

To Attend The Funeral

German Crown Prince Reached England To-day and Was Received by Emperor.

Newspaper Correspondents Admitted to Osborne House to View Remains.

Coves, Jan. 26.—Emperor William left Coves at 8 o'clock this morning on the Royal yacht Albert to visit Portsmouth.

Met the Crown Prince. London, Jan. 26.—Frederick William, the German Crown Prince, was met at the landing at Port Victoria this morning by an esquire of the King and a member of the German embassy, who accompanied him to London on his way to Osborne.

The Crown Prince, who wore a black suit and a felt hat, remained in his saloon carriage during the few minutes which were occupied in changing engines at Victoria station.

Emperor William awaited his son at Portsmouth dock yard, and greeted him most affectionately. The Emperor and the Crown Prince spent an hour in inspecting the dockyard, after which they embarked on board the Royal yacht Albert for Coves.

Arrival at Coves. Coves, Jan. 26.—The Albert arrived at 11.20. His Majesty and the Crown Prince were standing on the bridge of the boat.

The Duke of Connaught boarded the yacht and welcomed the Crown Prince. As soon as Emperor William embarked, his flag at the mainmast head lowered. Carriages were in waiting for the party. The Emperor looked pale and careworn. The party drove to Osborne, returning the silent salutes of the bareheaded groups along the route.

Viewing the Remains. Coves, Jan. 26.—A number of leading newspaper correspondents were admitted to see the Queen's remains to-day. The approaches to Osborne House were as rigorously guarded as ever.

Through the deserted court and the representative here of the Associated Press was conducted. It was but a step from the entrance across the hall to the dining room where the Queen's body rested.

Coming to the Funeral. Berlin, Jan. 26.—According to a dispatch from Croubers all the children of the Dowager Empress Frederick will attend the funeral of Queen Victoria with the exception of Princess Frederick Charles.

The Saxon court has ordered a fortnight's mourning, and Prince George of Saxony will be present at the obsequies. The Bavarian court will go into mourning for three weeks.

Sultan Thanked. Constantinople, Jan. 26.—The Sultan has received a telegram from King Edward VII, Emperor William and Emperor Nicholas, thanking him for his condolence on the death of Queen Victoria.

Portuguese Senate Adjourned. Lisbon, Jan. 26.—The Portuguese Senate yesterday, after listening to a speech eulogizing the late Queen Victoria and adopting a resolution expressing to King Edward VII the grief of the Senate at the death of his mother, and a hope that the friendship existing between two nations will be maintained, adjourned until after the funeral.

London, Jan. 26.—The preparations for Queen Victoria's funeral are gradually assuming definite form. It promises to be the most tremendous pageant of the generation. The influx of members of Royal families and representatives of foreign countries has been so wholly unending that the court officials are finding it difficult to procure suitable accommodations.

POPE ON SOCIALISM. See Previous Encyclicals Have Encouraged Catholics to Continue Social Work.

Rome, Jan. 26.—The following is a summary of the Pope's encyclical on Socialism, issued to-day and dated January 15th:

The Pope commences with recalling his two previous encyclicals on social questions, and says the sequel of these is that the Catholics have applied their activity to social works, in order to help the working classes. The pontiff here reviews all that has been done in this direction, the foundation of societies, the schools established for the benefit of the rural classes and working men's associations of all kinds. He considers the appellation "Christian Socialism" incorrect, and says Catholics who busy themselves with social questions are sometimes called "Christian Democrats," but even this qualification is attacked by some people as being ill-sounding. Divergencies having arisen between the Pope and the Catholics, he desires to eliminate them.

Careful distinction must be drawn between socialism and Christian democracy. The first concerns itself solely with material positions.

Christian democracy, moreover, must be confounded with political democracy, for the first can, and ought, to assist as does the church herself, under the most varied political regimes. Christian democracy ought also to respect the rights of the State.

The pontiff concludes with exhorting Catholics to inspire themselves with these principles and inculcate them. They must urge the people and the workers to be unshakenly devoted to their duties, and to observe sobriety and religious practices. This will social work again become flourishing throughout the world.

These conditions have been accepted, and there will be a number of troops after the first—a small one—on the coming Tuesday.

"God Save the King"

THE EMPIRE'S ANTHEM.

"Take 'old of the Wings of the Mornin', An' 'op round the earth till you're dead; But you won't get away from the tune that they play To the bloomin' old rag over 'ead!" —Burdard Kipling.

An old lady read to me one day a poem which she had enjoyed, "and," she concluded, "it is written by an author whose life nobody seems to have yet written; his name is 'Anon,' and he wrote some of the best pieces in my poetry book."

The dear old lady is right, "Anon" is responsible for much that is good, and chief among his work is the National Anthem, "God Save the King."

We can trace this song, or hymn, back to the Jacobite days, and there is no doubt that "the King" referred to by the author was a Stuart; the anthem is Hanoverian by adoption only. Does it not seem a striking example of the kind of fate, that a song composed by some ardent, but unknown Jacobite in honor of either the exiled James II., "the Old Pretender," or the Bonnie Prince Charlie, and sung behind closed doors as the company passed their wine cup across the water decanter, drinking to "the King over the water," should have been afterwards adopted by the King of the Netherlands, and by which their true subjects should for all time show their loyal devotion to the Crown?

Previous to the time of Charles I., and during his reign, the National Anthem was an English song, with a French burden, "Vive le Roi!"

During the commonwealth of Cromwell, the Cavaliers or court party kept up their allegiance to the Royal house of Stuart by singing in select societies, "When the King Shall Enjoy His Own Again," with its exceeding fine music, and not contemptible poetry.

At the restoration of Charles II., in 1680, the loyal hymn was again changed to a rollicking series of stanzas, which is a noisy refrain. The first verse ran somewhat like this:

Here's a health unto His Majesty, With a fal, la, la, la, la, la! Confusion to his enemies, With a fal, la, la, la, la! And he that will not drink his health, I wish him neither with me, health, Nor yet a rope to hang himself— With a fal, la, la, la, la!

Then followed the unhappy reign of the Second James, ending with the calling over by the people of William of Orange, and the flight of James to France. A letter received by David Garrick from Benjamin Victor in mid-shoorn district, where they had a slight skirmish with the defence forces.

Oh, Lord our God, arise, Confound the enemies Of James our King; Send him victorious, Happy and glorious, Long to reign over us, God save the King.

to the music of an old anthem were sung at St. James's chapel, when the Prince of Orange landed to deliver us from Popery and Slavery, which God Almighty, in His goodness, was pleased not to grant."

In the light of this correspondent of Garrick, the words, "Send him victorious," take on a new significance. God was asked by the Jacobites to send back to them from France their self-exiled King! But King Jamie never returned, and William and Mary reigned, and after them good Queen Anne. Then in the reigns of the early Georges we have the two plots, popularly known as the Fifteen and the Forty-five, the last efforts of the Jacobites to restore their exiled Stuart.

On the second of these occasions, in the winter of 1745, it seemed as if the Stuart cause was at last to triumph. The delirious followers of Bonnie Prince Charlie had defeated the King's (George II's) royalist troops under Cope at Prestonpans, and the Jacobites under Charles Edward Louis Philip Cusimer Stuart (it was indeed a name to conjure with) were soon masters of all Scotland. At Holyrood he made merry—the gay, the romantic, the adventures of the men and all the women were on the side of the handsome scion of the Royal house of Stuart. Gaily the pipes sang out the joy-song, "The King Shall Enjoy His Own Again." The news of this wonderful march of victory, and the tidings that England was at once to be invaded, speedily reached London. But the English were not apprehensive of the ultimate result, the audience at the evening theatres joined with the players in a united outpouring of loyalty. They rose and with mighty voices in unison sang—what? Why, the erstwhile Jacobite song, with the "James" merely changed to "George"—

Oh, Lord our God, arise, Confound the enemies Of George the King! and so was the most potent of all thunders, the thunder of sentiment, Steel air. Changes otherwise were fractional. The market opened weak.

THE POSTAL SCANDAL.

Charles Neely Says He is Being Punished To Protect Higher Officials.

(Associated Press.) New York, Jan. 28.—Chas. F. W. Neely, who is now on the way to Cuba to be tried on charges of robbing the United States government of more than $200,000 while in charge of the postal service in Cuba, says that he is being railroaded to prison to protect higher officials, says an early edition of the morning papers.

He asserts that the administration is afraid to give him a trial in this country, where he could compel the attendance of witnesses and could cross-examine his accusers and prove his innocence, but is sending him to Cuba where he will be convicted and will receive a sentence long enough to make his death certain in a tropical dungeon. He also asserts that a Republican office holder, very close to President McKinley, promised him a sentence of one year if he would return to Cuba and plead guilty so that "the scandals may be ended."

He further asserts that records in the office of the secretary of war, if they have not been destroyed, will prove him to have forwarded instructions direct from Washington in transactions which are now alleged to be fraudulent.

ATROCITIES BY SOLDIERS. George Lynch on the Effect of Outrages on Chinese.

(Associated Press.) New York, Jan. 28.—Geo. Lynch, an English war correspondent, who has arrived here on his way to England, having gone through the disturbances in China, said of the atrocities committed by the allies' soldiers, from which the Americans, the Japanese and English troops were exempted: "Any thoughtful person who has been in Pekin with the allies can not speculate as to what effect this visitation will have on the population of China. It is evident to my mind that for generations to come the progress of Christianity in China is killed. In China the faith was practically making no real progress, but what progress it has made among the lower class and destitute coolies, who form the bulk of so-called converts, is now utterly wiped out. It will be generations before the recollections of this latest crusade is eradicated from the memory of the Chinese people."

TELLER DISAPPEARS. His Father Thinks He Has Been Kidnapped and is Held for Ransom.

(Associated Press.) Chicago, Ills., Jan. 28.—Arthur R. Barnard, teller of Zion City bank, the private financial institution instituted by John A. B. Dowie four years ago, has disappeared.

His father, C. J. Barnard, cashier of the bank, reported his disappearance at the Espywood police station yesterday.

It is believed that his son has been kidnapped and is held for ransom, a belief that is shared by Mr. Dowie and several members of his church.

The missing theory is not entertained so strongly by the police. They think it more probable that young Barnard has been held up by robbers and possibly injured.

Williams' Evidence

Plaintiff in Action Against the Le Roi Company Takes the Stand.

His Evidence Corroborative of Mr. Bodwell's Statement of the Case.

(From Friday's Daily.)
The court resumed yesterday afternoon on the case of Williams vs. the B. A. C., before Mr. Justice Drake. The first witness called by the prosecution was the plaintiff, Le Roi Company, who was examined by the B. A. C. He spoke of seeing Gov. Mackintosh in Spokane on the 10th of May. Mr. Bodwell asked what took place at this meeting, and what was the result. Such evidence would not be admitted if any contract was signed at said meeting.

Witness said there was a document, but it was only partially signed, and Mr. Davis insisted that Williams' evidence at the point was not, therefore, admissible. Witness said the document was signed by Col. Peyton. He was not sure it was signed by Mackintosh. There were some conditions not in the document.

The document was then produced by Mr. Davis, signed by Valentine Peyton and witnessed by Williams. There was another signature which Williams did not witness. The sale of the stock was not carried out according to the agreement.

Mr. Bodwell then asked the witness to what took place at the conference between him and Peyton and Mackintosh at Spokane. To this Mr. Davis objected, saying authorities "to show that when the agreement was made between the two parties, no written evidence from any party was not admissible. The evidence, however, was admitted.

Witness then said that Henley, Peyton and himself met Mackintosh on May 26th at Spokane. The conversation opened with the expression of a doubt as to the satisfaction of the agreement. Mackintosh said he didn't believe it had been ratified, and asked what could be done to ratify it. They had voted to sell the mine at $3,000,000. He would not go back on it, but that considering the stock price, the majority stock should be sold at a higher price. The agreement was made between the two parties, no written evidence from any party was not admissible. The evidence, however, was admitted.

Cross-examination was then undertaken by Mr. Davis, in reply to whom witness stated that he was court stenographer in Spokane from 1888 to 1896. His interest in the suit, he said, was about $28,000 or $30,000. To the English the suit was worth about $900,000. To Henley it would be worth $46,000. The two Peytons were interested to the extent of $370,000. He admitted, were witnesses in the case.

The beginning of the affair was the agreement in London to sell the mine to the B. A. C. for $3,000,000—$500,000 down, $500,000 when the agreement was ratified, and the remaining $2,000,000 in four monthly payments. They all wanted to sell, at that time. The sale meant not only $6, but a trifle more, as they expected to get ten per cent. of the profit on the sale, as the shipper then pending they expected would pay all liabilities, with a small margin to the shareholders.

That arrangement of the Peyton faction and the position of the Turner faction wished to carry out at the Spokane meeting on June 25th.

Mr. Davis then asked if he and his colleagues were not so anxious to consummate the deal that drastic measures were employed. Witness admitted he went up to Rossland on a special train.

Were the Turner faction not unkind enough to say that witness had stolen the books and seal?

Well, yes. Witness admitted they had made that charge. He had taken the books as he had a right to do, but he had not stolen the seal.

The mine had cost $30,000, and he owned one-third of it. He was anxious to sell for two reasons, one being that he considered $3,000,000 a fair value for the mine, and the other was that the shareholders were not harmonious, and it was thought better to divide their interests.

At this particular time the shareholders were, according to the witness, "in minority." Pressed persistently by Mr. Davis, the witness explained that there was a pool of the majority of stock, of which the Turners were two of the three trustees. The Peytons were bound to break the pool so that they would control their own stock at the meeting of the shareholders. The Turners took out an injunction to prevent the pool being broken.

From this Mr. Davis passed to an inquiry as to why the majority stockholders could consider themselves as entitled to more for their stock than the minority. The witness explained that from his standpoint it was a clear business proposition. If the deal was not to pass the meeting and they were exposed to the lawsuits and trouble subsequently, they were certainly entitled to as much as the minority.

Mr. Davis then pressed for a history of the fight between the Turners and the Peytons, he asked incisive questions of the lawyer and the equally adroit replies of the witness furnishing court, bar and onlookers plenty of amusement. Mr. Bodwell exhibited signs of nervousness and frequently broke in with interjections, which drew reproof from Mr. Davis, and finally from the bench, the court finally observing: "I have tried to help you, but you will not let me. It is better for you to allow you to proceed without interruption, but he seems difficult to control."

There was only one meeting before the 27th of June at which he was present. There was a meeting in Heyburn's office subsequently at which the agreement was drawn up. At this meeting Valentine Peyton and Mackintosh were present, and a conversation was with reference to the papers being drawn up. He was in Heyburn's office afterwards when the contract form was drawn up, which he witnessed. He also signed some document ratifying this contract. It was not signed by all; it was never completed. This agreement was made subject to the ratification, that is that if Le Roi shareholders ratified the deal, this agreement lapsed.

In this agreement Valentine Peyton did not represent I. N. Peyton or Williams. He did represent the Danville people, namely, the English family and others.

There were sections in the agreement which he believed were improperly put in. This agreement was that Wakefield was to take their stock as a matter of convenience; that they were to be paid

GUARD THE DOOR.

Good health is the best asset that any man or woman can have; but good health can only be had by keeping the blood rich and red and the nerves strong. If the blood is allowed to become poor and watery the whole system is weakened and falls an easy prey to disease. To those thus weakened the winter months are especially dangerous. A chill may be followed by pneumonia; a cold by consumption. La grippe finds such people easy victims, and its after effects are disastrous and frequently fatal.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Gratifying Reports From Management of St. Paul's Church, Victoria, West.

The annual business meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria, West, was held on Friday evening. There was a good attendance of the members, and adherents of the church.

Reports of the past year's work and financial statements from the session, board of managers, Sabbath school, Ladies' Aid and Y. P. S. C. E., were presented, all showing one of the most successful years' work in the history of the church.

After meeting current expenses, the board of managers reported $100 reduction in the debt still resting upon the church building.

The several auxiliary societies of the church aided the finances of the church in the following amounts: Ladies' Aid, $425; Y. P. S. C. E., $75, and the Sabbath school, $80.

A subscription list was opened, and upwards of $60 subscribed by those present towards the repainting of the church building.

Feeling references were made to the recent convocation of A. C. Muir, member of Esquimalt, who had been of the organization of the congregation an elder, manager and trustee. A. W. Semple was re-appointed manager, and Thomas Watson was re-elected manager.

At the meeting of the congregation on the 14th of January, the following resolutions were passed: Resolved, That the Emmanuel Baptist Church and Boys' Brotherhood Express Regret at the Death of the Queen.

At the usual prayer meeting of the Emmanuel Baptist church, an address was delivered by A. J. Pineau, M.A., on "The Relations of Educational Progress to Missionary Work," in which the speaker showed vigorously how higher education largely aided workers in all branches of missionary effort. It was announced that Mrs. Smith, of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, on behalf of the Women of the Baptist churches of Nova Scotia, would contribute $100 per year toward missionary work among the Japanese of the province. At the close of the meeting A. Marchant, seconded by Van Fassel, moved the following motion, which was carried unanimously: "Whereas it has pleased the Almighty in His mercy to call into Himself her most gracious Majesty, our beloved Queen: Resolved, That the Emmanuel Baptist church place on record its keen appreciation of the high and noble qualities of the greatest ruler that has ever presided over the British nation, and of the irreparable loss the nation has sustained by her death. Resolved, also, That this church recognizes the good hand of our Heavenly Father in sparing through so lengthened a period our veneration, especially through the most expansive, progressive and critical epoch of our nation's history; Resolved, further, That this church rejoices in the pure and stainless life, the tender and womanly sympathy ever shown by her who has been so much loved and esteemed as the mother of her people; be it further resolved, That we unite with all citizens of the empire in extending to the royal family our most respectful sympathy in their sad bereavement."

At the imperial parliament of the Boys' Brotherhood Club, held in their hall, the following resolutions were passed after the oath of loyalty to their King, Edward VII. of Great Britain and Emperor of India, was taken: Resolved, That the imperial parliament of the Boys' Brotherhood Club has learned with profound sorrow of the death of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, whose grand life and beneficent influence has promoted the peace and won the affection of the whole world; That this house does hereby express its deepest sympathy with His Imperial Majesty, King Edward VII., and all the members of the royal family."

TO-DAY'S PROCEEDINGS.
The hearing of the case of Williams vs. B. A. C., before Mr. Justice Drake this morning was taking up the case of the cross-examination of D. W. Henley and the examination in brief of Col. Peyton, the majority stockholder.

Mr. Davis then read a deposition made by the witness on examination at Rossland, in which he stated that he had deposited his shares for sale with Wakefield, and he didn't know what contract Wakefield had.

Mr. Davis then produced the receipt which the witness had handed to Wakefield for having "sold" his shares. Witness refused to admit that the word
