SELL THE LANDS.

Upwards of two years ago an order was passed by the common council instructing the director of public safety to prepare and hand to the council a map or plan of the city showing the exact location of all lands owned by the corporation.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY CLOUDBURST AND STORMS

CONCORD, N. H., June 8.—Serious damage and delay to crops has resulted from the unprecedentedly cold weather of the past month in all sections of northern New England. PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, B. W. I., June 8.—It was officially announced today that two fatal cases of bubonic plague had occurred on the island of Trinidad.

NORFOLK, Va., June 8.—M. Gaudet, an aeronaut, while making a test flight of his new airplane, crashed into a pine tree that struck the machine and sent it skimming far into Hampton Roads, where it collided with the battleship Alabama and in a minute the boat was wrecked and half drowned by the sailors. In starting on a circling trip around the exhibition, the Gaudet machine, for some unexplained reason, veered, going into the pine tree at the side of the inside inn which struck the water, going at a clipping gait. It dipped like a cyclone and each time Gaudet was submerged. Six times he went under the water, spectators expecting every moment that he would lose his hold and go down.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—On the eve of the second Hague conference, which assembles next Saturday, the part played by America in bringing about this great international gathering and the nature of the instructions under which our delegates are to participate in the congress becomes a matter of interest.

On the two propositions relating to the limitation of armaments, and the famous Drago doctrine, instructions to American delegates are to the effect that from the beginning America had held that the limitation of armaments, being a legacy from the first conference cannot be ignored and should be discussed at this conference.

WHY WOMEN SHOULD NOT VOTE.

(By Dennis Hird, Principal of Freshin College, Oxford.)

I take it for granted, that if women are once admitted to the same privilege of voting as men, they will, in the end, become members of parliament. This result should be borne in mind when considering this serious question. Clearly a woman should not have the vote because—

- 1. A woman is usually more straight-forward in money matters than a man. Now, the first qualifications for political business is diplomacy, so as to get the best of our opponents at any cost, otherwise there would be grave danger to our national greatness.
2. A woman is tempted to idealize. She has been known even to idealize a man, and swoon away into hero-worship. Now, the essence of parliamentary life is her dream. The greatness of the British Empire rests on the gospel of the commonplace. Successful politicians are men of small, grubbing instincts, the extent of whose outlook is measured by half the length of their noses. This is the state's one foundation. If women introduce any ideas into public life, the sure foundation of our national greatness might crumble into parrot dust.
3. Woman has more moral enthusiasm than man. Nothing could be more deadly than to introduce morality or enthusiasm into public life, for it might destroy party government. Successful men require a toy. There is no toy so charming, so expensive, as a well-dressed, unthinking woman. But if women were allowed the rights and duties of a free citizen, she might become the friend and comrade of man, and his toy would be lost.
4. Woman is a sympathetic animal. She might refuse to murder people in war, or to starve children in slums. The results of such sympathy are terrible to contemplate. Nations might be robbed of the glories of war, and butchers would either be out of work, or lose their pensions. Then what could we do with a nation of healthy children. We should have an alarming increase of health, intelligence, and happiness. The rich would miss their slaves, and there would be hardly any incentive to make fortunes—even the peers might die out.
5. Woman is a home-loving creature. If she had political power she might turn her attention to domestic reforms, and seek the well-being of the home. Such homely details as these can never rank beside military glory and party greatness. The earth would reel in its orbit, if politicians were uniformly to seek the good of the people; it can imagine nothing more frightful in public life unless it were that members of Parliament were compelled to keep the promises made in their election speeches.
7. Woman is lacking in the criminal instincts. No education, no provocation, no misery has been able to produce a race of criminal women on a truly national scale of grandeur. If the motherly instincts of sacrifice for the good or the weak were once introduced into the official life of the nation, proud nations could no longer be built on misery and want. History would become as a peal of peals upon a wheezy gramophone.

8. Woman is a good speaker, and has the gift of oratory. Now the world would be a serious blow to the Church, for it would show the bishops had been mistaken.
9. It is one of the glories of the British Empire that a woman will do a man's work for half his pay. Now, in the case of payments to members, women members would work for less than the men, so that there would be a danger of more women being elected, to save the public purse, until, at last, men might be completely ousted from Parliament, and there would be no one left to obstruct public business. Besides, if woman took office, she would bring down the salaries of ministers, and the surplus might be used to pay off the national debt. This would be a grave disaster. No national debt means no British Empire.
I earnestly implore all sincere believers in the sacredness of almighty officialdom to ponder these reasons. We have now a solid foundation of public morality that might be right, if, for any moral or humanitarian reasons, we call in question this right of the blessed few, no man can predict to what extent the forces of common sense and loving kindness may be let loose. The human race has become "great by free and abundant temptation," man is "ennobled by suffering." Misery and murder are the laws, not only of mankind, but of the brutes. Any attempt to introduce an entirely new order of life should be resisted by all who have vested interests in weakness, squalor, and injustice. Perish the tolling masses, but preserve our national greatness, which, in all times, has been measured by the income tax and the pensions of the disarming few. Blessed are the now few, so long as they are not women. Such is the awful warning from the crumbling statues of once mighty nations.

THE RIGHT ONE. "Sir, I want your daughter's hand." "You may have it with the greatest pleasure, dear boy, if you'll take the one that's always in my pocket."

Answers Given to Questions Asked by a British Physician

LONDON, June 11.—Sir James Crichton-Browne in the course of a lecture at the Royal Institution, stated that some time ago, he issued a number of circulars, one of the questions asked in the circular being whether the recipients were right handed, left handed or ambidextrous. Some thought it was a practical joke while others believed it to be only a subtle way of detecting insanity. But 957 replies were filed, and the number of right handed, left handed and ambidextrous were as follows: Right handed, 848; left handed, 111; ambidextrous, 98.

THE COOP'S BILL OF FARE.

An interesting exhibit in the South Kensington museum, London, illustrates the omnivorous man, the cod's diet. Among the fish falling prey to the voracious man we note the young of the herring, dab, whiting and sand eel. Shrimps and young lobsters also form an important item in the cod's menu. The strangest part of the cod's diet, perhaps, is the sea mouse, whose thick covering of bristles might be thought to render it unpalatable to the fish. Large whelks and shells of whelks with their indwelling hermit crabs are also largely devoured. From its partiality to mollusks, in fact, the cod may become an assistant to the shell collector. Woodward in his "Mollusca of the Mollusca" remarks that "some good northern sea shells have been rescued unbroken from the stomach of the cod."—London Globe.

HOW THEY DANCE IN HUNGARY.

With the exception of the Spaniards there is no nation in Europe that dances like the Hungarians. They love it with a love that amounts to a passion. They do not only go in for it heart and soul, but they will dance on anything, in any sort of weather. A paddock, a village street, a stable yard, the earthen floor of a wayside inn—it is all the same to them. Not the scorching sun or the whirling dust or the pelting rain or the falling snow will deter them. They all dance beautifully too. It seems to be in their blood.

CUSTOMS OF BRITANNY.

Britanny, alone of all the provinces of France, seems to have preserved its types and individuality. To be Breton is by no means to be French. The old man of this day chatters in the Celtic tongue. The Breton mother when not at work in the fields sits in the door of her cottage playing the distaff and reciting the old legends and quaint folk songs to the white-cuffed baby beside her. The Breton woman still wears the costume of her mothers before her, and is satisfied in it.

FRUIT GROWERS TO FIGHT PEST

Annapolis Convention Discussed Means to Repress Brown Tail Moth

ANNAPOLIS, N. S., June 7.—A convention called by the executive of the Fruit Growers' Association of this province was held in the Academy of Music this afternoon and evening to discuss the best means to be used for the repression of the pest, "the brown tail moth." There was a large attendance of representatives from the farming associations of the western counties, as well as from the Cornwallis valley. Amongst those present were the Hon. Mr. Fleisher, entomologist, Professor Cummings, Sears and Smith of the Agricultural College staff; Inspector Vroom of Middleton and Mr. Peters, deputy commissioner of agriculture for New Brunswick. A. H. Kirkland, chairman of the commission for the extermination of this moth in Massachusetts, was expected to be present, but, owing to illness in his family, was prevented. Several speakers claimed that the seriousness of this pest could not be over-estimated, when we take into consideration that the wealth of those engaged in the culture of fruit lies in their fertile orchards and wooded hills, which this blighting insect would, if unchecked, totally destroy. The female moths are strong flyers and are attracted by light and spread rapidly. The moth was first seen in the county of Digby, and as that place is the centre of the tourist, the presumption is that it has spread from there. It has also spread throughout Digby county, the pests having been found thicker and thicker in quantity, although they have spread into Annapolis county, and some few have been found in Kings county.

The county given by the government has been the means of the destruction of many nests. Dr. Fletcher strongly advocated the spraying of trees for the destruction of the pest, and also for the benefit which the orchardists would derive in the quantity and quality of the fruit by so doing. Mr. Peters, of New Brunswick, thought that if the Government, in the given larger bounty, it would have been money well spent at its first inception. The Government was ably defended by Professor Cummings, who took the responsibility for what had been done for educational purposes and had accomplished much. It is necessary that the Government should be found willing to do still more for the repression of the moth.

THAW HAS NOT YET ENGAGED A LAWYER

His Companion in Prison Is an Italian

NEW YORK, June 9.—Notwithstanding the reports that Harry Thaw, now in the Tombs prison awaiting his second trial for the killing of Stanford White, has engaged a new director general for his legal forces, it was learned authoritatively today that he has reached no final decision with his lawyers as to who will direct his defense when he is again called to the dock. Within the solitude of his cell, Thaw works unceasingly at the evidence adduced at his previous trial preparing a defense, which he will submit to the court for its consideration. The routine of his prison life does not seem to dampen his spirits, his jailers said today. His only companion within the prison is Raffaele Cascano, an Italian, awaiting his second trial for slaying two of his fellow countrymen. Thaw associates with none of the other prisoners except Cascano and every day during the exceedingly long hours this strangely contrasted pair walk the corridors together engaged in quiet conversation. The Italian has told Thaw of his thirty-two months' confinement in the "death house" in Sing Sing until the court of appeals granted him a new trial.

THREE PRIESTS WERE ORDAINED AT CHATHAM

Basement of New Cathedral, Which Will Cost $200,000, Used for First Time.

CHATHAM, N. B., June 8.—The basement of the new Roman Catholic Cathedral has just been finished and services were held there for the first time. The Mass was celebrated at seven o'clock by Mr. Varrilly, of Bathurst Village and St. Eustace, by Dr. Fleisher, of Ottawa, and by the priest, who took the responsibility for what had been done for educational purposes and had accomplished much. It is necessary that the Government should be found willing to do still more for the repression of the moth.

SKINNER-FORGET WEDDING.

MONTREAL, June 9.—There is a good deal of interest in the coming Skinner-Forget wedding, which is set for Thursday next. Mr. Skinner is a son of Recorder Skinner, of St. John, N. B., and a law partner of Bole Smith, K. C., and a Protestant, while the prospective bride is the daughter of Hon. L. J. Forget, a Roman Catholic, and both young people are very popular in society. It was supposed that the ceremony would take place in Senator Forget's private chapel at Senneville, where the millionaire's summer residence is located. They, however, had counted without Archbishop Bruchet, who has now forbidden the ceremony from taking place before any Catholic altar and it looks as if the ceremony would take place in the residence of the parish priest of St. Anne.

GRACING FLOWERS IN WINTER.

A long run of dark days in winter is bad for the flowers. It is a rare little how cold the weather is, provided there is sunshine, for the heat can always be maintained to the proper point, and with sunshine flowers will bloom just as freely when the thermometer shows an outdoor temperature of 40 degrees as at the freezing point, though of course more money must be spent for coal. But when, day after day, for weeks at a time, clouds overhang the sky, nothing will grow as it should. The ornamental buds develop slowly until they are half open and wait for sunshine, and if it does not come in four or five days the blooms decay. So also is it with callas and roses. They will open halfway, then without sunlight, will quickly wither.

THE BRIDGE AT QUEBEC NOW UNDER CONSTRUCTION

A Great Engineering Venture Which in Some Respects is the Most Remarkable in the World

Very few Canadians are aware of the tremendous character of the operations which are now being carried out in the construction of the gigantic cantilever bridge over the St. Lawrence river, some six and a half miles west of Quebec City. This bridge—in some respects the most remarkable in the world—will have a total length of 2,300 feet. In addition to the sub-structure of a couple of main piers, the bridge will consist of two 500-foot side spans, extending 150 feet from the main piers to the towers; two 62 1/2 foot cantilever arms, reaching out over the river, and carrying between them a central suspended span measuring 675 feet between centres of end piers. This span is one of the most striking features of the bridge, and illustrates well its huge proportions, for it is longer than any simple pin-connected truss span that has yet been erected. Ordinarily, such a span would be supported on masonry towers, and it would form, say, the main cantilever span of some river crossing; but in this case its abutments are the end piers of two giant arms, each reaching out over half a thousand feet from its point of support.

LEPERS SAIL FOR DISTANT CHINESE HOME

A Tramp Steamer Cleared from Victoria, B. C., with a Remarkable Cargo

A tramp steamer cleared from Victoria, B. C., recently for Canton, China, with the oddest freight ever carried out of those waters, notorious in days gone by for the mysterious disappearance of strange craft, from opium smugglers to blockade runners and treasure hunters. The steamer flew the Norwegian flag, and headed out under an aving were eight Chinese human wrecks, incurable lepers. For many years the island of Cebu has been maintained exclusively for the unclean, and Canada has had the utmost difficulty in removing the plague. China would not agree to their return until the Dominion purchased homes for six in the advanced stages of the disease and promised to maintain them all. As this can be done on the Asiatic side at a fraction of the cost done here, the government readily assented. But to obtain the consent of the lepers themselves was no easy task, and after that time and again insuperable difficulties were raised by shippers. Finally the skipper of a tramp accepted the S. Steel refused to be subsidized to take his place. Then the skipper raised his price, and Senator Riley had to write a personal cheque to meet the demand. At length, with the aid of the lepers distorted by the maldy lepers aboard their wretched frames aboard the ship. One almost collapsed and died many months ago, and another died a few days ago. It is not improbable that merciful death may overtake two of them on the voyage. The island will be talked for the temporary detention of such cases as may from time to time occur. In all ten bodies, nine Chinese and one Russian Finn, sleep under the waving flag of Darcley Island.

ITS HISTORIC SITUATION.

The bold promontory which called forth the astonished shout of "Quebec" from the early French navigators and gave name to the picturesque and one Russian Finn, sleep under the waving flag of Darcley Island. The cantilever arms and the central span together form a channel span of 1,800 feet in length, and thus furnish the greatest span for maximum span of all existing bridges in general, and for the cantilever type in particular. The main spans of the Forth Bridge, the longest in the world, are 1,700 feet long, or 30 feet shorter than the span of the Quebec bridge. As, however, the Forth Bridge has two spans of the great dimension stated, it is well to remember that the length of the cantilever arms of the Quebec bridge is 62 1/2 feet longer than that of the Canadian rival.

ITS IMMENSE HEIGHT.

The total height from low water level to the highest point of the cantilevers is 414 feet. The bridge will be formed entirely of rolled steel girders, not a single casting being used anywhere, and it will rank as a far and away the most massive trussed structure yet erected for any purpose. The importance of the bridge will be gathered from the fact that the St. Lawrence is at present unspanned north of Montreal, and below the city of Quebec the bridging of the river is impossible, as soon after leaving Quebec the St. Lawrence opens out into a wide channel, which at the mouth of the Saguenay river is 25 miles wide, and at its entrance into the Gulf of St. Lawrence it increases to 100 miles in width. As the St. Lawrence is navigable for ships of the line as far as Quebec, the "Gibraltar of the West" ranks as one of the three great distributing centres to Britain and the United States of the produce of the Dominion. The completion of the Quebec bridge is destined to immensely improve communication between Canada and the United States, as it will accommodate two steam railway tracks, two electric tramway routes, two highways, and two side walks, and link up various routes on both sides of the water. The undertaking, which will involve an outlay approximating upon $200,000, will not be completed for some two or three years.

LEPERS SAIL FOR DISTANT CHINESE HOME

THE CAUSE OF SNORING.

This is not for you, because you never snore. No one ever does snore himself. It is always the other fellow. But you can read this and then tell that guilty other fellow how to break himself of his bad habit, for snoring is merely a bad habit and as such can be overcome. It is caused by breathing through the mouth instead of through the nostrils—so, first of all, care should be taken during waking hours to breathe correctly. The habit once formed of keeping the mouth as firmly pillow. He should sleep with his head as flat as possible, for if his head is pushed forward and the neck bent the tongue rises back against the soft palate and forms an obstruction which makes all the unusual sounds we hear when the air is forced past it.—James Gazette.

CATCHY MUSIC.

A new sheet of music will now be on sale at the music stands, known as "The Currie Business University Two-Step." This is a very catchy piece with a decided military swing and will no doubt become very popular. The piece was composed by Byron C. Tapley, the well known music teacher, and has been taught to the students of the Currie Business University. It has a very pretty cover done in three colors, showing a colored plate of "Portia" also photo engravings of the management, and the football team of 1907. It requires to be the popular air for the coming season. The work was executed in this city and reflects great credit on the printer Mr. E. J. Armstrong, and on the engravers The Wesley Co. FOR A MILLION OF MONEY

By Arthur W. Marchmont.

(Continued.) "Mollie, is it? And a pretty name for a pretty girl. Well, Mollie, mind this, you've got a friend in George Purvis, and one that can be a good friend too, old crook as he is—or as some people think him, anyhow."

"Thank you, sir," said Olive, turning to go out. "No, no; don't be off yet. How's my wife?" "Your wife, sir?" "Yes, my wife. Your mistress, Mrs. Rachel Merrivale. He laughed as he said this, and shook his head knowingly. "She's my wife right enough, for all that young brute of a son of hers said, with his blathering mouth, that she was his mistress. Let him bring 'em here, if he dare, the young fool. Bluffing me! Let him bring 'em, that's all. I'll show him, threatening me!"

"I believe she's ill in bed, sir; but I haven't seen her this day." "In bed! Ill! That's pleasure, that is; that's all. Just delight at seeing her dear old husband come home again; and a fine home, too," he added with an oath. "Hand over that whiskey, my dear."

"It's very strong, sir." "I know all about it. They thought I'd had a skunk last night, but George Purvis knows what's what, you bet, and he winked again knowingly, as he mixed himself a whiskey and soda. "Can I go now, sir, my work is—"

"Let the work go and hang itself. I don't come home every day, and if I can't take a pretty girl skip her work for an hour, I might as well have stayed away. How old are you, Mollie?" Olive hesitated a second, and then, with a happy thought, mentioned the same name as Selma Hammond's. The shot told at once.

"Why, then, you were born in the same year as my little girl," he exclaimed; and being now a little maudlin with the drink, despite his boast, he shook his head mournfully and sighed. "How that child that kiddle, and he sighed again."

"Has your honor a daughter, then?" "I had, Mollie, but they tell me she's—she's dead." He shook his head again and sighed deeply. "Died, years ago, out there across the Atlantic, in Chicago. Did you ever hear of that place, Mollie?" "Sure, an' I did that, sir. One of my dearest friends came from Chicago. We were just like sisters. Selma and—"

MILLIONS STARVING IN RUSSIAN PROVINCE

Three Hundred Thousand Children Living on Diet of Black Bread.

LONDON, June 8.—Dr. Kennard, the secretary of the Russian famine relief committee, writes as follows from Samara in reference to the famine there:— "The winter snows have vanished, but green grass shows in places for seven long winter months have passed on a monotonous diet of bread, millions exhausted by seven months of hunger, waiting for aid on what their government seems incapable of giving them, and forest to be content to exist on the charity of the Russian Zemstvos and other organizations. Twenty million people in six southeastern provinces are relying on this support, and it is estimated that in the Samara Government only ten per cent. are able to be aided effectively.

"The peasantry are not only without sufficient sustenance, but they are without belongings. Their cattle and horses have long since been sold to bring in bread—horses for which have been sold for 16s. for a hungry stomach makes a bad bargain. In some cases the huts (cottages) are the villages are roofless, denuded of straw, to feed the cattle, and combinations are the recognized custom—that is, four to five families club together, whose the best huts to live in and break up the remainder for fuel.

GREAT MUSICIAN'S ECCENTRICITIES

Dolls were the idol after his beloved instruments, of Domenico Dragonetti, the king of the double bass. He had a huge collection of these puppets dressed in various national costumes, and wherever Dragonetti went the dolls were sure to go. That was only one of his eccentric general peculiarities. He would never play unless his dog was in the orchestra and nobody would have got a note out of him unless he had been permitted to sit in the orchestra next to the stage door. This was a precaution to enable him to save his wonderful instrument in case of fire. The instrument itself he brought from the monastery of St. Pietro when on a visit to Vincenza, and when he died he bequeathed it to St. Mark's, Venice, to be used at solemn services in the cathedral.

ANCIENT CHURCH UNEARTHED IN ROME

Forgotten for Centuries It Was Private Chapel of First Christian Emperors.

ROME, June 8.—There is great rejoicing in Roman archeological circles over the splendid discovery which has been taken place on the Palatine Hill. Although the excavations on the site of the Villa Maletta, lately demolished, have only just begun, the Church of St. Cecilia has been found. It was the private chapel of the first Christian emperors, and was completely forgotten in the gaps of history.

CATASTROPHE AT SEA WAS NARROWLY AVERTED

Huge Seas Caused Government Steamer Montcalm and Allan Liner Virginian to Crash Together While Attempting to Transfer Mails—One Man Injured—Passengers Had Lots of Excitement.

HALIFAX, June 8.—Under conditions far from being favorable the first mail sent via North Sydney was made today and proved beyond all doubt the greatest advantage that port has as a port of call.

The transfer of mails and passengers was attended by many stirring incidents and at one time it looked as if it would result in a marine tragedy. Fortunately, however, owing to the good judgment and cool-headedness of Captain Belanger of the government steamer Montcalm everything worked out well and no serious results occurred.

Just as soon as the Virginian dropped anchor Captain Belanger worked the Montcalm alongside the big liner, with her thousand souls on board. Captain Belanger anticipated the heavy sea caused his vessel to swing against the Virginian's side. With a rise and fall of the sea great damage was done to the government steamer. First the forward part of her bridge was torn and twisted, pulling the long iron bolts through the hardwood as if they were paper. Then followed the tearing of the iron work around the middle bridge, twisting the davits like cornstalks and sending pieces of hardwood flying around the heads of those standing on deck.

Alliance to Overthrow the Present Japanese Ministry A Political Party in That Country Conspire With Japanese of Pacific Coast—Plans Discussed

WASHINGTON, June 8.—That the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the Progressive, a political party of Japan, have entered into an alliance which has the earmarks of an international conspiracy, with the overthrow of the present ministry in Japan, and the annulment of the clause in the immigration bill excluding Japanese coolies from the continent of the United States, was learned authoritatively here today.

With this in view, representative of the faction hostile to the Saito ministry have been in Washington to consult with the Japanese ambassador and the state department officials regarding the objectionable clause in the immigration bill, the California school question and the recent attack on Japanese in San Francisco. The report which they have sent to Tokyo, it is alleged, will form the basis of a systematic campaign to bring about anti-American demonstrations in Japan and to force Foreign Minister Hayashi, if possible, to demand indemnity and an apology on account of the Japanese disturbances in San Francisco.

These facts became known today for the first time, when it was learned that T. Takahashi, representative of the Seattle Japanese Society; O. Noda, representative of the San Francisco Japanese Society; and K. Kawakami, staff representative of the Yoro, daily newspaper of Tokyo, came to Washington April 7 and remained until May 17, during which time they were negotiating with the Japanese ambassador, looking to the annulment of the Japanese immigration limitation law. This delegation failed in its purpose and it is stated after charging Ambassador Aoki with treachery that the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the anti-administration leader in Tokyo.

CHEAP ALCOHOL FOR MOTOR CARS

Important Discovery Announced in London—May be Distilled from Peat

LONDON, June 7.—R. W. Wallace, K. C., chairman of the Automobile Club, announces a remarkable scientific discovery, which promises to solve the problem of satisfactory substituting alcohol for petrol as the fuel for automobiles. The cost of alcohol, which here is 10 pence a gallon, has hitherto prohibited its general use in motor cars, but Mr. Wallace says a chemical investigation, which was carried on for years, has now resulted in finding means by which alcohol distilled from peat may be manufactured and sold for years, has now resulted in finding means by which alcohol distilled from peat may be manufactured and sold for three pence per gallon. Moreover, it will be safer to handle than petrol, and it will not overheat the engine as petrol has a tendency to do.

It was while coming out from the fishing grounds on Saturday that Walter Allison first learned that he had won the $500 in the City Cornet Band's lucky ticket holder contest. Mr. Allison says he will not likely take the trip around the world.

Mayor Sears will present the medals and prizes won at the sports on May 24th, at the Every Day Club hall this evening. The chair will be taken, at 8.30. There will be an excellent musical programme, and Miss De Ceu has consented to give one or two readings. Ladies as well as gentlemen will be welcome at this meeting.

The matter of appointing a successor to Director Cushing will not be discussed until the next meeting of the Common Council. Engineer Peters will have time to discharge the duties of director until then, when it is thought that Engineer Hunter will be appointed.

The inquest into the death of Michael Gillen who was killed on Saturday at the new Royal Bank building will be commenced in a few days. Coroner Berryman will empanel a jury today and the body will be viewed tonight. No further developments took place today regarding the suit for damages to be brought by Mr. Allison against the Canadian White Co. A settlement may be made.

Visitors to Westfield were disappointed when the Springfield failed to take them on board at the wharf last evening.

A large party of citizens who spent Sunday at Westfield were sadly disappointed last evening when the steamer Springfield appeared opposite the wharf gave a few toots on her whistle and proceeded on to Ladlow's wharf, leaving the people on the wharf. It is the custom to signal the steamer by waving a white flag and when the Springfield gave in sight this ceremony was conscientiously gone through. The man at the wheel headed the boat for the wharf and the would-be passengers felt sure that the steamer was coming in. When about thirty feet from the landing, however, the captain appeared on the deck, shouted some words to those on the wharf and headed his boat for the opposite shore where he picked up several passengers. The boat then steamed on to Indiantown. The people at Westfield were left in the rain and biting winds and did not reach the city until this morning. It is thought that the captain did not consider it safe to bring the steamer into the wharf, as the structure was partly carried away during the freshet.

THREE MEN CHARGED WITH POACHING ON SUNDAY

Names Taken Early Sunday Morning by Policeman Crawford—The Men Were Surprised

Early Sunday morning owing to instructions received, Policeman Crawford paid a visit to Rockwood Park and shortly after three o'clock he saw three men near the Ice Company's run at the western end of Lily Lake. He learned by the swish of the lines that they were all trying to land some of the big trout which are said to be in the lake. The appearance of the policeman was a surprise to the fishermen and it is needless to say that their lines were coiled up and they returned to the city without any fish, and feeling rather disappointed.

The names of the trio are Hugh Logan, 168 Main street, Sylvanus Seely, 71-2 Waterloo street and Wm. McIntyre, of the corner of Durham and Newman streets. They are reported in the police book for poaching in Rockwood Park, since desecrating the Lord's Day.

NO DRUNKEN PERSONS ALLOWED ON THE FERRY

Ald. Baxter Asks a Rigid Enforcement by the Police, of the Existing Law

Alderman J. B. M. Baxter, chairman of the ferry board, was in the police court this morning with H. Adam Glasgow, superintendent of the ferry. The alderman addressed the court. He said that it was a matter of public importance that citizens and others be given decent protection. The collector in the east side toll house had on Saturday night informed Superintendent Glasgow that a policeman in uniform assisted a helpless drunken man through the turnstiles because he was in company with a man who was not drunk. As a general rule when a drunken man is taken through the turnstiles he is left alone on the ferry boat to be cared for by the ferry officials, and if about two-thirds drunk he causes trouble and annoys the other passengers. It ought to be clearly understood, said the alderman, that the police do other than assist drunks through the ferry toll house. The by-law says that no intoxicated person shall pass through the turnstiles, and when an officer assists an intoxicated man through the toll-house he is breaking one of the by-laws. He said he requested Superintendent Glasgow to instruct the toll collectors to report every such case in the future, and the very first case the officers will inform the officer's name and report him to the chief of police and ask for his dismissal, no matter who the officer is. The magistrate said that it must be clearly understood by the west end dry people that if they come over to this side on Saturday night they are most likely to be held here and on Monday morning be asked to pay eight dollars.

ELOPING COUPLE SOON HAD A DISAGREEMENT

A Jew Who Came Here With Another Man's Wife, Assaulted Her Because He Thought She Took His Money.

A comfortably dressed Jew who gives his name as Benjamin Horritch, was taken before the police magistrate this morning on a charge of assaulting Mrs. Ida Zirwitch. It appears that Benjamin, who is a married man, had eloped from New York with Mrs. Zirwitch leaving their own people in New York.

Max Shacter, who resides on Chapel street, gave evidence that the couple arrived in the city on Friday night as man and wife and were accompanied by two children which he afterwards learned were the offspring of Mrs. Zirwitch and that Horritch was not their father. The man asked for lodgings until Monday and the couple were given a room. About 5.30 o'clock this morning Max heard a noise and on investigation found Horritch beating the woman. Sergt. Kilpatrick was called and Horritch given in charge.

The woman claims that Horritch induced her to leave New York and come to St. John with him and he would keep her and her two children, while on the other hand Horritch said that the woman induced him to leave New York with her.

In court Horritch admitted that while both were married, she was not his wife. He said he did not want to abuse her but wished to live with her and support her and her two children. He said he had some money but early this morning he awoke and found that the woman had taken it. He thought she was taking it so as to leave him and return to her New York home. He did not intend to assault her, but only tried by force to take his money from her. The magistrate told him that St. John did not want any such people in the city, and the best thing he could do was to take her and the children and get back to New York on the first train. He was liable to $20 fine for assaulting the woman, and to a heavy sentence for living with a woman who was not his wife. The fine was allowed to stand against him on his paying for a ticket from St. John to New York for the woman, and to give the woman her baggage which he was trying to keep and had stored in H. Goldberg's. Horritch before leaving court paid over to Shacter enough money to take the woman back to New York, and all left court.

The woman is very sorry she left her home with Horritch and is happy to have the opportunity to return.

BIRTHS.

ARCHIBALD—On June 9th to Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Archibald, a son.

STARTED WORK ON THE PARADISE ROW LINE

It Will be Six Weeks Before the Double Tracking is Finished.

Work was commenced this morning at laying the double track on Paradise Row. A crew of about twenty men were put to work and this number will be increased as the work goes on. Operations were commenced opposite the Mission church.

A meeting of the board of works is to be held this afternoon and Engineer Peters will report that the work has commenced and will state that the operations will be carried on without delay so that the job will be finished in six weeks. It is expected that some trouble will be experienced in digging for the tracks on City Road as a large quantity of stone is in the roadbed there. In a month or six weeks, work will be commenced in laying a single track along the north side of King Square.

Vudor Porch Shades

MAKE A BIG COOL ROOM OF YOUR VERANDAH

JUST THINK, YOU CAN MAKE AN EXTRA ROOM OF YOUR PORCH—the coolest, most serviceable room in your home, too—at a trivial cost.

Vudor Porch Shades make this possible; they keep out the hot sun, but admit the cool, refreshing breeze. They give absolute privacy, for no one can look through them from the outside; yet they are so constructed that from the inside, you can see all that goes on without!

They can be instantly raised or lowered, with very little effort. A practically indestructible device (operating on the principle of a theatre curtain) accomplishes this. They are light, but exceedingly durable, being constructed of thin strips of Linden wood fibre woven with the strongest seine twine.

Vudor Shades are artistic in the extreme; stained in soft colors that rest the eye and harmonize with any style of architecture. The colors are absolutely indelible and will neither fade or crack off.

Over 100,000 homes in the United States alone are now equipped with Vudor Porch Shades, among them both the city and country residences of some of our nation's wealthiest families. Yet Vudor Shades, while they add to the appearance of even the most palatial mansion, are not a luxury for the rich alone. Their moderate price puts them within the reach of everyone who can afford to have a porch at all. The cost is insignificant in comparison with their utility and the added comfort and pleasure they afford.
