ALLIES HAVE REDUCED WIDTH OF POCKET TO TWENTY-ONE MILES AND LONG RANGE ARTILLERY IS SWEEPING ENTIRE AREA—ANGLO-FRENCH TROOPS MAKE ADVANCE OF TWO MILES AND ARE APPROACHING IMPORTANT RAILWAY JUNCTION.

FREIGHT RATES RAISED ABOUT TWENTY PER CENT.

Order-in-Council Passed to Meet Increased Operating Expenses Caused by the New Wage Schedule.

Ottawa, July 25.—Acting on a report prepared by the board of railway commissioners an order-in-council has been passed increasing freight rates to an amount sufficient to meet the increased operating cost imposed on the railways by the new wage schedule. The increase will average about 20 per cent.

American increase brings about a different increase in Canadian territory in the east and west. In the American eastern territory advances have been made by the interstate commerce commission, in the so-called 15 per cent. case. Advances were also made in Canadian eastern territory by the board of railway commissioners in both eastern and western Canada, but no advances were granted in American territory on the lines of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railways in territory immediately contiguous to the Canadian west. In applying the increases, therefore, in eastern territory the McAdoo increases are calculated upon the rates as advanced by the board, following the action which has been taken in American eastern territory, while in western territory the advances granted by the board of railway commissioners are struck out and the McAdoo increases calculated upon the former rates. This per centage of increased rate will not, however, be actually effective. On the short hauls where the total freight bill does not constitute a large per centage of the value of the article carried, somewhat higher increases could be instituted but on the longer hauls on most of the important commodities rates are held down to a maximum increase and in other cases by flat increases which cannot be extended no matter how long the haul may be.

By order-in-council passed under the War Measures Act the government after considering a report prepared by the board of railway commissioners of the rate situation in Canada, has practically adopted the McAdoo increases. There are certain exceptions made in cases where it was found that the adoption of the scale would unduly limit or interfere with Canadian commerce. The export and import rates system in Canadian territory where rates were not increased, continue to stand and can only be increased subject to a maximum of the lowest rate or rates in American territory to or from the seaboard ports. In like manner the low value of ore in the Kootenay district, which could not well stand the American increase, is held down to the stone and rubber commodity basis. The effect of the application of the will not exceed 20 per cent. It is impossible to tell what the exact percentages of increase will be that the railroads will obtain under the McAdoo order. In all probability, the increase granted cannot add anything to the net revenues of the companies. It may fall short of meeting their increased expenses. The increased operating cost entailed by applying the McAdoo award is some $25,000,000, when the Canadian railways probably earned the highest rates in their history the gross freight earnings amounted to but some $215,000,000. FOCH'S Pincer PRESSES NECK OF BIG CURVE

Jaws Take Further Large Bite Out of Germans Near Rheims. BOTTLING UP ENEMY Four Hundred Thousand Troops of Crown Prince Face Cutting Off.

General Foch has taken a leaf out of the book of German military strategy and ordered the use by the allied armies of the pincer system of offensive in the Soissons-Rheims salient. Both jaws of the pincer are moving smoothly, with the pivot along the Marne working in unison, and the process of attempting to capture many of the nearly half a million Germans in the big pocket is well on the way to what at present seems like possible success. The Germans, however, evidently do not intend to permit themselves to be entrapped without fighting. Having thrown thousands of reinforcements into the already congested salient, they have started a counter-attack of great violence all along the semi-circular front from the Ourcq River to the region immediately southwest of Rheims, and their men are said to have orders to stem the allied tide of advance at all costs.

BRITISH ADVANCE NEAR RHEIMS FRENCH MAKE TWO-MILE GAIN

HEAVY EXPLOSIONS WITH FIRES RESULT FROM ALLIED AIR ATTACKS Franco-British Airmen Carry Out Many Expeditions Beyond Battle Zone, Bombing Five Stations in German Possession.

Paris, July 25.—A French official communication on aviation says: "On July 24 Franco-British airmen brought down nine German machines and set fire to three captive balloons. Our bombing machines carried out numerous expeditions behind the battle zone. The station and depot at Amfontaine, the stations and railroads at Bazoches, Courladrion, Fismes and Cugnacourt, were copiously bombed. A total of thirty tons of projectiles was used with good results. Fires and heavy explosions were observed at Courladrion and Fismes."

Capture of Mery-Premecy Brings Neck of Aisne Salient Entirely Under Fire of Allies—Big Drive Between Ourcq and Marne Forces Germans Back on Wide Front.

London, July 25.—British and French troops have advanced to Gueux and Mery-Premecy, in the battle sector just west of Rheims, according to information received here this afternoon from the battle front. The new line shows an advance of about two miles toward Fismes. This gain, when seen on the map, is of evident importance, for it greatly narrows the salient created by the Germans in their drive of last May. It no longer is proper to speak of the pocket as running from Soissons to Rheims, for the newest advance of the entente allies has pulled the eastern edge of the pocket eight miles to the westward, making Mery-Premecy the market for the eastern rim. The mouth of the pocket is now only 21 miles wide and the whole district between the two sides is under the range of entente allied guns. Franco-American Advance. Paris, July 25.—Franco-American troops today made an advance of nearly two miles at certain points on the Aisne-Marne front, notably in the Dormans region, says the war office announcement tonight. Additional gains are recorded, showing that the progress of the allies in this salient is steadily going on. The text of the statement reads: "On the Ourcq front the fighting today met with the same success as on preceding days. North of the river we occupy Ouchy-la-Ville. South of the river, Franco-American troops made an advance which reached three kilometres at certain points, despite stern resistance, especially in the region of Dormans. Southwest of Armentieres we occupy Hill 141 and have crossed the Nanteuil stream. Further to the south, we captured the Village of Coligny and the greater part of Tournelle wood. We extended our progress in the forest of Fere as far as the general line of Beauvillers-le-Charmel. Our advance continued under favorable conditions in the Ris forest and north of Dormans. Southwest of Rheims the enemy continued his violent attacks against our positions between Vignay and St. Euphrase and succeeded in gaining a foothold on Hill 240. Our troops soon reconquered this height, taking about 100 prisoners. French Attacks. London, July 25.—The French are continuing their attacks between the River Ourcq and the River Marne. They advanced last night for a distance of a mile, capturing the southern part of Fere forest and they now occupy a farm on the main road from Fere-en-Tardenois to Jaulgonne. The Town of Fere-en-Tardenois is now within 8000 yards of the French lines. The French last night also pushed well forward along the south bank of the River Ourcq, but this morning they found they were in an isolated position and they were compelled to fall back. East of Rheims a Polish contingent, attached to the French, made a successful enterprise and captured 213 prisoners. On the western side of the pocket the Franco-American troops have straightened out their lines at the expense of the Germans during the past 24 hours, this involving a loss to the enemy of about 40 square miles of territory between Armentieres and Vincelles. The line in the lower western part of the pocket now runs straight southeast from Armentieres, and along this line the Germans have been compelled to give up all the little angles and corners which they had been holding on to as observation posts or strong points. Military Nerve Centre. The German military nerve centre at Fere-en-Tardenois, which, as the junction of several great roads, was the most important storehouse and distributing point of the Germans, is now under the cross fire from the French and American artillery and must be well nigh untenable. In fact, no place of the whole pocket is a very comfortable position with the allied long range artillery sweeping back and forth, with balloons and airplanes directing the fire. Possible evidence of a further withdrawal by the Germans is seen on the western flank of the pocket in the fact that the German artillery fire has grown much lighter all thru this sector and the guns appear to be firing from greater distances behind the lines, as if being pulled back to places of safety. Fierce German Resistance. French Headquarters, July 25.—The Germans have strengthened their line and are counter-attacking determinedly on the whole front of the salient from the Ourcq to Vignay, thus attacking towards the west, south and east. Apparently they have decided to refuse to accept defeat and are making a further stand for the salient and a footing north of the Marne. The enemy south of the Ourcq is attacking in a southeasterly direction against Bois de la Tournelle and the line of Beauvillers-le-Charmel. Further south attack and counter-attack are alternating in rapid succession and the fighting is of the most violent description. The enemy on the eastern wing of the salient has attacked the new British salient enclosing the woods west of Vignay. We are vigorously counter-attacking.

BIGGEST BATTLE SINCE WAR OPENED

Allies Take Twenty-Five Thousand Prisoners in Battle, With Five Hundred Guns.

With the French Army in France, July 25.—Up to the present 70 German divisions have been identified in the present fighting zone, and the battle therefore may be regarded as the biggest since the beginning of the war. The prisoners taken number over 25,000 and more than 500 cannon and thousands of machine-guns have been captured. Of the prisoners 14 per cent. belong to the 1918 class, showing that nearly all these boys already have been incorporated in fighting units. If all of them have been utilized they would form from 17 to 18 per cent of the German strength. Information received proves that the 1920 class, which it was intended to be incorporated in the army of Berlin, has been ordered into the units in September. Most of those of this class are no more than 18 years old.

GERMANY'S GAMBLE BIGGEST IN HISTORY

Lloyd George Declares No Fear Exists That Submarines Will Starve Allies.

London, July 25.—The government gave a dinner this evening in honor of Herbert C. Hoover, the American food administrator; Victor Boret, French minister of provisions; and Dr. Silvio Crespi, Italian food minister. J. R. Clines, the British food controller, who presided, said that owing to assistance from the United States, bacon and ham hereafter would be sold without coupons. Premier Lloyd George, proposing the health of the guests, paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Hoover. He said that thru him America had achieved a great triumph in rescuing a large number of people in Europe from want and starvation. There was now no fear whatever, he declared, that the allies would be starved out. Germany, continued the premier, had made the greatest gamble in her history; she had pitted her whole destiny upon the success of the submarine campaign, and it had failed.

BOLSHEVIK THREATEN WAR AGAINST ALLIES

Amsterdam, July 25.—The Russian Bolshevik government, says a despatch from Moscow to The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin, considers the action taken by the entente powers in landing troops on the Murman coast as tantamount to a declaration of war. The Bolshevik government, in the newspaper despatch adds, has announced that it will take counter measures accordingly.

A Bank Paternity.

Outside of the appreciations that centred on Sir Edmund Walker at the Bank of Commerce dinner in honor of his fifty years of service, were the tributes paid to the organization and loyalty of the staff to that nation-wide institution. The Commerce seems to have three men in training for the next post up. This remarkable pride in and willingness to serve the bank may be due to the friendly concern and liberal treatment accorded by the management to those in the service. There is a lot of the paternal and the filial in it all.

The Harvest of the Grain Begins.

Next week all Ontario will be resounding to the hum of the reapers at work in the grain fields, barley, fall wheat (where there is some), and then spring wheat. The fields look uncommonly well. The farmers would prefer to see the weather cool down a bit, with occasional showers. Too much hot weather speeds up the ripening without putting the needed weight in the kernels. Let the wheat both ripen and make weight like an even team, rather than as in single file. But even as things are the yield ought to be bountiful and the prices high. Barley was cut in several of the townships of York on Wednesday, and in many of the fields west of the head of Lake Ontario yesterday. The results come from working the land and from a generous sowing of seed. You can stand between two fields on adjoining farms and see the difference between a bushel and a half and two bushels to the acre. But it's cultivation, good plowing, draining, working of the land, manuring, that gives the showers and the sun their best chance of making the weight and the quantity in the yield. A good man on the binder and care on his part lose the least of the grain. Every head is worth getting off the field. As for the earlier day, by reason of the daylight saving law, any loss from a later start is gradually disappearing as the rising and setting of the sun shortens. Hay is not yet by any means over. There are lots of farms with two more weeks of mowing and teaming to do. But the new view in the fields from now on will be the sheaves of grain standing in the stacks. And after stacking it takes several days to complete the ripening and the drying. Reaping grain is the Ontario farmer's main job just now.

ITALIAN GUNS REPLY TO HARASSING FIRE

Rome, July 25.—The war office communication issued today says: "On a portion of the mountain front from Valarsa to the Brenta valley and along the Piave River between Can-delo and Zenson our batteries have replied effectively to the harassing fire by the enemy and have destroyed enemy trenches and damaged artillery emplacements. Enemy patrols have been driven back at Stevino, near Mori and Mont Stabellia and on the left bank of the Brenta. Two hostile airplanes have been downed."

LONDONERS CARRY OUT RAID IN ALBERT ZONE

London, July 25.—Field Marshal Haig's report this evening from British headquarters in France, says: "Early this morning the enemy attacked four of our posts south of Merton, after heavy artillery and trench mortar preparation. He was repulsed, suffering many casualties; we captured a few prisoners. London troops today carried out a successful daylight raid southwest of Albert and brought back 17 prisoners and four machine guns. A few prisoners were also secured on other parts of the front."

GREAT TIME IN STORE FOR ARMIES OF BRITAIN

Paris, July 25.—The Journal's correspondent at the front telegraphs today as follows: "Foch is master of the situation, and the British troops are not attacking now, in order to relieve the pressure on the French, it is in accordance with the commander-in-chief's orders. The last lips not yet been heard of the German reserves and the possibilities along the Flanders coast. The three years I have passed among our allies enable me to know how they are retaining at the front, awaiting the order to advance. Let us be patient. A great time is in store for the armies of the British Empire."

KAISER IGNORES QUERY ABOUT LOSING SONS

Geneva, July 25.—"How many sons has your majesty lost? How many have been wounded or mutilated?" These questions, incorporated in a telegram sent to the German emperor yesterday by Pastor Dryander, founder of the new Liberal German-American paper, Friedensruf (Peace Call) of Zurich. "In the event that there have been no casualties in the imperial family," the telegram continues, "we demand an immediate explanation." Emperor William has not replied.

The German government has expressed its regrets and has promised full restitution for the damage done by the submarine.

Elite of Enemy Reserves Brought Up to Face British

Paris, July 25.—A special correspondent with the British army describes the joy displayed by the British soldiers on learning that they were to participate in the battle to the southwest of Rheims, where, he says, "the splendid exploits of our allies had already gained their brotherly admiration and friendly envy." "Consequently," continues the correspondent, "the British troops attacked on July 29 with extraordinary daring and keenness, advancing their line very considerably in Courton Wood, at Marfaux and in the direction of the forest of Rheims. The Tommies were called upon to demonstrate that they possessed the bump of locality in the highest degree, for they were completely unfamiliar with the ground over which the chances of war and the creation of one front had decided their attack. "The British had to sustain extremely heavy fighting, for the enemy had certainly got wind of the attack in this sector and had consequently brought up the elite of his reserves with orders to hold the positions at all costs. The morale of the British soldiers was magnificent."

ALLIES TO CLEAN BALKAN STABLE

Balfour Hopes for Solution of Near Eastern Problem.

DIFFERENCE IN IDEALS

In Proportion as Entente Succeeds, National Liberty Spreads.

London, July 25.—A. J. Balfour, secretary for foreign affairs, speaking today at a meeting to inaugurate the Serbian war aims committee of London, said now that the world had had time to consider the underlying differences in ideals...

There was no comparison possible between what a German victory would mean and what an allied victory would mean...

On the result of the Balkan struggle, said Mr. Balfour, "the one from heaven, the other from hell—depends the fate of the world."

"Please heaven," he added, "the Balkan states will share the allied triumph, and when peace is declared—not a German or a British or a French peace, but the peace of civilization—they, who with us have poured out their blood for the cause of liberty, will enjoy the fruits of their labors."

"It will make us feel, however great the sacrifice has been, that it is worth it, because the result will be to make the world free."

LARGE GERMAN FORCES USED UP BY ALLIES

With the French Army in France, July 25.—Owing to the defection of the Russians from the allies, the Germans have been able to place 210 divisions on the western front this year...

Now the front has been widened by the allied attack from the latter city to the Aisne, and the Germans have hurried more forces to the line, bringing the total now engaged to this part of the front to over 40.

The British attack has double value, for it is against the German left flank and it forms part of an enveloping movement.

The main object of the Franco-American advance on the 12-mile front from the Ourcq to the Marne is to pursue and to hasten the retreat of the Germans.

The enemy has resisted the French and Americans yesterday more strongly than previously, but his troops display the marked inferiority...

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

British, French and American forces have again modified the war map in their favor. They continued their progress yesterday with jumps of two miles in the sector of Rheims and the sector between the Ourcq and the Marne. The British, who are fighting on the eastern side of the neck of the Aisne salient, are supported by French units to protect their flank, repulsed fierce German counter-attacks and advanced their line on a five-mile front to Guisy and Mary-Fremey. This new progress, which is extremely important, brings the British to a point just 21 miles east of Soissons and makes the neck of the Aisne salient extremely narrow. Thirty-odd miles southwest from the scene of the British achievement, the French and Americans made another two-mile advance in the Ourcq Valley. North of that river the French occupied Cuchy-la-Ville. South of the river the French and Americans advanced nearly 3,300 yards on the oblique line from the Ourcq to the Dormans region. In this progress they captured Hill 141, Coigny Village, the larger part of Tournelle Wood, and additional sectors of the Ris Forest. They reached the aerial line of Beauverdes-le-Charmel and crossed the Nanteuil Stream.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

The British attack has double value, for it is against the German left flank and it forms part of an enveloping movement. Some students of the war believe that Poch has borrowed this strategy from the Germans, but in reality it is the classical offensive strategy. Its successful progress depends on the allies are becoming stronger than the enemy. If he masses further large forces to hold up the British advance from Rheims, the British will be in a position to bring their main force to the point, to have them collect force in any given area as before the British contingent. He can then pound them to pieces with his artillery.

WAR SUMMARY THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

The main object of the Franco-American advance on the 12-mile front from the Ourcq to the Marne is to pursue and to hasten the retreat of the Germans. The enemy has resisted the French and Americans yesterday more strongly than previously, but his troops display the marked inferiority. One cause of this inferiority now rapidly developing is the habit introduced by the German higher command of picking out the best soldiers from the army for shock troops. The residue below the average, and as the process of picking out goes on, the residue becomes less and less fit for the combat. Another point about these present operations again is that they are using up the best German troops. Poch has caught them in the rear and is attempting to handle them so roughly that they will be unable to fight in another offensive this season. Thus it can be seen that things have become exceedingly desperate for the Crown Prince of Prussia.

Chiefly in the Interests of Motorists and Campers

In Motor Rugs There is Wide Choice Heavy Woollen Rugs to Keep Out the Cold, Light-weight Dusters and Waterproofs; also Ground Sheets for Tourists

Even in July and August there are many days when a rug is more than welcome in a motor, and since 'tis wise to be prepared against all contingencies, the collection of rugs in the Blanket Department should prove extremely interesting.

The prices of the wool rugs are very moderate now when the wool shortage is so very apparent. For instance, there are heavy English woollen rugs in dark plaids and tartans, mostly greens and blues and browns, with on one side fine red, white or gold lines, and fringed on two sides. These are $9.50.

Very good-looking rugs, plain on one side—grey, navy or green, and with dark plaid designs on the other side, are $10.00 each.

A group of heavier rugs in all manner of Scotch tartans and English plaids, also certain plain brown, grey and green rugs, may be seen in soft weaves at prices ranging from $13.50 to $25.00.

Dusters of grey checked material finished with stitched edges are procurable at $5.75.

Very good dust rugs of sand-colored whipcord finished in the same manner are $8.50, and with checked material on one side and whipcord on the other, $12.50.

A rug with showerproof checked cloth on one side and a heavy dark green cloth on the other is $14.00.

For campers, or even for the ordinary picnic party, is a most useful waterproof canvas ground sheet, with a brass-bound hole at each corner. Price, $2.50.

Planned a Motoring Tour? Then Here is an Eaton-made, Collapsible, Portable Tent That Should Interest You

It Can Be Erected in 15 Minutes, Has a Heavy Khaki Duck Cover, and Folds Into a Bundle About 8 x 8 Inches x 7 Feet, and is Provided With Beds.

AUGUST IS WELL NIGH HERE, and it's hey for the merry green woods and the outdoor life! So, whether the gypsy life by motor attracts you, or whether your plan for a holiday or your work, necessitates a more permanent abiding-place, you'll find this tent worthy of more than passing attention.

The sketch gives you an idea of its appearance, with the curtains turned back to show the three beds arranged ship-fashion, one above the other. These canvas bunks can be easily rolled back to serve as bags for the clothing, or removed altogether, when the entire space under the canopy is available as dining or living room, a mosquito bar netting ensuring freedom from all such troublesome little pests.

The curtains can be dropped and buttoned, transforming it into a storm-proof shelter. Hooks and wall pockets for clothes, and a collapsible table one foot six inches wide and seven feet long, add very much to its comfort and convenience, while the lower berth can be used as a seat. It is very well constructed, too, with strong, collapsible framework of cypress wood and iron, and covering of a heavy khaki duck. A carrier is furnished with each tent, which swings it to the side of your car—a neat-looking bundle—dimensions as above and weight about 100 pounds.

One of its greatest charms in the eyes of the tourist is the speed with which it can be erected and taken down, and the ease with which it is manipulated. No tools or instruments whatever are needed to adjust it perfectly, and it is so built that it can stand anywhere. The price of the tent, complete, is $75.00.

Travelling Gear for Motorists and Others

Picnic Cases Most Successfully Camouflaged as Suit Cases; an Automobile Trunk, and Endlessly Useful Coat Rail Bags

If a motoring tour is intended, some such pieces of baggage are almost essential, and anyone who feels the lure of the lake shore and flower-decked fields and woodlands, far away from eating-places and all that pertains to them, will find one of these picnic cases the veriest boon.

Covered with black enamelled duck—weatherproof and dust-shedding—they are lined with waterproof material, which can be easily washed, and are provided with brass locks and leather carrying handle, in suitcase style.

A splendid one, with knives, forks, spoons, plates and cups for six people, has a tray containing two sandwich tins and spaces for thermos bottles and food. Below the tray is additional space for table-cloths, etc. This is $22.75.

A smaller one 18 inches in length, with eating utensils for five people, and without sandwich tins, is $9.75.

With fittings of much better quality—bone-handled steel knives, etc., is a picnic case for seven people. This is provided with butter and sugar jars, etc., is 24 inches long, the price being $40.00.

A picnic case de luxe—a folding "table restaurant," with fittings for six people, also covered with black enamelled duck, is constructed so that the top opens out as a table, 24 inches square, the bottom unfolds to form legs, and the food and fittings are contained in two drawers. This is very convenient for use in a motor. Price, $45.00.

A very cleverly constructed trunk for the running board, also covered with black enamelled duck, contains two black duck covered drawers, which are provided with separate brass locks, and can be used as small suit-cases, below these being ample space for extra inside tins and motor accessories. The edges are weather-stripped, so that the trunk is dust and weather-proof. Price, $55.00.

Coat rail bags of black enamelled duck, with one most spacious pocket, and two, three or four smaller pockets in the flap, are obtainable in three sizes, each provided with a leather carrying handle, and priced at $10.00 and $11.00.

GREATER EFFICIENCY IN CANADIAN INDUSTRY

The whole fabric of industry is based on science, and governments are now recognizing it as a duty to embark on a more enlightened policy by promoting scientific research.

Canada will soon have a national research institute, which will be located at Ottawa.

Just what is signified by a research institute, and just what is the economic or industrial value of a research institute, will be better perceived by references to some research institutes already in existence.

First of all, some account can be given of the National Physical Laboratory of Great Britain, located at Teddington, near London.

The foundation of the National Physical Laboratory dates back to the first year in the current century. Its initial staff consisted of three assistant workers. The laboratory was then housed in the Kew Observatory. Today the laboratory has its own buildings at Teddington, is organized in eight different departments and has a staff numbering well over 500 superintendents, scientific assistants and observers, of whom 130 are women.

At this laboratory every sort of scientific problem in its relation to industry or war may be submitted for solution. In addition, the laboratory is the national standardizing and testing institution. As illustrations of the nature of the problems submitted for solution the following may be named:

An investigation into the causes of lubricating properties in oils with a view to framing a specification for such oils.

An investigation into rules for esti-imating the strength of beams, columns and floors of ferro-concrete, and the designing of apparatus for testing the strength of columns up to 15-20 feet high and of floors of great area.

An investigation into the loss of heat in two structures exactly alike in all parts, but roofed, in the one case, with corrugated iron; and, in the other case, with a preparation of asbestos. The results have relation to the comfort of homes and the cost of heating them.

British supremacy in aviation and in the design and construction of airplanes is due very largely to investigations which have been carried on thru several years at the National Physical Laboratory. Every part of a modern airplane, it may be said, is the product of a highly specialized science. In the machine itself, to combine strength with lightness, to select the right material for the right part, to design the wings so that they may bear the greatest weight and offer the least resistance to the motion, to give the body ample strength to withstand the shocks of alighting and yet not weight the machine unduly—all these points and many others have been the subject of long and difficult scientific examinations.

The engine brought problems of complexity. Here the metallurgist was at work producing alloys little heavier than aluminum yet comparable in strength with steel. Instruments needed by the pilot were investigated. And so the story of the contributions of the scientists at the National Physical Laboratory to the British airplane could continue to be told.

The development of accurate workmanship in all planes turning out when and other things, calling for extreme accuracy of measurement, necessitates gauges of the utmost reliability. With few exceptions all gauges pass thru the National Physical Laboratory. Accuracy to the point of three-tenths of an inch is sometimes required. As indicating the proficiency in rapid examination of gauges, it may be said that 10,000 gauges are examined per week.

The Mellen Institute.

Let us now turn to the United

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

States of America, and note the work of the famous Mellon Institute in connection with the University of Pittsburgh. This institute was erected by the Brothers Mellon, bankers, to provide manufacturers with the use and facilities of a well-equipped laboratory and trained staff at less cost than the establishment of works laboratories. Any manufacturer requiring a subject investigated can endow a fellowship for one or more years, paying from $2000 and also the cost of any special apparatus.

Work of the most varied character is done. Recently 42 industrial fellowships were in operation, and their investigations ranged from the coking of coal to the baking of bread, from the washing of clothes to the filling of teeth. The Canadian Government endowed a fellowship to solve the problem of separating asphalt from fine sand that there might be made available for commercial use—certain large deposit in Canada.

Outside the institute proper are a number of small shacks where test-tube results can be carried out on a commercial scale, for it always remains to be proved whether the test-tube discoveries can be applied commercially. In these shacks—unit plants, they have been called—commercial conditions are reproduced on a scale sufficiently large to prove success or failure.

As indicating the commercial results derived from a Mellon Institute investigation, research work for a large bakery in New York City resulted in improvements that are said to have saved the bakery a million dollars a year.

Beyond a doubt the industrial and commercial eminence of the United States is linked up with its numerous research laboratories. These laboratories are of three general classes: (1) those belonging to, and maintained and directed by the state, (2) those affiliated with universities and technical colleges, and (3) those allied to industrial plants. These types of laboratories are found in all countries where industry and education are well developed.

In the United States are The Bureau of Standards at Washington, the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, and the laboratory in connection with the department of agriculture. Outstanding university and college laboratories are those of the Universities of Harvard, Columbia, Kansas, Cornell, Pittsburgh, Wisconsin, Chicago and Leland Stanford Junior, and the laboratory of the Massachusetts School of Technology. In addition may be named the labora-

TEACHERS ARE TAKING COURSE IN AGRICULTURE

Over 500 school teachers and inspectors are now engaged on the short course in agriculture at the Ontario College at Guelph. According to W. B. Roadhouse, deputy minister of agriculture, this season has been the busiest in its history. The impetus given to agriculture by the war has created a deeper interest in the subject among the teaching profession than ever before.

The crops on the college farm are all in splendid condition and all along the same hour, they decided it was the condition of the crops is very gratifying. Corn which had been somewhat slow in growth is now coming on well under the influence of the warm weather.

The first ripe field of barley was cut on Wednesday at Streetsville.

SUPPLY WHOLE CATCH TO HOTEL KITCHEN

Pessimists have said that fishing was dead in Muskoka, but visitors at the Wawa Hotel, Lake of Bays, know that this is not a fact.

Last week, Mr. F. W. Leach, of Toronto, and a party of friends, armed with fishing tackle and bait, paid a flying visit to Hollow Lake, a small lake five miles from the Wawa Hotel, and there made a record catch of mountain lake trout. Isaak Walton, at his best, had nothing on these fishermen.

Arriving at the fishing camp at noon, they unpacked their tackle and started in to business. The following day, at the same hour, they decided it was time to pull in their lines and, like the Arabs, "steal away" back to the hotel, there to show their guests their remarkable catch, for truly remarkable it was—eighty of the finest trout, averaging three pounds each—was the reward these fishermen received for making the trip to little Hollow Lake.

The one hundred and fifty guests at the Wawa were beneficiaries of this trip and next day at luncheon and breakfast many were the inquiries made as to where the delicious fish came from, and on discovering the donors, a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the fishermen.

Capt. Len Morrison, who returned to Toronto this week, after thrilling experiences as a prisoner of war for a long period in Germany, in telling of the treatment he received at a German civilian hospital, spoke well of the attention he was accorded. The treatment resulted in the successful healing of a compound fracture of the leg. He states that some X-ray pictures he sent home were declared by Toronto surgeons to show remarkable surgical work.

A statement issued by the Canadian Defence League yesterday concerning New Zealand inadvertently put their expenditure to the date of a recent royal commission report as $100,000, whereas it should have read $200,000, for which they have furnished 100,000 men from their population of one million.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 26.

The Return of Mr. Rowell

Our young contemporary, The Statesman, which describes itself as neither newspaper nor magazine, but follows the white plume of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, rises to enquire "Can Rowell Come Back?" The Statesman does not intimate that Mr. Rowell is physically incapacitated from returning to the land of his birth. Indeed, it expresses the hope that he may return from his long vacation much improved in health. It does, however, intimate that Mr. Rowell will never be able to regain whatever prestige he may have lost since his entrance into the federal field.

Too much importance, we think, is attached to the philippic against Mr. Rowell delivered by Hon. Charles Murphy in the debate upon the address. The Ontario public will be inclined to judge leniently any assault Mr. Rowell may have made at North Bay upon the religious orders. The significance of the North Bay speech lies in the fact that Mr. Rowell took the occasion ostentatiously to antagonize a large section of the population from which in the past he had drawn considerable support. He practically burned his bridges behind him so far as a return to the Liberal party under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was concerned. The Toronto Globe at about the same time began furiously to canonize the Vatican but for some reason or another the North Bay salient has not been vigorously held either by Mr. Rowell or by the journals especially devoted to his interests. Indeed The Toronto Star went over to the other side at the time of the Guelph incident.

But the vital question concerning Mr. Rowell and his return to Canada hinges upon the nickel policy of the Dominion Government. Will Mr. Rowell insist upon the government taking over the nickel companies, the nickel mines, and the nickel-bearing lands of Ontario? From his long experience as provincial leader of the opposition, he should have all the facts about the nickel companies at his finger ends.

Justly or unjustly, there has been a suspicion that the International Nickel Co. for years played both ends against the middle in Canadian politics. The men behind that concern were like the "water-power-Tories" and "timber-grits" of former days. They were said to be friendly to the Conservative government at Queen's Park, while keeping on the best of terms with the Laurier government at Ottawa.

It would be interesting to know what campaign contributions have been made by the nickel companies and the men behind to both political parties during the past ten years. Did they contribute to the election fund of both provincial parties in Ontario?

It must be admitted that the opposition led by Mr. Rowell was a very genuine, kid-gloved opposition, so far as the nickel policy of the Hearst government was concerned. It was not until after Hartley Dewar's spectacular victory in Southwest Toronto that the voice of Mr. Rowell rose above a whisper in discussing the nickel situation. Did Mr. Rowell have any reason to suspect that the provincial opposition could not afford to be too violent against the government in overhauling the nickel situation? Had tainted money found its way to the Liberal electoral chest, perhaps without Mr. Rowell's knowledge, but during the time of his leadership?

Whether or no Mr. Rowell can "come back" depends upon his record in the past and his attitude in the future upon the nickel question. He should return to Canada fired with zeal to crush Germanic intrigue and enemy control of Canadian war material. Will he vote to seize the nickel companies, the nickel mines and the nickel-bearing lands of Ontario and then turn the fierce light of pitiless publicity upon all the public men who have stupidly or treacherously played Germany's game in Canada?

Is Mr. Rowell in a position to fight German control of Canadian nickel and stamp it out of existence? Will he force the Dominion Government to deal with the German-controlled metal concerns of Canada as President Wilson has dealt with the German metal trust in the United States? If he can and will fight German control of Canadian nickel to the death, Mr. Rowell can and will "come back."

Single and Married Wage Earners

It is altogether a mistake to distinguish between single men and married men in paying wages, and is the result of the vicious principle of trying to get not the best, but the cheapest help.

The effect, however, is disastrous to the nation and the community as regards family life. Young men know it is hopeless to save for marriage on a young man's salary. To marry without preliminary saving is to accept a handicap of debt for furnishing from which it takes years to recover and leaves its mark on the whole future.

People who discuss the falling off in marriage, the decline of the birth-rate, the postponement of marriage till later life, and other matters connected with the change in the family life of Canada should note this distinction in wage rates between the single and the married man. If the single man has the income he speedily gets married. The women—God bless them—see to that.

It is unfortunate that the government should set the bad example of paying the unmarried man a lower wage than the married. Apart from the reasons already mentioned, there is the fact to be considered that many single men have as many dependents as married men have. Stability of the help employed is now recognized as a most important principle in all modern business, and the government employee who is not encouraged by his wages as a single man to save up and become a benedict is likely to be attracted to more generous employers.

G.W.V.A. Versus Y.M.C.A.

Editor World: Would it not be proper for The World to explain to the members of the Great War Veterans' Association the reasons why the press has not so far spoken up for the honor and integrity of the returned veterans who condemn the war work of the Y.M.C.A.?

In the absence of a detailed explanation the public can quite properly assume that the press believes the members of the G.W.V.A., who voted for the resolution at Hamilton, to be dishonest, and that it believes the members of the Y.M.C.A. to be honest. It is possible, however, that you would have upheld the veterans, in several of their contentions, had they stated their position fully and clearly, on each point at issue.

In the early months and years of the war, in days long before conscription was advocated, altruistic instincts led these young men to fight, not only for the defeat of the Hun, but, as they state, for the breaking down of all undemocratic institutions founded by the Hun.

Now that many of those who were first to go have returned, and have passed a resolution condemning the war work of the Y.M.C.A., and the press has failed to accept their views, it is fair to consider their full side of the case.

These veterans claim that an organization, such as the Y.M.C.A., collecting millions from the government on the strength of its war work, enjoying an exemption from taxation, and selling goods to the soldiers at a profit, should not be allowed by the government to pay its employees, who do not risk their lives in battle, any greater compensation than that paid to the government's enlisted men who do risk their lives. Their position is well taken.

The veterans also point out that many able-bodied members of the Y.M.C.A. are safely moored far behind the firing line, but who would be in the firing line were it not for the fact that they are said to be in France for patriotic and philanthropic purposes.

The returned veterans also believe that as the Y.M.C.A. has sold goods to the government for hundreds of thousands of dollars, and printed matter advertising its virtues, it should spend a few dollars to get the government to admit that the Y.M.C.A. report the names of favorite employees, with salary and expense account, were not forthcoming.

The rank and file Canadian army do not believe that any religious or semi-religious institutions, whether Catholic, Protestant, Jewish or Hindu, should be allowed to become a component part of a democratic army. It has been pointed out, for instance, that the Blue Book of claims, and that William Hohenzollern, the head of the Protestant church, and it is necessary for all sane-minded people that this is true to the exact extent that the pope is the successor to St. Peter. It appears that the Catholics, Jews and Hindus have a right to claim that Holy Willie is the natural and logical, as well as the nominal, successor to the father of Protestantism.

Many of these returned veterans who have fought for democracy, and who are incensed against the Y.M.C.A. because it stands for the most undemocratic of all principles, that of unequal taxation. They claim that if the Y.M.C.A. is entitled to exemption from taxation, the defenders of Canada who have returned home, whether or not in a more or less crippled state of health, are also entitled to exemption from taxation, but, unfortunately, they failed so to state in the form of a resolution.

Again, ninety per cent. of the homes in Ontario, according to veterans, from the standpoint of philanthropy, are more entitled to exemption from taxation than the Y.M.C.A., with its millions in real estate. Hundreds of thousands of householders, considering the value of their homes, have given far more for charity, and have done far more for the empire than the Y.M.C.A., which benefits but a few tens of taxpayers, and yet is exempted from taxation. This is not the democracy which the veterans fought for in France. It is slavery and involuntary servitude to force one man to pay another man's taxes.

The result of this controversy will be that these veterans will force future candidates for public office to pledge themselves to uphold truly democratic legislation, that of equal taxation for all religious and semi-religious institutions, regardless of sects or creeds.

The Woman Who Changed

BY JANE PHELPS.

A Long Talk.

CHAPTER CXLIII.

Mr. Sexton was gone. She had suffered for weeks, then quietly passed away in her sleep. I was dreadfully grieved. During those last weeks, I had come to know her so well—to realize, more than ever before, the beauty of her character. I had not been well, and, aside from the time spent with her, had been out but very little.

Then, one night, I told George that once more God was good to us—that once more he was to bestow his wonder gift on us.

My husband took me into his arms and held me close while he talked to me. He told me how happy he was that it was so, and how he was going to take care of me.

"And you don't mind it?"

"He would not let me finish."

"Put that foolish conversation out of your head. I imagine you did not hear it, or perhaps you misunderstood much that you did hear. They may have been speaking of some particular man, an isolated case. But most men would be allowed by the government to pay its employees, who do not risk their lives in battle, any greater compensation than that paid to the government's enlisted men who do risk their lives. Their position is well taken."

The days and weeks that followed were happy, busy ones. George took such wonderful care of me. Each day he would sit by my side and read to me. He never came home that didn't bring me something—a magazine, a book, flowers or candy.

Evlyn and I took a ride and were often with me. And Madge Loring had been really kind and friendly. I should have been most ungrateful if I had refused to respond to her kindness, now.

Others, too, people whom I had scarcely thought of as friends, were about me. I felt that I was being cared for in the best possible way. I had proved it true so often, that I was going to be well again. I realized, too, that happiness and success in life did not depend so much upon what we have, as upon what we are, and upon the way we try to fill our place in the world.

I no longer thought I would like to be poor and unknown. I loved my beautiful home, and the freedom to do things for others which my husband's wealth gave me. I had begun to get "my stride," as Kurtis Reeve once told me, and I was content. I realized I still had much to learn, if I were to be the well-rounded woman I had once been. I had talked to me about these last weeks.

But when one really tries to learn, nothing can hinder one's progress. It is only when we go at things half-heartedly, that we do not get along.

A Surprise.

I had noticed a peculiar look on George's face, late in the afternoon, of a sort of look, as if he were doing something he should not.

"You look as if you had some secret, George," said I to him.

"Perhaps I have!" he returned. "But little girls must learn to curb their curiosity."

"Really, am I not to know?" I pretended to pout.

"No, really you are not!"

"I don't believe it is much, anyway," I teased at him, but I was anxious to know, just the same. He had confessed there was a secret. And I was not inclined to make much of nothing.

I was soon to know. The very next day after our little talk, I heard the honk-honk of the car, and running to the window, I was just in time to see George help a woman out and then lift out a bag. Who could it be? I glanced quickly into the mirror to see if I was presentable. It was early for George, and I had not yet changed for dinner. I gave my hair a pat, then went out on the landing, and looked over the banisters. I heard voices, but could see no one. Listening, I heard George say:

"You stay here, I'll bring her down."

I hurried back into my room, so that George would not know I had listened. He came in with his face beaming.

"There's a lady waiting to see you in the library," he said, after kissing me, and asking how I felt.

"Who is it?"

"Come down and see," he replied with a laugh, and I followed him.

The lady rose from the depths of an easy chair, as I entered the room. "Mother!" I cried, and, in a moment, I was clasping her arms and we were both talking at once.

Tomorrow—A Cloudless Sky.

SEEKING INFORMATION ABOUT LT. H. CONNOLLY

The parents of Lieut. Harold Connolly, R.A.F., some time ago received a cablegram from Liverpool stating that the young officer had died on June 4. Lieut. Connolly has been on coast defence duty in England for the past eighteen months, and on receiving the message Mr. Connolly, his father, immediately cabled the mayor of Liverpool, asking for further information, and the reply that he received stated that it did not refer to his son. Since that time more cables have been sent to England asking for information, but so far no reply has been received. As a wire was received from Lieut. Connolly on May 20, stating that he was returning home as some time previous

STREET RAILWAYMEN ARE NOT SATISFIED

A deputation of street railwaymen headed by Controller W. D. Robbins and Aid. Joseph Gibbons waited on Manager R. J. Fleming yesterday, and although nothing definite was forthcoming, it was declared that the men were not going out on strike again, but as a matter of fact a number of things have cropped up among the employees, one of the chief being that the men are not satisfied with their runs on the Carlton street route. It was as a result of a decision arrived at at the last meeting of the union that the deputation waited on the general manager yesterday, but with what results has not yet been made known.

LETTER CARRIERS WHO REFUSE TO RETURN TO WORK ARE WARNED OF OUTCOME. Ottawa, July 25.—Letter carriers who refused to comply with the request made by Alex. McMordeie, secretary of the letter carriers' union, for the agreement reached yesterday by the government, are likely to be treated as individuals by the government... Mr. McMordeie recommended that the government should return to work this morning and in the great majority of cities and towns... One exception was the City of Winnipeg. From the Manitoba capital came a renewal of the demands for the appointment of a board of conciliation, the request being backed by a telegram from the Winnipeg Board of Trade... Mr. Robertson, acting minister of labor, in reply said that there is no provision in the industrial disputes act for the appointment of a board of conciliation to settle disputes between the government and its employees. A telegram sent this afternoon by the government in reply to the message from the board of trade pointed out that the representatives of the letter carriers had accepted what the government believed to be a reasonable basis of settlement; that the agreement had been accepted by the letter carriers at nearly all points, and that those who refused to return to work by tomorrow would be treated as individual employees of the government. The government believes that the men will be on duty at all points tomorrow and that their failure to return to work at Winnipeg and Vancouver has been due to a misunderstanding of the basis of settlement.

ROBERTSON, REWILL, AND ROY

MEIGHEN ANNOUNCES THEY WILL STAY SHORT TIME TO ATTEND SESSIONS OF WAR COUNCIL.

Ottawa, July 25.—Hon. Arthur Meighen, minister of the interior, who arrived in the capital at a late hour last night, will in conference throughout the morning with Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways. At noon they were joined by Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization. Subsequently Mr. Meighen gave out a statement in the parliament which it was intimated that Sir Robert Borden and Hon. N. W. Rowell will remain in London for a short time at least in order to attend sessions of the supreme war council. Mr. Meighen's statement follows:

"The work of the conference was far from complete when we left. The subjects presented for discussion with a view to arriving at conclusions to be recommended to the various parliaments were this year not only larger in number, but were impressed with increasing importance by reason of the internationalizing war conditions.

"The prime minister is being strongly pressed to remain in London some time yet. He is personally anxious to return, but the view of his associates in the cabinet, both from the United Kingdom and from Canada, was that he should continue in his work for a short time. Mr. Rowell will in all probability accompany him. In the present circumstances it is felt that the presence of Mr. Rowell in constant attendance at the supreme war council, who had repeated and absolutely essential discussions with the cabinet, is now clearly the government's position is now clearly before the company."

"The government of Alberta, did not remain over in Ottawa, and is en route to the west. Premier Martin, of Saskatchewan, is expected to arrive from Montreal this afternoon. Premier Norris of Manitoba is here.

"Harper, customs broker, 39 West Wellington street, corner Bay, Adelaide 482.

C.N.R. CROP REPORT IS FAIRLY HOPEFUL

Territory Served by Road Fares Better Than That Farther South.

As the season advances the balance between an average, or less, and an average, or more, crop seems, broadly speaking, to favor the central and northern sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

A report on conditions of the growing grain along its lines in the prairie provinces received by the executive of the Canadian Northern here yesterday from nearly 200 agents between Port Arthur and the Rocky Mountains brings out this fact quite clearly.

That the majority of agents in the territories on the C.N.R. continue to show conditions as favorable, is no doubt owing to the fact that the greater portion of that company's mileage west of the lakes is in the central and northern districts where farmers appear to be doing well in the rolling, well-wooded, well-watered features characteristic of the country.

This report is for the week ended July 20. Of the 186 places reporting, 78 indicate a need of rain, 115 show conditions as favorable, 60 as unfavorable, and only 28 as bad. There are only three reports of damage by hail and one by frost.

From 21 places prospective wheat yields are given, two of which go 25 bushels to the acre, six to 20, and six to 15.

The company's reports on weather prevailing over the grain-growing areas show for July 22 some rain in the central district, and rain also in the western district, but in the central district, Winnipeg, Brandon and the western district all report dry conditions, which should materially check the growing grain.

Winnipeg, July 25-The action of the market at this morning's session, when lower prices prevailed, was somewhat surprising when it is considered that reports coming from northern Manitoba, Saskatchewan and in Alberta indicate that winter wheat is doing well.

Apples-The first home-grown apple for this season arrived yesterday, B. S. Burlington shipping some of choice quality to White & Co., Ltd., which sold at $2 per 11-quart basket, 50c more per basket than the first shipment of last season, which came in on June 15, nearly three weeks later.

Thimbleberries-Thimbleberries are beginning to come in, a shipment from Chatham, Ont., to White & Co. on Wednesday selling at 30c to 35c per box, from 10c to 15c higher than the first shipment of last season.

Beans-Beans are going abegging for buyers, the supply greatly exceeding the demand, causing prices to drop, those sold yesterday going at 25c to 40c per 11-quart basket.

BIG BUSINESS IS DONE IN HIGH SPEED STEEL

Many Plants in Canada Are Just on Verge of Production Stage.

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for week ending July 26, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following observations:

The weather has been much against high marks in production in the steel, iron or rolling plants during the week, and it is only fair to assume that the figures shown are a fair representation.

Plants turning out pig and steel have quite a problem in keeping the fine balance necessary in the disposal of their output.

Desires in high speed steel are doing a big business now—in fact the chances seem to be that their high figures for volume of trade are being touched this quarter.

The Home-Lovers' Club should not be confused with the ordinary time-payment proposition, because it is distinctly different. Simpson's is an out-and-out Cash store, and to the members of the Club is extended the privilege of having payments deferred, just as if they were paying all cash. The sale prices are one and the same to both club and cash purchasers—there is no extra charge by means of interest or the like. The sale items offered today, without a single exception, are purchasable through the Home-Lovers' Club. Consult the Secretary of the Home-Lovers' Club. His office is at the rear of the Queen Street side of the Fourth Floor.
