"Pray accept and convey to Canadian forces under your command our warmest congratulations upon the gallantry and resourcefulness displayed in recent successful attack."

Mines Successfully Exploded by British Round Souchez and Cinchy.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, June 16.—The only feature in the Ypres salient today was the heavy shelling of the Canadian lines before Zillebeke by a short time yesterday afternoon, according to the British official report on the campaign in Flanders, issued tonight.

"Last night we successfully exploded mines in the neighborhood of the Souchez quarries and Cinchy. An enemy mine was exploded near Givinchy but did no damage.

"Today the hostile artillery was unusually active immediately north of the Basse canal, and in the Loos salient. Our trenches east of Zillebeke were shelled heavily for a short time this afternoon. The remainder of the front was quiet."

'HYPHEN' PLOTS ARE DENOUNCED

Wilson's "Americanism" Plank Hurls Defiance at German-American Influence

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The Democratic convention finished its work today by adopting the party platform exactly as approved by President Wilson and submitted by the resolution committee, including the plank on Americanism and that favoring woman suffrage, but not until the harmony of its three day's sessions had been disturbed with a row over the suffrage plank.

No voice was raised against the vigorous declarations of the Americanism plank, but at one time it looked as if the suffrage plank had been lost. After Senator Walsh of Montana, had told the convention that President Wilson himself considered it vital to party success, however, it was voted into the platform by a ballot of 883 1/2 to 181 1/2.

The woman suffrage leaders consider it a much more favorable declaration than they got from the Republican convention at Chicago.

The plank on Americanism drawn by President Wilson said in part: "The part that the United States will play (Continued on Page 7, Column 1).

RUSSIANS NOW BREAKING THRU CENTRE OF LINE

Gen. Brusiloff's Army Pressing on, But Curtain is Drawn.

LONDON, Saturday, June 17, 3.30 a.m.—The chief gain of ground announced by the Russians during the past 24 hours was on the Austrian centre, which up to now had held comparatively firm.

The Russians claim to be breaking this resistance. The main contest has been on the front just north of Buczacz, on the Strypa River. Here the Russians are declared to have overthrown the Austrian army and taken 6000 prisoners.

For the time being the rapid movement on the wings and the cavalry dash in Volhynia toward the Kovel Junction seems to have slackened somewhat. The morning newspapers today print only brief specials from Petrograd, and some of these give evidence of considerable delays in telegraphic transmission.

A semi-official commentary published in Petrograd yesterday says: "The absence from the official communications of the names of places occupied or the directions taken by Gen. Brusiloff's Army do not mean any retardation in his advance."

"The Austrians before leaving Czeronowitz entrusted a small committee of various nationalities with the duty of handing over the town to the Russians."

FIGHT AT BARANOVICHI.

PETROGRAD, June 16 (via London, June 17), 4.34 a.m.—A semi-official communication issued here today: "The operations near Baranovichi to which some persons were inclined to attach importance, were nothing more serious than a reconnaissance in force undertaken to obtain information as to the enemy's strength which the simpler forms of scouting had failed to reveal."

RUSSIANS INCREASE GAINS IN BATTLE WITH AUSTRIANS

A Call For Service From Brig.-Gen. Logie

TO THE CITIZENS OF TORONTO.

Speaking with authoritative knowledge of the immediate need for men, I make this appeal to the City of Toronto.

Toronto's quota required to complete her Battalions now authorized is 2440 men. This City has never in its history failed to rise to its full responsibility. Surely the women, the Churches, the Board of Trade, the Canadian Club, and other Patriotic and Fraternal Societies, and the business interests will, by one last united effort, give the men so urgently needed.

According to The North China Herald, the police at Harbin (Manchuria) have unearthed a thieves' school, and among the things seized were translations into Chinese of the doings of Sherlock Holmes, and, according to the statements of the arrested, they all attended a daily school which was conducted by their chief, who read to his pupils the exploits of famous cracksmen and detectives and instructed them in the art of house-breaking. Account books were also found, and entries were made daily as to the property they had got hold of, how much it realized and how the money was divided.

FRENCH KEEP HILL DESPITE ATTACKS

FIGHT FOR THIAUMONT

Germans Suffer Another Setback on East Bank of Meuse.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, June 16.—No infantry action was fought on the banks of the Meuse today after the French had beaten off a succession of attacks against their positions north of the Thiaumont fortifications on Hill 321 to the sides of Hill 320. The rushes of the enemy broke down under the fire of French machine guns and infantry.

On the western bank of the Meuse the French held the position on the southern slopes of Le Mort Homme, which they captured from the Germans yesterday against several counter-attacks hunched in the night. The French say that their attack in this sector gained for them a portion of German trenches on a front of about 1100 yards and that the enemy completely failed in his endeavors to regain this position.

The total number of prisoners taken in this fighting by the French has increased to 500, including six officers.

Drive Enemy Further Back West of Lutsk and Capture Fourteen Thousand More Prisoners—Win Ground in Violent Fight West of Stripa.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, June 16.—More than 166,000 prisoners have already been taken by the Russians in their big offensive on the front between the Pripiet Marshes and the Rumanian frontier, the total number taken yesterday being in round numbers 100 officers and 14,000 men. Thus, yesterday's captures of men kept well up to the average of the figures for 12 days.

This average works out at a little under 14,000 a day, and it indicates the uniformity of the work achieved under the command of Gen. Brusiloff.

Vast quantities of spoils still continue to be brought in by the Russian successes. Being taken completely at a disadvantage by the hawk-like swooping down of the Russians, the enemy has been forced to fight for his life instead of having a breathing space to remove his war material.

The chief advance of the Russians from Lutsk continues to be upon Vladimir-Volynski and Kovel and they have gained another brilliant success in this drive. Their Cossacks are giving them effective aid in the numerous fights with the retreating enemy.

Just north of this line of advance and south of Polesna the fighting is being continued. The Russians defeated a counter-attack in the Sokul region and took 20 officers and 1700 men prisoners.

Defeat Foe on Stripa. Impetuously dashing forward, Russian infantry, powerfully supported by artillery, defeated the Austrians in the region of Gouvirinka and Gullivodny, on the western bank of the Stripa, where the enemy had endeavored to make a stand after being driven across the river.

Northwest of Buczacz, where the Germans and Austrians are making a desperate stand, the Russians are continuing the engagement with great energy, and are getting the better of the enemy, taking 6000 prisoners and many guns and machine guns. The enemy is being driven from position after position.

Don Cossacks have done good service and they have taken prisoner several officers and 600 men.

Italy's King Sends Message. The text of the Russian statement today follows:

"The supreme commander, the czar, has received the following telegram from the King of Italy:

"I am in harmony with the whole Italian people in expressing the sentiment of profound admiration for the victorious development of the powerful offensive of your majesty's armies, and in sending you the warmest and most friendly congratulations, being convinced that the efforts thus happily commenced will lead to definite success. I pray you to accept the assurances of my unchanging friendship."

"On the front of the armies south of Polesna the fighting continues. The enemy has suffered heavy losses in encounters with our troops. The following details of the operations in many sectors have been received:

"In the course of a powerful but fruitless counter-attack by the enemy in the region of Sokul, the Polesna, we took as prisoner twenty officers and 1750 men.

Company Engulfed. "In the region west and southwest of Lutsk during the pursuit of the enemy our cavalry fought several successful actions. Northwest of Kremenets our bold soldiers of Gen. Selharoff's force, after a desperate fight, dislodged the enemy from his fortified positions on the River Plutchevka, be-

WAR SUMMARY THE DAYS EVENTS REVIEWED

AS the returns of prisoners taken by the Russians continue to come in, and as the official reports continue to tell of constant Russian successes on the whole front, between the Pripiet marshes and the Rumanian frontier, the evidence is unshakable that the Austrians have suffered the gravest military disaster that they have yet suffered.

The chief feature of yesterday's developments was the further report of progress by the Russian columns, whose task it is to turn the left flank of the Austrian forces and to drive a wedge between the Austrian and the German groups of armies.

In the centre, heavy fighting is still proceeding northwest of Tarnopol, where the Russians have taken 6000 prisoners and forced the enemy slowly backward. But the task of the troops of our ally on this portion of the front is chiefly to hold the enemy while the enveloping movement on both wings proceeds till the right and left wings of the enemy are bent diagonally to the centre.

PREPAREDNESS CRY A HOWL FOR WAR

Sir George Gibbons Declares That Conflict in Europe Inevitable.

QUESTIONS INSURANCE

Chairman of Bar Association Says It's Practically Gamble.

Sir George Gibbons' remarks on the world war featured yesterday's session of the Canadian Bar Association. It was nothing but a lot of rot, he said, that peace of the world could not be maintained by a world's supreme court of nations. The preparedness cry he characterized as but another howl for war. As far back as 1911 he knew that war was inevitable for no other reason than that the nations were preparing.

Chairman M. H. Ludwig, K.C., in his address to the association questioned whether insurance was legal. Practically he declared, an insurance between two parties was but a gamble between them that a certain thing will not happen. "The judicial committee has estimated," he said, "that by registration properly framed, the Dominion Parliament might control certain phases of insurance business, but no clear indication has been given of how legislation ought to be framed. The Dominion Act in the meantime is ultra vires." Mr. Ludwig pointed out that premium companies are not required to take out licenses under it. Probably the licenses now issued or heretofore issued under it are and were nullified. Possibly the Dominion Insurance Department itself had no legal existence.

The situation, he declared, was serious. In reply to a lawyer. Mr. Justice Riddell's address on "The first law reporter in Upper Canada and his reports" was very interesting to the legal men. Thomas Taylor, he stated, was the first law reporter and his reports are still extant and occasionally referred to in our courts. After deducting his expenses his salary during in preparation which had been given on year after year by the great nations.

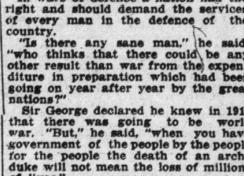

Sir George declared he knew in 1911 that there was going to be world war. "But," he said, "when you have proved, and the people by the people for the people the death of an archduke will not mean the loss of millions of lives."

OXFORD COUNTY FALLS IN LINE.

WOODSTOCK, June 16.—Oxford County Council has fallen in line with the act passed by the Ontario Legislature, annulling the Ontario Highway Improvement Act. This act houses a county which has a good roads system to the extent of 20 per cent on all repairs done on their roads. The proviso is put in that the counties must appoint patrol men to go over the roads and keep them in good repair. These men are to have a horse and cart and fill in all ruts and holes. In this way it is expected the roads in a year or so will be in a constant state of good repair. Oxford County is spending fifteen thousand dollars on repairs alone, so that they will receive three hundred dollars from the government.

CHURCHES ASKED TO CO-OPERATE IN FILLING UP BATTALIONS

The Clerical Patriotic Association has sent the following letter to the city pastors: "In order that the noble sacrifices of our brothers at the front shall not be in vain, it is imperative that the Canadian Division now in action be kept at full strength. Therefore, it becomes our supreme duty to hasten the completion of battalions now recruiting, that they may be trained and sent forward without delay. In the light of this imperative necessity, the military authorities are making special efforts to attain this object during the next two weeks; and through the chief recruiting officer of No. 2 Military District, Lieut.-Col. Rev. G. H. Williams, they have appealed to the Clerical Patriotic Association to co-operate. To consider this request a meeting of the Clerical Patriotic Association was held Friday in the University of Toronto, and the proposal was unanimously approved. It was resolved to ask the churches of Toronto to set apart Sunday, June 19th, and Sunday, June 25th, as Patriotic Sundays, on which appeals shall be made to our people emphasizing the spiritual aspects of the call to sacrificial service for our empire. Believing this to be a Holy War, surely it is incumbent on all Christians, which, under the blessing of God, will help to bring victory and a righteous peace."

Democratic Convention, at Wilton's Request, Takes Clear-Cut Stand.

CLASH OVER SUFFRAGE

But-Plank Was Inserted in Platform After Lively Discussion.

In the new day of international relationship that is now upon us, we depend upon our preparation and our character. The Democratic party therefore recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the undivided and coherent strength of the nation as the supreme issue of this day in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold changes. It summons all men, of whatever origin or creed, who would count themselves Americans to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America. This is an issue of patriotism. To taunt it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test America must show itself, not a nation of partisans, but a nation of patriots.

Condemn Intriguers. We condemn a subversive of this nation's unity and strength and destructive of its welfare the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the government or the people, or which is calculated and designed to divide our people into antagonistic groups and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people and that unity of sentiment and national purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the nation and its free institutions.

"We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country of whatever nationality or descent, who agree and conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our government or of improperly influencing or controlling our public representatives in dealing or negotiating with any foreign power. We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our country. We condemn any political party which, in view of the activity of such conspirators, surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy."

"The poet drew a newspaper from his pocket. 'Read,' he blazed. 'See what the compositor did to my opening line! The friend read aloud, 'My son, my pig, my counterpart.'"

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO ORGANIZE BUREAU

Prospects Not So Bright for the Financing of Publicity and Industrial Committee.

The prospects for the inauguration of a publicity and industrial committee for Toronto are not quite so bright as heretofore. Yesterday the mayor presided over a meeting called to discuss the matter, and a committee of seven prominent citizens was appointed to frame up a scheme for organizing and controlling the bureau. When these met after the general meeting, Controller Cameron, the chairman, intimated that the city would not be responsible for the financing of the project, as it had been proposed for the general welfare of the people, and in his opinion should be financed by private individuals. In making the remarks the controller asked the committee not to be discouraged, as other towns had publicly committees carried on by wealthy persons and only obtaining a grant from the corporation.

In answer to a question, Controller Cameron urged the committee to form the organization along the same lines as that in Winnipeg. Those appointed to the committee were: Controller Cameron, chairman, J. S. M. Ridley, representing the Rotary Club; F. E. Howes, the board of trade; W. J. Moffat, the transportation interests; T. A. Stevenson, the trades and labor council; R. B. Goyard, representing the City Club; and the Catholic societies. T. W. Rea was appointed honorary secretary.

SOCIETY OF ENGLISH SINGERS NOW FORMED

There was an obstacle golf match and clock golf yesterday at Mrs. F. Ross' beautiful farm, in Goldwin Smith drive, overlooking the city and the Connaught Home for Officers at Dieppe. Half a dozen private motors ran a lively service from the Glen road bridge, which was a very delightful manner of getting to the course. The band of the Canadian Buffs played the lawn, and tea was served out of doors. The view from the verandah was worth the price of admission, without the music and tea. All the players, in rainbow-colored silk coats, presented a very picturesque appearance on arriving at the house. As there were a great many people present, a very satisfactory arrangement had been realized for the home. Mrs. Ross and her daughters were attentive hostesses, and the afternoon was a most enjoyable one.

Mrs. Pirie left town yesterday en route to New York, and sails today by the Philadelphia for England to join her husband, the presence of the immediate leave from the front. Afterward Mrs. Pirie will pay some visits in Scotland and return to Canada in the autumn.

The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. G. Brown, and wore a gown of white messaline satin and net, with tulle veil and orange blossoms and daisies. WELL-KNOWN MEMBER OF CANADIAN BAR DEAD

Geo. Kennedy, K.C., Was Forty-Four Years in Department of Crown Lands.

In the death of George Kennedy, K.C., at his late residence, 147 West Bloor street, yesterday, the Canadian bar loses one of its ablest members. Mr. Kennedy, who was 79 years of age, had been ailing for some time. For 44 years he held the post of chief clerk of the department of crown lands, Ontario.

He was the son of the late Donald Kennedy, a Scotchman of Perthshire, Scotland, and later of Ottawa, in which city he was born. His early education was received at the Canadian Grammar School, from which he matriculated into Toronto University, and obtained there the first-class honours in the sciences, mathematics, physics and ethics. In the year 1864 he took the law course, graduating as a barrister in 1867.

After successfully practicing his profession in Ottawa, the late Mr. Kennedy was in 1892 appointed law clerk in the department of crown lands in Ontario, which position he held till the time of his death. From 1878 to 1880 he was an examiner in law at Toronto University. In addition to being author of "The Relation of Law to Science" and other treatises and essays, he was a councillor in the Toronto branch of the British Empire League, was president of the Young Men's Club, Caledonian Club, Andrew's Society and the Caledonian Institute and a member of the Canadian Club.

HER OWN FAULT.

"You're a swindler," exclaimed Mrs. Gobb as she entered the bird store. "You're worse than a highway robber. You ought to be ashamed of yourself to cheat poor women like me the way you did. That parrot I bought of you last week is a fraud. You said it was a fluent talker and you charged a big price for him, and that bird hasn't said a single word since I got him. Not one word. Do you hear me?"

"Perhaps," replied the bird fancier mildly, "you didn't give him a chance."

Bad Diction Caused by Foreign Teachers Not Familiar With Pronunciation of Our Language.

The house-cleaning germ is rampant in the land and many of us are happily able not only to clean and polish our old and dingy belongings, but to start out with new possessions. Especially are we lucky if our walls are under the hand of the decorator, because new paper or paint gives a look of complete freshness and admits of a whole new scheme of coloring. It is one of those small mysteries of life how people will move into a house and put up with papers that are altogether distasteful, endure them probably for a couple of years and spend any amount of money in little dabs and drabs trying to make their hangings, carpets and furniture fit in, instead of making up their minds for all and having the walls done at their own expense if they cannot persuade the landlord to do the work for them.

The color of a room means much, not only to the sense of beauty, but actually to our mental state. It is now an acknowledged fact that we are affected by color; that red has an irritating, exciting effect on many persons; that green, and some shades of blue, are restful and soothing; that a green den opening into a room is a part of a whole and not a complete identity, and that consequently it must be considered in its relation to the rest of the house. Looking into this way, we will not have a red hall and a pink parlor with a yellow dining room and signs in the paper cause a room to look very much smaller than it is, and a design that has a perpendicular stripe will lend a height to the ceiling. Dark paperings, too, have the effect of making the room seem smaller.

Many people who seem to have excellent taste and whose individual rooms are papered, draped and furnished in a way that is irrefragable, are apparently that each room is a part of a whole and not a complete identity, and that consequently it must be considered in its relation to the rest of the house. Looking into this way, we will not have a red hall and a pink parlor with a yellow dining room and signs in the paper cause a room to look very much smaller than it is, and a design that has a perpendicular stripe will lend a height to the ceiling. Dark paperings, too, have the effect of making the room seem smaller.

The window hangings are really a part of the wall covering and the porcelains must also be considered in the same category. A room is often made marred by the curtains, so they should come in for careful consideration. If the window faces a kind of light, it will have cream or egg hangings so as to soften the light a little; if it is shaded, the curtains should be white, so that even if they can be seen to get every possible scrap of brightness; and for the colored hangings let them harmonize with the wallpaper, but be of a slightly darker shade.

In the making of curtains there is an enormous selection of materials to be considered—law and china silk, challis, linen tulle, bloom linen, serge, velvet, crepe, pretone chintz, madras, flannel, bobinet, scrim, cheesecloth, unbleached sheeting, and dotted Swiss. All can be used with good effect in the right surroundings. In the picture are shown very attractive summer-looking windows that are suited to a breakfast or sitting room and are especially dainty as well as practical.

The long lattice window is simply decorated with curtains and valance of soft white muslin, edged with a full trim and having a band of cherry-colored ribbon run thru the hem of the muslin above the fringe. The same ribbon is in the top of the valance border and thru the straps with which the curtains are caught back. The ribbon can, of course, be varied so as to indicate in with the general color scheme of the room, but the idea of the color showing thru the transparency of the muslin hem is both effective and unusual.

The second sketch shows curtains of unbleached sheeting finished with an artistic appliqued border in Chinese blue, the design being also reproduced in the valance border on top. The sash cords are in the same color scheme as the tones of the unbleached cotton and the whole scheme is restful, practical and in good taste.

In the woman who prides herself on her home and has skillful fingers need not expend many dollars on window coverings.

Girl a Nervous Wreck At Eleven Years of Age

Was Tired Out, Pale and Sallow—Would Tremble Till the Bed Would Shake—Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured Her.

In the schools of today there is found an alarming proportion of weak, nervous children who have little chance of developing into healthy, useful members of the community. The assistance of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to help them over a trying period and set them on their feet.

There would be fewer wearing glasses if the nerves were invigorated, less irritation in the school, and more robust health and a greater pressure to succeed. This letter bears cheering message to parents whose children are weak, puny and nervous. It shows you how to get the best results.

My little sister at eleven years of age became nervous, irritable and seemed all tired out. She had no appetite, was listless and drew, and her complexion grew pale and sallow. Finally she had to keep her bed, and have somebody with her all the time. She was afraid of everything, would get excited and tremble till the bed would shake. As she seemed to get this worse under the doctor's treatment, mother decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

After a few days improvement was noticeable, and it was wonderful to see how much brighter and stronger she grew week by week. She used ten boxes altogether, and they cured her. She got fat and rosy, and went to school every day with a good appetite. She never seemed to have before. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a wonderful medicine. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to anyone for it was indeed wonderful what it did for her.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, $1.50 for three boxes. Sold by all druggists, or by mail, to Geo. J. Mason, Boston, U.S.A.

It is one of those small mysteries of life how people will move into a house and put up with papers that are altogether distasteful, endure them probably for a couple of years and spend any amount of money in little dabs and drabs trying to make their hangings, carpets and furniture fit in, instead of making up their minds for all and having the walls done at their own expense if they cannot persuade the landlord to do the work for them.

The color of a room means much, not only to the sense of beauty, but actually to our mental state. It is now an acknowledged fact that we are affected by color; that red has an irritating, exciting effect on many persons; that green, and some shades of blue, are restful and soothing; that a green den opening into a room is a part of a whole and not a complete identity, and that consequently it must be considered in its relation to the rest of the house. Looking into this way, we will not have a red hall and a pink parlor with a yellow dining room and signs in the paper cause a room to look very much smaller than it is, and a design that has a perpendicular stripe will lend a height to the ceiling. Dark paperings, too, have the effect of making the room seem smaller.

Many people who seem to have excellent taste and whose individual rooms are papered, draped and furnished in a way that is irrefragable, are apparently that each room is a part of a whole and not a complete identity, and that consequently it must be considered in its relation to the rest of the house. Looking into this way, we will not have a red hall and a pink parlor with a yellow dining room and signs in the paper cause a room to look very much smaller than it is, and a design that has a perpendicular stripe will lend a height to the ceiling. Dark paperings, too, have the effect of making the room seem smaller.

The window hangings are really a part of the wall covering and the porcelains must also be considered in the same category. A room is often made marred by the curtains, so they should come in for careful consideration. If the window faces a kind of light, it will have cream or egg hangings so as to soften the light a little; if it is shaded, the curtains should be white, so that even if they can be seen to get every possible scrap of brightness; and for the colored hangings let them harmonize with the wallpaper, but be of a slightly darker shade.

In the making of curtains there is an enormous selection of materials to be considered—law and china silk, challis, linen tulle, bloom linen, serge, velvet, crepe, pretone chintz, madras, flannel, bobinet, scrim, cheesecloth, unbleached sheeting, and dotted Swiss. All can be used with good effect in the right surroundings. In the picture are shown very attractive summer-looking windows that are suited to a breakfast or sitting room and are especially dainty as well as practical.

The long lattice window is simply decorated with curtains and valance of soft white muslin, edged with a full trim and having a band of cherry-colored ribbon run thru the hem of the muslin above the fringe. The same ribbon is in the top of the valance border and thru the straps with which the curtains are caught back. The ribbon can, of course, be varied so as to indicate in with the general color scheme of the room, but the idea of the color showing thru the transparency of the muslin hem is both effective and unusual.

The second sketch shows curtains of unbleached sheeting finished with an artistic appliqued border in Chinese blue, the design being also reproduced in the valance border on top. The sash cords are in the same color scheme as the tones of the unbleached cotton and the whole scheme is restful, practical and in good taste.

In the woman who prides herself on her home and has skillful fingers need not expend many dollars on window coverings.

It was a gay and frivolous party that gathered one evening to do honor to a number of artists, and soon the talk turned into the channel of art. First Artist: The other day I painted a board in imitation of marble with such accuracy that on being thrown into the water it immediately sank to the bottom. Second Artist: Paugh! Yesterday I hung my thymometer on the top of my portrait of a city alderman was so lifelike it had to be shaved twice a week!

"You see," confessed Bella, rather shamefacedly, "I'm a bit of a novice at cooking. Tell me, do you make cakes from a recipe or a pattern?" "Hullo!" she exclaimed. "What are you going to make?" "Some cakes," replied the young wife, proudly. "But why have you got out those fashion papers as well as the cookery books?" "You see," confessed Bella, rather shamefacedly, "I'm a bit of a novice at cooking. Tell me, do you make cakes from a recipe or a pattern?" "Hullo!" she exclaimed. "What are you going to make?" "Some cakes," replied the young wife, proudly. "But why have you got out those fashion papers as well as the cookery books?"

"Can I look after your baggage for you, mister?" The redness of rage mounted to the cheeks of the bride as she turned indignantly on her spouse. "There, Bob, did you hear that?" she demanded. "If you ain't goin' to thrash me for referin' to me like that you ain't no man!"

BASEBALL Pirates Victims Of No-Hit Game ROWING College Eights Today on Hudson HORSES Still Race for Big Purses in England

LEAFS UNABLE TO PLAY AT MONTREAL Rain Stopped Second Game of Series—Birmingham on the Job—Gossip.

The Richmond International League club has traded Arman, pitcher, and Kircher, utility infielder, to the Rocky Mount, N.C., club for Pitcher Leake. Leake materially aided Rocky Mount in winning the Virginia League pennant last season, and is going fine this season. He will report at Richmond Monday.

The management of the Toronto baseball club is satisfied that Joe Birmingham is the right man in the right spot and he is with the club in Montreal now. Bues joins the club today and an outfielder and at least one pitcher will be secured for Joe to climb fast and make his critics feel bad. Outfielder Burch is right again and will arrive in Montreal this morning to play if needed.

Bill Ritter, the ex-Leaf, weakened in the seventh inning and Buffalo showed over three runs and noed out Rochester. The International League had two games postponed yesterday. The National League had one postponed.

Hughes, the former Rochester pitcher, is the first big league twirler of 1916 to register a no hit-no run game. He had the Pirates popping up twice all year. Today afternoon and struck out seven batters, only passing two men. The great House Wagner whiffed twice. It is needless to say that Boston scored a shutout.

It was Eddie Collins' day. The White Sox star supplies three hits, including a two-bagger and a triple, and scored twice himself. He tripled in the 8th with the score tied and scored the winning run over the Red Sox.

Nabors, one of Connie Mack's recruits, outpitched the veteran Jean Dubuc, but Detroit won. Philadelphia made five errors and they all helped the Tigers.

The Cleveland-New York game yesterday was called in the fourth inning, owing to darkness from a coming storm.

KILLED IN ACTION. The relatives of Pte. Fred Stoker, No. 425115, 56th Battalion, Canadian Overseas Force, 649 Ossington avenue, were officially notified by the militia department at Ottawa yesterday, that he was killed in action on May 24th.

First of Season No Runs—No Hits BOSTON, June 16.—Hughes pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Pittsburgh yesterday, the Braves winning, 2 to 0. The Boston twirler had great control, striking out seven. Wagner fanned twice, the last time ending the game. Most of the time the visitors hit the ball into the air. Score: Boston, 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 0—2 7 1. Pittsburgh, 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 0 0. Batteries—Kantlehn, Harmon and Schmidt; Hughes and Gandy. All other National League games postponed.

At Chicago.—Eddie Collins delivered the blow which gave Chicago a victory over Boston. The score was 7 to 4. Collins made three hits, including a double and a triple, driving in two runs and scoring two himself. EXPORT DEMAND FOR WHEAT OFF

Prices Showed Marked Heaviness in Yesterday's Trading at Chicago.
BETTER CROP OUTLOOK
Weather Extremely Favorable of Late for Autumn Sown Wheat.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Bearish sentiment regarding the harvest outlook and the export situation forced wheat today down to new low prices for the 1916 crop. The market closed nervous, 1/4 to 1/2 off, with July at $1.01 1/2 and September at $1.03 1/2. Corn finished 1/4 down to 1/4. Soy beans varying from 1/4 to 1/4 decline to $1.25. Minimum prices of the day were reached on wheat in the last half-hour, when the market was sensitive to the effect of a comprehensive review from a leading source, indicating that the weather had been extremely favorable of late for autumn-sown wheat, and that in consequence the damage from Hessian fly expected. The source also said that conditions for the spring crop had been uniformly favorable, except in the Red River Valley, where the rainfall had been over-abundant. Sales of 1,000,000 bushels for export were made at Duluth as a result of the late breaking prices, but the fact was not confirmed in time to have any influence on the market.

Demand Falls Off.
Discouragement over the apparent lack of export demand for what handicapped the bulls to a serious extent from the fact that the decline in ocean freight rates had not seemed to cause any increase of shipment from the United States. In this connection, talk was current that the outcome would be a diversion of vessel tonnage to South America and Australia. Increased purchases to arrive from the country weakened corn in the last part of the session. Earlier the market showed a good deal of strength, the consequence of some buying for the season. Oats were governed chiefly by the action of other grain. Crop reports remained favorable, but it was said dry, warm weather would now be a benefit. Drains on home supply were expected to be based on improved cash trade, lent support to provisions.

SCHOONERS TO CROSS OCEAN.

The schooner Charlie Marshall and J. B. Kitchen, belonging to Geo. Plunkett of Cobourg, have been chartered by Montreal firms to cross the ocean to the United States. They are at present at Kingston being filled up with salt water crew will be in charge. Since the war broke out cargo ships get for their boats. The cost of carrying these cargoes will run up in the thousands.

Domestic grapes came in very freely, some of them being quite choice and others rather soft, ranging in price from 10c to 16c per box. Asparagus is coming in fairly well and the demand is so good it keeps prices at $1.40 to $1.50 per 100 lb. basket. How to Make Your Diet Fit Your Age and Your Needs

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University)

YOU eat to live efficiently in good health and spirits. To eat only to live, or to live only to eat, are the two sins of human nature.

The grandmother or the mother "who has reared half a dozen and more children" in the old-fashioned way is content with the old. That a diet, a mode of procedure, a method that brings a child to adult life 90 per cent. better off than was done in the old way is ready to hand seems to have little influence upon most people.

Man's food is composed of lean meats, milk, cream, green vegetables, non-green vegetables, fruits, minerals, water, starches and sugars in cereals and bread.

Such a combined diet is best, but comes and meat or bread for breakfast, sandwiches and soups for lunch, and a diet of vegetables, tea and milk for supper, will, to be sure, keep you alive—but incapable of any superiority over your fellow-man.

The physiology of the human creature demands a better mixture than the average person carelessly shovels into his gullet.

To gulp down soups, fluids, custards, creams and other soft foods mechanically is to deprive the body of the benefits of food. The cleanliness which hard food bestows.

When solid foods are chewed and sound by the teeth, they act much the same as tooth powders and tooth brushes. They cleanse all the parts.

Study of Foods Needed.

How often do you or the custodian of your table consider that a meal must be fitted as snugly to your age, occupation, physical strength, social conditions, habits, the climate and the season of the year as a key to a lock?

Seldom is a cook a student of books on dietetics and physiology. She rather does "as mothers used to do" or "as the neighbors do."

Digestion occurs in the mouth as well as in the stomach and intestines. The latter have no teeth and are very sensitive to emotional shocks. Good cheer and laughter during a meal are as beneficial to digestion as food and sleep after it.

Digestion depends upon too many circumstances to say of them "what is good for the digestion." Some foods are more easily absorbed in the morning, others at night.

Human food must be made up of from 10 to 25 per cent. of water and the rest proteins, fats, sugars, starches and minerals. Any ration without proteins is incomplete. Sugar, fat and starch—these contain nitrogen—may keep you alive, but you will be a paltry specimen.

Meat contains from 17 to 25 per cent. of water, cheese 25 to 35 per cent., and peas and other leguminous vegetables about 25 per cent.

Starches and sugars are found for the most part in plants. White bread contains about 5 per cent. of these

DECORATION AND RELIGION

How Well You Can See the Preacher, and How Religious You Feel Depends a Good Deal on Where You Happen to Sit.

What an Explosion Really Is

The following definitions of explosions and explosives were prepared by A. Marshall, author of an important book on explosives. As they were primary to be included in a technical work, he sent them to the editor of Nature.

Explosion.—When gas or vapor is released so suddenly as to cause a loud noise an explosion is said to occur, as, for instance, the explosion of a steam boiler or a cylinder of compressed gas. Great and increasing use is made of explosive processes in gas, petrol and oil engines for driving machinery of all kinds. In these engines the material that explodes is a mixture of air with combustible gas, vapor or finely comminuted liquid and solid particles. In the explosion these are suddenly converted into water vapor and the oxides of carbon, which later are gaseous.

Explosive.—An explosive is a solid or liquid substance or mixture of substances which is liable on the application of heat or a blow to a small very short interval of time into other more stable substances largely or entirely gaseous. A considerable amount of heat is also invariably evolved and consequently there is a flame.

Gas Evolution.—That evolution of gas (or vapor) is essential in an explosion is rendered evident by considering the reaction. This consists of a mixture of a metallic oxide, generally oxide of iron, with aluminium powder. When suitably ignited the aluminium is converted into oxide and the iron or other metal is set free in a very short interval of time with the evolution of an enormous quantity of heat, but there is no explosion. It is evident, therefore, that no gas is evolved that the reaction can be used, as it is, for local heating and welding.

Heat Liberation.—It is also an essential condition that heat should be evolved in an explosive reaction, otherwise the absorption of energy due to the work done by the explosion would slow down the reaction until it ceased, unless heat were supplied from without. Ammonium nitrate, for instance, readily decomposes into carbon dioxide, ammonia and water, but in so doing it absorbs heat; consequently the reaction is much too slow to be explosive. Ammonium nitrate, on the other hand, is decomposed into oxygen, nitrogen and water with the evolution of heat and is consequently liable to explode. A violent impulse is required to start the explosion, but once it is started it propagates the explosion, unless the conditions be such that the energy is dispersed more rapidly than it is liberated.

Sensitiveness.—Another essential for an explosive is that the reaction shall not set in until an impulse is applied. If the reaction set spontaneously, it is obvious that its energy cannot be utilized in the form of an explosion.

VELOCITY OF EXPLOSION.—The heat and gas evolved are the two principal factors which govern the power of an explosive, i.e., the amount of work it can do in the way of displacing objects. But the time taken by the explosion is also a matter of great importance. The rate of explosion is measured by making a column of the explosive, confining it, if necessary, in a metal tube, and measuring the time that the explosive wave takes to travel the known distance. In black powder and similar nitrate mixtures the velocity of explosion is only a few hundred metres a second, but with modern high explosives the velocity of detonation is from two to seven thousand metres a second. This naturally makes them much more of burning than of explosion. The gunpowder type are used when earth or soft rock is to be blasted or when the material must not be broken up too much. Propellants for use in firearms are also of the burning type. They must be slower than gunpowder. They are not exploded by heat, but by a powerful flame and should then burn by concentric layers. The rate of burning increases with the pressure in the gun, but for completely gelatinizing powders it is less than a metre a second.

THOUGHTLESS.

"Your honor," said the arrested chauffeur, "I tried to warn the man, but he wouldn't listen."

"Then why didn't you slacken speed when you saw the car was in a dangerous position?"

"A light seemed to dawn on the prisoner," says Case and Comment, "and he answered, 'I never thought of that.'"

The Amateur Gardener

While looking at a neighbor's vegetable garden the other day I was tempted to say, as Polly did in Charles Dudley Warner's famous classic, that "the poles have come up beautifully." What restrained me was the remembrance that the beans in my own garden had not then come up at all while by looking carefully at the foot of every bean pole in my neighbor's yard I could see that there really were beans there, even if they were not so clearly visible as the array of poles.

If all the beans that were planted in my own garden should come up, the whole place would have to be converted into a bean patch. Never having planted a vegetable garden before, I was altogether ignorant as to the number of beans I should sow in a row; and not wishing to be miserly, I scattered them as freely as petunia seeds. When the time for trans-

Tomatoes: Picking and Marketing

As soon as the tomato plants become established cultivation should be begun, and should be continued as often as necessary through the growing season. Where the plants are on stakes cultivation can be carried on later in the season. It is also a good plan after the second cultivation to go between the rows with a celery banker and throw the soil toward the plants. This enables the plants to take a firm hold on the soil.

The time to pick tomatoes depends upon how far they are to be transported to market. The riper the fruit the finer the flavor and also the softer it gets. Tomatoes that are to be shipped are picked when they show the first red tint of ripening. They should be picked at a stage that permits them to be put on the market in a firm, solid condition. The reaction shall not set in until an impulse is applied. If the reaction set spontaneously, it is obvious that its energy cannot be utilized in the form of an explosion.

It does not pay to put on the market soft and overripe tomatoes, for they cannot be sold and they only go to the dump. In addition they lead to dissatisfaction between the producer and the commission merchant. Many producers find fault with the commission merchant and charge him with being dishonest when instead of getting a check for such tomatoes they get a freight bill; in reality the fault is their own.

Too much care cannot be exercised in culling the fruits, in order to put on the market only those of the proper degree of ripeness. This is especially important during seasons when there is a large crop. The good ones will sell at a good price, but if it is hard to get rid of soft or otherwise poor tomatoes at any price. Two or three rotten tomatoes in a basket will ruin the entire lot. A customer that once gets a basket of rotten tomatoes seldom comes back.

In order to pick them at the proper stage the vines should be gone over at frequent intervals, in warm weather especially the fruits soften rapidly and great care must be exercised in culling out the soft ones. In case the tomatoes are grown on plants that lie on the ground all mud and dirt should be carefully wiped off with a dry cloth. The market does not want dirty fruit. Just after a rainy season there will be a lot of work required to clean the fruit, which would be eliminated by growing the crop on stakes. At the same time all stems should be carefully removed and the fruit carefully graded. The better fruits can be sold planting comes I shall either have to ede all my flower borders and sow dwarf stringless beans or start a vegetable mission and distribute bean plants among the needy.

Heretofore have had neither the room nor the desire for a real vegetable garden, and my interest has been solely given to floriculture; but this year I am cultivating beans and lettuce in place of dahlias and nasturtiums. The former took up a great deal of room and ran almost entirely to leaves, while the latter, for the last two or three years, have produced nothing but horrid little black bugs. The spot where the dahlias usually stood, with the nasturtiums in front of them, looked remarkably big after Nicotiana had spaded it up for me, and as a kitchen garden it appeared to have great possibilities, besides being in full view from the kitchen windows.

planted at a much higher price if they are planted in a garden.

The variety of tomato grown is a great factor in determining the profits. For market you want a tomato of good size, firm, smooth, rather globose in shape, ripening evenly all over and up to the stem. Firm tissues and holding its size until the end of the season. The plant itself should be resistant to disease and should crop heavily.

There are many good varieties of tomatoes on the market and the variety should be chosen according to the grower's particular conditions is the one to plant. In fact, it will be found profitable to start with a good variety and then select to take a firm hold on the soil.

In order to improve on it since earliness is such an important factor the plants that produce the largest amount of early fruits should be picked with a stake and be left unpicked, for seed purposes. After these plants have "bleached" several specimens of fruit, they should be carefully compared as to the characteristics that a good market tomato ought to have.

For the home crop of tomatoes earliness is not important; in fact it is not desirable to have it come until after the first frost. For this reason the plants before they are set in the field, do not require so much handling. The seed should be sown under a glass-covered frame as soon as the ground can be worked outdoors in the spring.

In order to lengthen the season of the late crop as much as possible all tomatoes that are full grown should be picked at the first sign of frost and put in piles and covered, where they will continue to ripen. Thus they can be sold rather late in the season.

TO JOHN WALKER AND OTHERS

Your inquiry regarding peonies has been asked by several other gardeners, and I think has been answered before. Your peonies sometimes will bloom the second or third year, but often they will not bloom until the fourth or fifth year. Each spring there will be several small buds on the plants, and you will be counting the number of flowers you are expecting only to be disappointed when they fail to open out. All you can do is to take good care of the plants, and when the buds do open out you will be well rewarded for your wait of two, three or four years for bloom.

Bush fruits such as raspberries, blackberries, gooseberries, etc., in small gardens where it is possible to use the hose, will be benefited by frequent waterings, also liquid manure

CHILDREN'S THEATRE AIDS DELINQUENTS

Educational Motion Pictures in Special Playhouse Suggested for Toronto.

BY HARRY H. JOHNSON.

Will Toronto shortly have a Children's Moving Picture Theatre? At the present time a number of children's welfare workers are busily engaged in this city in investigating the contributory causes of juvenile delinquency and one committee is at present engaged in making a report on the moving picture theatre in its relationship to this important subject.

In not a few cases an investigation has resulted in a special theatre being organized in which the films are of a nature, to eliminate questionable scenes and are chosen with a view of educating and amusing the child mind with suitable pictures.

The organization of such a theatre is a comparatively simple matter and requires only the co-operation of the manager of one of the up-to-date moving picture theatres with a small group of interested workers who would make it a "hobby."

Special Programs.

This Children's Theatre, while putting on the regular shows at the regular hours or at other times, such as Saturday mornings, and in many cases where an up-town theatre is used special programs are given during the slack hours between four and six o'clock in the afternoon. Special arrangements are made in the way of workers and a matron to look after the small charges, and the program of films suitable to the child is given.

There are numbers of these theatres in New York, Boston, Brooklyn and elsewhere. In Amherst, N.S., for over three years a very successful Children's Theatre was operated. Under the leadership of John Bradford, the community work secretary, the exclusive use of a theatre seating six hundred was obtained for Saturday mornings. A corps of workers from among the school teachers and young women college students of the town was organized and a matron secured.

The program consisted of one children's story, such as one of the well-known fairy tales, one scenic or travel film, an acceptable comedy film, which the same was procurable, and one educational film, on nature study or similar subject. Special music was provided and a story teller told the story of the film before it was shown. From time to time mass songs, folk games and folk dances in costume by the children, were held and proved very successful. The ordinary program of the theatre lasted about an hour and a half.

Perhaps the greatest difficulty up to the present time in the conduct of the theatres is the lack of understanding of the psychology of the child mind by the film manufacturers and the tales themselves, will never grow old and repeated showing will only endear them to the minds of the people and children. At the present time, however, after the films have been once around the circuit they are difficult to doubtless be overcome as the number of these theatres is warranted, by the demand, in taking a greater interest in this particular branch of the business.

At the present time there are a number of organizations, such as the Bureau of Economy in Washington, and several periodicals that regularly publish a list of films that would be very useful for such a theatre.

Toronto, thru the playgrounds, has done some work along the line of children's programs in one or two of the recreation centres, by showing on various occasions films that have been especially chosen for their young members. In Montreal, for several years the community department of the Y.M.C.A., conducted moving picture exhibitions in the parks, in which health, city betterment and education films were featured, together with good drama and comedy. The machine driven on a wagon and a regular series was run in five parks a week.

From the view point of the moving picture theatre manager the Children's Theatre is a business getter and not only has he the special performances, looked after by a committee, but the children prefer to save their money for their own matinees, and in that way he does not have a large percentage of his seats at the evening performances filled with children who usually come early and stay late, and at half the price occupy seats that he might sell several times during the evening at full price.

PROMINENT PEOPLE IN NEW PHOTOPLAY LEAGUE

One of the outgrowths of the recent meeting of the delegates of the Photo-play League, which was held in New York City, was the formation of the Photo-play League and the appointing of the advisory committee.

At their first official meeting held at the Seventh Regiment armory, recently, the members of the league, who are scattered throughout the Pallas release, "Davy Crockett" was shown as an example of the modern high grade picture.

In commenting on Mr. Farnum's work in "Davy Crockett" as well as "David Garrick" and "Frank Lincoln," the lecturer of the evening, said: "Were all motion pictures of the tone and quality of these two pictures which have no connection with any producing or exhibiting organization."

ONLY ON THE SURFACE.

Chairman Burnett of the committee on immigration was talking indignantly about Japanese picture brides, 1800 of whom entered America last year.

"These proxy or picture weddings," said Chairman Burnett, "look very romantic on their face, but at the bottom they are a sad enough business."

"They remind me a little of the young fellow on the pier who stood on an ash barrel waving his handkerchief frantically at a departing ship."

"I don't know," said a friend, looking up at the chap on the barrel. "You've waved enough; come on."

"No, I can't panted the waver, and he flapped his handkerchief harder than he could."

"Can't why not?"

"She's got a field glass."

BLUNT. SURE THING.

Jones' opinion of himself as a golfer was very much greater than his skill warranted.

Recently he was invited to play on a certain famous Scottish ground, as a visitor. Armed to the teeth with clubs of all sorts and sizes, he set off, and followed by a caddy, proceeded to play.

He buried his ball in every bunker, gully and bit of rough grass on the landscape; and muttered naughtily: "After half an hour of it he turned to his silent caddy."

"Really," he murmured, indignantly, "this is the most difficult course I have ever played on."

"How did ye ken?" replied the lad, in quiet scorn. "Ye havena played on it yet."

Little Stories Told in Homely Rhyme

Charles M. Schwab said at a dinner: "New York's old-fashioned nowadays to believe that crookedness pays, in any way more crooked advertisements. We have no more crooked millionaires. They have no more crooked jokes. They're old-fashioned."

"What sort of a chap is your fiancé?"

"A girl was asked last week."

"Oh," she answered, "he's the most honorable, upright, generous, godly fellow in the world."

"Goodness, you'll starve to death; what this girl would have been cynical; told in the past; but the answer she got last week was:

"Then one of these fine days you'll be living in a white Fifth Avenue house with seven million dollars overlooking Central Park."

THE WAY TO WIN

Copyright, 1916, by the author, Otto F. Wood.

JIM Griggs, a youth of Pinkville, was jacking 'tother night. Said he: "I ain't no braggart but I think I'm passin' bright, and yet it seems I'm in a rut. I just can't get ahead, while Henry Johnson's makin' good. He's lucky on the dead." Old Peleg Lee just gave a grunt and took a fair-size chew. Said he: "Well, Jim, I'll tell you why that feller's beatin' you. I've got no plan to make you mad—no plan like that at all; but Henry's always pitchin', Jim, with somethin' on the ball." Friend Reader, Peleg Lee was wise. A mouthful Peleg said. It ain't luck that boosts your game and makes you forge ahead. Said Fortune's just a myth, I think, so far as luck's concerned. Each dollar that I ever got by hard work was earned. A lazy fellow bound to find he's in a rut some day. He'll kick about his luck a lot; he'll have a heap to say about the breaks the game will give to others. That's a gail. To win, just keep on pitching, friend, with somethin' on the ball.

SCENE FROM WILLIAM FOX MILLION DOLLAR STUDIOS

EXPECT TO BE IN NEW STUDIOS BY NEXT FALL

Work Well Under Way on Fox Million-Dollar Building at Corona, Long Island.

The nothing has been heard of the big William Fox studios at Corona, Long Island, in recent weeks, this does not mean a cessation of activity there. This work is well under way, and the entire Fox producing organization in the east expects to be installed in its Long Island film city by the end of the present summer.

This plant, as previously described, is to be the largest single film company installation for manufacturing purposes in the entire world. It will employ an enormous staff and shelter several thousand employees of the corporation.
