SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS

Isobel Stormont, daughter of Sir David Stormont, a wealthy Scotch country gentleman, disappears without leaving the slightest trace. She was a quiet, retiring girl, with only one distinguishing feature—beautiful Titian hair, which had been a mark of the Stormont family for generations.

Guided by a grayer, he finds Isobel, almost dead in an abandoned dwelling. Her clothes have been changed, and when she recovers, she seems to be another girl. All memory of her experiences has been wiped out by the privations she has undergone, and she begins a new life. Her character is quite changed, and she affectionately captivates Basil, whose affection for her hitherto has been more of the cousinly kind.

In one of the pockets of her gown is found an old Bible, which Sir David recognizes as the one which he had given to her. Various stories of the girl's experiences are circulated, and attract the attention of Evelyn Ashe, a fortune hunter.

He had but newly returned to Stormont after a few days absence. Having been assured that there was no cause for anxiety in his cousin's condition, Isobel had left him leave parents and child alone to father. The "business" which he pleaded as a reason for departure was no more pretexts, as that hard-worked word frequently, but he experienced a most unusual difficulty in giving his mind to it, and his agent found his employer very pre-occupied.

As she spoke the sweet young blood came and went in her face like the aerial chase of sun and shadow. "But it has all come back again—come to stay—and I—I am here, too," said Conyers, with the blundering commonplaces and the constrained laugh in which overcharged feeling often finds relief.

The light left them as the sun-glint vanishes from rippling water. "Oh, don't ask me to think," she said, smiling pitifully. "No, there is nothing. It is as if my life began that moment when I opened my eyes in the hall. It is like being born quite grown up, trying to smile again, for a blind man having his eyes opened, only the blind man would have heard of the wonderful world, and made his way for and through the years; but I—I awoke at once to that!"

From the sheltered south terrace the Italian garden, with its formal beds, its quaintly trimmed shrubs, its fountains and urns and statues, sloped down to the river, which sparkled by broad and swift and shallow, a contrast from the black, sullen depths of the Alder Pool. Here, when there was sunlight at all, it seemed to linger, and to lighten the alien, exotic charm of the old-world garden, which on this placid, tranquil autumn afternoon seemed steeped in alambrous peace.

At the farther end of the terrace some warm-lined rugs were spread, and a basket chair or two, heaped with cushions, stood suggestively about. Conyers glanced at them first, expecting to see a slim, languid figure reclining in one, but they were empty, and Isobel was standing straight and tall beside the mossy balustrade, and with her head turned away, was gazing out across the river.

Some slight sound broke her dream. She turned, and stood for a second like some startled sylvan creature, poised for instant flight, then the gray eyes, clear as sunlight, water, met his. As there flashed into then a quick radiance as of fulfilled expectancy, the young man's eyes were opened, and he knew—knew what that vague, sweet turmoil of unrest had meant, for now he knew what love meant. Now he knew that he loved this girl, who was no longer his little cousin, to be cherished with a placid kindness, but a young divinity newly revealed, and claiming his homage, a claim which soul and spirit and body to the inmost fibre recognized as just and right and rose up joyfully to greet. He had been blind—now he saw!

In that strange, sweet delirium of the spirit and the senses Basil had much ado not to claim his former rights—rights which had never yet been waived—and take her in his arms then and there as his promised wife; but true love is reverent, and now he stood in awe before the girl whom he had known all his life, but whom today he seemed to be seeing for the first time. Good God! how had he been so blind—so dull—so dead! Was he the same man—was this the same woman? No, whether he realized it yet or not, it was not the old easy-going, light-hearted Basil Conyers who made a hasty step forward and exclaimed in a shaken voice: "You know me, Isobel!"

"You must be my cousin, Basil, I think; but I do know you—I have seen you before."

"Where? When?" cried Basil. Had the sudden sight of him really awakened that sleeping memory? "I know now that it was your face I saw first of all, before even I saw my mother's," said Isobel, softly. "It was like waking and falling asleep again, or a sudden, vivid dream. I saw the hall quite plainly. I knew it again as soon as I saw it afterward; then I saw you, you were bending over me—you did not speak, but my mother did, and then it all vanished again."

As she spoke the sweet young blood came and went in her face like the aerial chase of sun and shadow. "But it has all come back again—come to stay—and I—I am here, too," said Conyers, with the blundering commonplaces and the constrained laugh in which overcharged feeling often finds relief.

An exception to this rule, however, is proven in this exquisite costume of printed chiffon combined with taffeta silk in Pompadour design. EARL GREY IN HALIFAX

In Address to Canadian Club He Advocates Colonial Aid to Imperial Naval Defence. Halifax, N. S., Aug. 8.—Earl Grey made an excellent impression on the members of the Canadian Club by his address at a luncheon given in honor of his excellency today, the most largely attended luncheon in the club's history.

He told the members of the great work for the empire that had been wrought by the fathers of confederation, of the noble accomplishment which then in Australia, and on the bearing of it all on the great problem of imperial unity.

His excellency spoke of the sacrifices that had been made by the United Kingdom, by Canada and by the southern dominions beyond the seas, one-half of the empire at large, and the imperial idea, and he alluded pointedly and forcibly to the share yet to be taken up by Canada and the rest of Greater Britain, particularly in the matter of naval defence.

Speaking of sacrifice which one part of the empire may have to make for another, his excellency said that he felt proud to belong to that small portion of the British Empire which considered it a privilege to carry the whole burden of the naval defence of the empire so long as they were able. He warned them that, with the population of Germany fifty per cent, and of the United States 100 per cent, above that of the United Kingdom, it was obviously impossible for the people of the United Kingdom to keep command of the seas unaided for ever.

The sacrifices that Canada made for the empire were imperial preference and, more recently, the postal regulations which made it possible to bring British mails and printed matter to Canada at a lower rate, the expense being borne by Canada. A result was already shown in the fact that the mails from the United Kingdom for the month of May were double those of the preceding May, while for June they were three times as much as they were for June last year.

Speaking of the transatlantic mails, Earl Grey said it was a standing cause of amazement to him that the people on both sides of the Atlantic should have tolerated for so long this colossal imperial blunder which offers a most excellent aid to the enemy. COMMENT ON THE STOCK MARKET

THE HAPPY HALF HOUR

"An excellent show!" "The best I've seen yet!" "And they are wonderfully clear and steady," and many similar remarks were uttered by many of the large audiences present at the Happy Half Hour yesterday to witness the first performance of the musical comedy, "Picturess Canada shows scenes in Quebec, Montreal, St. Lawrence River, the West, and in Banff Park, and it is a splendid picture, which evoked a grand ovation. The Oxford-Cambridge boat race, which took place March 16, this year, shows the start, scenes during the race, the finish, the winning crew and the thousands of spectators that lined the Thames. AT THE NICKEL

The largest assemblage of the whole season saw the Nickel's new programme last evening, and the afternoon crowd was above the average for an opening day. Another film that took well with the thousands was A Victim of Science, which unfolded a tale of betrothal, misfortune, unfaithfulness and suicide. This is a high-class French picture, as truthful and finely acted as if the words were actually spoken.

Surveyor Generalweeney of Moncton was in the city last evening on his way home from Fredericton. He says the stampage receipts this year will be about $10,000 in excess of last year's. It is possible that a law may be passed to prohibit motor boats on rivers or lakes where game is hunted. It is claimed by some that the Indians are frightened away by the motor craft.

There has been a quick response to the announcement made a few days ago of the big Mid-summer Suit Sale by J. N. Harvey, in the Opera House Block. Read his ad. on page 4 of today's issue. This sale means genuine bargains for anyone in need of suits for any season's wear. Stores open tonight till 8 o'clock; Saturday till 11 p. m.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON EXCURSION.

GREAT SNAP IN SEWING MACHINES.

One of the most interesting announcements to the ladies made by M. R. A. Ltd. for some time is the hurry of sewing machine bargains told about in the advertisement in this issue. The machines handled by this reputable house are undoubtedly the most improved on the market and scores of users in this city and throughout the maritime provinces will attest to this fact.

THE HAPPY HALF HOUR

"An excellent show!" "The best I've seen yet!" "And they are wonderfully clear and steady," and many similar remarks were uttered by many of the large audiences present at the Happy Half Hour yesterday to witness the first performance of the musical comedy, "Picturess Canada shows scenes in Quebec, Montreal, St. Lawrence River, the West, and in Banff Park, and it is a splendid picture, which evoked a grand ovation. Slave's Love is a rich and gorgeous hand-colored picture of Oriental life, and the character are richly and picturesquely costumed. The Oxford-Cambridge boat race, which took place March 16, this year, shows the start, scenes during the race, the finish, the winning crew and the thousands of spectators that lined the Thames. I Must Forgive is a Danish story of strong dramatic interest. Arrah-Wenna, beautifully illustrated, was sung by Le Domino Rouge, assisted by Harry B. Le Roy, and both singers received great applause. The improvements made in the seating arrangements, and the picture being raised two feet, has made every seat a good one. Those who have not seen the present bill should do so, as it is a very fine one.

AT THE NICKEL

The largest assemblage of the whole season saw the Nickel's new programme last evening, and the afternoon crowd was above the average for an opening day. The new views gave eminent satisfaction, in fact applause of a whole-hearted character was showered upon the pictorial performers continuously, this being particularly true of the cowboy and the foot of two years who played such a pathetic part in the kinoscopic drama Lost on the Arizona Desert. Another film that took well with the thousands was A Victim of Science, which unfolded a tale of betrothal, misfortune, unfaithfulness and suicide. This is a high-class French picture, as truthful and finely acted as if the words were actually spoken.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Austin's big moving pictures, illustrated songs and specialties begin an engagement at the Opera House Monday afternoon next, Aug. 12th. There will be hourly performances, every afternoon and evening, affording all who attend the biggest show for their money ever offered. New films, new songs, and excellent music will be the attraction, while cleanliness and purity without vulgarity will be the motto. Don't fail to take your whole family to the opening.

ASBESTOS HORSESHOES

Asbestos horsehoes are an invention of a Honolulu blacksmith. There has long been a demand for such an article, it is said. Visitors to the volcano near Honolulu usually ride from the Volcano House down into the pit and across to the Halemanua pit on horse. But the heat underneath the floor of Kilauea has been increasing to such a degree that the horses' feet suffer, hence the need of non-heating-conducting shoes.

EARL GREY'S SPEECH. In his address before the Canadian Club at Halifax yesterday Earl Grey struck that high imperial note to which a response comes nowhere more quickly and heartily than in the maritime provinces.

Earl Grey uttered wholesome words of counsel and of warning when he pointed out that only at the heart of the Canadian people is sound, wholesome, honest and patriotic can they hope to make Canada a great nation.

Will Continue Hopeful. "One of the Fools" writes again to the St. John Star in criticism of the attitude of the Times regarding provincial politics.

A CRITIC ON CANADA

"The barrier between Canada and greatness is the adhesion to a dying empire and an obsolete form of government."

These are all products of the modern form of government to the south of us and it may be that Canada is somewhat deficient in these evidences of superior intelligence and the most highly developed state of society.

An altercation followed in which she was attacked by both Boyd and the woman. Her face was cut and she was generally used up. ALL UP NOW WITH CANADA

One of Hearst's Newspapers Becomes Caustic in Its Criticisms of Dominion.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A New York special says the American today contains an attack on Canada in the following editorial: "It will probably be very well for American and other investors to view with suspicion some of the magazine exploitation of Canada now in full progress. A glance from the laudatory article to the advertising pages, filled with cards of land boomers and townsite companies, explains the magazine enthusiasm about Canada, but hardly gives any solid basis for confidence and investments, least of all for emigration. "Canada has doubtless a very great future. That may be heartily conceded. Its inhabitable region, though narrowly limited by its climate, is fertile. It has abundant and undeveloped resources in mineral deposits and in timber. It has great wealth in fisheries and commerce. It has an industrious and intelligent population. It has great resources in land and productive soil. It will some day be a great, prosperous and powerful nation. But the significant fact is that while all its resources and potentials are available, it has been perfectly well known for years, and while for years all of us have been predicting its greatness, it does not stride along to realize our cordial prophecies. "What Canada really needs is not magazine exploitation, but a modern form of government. In this stage of the world's progress people do not migrate from one monarchy to another. While Canada has been developing so slowly new republics like Argentina have grown apace. "If Canada had been independent for the last twenty years she would now have a population of 20,000,000 instead of 6,000,000 and be one of the most prosperous and desirable of countries. The barrier between Canada and greatness is its adherence to a dying empire and an obsolete form of government."

GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE FAMILY

New York Broker Suicides Just Before His Insurance Lapsed
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—William S. Alley, stock broker, clubman, yachtsman and "cricketer" who in fortune, suspended from the Exchange, stood in the Larchmont Yacht Club parlor late Monday night and asked himself this question: "Is my life worth as much to me as ten thousand dollars to the wife I love?" Drawing a revolver he answered the question with a bullet through his brain. Had he delayed a week in committing suicide the wife would have lost $10,000 which now comes to her in insurance from her dead husband's exchange seat in Wall street.

VACATION SCHOOLS

Benefits Shown by the Season's Work of These Schools in Boston. (Boston Transcript.)
Five thousand children will finish their course in the vacation schools of this city tomorrow. For five weeks they have been instructed, interested amused and kept from harm's way in the quiet rooms where the more serious studies of the winter months are undertaken. Under the guidance of 175 teachers they have been in classes to learn sewing, dressmaking, millinery and basketry, besides nature lessons out of doors, gymnastics, music, card-making, construction, drawing and color work. Each child could choose the three he wished from this list and the fact that there was little falling off from the first week's attendance shows the general appreciation of what was offered. This closes the seventh year of vacation work in Boston. It was in May, 1900, that the School Committee received a communication from the Massachusetts Civic League, urging something of the kind be done, and on the following June the special committee reported that three schools would be opened, one in East Boston, one in the West End and one in Roxbury. This was done in June. From the first, the work has been highly satisfactory. No intemperate large figures are reported, but there has been a steady and normal growth of the plan which all educators agree in calling a wise one. Charles M. Lamprey, director of the vacation schools and also of the evening schools, in speaking of this summer's work, said he was much pleased with the attendance and the faithfulness of the teachers. The schools are limited in some ways on account of the lack of supplies. For example, the fine roof garden of the Washington School of the West End is absolutely bare of gymnastic equipment, when there should be ledgers, bars, trapeze and other apparatus. These, however, will probably be there and in other places where they are needed, in good time. The school gardens will be continued through August and then closed so that different districts may get all the advantage they offer for development of the children through play. One hundred and seventy-five more teachers were employed by Mr. Lamprey for this branch of the summer work and the average attendance has been seven thousand every afternoon since the opening July 8. The excursions to the country have been times of real delight to the city children, also the talks given by A. J. Aldrich of the American Humane Society, who has visited every school in turn. At the beginning of the summer Mr. Lamprey gave to each teacher and assistant a list of books and magazines which he prepared specially for the purpose of helping them in their own study of vacation school principles.

THE SANCTITY OF MATRIMONY

Dean of Chicago Divinity School Believes in Romantic Love.

CHATAUQUA, Aug. 8.—Present marriage and family conditions were scored as far below what they should be among Christians by Professor Shaker Matthews, dean of the University of Chicago Divinity School, in an address on "The Christian Conception of the Family" at Chatauqua Assembly. The easiness and frequency of divorce also came in for scathing rebuke. He declared also that courtship is being neglected. "Much of our current literature," he said, "shows a certain deterioration of the Christian idea of the family. Our literature is becoming anti-family. It is not so much that it has attempted to deny the legitimacy of the family, but it does minimize its sanctity. There is a tendency to replace the idea of romantic love, which gives beauty to life, with the old way of making love. I regret this because it is likely to break down our civilization and the sanctity of the family. Divorce is increasing with alarming rapidity. The conditions are much the same today as in the days of Jesus, when he forbade divorce, although I do not regret this because it is likely to break down our civilization and the sanctity of the family. There are many young men and women who are growing up with the idea that marriage, while it may not be simultaneously, at least may be successively polyandrous and polygamous. You hear of divorces because of the incompatibility of temper." "Is 'incompatibility of temper' possible in a Christian family? We fail to take our family relations with sufficient seriousness. We go into family relations with the same sangfroid that we go on a picnic."

A HASTY WEDDING

Commercial Man Meets, Meets and Weds a Girl in a Morning.
PALMYRA, Me., Aug. 8.—Constantine Lyman Abbott, a Boston travelling man, met Miss Anna May Fellows, of this place, at breakfast this morning, won her heart within the hour, drove to the station with a clergyman and the young woman's parents, brother and sister, was married on the train and arrived in Boston, 30 miles away, this afternoon, in time to keep an important business engagement. The wedding ceremony took place in three counties, Somerset, Waldo and Kennebec as the train sped on at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The attention of members of the Canadian Club is directed to the importance of securing their tickets before Tuesday for the luncheon to Earl Grey in Keitt's assembly rooms on Wednesday next. It is likely there will be a large attendance, and it is desirable that the number who will attend should be known on that day, so that arrangements can be completed. Tickets can be purchased at Scammell's restaurant, Charlotte street.

OTTAWA, AUG. 8.—(Special)—It is probable that Thanksgiving Day this year will be the last Thursday in October. Before the date is set by the government a deputation from the commercial travellers' association will be heard with respect to the association's request that Thanksgiving day be on Monday.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Her Majesty, Wilhelmina Helena Pauline Maria, Queen of the Netherlands and heiress to the immortal renown of the House of Orange, was born on August 31st, 1880, and inherited the crown of the Netherlands on November 23rd 1890, at the death of her father, King William III of the Orange dynasty. Queen Wilhelmina then being only ten years of age, she ruled her kingdom for a number of years through a regency and was strictly brought up by her mother, who trained the little princess according to the excellent ideals of the Court of Berlin. It was not until September 6th, 1898, that the princess or rather queen, attained her majority and was crowned. She married Prince Henry of Mecklenburg-Schwerin on February 7th, 1901. For some years rumors were rife concerning the unhappy married life of these two. Recently a reconciliation is said to have been effected.

These are the bargains that are creating such a sensation in the Boys' Clothing Department. It is a sale that brings you splendidly-made, new style, well-fitting and smart suits at prices radically cheap—prices that do not begin to represent the bare cost of the materials used. They were cheap enough at full prices, but when it comes to a third off the regular price—the stock should melt away like a snow pile in July. Shrewd management suggests liberal buying at the above prices.

THE SCOTT ACT IN SYDNEY

With Vigorous Prosecution Sydney Will Soon Be a Dry Town.

(Sydney Post, Aug. 8) Seven Scott Act cases will be heard tomorrow morning before Stipendiary W. R. Hearn and it is stated on good authority that quite a number of the dealers are getting afraid and will go out of business.

A prominent hotel man, who has been fined three times in the past three weeks, said last night that his business could not stand the heavy duties that were being made on the finances through paying Scott Act fines and he would be compelled to close up his bar. A couple of restaurateurs, who have been selling a little bottled stuff on the side have also decided that under present conditions the game of trying to beat the Canada Temperance Act is not worth the candle, so they will quit.

PICNIC AT CARLETON, P. Q.

DALLHOUSIE, N. B., Aug. 9 (Special)—The annual excursion held by the Meers, Blair and Richards, managers of the Lady Eileen, on Tuesday at Carleton, P. Q., was a great success. About five hundred people took passage on board the steamer from Campbellton and Dalhousie.

The Citizens' band of Campbellton, furnished music for the occasion and the best order prevailed. On account of a number of public men who took in the excursion, public speaking began at three o'clock. The speakers were Hon. Chas. Moore, M. P., Hon. C. H. Lablache, O. Turgeon, M. P., John Hull Kelly, M. P., P. Wm. Currie, M. P., Arthur LeBlanc and A. E. McKeown. The speakers spoke generally about the great progress the counties on the Bay Chaleur had made during recent years; to the good feeling that existed between the people of the two provinces and the prospects of a great local market for the Gaspé farms in the growing town of Campbellton. Reference was made to the happier condition of the French people under the British flag.

A SUCCESSFUL PASTOR

Rev. W. R. Robinson was a passenger to the city on the Boston express today, starting up the Gibson where he is enjoying a month's vacation, previous to his returning west with his wife and family.

Mr. Robinson has made quite a success starting as assistant in the Baptist church at Sackville; after one year there he was called to the pastorate of the Gibson church, where he labored with success for some six years. He decided to take a university course, and in October, 1905, entered the University of Chicago, and during that year he captured the gold scholarship.

Upon finishing his course there he was called to a pastorate at Plainfield, Ill., where he is now located.

Mr. Robinson will be known to all temperance workers, having stamped the county during the Scott Act election.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will carry away the best wishes of the community with them, and the hopes that their return will not be as a very distant date.

Mrs. Robinson is a daughter of the superintendent of the Fredericton-Charlottetown line of the I. C. B. R. Chas. Robinson, of Anderson & Co., this city, is a brother of Rev. Mr. Robinson.
