Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXXVIII.
(Concluded.)

‘BESIDES, Miss Rashleigh may marry,’ said Sidney, softly. Edward nodded rather curiously. He didn't like Mr. Sidney Bassington's reference to his—Edward's—sister; for, notwithstanding that Sidney was the earl's heir, and that Edward had got used to him and had made a kind of friend of him, he could not rid himself of the suspicion and the feeling, that Mr. Sidney Bassington was a bounder.

‘Indeed—I hope you won't be offended, Edward—but the earl spoke of Miss Rashleigh.’

Edward's face darkened and grew red, but he said nothing; and Sidney went on smoothly, insinuatingly, and with a depreciation which was meant to disarm Sir Edward.

‘It was only natural that he should do so. He knows you, knows how beautiful and fitting a mistress of the castle Miss Rashleigh would make. Of course I know he's quarrelled with you; but then he's quarrelled with everybody—all his own family—his two brothers. Anyway, he mentioned her, and it was with his consent, with his advice I came over this afternoon.’

Edward got up and went to the window, so that his back was turned to his companion. The thought of Eva as Sidney Bassington's wife jarred upon him, notwithstanding the obvious advantages of the match.

‘You see,’ continued Sidney, presently, watching him, though appearing not to do so, ‘it's just the kind of marriage my uncle would approve. The two estates join each other, the two families are equal in birth and—all that.’

‘That may be as it may,’ said Edward, under his breath, ‘but we are poor—has the earl forgotten that?’

‘That doesn't matter in the least,’ said Sidney, with a kind of suppressed eagerness. ‘There will be plenty of money from the castle side. Look here, Edward, it's not very pleasant for me to have to put this to you, still I'm bound to do so. If Miss Eva consented to marry me things might be very different here at the Hall.’

‘How do you mean?’ asked Edward, reluctantly and gloomily. But Sidney had come prepared for reluctance, and was not discouraged.

‘Well, you see, if Eva—’ Edward's face grew darker and redder at this familiar use of her name without the prefix, and Sidney, colouring and biting his lips, added the ‘Miss,’ as he went on: ‘If Miss Eva would consent to marry me, of course I'd take up the mortgages—I mean I'd get the earl to do so; and, equally, of course, there would be a proper settlement on her—I'd see that it was a large one. And then, as the earl would be in good humour, I could get some money from him, and I could let you have—’

He had gone a trifle too far. Edward turned upon him with an ominous flash of the Rashleigh eye.

‘Look here, Bassington,’ he said, sternly, and in a low voice, ‘we Rashleighs are not in the habit of selling our women. I've got rather a shrewd idea that I ought to chuck you out of this window, and, by Heaven—’

EVENING TELEGRAM FASHION PLATES.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

8454. A Practical Outfit for The Busy Woman.

The busy housekeeper will not fail to recognize in the accompanying illustration a most attractive and practical outfit, consisting of apron, cap and sleeves. It will afford protection to the daintiest gown, and will leave the hair neat and tidy even after a busy morning's work. The front is cut in Princess style and fits close to the figure. A prettily shaped bib extends out over the shoulders in a manner very becoming. Gingham was used for the making, but percale, linen and Holland are suggested. The medium size will require 4 3/4 yards of 36 inch material for the apron, with 1 3/4 yards extra for the cap and sleeves. Sizes—Small, Medium and Large.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Sidney turned pale, and half rose from the chair.

‘There, I knew you'd be offended,’ he said, nervously; ‘but I like you all the better for it. I know you're fond and proud of Miss Eva. Perhaps I ought to have told you how much I love her and admire her, and of how I've often wanted to say so, but that I felt I wasn't worthy of her.’

‘That's the truest word you ever spoke, Bassington,’ remarked Edward, grimly.

‘I know that,’ assented Sidney, meekly. ‘She's far above me in every way, and that's what have kept me silent. I don't suppose that I should ever have been able to pluck up courage to speak if the earl hadn't spoken to me last night.’

He was taking the right course, and he saw Sir Edward's brow relax somewhat.

‘After all,’ went on Sidney, meekly and deprecatingly as before, ‘what is there against me—I mean as compared with other men? You and I have been friends; you know all about me. I mean’—he stammered for a moment as the remembrance of Rachel and that hideous marriage ceremony flashed across his mind—‘of course I don't pretend to be better than other men.’

He paused for a moment. Should he refer to his past? Perhaps it would be wiser. Then, if Rachel made a disturbance either before or after the marriage, he could say that he had been frank and candid.

‘I may have had my affairs—most men of our class have, haven't they?—but they're all done with. I come with a clean slate—in fact, if I couldn't I wouldn't come at all; for I love Miss Eva, and I want her to be my wife more than I can say. Think what a splendid Countess of Starborough she would make; you know she would!’

There was a pause. Edward flung his half-smoked cigar out of the window and lit another with hands that trembled not a little. Sidney watched him keenly.

she's not willing I don't say a word.’ Sidney colored and wiped his brow. This was not what he wanted. His small, mean soul, shrank from the ordeal of pleading his case before Eva.

‘I think—wouldn't it be the correct thing, Sir Edward,’ unconsciously, feeling his inferiority, he gave Edward his title, ‘for you to speak to her and tell her of my proposal? I am afraid if I did so I might make the mistake I made with you, and lay too much stress on the money advantages of the match.’

Edward regarded him dubiously. It struck him that Sidney displayed rather too much ‘scrupulosity’ for a bounder.

‘All right!’ he said, rather curtly. ‘I suppose it is the proper way of doing it. I'll speak to her; but I warn you that no word of money—’

Fool as he was, Sidney Bassington knew that the word about money would be spoken, unwittingly, perhaps, but it would be spoken; and he knew how it would influence Eva, who was so devoted to her brother and the old historic family tradition.

He rose and extended his hand and Edward shook it, but rather absent-mindedly and with a gravity of countenance which was phenomenal with him.

‘Sidney left the house not ill-pleased. He felt that, to use a phrase of his old lawyer days, he had ‘done a good stroke of business.’ He felt immensely satisfied with himself as he sauntered from the Hall to the castle. He would get rid of Rachel, he would marry Eva Rashleigh, the loveliest, the daintiest woman in the country. He would be the great—the greatest—Earl of Starborough.

And suddenly, in the midst of this rosy dream, of this self-gratulation, he saw a man standing within a few paces of the castle lodge; and his heart sank in his bosom, sank like a lump of lead, and the sanguine color of his face fled and left it white as ashes.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A society for the prevention of married flirts—though it doesn't call itself by just that name—is the latest thing in the way of a new organization.

The aim of this society is to try to further the custom of the wearing of wedding rings by married men.

"We believe that young girls will not flirt with married men if they know the men are married," says the leader of the eighteen Pittsburg women who make up this unique organization. "We will ask our husbands to wear a plain gold band ring as a token of being married, and we hope the custom will be adopted universally."

Although I do not believe with the cheerful optimism of the Pittsburg ladies, that the abolishment of the married flirt is to be accomplished by any such simple method, I hail the formation of this society as a step in the march of progress towards one goal of my great desire—a single standard of morality for man and woman.

For centuries the married woman has been set apart by the seal of the ring and the label of the prefix "Mrs." Wherever she goes she is indelibly marked as a married woman, unless she deliberately tries to evade such a status.

The married man on the other hand, as soon as he passes out of the small group of people who know him and his personal affairs intimately, becomes an unknown quantity to those about him as far as his married or single condition is concerned.

He may not take advantage of this state of affairs, but he is perfectly free to do so if he wishes.

Of course, someone is going to protest that even if a married man wore a wedding ring it would be perfectly simple to slip it off.

Yes, and so it would be for the married woman, and yet she certainly doesn't do it very often, and neither would her husband if the custom became as universal for men as it is for women.

Of course the deliberate, hardened, married flirt wouldn't mind taking off his wedding ring any more than he would telling other lies, but such men are the exception, not the rule.

Besides, it isn't so much for what it would accomplish in individual cases that I want to see the double ring service become universal. It is more because of what it symbolizes.

It seems to me that it would be a recognition of the absolutely equal obligations for man and woman implied in the marriage contract, and as such be a step towards the single standard of morality.

I suppose what I am going to say next will be hailed by some as ridiculous, but I am going to say it just the same. I wish there might not only be wedding rings for men but also engagement rings.

I think there is quite as much need for them. Indeed, I fancy there are a good many more cases of unsuspecting hearts broken by engaged men posing as unattached, than by married men under the same conditions, because the pose is easier for the engaged man to maintain.

Many men do not like to wear precious stones on their hands very well. The engagement ring could be simply a gold ring unset or set with a cameo or one of the matrices that men are wearing so much now. And it would only be worn until replaced by the wedding ring.

Do not instantly hail this as ridiculous simply because it is a new idea. Only fools call things absurd merely because they are new.

The first few men who wore wedding rings were doubtless looked upon as rather freaky, but that custom is not now unusual enough to cause the slightest comment, and the engagement ring would be in the same class a few years after some brave man had had the courage to do something never done before.

I should be glad to see women get together in every city in the United States to pledge themselves to work for a single standard of morality, and two of their lines of action might well be to make universal the double ring wedding service, symbol of equal marriage obligations, and to inaugurate the double ring betrothal.

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—is cured every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong, Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is at the same time a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar affections incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1008 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, or, in cloth binding for 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Fads and Fashions.

Tailor made gowns of silk are more in evidence than ever before. Several strikingly handsome weaves in heavy silk, specially designed for these suits, have been brought out within the past few weeks.

Flowered mull draped as a scarf on a child's hat is extremely dainty and effective. A tiny gold cord laced back and forth over the scarf and finished at the side with loops adds to this fitting trimming.

The long separate coats of black satin are frequently lined with some brilliant color, the lining material appearing as piping or banding at the neck and wrists. Tiny gilt buttons help to brighten up the garment.

Shirring is used extensively on the early summer gowns. To simulate a tunic overskirt there is nothing better than several rows of shirring marking the joining line of the fuller sounding of the skirt. The skirt is tight fitting across the hips.

then for the half sleeve or under-sleeve, as it is called.

Buttons of Irish crochet are among the smartest fastenings for the linen coats. Occasionally these buttons are oblong or square instead of the conventional round shape. Frogs of the Irish crochet are novelties of the hour. These are used on coats and gowns.

Very effective trimming for the coat cut on the lines of the Russian blouse is to have the two-inch banding of the material outlining the neck, sleeves and front of the garment embroidered in heavy silk. The color of the embroidery may tone in with that of the material, or may be in smart contrast. The girdle, too, is of the banding.

Motifs of net rich in bead embroidery are to be found in the shops in a wide range of coloring. These make decidedly smart trimming for a handsome gown. Of course it is possible for the woman with time at her disposal to fashion similar trimmings at home at small cost, but it does take time, to say nothing of artistic ability, to do it well.

THANKS.—The Association for the Prevention of Consumption beg to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of $96.50 from Mrs. Innes, part of the proceeds of the "Walls of Jericho" and a donation of $50 from the Loyal Orange Association towards assisting their work.

INWARD CLEANING Assures Outward Beauty.

No greater mistake than to imagine that regularity is a sign of good health—it is an advantage, but if your skin is murky and your spirits dull, it is the surest sign that nature is lagging a little. Now by lagging is meant that the liver is a little lazy—the kidneys weak—the stomach failing just a little in its work. It may be a little of all three.

Just one remedy—inward cleansing with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. This removes, so to speak, a cobweb here and there, visible sign of careless inward house-cleaning.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills insure beauty, give a dainty complexion, act upon the skin, upon your spirits. Some will ask, How do Dr. Hamilton's Pills act? Why mildly, of course, but very effectively upon that great trio of health, the stomach, liver and kidneys.

To get that robust, hearty health, to have the sparkle of vigor, to look and feel always at your best, tone and regulate your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Annual Meeting of L.S.P.U.

Thursday night the L. S. P. U. annual meeting was held when the following officers were elected:—

- President.—J. J. McGrath, re-elected.
- Vice-Pres.—And. Walsh, elected.
- 1st Asst.-Pres.—Char. Snow, elected.
- 2nd Asst.-Pres.—Stephen Angel, re-elected.
- 1st Treasurer.—M. A. Halleran, re-elected.
- 2nd Treasurer.—Stephen Rodgers, re-elected.
- Fin-Secretary.—T. J. Allen, re-elected.
- Rec-Secretary.—S. Thistle, re-elected.
- Grand Marshall.—John Anthony, elected.
- Auditors for the coming year:—A. Leary, W. Howell, M. Dwyer, D. King.

After the election a vote of thanks was heartily recorded Hon. M. P. Gibbs who acted as chairman during the election; and also to Messrs. McDonald and O'Toole for services during the year and to the press of the city.

The following very satisfactory report was submitted by the Executive: Gentlemen,—

Your officers beg to congratulate the Union upon the completion of its seven years of existence, and to submit the following report for their term.

By reference to the Treasurer's statements it will be seen that the total receipts from all sources for the year were $7067.88, or $154.35 in excess of the year previous.

The total disbursements for the year were $3182.40, leaving a credit balance of $3,885.48, which added to the amount now to the credit of the Union, $17,477.06.

Three hundred new members were added to the role during the year, making a total of 2,000 now on the books of the Union.

We regret to record the loss by death of 21 members, and also the wives of 23 members, the total mortality claim paid on this account amounted to $1834.50. In all since the inauguration of the Union we have paid death claims for 177 men, and 110 women, the sum of $10,376.50.

It is hardly possible to estimate the good done by the Union to the families interested in all these cases, but it must safely be assured that the sad hours are somewhat brightened by this monetary assistance.

With reference to the work of the year, we desire to express our appreciation of the fair treatment and generous consideration given to the question of our Union for the handling of the sealing industry, for which we heartily thank the merchants interested.

We would wish also to again thank our solicitor, Hon. M. P. Gibbs, for his continued kindly interest in the affairs of the Union, and for his ever ready response to all demands made by us on his time and attention.

We thank the members generally for their kind support in all matters pertaining to the interest and welfare of the Union during the past year, and wish the Union every prosperity for the year to come.

Signed on behalf of the officers.

J. J. McGRATH, President.
M. A. HALLERAN, Treas.
T. J. ALLEN, F. Secretary.

Empire Day.

To-morrow is Empire Day, the day set apart on which the members of the Empire are especially called upon to think imperially and to act as members of a great brotherhood which extends its influence throughout the wide world. This year the day though robbed of its holiday aspect will be more emphatically impressed on the minds of all true Britishers. For we are in the midst of a period of mourning for the loss of the head of that great brotherhood, who was indeed the father of his people.

For the past fortnight or more the eyes of all have been directed to the one who typified the unity of the nation, and who set a course which should be kept as the highest and noblest aspiration of Imperial Policy; the course of World Peace. No greater monument could be erected to Edward the Peacemaker than for the British Empire in his name to continue a leadership in the world on a policy of a close union of the nations and a pacific confederation of the Great Powers. With King George, the Kaiser, the President of the United States and the President of the French Republic following the course laid down by our late King, substantial progress towards the millennium might be made. Great Powers are mighty in war. Why should they not be mighty arbiters of Peace?

The Shield Presented.

After the parade of the Highlanders yesterday, the Shield presented by some kind friends of the brigade, was presented to Corporal Ledingham, for excellence in drill and general efficiency. Lieut.-Col. McNeill made the presentation. The Shield is a particularly handsome one and will be an excellence in drill and general efficiency.

Will the Nations Have to Fight?

In 1800 France had 4,000,000 more population than Germany. At that time both nations occupied approximately the same amount of territory, about 200,000 square miles each. The density of population in France was 134 to the square mile; in Germany it was 113.
In the last hundred years the fertility of the German nation has been so great that, in spite of the fact that it has sent more than 6,000,000 emigrants to the United States and millions more to other foreign countries, it has increased its home population to 64,000,000, nearly triple the number in 1800. During the same period the population of France, which has sent practically no emigrants abroad, has increased by less than 50 per cent. And, it should be remembered, in spite of Alsace and Lorraine, the territory of the two nations has remained practically the same—approximately 200,000 square miles each.

At present the density of population in the German empire is 303 to the square mile. What that means may be grasped by considering that if the United States was as thickly populated as Germany is at the present time we should have 900,000,000 people—ten times our present population. In other words, the present density of population in the United States is only thirty to the square mile.

Where and how shall the immense whirl and fertile Germanic races find a new home and a new empire over seas? Or will it, with the greatest army in the world at its command and a tremendous war fleet in the making, sit tight within its narrow boundaries at home until famine and pestilence sap its vitality and reduce its numbers? It may do that; it may allow millions of its sons to renounce their allegiance to the fatherland, or it may—the last terrible alternative is the one of which the world stands in dread.

In the Far East the case is exactly the same. Japan, penned in its narrow islands, with nearly fifty millions of warlike people crowded into 160,000 square miles of land, is already overflowing into Corea.

If it is possible to understand the almost irresistible impulse which drives the Japanese to seek outside their present boundaries a less crowded home, let it be remembered that, if Formosa be counted with the other Japanese islands, the density of population in the Island Empire is almost the same as in Germany.

Is it true then that after all the talk of commercial supremacy, national honor and high ideals, the real cause of the waiting war may be found in the primal instinct of swarming from the overcrowded hive? Is racial fertility at the bottom of the coming struggle?—From "Racial Fertility and War," in June Technical World Magazine.

Rev. Jno. Roe, P.P., Harbor Main, is much improved in health.

Master Robin.

Of all the chaps who come with spring,
I love dear robin best.
He is the first to sing his song,
The first to build his nest.
He greets you, too, as you pass by
With such a note of joy.
I do believe he has a heart
Exactly like a boy!

He's not a coward, no, not he,
He never takes a dare,
But if there's any fun around
He's sure to take his share.
Besides, he is a gentleman
Who's always nicely dressed
In quite a stylish swallowtail
And very handsome vest.

He steps quite like a dandy when
He's out on dress parade
And though Jack Frost is watching him,
He's not a bit afraid.

But independent as you please,
He heeds nobody's call,
And sings just when he has a mind,
In spring-time or in fall.

He's good friends, too, with all flowers,
And wakes them from their sleep;
'Tis at the sound of his dear voice
That they begin to peep.
I love him and his song, and when
I hear it, sweet and clear,
I shout, "Now hurry up, Miss Spring,
For Master Robin's here!"

TWO WRESTLING MATCHES.

There were two wrestling matches at Solmer Park last night. De Rouen almost had his neck broken by Zbyso, and Billeter was turned down by Lapointe, who is succeeding Tremblay fast as the idol of the Montreal followers of the game.
The Zbyso-De Rouen bout was Graco-Roman, and after thirty-eight minutes of struggling, in which De Rouen was the roughest of the two, Zbyso got his opponent in a waist hold, turned him upside down, and slammed him on the mat.
De Rouen's shoulders touched the floor, and after that he did not move for a considerable time, and there was some anxiety as to the condition of his neck. With the aid of a physician's administration he came to, however, and pluckily allowed himself to be mauled for another fifteen minutes, when he had to give in again.

For a while it looked as if the Lapointe-Billeter match would not come off. The conditions were 135 lbs. at the mat side. Billeter, however, was three-quarters of a pound overweight, and Lapointe's friends would not let him go on. Finally it was decided to make the match a handicap one, so that Billeter would have to throw Lapointe twice in an hour. Instead of that Lapointe threw Billeter in 28 minutes.—Montreal Star, May 19.

City Council Meeting.

The Mayor and all the Councillors were present at the weekly meeting held last Thursday evening.

A letter was read from inspector General Sullivan in reference to the damage done to the trees in Victoria Park. A special man had been detailed to detect the culprit, but so far he had not been discovered. In future the Park keepers will be instructed to report direct to the police.

As a result of correspondence received from Inspector General Sullivan, the Sanitary Supervisor will be instructed to order the Council employees not to deposit any manure, etc., near the East End Fire Hall.

Residents of the West End residing between Patrick St. and Pleasant St. petitioned for the opening of a road in the vicinity of the Nail Factory as a short cut to church on Sunday. The Engineer will report.

Mr. L. G. Chafe sent in a complaint that some of the sanitary men allow the contents of their night soil carts to spill out on Springdale Street, near New Gower St. crossing. He believes it is caused by defective cars. He also suggested that the Council should see that Mr. Foot's house should be connected with the sewer there.

The Horwood Lumber Co. wrote the Council that they were unwilling to contribute $50 to help pay expenses of having the sewer in their lumber yard removed. They merely wanted a road to their lumber yard from New Gower Street. They are now putting up a building near the mouth of the sewer and will hold the Council responsible should it ever be overflowed in the time of heavy floods. The subject was referred to the Engineer.

Mrs. Mitchell asked the Council to improve the sidewalk between her shop and the City Club, where at present pools of water collect. Referred to the Engineer.

Mr. R. Wood of Bishop Field College sent in a complain about the grotto there. People in the vicinity throw decayed vegetables, etc., into the drain. He asked to have a new concrete one placed there. A report was ordered from the Engineer.

Mr. R. T. McGrath, on behalf of Mrs. P. F. Power, Barnes Road, asked permission to have a porch built in front of her house on Barnes Road. Granted, if not on the street line.

Mr. W. G. Gosling was not given permission to convert the club house on the Golf Links, LeMarchant Road, into a residence for the keeper of the grounds.

Mr. W. J. Clouston asked leave to make improvements to his stable on Queen's Road. He was referred to the Health Officer.

John Carew will not be allowed to keep his coach house in the present position on Hayward Avenue.

Messrs. Young and Tilly, Pellywell Road, must build houses of the same style as those on the opposite side of the street and must put stone or concrete walls under them.

Harvey's house plan, South Side, was deferred for enquiry.

The Solicitor advised the Council that no part of the Promenade should be allowed to be enclosed by a fence.

Last Rites High Up in the Air.

Priest was Lifted Eighty Feet by Means of Rope Ladders.

Louisville, Ky., May 7.—While more than a thousand people looked on yesterday, some cheering and others kneeling in prayer, the Rev. Charles Raffa was lifted eighty feet through the air by means of rope ladders to the fifth floor of an incomplete elevator to administer the last rites of the church to Martin Wiggenton, who was dying on the concrete floor.

Wiggenton, a young iron worker, while on the eighth floor, lost his balance and fell to the fifth floor.

The alarm was given and a hook and ladder company responded. Wiggenton, realizing that he was dying, called for a priest. Father Raffa was found and hurried to the scene.

When it was seen that Wiggenton could not be got down alive, the priest asked that he be raised to him.

THE "LAST OF THE GREAT KINGS."

BY JOHN NELSON.

He Passes to be King Among the Dead.—The Passing of Arthur.

Now that he has passed out into the shadows to join the great kings, of whom he was by no means least, many of his subjects, both at home and abroad, will recall him as he appeared in life, and the head and centre of that great Empire which he did so much to create.

There are so many in Victoria to whom the personality of the late King was familiar that what follows must not be regarded as an attempt to paint an intimate portrait, but merely the modest tribute of a Canadian journalist whose good fortune it was last June to meet His Majesty, and, because of the happy auspices under which he was placed, of especially observing the Sovereign, on two unique occasions. Both of these opportunities arose in connection with the Imperial Press Conference held in London last Spring, to which the writer was a delegate. So unusual and so lavish was the hospitality bestowed on the colonial members that attentions which under other circumstances would have been regarded as almost epoch making, were robbed, at the time of some of their significance. Among these must be placed the two occasions when the members were honored with attentions by the King.

The first of these events was social and domestic, the other national and military. Each emphasized the immense popularity of the King, one in a select and the other in a popular sphere.

After the first conference at the foreign office, the delegates were the guests at luncheon in the House of Commons. We knew that we were to attend a garden party the same afternoon at Marlborough House, given by the Prince and Princess of Wales, but great was the general delight (especially of the lady members of the party) when it became known that His Majesty had motored up from Dorset, where he had spent the week-end, to personally receive and honor his overseas subjects.

It was a radiant June day. Outside the walls of the grounds roared the traffic of London, but inside its boundaries the rain of the previous night had freshened the trees and the wonderful sward and stolen a richer fragrance from the flowers. Military bands crashed brave music at different quarters of the lawn, and gay marquee were devoted to refreshments. By the path stood the Prince and Princess, and by their side Princess Mary and Prince John, dressed in the simplest of frocks and all welcoming their guests in as unaffected a manner as a country squire his tenants.

But for the moment it was the personalities of the guests that perhaps appealed most to the colonials. A thousand men and women thronged the green, and not only did they comprise the smartest dressed ladies in the metropolis, but scores of men whose faces the press have made familiar throughout the English-speaking world. Premier Asquith, Lord Morley with his finely chiselled features, Sir Edward Grey, whose face has almost equally fine lines; Mr. Balfour, old Lord Brassey, bluff Sir Charles Beresford, "Bobs," the church personified in the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the stage in George Alexander; Prince Alexander of Teck (brother of the present Queen), a strapping soldier in helmet and spurs; the Duke of Connaught, that splendid royal warrior; his daughter, the beloved beautiful Princess Patricia; Prince Christian, a cousin of the King—all these were conspicuous figures. But in that great company finally there was but one man for whom all had eyes. Presently the heir apparent and the Princess withdrew into the palace, and a few moments later the band crashed out the National Anthem, and the royal party emerged—first the Prince with Her Majesty on his arm, and then the King, with the Princess of Wales. The great company awaited them in a semi-circle at the foot of the steps, and as they descended all male heads were bared save where a military band came smartly to the salute, while the ladies curtsied deeply.

Later, as a special mark of favor to the colonials, the King and Queen permitted a personal presentation to the sixty delegates and their ladies. The time thus consumed permitted a close observation of His Majesty—an observation which in the writer's case was perhaps the closer because of reports of the ill-health of the Sovereign. Surely on that spring day no man could have appeared in better health or spirits! His Majesty had long since mastered the tendency to become bored, or perhaps he had only learned to conceal it. A hearty bluff man, of huge girth, but with a clear and merry eye, he shook hands with each, accompanying the act frequently with some kindly observation. The writer was bracketed for presentation with the delegate from St. John's, Nfld., (W. J. Herder) and as the name and home town of the latter was announced His Majesty with a delighted air told of his first touching at St. John's on his Canadian tour. He spoke with a thick, almost guttural, intonation suggestive of Teuton rather than of Anglo-Saxon. The street a sentry paced to and fro in front of that older palace from which the court of St. James takes its name, and one reflected that the unhappy Stuart King need never have walked from its portals to the gallows in Whitehall had he learned as well to identify himself with the life of his people.

The Queen and Prince each also shook hands, while from the windows the younger members of the heir apparent's household looked down on the gay scene as their father doubtless had done decades before when the King was Prince of Wales.

We had seen King Edward at home.

The other glimpse we had of His Majesty was in a more brilliant setting, in surroundings with which memory will always associate him because of the splendor of the event and also because of its epochal character. It was at Windsor, where the King set his formal seal on the Territorial Army—that force which officialdom has fought so bitterly and which Mr. Haldane has so tenaciously espoused. In all his history, as the Thunderer said the next morning, "the old and massive battlements of the castle have seen no more impressive and picturesque ceremony than the muster of guidons and colors on the east lawn." One hundred and eight stand of colors had to be consecrated and presented, and the scene was laid on this wonderful lawn, which, with its velvet expanse and glorious trees and thousands of brilliantly uniformed soldiers, formed such a vivid setting to the great dignity of the castle.

Sixty-nine years previously His Majesty, then ten weeks old, had been carried on to that same lawn to survey his first review.

Our places were on the battlements when a complete survey of the whole scene could be obtained. While the coming of the King was awaited, the eye feasted on a scene of color and beauty rarely excelled. To the flutter of two hundred silken banners, and the varied uniforms of foreign attaches, and the glitter of medals and stars of different orders from half a hundred field marshals and admirals. Nearly all the members of the cabinet attended in court dress. Maharajahs and Indian princes in snowy Oriental garb mingled with army nurses, with household troops, with the Knights of Windsor, with Gurkhas, blue tunicked Argentine officers and smartly uniformed Japs. The royal pavilion—an Indian canopy of gold and red—faced the parade. The massed bands of the Guards occupied the centre.

As the royal party emerged from the castle the Royal Standard broke out on the pavilion, and as they crossed the garden the vigor and heartiness with which the King pointed to this and that feature of the garden and his general evidence of health, awakened the hope that the grim event which last evening plunged the Empire in woe might be long deferred.

For nearly an hour the King and Queen stood together, first to follow the impressive religious service by which the colors were consecrated, and then to touch the stands of colors as they were presented before him. It was a sight to bring tears to the eyes of the emotional (for public feeling was tense over the Anglo-German situation)—forty thousand men, led by the massed bands of the Guards, raising their voices together in:

DO YOU USE

SUNLIGHT SOAP?

If you have never used Sunlight in your home, try it to-day.

Use Sunlight in the Laundry; use it in the kitchen; use it in the house-cleaning generally. Sunlight does all the work quickly and at the same time thoroughly.

Oh, God, our help in ages past,
Our hope in years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast
And our eternal home!

Even deeper thrills came to the heart, as after each had received its banner, solemnly committed to it by consecration prayer, and hand of Sovereign, and after each color party had rejoined its regiment, a strapping colonel of the Guards stepped into the centre of the square and removing his spiked helmet called for three cheers for the King. Then as His Majesty stepped forward and with hand at the salute, accepted the royal homage of his soldiery, two hundred pennons fluttered down and dipped their fealty to their Sovereign.

It is thus that one would choose to remember him—a splendid but worn and solitary figure standing out in that brilliant square fringed with dipped colors receiving the first homage of over a hundred new British regiments representing a potential strength of over a quarter of a million citizen soldiery, and by that act binding to throne and constitution those broad dominions which under various skies are bearing his colors and his arms.

The one dominant idea left with the onlooker after the pageantry had faded was the universal love in which he was held. Veteran statesmen and soldiers, artists, literary lights and churchmen, all yielded him enthusiastic homage. The cably in the streets was equally his loyal subject. The whirlwind of cheers on the east lawn at Windsor was the vocal expression of a loyalty and love felt in every barack room and fort under the red ensign around the world, and he reciprocated that love in a slavish devotion to duty, reflecting the best tradition of the race. "The King has a superstitious feeling that his reign will be a short one," said a veteran journalist of the House of Commons, at one of the conferences dinners, "and he wants to improve every moment of it."

"He is the last of our Great Kings," he added with a sigh.

The rooms were elaborately draped with mourning, all amusements were suspended, and a large picture of the late King draped in mourning was hung at the head of the convention room. President E. M. Jackson presided and in an eloquent address paid a glowing tribute to the virtues of the deceased King Edward and of his mother, Victoria the Good, while words of hearty congratulations were spoken of King George V. and Queen Mary. Eloquent addresses were also made by Messrs. W. J. Higgins, Secretary W. F. Graham and Councillor J. T. Martin.

B.I.S. Meeting.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Benevolent Irish Society took place yesterday at noon. Mr. J. L. Slattery, the Assistant Vice-President, occupied the chair. The reports of the different officers which were read and laid on the table showed that the Society was in a prosperous condition. The following resolutions on the death of the King were unanimously adopted and ordered to be presented to His Excellency the Governor for transmission. Appropriate speeches in support thereof were made by Mr. W. J. Higgins, the proposer, and Mr. Geo. F. Power, the seconder, both of whom warmly eulogised the work of the deceased King in the cause of peace and his friendly attitude to the Irish people and their descendants:

Resolved that we, the members of the Benevolent Irish Society, the oldest organization in the most ancient Colony of the Empire, in meeting assembled place on record our grief at the universally regretted death of our late Sovereign Lord and King, Edward the Seventh; our deep sense of appreciation of the wisdom and statesmanship which made his reign such a remarkable period in Britain's rule; and our testimony to the liberality and breadth of his views, so that the territories under his sheltering aegis were never so much in harmony with the sister nations of the world;

Further Resolved that we humbly offer our heartfelt sympathy to the grief-stricken Queen Mother and the remaining members of the Royal Family, who mourn the loss of one whose domestic virtues were as commanding of their love and affection as his kindly qualities so endeared him to his subjects throughout his dominions.

Resolved, also that we acknowledge our allegiance to the person and Throne of His Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth, under whom we pray for a continuance of the concord and happiness so manifest at the commencement of his reign.

Child Almost Burned to Death Yesterday.

Yesterday morning about 7.30 the 8 year old little daughter of Mr. Edward McGinn, fireman of the Eastern Station, narrowly escaped being burned to death at her residence, 15 Howe Place. Mr. and Mrs. McGinn went to 7 o'clock Mass at the R. C. Cathedral and left their daughter, Emma, with a bright fire in the kitchen. Kitty arose after her parents left home and bringing a chair opposite the stove, was hardly seated in it when her nightdress of flannel, caught fire and she was immediately enveloped in flames, and almost before her sister knew what had occurred. The child rushed into a room off the kitchen, where her brother, Willie, aged 15 years, slept. Her screams woke him and getting out of bed tried to tear the blazing dress from his sister. The wristband were closely buttoned and it caught there, and as the boy's hands were burning while he held the dress he let it go, and taking a pail of water from the kitchen he dashed it over his sister, thus effectually quenching the fire. The boy's presence of mind and coolness saved Kitty from being burned to death but not from terrible injury. Her hair was all singed and the side of her face, hands, arms, chest and abdomen were badly seared with the fire, and she suffered excruciating pain. Neighbors flocked around and did all possible to alleviate the child's suffering. A man named Hynes told Sgt. Keane at the station of the affair and he rang up Dr. Rendell but the doctor was not at home. Mr. and Mrs. McGinn on returning from Mass were horrified at the condition of the child, and her father again went in search of the doctor, who gave him an order for the child's admission to Hospital. She was taken there in the ambulance. This morning the little girl's sufferings came to an end, at the Hospital, death having claimed her as a victim. We extend our sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. McGinn.

Memorial Service at Heart's Content.

To-day, May 20th, was observed here as a public holiday by all classes out of respect and commemoration of the death and burial of our good and beloved King Edward VII. of loving memory. The Memorial Service was held in St. Mary's Church, and was as follows:—

1. Mendelssohn's Dead March.
2. Opening sentences of Burial Office (read while Choir and Clergy entered the Church by Rev. W. H. Bailey).
3. Hymn 165.
4. Psalms XXXIX. and XC. sung by the choir.
5. Lesson—I Cor. XV. 20v., read by the Rev. W. H. Bailey.
6. Hymn 608.
7. Address (text II. Sam. XIX. 14: "And he bowed the heart of all the men of Judah even as the heart of one man.") The address was delivered by the Rector, Rev. Frank Smart, and was very impressive.
8. Burial Office beginning: "Man that is born, etc." by Rev. W. H. Bailey. The Rector then began: "Lord have mercy upon us," and continued to the end.
9. Hymn 399.
10. After singing two verses of this hymn there was perfect silence while the bell tolled ten strokes.
11. National Anthem.
12. Chopin's Funeral March.

The service was attended by members of the S. U. F. and L. O. A. from all parts of the Parish. The brass band of the L. O. A. rendered some splendid music on the way to and from church. The Company of the C. L. B. also attended as well as the school children. There were many people from Heart's Delight, New Perfection and Selly Cove. There has not been so many people in church at one time since the time of Queen Victoria's Memorial Service. The church was draped with purple and black, and showed that it had been done by skilled hands.

We congratulate all who helped to make the service so beautiful and impressive, and trust it will be many years before we are called upon again to attend a similar service.

S. MILLEY

City Brigades Parade.

Yesterday forenoon the C. L. B., C. C. C. and Nfld. Highlanders held church parades. The C.L.B., mustering about 300 boys, in charge of Lieut. Col. Rendell, marched to the C. of E. Cathedral, where Rev. Jas. Bell took the service and preached an excellent sermon, in which he made touching reference to the late King Edward VII. After service, headed by their excellent band playing martial airs, the lads marched to Renette's Mill and out Monkstown Roads, proceeding to their armoury. Before dismissing the lads the commanding officer paid a deserved meed of praise to Corporal Adams, who is shortly leaving for Canada.

The C. C. C. had one of the largest parades since its inception yesterday forenoon when they attended last Mass in the R. C. Cathedral. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan. The Corps in command of Lieut. Col. Greene after Mass paraded through some of the principal streets of the city and made a good display. The band, which was composed of 33 members, played several excellent quick-steps on the march.

The Nfld. Highlanders in command of Lieut. Col. McNeill paraded to service at the Kirk yesterday forenoon. Headed by their pipes playing Scottish and patriotic airs, the companies in their kilts presented a very attractive appearance and were much admired by the many people who saw them on the march. Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite officiated at the church and preached a very eloquent sermon. After the service the brigade proceeded up New Gower Street and down Water Street to their armoury.

The Restraint of Wisdom is Silence.

It was Solomon who said "There is a time to be silent and a time to speak." If everybody only knew when to be silent and when to speak, what unpleasantness could be avoided, what good could be accomplished. There are people who have ready tongues, a quality not always to be made use of. Prince Bismark said: "I'm sure that you are right then go ahead." This is we are right, our goods are right, our prices are right, and we do right by selling clothing, dry goods and furniture for cash or credit.—B. FRIEDMAN, 301 Water St. Water Side, Phone 546, P. O. Box 5.

Stopped the Swearing.

As Sgt. Byrne was passing up Water Street Saturday night one of three men standing on the sidewalk was doing some tall swearing. The Sgt. remonstrated, but as he was in plain clothes, and the other did not know him this only made the man use more blasphemy. He then refused the officer his name, but was soon good enough to give it as the Sgt. hurried him to the lock-up. Here he was warned to drop his habit of using bad language and allowed to depart.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited, Yarmouth, N.S.
Gentlemen.—In January last, Francis Leclaire, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to deaden the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

The S. S. Bruce, Capt. Drake, sailed for Port aux Basques at 11.10 a.m. yesterday to resume the service on the Gulf. Capt. Delaney, Capt. Parsons and Chief Officer Keane went on her to Sydney where they will give evidence in the Admiralty case in the case of the collision of the Invermore with the French banker Beluga. There was no steam trawler named the St. Etol' out-down as the Daily News says. The case will be heard in the court at Sydney.

Looters at Work.

The house of Mr. Wm. Quigley, situated on Long Pond Road, was broken into Wednesday night last just about midnight. The owner, Mr. Quigley has been ill for some time past and is not residing in the house, the doors of which are barred up. A friend of his passing at the time saw lights in the house, and believing that the owner was better and had reoccupied the place, called out and asked Quigley, whom he thought to be there, how he was. He was surprised to see the light extinguished suddenly and two men jump from a window and run down the road. They had entered by breaking open the window. Next day the furniture in the house was found to be tossed about while there were evidences enough to show that when disturbed the men were ransacking the place, evidently in search of money. The house will be carefully looked after in future.

Condolences.

To His Excellency Sir Ralph Champey Williams, K.C.M.G., Governor of Newfoundland.

May it please Your Excellency,—On behalf of the Trades and Labor Council we beg most respectfully to tender, through you, to His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth and the Royal Family, our most earnest and heartfelt sympathy with them in the deplorably sad loss which they have sustained through the death of our beloved King Edward VII. To Her Royal Highness Queen Alexandra we send a special message of condolence, for to her has fallen the burden of the sorrow. Not a subject in the vast Empire to-day whose heart does not pour forth its most affectionate sympathy to the bereaved Queen Mother, and from none is that sorrow more deep-rooted than from her loyal subjects in Newfoundland.

We also beg to extend to His Majesty King George V. and his worthy Consort, Queen Mary, our heartfelt congratulations upon their accession to the Throne. We further wish to assure them of our affection and loyalty. May King George's reign be marked by many glorious years, as was that of his illustrious grand-nephew, Queen Victoria, of happy memory, and brightened by those peace-loving characteristics of his deeply lamented father.

World's S.S. Day.

Yesterday afternoon the officers and teachers and friends of Wesley Church Sunday School assembled in large numbers to celebrate what is known as "The World's Sunday School Day." The service was bright and instructive, and those who assisted on the programme acquitted themselves creditably. Master Walter Tucker delighted the audience with his fine voice as he sang "When all thy mercies, O my God," from "Prince of Peace," by Alfred K. Gaul. Mr. F. J. King, of the Methodist College, accompanied Master Tucker at the organ. Mr. King, we learn, is teaching Master Tucker. Rev. J. K. Curtis, B.A., presided, while Mr. J. S. Taylor, the Superintendent, conducted the responsive reading. Wesley Bible Class with their leaders, Messrs. A. Rooney and Behj. Taylor, were present in force and greatly added to the success of the evening. The collection amounted to $24, which will be devoted to the Library Fund.

The King and People.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 22.
King George has commenced his reign with an act of clemency, granting remission of short sentences and reduction of others throughout the Kingdom. These include the Army and Navy. He has also issued a touching letter (To my people) expressing grateful appreciation of the affection and loving devotion the nation has shown in the face of "a sorrow so sudden and unlooked for that it might well have been overwhelming" but the sentiments it has involved, continued the King, "has made me realize that it is a loss in common to me and my people. They share it with me. I do not stand alone, with such thoughts I take courage and hopefully look to the future strong in my faith in God, trusting my people and cherishing the laws and constitution of my beloved country."

Foreign Royalties Leaving for Home.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 21.
Most of the members of Royalty, special envoys and deputations who came to attend the funeral of King Edward have left or are leaving to-day for their homes. King Alfonso of Spain, is hurrying his departure as a consequence of the disappointing news from Madrid, of Queen Victoria's premature accouchment. Emperor William will remain two days more at Buckingham Palace. This morning Queen Mother, Alexandra, received in farewell audience in the Throne Room of Buckingham Palace the deputations to the funeral, the officers of the German and other visiting regiments and foreign civic bodies, thanking them for their presence at the funeral.

Expulsion of Jews.

Special to the Evening Telegram.
ST. PETERSBURG, May 21.
The expulsion of Jews from Kiev has not yet begun. A despatch from Kiev under date of May 18, stated that the expulsion of Jews illegally residing within the city would be resumed on the following day and that although in some instances a day had been granted to permit of a settlement of their affairs, all of those listed for expulsion must leave the city before June the 14th. The despatch also states that the Kiev commissar had then considered about 1000 cases and found 850 of those subjects to be expelled, also that the Governor-General had reviewed the decision of the commissar and confirmed the expulsion of 700 of those listed. A second despatch received on May 14th said that the expulsion had not begun on that day as scheduled and that it was reported that forcible measures would not be imposed before June 14.

Pacific Confederation.

Special to Evening Telegram.
PARIS May 21.
A report of a conversation which Emperor William had with M. Pichon in London, reproduced here, states that the Emperor was exceedingly cordial towards the French foreign minister and told the latter that the great Powers in the interest of humanity should remain closely united and form a Pacific confederation.

Queen Victoria's Accouchment.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MADRID, May 21.
Queen Victoria was delivered of an infant, still born, at four o'clock this morning. The sex was male. The unhappy outcome is attributed to a premature accouchment which, however, was otherwise natural. The body will be buried without ceremony in the Royal Pantheon of the Escorial Monastery. When told of her loss the mother wept bitterly. King Alfonso is still in London where he attended the funeral of the Queen's uncle, the late King Edward. The past few weeks had been most trying for Her Majesty. Early in the present month the approachment of the confinement was noted by the Royal physicians and twice during the days that followed the officials of the court were summoned under impression that the birth was imminent, while this state of doubt existed His Majesty was obliged to go to London. According to custom the Premier bore the body to the room adjoining the Queen's chamber for the official inspection by the members of the Royal family and court functionaries who had been waiting there. This presents the first instance of a still born in the Spanish Royal Family, although a child of Queen Isabella the Second, lived only long enough to receive the Lustration water. Queen Victoria is the mother of two boys and one girl surviving.

Rival Factions Fight.

Special to Evening Telegram.
CORK, May 22.
The presence here to-day of rival Irish factions, in spite of elaborate police precautions, led to serious conflicts, following demonstrations which were addressed by John Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary Party, John Dillon and Wm. O'Brien. Many people were injured including Daniel Sheehan, M.P. for Cork. Some of the wounded were taken to the infirmary.

Municipal Election.

To the Citizens and Electors of St. John's Municipality.
Gentlemen,—Having been requested by a large number of influential citizens to offer myself as a candidate for the office of Councillor at the forthcoming election, I beg to inform you that after giving the matter that due consideration which it deserves, I have fully decided to accede to their request. In doing so I am conscious that the duties of the office employ much work and no little responsibility; and to accomplish these, a councillor must do his best. This I promise to do. I deem our city worthy the best services we can render it. I do not look for perfection, but I do think there is room for improvement; therefore, as far as my influence may carry, if elected, I will use it towards improvement in general. It is not necessary to occupy your time any further in this direction, but I respectfully solicit your vote, and hope for your support in the coming contest.

I am determined to do my part to win; in an impartial and honourable manner, and I trust myself to you for election. The choice and decision of the six successful councillors lies with you, and if you should deem me worthy to become one of them, and to sit at the council board of our city then my highest aim shall be to prove myself a faithful servant of the people.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK MOORE.

HENRY BLAIR

Accident at Bell Island.

I. G. Sullivan had a report from Sergt. Cox to-day stating that Saturday a man named Philip White, aged 34, married, of Pilley's Island, met with a serious accident there Saturday. He worked at No. 2 slope of the D. I. S. Co., and had his right thigh broken. He and his partner had filled their cars and were running them out of the mine, when his partner was supposed to "sprig" the cars. He missed them, and in the darkness of the mine it would be death for White to jump off his car. The cars as a result jumped the track, White was thrown from them and the wheels passed over his right thigh. He is now in a precarious condition.

Will Cause Trouble.

This morning Henry Holwell, Contractor, boarded the Danish schr. Hans Emil and tendered for the discharging of the cargo. The captain, however, said that his crew would land it. The Customs officer on board, Howell says, told the captain that this was feasible and that the labourers would have to handle the cargo when landed. This the Union men will not do, and Holwell has acquainted Delegate McGrath of the facts, and no labourers will be allowed to work on the vessel with the crew discharging her. The action of the Custom's officer in interfering in the matter is denounced by the labourers of the city, and representations have been made to the Custom authorities.
