In the Toronto Patriot we observe an advertisement offering eight dollars bounty to young men who will join an independent regiment for twelve months, which will be placed on the same footing as regiments of the line, with free rations and a full suit of clothes .--Montreal Herald.

Capt. De Grasse was now in imminent danger from which he would hardly have escaped, but the presence of mind of Charlotte saved them. She sudther the city. After which she sat out on her return which they have, he declare it is quite impossible for him to subdue quite impossible for him to subdue rebellion or repel invasion, even the same truckling course with the other dustate the presence of the yard of their prison, without distant the other dustate with the answer to mind of Charlotte saved them. She suddenly took to the left file, and by paddenly took the chappel. Immediately after the first fire of this party one of the cowardly ruffians ran across the angle of the bush and upon coming in front of her fired in the nob'e girl's face!

Cornelia arrived safely at home that night aout 110'clock without having seen her father She therefore crossed the bush again on Thursday morning, and followed the royal troops to Yonge street, where she was seen perfectly composed and feardless near the thundering of the cannon and the heat of the fire. As she was leaving the city that morning she met by the excellent Chief Justice: who intreated her to let him know all the intelligence she could collect in Young street, being extremely anxious to hear the attack against the rehels. This the courageous and loyal hearted girl undertook to do.

She was returning home to inform her mother of the events of the day and to give assurance of her father's safety, when upon her arrival at the Don Bri ge she discoved that Matthews had set on fire. Instantly she returned to the city and gave them the alarm. Then, unable to pass the Bridge on her poney in consequence of the great damage it had received, she left the animal in the city, and proceeded on foot at II o'clock at night, though the district was filled with dispersed reb-

All who were witnesses of the conduct of these extraordinary girls spoke of it in terms of unqualified admiration. They became the topic of conversation, and were pointed out as bright ex ampies of loyalty and courage. It has not yet tran pired that any testimonial of the services performed by them has been given but "the times are out of joint," men's minds are too briefly engaged in warding off present dangers, and only be in hours of comparative leisure that individual instances of heroic virtue and determination can be dwelt upon at large. But these young ladies and their parents have their own reward. The proud conviction that in the hours of danger they did not confine their patriotism to passive wishes and hopes for the cause of loyalty: but braving danger of its very teeth, performing services at the moment of emergency when alone they could be such casting off the timidity of their age and sex for the glorious purpose of saving their country, and the dutiful one of giving ease to the hearts of those they loved, they have a fund of consolation and happiness within their own pose, but up to the present inclement bosoms of which nothing external can deprive

It is but a small justice, yet to refuse it would be injury both to the subjects of these anecdotes and to the world at large, to give the account to the public. To the good and active it may land, have, we assume, as much right to stimulate to further exertions, and to the supine it may furnish a spark of noble sentiment, and a desire to "go and do likewise."-N. #### THE STAR

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1838.

We understand that at the meeting of the new ly appointed Education Board for this Bay, on Thursday last, the Protestant Members of it, came to a determination to resign. We were at first surprised at the proceeding, but on learning the cause which led to it, we highly approve of their conduct and do not hesitate to assert, that it was what 999 out of every 1000 Protestants would have done. The reason which led to the resignation of those gentlemen was their ascertaining that the "Amended Education Act" introduced into the House of Assembly by Mr. Brown, excluded the BIBLE, from the Schools to be established on the Grant of the Local Legislature. Such are the fruits of the labors of the assembled wisdom of the Legislature of Newfoundland. To exclude by statute the Bible-the Word of God from Schools intended to instruct the rising generation; will it be believed out of Newfoundland, that in the 19th century any body of Legislators, professing themselves to be Christians, in a christian country, and under a christian British Queen, could so far forget themselves, as not only to exclude the Bible from their schools - but even, in graciously permitting the Ministers of Religion to visit them, to forbid them also from giving any Religious Instruction whatever. So, our youths may be taught the Heathen Mythology, but a knowledge of the One True Goo, is forbidden them,—they may be instructed in the history of the Kings of the Earth,but of the King of Kings, they must remain ignorant. "Tell it not in Gath, publish it not in the streets of Ascalon"! It is enough to bring down the Judgments of the Almighty on our Land.

The manner in which "Acts" are, as it were, smuggled through the House of Assembly, must be our excuse for not having called the attention of the Protestants of this Bay to the obnoxious clauses of "Brown's Amended Education Act"amended with a vengeance. Had it been generally known that such a Bill was before the House, Petitions against it would have poured in from all parts of the Bay. But in this country, the first that is heard of a Bill, is, that it has become Law. Hundreds of Pounds of the People's Money are thrown away in Printing useless trash; but useful information for the People is studiously kept back by the People's soi-disant Representatives The Protestants of this Eay have now no alternative but to reject the proffered Boon of the House of Assembly. They cannot accept it, without a sacrifice of principle—without selling their birth right for a mess of pottage—without disobeying one of the express commands of Our Blessed Saviour "To search the Scriptures"without consenting to have their children trained up in a way repugnant to the feelings of every true Protestant.

The Member who introduced the obnoxious biil, pledged himself on the hustings, to bring in a very different one, viz. to divide the money appropriated for Schools, between the Protestant and Catholies, according to their numbers. Why he did not fulfil his pledge, let him answer to the public. Had such a bill passed, the children of Protestants and Catholics would then have been educated in the manner which their parents and ministers would have approved of then have been no need of the sacrifice of principle on either side. It has again, and again been shown, that the system of united schools, will never answer, where on the very threshold there is such a difference as in the Free use or Total exclusion of the BIBLE. We learn also, the same difference of opinion exists in Carbonear in the Members of the Board for the Grammar School .- and we take this prortunity of letting Mr. Nugent, jr. know that we are not ignorant of his having sent a violent threatening letter to R. PACK, Esq. because that gentleman acted up to what he conceived his duty, in manfully declaring that he would never shut out the Bihle from the school.

in the a pointment of the Members to the Board of Education for Conception Bay, we regret that e wer the fence and never stopped til he reacned; to the feelings of the Wesleyan Body, the membrrs of that Church are one third of the populati. on of this Bay, and yet His Excellency has only one Member of that persuasion on the Board-on the former board there were three, but on the Rev. J. HAIGH's leaving, his place has been filled up not by his successor, but by Mr. Dixon, a Catholic layman, and in the room of Mr. ROBERT PROWSE, Mr. ELSON, who we believe is a Socinian, and who at all events is not in the country at present. Of the four Catholic Clergymen two are on the Board of the three Clergymen of the Established Church two - of the six Wesleyan Clergymen one. We think His Excellency must have filled up the late vacancies rather hastily, or at the suggestion, as has been more than hinted at of an interested party, who does not fail to boast of his interest at Government House. We may again advert to this subject, we now anxiously wait to see how His Excellency will get through the difficulty eaused by the resignation of the Protestant gentlemen who attended the last meet-

> We understand, that in the Honorable the Northern Circuit Court on Friday last, great inconvenience was experienced by the Special Jury empanuelled to try rather an important cause between a Merchant of Carbonear and his Clerk, from the circumstance of their being no stove, nor any fireplace in the Jury Room. Books and voluminous accounts, were necessarily laid before the Jury in evidence, and from the extreme coldness of as she now lays in the said Harbor. the weather, the ink almost froze in the pen, whilst they were making their calculations. This great hardship, which we again call the public attention to, has long been patiently borne with, but can now no longer be endured. The want of a Grand Jury Room had very properly been represented to the executive Government, and so far back as the 13th July last, the sum of £50 stg. was specially granted by the Legislature for the purseason of the year, not one shilling has been expended. The Grand Jury of this District, representing, as it does, onethird of the population of the whole Isproper accommodations as the Grand Jury of St. John's or even Middlesex, and shall it be said that their united voice shall be disregarded? we trwo not, for as a body, they do really represent the people. We hope His Excellency the Governor will speedily remedy the evil so loudly and justly complained cf.

[From the Royal Gazette, Nov. 20.]

Harbour Grace. Carlail, 18:80 1 200 .... MARRIAGE OF THE SUN & MOON.

The beautiful allegorical description which follows, was communicated for the Ruleigh Register at the time of the last annular Eclipse, by the late H. S. Ellenwood, of Hillsboro. ] - Bosion Atlas.

Did you know that a wedding has happened on high!

and who were the parties united? 'Twas the Sun and moon! in the halls

They were joined, and our continent witnessed the tic; No continent else was invited!

Their courtship was tedious, for seldom they met Tete-a-tete, while long centuries glid-

LINES ON A SKELETON.

The following lines were found disposited in a case containing a skeleton sent to the Royal Academy, London. It is believed that they were written and deposited there by one of the students.

Behold this ruin! 'twas a skull, Once of ethereal spirit full; This narrow cell was life's retreat: The space what thought's mysterous

What beauteous picturs fill'd this What dreames of pleasure long for-

Beneath this moulding canopy,
Once shoue the bright and bu y eye—
But start not at the dismal void, If social love that eye employ'd,
If with no lawless fire it gleam'd,
But through the dew of kindness beam'd, The eye shall be forever bright. When stars and sun have lost their light. % [

Here, in this silent cavern, hung, The ready, swift, and tuneful tongue:
If falsehood's honey it disdain'd
And where it could not praise was chain'd; If bold in virtue's cause it spoke, Yet gentle concord never broke; Tha tuneful tingue shall speak for thee, When death unveils eternity.

Say-did these fingers delve the mine, Or with its envied rubies shine?

To hew the rock, or wear the gem, Can nothing now avail to them? But if the page of truth they sought, Or comfort to the mourner brought, These hands a richer meed shall claim, Than all that wait on wealth and fame,

A vails it whether bare or shod, These feet the path of Duty trod? It from the bowers of jey they fled, To soothe afflication's humble bed; If grandeur's guilty bribe they spura'd, And home to virtue's lap return'd; These feet with angel's wings shall vie, And tread the palace of the sky.

THE MUSICAL AND UNMUSICAL EAR. A curious case, which recently occured in Germany, has excited a considerable degree of interest among men of science who directed attention to the theory of sounds. It may also tend to afford some explanation of that peculiar structure of exorgin of hearing on which depends the capability of enjoying music. The facts of the case are as follows:

Baron Groll, a wealthy landed proprietor of Nuremberg, was remarkable for his dislike of housic. His antipathy to that delightful art was such as to render him a sort of phenomenon in harmonious Germany. This peculiarity in the taste of the Baronet was the most singular, inasmuch as his lady was a most accomplished musician. The Baroness and her friends sought by every possible argument to evercome the Baron's inconceivable antipathy; but their efforts were useles-he continued deaf alike to their reasoning and to the charmes of har-

The Baron and Baroness Groll lived in splendid affluence, and their house in Nuremberg was the frequent resort circ'e of elegant company. At the numerous parties which they were accustomed to give, the Baron did the honors with delightful amenity. His conversation was inimated and witty, and he was always the gayest of the gay until the first note of music was heard. A feeling of uneasiness then took observation or his countenance, and he was often obliged to withdraw from the presence of the company to conceal feelings which he could not controle.

This strange peculiarity proved a source of considerable annoyance to Baron Grall, and not a little puzzeled the Doctors of Nuremberg. One of the medical professors of that city, Doctor Schlæder, at length succeded in asertaining its cause. In the first place he observed, that one of the Baron's ears was somewhat longer than the other. This circumstance suggested to the Doctor the possibility of both ears not being at the same diapason, and that thus might each be differently affected by the vibration of sonorous bodies .- There might consequently be transmitted to the brain merely a confused, sound by two instruments playing in two different keys. Every melody, every harmony produced on the Baron the same impression. All appeared a jumble of discord. Was it to be wondered that he disliked music?

A very simple experiment served to confirm the accuracy of Dr. Schroæder's observation and opinion.—He requested the Baron to stop one of his ears, then going to the piano, he played in C major the graceful allegro from the overturn to the Freischutz. 'How do you like that?' said he: 'do you find it discordant?'-' Oh no,' replied the Baron, 'it is delightful; pray continue.'., Now stop your other ear," said the Doctor,' again playing the allegro from the Fieischutz, and still in C major-, what do you think of that ?'- 'It is exquisite,' replied the Baron. was it the same piece as that I first played?' 'It appeared to me to be the same piece, only played in a different key-You are plying it higher now.' And the Baron began to hum the subject in D major.
Thus was solved the mystery of Baron

Groll's profound dislike of music. How could he possibly derive pleasure from any performance, vocal or instrumental, which had to him, the effects of being sung or played in two different keys simultaneously. Fortunately, Docter Schræder's exper ment, whilst it developed the cause of the phenomenon, at the same time pointed out the remedy for the evil. Baron Nor love, nor joy, nor hope, nor fear, Groll is now an enthusiastic lover of Has left one trace of record here. music. In order to enjoy it, he has only to use the precaution of putting a little cotton in one of his ears.

> NEW SPELLING .- "You must be fined," said the Alderman, " for selling oysters in a month that has no R in it." " Please your honor," replied the oystermau, "I spells it, O-r, Or, g-u-s-t, August." The man was excus-
