Whereupon, the editor of one paper reflects that "the conflict will not be without its compensations, bloody and cruel as it may be," and another eagerly howls "Hurry up that war." Neither of them can ever have known how pretty Tennie is.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe made he first appearance as a public reader, reading from her own works, in Springfield, Mass., the other night, and her reception was very flattering. She was dressed, the Republican informs us, in black silk with a garniture of white lace puffs, entirely becoming to informs us, in black slik with a garmiture of white lace points, entirely becoming to he rine matronly face, which wore the colour of health and happiness. Her brown wavy hair is scarcely rusted with age, and manifold curls ripple over a tiny waterfall behind. Her blue eyes loss none of their manifold curis rippie over a thy water behind. Her blue eyes lose none of their mild fire and humanity, even through the pincenez. Altogether, Mrs. Stowe, at the age of fifty-eight, bears such an air of health and of tenaciously active life, that all her friends will hail her appearance with joy, from the mere delight of seeing her, even if she brought nothing else for entertainment. The following, from the same paper, will be of interest:—She stood to read perhaps from choice, but she could not sit without being hid from half the audience bythe lamp, which was one of the "student" style. She read first from the "Oldtown" style. She read first from the "Oldtown" stories of "SamLawson," and read the whole of the selections from that work without stopping. Her thin voice is well fitted to enact the Yankee sharpness of utterance. Her description of Parson Carryl's troubles and "Huldy's" triumph was truthful to her own conception, of course, and happily to the public idea of the character also. Her delineation of the gossips "Wider Pladent and Manifold Pladent Pladent and Manifold Pladent Pladent Pladent Manifold Pladent Pladent Pladent Manifold Pladent Pladent Pladent Pladent Manifold Pladent Plade Her delineation of the gossips "Wider Piperage" and "Miss Deaken Blodgett was perfect to the life and hig ly enjoyable. and baldness often, though not always, Wholesale Warehouse cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity. lated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning grey or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the forma-tion of dandruff, which is often so un-cleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted nerely for a HAIR DRESSING nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., tical and Analytical Cher LOWELL, MASS. H. L. SPENCER, Medical Warehouse, 20 NELSON STREET, ST. JOHN, N. B.,

General Patent Medicine Agency For the Maritime Provides Watchmaking in Switzerland [From the Swiss Times of May 30th.]

WE have already drawn attention to the annual meeting of the Society of Arts held on the 25rd current, under the presidentship of M. Th. de Saus-ure, and are now able to furnish some further details.

Professor Soret, in delivering a most interest ing report, passed in review the operations of the Industrial section, in reference to Commerce, laying great stress upon the competition that has taken place in the manufacture of chronometers. This competition was instituted with the object of testing the workmanship and precision of chronometers turned out by Genevese manufacturers, and none but those adopted for pocket use were admitted. They were deposited in charge of the authorities at the Observatory, and underwent the most searching ordeal possible to be applied to pocket instruments of this class. The jury specially retained to decide the difficult question as to whom to award the palm of excellency unanimously decided in favor of Messrs, J. M. Badollet & Co. This firm having carried off the sole prize by exhibiting a chronometer which fulfilled in the highest degree every condition required, crowned their first success by gaining honorable mention for two other chronometers. The allusion to this triple honor was received with enthusiastic applause, and Professor Humbert, President of the Fine Arts Section, closed the meeting with a happy and humorous dissertation upon subjects connected with this department.
