

CITY ATTENDING TO BUSINESS
OUT FOR NEW INDUSTRIESAld. Ferguson Enthusiastic Over Structural Steel Firm.LINES ARE OUT
AT DETROIT, TOOFor Another Steel Plant—Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee Hustling.Ald. Ferguson, chairman of the manufacturers' committee, yesterday was interviewed by the representative of a large American steel structural concern, which is looking for a site in Ontario.

The visitor was shown over several sites in the city, and was also shown the plant of the Wilcox Manufacturing Company.

"This is the best prospect of any I have yet had anything to do with," said Ald. Ferguson to The Advertiser. "The company is rated high. I looked that up myself. It has sufficient funds for what it wants and asks little of the city. I showed the representative over the city, and pointed out several sites to him. He did not like the Wilcox manufacturing plant as a large building of only one-story in height is what he wants. The gentleman was most favorably impressed with the city, and has a splendid grasp of the opportunities London offers for such a manufactory. I located several sites along the railroad any one of which would suit him, he said. All that he asked of me was to put him into touch with a man who was interested in steel structural work, and who would take an interest in the firm. I got him his man, and they are in touch with each other."

Keeping It Dark.

"This really looks good. I am not at liberty to allow any person or municipality to know who the man is or where the firm is located, as it will start municipalities bidding for the firm, and that is not what he wants,
nor is it what we want. I will call a meeting of the committee as soon as arrangements have progressed to such a stage as it is possible. The representative is a thoroughly practic man, and knows his business. I have great hopes of this concern."

Another Company.

"What about the Detroit Steel Company?" was asked.

"I am in communication with them,
and anticipate an answer in a day or two," said Ald. Ferguson. "We are keeping in touch with them, and if the company does not come here, it will not be because we have not done our best."

Leamington Gas.

"I have not heard anything about the Leamington gas matter yet. The Detroit capitalists interested are negotiating with a Chicago concern for the purchase of the whole field, and as soon
as something definite can be learned from them, I will act as I think advisable in the matter. There is a million feet of gas in sight at Leamington,
with 600 pounds pressure."

Daring Bank Robbers at Thornhill
Slug Manager and Get AwayBald Attempt To Rob a Branch

Toronto, April 8.—Bank robbers who used revolvers and stunned the manager, Roy Henry, with a slug shot, made a daring attempt to get away with $7,500 from the Sterling bank at Thornhill, twelve miles north of Toronto, last night.

Toronto Harried By Great Gale
Much Damage Done On Lake Shore

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 8.—High water in the lake and the big storm of last night has caused great damage on the lake shore. At the western sandbar
the telephone poles were washed out.
In the eastern and western limits of the city the destruction to the roadway is unprecedented since 1854. The estimated loss will exceed $20,000.

JUSTICE WARNS.

Windsor, April 8.—Justice Riddell, of the Ontario high court, has issued a warning to all parties interested in the Canadian Klondike Mining Company, that unless a settlement of the dispute between the shareholders is received before Saturday, he will appoint a receiver for the company.

HARRY BROWN,
Hamilton, Grand Secretary for Ontario, Royal Arcanum.NO TORONTO SEAT
FOR MR. BECKSo Says the President of the Central Conservative Association.

There is a difference of opinion in Toronto regarding the providing of Hon. Adam Beck with a seat, in case he should have troubles of his own in London.

Mr. E. W. J. Owens, president of the Central Conservative Association, says,
"no outsiders will be allowed to break into any Toronto seat."

This looks bad for Mr. Beck, who, if Mr. Wm. Gray is to be believed, will have opposition from that gentleman
as well as a Liberal candidate.

"I am going to run and nothing will stop me," Mr. Gray said to The Advertiser.

"Many people think you will pull up stakes when the time comes," the reporter said.

"Let the people wait till the election
and they will see that I am a man of my word," was Mr. Gray's reply.
"I am not talking to hear myself talk.
I am going to oppose Mr. Beck."

Wants Mr. Beck.

The Toronto Telegram takes Mr.
Owens to task for his statement, and asks "upon what meat he hath fed that he has grown so great."

The Telegram says that if Mr.
Beck's seat is endangered in London,
"Toronto's most vital interests" would force him into the candidature for one of the Toronto seats.

NO DELAY FOR LACK OF STONESt. Marys Quarries, It is Said, Have Plenty of Material.

"If the Barber Company wants broken stone from the St. Marys quarry," said Ald. Ferguson, who was acting mayor today, "it can make arrangements with Mr. R. K. Cowan, of this city, and it will be allowed to buy whatever stone it wants. I am sure that satisfactory arrangements
can be made, and there need be no delay because of the lack of stone."

JOHN WARD'S HORSE BROKE ITS LEGDamage Suit Against Township of Biddulph Will Likely Result.

The taxpayers of Biddulph Township are angry.

Last winter the township spent upwards of $500 in an effort to keep the roads free from snow and in making the highways passable.

In addition to this amount the township supplied statute labor on the work to the amount of perhaps $200 or $300.

Now it is said that the township is in for a damage suit as a result of the breaking of a horse's leg on one of the highways.

The horse was the property of Mr.
John Ward, of London, and $60 damages will, it is said, be asked.

LONDON DEPUTATION
—IS IN OTTAWACity Is Watching Its Interests Re the Grand Valley Railway.

Mayor Stevely, City Solicitor Meredith, and Assistant City Engineer Kirkpatrick left for Ottawa last night to represent the city when the Grand Valley Railroad bill is discussed.

The proposed route of the railroad
will cross the London and Port Stanley, and the city must protect itself
as to the cost of maintaining the crossing, and such matters.

The deputation is not expected back until tomorrow.

HOO-HOOS MAY COME TO LONDONJolly Lumbermen May Hold Convention
in This City.

A concatenation of the "Hoo-Hoos"
may be held in this city in August next,
so Ald. Ferguson stated this afternoon.

There will be one in Ottawa shortly,
to be followed by another in Mon-real.

London's will probably come shortly before the annual meeting to be held in Chicago in September.

"These conventions are a good thing for the city, and there should be more of them," said Ald. Ferguson. "The Hoo-Hoos always have a good time here, and I think the same is true of other societies."

The "Hoo-Hoos" is an organization of lumbermen.

SUIT DISMISSED.

Chatham, Ont., April 8.—At the spring assizes Justice Riddell dismissed a suit by Joseph Sherrah, of Chatham, against Frank Grant, of Raleigh, to recover $10,000 for alleged malicious prosecution. Sherrah instituted proceedings after being accused on the charge of stealing timber from Grant.

FAIR JULIA IN DIVORCE CASE
MISS MARLOWE CO-RESPONDENTIn an Action Filed By a Boston Lady—Was in London Monday —Newspaper Man From the West Alleged To Have Been in Love With the Famous Actress.

A Boston dispatch says: Late this afternoon Mrs. Clara L. Von Herrmann, of Hamilton, filed a libel for divorce from her husband, Karl Stephen Von Herrmann in the Essex County superior court at Salem, nanning Miss Julia Marlowe, the actress, and Mrs. Maud Thornburn Backus, as co-respondents.

The husband was formerly a newspaper and magazine writer and became a sort of assistant manager for Miss Marlowe on her tours.

The complaint names at least twenty places in this country and abroad where Von Herrmann is alleged to have been in the company of Miss Marlowe and Mrs. Backus.
The actress is the more prominently
mentioned of the two. Miss Marlowe is now touring Canada, having closed
an engagement at a Toronto theater last Saturday night.

The defendant.

The defendant in the action is alleged by Mrs. Von Herrmann to have acted as a deputy manager,

and press agent for Miss Marlowe,
both in this country and abroad.

They met, it is claimed, while the husband was employed on a newspaper in the west. A first night criticism written by Von Herrmann
is claimed to have pleased Miss Marlowe to the extent that she asked for an introduction. Then it is claimed, she invited Von Herrmann to accompany her to Chicago and to enter her employ.

It was about the time Von Herrmann was introduced to Miss Marlowe, the wife's lawyer says, that Von Herrmann forgot his home and family ties and went away for good.
He frequently wrote to his wife and several times he followed her to her home at Hamilton, trying to effect
a reconciliation.

Miss Marlowe in London.

Miss Marlowe was seen in London
Monday night in "As You Like It," and last night she appeared in Hamilton. She is a very beautiful woman, and certainly one of the greatest artists living.

Bullet in Head.

Not until 6 o'clock in the evening was Waters found, and then he was discovered in the hayloft of his barn with
a bullet wound in his head.

Dr. P. H. Mitchell was called, but there was nothing to be done, as Waters had been instantly killed.

It is supposed that Waters had a melancholy fit, as he brooded very much over his illness, and destroyed himself.

An inquest is being conducted by Coroner Mitchell at Delaware Village
this afternoon.

Aged Farmer Found Dead in Barn Alleged Suicide of Arthur WatersWas a Well-Known Resident of Delaware—Illness Given
as the Cause.

Arthur Waters, formerly one of the best-known farmers of Carleton Township, committed suicide in a barn at his home in Delaware Village yesterday just after noon.

Mr. Waters was about 50 years old,
and a year ago retired from farming,
moving into Delaware Village to live.

For the past two years he had been suffering from heart trouble, and had been at times very melancholy.

Not until 6 o'clock in the evening was
Waters found, and then he was discovered in the hayloft of his barn with
a bullet wound in his head.

Dr. P. H. Mitchell was called, but
there was nothing to be done, as

R. J. Code, of Ottawa, Grand Regent
J. A. Cottam Is To Be Vice-RegentRoyal Arcanum Elects Officers
This Afternoon—Morning's Session.

The grand council of the Royal Arcanum spent the whole morning in the consideration of reports, all of which were found to be satisfactory
and were adopted.

Grand Regent W. H. Baker reported that during 1907 there were 11,656 initiations, as compared with 6,852 in 1906, an increase of 4,704.

The emergency fund had, on Dec.
31, 1907, almost reached $4,000,000.

The grand regent spoke particularly to those members who, through dissatisfaction at the change of rates,

had ceased to do anything to advance
the order's interests, and pointed out the folly of such a course.

During the year 1905, the jurisdiction suffered a loss of 15.5 per cent of 15.5 per cent of membership.

This was reduced to 6.39 in 1906 and in 1907 was practically eliminated.

Growth of the Order.

Grand Secretary Harry Brown, of Hamilton, quoted numerous statistics to show the steady growth of the order.

The seventeenth session of the grand council closes with this afternoon's meeting.

The election of officers is the first order of business and there is no doubt that R. J. Code, of Ottawa, will be chosen grand regent of the order and John A. Cottam of this city, vice-regent.

WHITNEY GOV'T GERRYMANDER
IS DESPOTIC AND RUTHLESSMember For West Middlesex In Powerful Arraignment of Unjust
and Unfair Measure—Wordy Clash Between Premier and Mr. Duncan Ross—Ottawa Members Attack Bill.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, April 8.—The debate on the redistribution bill in the Legislature yesterday was marked by a lively passage between the Premier and Mr. D.
C. Ross, the son of Mr. Whitney's old opponent, Hon. G. W. Ross. The young member for West Middlesex showed that he had inherited a capacity for vigorous speech, by advising the Premier to change his motto to "Discontent enough to be cowardly, and cowardly enough to be dishonest." The Premier appealed to the chair, the speaker ruled that Mr. Ross' words were unparliamentary, and they were withdrawn.

The Redistribution.

Mr. Hislop (E. Huron), resumed the debate on the redistribution bill. He said the measure was uncalled for, and did not commend itself to the Province. Toronto did not need eight representatives, as its area was restricted to a few square miles. Conservative speakers had inveighed against minority representation, but Mr. Hislop reminded them that John Stuart Mill

and Lord John Russell had approved the system. If the Liberals had not to the Province fairly, the present Government would have been unable to secure its large majority. The present system of representation did not reflect public opinion. The county of Huron was being gerrymandered and public opinion there stifled. Many Conservatives were opposed to the alterations made in that county, and he

INFANT DIES IN MOTHER'S ARMS
AT IMMIGRATION OFFICEBabe of Six Weeks, With Its Parents Just From Toronto, About
To Be Admitted To the United States, Suddenly Succumbs
To Pneumonia—Had Medical Attendance in London.

"We have examined Harold Bennett as to the right to be admitted into these United States and found him dead."

This crude statement of fact, says
the Detroit Free Press, the first of the kind to be issued from the Detroit office, will go to the head of the immigration department at Washington from the local officials. Behind the official seal of the United States Government,
there lies the story of the tragic death
of an infant six weeks old in its mother's arms. It tells of a father's broken heart, and a mother's blinding tears.

Child Was Ill.

To a little group of blue-coated Government officials assembled about the family that crossed from Canada yesterday, it speaks volumes. George Bennett and his pretty wife, Mrs. Greta Bennett, with their three children,
came to Detroit from Toronto on a Canadian Pacific train yesterday afternoon. They were met by an immigration inspector, who saw that the Four Great White Star Liners

To Be Placed On the St. LawrenceLondon, April 7.—The Express states that the White Star Company is about to order four great steamers for the Liverpool-Montreal service. They will have a maximum speed of 24 knots,
and in addition to first-class accommodation each will carry between 3, 000 and 4,000 emigrants. It is stated at Liverpool that the Grand Trunk is co-operating with the White Star.

Confirmed.

Montreal, April 7.—Mr. Jas. Thom, of the Dominion Steamship Line, stated today that upon the opening of navigation in 1909 the steamers of the White Star Line will run to Montreal and Quebec, in conjunction with the ships of the Dominion Line. "Yes, it is quite true that the White Star steamers will run to Canadian ports," answered Mr. Thom when questioned.

"I may say that the service will not be inaugurated until after this season."

"Can you inform the public of the details?"

"No. There is nothing to be said
beyond the mere fact that the White Star steamers will run to Montreal and Quebec."

Water Figures Presented To Board
No Action Till the Mayor ReturnsEngineer Moore Submits Estimates Re Kilworth Supply and Main To City.

The water question was not discussed at the meeting of the water commission yesterday afternoon,
owing to the absence of Mayor Stevely in Ottawa, where he was unexpectedly called on city business.

The figures that he asked for from Engineer Moore regarding the Kil-worth proposition, and also the meter scheme, with the comparative cost of each, were submitted.

The Kilworth proposition, with a second main to the city, and 4,000 meters, would cost $360,000, with annual charges amounting to $28,965.

The measured flow, according to Engineer Moore's figures, at Kilworth, is 500,000 gallons a day, much more than the saving from meters was estimated at least half a million gallons, so it is figured that the Kilworth and meter systems combined would give the city
at least a million gallons more.

Trustees Stand By Kindergarten
Mr. Graham's Motion Not PopularSent To Committee for Investigation—County Pupils Barred.

The reduction of expenditure on the kindergarten system was brought up at the meeting of the board of education yesterday by Chairman Graham, but the board did not take kindly to his suggestion that No. 1 committee be instructed to rearrange the teachers' schedule, giving them two classes a day instead of one.

The matter was compromised by being sent to No. 1 committee to report on at the next meeting of the board.

County Pupils Barred.

The matter of the Broughdale school children was also taken up, and it was decided to prohibit all London Township pupils from attendance in city schools unless they paid their fees.

A complimentary address was unanimously passed by the board to Dr. Tillmann, the representative of the separate school board who resigned yesterday.

Dr. Mugan, the newly-elected trustee, took his seat at the board.
There was considerable business transacted.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8.

WILL MR. BECK EXPLAIN?

The president of the Central Conservative Association of Toronto declares that no seat in that city will be offered to Mr. Beck or any other outsider.

The assertion is an ungracious one, especially if Mr. Beck has no idea of asking for Toronto's hospitality. He tells his friends here he will run in London against all-comers. When that time comes, Mr. Beck would do well to tell his fellow-citizens why each Toronto elector will have two ballots placed in his hand, and each London elector only one. Perhaps he will also explain why 34,000 people in Toronto have the same representation in the Legislature as 50,000 people in London.

Toronto is the spoiled child of the Conservative party. If the Conservative machine of the city doesn't see what it wants, it has only to ask the Whitney Government for it. It wanted the administration of the license law in its own hands.
Straightaway the Government sacrificed the license inspectors and its own commissioners to the party Moloch. The machine has had its own way in the gerrymander. Instead of carving out four new constituencies,
which might give the minority some chance of representation, the present
four Conservative lives of the city are preserved and each busy bee has had his voting power doubled.

Mr. Beck cannot hide behind his power scheme to evade responsibility
for these special favors to Toronto,
and the outrage of the gerrymander.
He is accountable for the conduct of the Government of which he is a member, and must face the music.

GOODS.

A very pronounced interest in Canadian affairs has been awakened
throughout the West Indies, particularly among the mercantile classes, largely as a result of the action taken at the recent agricultural conference at Barbados, looking to the establishment of reciprocal trade relations between the Dominion and those island colonies. The latter offer opportunities for Canadian trade expansion, but if Canadian manufacturers would take full advantage of the opening they must study the needs and peculiarities of the people.

The new Canadian trade commissioner to the West Indies, Mr. E. H.
Flood, in a recent report to the department of trade and commerce, refers to this newly-awakened interest in Canada among the people of the islands,
and says that Canadian commercial travelers would now be likely to receive a better hearing and have a better chance of getting orders than at any time in the immediate past, and that for that reason they should be sent down with their samples as early as possible. Of course, business houses there, as elsewhere, have no desire to change their account and purchase in new quarters unless for substantial reasons, but the feeling in favor of reciprocity with Canada, and the hope that in the end closer trade relations will be of real value to the West Indies, cannot but be influential in inducing them to place orders for Canadian goods that would otherwise go to United States houses. Canadians, however, must first get over their erroneous notions as to the climate of the islands. With the exception of August, September and October, the warm and rainy months, the heat is not greater, he says, than in parts of Ontario in summer.

The travelers representing British and United States Houses are described as "men of superior class, fine-looking,
gentlemanly and of good address," and Canadian firms desirous of taking advantage of the feeling now existing towards Canada are advised to remember that good manners and a pleasing address in a salesman will accomplish
more in the end than a forcible but disagreeable style. United States firms by attending to the wants of these customers in matters of detail and being careful to put up their goods in packages and weights that may find readiest sale, have succeeded in holding good business connections. Except in the three months mentioned travelers may visit the West Indies with their samples without any discomfort,
and the representatives of English and United States firms find it to their advantage to remain on the ground about three or four months of the year. The commissioner offers some suggestions
as to the itinerary for travelers, pointing out what he considers the best steamship lines to take, going and returning, and outlining a trip through the islands, communication between which is never a difficult matter.

FIGHTING A WRONG.

The score of Liberals behind Mr.
MacKay in the Legislature are making a determined fight against the unjust
clauses of the redistribution bill.

The one independent Conservative in the House, Major Rathbun, of East Hastings, has joined them, denouncing the measure as a grave wrong. There is no hope that they will make an impression upon the Government and its solid phalanx, but they are doing their duty, and Liberals throughout the Province will rally to their moral support.

The administration's abuse of its power will do much to rouse the fighting spirit of the Liberal party, and drive back into its ranks those who were inclined to credit Mr. Whitney with the virtues of honesty and fair play. He has belied the fair promises made in the first flush of gratitude,
after his sweeping victory three years ago. Liberals and electors of no party views, who gave Mr. Whitney their support on that occasion, find themselves betrayed by the application of the spoils system and by the present gerrymander. The man of vaunted backbone has meekly surrendered to the worst elements in his party. By this latest iniquity he will gain a seat here and there, but he will forfeit the respect and confidence of many for whose votes he professed to be grateful in 1905.

THE PORT OF OLD LONDON.

A reform, which has been far too long delayed, is contemplated in a bill now before the British House of Commons to improve the facilities
and provide for the efficient administration of the port of London, which,
while the greatest seaport in the world in respect of commerce leaving and entering there, is one of the most backward in many respects. True, it has numerous docks, some of them of great magnitude, yet its facilities for wharfrage are far from meeting requirements. Much of its merchandise has to undergo the slow and costly process of lightering and vessels lose time lying in the stream because the necessary accommodation is lacking.
London, in fact, has been standing still while all its chief competitors, particularly such great continental ports as Hamburg and Bremen, are making every effort to attract trade
by furnishing superior facilities. The private companies owning the various docks where the commercial business
of London as a seaport is done, insist upon being permitted to administer their affairs in accordance with their ideas of what their interests require,
and are not inclined to change conditions which do not interfere with the distribution of comfortable dividends.
Parliament alone has power to effect
the reforms which all admit to be imperative. As the matter is now before that body, and there appears to be a unanimity of opinion that it is time some action was taken to meet the situation, it is almost certain that something will now be done.

The president of the board of trade,
Mr. David Lloyd-George, who stands sponsor for the measure in question,
declares that if present conditions are permitted to continue much longer,
London will lose its commercial su-premaccy. He announces that all the dock companies have assented to the proposals contained in the bill, a result for which he is given the sole credit. It was Mr. Lloyd-George that prevented a serious railroad strike at a moment when it seemed impossible to preserve industrial peace. This latest achievement is another triumph
for his tactful judgment, good sense and skill in dealing with men. The dock companies being agreeable, there should be no difficulty in getting the measure through.

Mr. Beck is a horseman. Does he think the Government's jockeying of the Grits is decent sport?

Mr. Justice Cassels refuses to accept this as a royal commissioner.
This is an example, but will it be a precedent?

The White Star line intends to place steamers on the Canadian route. When the All-Red-line comes too, the New York route will be blue or green with envy.

It is "one man, one vote" and "one riding, one member" in this province, everywhere but in Toronto. If this lan't "playing a favorite," as Mr. Beck would say, what is it?

The United States authorities have finally agreed to allow Emma Goldman to return from Canada. There was no obstacle on this side of the line. The lady will be always at liberty to leave.

gerrymander works out in some counties:

1905 maj.	By new bill
Brockville .. Lib.	169 Con.
Essex South Lib.	139 Con.
Huron, East Lib.	142 Lib.
Huron South Con.	411 Con.
Huron, West Lib.	2 Con.
Midland, North .. Lib.	56 Con.
Midland, West .. Lib.	113 Lib.
Peel, Lib.	32 Con.
Peterboro, East .. Lib.	118 Lib.

It will be seen that Liberal majorities are converted into minorities in

Brockville, West Huron, South Essex
and Peel. North Middlesex, which the Liberals would probably have won, is made safe for the Conservatives. The Liberal majority has been cut in half in Peterboro East, and the Grits have been hived in East Huron and West Middlesex. In addition, the Government presents itself with four seats in Toronto.

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child." The Whitney Government has given the Toronto Tory machine a free hand in the gerrymander; and now the Liberals refuse to give one of the gerrymandered seats to the minister of power because he lives in London.
Hogtown!

POOT HANK!

[Puck.]
Farmer (bursting into crossroads store)—
What do you think, Silas Newchese?
The bones of a prehistoric man have been discovered on Hank Weatherston's farm!

Storekeeper—Great gosh! I hope poor Hank'll be able to clear himself at the coroner's inquest.

[Exchange.] Wife—Have you any secrets you keep from me, dearest?
Husband—None, darling.
Wife—Then I am determined I will have none from you, either.
Husband—Have you secrets, then?
Wife—Only one, and I am resolved to make a clean breast of it.
Husband (hoarsely)—Go on.
Wife—For several days I have had a secret—a secret longing for a new dress with hat to match, for my birthday.
That fetched him.

[Life.]
He (learning to wait)—Is it very hard to reverse?
She—Oh, no; just take your foot off
mine and put it on the other.

[Baltimore News.]
Turkeys are plucked by wind on farms in England. It is done by cross currents of electricity directed at the birds. The farmers in Norfolk have been trying to hit on a really good poultry plucking machine, and at last they have found one.
The bodies of the freshly killed birds revolve on a kind of spit, and as they revolve the windy currents strip them of their plumage till the air is gray with falling feathers. The turkeys cost 12 cents each to pluck by air.

[Fall Mail Gazette.]
London is the greatest rat center in the world, says the acting secretary of the newly-formed Society for the Extirpation of Vermin. Docks, wharves, sewers, warehouses and big storage cellars are infested with rats. It is estimated that their numbers exceed 6,000,000, and that fully $10,000 is spent yearly in fighting them. Sir Henry Stanley, who will support Sir James Crichton Browne at the inaugural meeting of the society on Friday, has special interest in the campaign,
as he was driven from his home in the Isle of Wight by a swarm of rats, which took possession of the house and could not be suppressed.

THE PRICE OF ASSASSINATION.

[London Spectator.]
Perhaps the chapter which sheds most light on the spirit of medieval Venice is that on "Political Assassination." The Republic, like all Italy, was prepared to hire bravos to get rid of awkward opponents, but she was curiously businesslike
in her methods.
One of these bravos, Brother John, of Ragusa, appreciated her commercial spirit, for he put in a tender for assassinations based on a careful tariff. The Grand Council of 500 dates, lesser po-tents, 50 each; the Pope, 100; and the King of Spain, 150 ducats, with traveling expenses added.

[Harper's Weekly.]
If language is a true measure of conquest, as has been contended, then Anglo-Saxon speech is rapidly conquering the European continent. It is a matter of interest to many to learn that the increasing number of English words incorporated into colloquial French. Many refer to sports and sporting, and in this group of words adopted from the English are French are turf, trotting, Tattersall's,

[Chicago Record-Herald.]
"I don't know what make Mr. Buzzeleigh's automobile is," said Miss Gussington, "but it is perfect. He asked me out to ride with him Thursday afternoon and we had such a glorious time.
Oh, I just think automobiles is the most splendid fun that ever was."
"Why," replied her friend, "somebody told me that Mr. Buzzeleigh's machine was one of the worst old rattlers in town."
"Indeed! Well, it's the nicest machine that I ever saw. We went out in the country, and it broke down at least dozen times, and we never got home until almost midnight. I wouldn't have missed it for anything."

PATERSON'S POSER.

[Hon. Wm. Paterson.]
What would the addition to the debt of the country be if the honorable gentleman ever carried out the Halifax plan-form and bought up and operated all the railways, telephones, and telegraph in the country? It would be about one thousand million dollars. Where would they get it? But there was hardly any need to dwell on the point, very little had been heard about that platform lately. Some honorable gentlemen, he believed, were not particularly enthusiastic about that platform.

THE RIGHT MAN.

[Montreal Witness.]
Whoever selected Messrs. Courtney, Fyvie and Bazin as commissioners to investigate the civil service had certainly no desire for anything but an utterly frank, trenchant and energetic revelation, and no one who has had anything to do with the public business had the least doubt that such investigation was called for. The wagon had got, as the report hints, so very deep into the mire,
and the cuts were so worn that even the waggoner was helpless to get it out. The minister comes to his department entirely fresh to its operations. He finds an enormous and complicated machine, every joint and member of which is against him should he think in any wise to change its workings.

the chair, and Chairman Graham brought up the question of kindergartens. He pointed out that he was not opposed to kindergartens, because he considered they were good things
for the children, and were doing good work. However, he did object to the expense, as he considered it much too high. The total cost of the kindergarten was about one-fifth, or twenty per cent of the total expenditure, for public schools. In Toronto it was only about eleven per cent. In Hamilton, about eight per cent; in Ottawa, about twelve per cent; showing that London's kindergartens were costing much more in proportion than in any other city.

In London there were 34 kindergarten teachers who were paid $18,950
salaries.

There were 714 pupils on the roll,
with an average attendance of 495.
The average cost per pupil per annum was $24.

There were twenty-four primary teachers with salaries aggregating $13,300. They taught an average of 845 pupils, making the average cost per pupil, $15. This was also true of the other grades, that the kindergarten was costing much more per pupil than any other grade in the school. And this in face of the fact,
he declared, that it was not the most important feature of school work, but rather one of the least important.

Mr. Graham thought that the teachers could work both morning and afternoon, with the result that the city would be saved at least $8,000 per annum.

He suggested that the length of each term be two hours instead of one term of three hours, as at present.
He did not think it would impair the efficiency of the teachers at all, as
the year would be too heavy.

It was the duty of the board to save money so far as it was possible. Mr.
Graham therefore moved that No. 1 committee be instructed to rearrange
the kindergarten, forming two classes
both morning and afternoon.

A Great Change.

Trustee Westcott, seconded the motion in order that it might be discussed. He could not understand why Trustee Graham was so anxious to be economical now when he did not evince such a spirit when the question of teachers' salaries was being considered. No one would deny that the board was doing its duty, but it was looking very much as if the board was swallowing itself. It pointed with pride not long ago to the grand thing
it had done in raising the teachers'
salaries, and now it turns around and wants to do something else. Mr. Westcott could not understand it. He thought that what he had heard there was a great deal of opposition to the change. He did not know of one city where kindergarten teachers worked two sessions, and if they did not there must be some reason for it. This matter, if it was to be considered at all,
should be considered at some later date,
not at present.

"Some of the best kindergartens told him that if they had to teach in the morning and then go to another school, and attempt to teach another lot of youngsters, they would resign
immediately," said Trustee Westcott.
"I am afraid we would lose all our good teachers if Trustee Graham's idea is carried out."

Opposed the Move.

Trustee Teasdale was opposed to any change. The great question was to have this work done properly. It was not so much a matter of expense
as efficiency. There was no doubt that the kindergartens are of great benefit.
It is on record that public school teachers and the graduate of the kindergarten two years in advance of other pupils. The children are much better equipped for a course in the public school for having been first educated in the kindergarten. There was also no doubt that a real good, conscientious teacher would carry her vitality in the three-hour course in the kindergarten. Trustee Teasdale declared that he had not known what a great amount of work was involved in teaching a kindergarten until this past year. He knew

FOR A MILLION OF MONEY

BY ARTHUR W. MARCHMONT
Author of "By Right of Sword," "When I Was Czar," etc., etc.
Copyrighted, 1908.

At that they both cried in sympathy; and Olive consented to take the money and return it. Then the wife said she had arranged with a neighbor for Olive to be driven to the nearest station, and her husband had left word about the time of the train she would catch.

And so her troubles were over, and by ten o'clock she was in the train on her way to Mr. Casement.

She sat a long time thinking over this unexpected kindness, and then opened the paper she had bought at the station. She was turning it over rather listlessly, when she sat up suddenly with a cry of dismay, as she read one of the larger headlines:

"The Foreign Office Mystery."
"The Robbery Still Unexplained."
"The Hon. John Fenwick's Statement."

Olive read with deep and painful interest the report of the robbery of the papers from the foreign office; and especially that portion which contained Jack's explanation of his part in the matter. The report left no doubt on her mind that he was suspected of complicity in it; and the comments upon his statement, while not openly accusing him, made the case look very black.

"I am perfectly willing to tell all I know," he said; "and have received permission to make a statement."

For some days after the robbery, I had been in a condition of intense nervousness on account of the lady to whom I am engaged to be married. We had already received a warning that some robbery was being planned, and had taken all precautions that appeared possible. But as nothing unusual occurred for some days, the warning was set down as one of those which from time to time reach us.

"On the day of the robbery, the 30th, I went as usual to the office. I was even more anxious than ever on account of the lady I have mentioned; and just before I should have started to take some papers to the house of the minister in Cromwell Gardens, a letter was put into my hands to the effect that the lady was in great peril and that her life might depend upon my going at once to her. The address was on the other side of London: 25, Rosebery Villas, Finchley. In my

"That omission was, of course, inexcusable, and I do not defend it. I hurried to the address with the utmost haste, to find that nothing was known there either of the letter or of the lady herself. I was deeply distressed and alarmed; and after some little time I returned, calling on my way at the house where the lady had been living. Hearing nothing of her there, I went on to the office. In my agitation I had never occurred to me to connect the letter with the warning we had received; and I did not do that until on my return, I heard that a robbery had taken place.

"I was told that during the luncheon hour, just when the fewest clerks were in the building, I had returned and gone straight to my desk, had taken up the papers which were lying for me to take up to the chief, and with them in my hand had come into his room and shut the door; and that a few minutes later I had come out of the room and had left the building. All the time I had not spoken to anyone, and it was observed that my manner was very singular.

"On leaving, I was said to have called a hansom and given the address in Cromwell Gardens. The driver of the hansom has since been found, and believes he can identify me as the person whom he drove there. He declares that I paid him and dismissed him at the door of the house. I am next said to have delivered the papers to the footman to give to his master; and that I appeared very flustered and agitated.

"My answer to all this is that at the very time I was hurrying to and from the address at Finchley, and at this point comes the greatest mystery. I told exactly what I have said here, and immediately went out to the address with a detective in my hands to the effect that the lady was in great peril and that her life might depend upon my going at once to her. The address was on the other side of London: 25, Rosebery Villas, Finchley. In my

a madman. Meanwhile, I am all but ruined; I have nothing but my own word in proof of my statement, and nothing but my consciousness of innocence to support me in a very dark hour.

The paper made but one short comment. "Of course, we must not fail to recognize that Mr. Fenwick's statement may be true, and his explanation the correct solution. Meanwhile, where are the stolen papers?"

Olive's cheeks flamed with indignation as she read this last sentence. She knew where to look for the perpetrators of the theft; and when she read for the second time the description of the servant whom Jack had seen on his first visit to the house, she recognized it as fitting Anna Martindale. What was she to do? The problem was a distracting one; and during all the rest of the long journey her thoughts were full of it. She could, of course, give information which would place the woman at once in the hands of the police; but what would result? The whole gang would immediately take alarm and disappear. Anna, in her stolid way, would deny Jack's statement; and even if she were held in custody it would not even clear Jack. All the flutter caused by the arrest would render the ultimate discovery vastly more difficult, extremely improbable indeed; while Olive's own investigation would, at the same time, be impeded. If one arrest was made, there must be many others; the net must be spread as wide as possible.

She was shrewd enough to see that the question which the newspaper had asked was really the vital point. Where were the stolen papers? Olive had learnt enough of matters to be able to guess the answer to this. Either they had already been handed over to the people for whom they had been stolen, or they were in the keeping of Mrs. Taunton or Merridew. Probably the former.

It must be her work to ascertain this. And finding this out, she must, at the same time, hit on the means of helping to solve her own problems.

She already had a thought in this connection. She had not played the spy in the minister's house for nothing. The experience had taught her the value of such a method; and she was quite ready to make another attempt.

She had before recognized that in attacking Merridew first, she had made a mistake. It was the mother who had been at the bottom of the scheme against her; and it was Mrs. Merridew who must be watched for the future. She had an idea had been to gain admittance to Silverbeech, getting a place in the household there—just as she had in Cromwell Gardens.

It was there, of anywhere, that she would gain the information she needed to expose the fraud of that early strange marriage; and as soon as the idea had taken firm root, it strengthened with every mile of her journey.

Then another development occurred to her. If she could contrive to force Merridew to Silverbeech, and then manage to overhear the conversations between mother and son, she might indeed discover her secrets. She knew every nook and cranny of the big, rambling house. It was a very old house, with more than one secret chamber, staircase, and hidingplace; constructed cunningly in the times when the former masters of the Manor had been involved in plots and counterplots against the government in the times of the rebellion and later. Her quick inventive wit soon suggested a scheme; and before she reached London she was firmly resolved to put it in execution.

Instead of going on at once to Mr. Casement at Frampton, she would go to the rooms which she had taken in her character as a private detective, and secure a fresh disguise. She had left some money there, and a few hours' delay would enable her to complete her preparations. And London of all other places, was the best for the purpose.

She would get into Silverbeech by hook or crook, and he would go as an Irish girl, Mollie O'Brien. And she must both look and play the part so that even her own old servants should not recognize her. And then she smiled at her thought that she would first test her disguise on Mr. Casement himself.

No questions were asked at the house. The explanation she had already given had been accepted; and as she paid liberally for the rooms, the landlady took the money and turned the key upon her curiosity. Olive's first act was to repay the loan to the Polworths with one line. "Alice Garstang will call one day for the receipt."

Then she sat for a full hour before her glass studying the changes her hair had made in her appearance. Then she went out and posted her letter and bought a black wig; one of those extravagantly curled affairs, spreading out wide on either side of the head and coming low down on the brow. She cut off close to the head the flaxen curls of "Rosa Baumstein," and dyed the little hair left as well as the eyebrows and lashes. A tint of rouge skilfully applied gave her an Irish complexion; and a very little effort enabled her to alter the contour of the lower part of the face. She knew she could rely upon herself to maintain this.

The figure was easier. Away went the broad hair which the German girl had had. The waist was lengthened to the greatest extent, the effect being increased by the dress on which she had decided. And as a finishing touch, she manufactured a slight hump on one shoulder. The Irish accent gave her no trouble. She had more than once played an Irish part in theatricals, and loved the brogue, and had practiced it constantly; while her native wit would enable her to manage the turn of phrase and dialogue.

Taking her own costume with her, she started early the next morning for Frampton, and leaving the box at the station, she walked to Mr. Casement's office and asked to see the lawyer on a matter of importance.

"He's very busy this morning," objected the clerk. "What is it you want? And what name?"

WEATHER FEATURES OF LAST MONTH

Temperature Was Higher Than the Average—Precipitation Generally Below.

The March weather report just issued by the Government Meteorological office, Toronto, says that the mean temperature for March, excepting the average over the lower mainland of British Columbia, Southern Alberta and a large portion of Ontario; elsewhere in Canada the temperature was subnormal.

The precipitation which in all the provinces was part rain and part snow, was below average over the larger portion of the Dominion. The amount recorded, however, near the coast of British Columbia, was nearly double the normal, and over Northern Alberta, part of Saskatchewan, northwestern Quebec, Prince Edward Island and in Cape Breton the average was exceeded. At the close of the month the ground was bare of snow in Southern Alberta, the Peninsula of Ontario, Southern New Brunswick and Nova Scotia; elsewhere in Canada the covering was light except in northern portions of Saskatchewan and Ontario where the depth of snow on the ground exceeded twenty inches. In Quebec the amount on the ground ranged from ten inches at Montreal to forty-two at Quebec City.

Thickness of ice is reported as follows: Matileford, 24 inches; Medicine Hat, 10 inches; Winnipeg, 38 inches; Minnedosa, 24 inches; White River, 13.5 inches; Kingston, 12 inches; Rockville, 39 inches; Ottawa, 12 inches; Chatham, N. B., 13.5 inches; Sydney, 8 inches; Charlottetown, 8 inches.

Ontario. Weather changes were very rapid during March and there were many days with clouded skies, but the precipitation was generally much less than average, except locally in New Ontario and the Ottawa Valley where there was a small excess. Thunderstorms were recorded in many localities about the 27th.

Bruce Mines—Crows on 11th; robins on 22nd.

Gravelhurst—Robins and other spring birds seen on 23rd; thunderstorms on 28th.

Clinton—Fall wheat and clover looking well; crows, robins, blue jays and blue birds returned first week; meadow larks on 10th; plovers on 15th; severe thunderstorms on evening of 27th.

Strathroy—Heavy thunderstorms on 27th.

London—Robins since 6th; bulls appearing through ground. Ice all passed down the river about first of month.

Port Burwell—Thunder on 15th and night of 27th and 28th. Frogs seen on 30th; ice moving down lake but not gone off shore; creek opened on 22nd.

Georgetown—Robins reported in this locality about the 4th; crows on 5th; wild geese going north on 13th; bluebirds; streams open 13th; song sparrows, 2nd; meadow lark 21st; when the former masters of the Manor had been involved in plots and counterplots against the government in the times of the rebellion and later.

Her quick inventive wit soon suggested a scheme; and before she reached London she was firmly resolved to put it in execution.

Instead of going on at once to Mr. Casement at Frampton, she would go to the rooms which she had taken in her character as a private detective, and secure a fresh disguise. She had left some money there, and a few hours' delay would enable her to complete her preparations. And London of all other places, was the best for the purpose.

She would get into Silverbeech by hook or crook, and he would go as an Irish girl, Mollie O'Brien. And she must both look and play the part so that even her own old servants should not recognize her. And then she smiled at her thought that she would first test her disguise on Mr. Casement himself.

No questions were asked at the house. The explanation she had already given had been accepted; and as she paid liberally for the rooms, the landlady took the money and turned the key upon her curiosity.

Olive's first act was to repay the loan to the Polworths with one line. "Alice Garstang will call one day for the receipt."

Then she sat for a full hour before her glass studying the changes her hair had made in her appearance. Then she went out and posted her letter and bought a black wig; one of those extravagantly curled affairs, spreading out wide on either side of the head and coming low down on the brow. She cut off close to the head the flaxen curls of "Rosa Baumstein," and dyed the little hair left as well as the eyebrows and lashes. A tint of rouge skilfully applied gave her an Irish complexion; and a very little effort enabled her to alter the contour of the lower part of the face. She knew she could rely upon herself to maintain this.

The figure was easier. Away went the broad hair which the German girl had had. The waist was lengthened to the greatest extent, the effect being increased by the dress on which she had decided. And as a finishing touch, she manufactured a slight hump on one shoulder. The Irish accent gave her no trouble. She had more than once played an Irish part in theatricals, and loved the brogue, and had practiced it constantly; while her native wit would enable her to manage the turn of phrase and dialogue.

NEW RULES FOR AUTOISTS

The New Automobile Measure Is Reported to the Legislature.

Toronto, April 7.—A hired chauffeur must be licensed.

No person under seventeen years shall drive a motor vehicle on a public street.

If a horse going in the opposite direction appears to be frightened, an autoist shall stop both machine and motor until the horse has passed, or until the rider or driver directs him to proceed. An autoist shall assist the driver or rider to control the horse, if assistance is required.

The provincial secretary may revoke a chauffeur's license, just as now he may revoke a permit.

A motorist shall turn aside for a funeral.

Mr. Sutherland, of South Oxford, thought the age 17 too young. Further, he wanted convictions registered on a chauffeur's license.

Mr. Sutherland's objections took the form of an amendment, but it was lost.

"The sub-committee," protested Mr. Sutherland, "dealt with matters that do not appear in this bill."

"Simply because the committee hasn't the power to deal with them; that's why they are in the bill," explained Chairman Hanna.

Mr. Preston mentioned one of these things, the suggestion that the motor fee be increased, and the revenue expended in engaging preventive officers, who would enforce the auto act. As revenue was concerned, it must be a matter for Government regulation.

"A NO. 1" QUILTS TRAMPING

He Has Traveled More Than 300,000 Miles at a Cost of $7.56.

Middletown, N. Y., April 5.—"A No. 1," the most famous tramp in the world, has cleared up the mystery of his identity and is going to write a book of his adventures. Since 1883, when he started tramping, this curious fellow has been known everywhere as "A No. 1," and this title is seen on fences, freight cars and railroad stations in every town from New York to San Francisco.

He has traveled more than 300,000 miles at a cost of $7.56, riding on top and underneath freight and passenger cars. He does not beg, but gets a living by curving artistic images from Irish potatoes. He speaks English, German, French and Spanish. He does not drink, smoke, gamble or steal. He wears a badge presented by Richard K. Fox a number of years ago for completing a trip from New York to San Francisco in eleven days and six hours without paying railroad fare. For this he received $1,000.

"A No. 1" announces that his name is Ray Livingstone, and his home at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and that he has given up tramping to take up literary pursuits.

As time went on it got worse and my sufferings were intense. I had a very sore leg indeed, and had very small hope of ever seeing it healed, in fact I was told by several who had known such sores that I should suffer with it for life. This was very discouraging. When I was almost in despair I heard of Zam-Buk and wrote to the company stating my case. They inspired me with hope, and I commenced with Zam-Buk, using it according to instructions. Other salves I had used caused me much suffering, but Zam-Buk soothed the pain, and although it appeared for some time to be doing little good, I persevered, and as soon as the wound became clean, it was only a matter of three or four days before my leg was healed."

STEWARDS WILL RULE WITH IRON HAND

Washington, April 7.—When the racing season opens at Aqueduct on April 15 there is every indication that matters will be ruled with an iron hand. The many abuses that have been overlooked in the past, in consonance with the "no scandal" policy of the jockey club, will be penalized with the severest punishment. This will be the rule is shown by the actions of the officials during the past twelve days of racing here.

One spot which has called forth criticism for many years has been rough riding. Time after time the spectators have seen their horse bumped by a rival, thrown out of its stride and lose a race that it should have won. That the officials are going to handle the situation without gloves is apparent by the manner in which they have handled out suspensions within the past two weeks. To the great delight of the turfites, there were no favorites played.

EWRY REINSTATED.

New York, April 7.—Ray C. Ewry, the champion standing high jumper, who was suspended recently for competing in unsanctioned meets, was reinstated by the registration committee of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union tonight.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

BY SOUTHPAW

With but few exceptions all of last year's crack city leaguers will be found wearing east end uniforms this year. Billy Graham, for example, has signed up with the Ramblers; Tommy Dewar and Jack McHugh will perform for Billy Begg's fast Anchors, as will also Joe Clarke, the former Perrins' player.

Meeting of the east end league will be called shortly when the schedule will be revised.

Hamilton is badly afflicted with the baseball bug, one of the papers there having begun a score guessing contest. The writer started something like that there one time and narrowly escaped being lynched when the time came for awarding prizes.

When it was mentioned to a local fan that Manager Bird had been playing pro ball for ten years, he remarked that he guessed the London manager-captain was "an old bird." All of which reminds us that Magistrate Love has sentenced people to thirty days for much less.

Speaking of spring hats, how would one with a beaver, a wreath, and a bird on it, do?

Work will shortly be begun on the tennis courts surrounding the county buildings. The Y. M. C. A. secured permission from the county council to make use of the grounds several months ago.

Local trundlers—the indoor brand—are preparing for the Detroit tournament, which begins next Monday. With a trifle better luck than was experienced at Toronto the locals should annex some of the hardpan.

BIDDLE-OBRIEN WAS FIERCE BOUT

Jack's Hair Terribly Lacerated in a Go With Leader of Quaker City Society.

Edgerton, in the New York World, says:

The great Biddle-O'Brien battle is history. On Saturday night Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, leader of Philadelphia's pink tea set, so to speak, met Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the professional fighter. They fought four rounds in the ring of the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford, Pa. It was without doubt the fiercest four round battle ever pulled off in that arena—as well as the first. There was no knockout, but so furiously did the Social Lion carry the fight to O'Brien that the timekeeper was forced to cut each of the rounds short to save Mr. Biddle from becoming fatally wounded.

For weeks Philadelphia society has been on tiptoe for the great event. Society has always claimed that Mr. Biddle carried a kick in either mitt that would make him a fortune if he lost a few millions. The big fellow so greatly depended on has had less opportunity than the rest leaving the Tiger camp just when he was working well to go to the bedside of his sick wife in Detroit.

One week from today the big struggle opens and the boys realize that some heavy work must be done with the stick before then, for Chicago's pitchers, especially, are by no means easy for the champions.

COBB HEAVIEST HITTING TIGER

Detroit, April 8.—Cobb is the heaviest hitter among the Tigers on the spring trip. He has maintained a .500 gait in all the games he has played. Crawford, since the exhibition trip has been started, has made but one safe rap and that was a scratch. The big fellow so greatly depended on has had less opportunity than the rest leaving the Tiger camp just when he was working well to go to the bedside of his sick wife in Detroit.

One week from today the big struggle opens and the boys realize that some heavy work must be done with the stick before then, for Chicago's pitchers, especially, are by no means easy for the champions.

TWO PLAYERS LET GO BY TORONTO

Norfolk, Va., April 8.—Manager Kelley, of the Toronto Club, released two of his superlative players today. Hughie Jennings, shortstop, goes to the Madison Club of the Wisconsin League, and Eddie Rudolph, outfielder, has been placed with the Holyoke Club of Connecticut League. President J. J. McCaffery wired today that he will join the team at Wilmington, Del., tomorrow. Outfielder Walsh is also expected to report there.

BASEBALL.

MONTREAL AT PRACTICE.

Easton, Pa., April 7.—With the weather more suitable for football than baseball, Dr. Casey and his bunch of ballsters took their first practice here Saturday. After some stiff work it seems as if it would not take much training to get the men into first-class form. All practice consisted of catching and batting flies and grounders. Two new uniforms were appeared on the field, those who arrive since last night being McManus, Corcoran and Stanley. Corcoran seems in excellent form, ready to go into a game tomorrow and eat up grounders with avidity.

BROTHERS IN NATIONAL GAME FAMOUS BASEBALL FAMILIES

Crawford, Rossman, Cobb, O'Leary and Jones Have Fraternal Relatives Who Aspire To Become Diamond Favorites —Jennings Relates Yarn of Twin Players.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 8.—Wahoo Sam Crawford has a brother who is looking for a place to start out in the game at which Sam has won his fame. Sam says he is a right-hander, can hit well and plays the infield. Sam was talking about his brother the other night and this started a discussion on the "other brothers" in baseball. There are many, many of them. Several of the Detroit stars are members of "baseball families."

Claud Rossman has a brother up in Philmont, who has taken his place vacated a few years ago on the town team. The Philmont Sentinel, which claud exhibited the other day, told of the brother's ability as a hitter. Ty Cobb has a promising second in the Western Association. Davy Jones and Charles O'Leary both have brothers in the game, and they both play on the same team in the Wisconsin State League—youthsters just starting out. George Mullin has a brother who looks much like he did when he first broke in. George says Art will some day make his mark in the majors.

The Famous Delephantys.

The Delephantys boys, of course, are the most famous brothers. The sextet, headed by big Ed, won honors on the diamond. Next to him came the Donohue boys of Springfield. The Tigers have been running across Donohues all through the south. They met two of them in Little Rock with the Boston American team, Pat and Frank, and they met a cousin from Springfield, playing on the Memphis team, in Evansville, Will Donohue, another brother, shines. They met the great light of the Donohue crowd in Chicago when they run across Jiggs at first base with the Sox.

The number of men, Tigers figured, who have brothers following in their footsteps is legion. There are some who could hit at a terrific clip.

great stars who have brothers unable to satisfy the ambition bred by the success of the older member of the family. It is seldom that two great players come from one family. Hans Wagner, for instance, has a brother who has made futile efforts to make good despite his size and strength. Larry Lajoie, another great diamond king, has a brother who utterly failed to last even in the South Michigan League. Christy Mathewson had his brother with him in New York. He was strong and had plenty of speed, but couldn't grasp the game. Christy, according to Harry Tuthill, has another brother now in college who is fast developing as a pitcher.

Few Brothers Succeed.

In the present American League the Tannehill boys, Jess and Lee, stand out as great stars, as exceptions to the rule. John Gangel, of Cincinnati, is also a star from a family of famous players. The Bannon brothers once aspired for honors in baseball. They were fleet of foot, but wild on bases, running like Cobb but without Cobb's judgment. Hardly a player in the big league has a brother, but he has watched him make efforts to follow the same path. Very, very few of them have succeeded.

"The funniest combination of brothers in baseball I have ever run across," remarked Jennings while they were talking about family connections in the game, "was down at Oberlin College, when Cornell played there one year."

"They had twin brothers on the team. The management dressed them alike and you couldn't tell them apart. One played the outfield and he was absolutely worthless as a ball player, the average kid on the sand lots could have beaten him. The other one might have won fame in the majors, for he could hit at a terrific clip."

Gossip of the Squared Circle How Famous Boxers Live

There never was a man who respected his home and loved his wife and children more than Jack Dempsey, the Nonpareil. They were all the world to him, and when he was a purse by dint of hard fighting in the ring nearly all his winnings went to his home at Portland, Ore., where he died a lingering death, a victim of consumption. This game fellow is buried near his old homestead, without a stone to mark his grave. In his prime he was one of the most popular fighters this country has ever known.

Eddie Price.

Ed Price, who died about a year ago, was a striking example of a domestic pugilist. Price in his young days was a topnotcher in the heavy-knuckle division, and took part in many bare knuckle encounters on the turf. He was a self-made man. He studied hard and became a noted lawyer, playwright and linguist. He owned a valuable city residence, and also a large estate near President Roosevelt's summer home at Oyster Bay, Long Island, and an extensive library were found with him. He was worth about $250,000 when he died.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien owns a house in Quakerville, built after his own design. He calls it "The House That Jack Built." O'Brien also possesses much real estate and takes care of the members of his family in excellent style.

Matty Matthews.

When Matty Matthews is not riding the diving horses at the Hippodrome, he is found in a comfortable little home in South Brooklyn, which he owns outright. Matthews' fighting days were over some time ago, but he knew enough to provide for a rainy day, and now enjoys life without a care.

Billy Madden.

Billy Madden, once John L.'s manager, has a residence in South Brooklyn, where he lives quietly with his wife and son. Billy Meyer, who fought McAuliffe for the lightweight championship in 1922, has a splendid mansion in New Orleans. Jack Fallon, known in his fighting days as "the Brooklyn Strong Boy," is a policeman, and when off duty he takes life easy at his home in Flatbush. Jimmy Britt is proud of his residence in San Francisco, while Eddie Currie is raising a big family up in the Bronx.

In the local market contained a dangerous amount of sulphuric acid, the authorities proceeded to destroy all stocks on hand.

Pity is a commendable feeling so long as we don't squander it upon ourselves.

A curious barometer is used by the remnant of the Araucanian race, which inhabits the southernmost province of Chile. It consists of the castoff shell of a crab. The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather, but the approach of a moist atmosphere is indicated by the appearance of small red spots. If the moisture in the air increases sufficiently the shell becomes entirely red.

Sporting Jottings From Scissors, Pen and Wire

After a two months' rest, George Bonhag, of the Irish-American Athletic Club, the world's champion long distance runner, has begun active training in preparation for the outdoor season, which begins the early part of next month.

Bonhag is particularly anxious to make the Olympic team which will represent America in London this summer, and with that object in view the conqueror of Tom Longboat, the phenomenal Indian runner, has entered into the task of getting in perfect shape with a view to the Olympic team.

Although he has only been training a short time, he is already in such form that experts say he will win the first time he starts, and that he will qualify in the "try-outs" for the Olympic team is conceded by all his rivals.

In a recent trial Bonhag ran the fast hundred yards of a five-mile journey in a fraction less than 11 seconds. When in the best of shape Bonhag has been known to run the last "hundred" repeatedly in 10 to 4.5 seconds.

CUBS PLAYING ROUGH HOUSE.

At Birmingham, Alabama, a few days ago the Chicago Cubs mobbed an umpire who had given some raw decisions against them. Harry Steinfeld was arrested, but "his umps" refused to prosecute him. The Cubs are commencing to grow a trifle chesty since they began wearing uniforms that are lettered "World Champions," and only the iron rule of President Pulliam will make them play a game void of all rowdism.

Mr. Cochran, former manager of Hackenschmidt, has sent the following cable:

"The Evening World, New York: 'Will match Zibysco to wrestle Frank Gotch, any sum to £1,000 a side. C. B. COCHRAN.' If Zibysco comes over to 'wrestle' Gotch, Mr. Cochran had better first retain old Jim Mace to coach Zibysco in all the thumb-sticking, elbowing, eye-gouging trickery of the old London prize ring days.

RUBIO WAS CHEAP.

Speaking of Rubio, the American horse who won the Grand National Steeplechase in England recently, a well-known turfman says that in 1898 J. B. Haggin sent a consignment of about forty fillies to England, where at auction they realized an average of $900. This led to the shipment of a band of colts in 1899, but, although one, Convamore, sold for $3,500, the experiment was not as paying as had been hoped for, and further shipments were stopped. It was as member of this band that Rubio landed in England. Evidently he did not appear attractive to buyers, as he was knocked down to Mr. D. Pennant for $75.

HOGTOWN AGAIN.

Toronto has walked off with another Hamilton athlete, although it may not be for long. Ralph Bowron, who was one of the best sprinters at the Y. M. C. A., outside of Bobby Kerr, has gone to Toronto to become assistant secretary of the C. A. A. U. It is said that the position is not a permanent one, as Mr. Crow needed some help in union matters until after the Olympic games. But it is good betting that if Bowron looks good to the Toronto athletic clubs, a permanent situation will be secured for him after the Olympic rush is over. Bowron is a good athlete, and being young, has his best days as an athlete ahead of him. —Hamilton Herald.

EAGER TO GO EARLY.

Great enthusiasm prevailed at the meeting called last night to discuss the Olympic situation. Great eagerness to send Kerr and Coley to England in advance of the rest of the team was shown, and this will be pushed the strongest. There is no doubt but that the Olympic commissioners have left the test games till too late a date and that the Canadians will suffer owing to the lack of time to become properly acclimatized. The Americans will have at least one week's good start.—Hamilton Spectator.

DIAMOND NOTES.

A number of catchers of both big leagues have adopted the shin guards, which were introduced last summer by Roger Bresnahan, the catcher of the Giants.

George McConnell, who will pitch next season instead of playing first base for the Bisons, is said to be a master of the "knuckle ball," which is an improvement on the old-time "float."

The Baltimore Club will lose the services of infielder Beach, the Amherst College graduate. He gives no reason for his retirement, but it is believed that he contemplates going into business in Minneapolis.

The big league recruits are on the anxious seat sure enough these last few days, for the time is fast arriving when it will be determined whether they are to remain as big leaguers or go back to help fill up the ranks of some minor league.

The Bisons are still after Evans, now with the Giants. McGraw, however, may not be able to get waivers on Evans, and may carry him in preference to allowing his going to some other club. Buffalo needs a man like Evans badly.

The Bisons' herd are now invading the Virginia League territory, a series of games having been arranged with the different teams of that league, commencing at Danville.

Joe Delehanty, brother of Jim, once of the Herd, and many others, is said to be sure of his job in the outfield of the St. Louis Cardinals. He is said to more closely resemble his brother, the late Ed, than any other member of the family.

The Montreal Club has made offers to Manager Chance of the "Cubs" for players Elston and Walsh. Casey and Chance are good friends, and Jimmie will most likely land both of them. Walsh, who is a brother of the Sox twirler, is almost as good as Ed. himself.

Referee Billy Rocap, once amateur champion of America, made a sound like a gong that article of ring furniture having been overlooked, and the light began. "Kid" Biddle, as his friends at the ringside dubbed him, hopped up willingly and began waltzing around O'Brien, swinging both hands furiously and trying to land a Dutch windmill punch. O'Brien kept out of range. Evidently he intended to wear his opponent down by making him miss. Just to keep warm, Jack punched the padded posts as he hopped by them.

Put His Head in the Way.

After a minute of milling, he stopped and held the top of his head in the way of Mr. Biddle's swings, which were falling at an angle of about 87 degrees. O'Brien's hair was badly lacerated, and he slipped a counter over on Mr. Biddle's nose to save himself. Immediately Referee Rocap made another sound like a gong, and Mr. Biddle retired to put powder on his beak, which was looking red and shiny. Time of round, two minutes.

The second round started with a whirlwind of punches, all delivered by O'Brien on the ring posts. Just to "kid" Mr. Biddle, the Philadelphia skipper lightly away from him and punched the posts hard as he passed. In a minute and a half Mr. Biddle gave up the stern chase and retired to his corner to recover breath. During the interval foaming beakers of beer were passed around the ringside, and the crowd sang "Waltz Me Around Again, Willie," while Jack joined in the chorus. A. J. D. B. was so short of breath to sing.

The third round lasted 45 seconds, at the end of which time Mr. Biddle, putting like a grampus (whatever that may be) again retired to his corner to mend his bellows. The fourth round lasted ten seconds. Anthony J. Drexel swung twice, and lost his breath, and the referee said "Clang" in time to save them. There wasn't any fifth round. They were filling Mr. Biddle's lungs with an automobile tire pump.

Interest Centering In Noah Case Trial Opens Thursday Afternoon

The Witnesses Have Been Subpoenaed—Both Sides Preparing for Surprises.

Considerable interest is being evinced in the Noah murder trial, which comes up before Mr. Justice Riddell at the courthouse tomorrow. In all there will be 38 witnesses examined, and it is expected that the trial, exclusive of the time the jury is out, will take about a day and a half. But one day was utilized on the occasion of the young Indian prisoner's first trial, but there were fewer witnesses.

Of the number subpoenaed, 16 are for the defense and 22 for the crown. Tomorrow's Session.

Judge Riddell is expected to arrive in the city shortly after 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and it is probable that he will at once take up one of the three civil actions and dispose of it before the Noah trial begins. Nearly all of the witnesses for the latter case are Muncney and Chippewa Indians, and they will not arrive in London until 1 o'clock.

In the event of any of the witnesses who gave evidence at the first trial failing to appear, their former testimony will be read to the jury. So far as can be learned, the evidence will be practically the same as that at the first trial, although both sides are preparing for surprises.

Noah Undisturbed.
In the meantime, while the lawyers are working with might and main to secure evidence against or for him, as the case might be, Thomas Noah, the accused, is taking life as easy as it is possible to take it in jail, and gives no sign that he will shortly be tried for his life at the bar of justice.

One of the notable features of the trial is the fact that Mr. Riddell, the presiding judge, was at one time one of the most famous criminal lawyers in Canada.

Big Improvements To Lake Harbors Being Made By Dominion Gov't

Haney & Miller Are at Work at Port Stanley—Goderich Will Be Improved.

All the harbors on the lakes are now open for navigation and before the summer is over, many very important improvements will have been completed which will add materially to making Port Stanley and Goderich two of the finest and safest harbors in the country.

Messrs. Haney & Miller, of Toronto, are busy with the work of building a breakwater 1,000 feet long at Port Stanley. It will be in the shape of an "L," extending out into the lake from the end of the old Pere Marquette coal docks for a distance of 200 feet, and then sheering off almost at right angles towards the southeast for 800 feet.

This will bring the end of the "L" almost directly in a straight line with the Government dock.

A Good Harbor.
The breakwater will be ten feet above the water and the harbor thus formed will be one of the most secure on the lakes. When the breakwater is completed, the harbor will be dredged to a uniform depth of 21 feet, sufficient to accommodate any boat on the lakes. It is designed especially to make Port Stanley a harbor of refuge for Lake Erie.

Goderich Harbor.
William Birmingham, of Ottawa, has commenced work on the superstructure for a similar breakwater in Goderich harbor.

The dimensions will be almost the same and the breakwater there will consist of a close-faced crib structure with stone ballast and mass concrete superstructure.

Goderich harbor has always been one of the most difficult to enter in heavy weather and it is expected that the new breakwater will prevent wrecks.

Terrible Tale of a Diamond Ring Joy and Happiness It Didn't Bring

Lady Has It and Holds It Yet—Suits for Damages It May Beget.

A diamond ring, with a romance attached to it, was the cause of a considerable scene in a downtown court yesterday afternoon. The ring, which had been stolen from a young lady, was found in the possession of a man who had been keeping company with a young man for a considerable length of time.

Matters had progressed so far that a diamond engagement ring was tendered the lady as a token that her lover's affections were the real candy.

A day was set for the wedding, but as it approached the male part of the sketch began to worry somewhat. A coyness was evident.

The young lady still kept the diamond ring.

He asked her for the ring, but she refused to give it up.

This week he came to the store, but he was accompanied by his wife. To enforce his request for the ring he pointed to his wife as an additional reason why the sparkler should be coming his way.

This was more than the young lady with the ring could stand, and she took refuge in a woman's prerogative and swooned.

She collapsed on the floor, and in a few moments there was a commotion. A policeman was called in from the beat to see what was the trouble.

As he was not expert at patching up love matters, he left, saying that he could do nothing.

The man and his wife departed, leaving the ring with the young lady. In the meantime she recovered, and it is said, although the young lady would not discuss the matter, that she will sue the man for tampering with her affections.

She will still sell candy, and will not be married soon.

Looked in Can, Was Almost Canned

A little boy, about 4 years old, who said his name was Russell Conway, and that he lived on King street, got into trouble of a peculiar kind yesterday afternoon near the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets.

The boy was playing about the curb with another youngster, when he took it into his head to look into a wastepaper can.

In one corner of the can was a little tin box, which he no sooner saw than he wanted it.

The boy's legs were short, but he managed to climb up and get half his body in the can. When he tried to get out the lid caught in his coat and held him fast.

People passing saw a pair of little legs kicking wildly for a few minutes, while from within the can came muffled shrieks.

It was several minutes before anyone realized what had happened, and then a gentleman pushed the lid up and released the boy.

No Power Re Shunting of the Cars

City Engineer Graydon this morning made out his report on the request of Ald. Moorhead that something be done to prevent the C. P. R. shunting cars across Adelaide street, concerning which there has been many complaints.

"I have no power in the matter at all," said Mr. Graydon. "All that I can do is to write to the C. P. R. and if the company does not want to stop it, I cannot force the company to do so. I have advised the council repeatedly to put a gate at this crossing, but nothing has been done. I would advise that the matter be referred to the Dominion railway commission, and in this manner something might be accomplished."

Stolen Copper Has Been Recovered

Detective Rider made a good haul this morning when he recovered some 500 pounds of copper and brass that had been stolen from the Southwestern Traction Company.

The copper and brass had been sold to a junk dealer named Morris Left on Bathurst street.

When the discovery was made that Left had the goods, the stuff was loaded into a wagon, taken to the city weigh scales and weighed, and then taken to the stationhouse.

Arrests will probably be made today.

Richmond Street Store Burglarized

An entrance was made in the rear of the shoe store of Richard Slater, on Richmond street, near the C. P. R. tracks, last night, and thirteen pairs of shoes were taken.

The thieves gained admittance by a window in the rear of the shop.

Detectives Nickle and Egeiton began work on the case shortly after the robbery was discovered, and almost cornered their men soon afterward.

The culprits, however, managed to escape.

They are well known to the detectives, and will be apprehended before long, unless they give themselves up in the meantime.

Case Postponed.

Suddenly Called Away.

Dr. Townner, of Chicago, who has been taking such an active part in the evangelistic services at Adelaide Street Church, received a telegram last evening announcing the illness of Mrs. Townner, and left for home soon after the close of the meetings. Dr. Townner was to have stayed in London another day, and Mr. Greenlee, an old friend and associate, has kindly consented to take his place in leading the choir. Last night's meeting was well attended, and fruitful in results. The services will go on for three nights more.

They Want Farm Laborers.

Toronto Globe: The demand for good farm laborers keeps up nearly every part of Ontario. Mr. J. H. Mooney, editor of The Ripley Advance, who is also an immigration agent for the county of Bruce, is in the city looking for men, and has applications for about fifty, and he has about a score coming from Scotland, who are expected daily. The rest he is endeavoring to get at the city immigration offices at the Union Station. An application for seventy-five farm laborers was received from Mitchell yesterday, and a number are wanted near St. Marys.

GRANT—EVANS

Marriage of a Popular Couple at Noon Today.

Miss Ada Evans, of this city, was quietly married to Mr. Charles E. Grant, of Grand Rapids, Mich., today at noon, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Evans, 343 Dundas street.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. E. B. Lancelotti, Miss Ethel Smith, of Leamington, acted as bridesmaid, and Dr. Evans of Sheddin, was groomsmen.

The bride was attired in a blue traveling gown.

A British scientist has spoken Mahoney, of St. Mary's Cathedral, yesterday. Some people, he said, were engaged half a dozen times before they were married. "In case of a breach of promise such a document would also prove very valuable in the courts of the land," he added.

Increased Revenue From the Water Commission Is Expected.

The tax rate is the most important feature of the city hall gossip this week. According to the figures submitted yesterday, there will have to be a large sum cut off the estimates to bring the rate within 21 mills.

At least $30,000 will have to be struck off before this can be accomplished.

Among the items that may be slashed are the following:
Street watering, $5,000 more than last year.
City hall lavatories, $1,400.
Storm sewer, East End, $6,000.
Tile on Egerton street, $375.
Market, broken stone, $600.
Vegetable scales and conveniences, $5,000.
Drinking fountains, $700.

Exhibition buildings, $3,000, just $1,000 more than last year.
Park greenhouse, $6,500.
City hall lavatories, $1,400.
Storm sewer, East End, $6,000.
Tile on Egerton street, $375.
Market, broken stone, $600.
Vegetable scales and conveniences, $5,000.
Drinking fountains, $700.

These reach a total of $31,975. Of this the improvements to the exhibition grounds amounting to $3,000 will possibly have to be made as they are much needed. The drinking fountains were voted on last year and that item may have to go. The repairs to the courthouse are said to be absolutely necessary. With these three items out of the way, there is still a sum of $26,975 which may be cut off.

The figures of the water commission may be pared somewhat. This year the estimated receipts will be $29,000, but there is a sum of $27,000 to be expended out of the revenue. If this sum is issued in debentures, as it is possible to do, as it was last year, the total revenue from the board will reach over $56,000.

This will give the council at least over $53,000 more to work on than the council of 1907 had, and will bring the expenditures well within the amount of taxes estimated for the year, and will make it possible for the finance committee to strike a rate of about 20 1/2 mills, or perhaps 21 at the outside.

It should be pointed out, of course, that the city has to pay the water commission $15 per year for each hydrant, and this amount is charged up by the commission and returned as a surplus to the council.

Chatham Girl Has Disappeared Was Working in East London

Relatives Alarmed At Absence of Miss Everly—A Mystifying Case.

The mysterious disappearance of a certain young lady is causing her friends much uneasiness. Miss Everly, of Chatham, who was employed in the East End, left London for her home in Chatham.

She arrived safely, and spent the week-end there.

On Tuesday she boarded a train for London, but since that time she has not been seen nor heard from. She informed her intimate friends that she was coming to the city, but she did not arrive.

Nothing was thought of the matter until the other evening, when the girl's parents in Chatham telephoned Mr. Laid, of the Tecumseh House, who has been keeping company with her, asking if she had come to the city.

He had not seen her, and he became alarmed.

Inquiries among her friends elicited no information as to her whereabouts. Mr. Laid thinks that the girl has either met with foul play or there is some conspiracy.

The girl left for London over a week ago, and she has not yet arrived.

This is what is worrying Mr. Laid. It is rumored that the girl is in Detroit, but this could not be confirmed.

City Should Have Last Say As To Disposition of Streets

The Council Opposed To Legislation—Abrogating Right To Itself.

first introduced in the House the municipalities communicated with the Government and were promised an opportunity to express their views on the section which they believed would take away the rights of cities to say where street railway lines should be located within their boundaries. Consequently a deputation composed of Mayor Oliver and members of the board of control, except Controller Phillips, went to Ottawa.

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling, which is so prevalent at this time of year.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERSThat Tired Feeling.

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of year."

Uses It Every Spring.

Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and keeps me in the best of health. It is excellent for the blood."

"SPRING MEDICINE"NO PRODUCE ON MARKET TODAY

One Solitary Load of Straw at $7.50 Per Ton—Weekly Review.

LOCAL MARKET.

London, Wednesday, April 8. There was not much offered at the market today.

One load of straw sold at $7.50 per ton. There was no hay, oats or in fact any other farm products offered.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

There was a good demand in nearly every line of farm produce at the markets held here during the past week. There were no complaints from the farmers about prices, as every line represented held firm, and for dressed and live hogs, and also oats, there was a substantial increase.

Grain—Oats are in good demand and the supply is on the light side; sales are made at $1.57 to $1.60 per cwt. Wheat is steady at $2.00 per bu. Occasionally a load of barley is offered, which sells at $1.35 per cwt.

Hay and Straw—There was a much brisker demand for hay the past week than was the case the previous week; those who have been predicting that we would have a dry crop in the spring are not considered good prophets, as from the present outlook there are no indications that prices will reach the low level mentioned for some time to come; there is, however, a large quantity of hay to be marketed, and it is generally considered that there will be a decline in prices before the new crop is placed on the market; sales are made at present at $12 to $14 per ton for clover hay, and $14 to $15 for timothy. Straw is selling mostly at $7.50 per ton.

Butter and Eggs—Contrary to expectations the price of butter continues to be high, and the demand is brisk at $2 to $2.10 for choice crocks and $1.75 for poorer rolls; for store lots 2c to 2.5c. Eggs are firmer than a week ago; sales are made mostly at 16c and 16 1/2c per dozen for crate and basket.

Potatoes—The demand is not quite as brisk as was the case a week or so ago; prices are fairly well maintained, at 90c to $1 per bag for wholesale.

Apples—Prices are a trifle high for the best grades; good Spies sell at $2 per barrel, and one lot of extra choice sold at Tuesday's market at $2.20 per barrel; for inferior stock $1.25 to $1.50 per barrel.

Poultry—The demand for turkeys is brisk, at 15c to 16c per lb. alive, and 10c to 12c for dressed; chickens, 10c to 12c per lb. alive and 12c to 13c for dressed; old fowl, 10c to 12c per lb. alive, and 10c to 12c for dressed; the dealers expect that prices will hold firm until after Easter.

Dressed Hogs—Prices are higher, and the demand is good for this time of the year; sales are made at present at $8.25 per cwt.

Live Hogs—The price paid here last Monday was $6 per cwt.; as the market is strong, there is an advance in prices for next Monday's shipment; small pigs are higher, at $5 to $6 per pair for pigs 6 to 8 weeks old.

Hides—There is no change in the prices of hides, which sell at 4c per lb. for No. 1, 3c for No. 2, and 2c for No. 3 grades; calfskins sell at 8c per lb., and sheepskins at 25c to $1 per skin.

Wool—Unless there is a change in the situation, wool will likely sell lower this season than last year. The market is fair; sales are made at $1.10 and $1.15 per gallon wholesale.

PRODUCE MARKET.

Toronto, April 8.—The export situation continues to interfere with business locally. The beginning of export orders would soon clear out local stocks, and then an advance might be expected. Prices are:

Wheat—Manitoba No. 1 northern, $1.20; No. 2 northern, $1.10; feed wheat, 80c; No. 2 feed, 60c, on track at Georgian Bay ports; for May delivery, No. 1 northern, $1.15; No. 2 northern, $1.10; No. 3 northern, $1.05; Ontario No. 2 white, 30c to 35c; at mixed, 80c; goose, 80c.

DAIRY MARKETS.
LIVERPOOL DAIRY REPORT, WEEK ENDING MARCH 27.
(Hodgson-Bros' Letter.)

Cheese.—The demand has been moderate, the influence of the free arrivals and stocks of New Zealand in London being reflected in the trade on Canadian. EFFORT TO KEEP EMMA GOLDMAN FROM LEAVING CANADA FOILEDThe Notorious Female Anarchist Proved Right To Cross Border.

Emerson, Man., April 7. — Emma Goldman, the female anarchist, won a victory over the Washington Government today, when its officers tried to keep her from returning to the United States. She was taken from the flyer last night, while en route from Winnipeg to St. Paul, by United States Immigration Inspector Carr. She created a scene in the sleeper, swore she was an anarchist, but declared she was an American citizen; and defied the authorities to keep her out of the United States.

They forced her to leave Noyes, on the United States side of the border, and she returned to Emerson. Later she was examined as to her citizenship. Apparently she anticipated trouble, for she carried with her the necessary proof that her father was an American citizen. The authorities then permitted her to pass and she went on to St. Paul tonight.

The woman conducted her case with lawyer-like skill, and displayed much ingenuity in the cross-examination of the United States officials. It developed she had been under surveillance of the Washington Secret Service since arriving in Winnipeg. She left here mysteriously yesterday, on being informed that United States authorities were preparing to prevent her return to the United States. She said to the reporters that she was going direct to New York and would show her true colors.

The Canadian authorities were much exercised over the apparent determination of the United States to saddle the "Queen of the Reds" on Canada, and were preparing to make the incident a strong diplomatic affair.

ROAD TO HUDSON'S BAY IN SIGHT

Ottawa, April 7.—This was western members' day in the House practically the whole of the afternoon and evening sittings being devoted to a discussion raised by Mr. Knowles, who urged that the Government consider the advisability of immediate action for the construction of a railway to Fort Churchill, on the Hudson's Bay. All the speakers were in favor of the project, declaring that they voiced the opinions of the people of the west, where the question is now regarded as one of vital importance. The concrete expression of Liberal views was a motion by Mr. Cranney, which carried without a division. Hon. Frank Oliver said the question was under consideration, and it might be possible for a Government to make an announcement before the end of the session.

Man Condemned To Death Is Acquitted On Second Trial.

Montreal, April 7.—Wallace McCraw, on trial at Three Rivers for the murder of Percy Howard Slater at Grande Anse, Quebec, in 1905, was this evening declared not guilty by the jury and set at liberty. This was McCraw's second trial. The first trial resulted in a conviction, and McCraw was sentenced to death, but he was granted a new trial by the court of appeal. The verdict of not guilty was reached by the jury after twenty minutes' deliberation. The large crowd of people about the courthouse cheered and shook hands with McCraw after he was set at liberty.

The murder of Percy Slater took place at Grande Anse, a small settlement in the wilds of Quebec, where Slater lived with his wife, a half-breed. Disputes between the couple were frequent, and Slater was a member of a good family, treating his wife with contempt. McCraw was the hired man. On the night of the murder Slater went to the stable, and McCraw shortly afterwards left the house. Slater's dead body was found in the stable with several bullet wounds. Both Mrs. Slater and McCraw were arrested. Mrs. Slater was tried first and after a sensational trial was declared not guilty. McCraw was then put on trial, convicted, and sentenced to death.

LONDON PEOPLE IN TROUBLE IN ST. THOMAS
Railroad City Police Make a Successful Raid Monday Night.

The St. Thomas Journal says: As the result of a raid made by a number of the local police at 5:30 Monday night, on 181 Talbot street, situated in the Victoria block, five men and two women were arrested and locked up in the police station.

The keeper of the house is Wilbur Slaughter (colored), well known in the city, and the inmates were Greg Jackson, also colored, Levi Antoine, an Indian; Percy M. Simpson, Douglas McConnell, Nellie Sutherland and May Powell, all of London.

The Forest City visitors said they came over to the city on Monday night on a traction car, and when found they had in their possession several boxes of cocaine and a small bottle of whiskey. The arrests were made by Chief Armstrong, Sgt. Ketchum and Constables Robert McCully and James Geddes. The house has a back stairway, and two of the officers proceeded that way, while the other two took the front passage, and all the inmates were caught without the possibility of an escape. The four Londoners are very respectable looking people, and appeared greatly agitated when placed in the cells. They were all more or less under the influence of cocaine.

They will come up before Police Magistrate Glenn, and his worship no doubt will have his hands full in disposing of the bunch.
Wilbur Slaughter was charged at the police court with keeping a house of ill-fame, to which he pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried summarily. He was found guilty on the charge, however, by Police Magistrate Glenn, and was remanded until next Thursday at 9:30 o'clock for sentence.

The balance of the party were charged with frequenting the above house, to which they pleaded guilty. Each one testified to the bad reputation of the house. They were also remanded until Thursday morning, when they will receive their sentence.

MILLIONAIRE ONCE EARNED $6 A WEEK
Canadian Made a Fortune in the U. S. by His Organizing Ability.

A St. Thomas dispatch says: Byron Nugent, who died Sunday in St. Louis, worth a million dollars, started his drygoods career in this city as clerk at $6 a week. That was nearly forty years ago.

Nugent was born in Marysburg, Prince Edward County, and while a boy his father, who is now dead, moved to Belmont, near here. Young Nugent then came to St. Thomas, which was beginning to boom, and engaged with Robert Carey, a drygoods man, for $300 a year. The next year he was with Thomas-Arrell, who kept a drygoods store here in those days, at $3 a week.

Few persons here now recall him, but the late Charles Spohn, who died a few months ago, was intimate with him and corresponded with him to the time of Spohn's death. Those who do remember him and know him through Spohn, say that Nugent was not much of a salesman or buyer. His forte was organization. This was demonstrated when, after a few years here, he went to Toronto and then drifted to a small place out of Chicago, where he made some money. Thirty years ago he went to St. Louis and started business on principles that made him compared to Timothy Eaton as an organizer. His brothers joined him, and together they amassed a great fortune.

MARCONI CLUB HONORS MEMBER

A Complimentary Banquet Tendered Mr. C. Catalano, Who Returned From Abroad.

A complimentary banquet was tendered last night by the members of the Marconi Club to Mr. C. Catalano, who has just returned from a trip to Europe. The affair was a splendid success, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the members.

At 7 o'clock a large number of the members of the club assembled at the club rooms and sat down to a splendid dinner. After this had been done justice to, the president, Mr. S. Sansone, introduced the toast list.

After the regular toasts had been drunk Mr. Sansone referred to the guest of the evening, Mr. Catalano, whom the members of the club were delighted to see back among them after a most enjoyable trip abroad. He spoke of the interest Mr. Catalano had always taken in the organization of the club, and he was recognized as the prime mover in its organization.

Mr. F. Fenech followed, and he, too, paid a tribute to the worth of Mr. Catalano. It was due alone to the efforts of Mr. Catalano that the club had been organized, and it was because of his untiring efforts on its behalf that it had proved so great a success. The members were glad to have him back, and they wished him continued prosperity.

Mr. D. Cusolito also spoke of the splendid qualities of Mr. Catalano, and expressed his great pleasure at welcoming him back. The Marconi Club certainly owed a great debt of gratitude to Mr. Catalano.

Several other members spoke along the same lines.

Mr. Catalano's Reply.

In responding to the toast, Mr. Catalano declared that it was a great pleasure to return to Canada. He thanked them for their kindly feelings, and he expressed the hope that he might be able to do yet better for the club. He gave a vivid account of his trip abroad, and related many of the pleasant incidents he had encountered while away. He then presented each of the members with a silk handkerchief from Italy, with the monogram of the club on each.

The rest of the evening was spent with songs and music, in which nearly all the members took part.

The orchestra of Tony Cortese, Jun., ten pieces strong, played splendidly during the evening.

The gathering broke up at an early hour, and was voted the most successful in the history of the club.

They are hoping for a fine day, large gatherings and liberal contributions.

FARMER LOST A VALUABLE HORSE
Joseph Henderson in Bad Runaway on Talbot Street Yesterday.

Mr. Joseph Henderson, of Hyde Park, lost a valuable horse in a runaway accident yesterday afternoon on Talbot street.

Mr. Henderson was driving up Talbot street, when a bolt fell out, allowing the wagon tongue to fall. This frightened the team, which turned quickly, the wagon running ahead until it struck the curb with such force as to throw Mr. Henderson and his little son out.

The horse that was injured struck a tree a short distance away with such force that its back and right hind leg were broken. The animal died within a short time.

The other horse continued down Talbot street until captured at the market.

Mr. Henderson valued the animal killed at $125.

SCHOLES-SMITH
Pretty Wedding in Lambeth—Young Couple Leave for Oregon.

A very pretty wedding took place on the afternoon of April 2, at the residence of Mr. F. White, Lambeth, when Miss Charlotte Smith and Mr. Joseph Scholes were united in marriage by the Rev. R. G. Edelstein. The bride, who was given away by Mr. White, wore her going-away gown of brown panama, with cream point d'esprit waist, and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Margaret Archer, of Askin street, South London, wore natural pongee silk, trimmed in pink, and carried pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. George Brooks, of Stratford.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold chain; to the bridesmaid, a pearl crescent, and to the groomsmen, a pearl stick pin. The presents were numerous and costly, among them being a case of sterling silver teaspoons from Trinity Church, Lambeth, where the bride was an active worker in the choir and Sunday school, and a solid gold watch and silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. White.

About thirty invited guests sat down to the wedding dinner, Rev. Mr. Edelstein proposing the health of the bride which was responded to by the groom. Today (April 8), Mr. and Mrs. Scholes leave for their future home in Ontario, Oregon, where Mr. Scholes who is a promising young railroad man, holds a position. Mr. Scholes is a former resident of Lambeth, where he was well and favorably known, and a host of friends wish the young couple happiness and success in their new home.

WM. CROSBY FINED $5 AND COSTS
Had Been Drinking and Made Wild Charges Against Hotelman.

William Crosby, a young man who says he comes from New Hampshire, last night accused W. F. Hodgins, the proprietor of the Hodgins House, of stealing some money from him.

In a few moments he became so abusive that the police had to be called, as he threatened to tear down the house, and wanted to fight everybody around.

In court this morning he said he had been drinking, and that that was the cause of the trouble. Magistrate Love imposed a fine of $5.

Alfred Hall, a young man charged with being a vagrant, was remanded to jail for a week.

Five first-time drunks walked away rejoicing.

WATCH FASCINATED A FARMER'S BOY
But His Former Good Character Saved Him From Prison.

In the juvenile court this morning a boy 15 years old, who hails from West Nisour, was charged with stealing a gold watch from a farmer.

The watch, he said, had irresistibly fascinated him, and he took it. He expressed the utmost contrition for the deed and promised never to let such a thing occur again.

In view of the excellent character of the boy, Magistrate Love allowed him to go after giving him some good advice.

Al. H. Wilson Tonight.
Al. H. Wilson, in his new version of "Metz in the Alps," is the bill at the Grand tonight. "Metz in the Alps" is from the pen of Sidney R. Ellis, and unlike other plays in which Mr. Wilson established himself more as a singer than anything else, this production is said to have considerable action, and the four acts are well timed and each has a distinct climax.

During the action of the play, Mr. Wilson will sing some of his very latest successes, among which are "Fairer Flower of All," "Songs of Old Fatherland," and "Wilson's Lullaby."

"Bonnie Briar Bush."
The play of all plays dear to the hearts of the Canadian people, "The Bonnie Briar Bush," which comes to the Grand Friday evening, is a dramatization by James MacArthur of the late Ian MacLaren's story of the same name, and it depicts his life in the land of whose lochs and heathery hills inspired the great song poet, Robert Burns. If in his not very long but useful life, Ian MacLaren or Rev. John Watson, which was his real name, had given the world nothing but "The Bonnie Briar Bush" his life would not have been lived in vain. It is distinctly a play of heart interest, while its comedy is wholesome and natural.

Frank Daniels.
At the Grand on Saturday evening Charles Dillingham will present his favorite comedian, Frank Daniels, in his latest comic opera success, "The

EYE GRATITUDE!
Why Bother With Poor-Fitting Glasses

Or take the risk of injuring your eyes when you can get from us, for the same price, or less, lenses that are as perfect optically and mechanically as it is possible to supply?
If you are obliged to wear glasses you will understand what is meant by "eye gratitude." It is that ease and comfort which can only be supplied by our Toric Lenses, and if you want your eyes to give you a practical illustration of eye gratitude, come in and let us examine your eyes, and fit a pair of our Torics, and the gratitude will be lasting.

Don't visit London without calling on us. Remember, glasses are made as low as $1 per pair.
