw "Reginald Charley," now retired on the income earned from shining the police department's shoes. For fifty years Charley was the official police station bootblack. He decided to quit when he reached the age of 70. Starting as a lad Charley decided to have a "soft berth," was sure of a good living and rather easy work. He doesn't think much of folk who fight and worry for success. He says he's lived well and had a good time and he couldn't have done any more than that had he been a millionaire.

RAILWAYS
(Toronto Royal Spoke)
I hold no brief for them as I pay full fare and glad to. But I note what a popular pastime it is amongst the railroads. Why? I've spent at least three days a week on the road since last November and had to make a lot of connections. Never once was I ever in a hurry. Through winter storm and spring freshets the time always were. I travel quite as much to see friends and at the best hotels in prices a good deal less than in the past. I have a bed at a hotel in each town I visit. I never received a sharp, cold word from a single individual. Where is there anything that contributes to our comfort and prosperity as in the past? If they can do this in spite of all the knocking, what would they do if we'd work with 'em and try a little something? Think it over.

ST. GEORGE'S, July 18—Mrs. Joseph O'Brien, widow of the late Postmaster Timothy O'Brien, died on Wednesday night after a long illness. Mrs. O'Brien was the daughter of the late Philip and Mrs. Eppand, and through her was a direct descendant of the first settlers on the Magalloway river, who finally came to St. George by way of the Saint John River and Fredericton. Never very rugged health, she lived to see three generations in her last illness. She was a regular attendant of the Baptist church and was always interested in religious and charitable works.

Mrs. O'Brien leaves four daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) A. D. Fraser, of Westport, Ont.; Mrs. George McCallum, of St. George; Mrs. Harold Lambert, of Deer Island, and Edna M., at home; two brothers, Crandall Eppand, of Burke, Cal.; George, of Anoka, Wis., and four sisters, Mrs. Laura McLean and Mrs. Wallace Pratt, of Burke, Mrs. Adeline Doods, and Miss Amy Epps, of St. George.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, with services at the house conducted by Rev. E. I. Kerr, of the Presbyterian church, interment being in the rural cemetery. The pall-bearers were Dr. C. C. Alexander, Hon. Dr. H. I. Taylor, Hector McKenzie, A. C. Tory, John O. and E. R. O'Brien.

NEW YORKER IS OFF FOR NOVA SCOTIA ON TREASURE HUNT

Maj. Logan Expects to Net $100,000 to $2,000,000 From Search

NEW YORK, July 18.—Major B. A. Logan, manager of the mapping division of the Fairchild Aerial Survey, left New York today for a treasure hunt in Nova Scotia, which he says may net him at least $100,000 and perhaps $2,000,000.

The treasure was the cargo of a French "pay ship" which fell into the hands of the English off Cape Breton Island, about the year 1700. After various vicissitudes the crew of the French vessel managed to sink the treasure in Canadian waters, but prevented by the English from returning to claim it. All trace of it was eventually lost and repeated searches by Major Logan discovered last winter in an old Spanish narrative, an account of how the treasure passed into the hands of a Spanish privateer. The captain of this privateer, a Frenchman who gave him the information, but the captain was prevented by the French from salvaging the treasure. He left the records for his son, however, and it is this record which Major Logan is using as his guide.

Knowing the country well Major Logan went up last spring and bought up all the land on which the treasure can possibly be hidden, if the Spanish records are accurate.

"All I have to do now is to dig," said the Major, just before his departure, "and I'm sure I've got the right dope I'm willing to spend five months digging if necessary. I'll have two laborers helping me. That's all there is to my expedition."

CONSERVATIVES BUY MONTREAL PAPER

La Patrie of Montreal Will Be Protectionist and Back Meighen

QUEBEC, July 18.—The Montreal French-language daily newspaper, La Patrie, has been purchased by a French-Canadian syndicate headed by Senator D. O. Lesperance, who is in charge of the Liberal-Conservative organization for the province of Quebec. The purchase price is not disclosed.

La Patrie was founded by Honore Beaumont 44 years ago and was purchased by Hon. Joseph Israel Tarte in 1896. Since then it had continued in the ownership of his family with L. J. Tarte as president and his brother, Eugene Tarte, also taking an active part in the management of the journal.

A statement accompanying the announcement of purchase says that "for the last 20 years the French-Canadian Conservatives have been without an organ to advocate their principles in Montreal. That handicap was made heavier since there were four French language dailies, fighting more or less openly in favor of the Liberal party."

It has been said that there would never be a recovery of the prestige of the Liberal-Conservative party in the province of Quebec so long as the French-Canadian press was hostile or indifferent to its aims and ideals.

BOY, 3, STRUCK BY CAR, DIES OF SHOCK

Edmundston Lad Collapses After Walking to His Home

EDMUNDSTON, July 18.—Herbert Dodge, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dodge, of Edmundston, is dead as the result of shock sustained when he was struck by an automobile driven by Harold Kelly.

Mr. Kelly was returning to his garage and got out of the car to open the door. He found the child playing nearby and told him to get out of the way, which the child did. Mr. Kelly then got in the car to drive it in the building and the child moved to another position so that when the car moved ahead it struck the boy and knocked him down. He picked himself up and walked to his home, a few doors away, and sat down on the doorstep.

DOCTOR WORKS TWO HOURS. Mr. Kelly followed the child and asked if he was hurt and the little fellow replied he was not. However, the child showed signs of weakness and he was carried into the house. A doctor was called and worked for two hours trying to find the cause for the boy's collapse, as there was only a slight bruise over the right hip where the wheel struck him. Despite everything that could be done the boy passed away about three hours after the accident. Death being due in all probability to fright.

Besides the parents, several brothers and sisters survive.

They also realized that a tremendous work laid before the company and also before them as publicity men in acquainting the people of their country and the province.

Messrs. Vanhook and McAward were accompanied by their wives who were also delighted with all they had seen and with the courtesies shown them.

They arrived in Yarmouth on Monday morning last and by train, auto and steamer covered the territory with which the Eastern company has connections. They also crossed the Bay to Saint John, where they visited the terminals of the International Line, a building in Eastern. Returning to Digby Messrs. SIX INJURED IN N. B. AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

FOUR HURT WHEN CAR OVERTURNS NEAR CAPITAL

Three in Hospital, Including Son of Judge Slipp of Fredericton

FIVE ESCAPE 50-FOOT DROP NEAR BLAGDON Auto Ditched and Burned on Golden Grove Road—Two Collide

AT least six persons were injured in as many automobile accidents in the province, including Saint John, during the week-end. Three persons of one party are in the hospital at Fredericton.

FREDERICTON, July 18—Four were injured Saturday night when the automobile in which they were driving left the road and turned over several times at Burden Bridge, about 22 miles from Fredericton, on the Fredericton-Woodstock trunk road. As a result of the accident Donald Slipp of this city, second son of Hon. A. R. Slipp, judge of the County Court, and Miss Adelaide Moores, daughter of Frederick Moores, of Woodstock, are in Victoria Hospital here seriously injured. Wallace McAdam, son of James A. McAdam, of this city, is in the same institution with serious cuts about the face and neck and other injuries. Leonard Roberts, of the Royal Bank branch in Woodstock, was not taken to the hospital, having suffered minor injuries. The extent of the injuries of Mr. Slipp and Miss Moores will not be known for some days, examination not being possible now. Spinal injuries may have occurred, that being feared particularly in the case of Mr. Slipp.

VICTIMS ARE DAZED Those who were in the accident are still so dazed and shaken up that little information can be obtained from them. The car for some time was located in Woodstock and was coming home. The car for some reason left the road and turned over several times. It is badly wrecked. A car with Maine registry left the road on a steep grade west of Spring Hill, some five miles from Fredericton, on Saturday night. The car was upset down in the ditch. The occupants were spilled out of the seats into the ditch which was spanned by the car. That fact probably prevented serious injuries. One of the party sustained some cuts.

Saved from serious injury, if not death, at Eagle Rock near Blagdon, when a 50-foot drop to the railway tracks below was prevented by the rear wheel of a Chevrolet touring car catching in a rock which jutted out from the embankment, was the experience of an automobile party when approaching the city last night.

PARTY ESCAPES DEATH The car is said to be owned and driven by a man who gave his name as Peter Warren, and his address as Fairville, and containing Warren's wife, two ladies and a gentleman, the latter three thought to be citizens of Fredericton. With the exception of Mrs. Warren, who had her ankle slightly bruised, the motorists were uninjured. As they were climbing the steep hill at Eagle Rock, Warren endeavored to pass a large touring car in front of him. While so doing, Warren temporarily lost control of his machine and the car plunged over the 50-foot embankment. Warren had presence of mind enough to clamp on his brakes. Twenty feet of the hillside were negotiated safely and just as Warren was losing control of the brakes, the car struck a rock and stayed there. The party cautiously made their way out of the car and climbed to the roadway.

WORK STARTED ON ELM ST. STRUCTURE American Dye Works Building to be Completed About Sept. 1 Fifteen men have begun work at the site of the old American Dye Works building, Elm street, which was razed by fire a few weeks ago, and are erecting a modern brick and concrete structure. On Elm street, the building will be one story in height, of red brick; the sides will be built of concrete, and will be two stories high, owing to sloping ground. The basement floor will be made of concrete also; the second floor will be of modern "solid mill" construction. Alward and Gillies are architects for the work and H. O. Clark is the general contractor. Jones Electric Company will do the wiring and electric installations; Byrne and McCouch will do the plumbing and Murray and Gregory are supplying the factory work. It is expected that the building will be completed by the first of September, requiring about six weeks for construction.

Agnes, in fact, has already begun her annual attack on the ocean, having smashed her own national record when she swam the distance in 1:22.4, beating her old performance by four-fifths of a second.

ownership of William King, 68 High street, Saint John, was ditched and burned up Saturday night on the Golden Grove road. The car was being driven by a young man, when something went wrong and the automobile left the highway, turned over three times as it rolled down a bank and then caught on fire. The driver got clear with slight injuries and shock, while the leaking gasoline ignited in a short time all that was left of the car was the frame and the two front wheels.

AUTO DAMAGED. It was reported in the city yesterday that on Saturday night an automobile left the driving path on the Loch Lomond road near the Old Cemetery, turned over and was badly damaged. The name of the driver and owner of the car could not be learned last night. It is reported the driver escaped injury.

TWO CARS COLLIDE. Shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night two cars collided head on, a short distance from the western end of the government traffic bridge over the reversing falls. One of the cars was bound westward and the other east. Both automobiles were badly damaged. One had to be towed to a repair shop. Inquiries were made yesterday but names of the owners of the cars or the occupants could not be learned.

STERLING GEAR DAMAGED. According to a report from Adjutant Ward, of the Salvation Army, he had an untimely experience on Saturday afternoon while automobile driving in the country. He told the police that while going over the Hammond River bridge the floor planking became loose and the steering gear of the automobile was damaged. No further damage was otherwise caused and no person was injured as the car was proceeding slowly at the time.

TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER DEAD He paid a tribute to the Oranmen of the church who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War, and read the following lines from Abraham Lincoln's dedicatory speech at Gettysburg: "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living rather than the dead, and for the unfinished work which they who fought here have so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task which they gave us, the last full measure of devotion, that we here highly resolve that those dead shall not have died in vain."
