SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Extract From the Principal's Report to the Directors of the Institution for the Year 1912.

"As this report will be read by educational authorities and teachers throughout the Maritime Provinces I should like to call attention to a class of children for whose particular condition little or nothing is being done. I refer to those children who are more or less hard of hearing, and this degree of deafness varies from a slight dullness of the hearing up to a point where it is so defective that it affects the speech. Certain vowel or consonant sounds are not heard or heard so indistinctly that they are dropped entirely, or articulated very imperfectly. A child who cannot repeat the names of the numbers up to one hundred, whispered to him backwards or by threes or fours at a distance of fifteen yards has sub-normal hearing. These hard-of-hearing children are often misunderstood by their teachers, and their schooldays instead of being the happiest are the most miserable part of their lives. The effort to hear the teacher is a strain on the nervous system and is finally relaxed and they become tired and discouraged. The teacher looks upon them as stupid or lazy and treats them accordingly. In the absence of an ear expert any teacher can apply the test I mention above, and any child found dull of hearing should be placed in the front line of the class and in such a position that he can see the face of the teacher, as such children soon unconsciously learn to read the lips. At least the percentage of the school children in Halifax are more or less defective in hearing. A test made recently in Chicago puts the percentage there at 15. For those children whose hearing is so dull that their speech is affected, there should be a special class, taught by a specially trained teacher such as we have in this school. The ordinary teacher, not understanding the physiology of speech or the development of voice and articulation, often in her praiseworthy but misdirected efforts to help the child only make matters worse. I formed recently a special class composed mostly of children who had been attending the public schools but whose hearing was so defective as to render their speech unintelligible. They are now making rapid progress, and their speech will become, if not normal, at least perfectly clear and intelligible. Both on this and the other side of the Atlantic the word 'dumb' has become offensive to the deaf and those interested in them. It is looked upon as a term to be applied to the lower animals and not to human beings endowed with all the possibilities of voice and speech. The word has been dropped from the names of schools and other institutions for the deaf. I take this opportunity to recommend that the word should be left out from the title of this school and that it should be called the 'School for the Deaf' or the 'Institution for the Deaf,' the former being, I think, the more suitable. In conclusion I beg to thank you for the help, advice and kindly conversation you have always given me. I am, yours respectfully,

JAMES FEARON,
Principal.

FENIAN RAID BOUNTY

In Nova Scotia the following are entitled to this Bounty of $100:
First: Those who drilled in 1870;
Secondly: Those who attended the annual drill in the autumn of 1866 and who did not respond to the Proclamation for active service in the spring of 1866;
The following are those entitled to this Bounty:
Those who in the spring of 1866 being members of a regular militia corps came out in response to the Proclamation calling the militia out for active service in Nova Scotia. This class and this class alone are entitled to receive the money and forms of affidavit have been prepared by which a person makes a declaration as to the facts of his having come out, and gets a comrade to testify to the same.
DROPS ATLANTIC
STANDARD TIME.
An important change will be made by the C. P. R. with the adoption of Atlantic standard time for the operation of the Atlantic division, and the adoption of the Eastern Standard time for this section. The reason for the change is the confusion caused in operation and dispatch of trains and the possibility of serious accidents through error in times under the present arrangement. The change from one time to the other is made at Vancouver, and the company has decided that it is not worth while to make the change for the sake of the comparatively small stretch of road east of Vancouver.—Yarmouth Daily Post, April 12.

Lawrencetown's Telephone Exchange

Last week we mentioned that the Telephone Company was about to establish an Exchange at Lawrencetown. This was done on Tuesday, the 8th inst. with only eight subscribers of the ordinary circuit. Mr. McKay, representing the Telephone Company, had called upon the holders in the town, but had completely ignored the majority. The promises in the event of a Central here were, private lines, and a five mile circuit, which would take in most of Clarence and Paradise, the four telephones in Ingilville and one in Brickton. The situation, on looking into it, would be something like this,—there are one hundred and eighty telephones in the Bridgetown Exchange. In the proposed change fifty of these would be separated and formed into a unit—and toll paid outside the limits—cutting Lawrencetown off the use of one hundred and thirty telephones and giving us no better service, surely, than we had received, as the Bridgetown Central is uniformly prompt and courteous. These private lines meant additional pay, too. At first it sounded plausible, and eleven of the town subscribers signed a contract, but on finding that a five-mile circuit could not be obtained, as the south side, Clarence and Paradise holders, to a man, stood solid to have the old circuit, three of the subscribers in town, threw up such a manifestly absurd proposition. The doctors also repudiated it, but were nevertheless switched off the Bridgetown Exchange. This meant quite a leverage to force others in. The Hon. O. T. Daniels' aid was asked to have the matter satisfactorily adjusted, but his ready response and willingness to aid were rendered unavailing, as he was told at headquarters that everything was working smoothly, that eleven members were in and the others would follow. Monday evening, the 14th inst. an indignation meeting was held in Lawrencetown, attended by all but two of the subscribers. After discussion of the situation, which all felt to be unfair and unjust, and the result of serious misunderstanding, to say the least, on the part of the Telephone Company, the following resolution was passed and subscribed to by every holder present: Resolved, that we the undersigned Telephone subscribers of Lawrencetown and vicinity desire the same service as we enjoyed five years ago, that is to say a Central at Lawrencetown with Bridgetown circuit free. A similar meeting was held in Clarence and the same resolution passed.

SUBSCRIBER.

Our Telephone Service

To the Editor:—For the past few months or more telephone subscribers in the Bridgetown circuit have been looking forward in expectancy to an all night service. We have tried to be patient, and our Board of Trade secretary has encouraged us to believe that 'something is being done' towards this end. Conditions have lately arisen affecting the Bridgetown exchange, which lead me to believe that we are farther away from any improvement in Telephone service. I refer to the condition of affairs between us and Lawrencetown subscribers. I was not a little surprised a few days ago when calling a merchant in Lawrencetown, to be informed that the charge would be ten cents. In making enquiries I find the action of the Company in this respect is highly displeasing to the citizens of Eridgetown, and am informed that Lawrencetown subscribers are 'up in arms' over the arrangement being made there. I cannot think the Telephone Company fully comprehend the view that is taken by good and reasonable men, of their action in this matter, and have no doubt but what some satisfactory adjustment can be made. I understand this will be an item of discussion in the Board of Trade meeting Monday night, and trust that a strong resolution will be passed requesting a continuance of free service with Lawrencetown subscribers. In closing I wish to ask,—When are we going to have an all night service?

SUBSCRIBER AND CITIZEN.

To the Editor of the Monitor:—The sensible and well intentioned letter of Mr. Henry B. Hicks in your last issue commends itself to the good sense of your readers as likely to stimulate an interest in the Bridgetown Board of Trade. Of course it is to be regretted that so little interest appears to be taken by the merchants and business portion of the community in such an important activity as the Board of Trade, but in a small community like Bridgetown and with so much social activity and so many various other matters engaging the attention of the people, it cannot be expected that a large attendance can be obtained for the ordinary meetings of the Board. Other towns, similar in size and other respects, have to complain of the same lack of interest in the general public as we have here; all honor to the persevering stick-to-it few among us, who have held on, and thus kept the Board alive. They are the nucleus around which, when an emergency arises, can be rallied the whole strength of the community, and a united public opinion directed towards the accomplishment of any object required for the benefit of the Town.
Yours,
JOHN IRVIN.

SYDNEY LINEMAN INSTANTLY KILLED.

Sydney, April 7.—Richard Peters, foreman of the Western Union Company's linemen here, met with almost instant death today about noon when he came in contact with an electric wire while making repairs. Peters was repairing some damaged wires on Falmouth Street, and was on a Western Union pole. While attempting to separate the C. B. Electric Co.'s high tension wire from the ground he came at which he was working, the end of the loose wire partly ran up his sleeve above the glove on his hand, and he received almost the full force of 22,000 volts. He was removed from the pole, and medical aid summoned and physicians did everything possible for two hours to resuscitate the man, but their efforts were without avail. The deceased was about forty-five years of age and leaves a widow but no children. He had been in the employ of the Western Union for twenty-five years.

Brown Machine Company's Report

Judging from the annual report of the Brown Machine Company, fresh from the press, investors in this progressive structural engineering corporation should be exceedingly gratified with the result of the Company's operations during 1912. The output of the works at New Glasgow was the largest in the Company's history, representing an increase of 25 p. c. over 1911. Net earnings were nearly THREE times the amount required for bond interest. It is believed that a 4 p. c. dividend on the capital stock will be declared at the annual meeting on April 19th. Prospects for the present year are very promising, and sufficient work is now in progress to keep the shops busy for three or four months. We offer the 6 p. c. First Mortgage Bonds of this Company at 95 p. c. and interest, which price yields the excellent return of 6 1/2 p. c. Further details available on request.

The entire orchestra and a large representation of the Bridgetown choir were present and assisted the Granville choir in the music. Mrs. A. R. Bishop presided at the organ, and under her skilled touch the splendid, round, sweet notes of the instrument filled the church. The organ offering account will not be closed until all find opportunity to contribute.

The Nictaux Fish Hatchery

The Hansard Report, of the House of Commons for April 7th, furnishes the following information respecting this Hatchery. The property on which it is located was purchased from Mr. H. V. Gates, of Middleton for $300.00. The Hatchery and dam are now completed. One million seven hundred and fifty thousand Atlantic salmon eggs have been transferred to it from the Margaree Hatchery and fifty thousand speckled trout eggs from the St. Alex's Hatchery of Quebec. Mr. L. J. Burton has been appointed officer in charge with a salary of $550. a year. Geo. Heatley, $500 a year as assistant, and H. V. Gates, $500 a year as assistant, with care of eggs, fry and general hatchery work. Mr. Burton has been assistant at the Margaree Hatchery since 1907. He is a capable officer and has gained an intimate knowledge of hatchery work. His transfer was recommended by the responsible departmental officials. Messrs. Heatley and Gates are represented as young men of strictly temperate habits and good education. The total cost of the Hatchery to date is $9,236.46.

SYDNEY AFTER A SHIPBUILDING PLANT.

Sydney, April 9.—The Sydney Board of Trade have a number of important matters under discussion, among which is a revival of a ship-building plant, in a modified form to that discussed by the Council last year. The visit of G. Hughes, of London, gave rise to the matter, as he represents a number of English capitalists, who intend investing capital in Nova Scotia, this year. The Board have several important propositions under consideration. The Lake steamers have begun their summer trade and today the steamer Aspy, left for the North Shore. The steamer Richmond, which wintered here leaves for Mulgrave this week, and shipping generally is in full swing on the harbor and at the piers.

NOVA SCOTIAN WHO SAID HE WANTED TO KILL PRESIDENT.

Washington, April 9.—Armed with a dirk and muttering threats that he came here to kill President Wilson, James Matheson, twenty-two years old, who said he came from Nova Scotia, was arrested late yesterday afternoon. He put in an appearance at the Washington navy yard and told the officials there that he wanted to enlist. In the course of conversation he said he came to Washington for the express purpose of killing the president. He was taken to a Washington asylum for observation. A charge of carrying concealed weapons was made against him.

ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF SPAIN'S KING

Anarchist Sprang From the Sidewalk and Fired at King Alfonso, But His Majesty, by His Courage and Quickness, Saved his Life.

Madrid, April 13.—For the third time in his reign King Alfonso narrowly escaped being the victim of an anarchist attempt against his life. Three shots were fired at the King this afternoon in the streets of the capital by a native of Barcelona, Rafael Sanchez Allegro, who was immediately overpowered. THE KING'S COURAGE. King Alfonso owed his life to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff he was riding along the Calle de Alcala, on the way back from the ceremony of swearing in the recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the bridle of the King's horse with one hand, presenting a revolver point blank with the other. The King took in the situation at a glance. With lightning rapidity he dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the King's breast, struck the horse on the neck, but so close was it that the King's left hand glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

MADE GREAT FIGHT.

Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a secret service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each others arms struggling furiously. The assassin managed to fire his revolver arm and fired two shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullet flew harmlessly through the air. At the sound of the first shot the King's staff forced their horses on the sidewalk and made a ring around the assassin, who fought long and furiously in the grip of four policemen before he was overpowered and handcuffed. King Alfonso as soon as he saw that the man had been secured raised himself in his stirrups, turned to the crowd, gave a military salute and shouted in ringing voice "Long live Spain." He then dismounted and reassuring his staff, saying "It is nothing, gentlemen."

Then up rose a mighty roar from the wildly enthusiastic crowds, which rolled along in great waves of sound all the way as the King rode to the palace, cool, collected and smiling.

ATTEMPT TO LYNCH ASSASSIN.

A spectator, a pensioned Royal Haiberdier, pushed forward as impetuously to offer his congratulations to the Monarch that he was mistaken for another assassin and arrested. He was released, however, as soon as the mistake was discovered. A young Frenchman, who was standing beside Allegro was also arrested, but it does not appear that he was in any way connected with him.

The crowds made a determined attempt to lynch Allegro, who was hurriedly taken into a house and kept there until an auto ambulance escorted by mounted police transferred him to police headquarters. King Alfonso was first to tell of what he lightly called "the incident which caused delay," to Queen Victoria and the Dowager Queen, at the Palace, who were greatly alarmed. The King smilingly allayed their fears.

EXPULSION FROM FRANCE.

He had hardly been back ten minutes when an immense clamor arose. The two squares on which the Palace looks were black with people of all classes, and desirous of showing their joy at the King's safety, and their admiration for his display of bravery. The King went to the balcony and acknowledged the cheer and then sought the Queen, and the two stood bowing to the throngs for several minutes.

The police investigations established that Allegro was recently expelled from France as an anarchist, after which he went to Barcelona. He came to Madrid a month ago and obtained employment in a carpenter shop. He worked there until Friday, on which day he was paid off.

It is said that during the course of his first examination Allegro declared that on seeing the King pass he was seized with a sudden evil impulse and having a revolver in his possession drew it. Driven on by an irresistible force he sprang forward and fired.

A woman said to be with Allegro, was placed under arrest tonight. A curious coincidence is found in the fact that the Spanish Premier, Count Romanones, last night declared to be absolutely without foundation the alarming rumors that had been circulated in Madrid regarding the possibility of an attempt against the King today on the occasion of the swearing in of recruits, and relative to the presence in Madrid of several dangerous anarchists.

A Ship's House-cleaning

When a liner comes into the dock most people suppose that officers and crew make a dash for home, leaving the ship to take care of itself until it is time to make the return trip. Harper's Weekly publishes a careful article which will go far to correct this notion. The writer says that about the hardest work the ship people have then begins, for within a period of thirty-six hours the ship must be thoroughly overhauled and cleaned from stem to stern.

The hull of the vessel must be entirely repainted, the funnels scraped and brightened with a fresh coat of color, every bit of machinery inspected and tightened up, and the masts and rigging looked after.

In the matter of cleaning up it may be pointed out that in the case of a big liner the mere furnishing of the first cabin dining-saloon is itself a task of no mean dimensions. Such a saloon may seat nearly five hundred guests without any relay. The carpeting must be taken up and cleaned, each table must be repolished, the floor must be rubbed until it shines like a mirror, every bit of paint or gilding must be carefully washed, all chairs are inspected and repolished, and many other odd jobs done before the saloon is again put at the disposal of passengers.

The same task must be accomplished with reference to the second dining-saloon, the drawing-rooms, the library. Then, too, there are some four hundred staterooms, say, which must be treated in the same fashion, to say nothing of the inspection of forty bathrooms.

One of the hardest bits of work is in connection with the furnishings. For instance, it is necessary to count, sort, and check some thirty thousand pieces of linen. It is placed in sacks, each containing from two hundred to two hundred and fifty pieces, and sent in vans to the laundry. When it comes back, the tiresome job of counting, sorting, and so forth, must again be gone through with.

The silverware also requires a good deal of attention. This may be to the number of fifteen thousand to twenty thousand pieces. Glassware on a liner seldom numbers fewer than twenty-five thousand to thirty thousand pieces, while the number of dishes, plates, cups, and so forth, often reaches sixty thousand.

Every piece of this glass and china has to be washed and polished during the ship's "house-cleaning," although all have been kept scrupulously bright during the entire voyage. Each department is in charge of an employee, and each of these men is, in turn, answerable to the head steward, to whom is brought a report of the total number of pieces on hand.

Every sheet, towel or tablecloth found to be worn to any appreciable degree is immediately discarded, for no "rags" are permitted on a first-class liner. During the course of one trip a liner will use something like three hundred Turkish towels alone and as many as a thousand smaller ones for the first cabin only.

In the steerage the cleaning is conducted on somewhat different lines. Everything that might be damaged by water is taken out of the steerage quarters and the hose is brought into play.

GAME ACT AMENDMENTS.

A bill now before the Legislature amends the Game Act in several respects. Among the new clauses are the following:

No person shall take any protected fur-bearing animal from any burrow or den by smoking, or digging or any other means whatsoever.

Any person, after having obtained from the chief game commissioner a permit so to do, may catch alive at any season of the year any fur-bearing animals, in any box trap or modification of the same, for the purpose of preserving and breeding from such animal, and animal so caught and kept shall be considered personal property of a private nature.

Such permit shall limit the number of animals to be caught and the time within which they shall be taken and may be cancelled at any time by order of the chief game commissioner.

We are sorry to lose Mr. T. Johnson and family from Lawrencetown. They have lately removed to Bridgetown.

The change in our telephone service has been a source of much discussion. The switch was put in at Lawrencetown, and at present there are twelve subscribers in the exchange including four from Inglisville. The remaining subscribers are unwilling to go into the limited circuit, and so are still in Bridgetown exchange. In order to adjust matters and relieve the present situation a meeting of the holders is called for Monday evening.

What's the Matter With Lawrencetown

Our friends will say, "Nothing,—a pleasant, pretty place to live in, rather sleepy, but—" Our enemies,—we have none, but if any one felt inclined to criticize us in a friendly way, what would he say? Is there anything wrong with the place or is it satisfactory in every way? What does the town need to make it grow? It's in the air,—we are going to grow. We are going to have electric lights,—our streets are good now in contrast with our sister towns east and west, largely due to the faithful services of our Superintendent of Streets,—but they will be well lighted soon. Our water system is cheap, well served and the water excellent. There is a demand for houses and building lots. People have had to move away this year, and others were prevented from coming in because they could not get houses. Building lots are selling for $500 up. Too much? Why? Because we are shut in between the railroad and the river on a narrow strip of land. But there is plenty of room north, and it is going to be opened up now.

Dr. Hall plans to run a new street West of his large double tenement house leading from the main street north over the railroad, and run another parallel to Main street as far East as the Creamery to meet another from the main thoroughfare. He says this will open up forty or fifty new lots, easily drained and excellently situated. Already there are prospects for the sale of some of these lots. Now if half a dozen neat, attractive houses would be built to rent they would be occupied at once. Where will the people come from? A clean well lighted town, with good water, schools and churches, and bright intelligent inhabitants will attract people. Commercial travellers, retired farmers and professional men, and many others are looking for homes in such a town. Convenient to railroad with many advantages of the City, but a cheaper mode of living.

Then industries will start up. We had a meeting last winter to start an apple evaporator. Every one was in favor of it. All it needs is pushing to make it go. Then add canning and preserving fruits and we will have a ready market for goods which we now buy from the upper provinces. We are a farming community and our fruits, peas, beans, and vegetables are only waiting for us to manufacture them and make paying industries at home. We have the plant lying idle at present for a large coopeage and all around a ready market for 100,000 apple barrels. Why not start it and give homes and employment to a dozen coopers and their families?

There are many other things lying before us now neglected, which will develop the town. They only need co-operation. We do not pull apart as some communities do,—that's a great blessing. But we need to get together and form a Board of Trade, a Boosters' Club, a Village Improvement Society or whatever you may call it, and then as they say out West "Watch us grow." We will have more to say about some of these matters in the columns of the Monitor.

The things that come to those who wait are generally the things that no one else wants.

Campaign Leaders for Mt. Allison

In anticipation of the campaign in the interests of Mount Allison which takes place this month, Mr. R. A. Cassidy, who is in charge of the work of organization, has visited several of the larger towns of the Provinces. He has found everywhere marked enthusiasm in the movement and feels that with the able assistance already enlisted and the promises of future help which have been received, there should be little difficulty in completing an organization which will guarantee the entire success of the campaign.

In each city there will be local committees, who will act in harmony with the central committee. Up to the present, those who have kindly consented to act as leaders of these local committees are:

- Moncton—Cl. Ford W. Robinson and J. A. Marven.
- Halifax—S. M. Brookfield.
- Sackville—Mayor Fawcett and Frank Black.
- Amherst—E. F. Hewson.
- Charlottetown—Hon. George E. Hughes.
- St. John—W. B. Tennant, A. P. Barnhill, E. R. Macham, Howard P. Robinson.

It has been decided to conduct, not a simultaneous campaign, but a series by which the different sections of the Provinces will be covered in regular order within a period of two weeks. For instance, the work will start in St. John and at the same time attention will be given to St. Stephen, Fredericton, Sussex. Then Moncton and Amherst will come in, and thus the campaign will move east covering every portion of the Provinces, and coming to Sackville at the finish. In each place the local committees will be assisted in so far as possible by the central organization, and all interested will be kept informed as to how the work is progressing.

Women Seek to Change Marriage Ceremonial

London, April 7.—The Spiritual Militancy League for Women's Rights with which Lady Aberdeen, Flora Annie Steel, the novelist, and other prominent women, are identified, has issued a manifesto demanding that the Government pass a bill removing the "humiliations" in the marriage service of the Anglican Church. It specifies fifteen so-called moral indignities to women, "the subtle giving of precedence and prominence to the bridegroom," being the essence of all the complaints. Indignity number one is, of course, to the word, "Obey." The manifesto declares, must be deleted and balanced by an equivalent to "obey" on the part of man. The manifesto says: "It is a humiliating survival that the woman alone is 'given away.' The man should also be 'given away,' or the custom repealed."

Other indignities are alleged in the matter of the ring and the bridegroom's accompanying declaration: "With all my worldly goods I thee endow." This is denounced because it is never true, and the Government is asked to drop the ring ceremony and the formula or compel an exchange of rings and the promise from the bridegroom. "I will tell no economic falsehoods or give any moral offence."

"The seventh incitement to spiritual arrogance any tyranny," the manifesto says, "is the minister's pronouncement of the pair as man and wife, the implication that the woman is wholly the wife, and the man not wholly the husband."

The petition that a man shall love his wife as Christ did the church is declared to be "an appalling humiliation to the woman and a pernicious exaltation of the man."

The manifesto quotes St. Paul's words, "Wives, submit yourselves to your husbands," and says this is another indignity which must be counteracted by the addition of "and husbands submit yourselves to your wives."

Nova Scotia Educational Report

The annual report of the Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia, which has been laid on the table of the House of Assembly is one of the most encouraging which has been submitted in recent years. The report is very complete, dealing fully with every branch of education and the allied institutions in the Province, containing general report, statistical tables, inspectors' reports, Provincial colleges, and institutes. Special space is given to the Normal College, Agricultural College, Technical College, which covered a wide scope of technical instruction, including mining and engineering schools and report of coal mining instructors. For the last three years the enrolment in the public schools has been steadily increasing, the advance last year being 1,074 pupils. The total enrolment of all schools, technical and ordinary, advanced during the year from 105,425 to 106,725. There has been an increase of twenty-three in the number of schools, which is now 2662. Ninety-seven schools were closed, one half of which have now no school population or are temporarily served by the schools of the adjacent sections. The Normal trained teachers employed increased from 1215 to 1236. The number of high school students presenting themselves at the provincial examinations advanced from 4926 to 5035, and 2388 were successful as against 2289 last year. There has been a general increase in the average salary of every class of teacher, male and female. The Provincial Aid to the schools increased by $8,379.03, to technical schools by $2,540.71. The municipal funds increased by $347.98 and the sectional assessment for the support of schools advanced $55,159.26. The Technical College has had its equipment rounded out by the completion of the Metallurgical Laboratory building at a capital cost of $29,623.06. The Medical Inspection of schools is being gradually introduced. The City of Halifax, and Truro appear at present to be leading the movement. It is hoped by the Superintendent that before long a simple scheme for rural sections will be published. The education and care of the feeble-minded are advocated as an urgent duty of the state. The reports of Inspectors and of the various Colleges connected with the educational system are of very great interest. The report contains a number of photographs which serve to illustrate various branches of the educational work of the province.—Presbyterian Witness.

Directory for Angora Goats

During the past few months the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has been in receipt of numerous inquiries as to where it might be possible to purchase either Angora or Milch goats. It would appear that in many parts of the Dominion the demand for these useful and profitable animals is rapidly developing and that those who at present have any surplus stock can find a ready sale for them if a channel of communication between supply and demand is established. Accordingly as a means of starting a convenient Directory of Canadian Breeders of Angora Goats and Milch Goats, the Live Stock Commissioner will be pleased to receive from such breeders information regarding their respective flocks covering the following points:

1. Kind and number of goats kept.
 2. Usual number for sale each year.
 3. Approximately the prices asked.
 4. If possible a brief statement regarding expenses found necessary and the returns which may be expected by one engaging in raising this class of stock.
- Communications supplying the above information should be addressed to the Live Stock Commissioner, at Ottawa, Ont. Such letters do not require postage.

Mrs Bankhurst Sentenced to Three Years

London, April 3.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the leader of the militant suffragettes, was today found guilty and sentenced to three years penal servitude at the Old Bailey sessions, on the charge of inciting persons to commit damage.

The trial had lasted two days and when the Judge, Sir Charles Montague Lush, pronounced sentence his speech was received with loud cries of "Shame", from the militant suffragettes, who crowded the court and thus expressed their horror at the severe term of imprisonment inflicted on her. The jury when it returned its verdict of guilty, added a strong recommendation for mercy and when the Judge pronounced the heavy sentence of three years the women rose in angry protest.

PRISONER CHEERED.

As Mrs. Pankhurst stood in the prisoner's enclosure, her sympathizers cheered wildly and then fled out of court singing, "March on, March on" to the tune of the "Marseillaise."

Mrs. Pankhurst denied any malicious incitement. She said that neither she nor the other militant suffragettes were wicked or malicious. She complained that women were not tried by their peers and that these trials were an example of what women were suffering in order to obtain their rights. Personally, she continued, she had to surrender a large part of her income in order to be free to participate in the suffrage movement.

Speaking with much feeling, Mrs. Pankhurst fiercely criticized the man-made laws and said that the divorce law alone was sufficient to justify a revolution by the women.

WOULD NOT SUBMIT.

In impassioned tones she declared that whatever might be her sentence she would not submit. From the very moment when she left the court she would refuse to eat and would start a "Hunger strike." She would, she said, come out of her prison dead or alive, at the earliest possible moment.

Justice Lush in summing up told the jury that Mrs. Pankhurst's speeches were an admission that she had incited the perpetration of illegal acts.

The only interesting development in the evidence today was contained in the revelations made by the police who had fruitlessly tried to take Miss Fomes Robertson's finger prints in order to ascertain her real identity. She was imprisoned under the name of Margaret James and sentenced to six months in jail, on February 5, on a charge of wrecking a number of windows.

Mrs. Pankhurst today informed the court that she did not wish to testify or call any witnesses. Her only desire was to address the judge and jury.

She spoke for fifty minutes, at times wandering so far from the matter before the court, that the judge severely censured her.

You will look a good while before you find a better medicine for coughs and colds than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only gives relief—it cures. Try it when you have a cough or cold, and you are certain to be pleased with the prompt cure which it will effect. For sale by all dealers.

Zam-Buk in the Home

READ HOW USEFUL IT PROVED IN THESE WIDELY DIFFERENT CASES.

Zam-Buk's strongest point is its effectiveness in all kinds of skin diseases and injuries. Just note how excellent these persons proved it in widely different directions.

SORE HEEL.—Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of Powassan, Ont., writes: "One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes and the poisonous dye from my stocking got into it, and made a bad sore. For a week I could not put on a shoe, and suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in a few days it drew the poison out and healed the wound."

BAD CUT.—Mrs. J. Virgint, of Onondaga, Ont., writes: "Zam-Buk healed a bad cut, which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. At the moment I did not realize how badly I was hurt, but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises, Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy."

ECZEMA CURED.—Mrs. Antoine Arsenault, of Maxville, P. E. I., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any person suffering from eczema. I had this disease and was under doctors' treatment for two years, without any good result. I then tried Zam-Buk and in the end it cured me."

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood poison, festering sores, pimples, eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. 50c. box all druggists and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16, 1913.

The Monitor Has a Birthday

The first issue of the WEEKLY
MONITOR bears the date of April 10th, 1873. The present number, therefore, begins a new series in a continuous history of forty years. Believing it will be of interest to our readers, generally, and especially to those—and there is a goodly number of them—who have been regular subscribers to the paper from the beginning, we propose to note the Anniversary by presenting an outline of some of the principal matters found in Vol. I, No. 1.

The Proprietors were "Sancton and Piper." (John E. Sancton and Henry S.
Piper), and in their inaugural they state that various attempts had been made to found a paper in Annapolis County, all of which had failed, "like young love, beautiful to the eye of the interested party, full of gushing tenderness and endearment, but, evanescent and short-lived." They, however, recognize the need of such a paper, and add, that if after making the venture they find it does not pay, they can return to the former paths. "In the meantime we hoist sail upon the sea, and ask God to prosper us and the country in which we live."

The first News item is entitled "The Atlantic Horror." It is an account taken from the Chronicle of the loss on April 1st, of the Steamship Atlantic, on Meagher's Island, at the entrance to Halifax Harbor. Out of 979 persons on board the fated vessel only 429 were known to have been saved. Every woman on board was lost. Some of them preferred to meet a watery grave with their husbands, rather than be separated from them; others perished in the rigging to which they climbed, or where they were carried, and then fell into the raging sea. Only one boy was rescued, James Handley, by name. His mother, father and brother, who were also passengers were lost. Fred R. Fay, Esq., was in Halifax at the time. He says when the news of the wreck was first circulated, many persons thought it was an attempt to make the people victims of "All Fools' Day, but soon the reality was manifest. Mr. Fay with others went to the wreck in a tug-boat and saw the boy referred to, also more than 300 dead bodies, a gruesome spectacle, laid along the shore. Three boats, manned by brave Prospect fishermen, brought safely to the shore three hundred persons. The Rev. Mr. Ancient, whose parish was in the vicinity, was very prominent and useful, risking his own life to save the lives of others.
THE MONITOR remarks, "So terrible a catastrophe has never before occurred upon our shores." And we may add, that no shipwreck, until that of the Titanic, has ever created such universal interest and sympathy.

News evidently travelled slowly in those days. The arrival in Liverpool of a cargo of apples, shipped "last fall," in Annapolis, in the Barque Emma Francis is announced. The 7,000 barrels arrived in good condition and brought returns of $6,000.00, having "realized good prices," which, however would not be very satisfactory to the shippers of today. This must have been one of the first shipments to England from the counties of the Valley, as it is spoken of as "a step in the right direction, and we hope to hear of more such enterprises in the coming season."

Bridgetown had a "Literary and Debating Society," and on "Thursday night last," Prof. Jones of Acadia College delivered a Lecture under its auspices on Robert Burns.

The announcement is made that three Express trains are run weekly on the Windsor and Annapolis Railway, viz., on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, connecting with the Steamer Scud in Annapolis, but, after the first of May the service will be increased to every day during the summer.

A warning is given to the "Chase heirs," by a Committee appointed to investigate the matter, that after much expenditure of time and effort they cannot discover any property in England to which they are entitled, but the search will be continued.

A remarkable incident is given, as,
"A wife saved from the Grave." A certain Mrs. Keane, wife of John Keane, of Waterford, Ireland, was taken sick and sent to the Union Hospital of that City. A few days subsequently, a messenger was sent to Mr. Keane, to tell him that his wife was dead. Mr. Keane went to the St. Patrick's burial Society of which he was a member, and received three pounds and ten shillings, the amount due to him by the rules of the Society. The coffin was purchased, the wake held and the funeral properly conducted. Mr. Keane's grief was very great. One evening shortly after he was sitting at a table, eating his lonely supper, when the door-latch was raised, and a woman entered, ran to him, put her arms about his necks, and began to kiss and hug him. He was bewildered, frightened, and like Hamlet addressing the ghost, besought her to tell him if she was really alive. It was, indeed, his own wife. It was another Mrs.
Keane of the same city who had died.
The messenger had been sent to the wrong man.

It is reported that a son of Brigham Young is about to marry a newly established female seminary.

We observe an entire dearth of news respecting the doings of the people of the town, excepting as suggested by the advertisements. These present a number of well-remembered names,—Peter Bonnett, John Lockett, George Murdoch, Douglas and Craig, Runciman, Randolph & Co., J. B. Reed, Miner
Tupper, T. D. Ruggles, B. Starratt, Cox
Brothers, Oldham Whitman, Dr. Chipman. We have taken them in the order in which they appear. These have all passed away, reminding us of the ravages which time is always making.
But, their memory is still fragrant in many hearts and homes.

These items and many others from various sources and of various kinds, together with a story entitled, "Trying the Experiment," make up a very interesting paper. They indicate also the progress made along many lines, in the passage of the years.

THE MONITOR has had additions to its early name, and is nearly twice the size of the first issue. The favor with which it is being received betokens a career of increased circulation and usefulness.

The subject of a manual training department in our school was before the Board of School Commissioners of the town for consideration, at a recent meeting. The probability is that a qualified teacher may be obtainable at the beginning of the next school year. What do the people think about it? THE MONITOR would be glad to have an expression of the general thought upon the subject.

OF NOVA SCOTIA.

The report of the proceedings of the Seventh Annual Convention of the Union of the Nova Scotia Municipalities, held at Antigonish, Aug. 21-22, 1912, has been received.

Nearly seventy delegates were present, all of whom occupy some influential position in the Council of the Counties and towns, or in subordination thereto.

Many addresses were made and many subjects discussed, bearing upon matters which legitimately come under submission and oversight of the Municipalities. Some of these are as follows:—

The Nova Scotia Public Utilities Commission,
The Optional Assessment Act,
Municipal Aid in the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The Origin of Municipal Institutions,
Fire Lighting and Fire Prevention,
The Evils of Current and other Mergers, Street Cleaning and Refuse Disposal, Tourist Trade in Nova Scotia.

The object of the Union is information and Co-operation, in order to good government.

Truro News, April 12:—Mr. Fred Armstrong, son of Mr. C. A. Armstrong, Esq., Truro, while standing in the Electric Light Garage yesterday, had his left arm broken between the wrist and elbow by being jammed against a radiator by a motor car which, while being cranked suddenly started and pitched the lad's arm against the radiator causing the injury.

A New Canadian Steamer

The rapidly developing emigration from Great Britain to Canada has led that enterprising Company, who were the pioneers in transatlantic steamship navigation, to design a new type of ocean liner for the special needs of this service. The association of the Cunard Line with the Dominion of Canada, is no recent development, but dates from the inauguration of the line in 1840. Samuel Cunard, the founder of the Line, was a Nova Scotian living in Halifax, and it was from Halifax he sailed in 1838 for England, where he was to meet Mr. George Burns and Mr.
David Melver. Owing to the energy and foresight of these three men, the Government mail contract across the Atlantic was obtained, and in 1840,
the Britannia inaugurated the mail service between Liverpool and Boston and Halifax. A fortnightly service to Halifax was continued for nineteen years; but in 1859, Halifax was abandoned as a port of call, and the Liverpool mail service was devoted entirely to the United States. In 1911, after an interval of fifty-two years, the Cunard Line returned to the scene of its early triumphs and inaugurated a regular direct service between London and Southampton and Canada. This service has been maintained by three steamers, the Ascania, the Ausonia, and the U-tonia, which have already won for the service a distinctive place in the Canadian passenger traffic. To meet the demands of the emigration to Canada, the Company's Canadian ships are especially designed to satisfy its requirements. The accommodation is of two kinds—second cabin and third class—the advantage of which must be apparent. The second cabin is situated in the best part of the ship, and in this way the travelling public can avail itself of the best the ship can give, at extremely moderate rates. The latest example of this one-cabin type of steamer is the Andania, launched at Greenock on March 22nd, which will take her place in the regular Cunard Canadian service during the summer. The An-dania has been built by Messrs.
Scott's Shipbuilding and Engineering Company at Greenock. She is a twin-screw vessel of thirteen thousand tons. Her length is five hundred and forty feet, her breadth sixty-four feet, her depth forty-six feet, and she is propelled by two sets of quadruple expansion engines balanced on the Yarrow Schlick and Tweedy System, which reduces the vibration to a minimum. The Andania will have accommodation for 2,140 passengers—520 second cabin and 1,620 third class. The general style, which has been adopted in the decoration of the passenger accommodation, is Georgian, or as it is known in America,
"Colonial." The accommodation in both the second cabin and the third class quarters are in keeping with the best standards of the Cunard Line, and should serve to win for the ship
the affection of the travelling public on both sides of the Atlantic.—Presbyterian Witness.

Massachusetts College of Embalming

Mr. Henry B. Hicks was away in Boston, Massachusetts, during the month of February attending a postgraduate course at the Massachusetts College of embalming. This institution is chartered by the State of Massachusetts for the purpose of educating embalmers. It is the oldest institution of the kind in the United States, and has educated thousands of embalmers all over the world. Mr.
Hicks had been engaged in funeral furnishing and embalming for several years, but wished to perfect himself in all the latest methods in sanitary science, disinfecting and embalming. Mr. Hicks took the examination before the State Board of Massachusetts, and was one of the most brilliant students that the Massachusetts College has ever had.
The embalming of the dead by modern methods is not as well understood by the public as it should be.
When it is known that bodies can be disinfected and preserved by making a slight incision in the arm and injecting an artery with a mild non-poisonous fluid, which will keep the body in perfect condition till after the funeral, or while it might be in a vault awaiting burial, the public will appreciate that it should be done in every case. The expense is not large, and Mr. Hicks is now thoroughly well versed in the work, as well as having a knowledge of disinfecting rooms in contagious and infectious cases, and who is a thorough sanitarian in every sense of the word, holding a diploma from the leading institution of its kind in the United States, and recognized the world over as the pioneer educational institution for the embalming profession.

Permanent Street Work

All persons intending to haul crushed

The death occurred at Bear River on Thursday morning last, of Mrs. Elizabeth Chute, widow of the late Harding H. Chute, Esq., in the ninety-first year of her age. She was one of the most highly respected residents of Bear River, and leaves many relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

A Boston despatch of the 13th inst. says:—"It is reported along the waterfront that the passenger steamers Harvard and Yale, which formerly plied between Boston and New York, are to return from the Pacific, where they are now being operated, to be used on the line between Boston and Yarmouth." The increasing traffic on this line certainly deserves a better service, and we hope to hear the above report verified.

The Supreme Court en banco has granted a new trial in the suit brought by H. D. Starratt against the Dominion Atlantic Railway Company.

Our readers will remember that the action was brought to receive damages for failure on the part of the Company to supply cars for the shipment of apples. The case was tried before Judge Drysdale, who withdrew the case from the jury and ordered judgment to be entered for the Company. This decision has been reversed and the case will now be tried before a jury we understand at Halifax. Mr. W. E. Roscoe, of Roscoe & Roscoe, argued the case for the plaintiff.

Novel Local Entertainment

An entertainment quite novel in many of its features was given last Monday evening in Primrose Theatre, under the auspices of the St. James church. The large attendance was very gratifying to the promoters, and a neat sum was realized.

The program opened with an orchestra selection by Mr. Horace Bishop, cornet, Mr. Ross Bishop, violin, and Mrs. A. R. Bishop, piano. They also played interludes and accompaniments throughout the evening, adding much to the pleasure of the entertainment. Two vocal numbers were rendered by favorite local talent. Mrs. Ruggles sang in her happiest effect two songs by popular composers, "I'm a weeping for you" by Bond, and "I love you truly," by Bond, following them with a favorite encore "Bless your little heart." Mr. Fred V. Young was heard to excellent advantage in his baritone solo, "The Flight of Ages," and responded to a hearty encore with "The Song of Sweet Content."

The main features of the entertainment were under the direction of Mr. George Gill, now Bridgetown's chief of police, but formerly instructor of athletics in some of the schools and institutions and in private classes in Halifax. Each number of the program demonstrated the proficiency of the instructor and was also exceedingly creditable to his pupils. A class of children under twelve years of age gave a very pretty drill, responding to their father's skill. The leader with admirable precision and displaying the unconscious grace of childhood. Miss Doris Nelly gave a charming exhibition of club swinging, and a fencing bout between the instructor and another of his pupils, Miss Louise Ruggles, was both clever and amusing.

Some sword tricks by Mr. Gill exhibited his dexterity and adroitness, and his two young sons who assisted him in his feats showed much reserve and self-possession as well as confidence in their father's skill. The program ended with a laughable sketch by the father and sons, showing a boxing bout between the two lads, which proved they were not novices in the practice with the gloves.

The main parts of the program are to be repeated on Thursday evening, with some new features, when the Riverside Cemetery Fund will be the object of the benefit.

Annapolis County Blacksmiths' Association Organized

A large and representative meeting of the blacksmiths doing business in this County, was held in the Council Chamber here last Thursday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to consider the advisability of forming a blacksmiths' association and also raising the prices on all lines of blacksmith work. It was the unanimous opinion of all present that an advance in prices should be made, as prices of stock have been advancing for some time past, yet the blacksmiths have not raised their old prices for many years past. An adjourned meeting was held at Middleton yesterday at which time an Association was duly organized. Mr. E. A. Craig was chosen president, Mr. Percy Burns, secretary, and Mr. Wm. H. Burns, treasurer. Application will at once be made to the Local Legislature for an act of incorporation.

New Legislative Councillor.

Mr. Samuel W. W. Pickup, of Annapolis, yesterday took his seat in the Legislative Council, having been appointed to succeed Hon. George Whitman, who has retired. Mr. Pickup was for eighteen years a member of the Annapolis County Council, during three of which he was Warden. He represented Annapolis in the Dominion Parliament from 1904 to 1911—Acadian Recorder, April 9.

Yesterday being the anniversary of that terrible sea disaster, the wreck of the Titanic, flowers were strewn upon the waters where the ill-fated ship went down, by three women who lost their husbands in the wreck. The three ladies sailed from Boston for Europe on the 13th.

THE HOME

ENCOURAGE GOOD THINGS.

The wisest mother suggests instead of forbids; tries to say "Do this," instead of "Don't do that."

The only way to turn a river from one channel is to provide another channel for it to flow in.

If you simply dam up the one channel and provide no other, you are going to come to grief.

And a child's energy is as much an established force as any river.

The force in the river which wrecks the country and the force that turns the mill wheel, is just the same power. It's just a difference in direction.

And the force which makes a mischievous child and that which makes a helpful one is the same force differently directed.

I was visiting at a home the other Sunday where there were three lively little children whose energy being no less on Sunday than any other day, was continually putting themselves up to what their mother called mischief.

"No, of course they couldn't play Indian. Didn't they know they never did things like that," they were told when they asked for their Indian costumes.

Three minutes later, to her great horror, she found them playing slapjack, and, of course, promptly took the cards away from them.

A little while after that she refused, with much vigor, to let the children make candy.

"I don't know what makes those children so naughty," she said.

I felt as if I might guess. In all the time I was there she never once suggested anything they could do.

Before I left, two of them had been sent to bed for being bad children.

The badness was simply the river overflowing the country for lack of a channel.

In a home where things are conducted on a very different plan the children make sand models of Bible buildings and play guessing games with Bible names on Sunday.

The river there, instead of doing harm, turns the mill of self-education.

A woman who has brought up several boys and ought to know something whereof she speaks, said recently:

"The surest way of keeping a straight boy as he is, is to supply him constantly with interesting things to do and think about, interesting results to achieve. For every thought about a desirable thing, every enthusiasm for a healthy pursuit, leaves less room for morbid thinking—morbid results. It is better to encourage good things than to discourage bad things. The wise advertiser tells what to buy rather than what not to buy."

INDIGESTION FATAL TO BEAUTY.

Do not belittle indigestion if you care to preserve your good looks, as stomach trouble and beauty do not go hand in hand.

If you find yourself becoming possessed of a red nose—a fatal defect—yellow skin, or a puffiness underneath the eyes, it is almost a certainty that you have indigestion. While these defects can come from other causes, in nine cases out of ten indigestion is responsible for them.

What can be done to pacify your irritated stomach? I will tell you.

First, you must be most careful to chew your food well, "Fletcherizing" it, in fact. Second, do not overeat. The tendency to eat not wisely, but too well, causes food to ferment in the stomach and acids to accumulate. The result? Why, gases form that bloat and annoy you.

Do not allow your temper to run away with you, as it were, as scientists assert that worry or a fit of anger will stop the digestive organs from working for the time being.

Be discriminating in your choice of foods. Remember that the heat-inducing foods needed in the winter should be tabooed in the hot days of summer, preference being given to those foods which limit themselves to nourishing and strengthening the body.

Indigestion is greatly helped by the free drinking of hot water before breakfast and again at night. This is an effective regulator of the internal economy as it cleanses the mucous membrane of the stomach and stimulates the alimentary canal and kidneys. Do not drink the water so hot as to create any discomfort in swallowing, nor must you drink it in a hurry, but take time to sip it leisurely.

HINTS ABOUT GRIDDLE CAKES

The success of your griddle cakes depend upon your deftness in preparing them. Have every material freed at hand. The griddle must be free from grease, must be wiped with a clean dry cloth and set on a very moderate heat at first.

The more gradual you can heat it the better. When it is slightly warm rub it over with a greased cloth or a piece of fresh pork stuck firmly on a fork. When cakes are ready to fry put the griddle over more heat and allow it to get hot enough so when the grease or pork is put on it will be sizzling hot.

See that each part of the griddle is coated with fat, and turn the batter to be used on from a pitcher or a big spoon, being very careful not to spill or spatter it. Change the location of the place for baking the cakes once in a while. Try putting three or five on a few times, as the unused portion becomes scorched if left without using. Corn meal cakes need a hotter griddle than wheat. Buckwheat needs a hot griddle and even heat. Rice pancakes are better baked on a medium heat, as they need to remain on a little longer to heat the rice. Wheat cakes must be very thin and baked quickly.

POINTS ON FASHIONS.

Military styles are fashionable in separate blouses.

Flowered material will be very fashionable this spring.

Many coats show high waist line and three-quarter sleeves.

Narrow velvet ribbon trims some of the new lingerie.

All the new models show a decided feminine gracefulness.

Many sleeves are trimmed with a piping of contrasting color.

Amber and all the various shades of yellow will be very popular.

A return of flower trimming is noticed on the new straw hats.

Ottoman silk is a much favored material for afternoon costumes.

A quaint blouse is made of soft Chinese silk, made with open neck, the front is turned back in points edged with a tiny frill.

New to the feminine wardrobe is the rest gown. It is not so informal as the regular negligee, not so elaborate as the tea gown.

There are many short coats, with half-high standing collars, composed of figured and fancy linnage, worn with plain cloth skirts.

Among the prettiest collars in the new neckwear are those of the soft rolling type, with pointed ends. They are made of embroidered batiste, linen or lawn. To either side is attached a jabot or pleated lace.

SOUR MILK CAKES.

One quart of sifted flour.
 Three cups sour milk.
 One-half cup cornmeal.
 One rounded teaspoon soda.
 One even teaspoon of salt.
 Two teaspoons of molasses.
 One egg.

Mix milk, molasses and soda into mixing bowl, stir these until they foam, beat the eggs light, put eggs, flour and meal into the liquid a little at a time. Beat rapidly with a wooden spoon. When all flour has been stirred in and you have a thin batter beat for two or three minutes with a Dover egg-beater. These are light and delicious and very economical.

THE MIND.

Why doubt the action of the mind to convert the incidents of the day into the great life!

It would be no more a miracle with you than others which are going on about you constantly.

You do not doubt that the body can turn the food on your plate, the piece of white bread in your hand into blood and send the fluid bounding through a thousand little tubes in your body.

If the body can do that, surely the mind—the thing above the body—that for which the body is just an instrument, can surely gain the victory which you would score—be it what it may, the coveted diploma, the serene mind, the triumph over a discordant home, the money with which to educate others or the better position.

New School of Divinity Proposed for Montreal

The announcement made in a recent issue of the Montreal Witness that the co-ordination of the teaching staff of the four theological colleges in Montreal, will now be a permanent institution, is endorsed today by Mr. A. McA. Murphy, the secretary of the Board of Governors of the Congregational College, and treasurer of the Joint Board of Governors of the affiliated colleges. Others intimately associated with the scheme declare that the ultimate result will probably be a new central building, new professional chairs, and a regularly constituted School of Divinity allied to McGill, and made up of the federated staffs of the Diocesan, Presbyterian, Wesleyan and Theological Colleges.

JOINT BUILDING FIRST REQUIREMENT.

Mr. Murphy said that in view of the success of the scheme during the past session, serious consideration was being given to the proposal to erect in the near future a building to be used as a joint lecture hall. "Such a move," he said, "would give concrete expression to what is already permanent in purpose. Personally, I would be inclined to go farther, and favor complete union as to domicile. However, to begin with a union building for instruction would perhaps be sufficient for the present and that in itself, in fact, and in significance, would be a truly great project.

"There is no denying this scheme has more than anything in recent years to stir up enthusiasm for theological training, and its business-like character, combined with the greatly increased efficiency, is resulting in much warmer interest by the laity. I do not think that anything yet projected in an educational way can claim to be of greater value than the fact of co-operation between these colleges, and the principles and sentiments underlying the fact of this co-operation are full of promise for the future of Christianity in this country.

ANTICIPATIONS MORE THAN FULFILLED.

"The experience of the session now closing shows that our anticipations in regard to this scheme have been more than fulfilled. The effect has been to conserve the teaching strength of the co-operating colleges. It has brought the students together more intimately, and in consequence has made more real to them and to the constituencies supporting them in the progress of religious effort. It has meant an enlargement of the moral and spiritual vision all round, a greater inspiration and an improved efficiency.

PROFESSORS AND STUDENTS ENTHUSIASTIC.

"Every student, every professor and every layman with whom I have come in contact is enthusiastic with regard to the results already attained, and they all anticipate larger developments. Recently it was my privilege to spend a few weeks in the Old Country, and I found that the movement has aroused the greatest interest there, and is warmly applauded. In fact, in a certain quarter steps are already being taken to emulate our example.

Having been associated with this co-operative movement from the beginning I would like to give personal testimony to the great contribution of time and talent on the part of Mr. W. M. Birks and Mr. J. W. Ross, in connection with the formative stages of the scheme. And I would like to say further that the work done in other spheres by these gentlemen, while unquestionably magnificent, will in my opinion be eclipsed in

"MY STOMACH IS FINE Since Taking Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets"

Mrs. J. Merkhuger, Waterloo, Ont., enthusiastically recommends Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets. Her experience with them, as she outlines it, explains why.

"I was greatly troubled with my stomach," she writes. "I had taken so much medicine that I might say to take any more would only be making it worse. My stomach just felt raw. I read of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and a lady friend told me they were very easy to take, so I thought I would give them a trial and really they worked wonders. Anyone having anything wrong with his stomach should give Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets a trial, they will do the rest. My stomach is fine now and I can eat any food."

One of the many good features of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is that they are so pleasant and easy to take. The relief they give from heartburn, flatulence, biliousness and dyspepsia is prompt and permanent. Try one after each meal—they'll make you feel like a new person.

We honestly believe we have the best bowel remedy ever made—the most pleasant-to-take, most permanently beneficial laxative for relief from the miseries and dangers arising from constipation.

We wouldn't say this if we didn't believe it to be true. We wouldn't risk our reputation by making such statements did we not feel sure you would find them true.

Our faith is built both on the knowledge of what Rexall Orderlies are made of and on observation of very many severe cases in which they have proven their merit.

They should have been dispelled remain to poison the system.

Headaches, biliousness, nervousness and other tormenting and serious ills are common when the bowels fail to act daily as nature intended. All this may be avoided, if you will accept our advice.

If they do not abundantly prove their merit with you also—if you are not entirely satisfied with them—we will refund your money—and we will do that on your mere say-so. We don't ask you to risk a penny. Isn't that fair?

Just let the bowels fail in properly doing their work—just let their action be delayed and incomplete and the entire system, and every other organ suffers. Wastes that

BRITISH COLUMBIA TO FOLLOW LEAD.

The movement is likely to be copied in the near future in Western Canada.

Principal Vance, of Latimer College, Anglican, recently announced that his institution had decided to unite in a similar scheme of college union for British Columbia.

"I," said Principal Vance, "we are to meet the demand for ministers, and get British Columbia under religious influence, we must co-operate. It would be suicidal to stand apart. The British Columbia Government has just granted adjoining sites for Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist colleges, and allocated a million and a half acres of timber land for their maintenance.

Why should we each have a tiny college, with four professors all doing practically the same work, within a stone's throw of each other? The thing is so absurd. What we have agreed to is to build our separate colleges in a quadrangle, to have a general staff of twelve professors; and, as at Montreal, to reserve one professor to each college for its purely denominational purposes. We, of the Anglican Church in British Columbia, believe it will help our students to have the fellowship and the healthy rivalry of the students of the other denominations in the common classes taking subjects which we should otherwise be taking separately in the isolated colleges.

It will do our men good, and I believe it will do the other men good, and incidentally it will create the spirit which will lead to closer union and effective co-operation in many branches of church activity which are equally common to all the Protestant denominations."

A Dinner With Dickens at Gad's Hill

At seven o'clock we all reassembled a large party, with other guests, among them officers from Chatham, one of them with his young wife, a stranger to everybody. Dickens, punctual to the minute, came in fresh animated, alive to every one's interests, and in a moment had aroused us completely—no one was to go to sleep there! The little lady from Chatham and I sat on either side of him at dinner—his vivacity never flagged, nor was it for one person alone. He appeared to hear what every one at the table said and turn from one end of it to the other with the utmost rapidity, told stories, talked, ate a tete, gave a toast, in short was the life of the dinner, and without seeming to make any effort or ever talking in loud, boisterous tones. Of course every one was likely to be silent when he talked, but then he never, when liveliest, was noisy.

After dinner the gentlemen soon came into the drawing room, and again Dickens seemed entirely given up to the interests of his guests, attentive to the officer's wife (a dull little woman with a decoration of locketts which amused him), and indeed to every one, the stupidest not excepted.

We all stood for a time round the piano playing at words with letters. Very soon Dickens moved off to talk to the little lady who was too shy to play, but whom he evidently managed to see at her ease, and then, seeing that my forces had given out

A FAMOUS PIE.

Of all the pastry ever cooked, none has attained the magnitude of the pie ordered by Frederick the Great one hundred and eighty years ago for a feast given in honor of 30,000 soldiers at the end of a campaign. The pie was brought to the table in the most dramatic manner. Toward the conclusion of the meal a strange vehicle drawn by eight horses drove into the camp grounds. The load was very heavy and everybody was consumed with curiosity to know the nature of His Majesty's "surprise." The pie, which completely filled the vehicle, contained a ton of flour, five thousand eggs and nine hundred quarts of milk. It was cooked in an oven built for the purpose in the woods. After the soldiers had partaken of the pie, enough was left over to give a portion to every one in the village near which the army had been quartered.

PARALYSED AND COULD NOT WALK

"Fruit-a-lives" Completely Restored New Brunswick Merchant to Health.

BRISTOL, N. B., JULY 25th, 1911. "I am unable to say enough in favor of "Fruit-a-lives" as it saved my life and restored me to health, when I had given up all hope and when the doctors had failed to do anything more for me. I had a stroke of Paralysis in March, 1910, and this left me unable to walk or help myself, and the Constipation of the bowels was terrible. Nothing did me any good and I was wretched in every way. Finally, I took "Fruit-a-lives" for the Constipation, and it not only cured me of that trouble but gradually this fruit medicine toned up the nerves and actually cured the paralysis. Under the use of "Fruit-a-lives", I grew stronger and stronger until all the palsy and weakness left me. I am now well again and attend my store every day and all day."

BACKBONE VS. WISHBONE.

(By Karl Ludwig, Kraft.) Proportionately, if a man's backbone weakens his "wishbone" develops.

The nine-dollar-per clerk wastes his time in wishing he had the luck of a Rockefeller, a Carnegie, or a Morgan—wishing that he had this, that, or the other job—continually wishing.

The material parts of the human body, muscle or bone, develop only by usage. There is not, in nature, any spontaneous generation; everything comes by propagation.

Which are you developing—your backbone or your "wishbone"? Do not complain. By constantly using your "wishbone," it will develop in undue proportions. On the other hand, in properly strengthening your backbone you should have no cause to wish.

"Brace up," stand erect, strengthen your backbone—also, your wishbone. Learn to say "I will," instead of that monotonous "I wish." The world bestows prizes on men with a backbone, while to those with a "wishbone," asking for fish, she gives a serpent.

Motion propagates motion and life throws off life. Wishing you were fabulously rich leads you to the bread line.—The Bookkeeper.

Don't be surprised if you have an attack of rheumatism this spring. Just rub the affected parts freely with Chamberlain's Liniment and it will soon disappear. Sold by all dealers.

The Boy Problem

II.—THE KEY TO THE CITADEL.

The first step towards winning us boys is to thoroughly understand us. That is the strategic position, it is the key to the citadel. You must step down from your pedestal of adult maturity and enter again into the realm of youthhood. We live in a mental world of our own, and if you desire to influence us it is obviously essential that you get into sympathetic touch with all our various tastes and tendencies, our ambitions, visions, hopes and fears.

We are constantly underestimated and hence misunderstood. It is a mistake to regard us merely as gangs of be-nickered bipeds—thoughtless herds of empty-headed boys. Believe it, or not, our minds are teeming with thoughts, and some of them big thoughts, to thoughts that would mightily astonish you if you could only reach and probe them. We see visions, and dream dreams, and "think things." Clamorous with ir-repressible life as we are, yet we also have our moments of meditation. We sometimes pause to ponder and weigh and criticise. We gaze, at times into the future and wonder, and ask, and question.

Longfellow understood us when he wrote—

"How beautiful is youth, how bright it gleams With its illusions, aspirations, dreams Book of beginnings, story without end Each maid a heroine, and each man a friend."

You must delve beneath the surface if you want to understand us. You must mix and mingle if you want to know us. Get the boy's standpoint and you have got the boy. Remember it is no good to talk to us, it is everything to talk with us. We are frequently told that we are self-opinionated and conceited. Our critics tell us that we "think we know it all," that we give no heed either to age or experience, and that we regard our elders as "old fogies" and far behind the times. Now I am fully prepared to admit that we boys do cherish a pretty good conceit of ourselves. The reason is quite simple. We have arrived at that stage where we emerge from the nursery and are just beginning, so to speak, to feel our feet. We feel ourselves enjoying greater freedom and liberty than hitherto we have known. We are beginning to rejoice, as the sacred writer puts it, in our youth. It is not natural, therefore, that in this first thrilling flush of our dawn; manhood our breast begins to swell with feelings of importance? Absurd importance it may be, but the fact remains, nevertheless. We do feel important, and all your ridicule, all your efforts to curb and crush it out of us are vain and futile. The pastor that once snubs a boy never has a chance with that boy again. He has belittled the fellow and he feels degraded. The man who, on the other hand, respects our "feeling of importance" seeks to approach us along that line and thus wisely turns it to his own advantage for he wins not only our esteem—but us. In the acorn he already sees the oak and he straightway acts accordingly. Titian, the celebrated painter chanced one day to see a roguish, somewhat boastful boy drawing rough sketches on a public wall, to which, with all his boyish self-importance, he called the attention of the passers by. They were poor, paltry little sketches, but Titian did not jeer or ridicule the boastful boy, he paused to utter a word of encouragement and praise. That lad was Tintoretto, who lived to share with Titian himself all the artistic glory of the city of Venice. Ah! how very few seem able to understand us boys.

If you would only view us in the light of the after years how you would seek to make our acquaintance and understand us now. The importance which we feel is really a potential importance, for no man is great merely for what he is, but for what he may become.

Treat us now with a view to then. At present we are boys with all the characteristics peculiar to our age. It is but folly to try and uproot and destroy these characteristics, it is however the highest wisdom to recognize them and divert them into the channels that will make us men.—By H. T. R. in Presbyterian Witness.

DON'TS FOR YOUNG MEN.

Don't call your father the "old man," nor your mother the "old woman" or "old ma'am" for a man who does not respect his parents.

Don't forget that smoking cigarettes and drinking liquor never made men out of boys, but it has made fools out of men.

Don't try to see how quickly you can get a thing done, but work well. Keep your eye on your work, and not on the clock. We are here to do things right.

Don't forget that it is better to chase a baseball than a highball, and in college keep after the sheepskin as well as the pigskin.

Don't fail to treat the other fellow's sister as well as you want him to treat yours. When getting married, your wife has as much right to expect a good past from you as you have to expect it from her.

Don't fall in love with a girl simply because she is good looking, a good dresser or a good dancer. Temperament is the thing you live with after the first year of married life. Nothing can take the place of a cheerful disposition and a good character.

Don't forget that honesty is better than shrewdness. Character is the capital on which a man does business, and is the same in heaven or on earth.

Don't think that you can drop in a nickel in the slot and take out an education, a position or a fortune. Hard work is the price men pay for success in everything. Remember that alazy man is worse than a dead one, because he takes up more room.

Don't live for self or sin. Selfish living is the quickest dying. The world does not owe you a living as much as you owe it a life. If you have a right to your best, nothing less than your best is good enough for God and your fellow men.

Don't forsake your mother's church nor your father's God. The Christian religion was good enough for them; it is good enough for you. They lived in its faith and died in its strength. If you want to meet them again, you must do the same thing.—Herald and Presbyter.

"BUTTER-MILK" A LIFE-SAVER.

MEDICINAL PROPERTIES.

Prof. Metchnikoff, of the Pasteur Institute of Paris, says the longevity of the Bulgarian, and some other oriental people, is due to their continued and free use of sour milk. He, as well as Prof. Massol, of Geneva, and other European authorities, state that for diseases of the intestinal tract, butter-milk is a valuable remedy. As a medicine, the lactic acid of butter-milk retards the growth of putrefactive and pathogenic organisms and its use as a curative agent, in digestive disorders, dates back for several centuries. These medicinal properties are due to the fact of the presence of the strong lactic acid bacteria in the butter-milk being able to overcome the harmful bacteria, these bacteria having been the cause of diseases in the body. Professor Metchnikoff states further—"by the simple process of drinking a glass of butter-milk you allow an enormous fighting army of good microbes, well trained and thoroughly equipped for war, to enter your body, they know no enemy but the bad microbes and they proceed to slaughter these before they can do you any more harm."

FOOD VALUE. As a food sour milk has been used since the beginning of history and has the advantage over sweet milk in that its casing is so changed and subdivided as to produce a smaller curd, therefore, more easily digested, and if properly prepared, free from harmful bacteria. Butter-milk has also proven useful in the modified feeding of babies, infants and adults as an addition to the diet in exhausting diseases. In typhoid fever it is both a food and a medicine, furnishing energy and retarding the intestinal putrefaction which adds so much to the toxemia of the disease. A glass of butter-milk contains as much nourishment as half a pint of oysters, two ounces of bread or a good sized potato.

COMPOSITION AND CHARACTERISTICS. Looking into the composition of butter-milk we find that it contains about eight per cent solids, composed of sugar of milk, a trace of butter-fat, casein and albumen and some ash and mineral matter. When butter-milk is allowed to stand for a day or two usually almost all the casein and albumen settles to the bottom of the can, leaving a clear liquid which the butter-milk contains and the milk sugar, fats and ash rise into the upper strata of the liquid, forming a transparent liquid on top and a white liquid below, in other words "the butter-milk whey" contains as follows: Now you might pour off this transparent liquid from day to day until you have nothing left but two or three per cent of caseous matter, originally contained in the butter-milk. In other words you have thrown away nearly all of your mineral matter, all of the fat and some of the casein. You have poured off the most easily digested, the part that contains the lactic acid bacteria and all of the medicinal properties of the butter-milk, and have retained only a part of the casein. While the casein is of food value, it has no medicinal value. To make the point still stronger, the casein is extensively used for the manufacturing of cottage cheese, cheap skim milk cheeses, buttons, combs, paper stings, etc., etc., while out of the whey, sugar-of-milk, that we use for the modifying of infant foods is extracted. Unless your butter-milk becomes too sour, do not pour off the whey or watery appearing liquid which forms on the top of the butter-milk, but "shake well before using." Butter-milk would not be better-milk if it were not for the presence of this whey. The caseous matter would not have the sour taste if it were not for the fact that the lactic acid of the whey is present.

Joker's Corner.

ONE WAY TO USE IT.

A physician tells a story of a philanthropist doctor in a Pennsylvania coal mining town who presented each household with a nice new thermometer and told the people the necessity of maintaining proper temperature. When making his rounds one day he observed his thermometer hanging in the room. He inquired of the woman of the house if she had remembered his instructions.

"Indeed, sir, I do!" was the response. "I hang the thing right up there and I watch it carefully to see that it does not get too high."

"Good!" exclaimed the doctor. "And what do you do when the temperature rises above seventy degrees?" "Why, sir," answered the woman, with the air of one faithful to a trust, "when it gets too high, I take it down and put it outside until it cools off."

United States Senator Vardman, so the story goes, once rented a plot of several acres to one of his black neighbors. The land was to be planted in corn, and the senator, then governor, was to receive one-fourth. The corn was duly harvested, but the senator did not receive his fourth. Meeting the negro one day he said: "Look here, Sam, have you harvested your corn?"

"Well, wasn't I to get a fourth?" "Well, wasn't I to get a fourth?" "Yes, sah, boss, dat's de truf, but dar wasn't no fo'th. Dere was jes' three loads and dey was mine."

When he had carefully examined the shoes the physician had brought in for repairs, the German cobbler handed them back, saying: "Dem shoes ain't worth mending, doctor."

"Very well, Hans," said the doctor, "then of course I won't have anything done to them."

"Vell, but I sharge you feety cents already yet." "Why, what for?" "Vy, ven I came to see you de udder day you sharged me three dollars for telling me dot dere ain't no doddings der matter mit me."

A little girl, who attracted all the passengers on the tramcar with her singular sweetness, was asked by a lady who sat next to her, "And did you get a dolly for your birthday?"

"Why yes, indeed," said the little girl, and all the passengers smiled, while the mother beamed at the attention her child was receiving. "I got two dolls," continued the child to the strange lady, "and do you know, the hair on one of my dolls' heads comes off—just like mamma's."

Germany is being blamed for the story of a factory notice now going the rounds. Prominently displayed near all the live wires, it reads: "To touch these wires means instant death. Anyone failing to respect this warning will be prosecuted and fined."

No one has, up to the present, had to be prosecuted.

A young sport with loud hose and a cigarette dropped into a restaurant and ordered a veal cutlet. When it arrived he yelled:

"Do you call that a veal cutlet? Why that's an insult to a calf to call that a veal cutlet."

"I didn't mean to insult you sir," said the waiter.

A very fat man was much amused by the ludicrous appearance of a bow-legged youth, who called upon him with a message. "By jingo," he exclaimed, "you look as if you'd been riding a barrel!"

The bow-legged one smiled as he retorted, "And you look as if you'd been swallowing one!"

Singing teacher—"Now, children, give us 'Little Drops of Water' and put some spirit in it."

Principal (whispering)—"Careful, sir. This is a temperance school. Say 'put some ginger in it.'"

The Countryman (after wrestling with a French menu, and alighting upon the music program): "Waiter, bring me some o' that."

The Waiter: "Sorry, sir, but the band's just playing it."

Do You Know What This Label Means?

It means cement of the highest possible quality. You ought to have this confidence in the cement you use, because you have not the facilities for testing its qualities, such as are at the disposal of the engineers in charge of big contracting jobs. These engineers know that when cement has passed the tests made upon it at Canada Cement mills, it will pass all their tests. And this same cement is sold to you for your silos, your foundations, your feeding-floor, your milk-house or your watering-trough. Used according to the directions in our free book "What the Farmer can do with Concrete," Canada Cement never fails to give satisfactory results. Write for the book. It not only tells you how to use and place concrete, but will also suggest scores of uses for it on your farm, every one of them valuable to you. In asking for the book you do not incur the slightest obligation.

LUCK WITH LIPTON, SAYS NICHOLSON.

Designer W. I. Build the Four-Leaved Shamrock for Sir Thomas.

London, April 9.—"The luck will be all with us this time. The challenger is the four-leaved shamrock, while the New York Yacht club will be defending the American's cup for the thirteenth time," said Charles E. Nicholson, the yacht designer of Gosport, England, today, who is to design the boat which will seek to win back for the British the Americans' cup. This will not be Nicholson's first connection with the contests for the cup his yards at Gosport having been used to hack the original America when she was under repair.

I hope Gardner as well as Herresh-
