Another large and brilliant audience greeted the amateurs of Toronto last night at the Grand to witness their representation of the comedy "Used Up" and the operetta Lischen and Fritzschen. The entire satisfaction which the whole audience expressed of the praiseworthy manner in which either work was presented, suggested the idea that something of meritorious pretensions should henceforth be allotted our amateurs when they are called upon to perform for charity. In the comedy Mr. Merritt, Mrs. Walter Townsend and Miss Robinson, as in fact the entire caste, presented their respective characters in a manner but seldom seen in an amateur performance. The action throughout was bright, entertaining and laughable, and the efforts of each was deservedly recognized and appreciated. In the operatta both Miss Robinson and Capt. Their sales last month exceed the corresponding month of last year by $4160.36 and the March sales exceed those of March 1883, by over $1,000. This shows that nothing succeeds like success and indicates the return of good times.

James Pilgrim yesterday went on a pil-grimage through Noble Ward with a small retinue of Italians. He progressed from one saloon to another till both he and the sons of sunny Italy were so, so, so to speak. He then began to "bate the hay thens" right and left and had to be taken into custody.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT MY

The fire is warm, my pipe is lit, The curtains drawn and all is snug. With pussy in the big arm chair And Towser snoozing on the rug. I had a dream the other night That I had ceased to shovel fog, And set the country side agog: What do you think of that, my cat?

I dreamt I blew that ancient pile, Ontario's halls of parliam So very high and far that they To Jericho or elsewhere went.

The hole it left behind became
A dark and deep and noisome bog, Where urchins young for suckers fished Or speared the pensive polly wog; What do you think of that my cat?

The scene was changed; I saw a pile, A marble-fronted pile arise,
A hall of parliament, indeed,
High domed majestic to the skies.
Now wasn't that a wondrous dream.
For one who never takes his grog?
I'll blow if hip, as sure as fats,
And give the government a jog:
What do you think of that my dog?
What do you think of that my dog?

Your committee are glad to notice the introduction by Hon. Mr. Joly in the Quebec legis ature of a bill extend ng the lability of employers for injuries received by those in their employ, and sincerely trust that the measure may be ome faw. Every day exprience of wage-earners generally, and more particularly in the case of those employed on railways, most conclusively points to the urgent accessity in the cast in our fauch a law. In view of the fact that neither the dominion nor the province! governments at their last sessions of perliament introd cat their promised measures relating to the fractise, your committee recommend that the vario's trade and labor organizations throughout the dominion do publicly agitate for the passage by either or both parliaments of an asure granting manhood suffrage to every verson of age, not being an alen or of unsound mind, a criminal or a pauper, and that they be fully prepared to have their views not only on this subject, but also upon the various other matters considered at the labor congress last December—laid before the respect ve parliament by petition and otherwise.

Unstatesmanlike Statesmen.

If the people of Canada escape the mis fortune of being divided into provincialists and federalists it will not be the fault of the professional politicians and organists. Sectional cries are easily raised. A man incapable of grasping broader issues can emit them by the hour. Sectional fears and prejudices are easily aroused, especially in a country like Canada, with its vast territory, diverse interests, and grouped populations, among whom the national idea is but imperfectly developed. The fathers of confederation realized this, and were at some pains to define the relations of the different provinces to the paramount central authority. But no constitution was ever written upon which lawyers cannot put conflicting interpretations. The plainest statutes in the books are daily made the subjects of construction and misconstruction, and it is therefore no marvellous matter that a document of the character of the confederation act should be fruitful of contentions. That these contentions have assumed a needlessly acrimonious tone is a misfortune for which neither party is entirely irresponsible. If the reformers have been willing to take offence the conservatives have not been un willing to give it.

Of the supremacy of the central authority there can be no reasonable question. The coalitionists who framed the constitu tion were almost ostentatiously careful to invest the federal government with the veto power, the restrictions upon which require definition. That the federal government should enjoy some large liberty of revision is a principle involved in the very nature of our system. Without a reasonably strong central authority we should become what a prominent reformer and anti-confederate, Mr. Rymal, predicted we would become, a series of fishing poles tied end to end with weak strings. A good many provincialists claim that the federal that the constitution should be amended in the direction of greater provincial indemeanwhile to do with and live under the constitution as it is, and we might get prerogatives which it confers exercised more carefully and in a better spirit. The power of disallowance has been freely asserted by both parties. The Mackenzie administration abated no jot or tittle of their predecessors' pretensions in this respect. It was not until the evil genius of partisanship was summoned been conducted in a most unstatesmanlike broil are still fresh in the recollection of the public, and now the license question is made the pretext for a renewal of the irritation. Believing that patronage incidental to the source of strength to Mr. Mowat, and solicitous to propitiate or influence the liquor sions of Adam Smith or Bastiat. interest upon the eve of a general election, Sir John A. Macdonald permitted himself to make at Yorkville an undignified and unstatesmanlike boast, the plain, homespun meaning of which was that he would relieve of the burdens of provincial legislation the liquor dealers, who thenceforth would have to look to Codlin, not Short, as saccess to make good his threatening promise, he had recourse to the expedient of the McCarthy act, which should never have been introduced until the limits of federal and provincial authority had been defined by the tribunal of from the inception of confederation. Any doubt that existed as to their constitutional right to issue licenses—there is none raised as to their right to regulate the traffic-could and should have been settled years ago. An abstract case could have been made up, or a test case could have iseen submitted, that would have settled the question without any unnecessary expenditure of either money or feeling. Such a course would have been statesmanlike. but it is lamentably true that our very ablest leaders are prone to sink the statesman in the politician. The Ontario government met the Me-Carthy act with an ill-advised, because discriminatory, tariff of fees, which has given the federal administration a plausible pretext for the exercise of the veto power, and here we are again in the midst of the periodical Babel raised by the advocates of the rival factions, who frantically call upon their gods to witness and judge the iniquities of their enemies. This excitement is fictitious. It does not affect the masses of the business and industrial community at all, except so far as it tends to disgust them with politics and politioians, and to shake their faith in the stability of confederation. What the people desire is that there shall not be a repetition of the boundary brawl, but that this license question shall be settled as speedily as may be in a business-like man-per, and that in future all similar differces of opinion shall be adjusted in a dipomatic fashion, without an exchange of iscourtesies that ill become men who have received the confidence of their fellow citizens. That confidence they need not expect to retain to the end of their careers if they persist in alienating the respect upon which it is based.

Coffin is the suggestive name of the com manding officer of the Artic exploring steamer Alert. He stands many chances of soon needing his name.

There is a popular belief that the red man is swifter of foot and more enduring than the white. So he is-in the novels of Cooper and his imitators. In real life, other things being at all equal, he is not. The young brave who was expected to hustle the pale faces in the New York walking match has lagged behind, and is practically "not in it." The frontiersman can generally outride and outfight his weight in Indians. The pioneer priests of the Mills of the house of commons grinds too lively to give an ordinary contestant a fair show in the race. colleges and cloisters, first won their way to the Huron heart by participating in all the hardships, and cheerfully enduring all the privations of a savage life. The Caucasian is not played out, despite bad cookery and strong drink.

The devices employed to smuggle fire water into the Northwest ferritories are amusingly ingenious. The latest reported is a shipment of eggs, which had been "blown out" in the way so familiar to every boy raised on a farm, the shells filled with Winnipeg whisky, and the apertures carefully sealed up with a white omposition. But the thing was overdone The shipment was so large as to provoke suspicion, and the Trojans of the mounted police confiscated the Greek hen fruit. In the language of Homer:

Had we a hen would lay such an egg We would take her up to Winnipeg.

An Ottawa correspondent states tha Messrs. Curran & Coughlin, M.P.'s, were in Ottawa the other day, using their influ ence to prevent Mr. Costigan's removal from the cabinet. The motive of their presence at the capital may only have been guessed at by the correspondent, after the fashion of his ilk, but if Mr. Costigan is retained in the government it will certainly be through the influence of friends and the complaisance of his leader. Although a man of many amiable qualities, Mr. Costigan is intrinsically a weak man, a dismal failure as a minister, and possessing no personal claim upon his party save his loy alty in the dark days of defeat and disgrace. "Among the faithless faithful he," it has been a point of gratitude with Sir John to tolerate his defects. Gratitude is so rare a plant in the political world that the premier is rather to be commended government is too strongly equipped, and for this, but a less powerful general could not have afforded so weak a lieutenant.

The scandals of the boundary If the present government's successors carry out free trade principles and restore the duty upon tea, while removing it from Canadian products, raw or manufactured, conventional terms and free trade theories will be of very little use to them after control of the liquor traffic had been a their first appeal to the country. This is more certain than are the learned conclu-

Our United States contemporaries have made the most of the Toronto conspiracy case, but our neighbors are still ahead of us in that line. A witness swore the other day in a trial at Washington that he had purchased the vote of one Kellogg, then a United States senator, for twenty thousand their friend. Urged in the hour of his dollars. The accused is not only an exsenator, but also an ex-governor, an excongressman and chief of the Louisiana delegation to the great republican convention at Chicago, to which honorable position he was chosen while this charge was hanging over him. His defence bears an last resort. The provinces had been in ugly family resemblance to the technicalundisputed control of the liquor traffic ity raised in the Toronto case. The indict ment recites that he was bribed "in lawful money," comprising five drafts and one promissory note. Kellog's council raises the point that drafts and notes are not lawful money, and the objection is so serious a one that the judge has taken time to ponder it. The money paid Mr. McKim was so good and lawful that his creditors are after it. Promissory notes will not pass in the political mart of this country.

> The Hon. Mr. Masson always stood high in the estimation of members on both sides of the house of commons, and it is gratifying to learn that he has not gone back on his record in the Quebec legislative council, where his speech against the lottery bill is said to have contributed largely to the defeat of that iniquitous scheme. Mr. Masson is a fine specimen of a French Canadian, and it is a pity that there are not more like him in public life.

thers Than Bakers Who Make Money.

To the Editor of The World.

SIR: I suppose there will always ! some people who, through jealousy, will find fault with the success attending the efforts of those in business; but I would like to say a few words with regard to some others who get rich besides the bakers. What do you say to paying 10 cents per pound for linseed meal which costs but from 3c. to 31c. per pound, or paying for some large quack bottle of medicine Sl when it costs but from 40c. or 50c whole sale. Surely the chemist who sells at that price must soon become wealthy. Now for the grocer: He sells you tea at 60c. or 80c. per pound which costs wholesale at most from 20c. to 27c. Or you pay for one dozen of ale $1.20 which costs the grocer about 70c. per dozen; or for common washing soda 3c. or 4c. per pound. Now for the flour and feed: How does he dispose of damaged flour? Why, by putting in a cheap bag in every twenty. Or how does he manage his light weight oats? Why, by mixing to every five or six bags of oats one of barley. Also, he charges 4c. or 5c. per pound for oatmeal when it costs him but about 1½ to 2c per pound. Does a man when paying for a glass of beer object to 5c per glass when the saloon keeper makes a profit of perhaps 40c on the gallon, or 5c for a cigar when the least he probably makes on the cigar is 2½c to 3c? the grocer:\ He sells you tea at 60c. o probably makes on the cigar is 2½c to 3c. What about the coal and wood dealers who What about the coal and wood dealers who buy slabs at $1.90 or less and retail it at $4 per cord, very short measure in some instances? Now for the butcher who I think may have a word said about the way he goes about making a fortune. Well he sells prime cuts at 17c or 18c per pound and very much less. What about the head which he sells for 10c which cost him the same per pound as the whole carcase; Surely you could not expect him to sell you your choice at less than 17c or 18c. But the baker is the man whom some of our people wish to he at way mith. If the head which he sells for 10c which cost him the same per pound as the whole carcase; Surely you could not expect him to sell you your choice at less than 17c or 18c. But the baker is the man whom some of our people wish to be at war with. If the confectionery portion of his business was attacked then you might have something to say, but you don't take into considera-tion the bread and cakes he may have left on his hands or his losses in business or on his hands or his losses in business of wear and tear of carts and harness. Last spring he paid his annual visit to the

and that was not a satisfactory day's killing either. Of the eight brought in this year he killed seven. The eighth he captured alive for a friend in Deckertown, who tured alive for a friend in Deckertown, who wants it for a pet. This one is seven feet and a half long. Mr. De Witt says his farm raises no black snake less than six feet in length. This spring's premature yield measured a trifle over three rods. De Witt says he will gather a second crop in May, and will consider it a failure if it does not run out a total of nine rods. His snake natch yields nothing but black snake patch yields nothing but black snakes. Frank Knight of Purdy's station went out snaking one day last week. He came back with fourteen fair-sized black snakes. On being run out by the tape-line they were found to measure up nearly four rods.

One or two of them on Queen street it seems have made sufficient to purchase the property in which they carry on their business, dan dress their families respectably, and are even able to keep a private rig for driving. Whither are we drifting in this nineteenth century that bakers should be allowed such latitude as this? I would suggest that a royal commission be appointed to enquire into this terrible state of affairs. That professional men, dry goods merchants, grocers and tavernkeepers should accumulate wealth out of profits made in their business, is in the natural order of things, but that two or three "bakers" who have only been in the business from twenty to thirty years should be able to save a few thousands is an event calculated to upset the existing order of social affairs and is a fit subject for most, serious consideration.

Beautifying the Face.

It conceals the evidence of age. One application will make the most stubbornly red and rough hands beautifully soft and white. Re er that "MAY DEW" is not a paint or powder that will fill up the pores of the skin. and that is iniurious to the skin, but a new and great discovery, a vegetable liquid that causes the cheek to glow with health, the neck, arms and hands to rival the Lily in whiteness. Impossible to detect in the beauty it confers any artificial character. It cures Greasy Skin, Freckles, Wrinkles, Pluples, Black Heads, Crow's Feet, Blotches, Face Grubs, Sun Burn, Tan, Ringworm, Chapped Hands, Sore or Chapped Lips, Barbers' Itch, Tetter, etc. It frees the pores, oil glands, and tubes from the injurious effects of powders and cosmetic washes, By its use all redness and roughness is prevented; it beautifies the skin, and will make it soft, smooth and white; imparting a delicate softness; producing a perfectly healthy, natural and youthful appearance. The best face lotion that the world ever produced. We will send "A LARGE BOTTLE" to any address on receipt of price, $1. When ordering mention this paper. Catarrh-A New Treatment. Perhaps the most extraordinary success has been attained by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of 2000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per less than the court to answer for the same. "Have you any lawyer for defence?" asked the judge, as Dan took his place. "No, sor, I hab not," replied the negro, "Kase yo' know, jege, 'taint de fence what needs a lawyer, hit am dis po niggah dat am in fer it; I spec yer better pint one for him." during the past six months, fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefitted, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished, the catarrh is practically cured, and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one cles has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and the present. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. H. DIXON & SON, 305 King street west, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp

Five brands of popular pickles analyzed by Dr. Walter, chamist of the health department, have been found to contain an injurious quantity of copper salts. The attention of the firms from whom the samples were obtained will be called to the fact. The copper is used in coloring the pickles.

Bribed or not bribed, that is the question the fury will have to decide. But the tack-remains that the money was thrown away, as a few boxes of Bowk's celebrated cigars would have answered the same purpose. L. Bowk, 102 King street west, keeps them and other celebrated brands.

A valuable mare (record 2.40) owned by Mr. Hulse, Orangeville, was attacked by a heavy draught stallion and seriously in jured last week. The mare is getting round under careful treatment.

Fish are scarce in the upper reaches of the Thames river because there is an "apron" in the dam at Cashmere where they are caught by the barrelful. A local inspector should be appointed to prevent such illegal practices.

The Oakville Independent laments the lack of at helter sports in that place, and to inspire the young men says in the course of a half column editorial: Greece, in her days of glory, was pre-eminently a mation of athletic sports, and it is noticeable that any of such sports was coincider. So must it be.

The trainers of Burrill, the colored man, said they believed that Burrill had entered the race simply to get fed. They had never seen a man eat so much. Yesterday he had put away, several dozen oysters, custard, eggs, two pounds of steak and other matters. As he was falling far behind, and had no possible show, his frainers declined to simply act as cooks, so they quarrelled with him, and he stepped out. They said they would back him to eat more than any one on the track.

Rowell's trainers say that he has a schedule laid out, out they decline to show it. They admit, however, that he has kent up to it all along. They also say -Quantity in medicine is no indication of value. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is concentrated and powerful; requires a smaller dose, and is more effective, dose for dose, than any other Sarsaparilla. It is the best of all blood medicines.

The Difference.

An umbrella carried over a woman, th man getting nothing but the drippings of the rain, signifies courtship. When the man has the umbrella and the weman the drippings it indicates marriage.

-By the use of Buckingham's Dye, the whiskers may be easily made a permanent, natural brown or black, as desired.

Not "De Fence" He Desired. From the Atlanta Constitution Old Dan had used his neighbors' fence as firewood, and was accordingly brought that has been achieved in modern science before the court to answer for the same.

"Going to the Chicago convention?" it quired a way-passenger of a rotund, red faced acquaintance, whose breath had a strong oder of poor liquor.

"Yes; I'll be there." "Got a room engaged?"

"Where will you sleep, then?"
"Under a table in some saloon, if I can't do any better."
"Well, that's nothing when—when a man is acoustomed to it."

HALL'S VEGETABLE Hair Renewer.

Seldom does a popular remedy win such a strong hold upon the public confidence as has HALL'S HAIR RENEWER. The cases in which it has accomplished a complete restoration of color to the hair, and vigorous health to the scalp, are innumerable.

Old people like it for its wonderful power to restore to their whitening locks their original color and beauty. Middle-aged people like it because it prevents them from getting bald, keeps dandruff away, and makes the hair grow thick and strong. Young ladies like it as a dressing because it gives the hair a beau-tiful glossy lustre, and enables them to dress it in whatever form they wish. Thus it is the favorite of all, and it has become so simply worked in the postoffice and hadn't time. He then asked them to call in at No. 1 station and send him down the inspector. One of them went in and told that officer an absurd story and the inspector paid no attention to the request. Later Constable Wallace induced the inspector to go down, when it was found that a large sash had been smarhed in. Inquiry showed that the two men seen on Church had rooms in the locality and that they did not work in the postoffice. The police are confident they know all about the smash and are looking for them.

BLE FACTS WORTH KNOWING

OUR MOTTO IS:

PROFITS SMALL RETURNS.

The True Principle Upon which to do Business.

If your prices are right there is no necessity for leaving in your show windows either a Merry-go-Round, a Poney and Cart, or a caged Lion. A proof of the above fact is, that our sales during the month of April are $4,160.36 more than those of April, 1883, while other houses in the same line of business have had a hard struggle to hold their own. We therefore request the public to visit our stores and inspect our stock and the contents of our show Windows, and note the prices, and we are fully convinced that they will find them more interesting to their pockets than either Merry-go-Rounds, Pony Carts or Caged Lions.
