TWO BRANT SOLDIERS WIN D.C.M.

Sergeant W.W. Hamilton and Private W. Hart, Both Late of 38th Dufferin Rifles Regiment, Gain Decoration for Bravery While Under Heavy Fire.

BRANTFORD VOLUNTEERS HONORED

Two Lads Gain the D. C. M.—Served in the Duffs.

A card received by Mr. F. Mackie states that Sergt. W. W. Hamilton, late the signalling sergeant to the 38th D.R.C., and Pte. W. Hart, late of the same corps, have been recommended for and have received the D.C.M. for cool bravery under fire in keeping the telephone communications open with the rear.

Both soldiers are well known locally, one being a Scottish lad who previously served in the old Fifth Battalion, A. and S. H. (Paisley); the other, Pte. Hart, had fifteen months' service in the R.C.R. and was three years in the Dufferins. Both are single men, and their next-of-kin reside in the Old Country.

Many members of the 38th will rejoice to hear of this success, and it is anticipated that the precedent set in wiring congratulations to the officers promoted will be followed by cabling the recipients of decorations for bravery who left here in the ranks.

PEACE CANNOT BE—BRITAIN IS THE ENEMY

So Say German Journals To-day—She Must be Crushed.

Berlin, Sept. 3, via Amsterdam—(Montreal Gazette)—"No peace is possible before England has been definitely defeated and the supremacy of the seas wrested from her."
This, in substance, is the trend of the German press comment to-day. Most of the leading journals demand that the government prosecute the war until that aim has been accomplished, and urges that all efforts should be devoted against Great Britain.

Count Ernst Von Reventlow, the naval expert of the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, who wrote some bitter articles against the United States after the sinking of the Lusitania, says to-day in his paper:
"Britain alone remains our mortal foe. The German Empire does not dream of ruling Europe, despite efforts of the British to throw dust in the eyes of neutrals. Germany desires after defeating her enemies, to insure herself against attacks and to create a Europe in which the recurrence of the present situation will be impossible."
"This, however, is possible only after the annihilation of the power of the continental conspiracies and wars has been placed hors de combat and confined to its islands."

THE OTHER WAY
New York, Sept. 3.—A London cable to the Tribune says:
"Much discussion has occurred recently regarding whether the phrase 'freedom of the seas,' in Sir Edward Grey's letter to the newspapers, had any bearing on the possibilities of early peace negotiations."
To-day it is authoritatively stated to the Tribune correspondent that the phrase had no such meaning. The attitude of Great Britain toward peace is still unchanged since the pronouncement of Asquith and Gray last fall."

Second Canadian Division Reviewed and is Ready

LONDON, Sept. 3.—His Majesty the King, accompanied by Lord Kitchener and staff, reviewed the Canadians in the Shorncliffe district and Beechborough Park yesterday. General Steele commanded. Other Canadians present were: General R. E. W. Turner of Quebec, General Carson of Montreal, Major Jarvis, Colonel Kincaid. All battalions belonging to the second contingent were represented in the march-past, being accompanied by massed Canadian bands. Afterwards the King complimented General Steele on the fine appearance of the officers and men. The Canadians gave hearty cheers for the King. Major Sir Arthur Markham of the Queen's Canadian Military Hospital was presented to His Majesty, who after wards left from Shorncliffe Station, the road being lined by Canadian troops. Large numbers of people watched His Majesty's departure.

"BLIND MAN'S BUFF" PLAYED BY ARTILLERY AROUND LA BASSEE

Dust and Shells Stir the Air—Quiet Corners are Scarce—Visitors to This Section Are Poor Risks for Life Insurance Companies.

(By Frederick Palmer.)
British Headquarters, France, July 18.—There are points along the British front which see nothing but desultory shell fire and sniping weeks and months on end, points where neither side has made an attack through the winter and spring. These are known as quiet corners. A practical stalemate exists. Neither Briton nor German finds any object in trying for a gain. Troops who have been in the thick of it elsewhere are sometimes sent to these regions for a rest and a change.
Other points—points which stick out, as it were—are known as "hot corners," where the guns and rifles seem always busy. Such has been the La Bassee region during the month of June. Probably the fighting is all the harder here because it is so largely blind. When you cannot see what your enemy is doing you take no risks with him. You keep pumping shells into the area which he occupies.
A HIDDEN COUNTRY.
A visitor may see about as much of what is going on in La Bassee as an ant can see of the surrounding landscape when promeneading in the grass. The only variation in the flatness of the land is the overworked ditches which try to drain it. Look upward and the roof of a poplar tree along the road screens the skies. Look along the level and a hedge, a grove, a cottage or the trees and the shrubs around it limit the vision.
If a breeze starts in a field it is arrested by a wall of foliage before it goes far. The cursed mud of winter has become dust as the curse of summer. This "hot corner" is all the hotter in these days of burning July. These little water carts which run back to wells of cool water, which have the approval of the doctor men, are busy filling empty canteens while shrapnel trims the hedges and high explosives play hide and seek among the trees.
BLIND MAN'S BUFF
The guns of both sides seem engaged in a kind of savage, vindictive blind man's buff sparring. Of course the gunners have a point on the map at which they are aiming. They have information one way or another that there is something at this point worth shelling. It may be a house; and, of course, every house is down on a large scale map. Troops may be in the house, or if they are not and you destroy the house you have made the enemy nervous. At least, theoretically, you have made him so; nothing seems to be able to make the British soldier actually so, or the French peasant either.
"You may kill us with your gun-fire, but you cannot scare us," represents the attitude of soldier and peasant in a sentence, and surprisingly few are killed.
THE RISK OF TRAVEL.
The road we were on had been a target for German shells. All roads near the trenches are. There might be someone on that road, and a shell directed at the road might happen to hit him. In order to take this sporting chance a gunner has only to aim

BERLIN REPORTS SINKING

British Transport in the Dardanelles

(By Special Wire to the Courier.)
BERLIN, Sept. 3.—(Wireless to Sayville)—"Telegrams from Sofia," says the Overseas News Agency to-day, "state that off the entrance to the Dardanelles a British transport struck a mine and sank with 320 officers, 1,250 soldiers and 300 members of the crew, all of whom were drowned. Six hundred bodies were recovered."

The British Government officially announced on August 17 that the British transport Royal Edward had been sunk on Saturday, August 11, in the Dardanelles.

Officer of General's Staff Predicts Dardanelles Fall

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Major E. W. Andrews, of the Royal Fusiliers, the first British officer who has participated in the fighting at the Dardanelles to visit this country, arrived yesterday aboard the liner St. Paul on a month's furlough. The major, who was on the staff of Gen. Ian Hamilton, is recovering from wounds received in a charge at Gaba Tepe.
"The major referred to the Turks as 'the cleanest fighters in the war.' 'The Dardanelles, I think,' he said, 'will have fallen by the end of the year.'"
With Major Andrews was Lieut. Strench, of New Brighton, S. I., who has been granted a furlough to recuperate from neuritis.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETS—MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE REPORTS

Covers Whole Field of Education in Local Schools—Ventilation, Hygiene and Physical Training are Thoroughly Dealt With.

At the Board of Education meeting last evening, the management committee report received the most attention. The chairman of this committee, Mr. Andrews, read the report, and before resuming his seat stated that the report was a long one, and went fully into very matter. Therefore he thought there was no discussion on the report necessary. The board did not see the matter in this light, however, and before the report was carried, one clause had to be slightly changed.
Regarding the results of the examinations at the Collegiate, it was deemed necessary by the board to obtain figures and statistics from other Ontario Collegiates and so ascertain by comparison, whether the local Collegiate results were satisfactory or not.
Principal Burt stated that the examination results of last year were as follows: In the lower matriculation, 50 per cent had been successful; in Part I of the upper or senior matric, 77 per cent were successful and in Part 2, 78 per cent had passed. He stated that the results were better in the smaller schools, and clearly pointed out the reasons.
After some further discussion, it was moved by Mr. Andrews that the report as amended be adopted. Carried.
It was moved by Mr. Lane, that the secretary write to the Registrar of the Provincial Examination Bureau, requesting figures concerning the examination results in other Ontario Collegiates, so that the Brantford Board of Education could make necessary comparisons. Carried.
Mr. Burt offered to personally write to the principals of other collegiates and obtain from them the necessary figures, as he was almost sure that the provincial authorities would not give any out.
In connection with the management committee report, Mr. Andrews moved that Miss Ballachey be given a year's leave of absence from her duties as public school teacher, and that the vacancy left by Miss Taylor's departure, be filled by Miss Whitney. Carried.
MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE REPORT.
This board having been in office for the past six months, a review of the work under the supervision of the management committee may be of interest.
Your committee from its inception, carefully went into every detail of the duties devolving upon them, with the object of making themselves thoroughly conversant with the new conditions imposed by the change in the school board. Under the old regime, the public schools and collegiate institute were governed by two separate boards, under the present organization they are under the jurisdiction of one board, the Board of Education.
The change, which, in our judgment, will tend to both efficiency and economy, certainly makes more demands upon the time of the trustees.
In order to show the nature of our work and what we have accomplished, I have divided my report under different headings.

RUSSIANS QUITTING NIEMEN

Petrograd Officially Admits Grodno to be Untenable.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.)
London, Sept. 3.—The evacuation of Grodno is under way. Petrograd admits officially that Russian forces are being withdrawn from the right bank of the Niemen. The loss by the Russians of the last of their strong fortresses has been expected and the report that its evacuation is imminent caused no surprise here. It has been evident for some time that Grand Duke Nicholas had no intention of allowing a number of men sufficient to maintain a long defense to be penned up in any fortress which could be invested.
Along the Galician border General Ivanoff continues to retire, but not without inflicting heavy losses on the Austro-German forces, which have been shaken several times by vigorous counter attacks. In the centre and the extreme north the Germans are making little progress. The Russians claim another local success near Vlna. The great artillery duel continues along a large part of the western front held by the French. The ultimate purpose of this activity is still obscure.
The British press is not greatly pleased at the reception by the United States of Germany's promise to modify her submarine campaign. It complains that a promise which does not include protection for merchantmen is inadequate.
Negotiations between Turkey and Bulgaria concerning railroad concessions to the latter are again under way. It is not expected in quarters favorable to the Entente Allies that they will prove successful.

WILSON TAKES UP NATIONAL DEFENCE WORK

Secretaries Garrison and Daniels Are Now Busy on New Program.

(By Special Wire to the Courier.)
Washington, September 3.—Publication of President Wilson's letters to Secretaries Garrison and Daniels calling upon them to prepare for him definite programs for strengthening the army and navy, brought the question of national defence to the forefront again to-day. The president will submit the proposals, together with his recommendations to Congress at the forthcoming session.
Another angle to the question of national defence is the announcement by Acting Secretary Roosevelt of the Navy Department of plans for building up an adequate national naval reserve in addition to the existing state militia and the regular reserve created by the last congress through mobilization of yachtsmen and power boat owners and their craft with navy reserve ships in a training squadron.
The President's letter, although written last month has just been made public. In it he asked Secretaries Garrison and Daniels to get the advice of departmental experts and submit plans formulated in very definite terms.
Germans Report a Gain.
(By Special Wire to the Courier.)
Berlin, Sept. 3.—The German troops which are advancing on the important Russian port of Riga, on the Baltic, have made a further consequential gain. They have captured a position northwest of Friedrichstadt, about 40 miles from Riga.

GREAT BRITAIN DOING HER PART?—IS THE U. S. GOING TO FAIL?

So Ask British Daily Telegraph in the Discussion on Neutral Rights—Times Thinks Germany is Playing With Wilson and Real Test Will be Action

(By Special Wire to the Courier.)
LONDON, Sept. 3.—The Daily Telegraph in an editorial this morning makes a warm protest against Germany in the use of submarine boats being allowed to differentiate between liners and merchantmen.
"If it is admitted that a submersible vessel can break any and every law, so long as notice is given to the passengers of liners," says the Daily Telegraph, "we are confronted with a most serious development, fraught with grave consequences to all sea-faring peoples. The submarine has arrived as the extension of naval power, and it must conform to the same regulations as other men of war. Germany's attempt to evade this obligation sets up a precedent which may cast a deep and sinister shadow over the future of the human race."
The Post contends that Ambassador von Bernstorff is attempting to evade American demands, and declares that while Great Britain is doing her part as a belligerent to uphold the laws of civilized warfare, it is the duty of the United States to uphold them as the greatest neutral power. The conclusion is drawn that should America make concessions to Germany, America inevitably will become associated with the German code of sea warfare.

Board of Education

grounds committee immediately went into the matter, and have just completed an up-to-date lavatory system. In our opinion the sanitary conditions at Victoria school should receive attention as soon as possible.

The matter of ventilation cannot be said to be altogether satisfactory. The hygienic school room should be made general throughout. Heating and ventilation are important factors to the health of the pupils, and should be given primary consideration.

Educational Efficiency.—Judging by the result of the last June examination, both promotion and entrance, the standard of teaching has been very satisfactory. No less than 80 per cent of the candidates for entrance examination passed successfully.

Your committee considered it advisable to make some changes in the kindergarten department. All the teachers in this department with the exception of two, attended a summer course in Toronto during the holidays and have qualified for primary work in the kindergarten department. The teachers will assist in the primary grades during the afternoon. This system will be of great benefit to the large primary classes.

Medical and dental inspection have been conducted throughout the schools, and should prove beneficial to the children's general health.

Elementary manual training proves a favorite study for the boys, and some excellent work has been executed under the able supervision of the instructor.

Domestic science, limited to certain girls, is taken advantage of by the girls, by going to the Collegiate. The Cadet corps for the boys, appears very popular, and should cultivate a spirit of discipline and obedience. Two have won gold medals this year for shooting.

We wish to draw the attention of the board to the necessity of having a highly competent staff, for upon their efficiency depends largely the saving or spending of thousands of dollars to the municipality. Great promotions must be made, and a proportionate percentage must pass out of the schools through the entrance examination or congestion will follow.

There was one cause of incompetency to which all municipalities are subject. And the only apparent remedy is a teacher's superannuation scheme.

The superannuation fund for teachers now contemplated by the Provincial Government will be far more reaching in its effects, than is generally realized. It will remove one of the greatest reasons for incompetency, it will add very materially to the efficiency, and will consequently lessen the danger of overcrowding, and reduce the risk to the municipality of heavy expenditures in buildings, salaries, etc. It is gratifying to report that the Public School system in Brantford, generally speaking is satisfactory.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Your Committee of Management, also realizing the importance of secondary education, went carefully into the work of the Collegiate Institute. In our opinion the entrance to the Collegiate Institute from the Public School, is the most critical and important period in a boy's and girl's whole educational career, and a wise guidance is absolutely necessary at this particular juncture in the pupil's life.

It is here that two methods of teaching, in the Public School and Collegiate meet. The child of fourteen years of age is taken from the Public school, where he is treated as a child, where the curriculum is carefully outlined, where during school hours all his time is fully occupied, and where discipline is generally well enforced, and where the teaching of all subjects in any particular class, is taught by the same teacher. From these conditions, he passes into the Collegiate, where the university method of teaching is enforced, which is intended for youths nineteen years of age. Instead of having one teacher for all subjects, he now has a different teacher for each subject. This change of method in teaching, is confusing to his immature condition, and special treatment and care should be exercised by those in authority. The Collegiate pupil is, perhaps, thrown too much as it were, upon his own resources and responsibilities at too early an age, and if guidance and firmness are not wisely given, the results may prove disastrous to the child's future.

In our investigation we found that the principal was fully occupied in teaching, and could not possibly attend to the many duties demanding his attention. This was a most serious matter for it prevented him from giving the most efficient administration and educational inspiration, he so much desired. With the object of securing improved conditions, certain innovations have been introduced and after four months' trial we are pleased to report a decided improvement.

STOPPING UNPUNCTUALITY.

Two matters of importance which have a demoralizing effect are receiving our attention, namely, lateness, and spare spaces. We found many students attending the Collegiate, for some reason, were indifferent in the important matter of being punctual. Being late naturally interfered with the class, and showed a disregard to school discipline. The system now adopted has almost eliminated this evil. We would particularly ask parents and students to co-operate with the principal and teachers in giving cheerful obedience to all rules and regulations while attending the Collegiate Institute. In the matter of spare spaces, we have overcome the difficulty, by engaging an extra teacher. A study room is now provided, where all pupils having spare spaces assemble, and under the supervision of a teacher, pursue their different studies. If a student requires assistance in the solving of some intricate problem, the teacher is present to give any help. We are pleased to report the study room is proving a success.

Mr. Coates has been appointed vice-principal, whose duty will be to take charge of the school in the absence of the principal, and to assist him in the all important matter of discipline and the conduct of the school.

BOOKLET ISSUED.

A little booklet on the Collegiate Institute giving all information as to courses taught, fees, cost of text books, etc., has been compiled by your committee for the purpose of putting before our citizens the educational advantages which may be had at the Collegiate. A booklet has been sent to each boy and girl who successfully passed the entrance examination. This means that the pupils of the Collegiate may secure books for above purposes at the Free Library, a list of which is at the back of the booklet.

The recommendation of the committee which the board endorsed at its meeting on Sept. 21, 1914, for the first year at the Collegiate for city pupils, has met with general approval and appreciation by our fellow citizens.

A highly physical culture instructor for girls has been appointed to the Collegiate staff. The many delicate reasons why this appointment should be made will appeal to our citizens.

The chairman of Building and Grounds Committee, has zealously gone into the matter of proper heating for the study room and gymnasium, and hope to have extra radiation installed and completed by the opening next term.

MORE ACCOMMODATION NEEDED.

The problem of adequate and satisfactory accommodation at the Collegiate Institute has occupied much attention of your committee. At present the Technical and Industrial department within the walls of the Collegiate, and take up much valuable space which is needed for other classes. It may even now prove necessary to rent some rooms outside the Collegiate building to accommodate the increased attendance of pupils. The principal anticipates we shall probably require two additional rooms. The former Collegiate board who were in office when the Collegiate Institute was built, were compelled to submit to the plan of placing the Industrial and Technical departments in the Collegiate for the want of funds. They realized at the time if Brantford continued to have the same rate of increase in population as it had been having, that in four or five years, more accommodation at the Collegiate would be necessary. This time has elapsed and the same is predicted by the board, something will have to be done in the matter of additional accommodation. The Technical and Industrial committee has carefully considered the matter, and in reply to certain writing to that effect, a recommendation is made that a new building for the Technical and Industrial department be erected as soon as convenient. If this were done Brantford could boast of the most complete educational buildings in the Province of Ontario. The expense of such an undertaking would not be large. The Technical and Industrial committee, in the past has been very favorably with those of other places. We would remind the Board that what we said with respect to the necessity of a high standard of efficiency in our Public Schools, in order to pass out a proportionate number of pupils, to avoid overcrowding and its attendant consequences is equally applicable to the Collegiate Institute. Brantford Collegiate is one of the most complete and best equipped institutions in Canada.

FACULTY NEEDS.

Your committee realizes that efficient progress depends entirely upon an efficient faculty. Unfortunately in a constant change of teachers, no less than five having resigned last June. This condition must have a detrimental effect upon the general efficiency of the school, and means should be introduced to prevent these occurrences in the future. Brantford's educational system does not cost as much proportionately as some other cities, but Brantford pays too much for its Collegiate Institute to be a normal school for teachers, who as soon as they secure experience resign and leave. It is anticipated that nearly five hundred pupils will be seeking admission next week into the Collegiate, and these boys and girls should be protected from any such imposition as an inefficient teaching faculty. It is sincerely hoped that there will be uniformity of purpose and an educational activity with the new faculty of this year that will base Brantford Collegiate upon the highest pedestal of success.

Many mills have been closed entirely and manufacture has ceased. Many Canadian tailors now under contract with the mills are unable to furnish their customers with cloths at regular prices. We have never claimed to own any mills. Our vast organization, however, has permitted us to control the output of some of the best British and Scotch mills.

Our foreign buyer, foreseeing the results of what was to come, many months ago, placed some of the best mills under contract with us. These mills do not belong to us, we have never boasted that we own mills, but owing to our contracts we are able to say that we have enough woolsens to amply supply our trade in Canada without adding a dollar to our standard price of $11 to-measure.

Owing to our splendid position, financially, we are able to offer our customers the same suit at $14 now that we have always given—the suit that made Tip Top Tailors the fastest-growing tailoring organization in Canada. Men will receive the same quality of cloth, the same good tailoring, the same honest linings and trimmings and the most modern designing in style at $14—not a penny more. GENERAL BUSINESS MEETING—AFFAIRS ARE SATISFACTORY

King George School to Open Shortly—Many Matters are Discussed

The Municipal Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting last evening in the Council chambers, and with every member present, transacted considerable business. The meeting was the longest that has been held for some time, owing to the length of the Management Committee's report, which is dealt with under a separate heading in this issue.

The Buildings and Grounds, Finance and Technical Advisory Committee reports and a few resolutions comprised the remainder of the business. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Acting Secretary Kilmer and were carried.

As there were no communications, the reading and passing of reports was the next order of business. BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE REPORT.

Mr. Lane, chairman of this committee reported that as there had been no meeting of his committee, he would give only a verbal report. He asked the Board to sanction the placing of a boiler and gas heater in the Central School for dental clinic purposes, as it was absolutely necessary in the winter time.

He also stated that all the schools were ready for occupation. This report was moved to be adopted. Carried.

Mr. Lane also moved that Messrs. A. K. Bunnell and Bentham be authorized to settle the account of P. H. Secord and Sons for work done on King George School. Carried.

It appears that the actual account amounted to $255.00 and of this the Buildings and Grounds Committee had offered to pay $233.77. The difference will likely be split and $244 paid.

FINANCE COMMITTEE

Chairman Bentham stated that his report consisted of only a few accounts and these were all passed and ordered to be paid.

It was moved by Mr. Bentham that Chairman Coulbeck, Dr. Gamble and Messrs. Andrews, Cole and Lane be a committee with reference to dental matters and those concerning the nurses of the public schools. Carried.

It was moved by Mr. Cutcliffe that on account of the absence of Dr. Ballachey, Mr. Cole's name be added to the Management Committee, Mr. Armstrong's name be added to the Buildings and Grounds Committee, and Mr. Lane's name to the Finance Committee. Carried.

The Dental report of the public schools was read by the Secretary and referred to the Management Committee.

Then chairman Coles read the report of his committee.

TECHNICAL ADVISORY COM.

A notice from the Ontario Association for the promotion of Technical Education, announcing its approaching meeting at Toronto, was read by the chairman and a committee appointed to attend the meeting.

An application from Miss Hassard for the position of teacher of dress-making, was left over for further consideration.

Mr. Coles drew the attention of the Board to the question of the probable large increase in the number of pupils who will attend the Industrial Classes this year.

It was moved by Mr. Harris that the night classes be re-opened on Monday Oct. 4th and that the prospective students be requested to enroll themselves on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday preceding that date. Also that the necessary advertising be authorized.

Mr. Armstrong asked when the By-laws of the Board would be passed, and when and how the opening ceremonies of King George school would be held.

The Chairman said that the By-laws would be considered when Mr. Bunnell returned to the city. It rested solely with the Board, about the opening of the new school.

Mr. Cutcliffe moved that the chairman of the standing committee be authorized to act on the matter of the opening ceremonies. Carried.

Mr. Armstrong pointed out that these ceremonies should be handled by the Board and local speakers.

Mr. Lane moved that the gold medals won by two public school cadets, should be presented at the opening of the new school. Carried.

Inspector Kilmer reported that he would have all the public school children satisfactorily schooled in a few days. A number of pupils have been transferred from Grandview School to Central; from King Edward to Alexandria; from Victoria to Dufferin and Central; from Alexandra to King George, and from Central to King George. It has been very difficult to handle all these children, over three thousand, and a few changes will have to be made next week. These will be all settled by the capable Inspector and every pupil will attend the nearest school to his or her home.

The meeting adjourned at 10.45 p.m.

Leopold Versugel got an injunction of a Detroit judge to restrain his wife sitting in the park with an admirer.

THE SITUATION

An unofficial despatch to-day announces that the Allies have surrounded an important portion of the Turkish forces on the Gallipoli Peninsula, and that their surrender is inevitable.

In the fierce fighting that has taken place at this scene of operations, the Australians and New Zealanders have clearly covered themselves with glory in equal style with the Canadian forces.

The story does not vary with regard to the Eastern front. It is still a case of the Russians retreating with the enemy pressing very hard, but not to any conclusive extent as regards the main army of the Grand Duke.

Big artillery fire on the part of the Allies continues in France and Belgium, with very little news leaking out.

BORDEN RETURNS

Premier Borden has arrived safely home on this side of the Atlantic after his visit to the Old Country, and the welcome upon his return will be as genuine as it will be general.

No other Canadian Premier has ever visited the Mother Land under such momentous circumstances, and on all occasions the fact has been attested that he has worthily represented this great Dominion with that dignity and tact which are so pre-eminently characteristic of his equipment, both as a public man and private citizen.

His speeches during his memorable visit, have been most admirable, both in form and spirit, and he has been worthily showered with honors not alone for himself, but also in recognition of the spontaneously loyal part which Canadians are playing in this time of crisis.

For the first time in history, he, as Canadian First Minister, attended a meeting of the British Cabinet and he never failed to affirm the principle that the future should see a much larger part assigned to the Dominion overseas peoples in the affairs of our common empire.

Let us all get together and see that the fruit crop is marketed this year in a manner worthy of patriotic citizens of the empire who wish to avoid waste and to see to it that everyone gets full value for his money.

The Pope, through Cardinal Gibbons, urged President Wilson to strive for peace.

but why single out England in this matter? Canada is just as much in this war as the Mother Land, and to what extent in the Dominion have girls been used to take the places of clerks in financial concerns who have gone to the front?

The Courier is not aware of one instance, whereas across the herring pond there are hundreds of them in the Bank of England and Lloyds Bank and countless other instances. Moreover, in the munition factories there are large numbers of women, including all classes, many bearing titles and all on the same level, doing the work of men who now have another job in the trenches.

Men in banks and other financial concerns in Canada have done well in the matter of offering their services, but at the same time not to the extent as in the Old Land of making it necessary to have female substitutes. Just why our cotem should have made this particular attack upon the clerks of the Mother Country is not very clear.

FULL VALUE FRUIT

(By Peter McArthur)

The war is developing in many people a higher ideal of citizenship—a clearer conception of the fair-play that should prevail in all the business of the country. Even our government is preaching honesty, thrift and economy—work that was usually left to the pulpits.

A notable example of this new spirit is being shown in the fruit industry of the country, which has now reached so large a proportion. The organizations having charge of the marketing of tender fruits (berries, currants, plums, peaches, etc.) are particularly anxious to place the work of marketing and distribution on a plane of patriotic public service.

It is their aim to distribute their products so widely that there will be no waste and at the same time to place them on the market in such a way that the consumers shall have full value for their money.

During the past few months I have had an opportunity of investigating the business of marketing plums and peaches. I have interviewed growers, dealers and retailers and have no hesitation in saying that except in a few cases where there are local ordinances that interfere with the business of marketing outside products it should be possible for consumers to get better service than they have ever had in the past.

They should get good sound peaches and plums at a fair price and in order that they may be able to do so I am going to make them an unusual offer.

If you feel that you are being overcharged for peaches, plums or tender fruits kindly send the facts to me, stating price paid and date of purchase and the district from which fruit was secured. This will enable me to learn exactly what the price of fruit should have been where you bought it at that particular time.

If you have been overcharged I shall write and let you know so that we may expose everyone who is trying to make undue profit in this year when every man should be doing his part for the good of his stricken country.

The campaign to sell the fruits is the first big selling campaign to be organized within the empire since the outbreak of the war and it is desired to handle the business in such a way as to set an example to the rest of the empire. To this end everyone is asked to co-operate from the grower to the consumer. The consumer in particular is requested to report all instances of overcharging so that the persons guilty of it may be exposed to public censure. Complaints will be investigated by Peter McArthur, Apin P.O., Ont.

Let us all get together and see that the fruit crop is marketed this year in a manner worthy of patriotic citizens of the empire who wish to avoid waste and to see to it that everyone gets full value for his money.

TENDERS FOR PULPWOOD LIMIT

Such tenders shall be required to erect a mill or mills on or near the territory and to construct a mill race into paper in the Province of Ontario—the paper mill to be erected within such time and in such place as the Lieutenant-Governor in Council shall direct.

ORIGIN OF THE PEACH

(By Peter McArthur)

It is sometimes a mistake to consult the Encyclopaedia before writing an article. This information in the world is much more picturesque than the facts. Facts have a tendency to make one prosy and commonplace.

I am moved to make these observations because for some time past I had been meditating a little essay on the peach, and I remembered a story I had heard or read somewhere about the origin of this most delicious fruit.

According to the best of my information and belief up to fifteen minutes ago the peach originated in Spain after the Moorish invasion. The African conquerors brought with them bitter almonds with which to poison their arrows and planted the pits in the newly conquered country so that they might have an unending supply of this method of spreading Moorish Kultur.

As they had no Hague Tribunal in those days there were no international agreements against using poisoned weapons—and it probably wouldn't have mattered much if there had been.

But to resume. According to the pretty tale I remembered, the bitter almond developed in the salubrious climate of Spain and lost its ancient character, ceased to be poisonous and became a peach. With this as a basis I had proposed to show that the peach is the one really good thing (in the world) ever derived from war, but alas, I needed a few more facts and I consulted the Encyclopaedia where I found no mention of my pretty Spanish tale.

I found both Greek and Latin references to the peach and a learned discussion as to whether the fruit had been first developed in Persia or in China. The only reference to the bitter almond was a note to the effect that Darwin regarded the peach as a relation of the almond. It seems that in China they not only raise peaches of excellent quality but also of unusual shapes. They have a flat peach in which the ends of the pit are merely covered by the skin while the sides have a thick layer of fruit pulp.

They also have another kind which is long and crooked and nearly as I could learn from the dictionary all kinds of peaches are good eating. It is pleasing to know that even the Encyclopaedia gives Canada the credit for raising the best peaches of all, and now they are at their best.

THE PREACHER'S FRUIT

(By Peter McArthur)

Once upon a time—you see I know how to begin a story in the right way—a barefoot boy danced by the roadside and shouted gleefully. It was in Canada, back in the nineteenth century, in the pioneer days. The little boy was healthy and freckled and what he lacked in clothes he made up in the kind of body one wears from a long time in the bush. And he was very, very happy. In fact he was so happy that a passing friar stopped to ask him the cause of it all.

"Happy!" shouted he of the freckles. "Why so happy?" asked the friar. "The preacher is coming to dinner!" "I didn't know you were so fond of him."

"I ain't, but whenever the preacher comes to dinner, we always have peach preserves." "It really isn't much of a story and I am giving it on account of its archæological interest and not because it is so very funny. It dates back to the days when people merely knew that the peach was the best of fruits and had not discovered that Canada is the best place to raise the very best of them.

The woman who was fortunate enough to get some from a sheltered orchard or from a lone tree that was so fortunately situated that it escaped the frost put up a few to have for the minister's occasions as the visit of the preacher. In those days the minister was a much more welcome visitor on the farm than the agent of get-rich-quick concerns and mining promoters and there is a moral to that if it only had time to work it out. Because peaches were saved for such extra special occasions a tradition has grown up about them in many parts of the country. Some housewives, otherwise very bright, and a credit to the Farmer's Institutes to which they belong, consider it an extravagance to preserve peaches unless they get them at sacrifice prices. Yet these same women will pay from ten to fifteen cents a quart for currants and berries that need far more sugar to do them up than the already sweet peaches. As peaches usually come in eleven-quart baskets you will find if you divide the price by eleven that peaches cost less per quart than any other fruit. But because they were once so great a luxury housewives are slow to realize that they should have more of them than of any kind of fruit, for they are both the cheapest and the best. There is no reason why every farmer's wife in the districts where peaches cannot be grown should not buy them as freely as they do other fruits and have them not only when the preacher comes to dinner but when the boys and girls come home from the city and at all other times when they want to have something luxurious on the table.

Also it should be remembered that for eating from the hand the peach is the best fruit of all, but you should use for this purpose only the peaches that you buy in the full light of day. Once upon a time, or perhaps I should say "One day" another time, a newly arrived Irishman went out with a friend to steal peaches. It was dark and Pat had been told to grope along the branches for the fruit. Presently he whispered: "Moike! His friend answered: "Plawat!" "His patches got legs?" "Naw." "Then begobhs I've swallowed a straddle bug."

holes, and, with accustomed French thrift, turned any trappings of steel unearthed over to the junk man. Probably five thousand dollars' worth of German shells had been buried within the space of a couple of village lots with no result, except slightly to reduce the wheat field. Each shell, one estimated, had spoiled one peck of wheat.

Again shells in this sort of firing by the map do score—sometimes when they do not hit the target they were aimed at. A shell may get a group of soldiers in a house or in a dug-out. Houses are not safe shelter in hot corners where the visitor, instead of looking for houses which have been damaged by shell fire, looks for the anomalous one that has not.

A stretcher was being borne into the doorway of an estaminet when the wounded, lying on stretchers on the floor were some wounded men. They looked a little stunned which was only natural when you have been as close as they had to a burst of a shell—a shell that made a hit. The concussion was bound to have this effect.

A third man was the best illustration of shell destructiveness. Bullets make only holes. Shells make gouges, fractures and pulp. He, too, had a bandaged head, and had been hit in several places, but the worst wound was in the leg where an artery had been cut causing a loss of blood. He was weak with a sort of "Where am I?" look in his eyes. If that fragment which had hit his leg had hit his head or his neck or his abdomen he would have been killed instantly. He was an illustration of how hard it is to kill a man, even with several shell fragments, unless some of them strike in the right place. For he was going to live; the surgeon had whispered that fact in his ear, that one important fact. He had beaten that Boche shell, after all.

And it was the one successful shell out of a thousand; that one which was supposed to make the waste of the other nine hundred and ninety-nine worth while.

Returning by the same road by which we came, an automobile passed swiftly by—the only kind of car allowed on that road. We had a glimpse of the big painted Red Cross on an ambulance side, and at the rear where the curtains were rolled up for ventilation, of four pair of soldier boot-soles at the end of our stretchers, which had been slid noiselessly into place at the esminet by the sturdy, kindly, experienced Medical Corps men.

Only one ambulance, dust-covered, of the color of the road itself, came along—clear of any blast of shells; nothing at the front sends the same chill down the spine as the thought

In the absence of a date for the sinking of the transport reported through Sofia, it is uncertain whether this refers to the sinking of the Royal Edward or to the loss of another transport by the British.

PLEASANT EVENING.

On Wednesday, Sept. 2nd, at the Brant Sanatorium, a most delightful evening was spent when the noted violinists, Mr. and Mrs. G. Simpson, accompanied by Miss Storey at the organ, gave a "musical." During the intervals the following selections were rendered: Vocal solo, "The Pilot," Mr. Simpson; reading, "Molly," Miss Summers; duet, "Killarney," Mrs. Simpson and Miss Summers; reading, "The Inventor's Wife," Miss Summers; duets, Juanita and Sweet and Low, Messrs Brown and Summers. Having sang God Save the King, a vote of thanks was extended to the three artists, followed by a light repast, after which all returned feeling happy.

NINETY-FIVE YEARS YOUNG.

An event of much interest and one which comes very seldom in the history of a community was the celebration in Waterford recently of the ninety-fifth anniversary of the birth of Dr. A. Bowly. A reception to be held during the evening, Dr. and Mrs. Bowly receiving their guests with all the graciousness and interest, which for many years have made them ideal hosts. In spite of years, the Doctor is still young, fulfilling the maxim on the dainty souvenir card each guest received, "Let us enjoy youth, so as to be still young when we are old." Refreshments were served from daintily spread tables in the dining room, and there and elsewhere lovely flowers shed their fragrance and beauty. During the evening, addresses were made by Rev. E. K. Fitch, Rev. J. B. Moore, Reeve Trotter and Col. York, and Dr. Bowly responded with an address reminiscent of early days in Waterford. The Doctor is the eldest brother of Mr. J. W. Bowly, K.C. of this city.

WANTED TO CAMP.

Four wagons full of gypsies journeyed through the city yesterday afternoon, accompanied by 13 horses. They stopped on the city hall square at about 4.30, and after some talk, Inspector McAuley persuaded them to leave. They went towards the Cockshutt Road, and camped for the night somewhere along its course.

PARKS BOARD HELD MEETING

Much Business Was Discussed at Session Last Night.

At the Board of Parks Management meeting last evening, quite a busy session was held. Mr. Gould occupied the chair and those present were: Mayor Spence, Messrs. Frank Cockshutt, Grobb, Glover and J. J. Hawkins, also Mr. Waller, Superintendent of Parks.

A report was submitted by Mr. Cockshutt chairman of Grounds Committee, concerning the agreement of the B. and H. Railway. A very favorable arrangement has been made on behalf of the Brantford Municipal Railway, whereby they draw 5 per cent of all business from Hamilton and intermediate points, to the city. The Board has not yet made any arrangement with the Municipal Commission but it is understood that the Commission will be willing to give rights similar to those granted by the Brantford and Hamilton Electric line. The two wells of drinking water at Mohawk Park received a good deal of attention. Because they have been unused for so long, the water in them has become foul and decidedly unhealthy. The Provincial Health authorities have laid down strict instructions for the complete purification of both these wells. It was decided by the Board to try in another spot for good water.

The drinking fountains for Victoria and Alexandra Parks will soon be in the city. They will be put up immediately after their arrival. The secretary forwarded the fee of $5.00 to the American Civic Association of which body the chairman is a member. This association will hold its yearly meeting at Washington this season in conjunction with the kindred scientific society. The officials of both these bodies met in Toronto last year. They give very valuable aid and assistance in the beautification of the parks all over the continent.

The drive way in West Brantford also received attention. It was felt that this driveway had settled into a solid condition and that it was now time to beautify it by planting trees and shrubs along its sides. The last Civil War veteran on active service with the U.S. army, Col. John L. Clem, "the drummer boy of Chickamaugh," has retired.

Rev. Jesse E. Dinger, former Methodist evangelist at Canton, O., was arrested to get alimony as his wife's divorce case proceeds.

Frank Gdula, of Franklin, Pa., is suing Rev. Father Polanski, pastor, for $1,000 alleging he struck him with a holy water sprinkler.

The farmer serving milk to summer boarders from Philadelphia at Skippach, Pa., Charles Ludwig had smallpox while on his rounds.

Lewis Carpenter, witness, who, aided Mrs. A. Hughes, to get $10,000 against a railway for loss of her husband, has become converted and changed his testimony, upsetting the verdict.

MAHARAJAH TRIES TO BALK CAPTURE

MAHARAJAH OF KARPUHALA

MAHARAJAH OF KARPUHALA

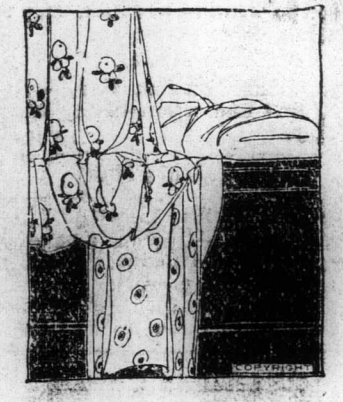

When the Rotterdam entered the port of Falmouth recently it became known that among her passengers were Jazajit Singhbhadur, Maharajah of Kapurthala, a principality of India. With the Maharajah, aside from his harem, the Maharanees, are his secretary, M. M. Roy; an American girl, Miss Margaret Cullen, and a considerable retinue of servants. Fear of an attempt by German raiders to capture the wealthy and powerful Indian ruler prompted a complicated series of arrangements for his leaving New York. His party went aboard two days before she steamed from New York. All remained in absolute seclusion until the steamship was well on her way. It was obvious to the British government that the capture of the Maharajah, ruler of what is probably the wealthiest principality of India, would be an important stroke and worth the risk taken by submarines which might be employed in the project. For this reason the British consulate here made arrangements for a British cruiser to meet the Rotterdam at a point off Falmouth to act as convoy through the submarine fields of operation and to port. The Maharajah has several wives. The Maharanees, who accompanied him, is a Spanish beauty, whom he married five years ago in Madrid.

BULGARIA IS APPARENTLY IN TRIFLING MOOD

Serbia, Roumania, Greece are Not Willing to Make Concessions

By Special Wire to the Courier. Rome, Sept. 3.—Revision of the treaty of Bucharest has been agreed to explicitly by Serbia, Roumania and Greece, according to reports received here, but it is stated these countries are not willing to satisfy entirely Bulgaria's claims to territorial compensation for participation in the war.

The treaty of Bucharest, which ended the Balkan conflict following the victory over Turkey, was signed by the one hand and Roumania, Greece and Montenegro on the other. By the treaty, the Roumania-Bulgarian frontier starts from the Danube above Aurtukal and ends on the Black Sea south of Ekran. The Serbo-Bulgarian frontier starts from the Partarica mountain, continues along the old Turco-Bulgarian frontiers and the water shed between the Varda and the Sturma and ends at the mountain of Belashitzka. The Greco-Bulgarian frontier starts on the crest of the Belashitzka range, and ends at the mouth of the River Nestor on the Aegean Sea.

DETAILS WERE LACKING OF PEACE TALK

No Further Intimation on Matter of Papal and U. S. Intervention.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Washington, Sept. 3.—Details of the conference between Cardinal Gibbons and President Wilson, at which the possibility of bringing about peace in Europe, was discussed, were lacking to-day.

Cardinal Gibbons had returned to-day to his home in Baltimore with definite information regarding the White House conference having been made known or the text of the message which he conveyed to President Wilson from Pope Benedict regarding peace having been disclosed.

It is known, however, that the Pontiff's message praised President Wilson's attitude, and indicated a belief that the United States might be in a position to help in bringing about a cessation of hostilities in Europe.

Possibility of joint action for peace among the heads of neutral nations and the Pope is suggested, although the idea lacks official confirmation. President Wilson's offer of the good offices of the United States to help in bringing about peace is still open, although it is not known whether he will take any further steps in that direction without direct word from any of the powers concerned.

ITALIAN TROOPS REACH GALLIPOLI; MORE EN ROUTE

Athens, Sept. 3.—A despatch from Mitylene last night says that an Italian force has been landed on the Gallipoli Peninsula and that four more Italian transports passed Mitylene yesterday afternoon in the same direction. All were conveyed by French destroyers.

Advices reaching here indicate that there has been increased activity on the peninsula. The positions gained by the British troops have made it possible, when aided by the fleet, to prevent almost entirely the movement of Turkish troops by land or sea.

RESERVE FORCE IN CANADA FOR MEN OVER AGE OF 35

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—The committee appointed some time ago to make arrangements for a reserve militia in Canada, for use in case of emergency, has reported and information in connection with the new body is given in militia orders.

The reserve will consist of such units as are from time to time named by the Government and divisional and district commanders will be responsible for them; the same as for the other corps. No man will be eligible for the reserve who is under 35 years of age, but there is no retiring age limit. Physical fitness, at least for garrison duty, is necessary, and three years in naval or military forces are essential to the taking of commissions. Drill and training are to be voluntary.

The reserve may be called out in time of war, invasion, riot or insurrection, real or apprehended and will be paid an equipped only when called out. Enrollment is in progress, so that should the occasion arise to supplement the regular militia, the number available and their addresses will be known.

WATERLOO CLERK DENIES COUNCIL IS ANTI-BRITISH

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Residents of Conestogo and Waterloo townships strongly resent the attack on that community by a Toronto News staff correspondent, who was sent to investigate loyalty in the northern section of Waterloo Township.

Township Clerk W. J. Snider denies that the last municipal election was fought on an anti-British platform, and also states that members of the Township Council are Canadian and Scotch born, not one of them being a native of Germany.

Rev. Mr. Hansen, pastor of the Lutheran Church, gave all statements made regarding his attitude an emphatic denial. He admits having been a German soldier at one time, but only for a period of four weeks, when he was dismissed owing to heart trouble. Since coming to Canada three years ago he has visited the United States twice, where he was a former pastor.

He has no brothers fighting for the Germans, as alleged, and all services in his denomination are in German language as alleged. He is a naturalized citizen of the United States, as he cannot qualify for Canadian citizenship.

"Since I have occupied a pulpit in Conestogo, I have not uttered a word to which even the most enthusiastic British citizen could take exception. The Kaiser is not the head of the Lutheran church, as stated," he said.

Sir George Foster states that no orders were given in the United States for portable or collapsible houses for the troops of Great Britain or the allies.

MISPLAYS AND ERRORS AND LONDON WINS 9-1

Close Was Mauld for Twelve Hits, But Game Lost by Many "Boots."

(London Free Press). The Brantford club disclosed some of its 1914 form yesterday afternoon at Tecumseh Park when the locals defeated them in the first game of the last series they play here this season by 9 to 1. Six errors and 12 men left on bases and six widely scattered base hits of Smithson were what the Brants accomplished. Manager Warner's pastimers would have gone down to defeat but had not one of Lamy's wide throws to first base been coupled with Iyer's third hit off Smithson in the ninth inning.

SMITHSON GOOD IN PINCH. Smithson was far too good for the visiting team as he was at his best when his opponents had men on the runways.

The Tecumseh's mauled Close for 12 hits in all, and while a number of these were of the scratch order, they served the purpose, along with regular wallops and misplays.

The sixth inning proved disastrous to Close, as Eckstein secured his second hit in the same frame. Two runs were scored before a man was retired in this inning.

YELLE HAS FIELD DAY. London scored their first run in the third. Yelle singled past Dunlop to open hostilities. Smithson surprised the few fans on hand with the first hit of his experience in the Canadian League. Hartwell forced Smithson at second and Yelle went to third base on the play. Whitcraft drove a long fly to Burrill and Yelle scored, Burrill making no attempt to throw to the plate. Hartwell was out trying to purloin second.

Eckstein was safe at second in the fifth when Comstock dropped his long fly. O'Brien's grounder to Fried put Eckstein on third, where he scored on Yelle's second hit. Smithson and Hartwell were easy outs, retiring the side.

BIG SEVENTH INNING. Nothing further occurred till the seventh. Eckstein beat out a hit to Fried, and went to third on O'Brien's single, and home when Comstock's throw got past Todd, O'Brien going to third on the miscue. Yelle singled scoring O'Brien. Smithson's bunt sent Yelle to second and to third when Hartwell beat out a hit to Dunlop. Yelle came home when Cooper threw past Todd and Hartwell went to second. Whitcraft beat out a bunt to Close and Hartwell went to third. Lamy squeezed Hartwell in on a bunt, the latter beating Iyer's throw to Cooper. Perry grounded out and Whitwill and Lamy advanced a base.

Dunlop, who was injured on Hartwell's grounder, threw wide when Barry squeezed and two more runs tallied. Barry was thrown out at the plate on Eckstein's hit to Burrill, ending the rally.

YELLE GETS ON FOUR TIMES. In the eighth Yelle was safe on Todd's error. Smithson's hit to Fried sent Yelle to second, and to third on Hartwell's grounder, which forced Smithson at second. Yelle scored by stealing home when Cooper threw to Fried when Hartwell tried a double steal.

Comstock beat out a hit to Lamy and went to second on the latter's poor throw to Barry. With two out Perry singled to Whitcraft, scoring Dunlop. Dunlop retired from the game in the eighth, Walker going to left field and Comstock to second base, while Fried replaced Dunlop at short. The score:

New York, Sept. 3.—Philadelphia yesterday recovered the ground they lost in their pennant fight here the day previous, by taking two games from New York, 3 to 1 and 2 to 0. Tesreau pitched fine ball for New York in the first game, striking out ten men, but allowed Philadelphia to bunch three of their five hits in the fourth inning, and, aided by an error by Doyle, which let in two runs, they scored three times. R.H.E. Philadelphia 3 5 0. Chalmers and E. Burns; Tesreau and Meyers.

In the second game Alexander won a spectacular pitchers' battle from the veteran Mathewson. First game: R.H.E. Philadelphia 3 5 0. New York 1 7 1. Chalmers and E. Burns; Tesreau and Meyers. Second game: R.H.E. Philadelphia 2 9 0. New York 0 7 2. Alexander and Killifer; Mathewson, Schupp and Wendell.

LEAFS IDEAL AT RICHMOND. Richmond, Va., Sept. 3.—A cold rain which fell all morning and continued throughout the afternoon, caused the postponement of yesterday's Toronto-Richmond game, which means a double header for the close of the series on Saturday afternoon.

BISONS CROWD GRAYS FOR THE LEADERSHIP. Beat Champions Twice—Only Seven Points Behind—Leafs Idle in Richmond.

Providence, Sept. 3.—Buffalo took two games from Providence by 8 to 1 and 1 to 0. A remarkable coincidence of the day was that each team scored six hits in each game, the Bisons, however, making theirs when the hits counted most. Score: R.H.E. Buffalo 3 8 1. Providence 0 6 2. Gaw and Onslow; Oeschger and Haley. Second game: R.H.E. Buffalo 1 6 0. Providence 0 6 2. Gaw and Onslow; Pennock and Casey.

EVERYBODY HIT THE BALL. Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 3.—The Jersey pitchers were easy for Montreal yesterday and the Royals won a heavy-hitting contest by 8 to 2. Score: R.H.E. Montreal 8 13 1. Jersey City 2 10 2. Bader and Madden; Ring, Brucke and Schwert.

ANOTHER SLUGGING MATCH. Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—Rochester defeated Harrisburg yesterday 9 to 6 in a free hitting game, in which all the pitchers suffered alike. The home team's errors were costly, however. Score: R.H.E. Rochester 9 13 1. Harrisburg 6 12 2. Herche and Williams; Lee, Shabek and Heckinger.

Sporting Comment

The Toronto News in discussing the proposed new "International" League which is to be a substitute for the Canadian and which would consist of four western Ontario cities and four cities in Michigan, says the scheme will not go through, but gives a peculiar reason why. Ottawa, it states, won't stand for being discarded, and even if it were, the league could not exist, as it has been Ottawa which has by its support, kept the league alive. The News has another guess coming. Whatever advantage given by Ottawa is more than counter-balanced by its distance, while if the rest of the teams wished to be rid of the Senators they would have to go. Some of the western cities in the Canadian League are a little tired of Ottawa running the whole show.

Unless the Brantford's pull themselves together they are due for a disastrous finish to a good season. Their pitching staff is shot to pieces, and their team play is likewise, while they have forgotten how to hit. There is still a chance for them to land in fifth place, but everybody hopes they will keep above the .500 mark. It looks much better to finish there than below it.

With the exception of two games Labor Day, Detroit leaves home now for the rest of September, swinging around the whole circuit. Boston on the other hand goes home Monday for a three week's stay, so it isn't hard to pick the American League winner. In the National League all the eastern teams circle the West in September, so the best road team among the three leaders will pick up the world's series money. Boston is a good road team but Philadelphia will prove themselves good also, with the championship in sight. It looks like the same two cities in the series again.

only each being represented in the other league.

Toronto reports state that of their two catchers, one is in the hospital and the other is going stale, through overwork. In that event Cooper may be used to finish the season with them, which closes Sept. 18. It would be a nice experience for the big fellow, and as he is going well he might make good. But it is some jump, even to the International League, and only one player in 100 can do it.

The Red Sox batted Knowlson safely fourteen times and Boston won easily from the Athletics by 8 to 3. Hooper starred both in offensive and defensive play, making four hits and cutting off the same number in his right field position.

Brooklyn dealt the Braves a body blow in this fight for second place honors, winning by 10 to 1. In the first inning three hits off Rudolph, three errors and two passes counted six scores for the visitors. Davis succeeded Rudolph, and he in turn gave way to a recruit.

Shortstop "Mike" Doolan was sold Tuesday to the Chicago Federal League club by the Baltimore club. Doolan jumped the Philadelphia Nationals to the Baltimore Federals winter before last after returning from the world's tour of the Giants and White Sox—veterans' Wagoner of the Chicago Federals, said that the two players who figured in the deal are Harry Frit; and Jimmy Smith. The amount of cash involved was not revealed.

SOME ERRATIC TENNIS FOR NATIONAL TITLE

Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept. 3.—Erratic play on the part of the leading contenders for the title was the outstanding feature of the third round of the national tennis championship singles tournament here yesterday.

R. Norris Williams and of Philadelphia, defeated Walter Merrill Hall of New York 6-2, 9-7, 6-5, 6-7. Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco won from Leonard Beckman of New York 6-2, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2. Karl Behr of New York disposed of Robert Latorj, also of New York W. M. Johnson of San Francisco put out D. S. Waters of New Orleans, while Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco eliminated a Pacific coast team mate in Ward Dawson of Los Angeles.

John L. Long, the opponent of Norman Brookes of Australia and Lieut. Anthony Wilding, who was recently killed while fighting at the Dardanelles, although not in as fine form as when he defeated the Englishman and little trouble in disposing of Beckman.

ONLY FOUR ARE LEFT FOR U. S. GOLF TITLE

Detroit, Sept. 3.—Detroit's two contenders for the national amateur golf championship were eliminated yesterday afternoon, but not until each had forced his opponent to play every hole on the Country Club course to win. Max R. Marston of Springfield, N.J., won from Howard B. Lee, after a struggle which lasted 38 holes.

Sherrill Sherman of Uica sprung the surprise of the day by defeating James D. Standish, junior, champion of Michigan, one up.

D. E. Sawyer of Wheaton, Ill., a tournament favorite, never had a chance with Robert A. Gardner of Chicago. Gardner was victorious, 7 and 6. The south also lost its hope for championship recognition when John G. Anderson of Mount Vernon, N.Y., won from Nelson Whitney of New Orleans, 3 and 2.

Gardner will play Marston in the semi-finals to-day and Sherman meets Anderson.

JIMMY ORR TAKES A WIFE.

Lacrosse WITHOUT TROUBLE.

Orillia, Sept. 3.—In a sudden death first heat for the Canadian National Lacrosse Exhibition Trophy, ran a superb race, though she dislocated a couple of gears in her water-cooling system; she finished in fine style, and was able to maintain first place in each lap of the 25-mile course. Heloise, Mr. Good's chram's reliable hydroplane, was second. The Pupska was third, and put up a good race. Baby Doris was running like a watch until she broke a crankshaft in the fifteenth mile, and the third lap was unlucky for Kiota III, too, as she was forced to quit. Baby Doris will not be repaired before Saturday. Kiota III, will be able to get going to-day again.

Motoring MOTORBOATS FAST TIME.

Weather conditions were ideal for the first of the annual motor boat races at the Exhibition yesterday, but it was found that the small buoys marking the turns were not visible enough for the speeders when they were tearing through the clouds of spray. However, large barrel buoys are now provided, and will be in place this morning long before the Gold Cup start is made at 1.30.

The Peter Pan, the winner of the first heat for the Canadian National Exhibition Trophy, ran a superb race, though she dislocated a couple of gears in her water-cooling system; she finished in fine style, and was able to maintain first place in each lap of the 25-mile course. Heloise, Mr. Good's chram's reliable hydroplane, was second. The Pupska was third, and put up a good race. Baby Doris was running like a watch until she broke a crankshaft in the fifteenth mile, and the third lap was unlucky for Kiota III, too, as she was forced to quit. A SUNDAY SERMON BY PASTOR RUSSELL

A GREAT PRIESTHOOD DIVINELY APPOINTED

The Mosaic Arrangement and the Aaronic Order.

God's New Order of Priesthood—Each Member Called and Chosen—The Great High Priest Especially Honored—His God-Given Commission—His Sacrifice of Himself—Under Priests of This Order—Membership Limited in Number—The Great Purpose for Which This Priesthood is Ordained.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Pastor Russell delivered a masterful address on the Aaronic Order of Priesthood, from the text, "No man taketh this honor unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron." (Hebrews 5:4.)

There, at Jordan, the Father opened the heavens, and the Holy Spirit descended upon our Lord, the Father in the heavens, the Father in the earth, the Father in the water, the Father in the air, the Father in the fire, the Father in the earth, the Father in the water, the Father in the air, the Father in the fire.

After Jesus had received the Holy Spirit, He went immediately into the wilderness for forty days. During that time He was a Bible Student, thinking over the Scriptures, which from boyhood He had heard read in the synagogue.

God thoroughly proved the One who was to be the great Antitype of Melchisedec, the Priest under His Throne, partaker of the Divine Nature. And Jesus demonstrated His worthiness, not only during those forty days in the wilderness, but during the following three and a half years, clear down to Calvary—even to the death of the Cross.

Further Contents of the Scroll. But the Scroll in God's hand contained more than this. It showed that the Father, who had called the Lord perfection—in the image of God. When He became the Man Christ Jesus, He was qualified to fulfill the Divine Purpose. But He must be tested. No one heretofore had proven worthy, because the conditions that God had attached to the honor were very stringent. God was looking for one competent to be entrusted with the charge of affairs—a Prime Minister, as it were, one who would fully represent Him in the Kingdom work and be associated with Him forever.

So, all the work of this Gospel Age has been with a view to perfecting this company. First the call went to such Jews as were ready, that these might be brought into the Church, to be of the Spiritual Seed of Abraham. (They were not enough of them; and the door was thrown open to the Gentiles, that as many of them as desired might come in and be fellow-heirs with the Jews. All these are to be members of the Body of the great Antitypical Priest and King, "after the order of Melchisedec.")

God is now calling merely the class that is anxious to come to Him. The Apostle speaks of some who were feeling for God, He says they might find Him. (Acts 17:27.) Now there is only one way to come to Him, and that way is by membership in the Body of Christ. Those who will walk in this narrow way shall become joint-heirs with Christ. Some say, "I think that I will wait a little while." They are not altogether ready to sacrifice to give up all to the Lord.

God's arrangement is that our Lord Jesus is to sanctify and make saints those who have taken these steps. He will impute of His merit to such, to draw up their natural imperfection. To give them that merit would make them perfect human beings. To impute the merit is to give them a credit on God's account books.

Our Father will bless our trials and difficulties. He will not permit us to be tried above that we are able; with every temptation He will provide a way of escape. (1 Corinthians 10:13.) I trust that we all shall be of one mind to accept this wonderful provision of God's grace, that we may be fully accepted members of this great Melchisedec Priesthood, of which our Lord Jesus is the Head.

Your dog is ready to go with you anywhere, at any time, through anything. Like good dogs in the old play, He is something more than a respectable family possession, a toy, or part of an exhibition. He is a comrade, whose loyalty never wavers, whose devotion never outrides itself, who responds to your mood without pluming himself upon his tact, and who neither commiserates nor flatters. After you have taken a few trips together, you will understand each other perfectly, and there is no fear of either changing his mind, unless you yourself prove fickle past belief. And when you are no longer friends with your dog you are beyond saving.—Countryside Magazine.

Lesson X.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 5, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xviii, 30-38—Memory Verses, 36, 37—Golden Text, Prov. xv, 29—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Elijah had been so safely hidden by the Lord during the three years that though Ahab had searched for him everywhere, in all lands, he could not be found (verse 10). How safe are those whom the Lord hides, and all His redeemed are hid with Christ in God (Col. iii. 3; Ex. xxxiii, 22; Isa. li, 10; Zeph. ii. 3). As by the word of the Lord he was sent into hiding at Cherith and Sarepta, so by the same word he is now commanded to shew himself to Ahab (xviii, 2, 8; xviii, 16). He was indeed a man of God, God's representative, acting only for God and in His name, and, as in the resurrection of the widow's son he foreshadowed Him who is the resurrection and the life, so the words "shew thyself" remind us of Him who after His resurrection from the dead "shewed Himself alive" again and again during the forty days (John xxi, 1, 4; Acts i, 3).

We are glad to meet Obadiah, whose name means "servant of Jehovah," and to see him saving the life of and caring for a hundred of the Lord's prophets (xviii, 4, 10). As we see him the governor of Ahab's house we think of Joseph in Egypt overseer of Potiphar's house (Gen. xxxix, 1-6). Good men are often in difficult places for the glory of God. As Obadiah and Ahab went each his way to search for grass for the horses Elijah met Obadiah and told him to tell Ahab that he was on hand (xviii, 8, 11, 14). Obadiah was at first afraid that Elijah might again disappear, but on being assured that he would surely shew himself to Ahab he went to meet Ahab and told him, and Ahab went to meet Elijah (xviii, 15, 16). Fearlessly Elijah accused Ahab of forsaking the Lord and serving Baal and ordered him to gather all Israel and the prophets of Baal to Mount Carmel, and this Ahab did, for the word of the Lord in the mouth of Elijah was with power (xviii, 17-20).

Elijah boldly demanded of the people to decide whether they would follow Jehovah or Baal and not continue halting between two opinions. But the people were dumb. Then he said that, though he was dumb, he against him would suggest a test and that they should worship the God who answered by fire, and to this they agreed (21-24). He gave the prophets of Baal the first opportunity, and following his instructions, they prepared their sacrifice and cried unto their god from morning until noon (25-28). "O Baal, hear us!" But there was no answer. Elijah mocked them and urged them to cry louder, saying that he must be busy or on a journey or perhaps asleep. So they cried aloud, and leaped upon the altar, and cut themselves till the blood gushed out, and kept it up till the time of evening sacrifice. But it was in vain, for there was no answer of any kind, and no unseen power regarded their cries (25-29).

We may wonder why the devil missed such an opportunity to honor his worshippers, for the time will come when he will send fire from heaven (Rev. xvi, 13), but he can do nought without permission from God, and he was surely restrained this time. Now consider Elijah as he called the people to him, repaired the altar of the Lord and, taking twelve stones to represent the twelve tribes of Israel, built an altar in the name of the Lord, put the wood in order, prepared the sacrifice and drenched the whole with twelve barrels of water until the water ran about the altar and filled the trench (30-35). Listen now to Elijah talking to his God, not crying aloud nor with frenzy or demonstration of any kind, but calmly, with quietness and confidence. "Lord God of Abraham, of Isaac and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word. Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that Thou art the Lord God and that Thou hast turned their heart back again."

How the great multitude must have listened to this simple prayer and how intently they watched this lonely man of God! We, too, have been watching him and listening to him talking to his God, the God of Israel, the only living and true God, and now behold the answer. "Then the fire of the Lord fell and consumed the burned sacrifice and the wood and the stones and the dust and licked up the water that was in the trench." How can we refrain from shouting "Jehovah, He is the God?" (Verses 36-39).

"Who is like unto Thee, O Lord, among the gods? Who is like Thee, glorious in holiness, fearful in praises, doing wonders?" (Ex. xv, 11.) Quickly were the prophets of Baal slain, and Elijah said to Ahab, "Then is a sound of abundance of rain." Then Elijah went to the top of Carmel to pray, and it was patient, earnest, persevering prayer, for the servant went seven times to look before he saw the indication of the coming storm in the form of a cloud like a man's hand, suggestive of Elijah's hand taking hold of God (verses 40-46; Jas. v, 18). If our aim is simply to glorify God we may safely act upon Jer. xxxiii, 3. Consider David and Hezekiah in 1 Kings xviii, 45-47; II Kings xix, 19, and fear not to pray (Ps. cix, 21, 27).

HESTER, AND A LEGACY

As soon as she was a little calmer and had given him an account of the accident and where her friends might be found, he proposed her trying to walk and helped her to rise to her feet. The attempt was painful, but there was nothing else to be done; no cottage was in sight, and unless he left her there with her own conveyance—a proposition she would not hear of for a moment—the injured ankle must be used. She made the most of her helplessness, and her companion had no choice but to put his arm around her waist, reassuring and consoling her by every means in his power.

At last by slow stages, which, however, were all too quivering, owing to the drooping Violet, they reached the wood where the primrose gatherers were still busily at work. Lily Cox was the first person they chanced to see, and then came Stewart, Jim Turner, into whose willing arms Lord Lynmouth transferred his lovely burden. The others gathered from all directions; some one ran for a conveyance, some one else got some brandy, a third suggested burnt feathers to prevent the patient from fainting, and among them all the interesting heroine of the accident was made as much of as even her vain heart could desire.

The hero, meanwhile finding that he was no longer necessary, quietly quitted the scene of action and, accompanied by Colley, proceeded for the second time that afternoon to make his way down the eventful lane. At the spot where he had come upon Miss Langworthy something white attracted his eye. It proved to be a small lace-edged handkerchief with a violet embroidered in the corner—one of a set that was used only on interesting occasions. He picked it up and put it in his pocket with the intention of returning it to its owner at the earliest opportunity.

CHAPTER XIV.

Violet Langworthy's accident, and especially the part that Lord Lynmouth had taken in the affair, were considered by all her friends and acquaintances to be a most interesting event, giving rise to much speculation as to the future.

One or two were jealous of her good fortune. Lady Murel, for instance, to whose ears the report spread, felt that any pain would have been more than compensated by the delight of having Lord Lynmouth's support and encouragement in bearing it, and Mrs. Cox could not resist a sigh over the fact that it was not Lily who had met with the misfortune—for whom the inconvenience of a sprained ankle when weighed in the balance with the benefits to be derived from becoming Lady Lynmouth and the securing of such a position for life.

Her disappointment was mitigated, however, by the fact that it was to Lily he first turned in his predicament, that it was to Lily he confided his trouble and his patient, her aid and counsel that he sought. No doubt he was only too glad to hand over that sentimental, ridiculous girl, Violet, who was probably heavier than she looked, and who, from all accounts, had clung to him in a manner that must have made him quite uncomfortable. No, it was evidently Lily whom he admired—Lily, whose sterling worth and sound common-sense made her a resource to turn to in critical times when he needed help.

As for Violet herself, as she lay with her bagged foot on the sofa in the old, gloomy dining-room of the Moat House her mind went over and over again the details of that memorable afternoon; she recalled every word he had uttered, every tone of his voice, every expression on his face, interpreted them in her own way, and drew conclusions of the most flattering description from them. Could such gentleness have sprung from anything less than a personal interest in her? Would he have treated all victims of sprained ankles with such tender consideration, such delicate respect? No, she believed that she had been singled out among all other women, that he had recognized her instantly as his kindred spirit, and that Fate had thrown them together for one sole purpose—love, marriage and bliss for ever afterwards.

She was sentimental and romantic by nature, and there had been nothing in her training and surroundings to counteract the undergrowth of these qualities that had taken with an aged grandmother in the gloomy old Moat House, with no occupation beyond what she made for herself, she had had ample opportunity for becoming self-centered and feeding her romantic imagination with high-flown novels and extravagant poetry. The outcome of it all was a fixed belief in an admiration of kindred spirits, and love at first sight and a secret desire for frantic devotion. She saw nothing improbable in the hope that Lord Lynmouth had secretly laid his heart at her feet when he knelt before her in the lane—had not King Colletta married the beggar maiden, and the Lord of Burleigh a village-girl? Why should she not become Lady Lynmouth? Was she not pretty and religious and modest and everything that a man would naturally fall in love with? It is true that she was penniless, and that when her grandmother died she would be dependent on the charity of an almost unknown uncle or obliged to make her own way in the world, but what of that? It only enhanced the romance of the situation.

So she lay on her sofa and spun her theories of love and dreamed her dreams, while her grandmother sat dozing at the fireside and the clock kept ticking away the long, quiet hours. She wondered when she would see him again, how he would look, what he would say, what she would answer—and then in the midst of these reflections there was a loud clang at the door-bell, a strange voice in the hall, and an instant afterwards Lord Lynmouth was announced in the doorway by the old silver-haired man-servant.

In he came, looking handsomer and more distinguished and more interesting than ever and her heart seemed to stop beating and the room all about her seemed to revolve in spite of her emotion she took care to receive him gracefully, apologizing for not rising as she gave him her hand, and satisfied that the blush that had mounted to her cheeks was rather becoming than otherwise.

He was in riding-dress, and had left his horse outside. He had been passing, he said, and had not been able to resist coming in to inquire how the sprained ankle was getting on, and he listened with such an air of interest so genuinely anxious for her recovery that she became more deeply enslaved every minute, and more confident than ever that such mutual devotion and sympathy could only find a fitting sequel at the altar rails.

The only drawback to the romance of the situation was an occasional snore from old Mrs. Langworthy, who was still dozing at the fireside; and Lord Lynmouth, would not allow to be disturbed on any account. Violet, nothing loath, allowed him to have his way, and was only too delighted to have his undivided attention during the few minutes he stayed; but she was conscious that the harmony of the occasion and robbed her of its poetic atmosphere that she would have desired should surround her at such a moment.

The visit was all over too soon, and before the grandmother was roused from her slumber he rose to go and took his leave with that grave, courteous dignity of manner that was Violet's special admiration. She watched him from the window, saw him mount his horse and ride away.

On riding through the moated way Lord Lynmouth met his mother. He did not join them, and only raised his hat as they went by. But in the evening Lady Lynmouth asked him suddenly what he had been doing at the Moat House, and I called to inquire after Miss Langworthy," he replied briefly.

"Is she ill?" said Lady Lynmouth sharply.

"She has sprained her ankle. I thought you had heard of it."

"I didn't know you knew the girl," she said.

"I don't—except that I happened to come across her just at the time of the accident. She couldn't walk and I had to get her back to her friends."

"You carried her, I suppose?" said Lady Lynmouth, with a strong accent of displeasure in her voice. "A very pretty story, and then you go secretively to inquire without telling me anything about it! Her eyes have been watched you, I suppose! What fools men are!" she added angrily. "The girl is an affectionate creature, and Lily whom he admires—Lily, whose sterling worth and sound common-sense made her a resource to turn to in critical times when he needed help."

As for Violet herself, as she lay with her bagged foot on the sofa in the old, gloomy dining-room of the Moat House her mind went over and over again the details of that memorable afternoon; she recalled every word he had uttered, every tone of his voice, every expression on his face, interpreted them in her own way, and drew conclusions of the most flattering description from them. case? And why should there not be a band—a military one for choice—to play during the afternoon? And why should there not be variety entertainments and tableaux vivants as well to make the thing "go"? She knew several of her friends who would be delighted to dress up as negroes and play the banjo if she asked them. And, as for the tableaux vivants, surely they had sufficient talent and beauty in the neighbourhood to get something together? Any way, it would be the means of stirring them all up after a sadly dull winter, and the proceeds would be for a good cause, even if the results were not particularly brilliant.

Mrs. Cox acknowledged all this and was pleased to see the thing swell into such magnificent proportions, but although she liked figuring as patroness of an affair that would attract the eye of the whole county, her chief anxiety was to bring the Lynmouths more prominently into play and cement the connection between the two families. How to do this was constantly in her thoughts.

In the midst of this perplexity Mrs. Laing-Stonor unwittingly came to her aid—Mrs. Laing-Stonor, the dash and background of whose suggestions were quite beyond Mrs. Cox. That energetic lady, on whose worldly paltry the stagnation of country life had long tasted sadly, was determined, since there was Mrs. Cox's money to back her, to make a really amusing affair of this bazaar and it was not long before she bore down upon the Towers with a new suggestion which quite surprised Mrs. Cox's breath by its audacity.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The Athens correspondent of the "Herald" Agency says that a final agreement has been signed by the Entente powers and Greece concerning navigation and commerce. Greece agrees to take the strictest measures for the suppression of trade in contraband articles and the Entente nations consent to the free exportation of tobacco and raisins on the basis of export statistics previous to the war and the importation from the British colonies of all goods exclusively reserved for individual consumption in Greece. The search by Allied warships of Greek boats going from one Greek port to another, the correspondent says, will cease immediately.

GALLANT YEOMAN CHAR

At Dardanelles
Sir J. Mill
Dies While
ing Them.

London, Sept. 2.—The graphic description of the British forces on Hill 21 is furnished by the official observer for the British with the Franco-British forces at Dardanelles, E. Ashmead. The last attack was mounted in reserve division behind this splendid body of troops was in action for the first led by men bearing some of the known names in Britain. out from under cover and to cross the Salt Lake in No sooner did they appear enemy concentrated heavy fire on the advancing lines, exposed in the open. The furiously bombarded by enemy concentrated heavy fire concentrated their fire trenches.

MAJESTIC, BUT A The scene was majestic. The light was now rapid and the whole horizon was blotted out by enormous smoke and flames as the scrub and the homesteads furiously at a dozen different points. The noise of the guns, and the never-ceasing thousands of rifles rendered a perfect inferno.

A little after six the battle forward, seized the south of the hill and began to dig in preparatory to a further attack against the top. At this shell fire seemed to begin the Turks. Many were seen to fall down the trench line, cause it had become untenable they were preparing to advance of our men.

For about an hour the change in the situation. Peonary again moved forward solid mass, forming up under western and northern trenches.

CHARGE UP THE It was now almost dark attack seemed to hang suddenly the Yeomanry set right up the hill. They were a withering fire which rained on them as they crested.

Nothing could stop them charged with amazing speed a single halt from the bottom, losing many men chosen leaders, including Sir John Mill.

It was a stirring sight, thousands in the evening gloom. At one moment below the crest, at the were on the top. A moment many disappeared inside the trenches where they were work of bayoneting all the who had not fled at the still others never stopped trench line, but dashed down a thousand lips went up that Hill 21 was a But night was now falling figures became blurred, the shape and fitting shape view of the battlefield completely.

LULL IN RIFLE F As one left Chocolate looked back on vast clouds of smoke and huge the dust of which the red fire never for a moment.

This was ominous, for Hill 70 was now in our question arose, could we throughout the night in a determined counter-attacks.

All through the night raged incessantly.

When morning broke H no longer in our possession the Turks had never off the knoll on the north from which they enfiladed their machine gun and at while those of the Yeoman dashed down the reverse pursuit of the Turks were attacked, and lost heavily obliged to retire.
