WHAT CRIME HAS CARVELL COMMITTED?

The Woodstock Press devotes a long article to F. B. Carvell, in the course of which it says the recent result in Carleton county was a defeat for Mr. Carvell, and that many Liberals rejoice thereat. It goes on:

"Those Liberals—and there are still many of them in Canada—are becoming more and more restless under a leadership that points persistently away from the path of decency, of party self-respect and of national honor. These men know that the presence of such men as Carvell in public life and the adoption of such political tactics as those practiced by Carvell, are not good things for Canada. They have had some evidence of the Carvell kind of patriotism, a kind that has never been considered suitable for adoption generally by Canadians, even in times of peace. They know well enough that the continued activities of Carvell and his like, thrown as they are in sharp relief against a background of great national stress and effort, are placing upon Liberalism a burden which will weigh their party down for many years to come."

It is to be regretted that the Press fails to enumerate some of the crimes of Mr. Carvell. It knows all about them. One of them was the exposure of J. K. Fleming, who took $2,000 "by compulsion" from a government contractor, and was for a time the custodian of the plunder (over $70,000) taken from the lumbermen. Mr. Carvell aided in the exposure that drove A. J. H. Stewart from the legislature. He had a hand in the exposure of the Southampton Railway steal. He was one of those who were instrumental in driving Garland and DeWitt Foster out of parliament. This is the kind of patriotism to which J. K. Fleming's organ naturally objects. It prefers quite a different brand of national honor. It is quite too soon, moreover, to write the political obituary of Mr. Carvell. There is still a great work for him to do in the exposure of hypocrites and grafters who turn a period "of great national stress and effort" to account for their own personal enrichment, regardless of the sacrifices others are making to defend the honor and the very life of the Dominion of Canada.—St. John Times.

Lower Greenfield School Teacher Shows Energy

On Friday evening, October 6, a basket social was held in the school house at Lower Greenfield. This event was gotten up by Miss Alice Stewart, the teacher, in accordance with a movement among the schools of the province to raise funds for Belgian relief. The sum of $32.25 was raised. This is Miss Stewart's second term as a teacher in Greenfield, and under her management the school, which has an enrolment of about twenty, is making good progress.

MAY IMPORT MEN FOR THE WOODS

Very little is known as yet of the size of the lumber cut on the St. John river this year. The lumbermen are up against a serious problem in securing labor and this may prevent them from operating on as large a scale as they desire. The enlistment in overseas units of many experienced men who have worked in the lumber woods for years has of course crippled the industry to some extent in New Brunswick. Brunswick and the lumber operators are considering importing labor to carry on the work this winter. It is not unlikely that a large number of French Canadians will be brought to New Brunswick this winter to work in the lumber woods and some foreign labor will also be utilized.

The lumber market at present is very firm and excellent prices prevail. With these conditions it would be advantageous for the lumbermen to secure a heavy cut in New Brunswick this year and indications are that such will be the result of the operations.

Returned Hero Arrives

Gunner Arthur Greer, who went away with the first batch of artillery-men, was wounded at St. Julien and since coming back to Canada was in a hospital at Sydney, N. S., has returned to Woodstock to visit his mother and will probably be appointed clerk to the recruiter's office. Gunner Greer has his final discharge. The injury to his foot, it is feared, will be permanent.

The 65th Battery, Major Evans commanding officer, which has been camping near Woodstock all summer will, it is expected, next week occupy its former quarters in the Strong & Noddin building, the company officers preferring it to the armoury, which will be occupied, so it is said, by a western company, though nothing definite has been received from the Ottawa authorities in reply to the letter from Mayor Sutton.

Well Known Citizen of Grand Falls Dead

The death occurred on Tuesday afternoon of one of an old and well known residents Edward G. Leslie, after an illness of several weeks. Deceased was seventy-three years old. He leaves a widow formerly Miss Mary Michaud, three sons, Gordon, bridge guard at Salmon River, George and Guy; three daughters, Miss Beulah, assistant bookkeeper for G. M. Taylor; Miss Pearl, of the dry goods department at J. L. White's and Miss Muriel; also one sister, Mrs. J. J. Evans, and one brother, George, of the C. P. R. The family have the sincere sympathy of all. The funeral was on Thursday afternoon, the service conducted by Rev. W. K. Read.

THE RED CROSS NEEDS SUPPORT

Hartland Red Cross Society acknowledges donations of one dollar each from Mrs. Robert Blackie and A. R. Rigby and a pair of socks from Miss Emma Cogswell.

The following have knit socks from yarn found by the society: Sadie Currie, Mrs. J. E. McCollum, each 2 pairs, Mrs. Clara Hallett, 1 pair.

Any person who disparages the work of the Red Cross is worse than a slacker, and those who criticise the local societies are either ignorant of their work or malicious. For a true knowledge of Red Cross work ask any returned soldier—then give your help.

Among members of the local society, as well as branches elsewhere, there is not so much interest shown as there was a year ago. While for some the novelty has worn off, for the soldiers the need of comforts and necessities is increasingly greater as the war grows fiercer every day, and our boys are confronted with another terrible winter in the trenches.

The Kilties Campaign

The special campaign on behalf of the 236th Kilties was concluded with a good meeting at Lakeville on Thursday evening, when two young men announced their intention of joining on in a few days. Meetings were also held at Bloomfield and Victoria Corner. The management of the campaign was under the direction of Lieut. F. W. C. Wetmore, whose practical and instructive addresses were appreciated at the various meetings. Pipe Major Farquhson proved not only an excellent attraction with the bagpipes but has like wise developed good speaking ability. Deputy Recruiting Officer Ketchum assisted the soldiers throughout the campaign. The indirect results will be a general stimulus to recruiting.

John Wanamaker on Advertising

You have heard of John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, the father of department stores and one of the greatest exemplifiers of advertising. He says:

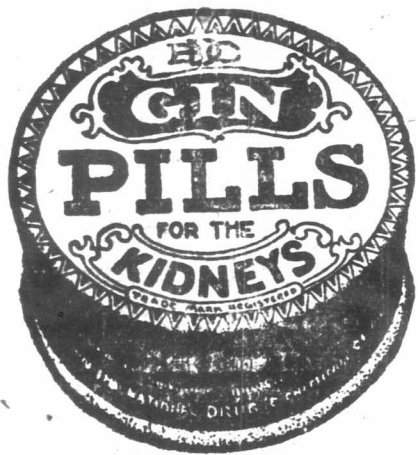

"If there is one enterprise on earth that a quitter should leave severely alone it is advertising. To make a success of advertising one must be prepared to stick like a barnacle on a boat's bottom. He should know before he begins that he must spend money—lots of it. Somebody must tell him that he cannot hope to reap results commensurate with his expenditure early in the game. Advertising does not jerk; it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day and year by year until it exerts an irresistible power."

Prices of Shoes is to Mount Up

The day is fast approaching when the possession of a good pair shoes or boots will be looked upon as a badge of gilded plutocracy. For, the price of foot gear, which has been soaring by leaps and bounds since the war began, is about to Zeppelin some more. The price of raw materials has gone up, in cases, by hundreds percent. And now comes the announcement that the British Government has requisitioned leather in the old country.

Boots and shoes which, in Montreal before the war, sold at from $5 to $6, are now selling at $9 and $10—that is articles of equal quality. There are inferior articles selling at $6, $7 and $8.

One of the oldest shoemen in Montreal is John Dawne; who has been in the one establishment continuously for forty-seven years. Mr. Dawne declares that

Nervous and Almost Crazy With Pains in the Head

Clergyman Certifies to This Cure of Nervous Prostration by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

No ailment is more discouraging than Nervous Prostration. You may feel better for a day or two, only to find the next day that you have lost ground and are worse than ever. The headaches are worse, languid feelings are terribly depressing. As you lose strength you lose hope and courage, and look to the future with fear and trembling.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the greatest blessing that has ever come to the sufferer from nervous prostration. It is not narcotic in its action. It does not deaden the trembling, irritated nerves, but through the medium of the blood nourishes them back to health as nothing else can.

Mrs. Alonzo B. Bissner, Edinboro, King's county, N.S., writes:—"I was very low with nervous prostration and was about discouraged, as I could not sleep nights and was almost crazy with the pain in my head. I had tried many doctors, but seemed to get no benefit from their treatments. A friend handed me Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I took it for a week and never, in his long experience, had he known boots and shoes to be so costly.

WHEN BUYING YEAST INSIST ON HAVING THIS PACKAGE

"The primary cause," he said, "is the shortage in raw materials, much of the hide came from the countries now at war, and automatically, this supply has been cut off. The working out of the law of supply and demand has naturally increased the price of hides. Thus, whereas, before the war we used to pay six and seven cents a pound for hides, they are now selling at twenty-two cents, or even more. And, mark me, even at this figure the supply is restricted, and a supplier cannot contract to give extensive quantities at this quotation."

N. B. Boy Wins Victoria Cross

The first New Brunswicker to win the Victoria Cross in the great war raging in Europe is Leonard C. Hammond, son of A. B. Hammond, a native of Kingsclear, and at one time an extensive lumber operator at St. Leonards. Private Hammond was a member of the American Field Ambulance and was awarded the coveted honor for work at Verdun. He is a cousin of J. W. Hammond, United States Consular Agent in Fredericton, and of T. T. Hammond of Hartland.

Laugh and Grow Fat

"Laugh and grow fat" is an old saying laden with value for nervous people in particular. Drop the worry habit and use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you will soon get the nervous system restored to good condition. Digestion will improve, appetite will return, and you will find such symptoms as headache and sleeplessness fast disappearing.

Williamstown News

Most of our farmers are done digging, and some are now plowing, while others are hauling potatoes to the Lakeville station at $2 per barrel.

Frank Munsey, returned soldier, is visiting friends here.

Waldo Curry, another lad in khaki, is the guest of sister, Mrs. William Armstrong.

Miss Steeves of Moncton, is also a visitor here.

A fire occurred at the home of Thomas Emery recently, the barn and the end of the kitchen being entirely destroyed.

Mrs. John Gillis and children were guests of her father, George McLeod, lately.

Mrs. John Porter was on the sick list last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pryor were guests at I. Porter's last Sunday.

With regret we learn of the death of our friend Augustus Gilman, of Woodstock. His remains will be brought here for burial tomorrow. He is survived by a widow and son, Frank. The late Mr. Gilman had been an invalid for nearly three years.

The sad news was recently received by J. F. Williams and family of the death of their son, Captain Clarence Williams, killed in action somewhere in France. The deceased is mourned for by his father and mother, one brother, Henry, and one sister, Beatrice. He will be remembered as one of the finest young men of Lakeville.—Gleaner corr.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COO'S TIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

"WHY CONSCRIPTION?"

Because we are a part of the British Empire and the War Office in England has accepted Canada's offer of 500,000 men, and so far only about 350,000 have volunteered, and the balance seemingly cannot be obtained from among the young men of Military Age and Fitness, and an immense amount of money is now being spent in overhead charges to keep up the present Voluntary System in a vain effort to obtain recruits, to say nothing of the delay in training those already enlisted, while waiting for their Battalions to fill.

This Voluntary system also results in too many responsible men offering who are sadly needed in Canada, in industry and production, while the less responsible and younger men, who might be spared, and who only think it their duty to go when called on by the government, hold back and say "We will go when we have to," or when forced to.

This shows they are only waiting for Conscription. Who then would oppose it? Only the one who does not feel it his duty to protect Humanity and its rights.

What right have we, as part of the Empire which is fighting for human justice, what right have we to live in peace and comfort here, simply because there is a stretch of water between us and the barbarous Hun, and that same water protected by our Motherland, which is calling on us to help, and yet we waste time and money in doing so, while women and children are being slaughtered, and the slacker living here in comfort says "He will go when he has to."

Had we not therefore, better find out that irresponsible person, who does not feel that he has a right to help in this life and death struggle, and find him quickly, as he will never make a responsible citizen?

50c Will Do the Work of $1

GREETING To the People of Bristol and Vicinity

During the past two or three years I have been piling stock into this store faster than it has been going out. Stocking up got to be a fad with me, and the time has come when I must forego the pleasure of buying and confine my energy to selling—selling at any price—so long as during the next 30 days I turn this big $40,000 stock into $20,000. And have left, of course, enough stock to do business on. But this is the plain fact—the stock I've prided myself in piling up must go. And out it goes at any old price that will leave me anything like a whole skin. Our shelves are creaking under the burden of too much weight in high-class goods—the very best grades the market could supply. Bought largely before the tremendous advance during the past few months. You can select from this stock at prices lower than if you were in a wholesale warehouse in St. John or Montreal. Let this fact in upon your understanding. We do not quote any prices in this advertisement, but come along and state your wants. The jingle of your coin will make me reckless, and the price you name will in all probability take the goods. It is cash I want this fall more than I want these goods, and there is a Big Bargain for you on every shelf in the store. Money speaks louder than words. Bring yours along and let it do the talking!

I thank you for your trade in the past, and am glad to extend this money-saving opportunity to you. Come and bring your cash and produce and supply your wants for months to come at practically your own prices.

Yours faithfully,

THE PRISON FOR GRAFTERS

If the St. John Globe had its ideals carried out some New Brunswick men forcing themselves to public attention would be in Dorchester prison. The Globe says:

Saskatchewan has set an example which every Canadian province should accept as the evidence of what can be accomplished when men of character and determination grapple with the evil of political grafting. E. H. Devlin, a member of the Legislature found guilty of defrauding the province on ten different counts, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for terms aggregating twenty years. What Saskatchewan has done other provinces can and should do. No reason exists why the public grafter should escape the fate that threatens the wrongdoer in other walks of life. A few applications of the Saskatchewan treatment would have a most wholesome influence.

CANADA'S NEED

Unless all signs and portents fail the Liberal party will, at no great distance of time, be called upon to administer the affairs of the country, and it will then be faced with the greatest responsibility ever placed upon any political party in the history of Canada. The best brains of the party irrespective of race, religion, personality, service, clique or favor will then be necessary for the salvation of the country, and Heaven grant that they may be forthcoming. Canada has suffered too long from the mediocrities generally comprising the Borden government to be tolerant, or even patient, if afflicted with a Liberal Cabinet of no better general calibre. The Liberal party in 1896 rescued the country from the slough of stagnation and despair through the efforts of the strongest Cabinet formed since Confederation, and it has within its ranks today the brains, the experience, the initiative and the courage to repeat the performance in the face of immensely greater difficulties. Sir Wilfrid Laurier the great Chief-tain of the party can always be relied upon for the highest efficiency and the most profound wisdom in leadership, but no one man, great though he may be, can cope with the exceedingly difficult situation. He must be supported in Council by a band of highest grade lieutenants. If a sufficient number of the necessary, able and clean men are not to-day in public life, they ought to be, and they can, and must be obtained. The party must put its best foot forward so that it may measure well up to the tremendous responsibilities facing it.

Primitive Baptist Session

On October 7 the Primitive Baptists held their quarterly conference with the church at Plaster Rock. The session opened at 10.30 with a large number of delegates and clergymen in attendance. The meetings were well attended, the usual interest prevailing.

At 2.30 on Saturday the regular quarterly conference meeting was held, a very large number taking part. The Master's presence was forcibly felt in this meeting. Bro. Uriah Kilcollins of Mars Hill addressed the Sunday morning service, speaking fluently on the Resurrection.

The afternoon service was conducted by Bro. P. J. Quigg. Near the close of this service the Lord's supper was once more observed, a very large number taking part.

Closing meeting of the session was held Monday evening and addressed by the Moderator, who took for his topic "The Church." Many helpful lessons were taught and pungent truths expressed which will be long cherished by those present.

At various times through the session wanderers were reclaimed and sinners were awakened to see their need of the Christ, for which we desire to give praise to Him from whom all blessings flow.—A. H.

HAY ONLY $8 A TON

Government Buyers Will Pay Farmers Small Prices but will Make Good Money themselves

The following is from The Gleaner and may be accepted as good authority in the matter:

The Federal Department of Agriculture are arranging to purchase 10,000 tons of hay in New Brunswick this season. The hay will be secured in Carleton and Victoria counties, where, it is held, the quality best meets the requirements, and the price will be eight dollars per ton, loose, delivered. The hay pressing plant will be located at Woodstock, and the business of purchasing, pressing and shipping will be under the direct supervision of the officials of the Federal Department. The plant to be used is that which did service in various parts of the province last year, and will be forwarded to Woodstock without delay so that it may be set up and in readiness for operation at the earliest possible moment.

The price offered by the Department this year is considerably lower than last year's figure. This is the case in all the provinces where the crop is larger than usual, the demand not so great, and the market value therefore less. Last season B. F. Smith paid to the farmer thirteen and in some instances fourteen dollars per ton, his contract, the conditions of the market and the persistent demand for hay having permitted to offer that figure.

The Gleaner neglects to mention that B. F. Smith started in last year paying the farmers only $12 and making three or four dollars a ton for himself, and that it was not until a man named Carvell exposed the deal that he was compelled to pay the farmers "thirteen and in instances fourteen dollars per ton" but fifteen and fifteen-fifty.

There are details regarding the new contracts which the farmers have a right to know.

PERTH LOCALS

Our climate is something of a paradox—along with reports of snow in the northern portion of the province comes a gift of a bottle of freshly picked strawberries from the farm of Elmer Kennedy of Dover Hill; and this week David Curry, fearful lest the well earned laurels for phenomenal productivity which he snatched from Forest Glen, brings triumphantly a raspberry branch well laden with the luscious fruit, gathered on October 9. Very few sections of this broad Dominion can boast a like record.

The work of placing a cement foundation and cellar under the rear portion of H. N. Dickinson's store is nearly completed. A furnace will be installed which will heat the whole building.

Perth is still to have two bakeries. No sooner does George Johnston close his bakery here and return to Odell than Mrs. Henry Green commences to bake and provide lunches. This may effectually remove the menace of an increase of two cents per loaf.

T. H. Kirby, a former employee of the George T. Baird Company, but for some months on the road for a Toronto firm, called on his friends here the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett McLaughlin have moved into town from Red Rapids and rented the Larlee house opposite the C. P. R. station.

The health of our 'veteran' watchmaker, C. H. Farnham, still continues to be frail, and he has been unable to attend to business for several weeks past.

The store in the Farnham building recently vacated by George Johnston, baker, has been leased by Fred Sloat, butcher, who will move into it in the course of a few weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Sloat will occupy the dwelling apartments connected with the store.

J. F. Breckon has retired from the editorship of the County News and will represent an Ontario publishing firm in this part of the province. He will reside in Andover for some months longer.

Gunner Bruce Lovely, of the 28th Field Battery, who was recently invalided home, writes to his mother, Mrs. Enoch Lovely, that he is rapidly regaining his health and will make a visit to Scotland and Ireland before returning home.

The carpenters and painters are putting the finishing touches on Guy G. Porter's new house near Andover station. When completed it will be one of the most desirable residences on the street. Mr. Porter is making preparations to move in immediately.

Walter Graham, who enlisted some time ago for home service, was home for a few days this week on furlough, visiting his relatives here and at River de Chute. In the internment camp there are over 1000 German and Austrian prisoners, requiring the presence of a considerable squad.

Carpenters are in great demand at present, owing to the many preparations made for an unusually severe winter.

Douglas Baird is home from Portland.

Mrs. J. E. Mallory and daughter, Myrtle, left on Tuesday for Quebec, where Mr. Mallory is in business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weldon and three children left on Monday for Sackville, where they will reside for the future.

Miss M. J. Inman is intending to go to Moncton to take a business course. Miss Inman is one of the News' staff.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Stewart, who had a bad auto accident, have both recovered and are able to be out.

Among those spending Thanksgiving out of town were Mrs. Alexander Henderson and granddaughter Jennie, at Stickney; Mrs. Weldon, at Summerfield; Miss Millicent Inman and Miss Winnifred Leitchford, at Kilburn; Mrs. H. Larlee, at Woodstock.

IS POTASH REALLY NECESSARY?

The yield of potatoes this year is well up to the average, in spite of the use of fertilizer containing no potash. The Observer knows of several fields where no potash was used and only 12 cwt. of any kind of fertilizer, which produced 100 barrels to the acre. The Fort Fairfield Review says:

"What effect has potash on the raising of potatoes? Some Aroostook farmers are now going so far as to say that it injures the potato crop, basing their ideas on the fact that they are getting better crops this year, both as to quality and to quantity, without potash or with very little, than they ever got before with full doses of potash. This is probably going much too far, but the idea that potatoes can not be raised in Aroostook without potash seems to be pretty thoroughly exploded. It would indeed seem too bad if the farmers of Aroostook have for years been paying big money for potash that was no good or very little good."

Of the potato market the Review says:

"Potatoes are flying high in the Fort Fairfield market, but bid fair to go higher. They have been around $2.50 this week and from that considerably beyond. This Wednesday the high-water mark for the forenoon was $2.85, while this afternoon it is $2.89, these figures being for Mounts. Cobblers are understood to be worth $3 a barrel, but not many are going just now. There is no indication of any weakening in the market, everybody still looking for potatoes. Apparently reliable reports have it that Green Mountains went in Presque Isle Monday as high as $2.82, while Cobblers brought there $3.10 and at Mars Hill $3. The story was that one of the Presque Isle buyers was asked how much a barrel he would take for 40,000 barrels of seed Cobblers delivered in January. He replied $4, whereupon he was quickly taken up, and then did not know without looking around a good deal whether it was safe for him to agree to furnish them or not. But you can never tell just how many reports to believe. There is no doubt, however, that potatoes are very high and valuable everywhere."

Green-Young

A very happy event occurred on Wednesday, Sept. 20, when Mrs. Annie Green was united in marriage to Howard Young of Nauwigewauk, Maine. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. G. A. Giberson. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridesmaid was Mrs. Catherine Green and the best man E. Winfield Green. The bridesmaid was dressed in cream silk and carried a bouquet of white flowers. The flower girl was little Clara Gee, who was dressed in white voile and carried a beautiful basket of pink and white flowers. The ring bearer was Master Ralph Green. He was dressed in a white military suit and carried the ring on a yard of white ribbon. The march was beautifully played by Miss Mildred Lunn. The bridal party stood beneath a beautiful arch of green woodbine and white festooning which was surrounded by house plants, evergreens and outflowers. The bride and groom received many congratulations. Shortly after the ceremony lunch was served which consisted of several kinds of cake, fruit and other things. Shortly after lunch wine was served in a beautifully decorated room for the occasion by Miss Emma Pickard, Mrs. Catherine Green and Miss Emma Wolverton.

The bride received $25 in cash and many useful gifts. On the following morning the bride and groom took a trip on the train to visit their many friends in different places. The bride's traveling suit was of grey broadcloth velvet with hat and gloves to match. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Young wish them a long and happy married life. In the near future Mr. and Mrs. Young will go to his home in Maine to spend the winter.

Greatest Rule of Health

With their differences in regard to disease, its cause and treatment, doctors are of one mind in regard to the greatest rule of health, viz: "Daily movement of the bowels." Unnumbered thousands of people suffer almost continuously as the result of constipation who could be readily cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life, has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scour robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Rev. A. H. Crowfoot Appointed Archdeacon

The Venerable Archdeacon Raymond has been compelled by ill-health to resign the archdeaconry of St. John, and His Lordship Bishop Richardson has appointed in his place the Rev. A. H. Crowfoot, rector of Hampton. Rev. Mr. Crowfoot is a graduate of Cambridge, and came to work in the diocese of Fredericton more than seven years ago. His first appointment in the diocese was as missionary in the difficult mission of Grand Falls and Madawaska. In this capacity Rev. Mr. Crowfoot proved very successful to a marked degree, and when two years later the parish of Hampton became vacant he was elected to that position. The new archdeacon is a good scholar, a strong preacher and a capable administrator.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN NEW BRUNSWICK

A circular has recently been issued by the Chief Superintendent of Education which must meet with the hearty approval of every sincere and patriotic teacher. The circular announces that Wednesday, November 15 next, will be observed as Children's Day in New Brunswick for the relief of the destitute children of Belgium, and it shall be recognized as a school holiday for those schools which shall report its observance.

"It is not proposed to ask the children themselves either to collect or to contribute money. The idea is that the proceeds of concerts, sports, or other entertainments, quite in consonance with the ordinary routine of school life and organized by the children themselves, (assisted by the teachers and parents) should provide the contributions so urgently needed."

"A careful analysis indicates that there are now as many as 2,500,000 children up to the age of 16, in that part of Belgium occupied by the Germans. The majority of these children are destitute. Through the neutral Commission for Relief they are provided with a daily ration which is just enough to keep them alive."

The Chief Superintendent therefore solicits the hearty co-operation and assistance of all schools of the Province in this most deserving cause, "for Belgium is suffering for principles dear to us all, and the least we can do is to contribute from our abundance to her needs."

His appeal will not be in vain. We predict that Carleton county will take the lead in this noble undertaking. Her teachers, in institutes and elsewhere, have always contributed most generously to patriotic purposes, and now that an opportunity has been given them of making a concerted effort to still further prove their generosity, they will grasp it eagerly. Let us all put our shoulders to the wheel.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

Clarence Havens Killed in Action

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Havens, of Jacksonville, received the sad news on Oct. 7, that their son, Clarence, had been killed in action in France on September 30. Deceased was among the first to answer the call when the war broke out and went over with the First Contingent. He was about 24 years of age and a young man of sterling character. He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Alma and Goldie, at home, and one brother, Harry, who is with the 140th Battalion, which has just arrived in England.

SCIENCE VS. POLITICS

Scientist Denounces Modern Politicians and Newspapers in Empire

Sir Ronald Ross, in "Science Progress," writes in criticism of politicians, as follows: Few men of any real distinction in any walk of life have ever belonged to British Governments or have ever sat in Parliament—except perhaps lawyers. We can recall for recent years one serious philosopher and one literary critic. Who are the people, then, who govern us? To be perfectly frank, none but the Political Adventurer and his adviser, the Daily Journalist. The amazing stupidity of the British public regarding the people whom it elects to govern it is perhaps the most remarkable fact in the modern history of Britain.

We think that if by some such system as that of the Proportional Representation Society Parliament and Government were to be filled, not by those who have never done anything in the world—the professional talkers, the men who are out for getting on in the world, the Men of Principle, the Cuffs-and-Collars Men, the Sniffers, and the Younger Sons—but by those who have previously demonstrated their ability by good work actually done, the State would no longer be afflicted by such obtuseness, want of forethought, ignorance of administration, and indifference to all the highest interests of life as have been exhibited in the management of it for many years past.

The world would be better governed by those who have a reputation to lose than by those who have a reputation to make. Why a popular novelist, a poet, a philosopher, or a theologian should not be able to achieve work of any kind as well as the demagogues of the hustings or the anonymous compilers of dignified logomachy in the Press it is impossible to understand.

When one looks round at the Governments, not only of Britain, but of the Colonies, one asks what on earth have these men ever done to justify the selection of them for their posts—the chief Departments of State managed by persons who do not possess a grain of knowledge upon the subjects which the Departments have to deal with, and our Colonies ruled by the poorer scions of our nobility. Behind it all the incessant, garrulous, and cacophonous frog chorus of the political fen of Journalism!

MAKING THE BEST OF IT

Use Old Plows to Get Money For Better Ones

If you cannot get the choicest seed, make the best of what you can get, and soon your crop will be better than ever. You may not have the best cow in the world, still, if she is the best you can get, bring out the very best there is in her by good feed and care. She will help you to earn money to buy the better cow you want. Money may be scarce; it often is in the spring of the year. Make every cent go just as far as you possibly can. That is the way to make two cents grow where there was only one before. Make the best of the old plow, the old harrow, and the old mower, and keep your eye out for better ones, bought with the money these well-worn tools make for you. But don't be satisfied with the things which are not the best of their kind. The best farming is done with the most up-to-date tools, the choicest seed, the finest cows. In every situation, under every circumstance, make the best of present conditions and work steadily toward the very best. Nothing can beat the man who does that.—Maritime Farmer.

WOODEN PAVEMENTS

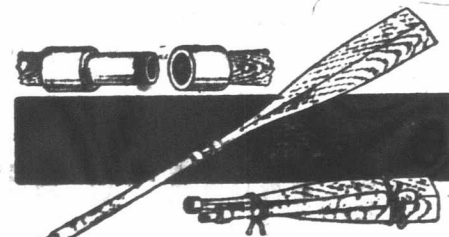

Preservative Makes Blocks Very Durable on Streets

Crescoted wood block pavements are rapidly becoming recognized as the most satisfactory of all street paving material. They are noiseless, durable, sanitary, and if properly treated and laid are distinctly economical. The failures in the past which have in some cases prejudiced cities against wood blocks have been corrected, so that there is no excuse now for the existence of any wood block pavement which doesn't meet all of the modern requirements of service. The improvements in the methods of treatment and laying are largely the result of organized activity by various associations representing either the lumber interests or wood-preserving plants.

Value of Sheep Manure

The manure of sheep is more valuable, weight for weight, than that of any of the other farm animals; but it is also more liable to loss through fermentation because of its lower moisture content than are the so-called "cold manures" of cattle and swine. Nitrogen is the principal fermentation loss, but leaching will affect both the phosphorus and potash content.

Take-down Emergency Oars

Owners of sail or power boats will find the take-down oars shown in the sketch easily made and of value in an emergency far out of proportion to the space occupied in a boat. A pair of ordinary oars was cut as shown, and pipe fittings were attached to the ends to form a detachable joint. When knocked down the oars may be stored in a seat cupboard, or other convenient place.—Popular Mechanics.

TO CURE A HARD MILKER

Some cows are naturally hard to milk; others are made hard by weak-handed milkers. A woman or child with hands not strong enough for milking causes a cow to become hard for anyone to milk. To cure such a cow, oil the teat freely before starting to milk, so that the oil will work into and soften the skin. Then milk the cow with as much force as possible, squeezing hard. This treatment will usually cure an ordinary hard milker. Once in a great while it is necessary to cut the muscle surrounding the inside of the teat with a lance-like knife. This, however, is very likely to ruin the cow if not done with great care to avoid cutting too much and causing permanent leakage. It also makes a sore which is painful to the cow at the time of milking, and if done when the cow is giving milk, the wound grows together and the muscle becomes tighter than before.

SELLING THE FEATHERS

How to Separate Turkey Feathers Into Classes and Prepare

The following facts on marketing turkey feathers are well worth remembering: The quills from the third joint or tip end of the wing are called pointers, and should be kept separate. In packing, keep tail and wing feathers separate. Tie each kind in bundles by itself, and press the bundles in the boxes tightly. All feathers must be clean, sound and dry-picked. The wing quills which have full plumage on both sides of the quill, which come from the first and second joints of the wing next the body, are more valuable than, and should be kept separate from, the pointers. The tail feathers should be kept by themselves and are the most valuable. The short tail and wing quills, if saved, should be kept separate from the long ones, as they depreciate their value if mixed with them. The directions for shipping are to mark the correct weight and tare on the boxes, also the name of the shippers, and ship as "turkey bodied quills."

SAVING DROWNED CHICKS

Put Stiff Little Boys Into Warm Oats and Watch

A heavy rainstorm coming up too quickly for me to get my chicks in left me dismayed, but not surprised, for the ground was level, with no way for the water to run off, to find lifeless chickens scattered all about. A visiting friend declared the little chicks could be saved. This seemed impossible, as they were already stiff, but she insisted, so we gathered them up—a candy pail full. Under her direction, I filled several large pans with oats, heated them, and into these put the chickens, covering the pans with cloth and setting them on the stove and into the oven. This warmed the chickens thoroughly, and I lost only six.—I. G. Witt.

"There's Many a Slip"

Few, probably, know the history of "There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip," which is a translation of a Greek proverb. Aeneas, an ancient King of the Samos, was fond of gardening, and planted some vines in his garden. But he was told by a prophet that he would never taste wine from them. Time went, and the wine being duly made, Aeneas was lifting a cup of it to his lips, at the same time asking the prophet mockingly where his prophecy was now. "There's many things between the cup and the lip," replied the prophet. As he spoke a loud tumult was heard outside, and Aeneas was told that a wild boar had broken in. Hurriedly putting the cup down without drinking, he rushed out to join the hunt against the boar, and was killed. And the prophet's remark, turned into a hexameter verse, passed into a proverb.

HAIG A QUIET LEADER

Stodious, Reserved Officer Who Was Marked For Promotion by Work

When Sir John French became Viscount French a new and comparatively unknown officer took in his hands the responsibility for the lives of countless British soldiers. Sir Douglas Haig who had been commander of the first army. Of the Commander Frederick Palmer writes: No military leader is more averse to publicity or works more silently than Sir Douglas Haig, the British Commander-in-Chief in France. To those who are importunate for the offensive his answer is patience and yet again patience. His generals say that he never tells them his plans; only what they are to do. Probably not one man out of ten of the millions under his command would recognize him if they saw him. Not given to reviews or any kind of display, this quiet and studious Scotsman was the choice of the progressive, practical, driving element of the army as the one fit by equipment, training and experience to succeed Sir John French. At fifty-five he was on appointment nine years younger than Sir John and ten years younger than Joffre or von Hindenburg.

There is a story that he entered the army as the result of a boyish wager. He went through Oxford with distinction before he entered the military school at Sandhurst. But no sooner had he received his commission, later in life than most officers because of the time that he had spent at Oxford, than he set out with the thoroughness of the student to master every branch of his profession. "It was in Berlin in the nineties that I met a Captain Haig who was studying German and the German army," said an Englishman. "I was struck by his industry—not a brilliant man, perhaps, but a sound and well-balanced one. A little hesitant of speech, what he did say went to the heart of things."

He studied the French army, too, and the history of all campaigns with the systematic thoroughness that he applied to everything. It was the same with his pastimes as his profession. Whether he had talent for it or not he made himself a first class golf player, though the form which he developed did not excite the envy of professionals. At the British Army Staff College, where officers learn organization he was a marked man before he acted as chief-of-staff to General French in South Africa in the operation that made French's reputation. He was a soldier who had won solid professional esteem, though the public had hardly heard of this reserved, undemonstrative worker.

Of the men of command rank in the British army in August, 1914, he and Sir William Robertson—another studious man who had risen from the ranks—were the two who were appraised by the generation of officers who had developed since South Africa as having prepared themselves for the direction of large bodies of troops on the scale of continental warfare. They were not the magnetic, dashing leader type, but organizers.

LIGHT IN THE BARN

Dingy Stables Breed Disease in Many Canadian Farms

One of the commonest mistakes made in planning Canadian farm buildings is the small number of windows in the stables. In the placing of the buildings, in their relation to one another or to other surroundings, care may have been taken, but in so many instances there has been an utter disregard of the proper lighting of the stables. Many fine barns and stables, well painted and of excellent outward appearance, are miserably lighted and are dark and gloomy within.

Prevention is better than cure, and light is the cheapest preventive measure known against disease. Dark and dingy stables are much more favorable for the development and spread of disease than a stable flooded with light. In working it is both difficult and unpleasant to grope one's way around in a stable which is dark when the sun is shining. The work can be done better, in less time and more cheerfully in a well-lighted stable than in one where at the brightest time of the day a dismal twilight reigns. For the sake of comfort and health, which means, incidentally, greater profits, let us have more light in our farm buildings.

Sheep at the Pacific

William Thompson, owner of the SX ranch in the Aspin Grove, Nicola Valley, British Columbia, says that the sheep industry throughout the valley is proving a big success both financially and numerically. Mr. Thompson is an old sheep owner in Montana and Idaho, and speaking of these states in comparison with British Columbia, says that the latter has many advantages in its favor. "One I might mention is that we are not subject to the equinoctial storms that raise such havoc and cause large losses to Idaho and Montana sheep breeders."

"NOT CHARITY I WANT"

The Returned Soldier Wants A Fair Chance, and shall Have It

A soldier limped into a restaurant in Quebec, where he had just landed with a big bunch of other wounded men. A civilian, about to dine, invited the soldier to join him.

"Thanks," said the man in khaki, sitting down, "but I'll pay for my own dinner." He evidently had a wholesome horror of being regarded as an object of charity.

"I respect your feeling," said the civilian, "but see here,—my boy's over there, and wounded like you. As I can't have him home for his Thanksgiving Dinner, won't you let me adopt you as my son for the occasion?"

Only then did the soldier give in.

He talked quite freely about his experience, though disposed to make light of his own trouble. Of all remarkable things he had noticed, the most extraordinary, in his opinion, was the freedom of the army from that scourge of former wars, enteric fever owing of course to the scientific measures of prevention now in force.

But, after all, the war was not behind him, and he was thinking more of what lay before him.

"It's not charity I want," he declared, emphatically. "I just want a chance for making my own way. I've a wife and two children, and the sooner I can get back and make a living for them the better I'll be pleased. Yet they tell me I must have two months more treatment; and even then I can't go back to my old work."

Fortunately the civilian knew what was being done, and was able to reassure him.

"That's the job of the Military Hospitals Commission," he said.

"It's not only at the front that up-to-date scientific methods are being used to keep men in health. They are being used in the Convalescent Hospitals here, to give them back the health they have lost, and find out work they can do best, and fit them for it."

"And I hear," the soldier said, "that if I have to take up a new job, the Government will pay maintenance allowances for my wife and children while I'm getting trained?"

"That's true."

"Then it's all right," he said. "People say that jobs won't be as plentiful when all the boys come back. But once I've made a start and got a footing I know I can make good and keep my job. I'm not afraid. But, mind you, I want no charity, only a fair chance. And the other boys'll tell you the same thing."

They shall have it those wounded boys of ours.

"Not charity, but a fair chance."

Splendid Work of the 26th Battalion

A letter from a member of the 26th Battalion, dated after the battle of Courcellette, announces that Capt. Cecil Porter is now in command of B. Company in the absence of Major Percy McAvity, who is in England, rapidly recovering from his wounds. The letter speaks enthusiastically of the work of the company and the battalion in this engagement, and indicates an opinion that honors are due to several as a result of the splendid work accomplished. Special mention is made of the stand of A. Company, in which Capt. Fairweather lost his life. He was hit by a hand grenade and had his right side badly torn. Death, however, came from a head wound received about the same time. It took place in a German counter attack just after Courcellette was taken. The location was in a place known as the Sunken Road, which was being held by the battalion at that time. Old A. Company did nobly in that they ran short of English ammunition, used German rifles and ammunition, and even German bombs and kept the Hun off. The battalion saved the situation. The writer says that Major Jack MacKenzie did excellent work and is now in London as a result of his services. The achievements of the second division in this action is considered by all campaigners as equalling the splendid record made by the first Canadians at Ypres, and shows that the Canadians of the later division are in every way equals of the best men having the splendid record made for Canada in the earlier engagements.

Bath Breezes

The farmers are all busy hauling in their crop of turnips. Never in the history of New Brunswick has that farm product brought the price paid today, and this, too, is only a sample of many things the farmers have to offer for sale, such as eggs, butter and meat, the prices of which were never higher.

Rev. Dr. R. Heine, the Bible missionary of St. John, delivered a very interesting discourse here on Sunday afternoon. Dr. Heine is always a welcome visitor here.

Mrs. Gideon Tracey, formerly of Hartland, but who has been spending some time late years in California and Boston, has been visiting relatives here during the past week.

William Martin is at home for a few days from his work in Cape Breton.

John Hayes and Mr. VanDerstein of this place are visiting Prince Edward Island at the present.

Miss M. Ethel Simms of this place is spending a few days with relatives at Houlton.

C. P. Furlong, the accommodating manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia here for the past two years, has been removed to the management of the same bank at East Florenceville, his place here being temporarily filled by Mr. Hunter of Florenceville.

A Youthful Bride

Dorothy Hinch, a 14 year-old girl, left her home at Forest Station, on the Maine Central Railroad, near Vanceboro, recently, to resume her studies in Bangor. But she didn't. She went to New Brunswick, was married in St. Stephen or a nearby Canadian town to a young man named Lyons, who has been working under her father and boarded in her home for a year, and has gone to start housekeeping at McAdam Junction, where her husband has a position.

TIME FOR ADVERTISING

There are times when it takes faith to advertise. If business is dull and people out of work, it takes a persistent merchant to keep drumming his bargains into the public mind. It pays even then, but not everyone can see it.

The advantages of advertising at the present date seem too obvious to call for much argument. The country is prosperous whether you regard that prosperity to the European war or two the present Administration. As a whole, the people have money to spend. The merchant with any spirit of enterprise takes advantage of this prosperity.

Times like these are as great a help to merchandise as if the population of the town had suddenly increased. With suitable pushing, any store ought greatly to increase its sales. But those who make no effort to get it will not do much more business than usual. The people are reading the newspapers to see how long felt wants can be supplied at the lowest figure.—Waterville Sentinel.

Famous Passamaquoddy Indian Dead at Age of 103

Dr. Socis Neptune, one hundred and three years old, one of the most famous tribesmen of the Passamaquoddy Indians, died Wednesday, Oct. 4, at his home on the Pleasant Point reservation, near Calais.

He was born in a birch bark wigwam at Princeton, but had lived the most of his life at Pleasant Point. He was long the doctor of the tribe, using root and herb remedies of which he had a wide knowledge. He was also well versed in the lore of the early Maine Indians and of his tribe. He was reticent in his dealings, with whites and could speak but little English, preferring his native tongue.

He was a very devout Catholic, never without his rosary and prayer book and always attended St. Annes church as long as health would permit. He assisted at the flag day in June when the G. A. R. unveiled a tablet in memory of the Indian soldiers in the war of the Revolution, but was injured by a fall, and has failed since.

He is survived by his wife, four sons and a daughter, besides thirty-two grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Houlton Potato Market Lively

Houlton, Me.—Owing to the heavy rain Monday very few potatoes were hauled in. The price paid Monday was $2 per barrel, although a few barrels were reported sold at the C. P. R. for $3.25 per barrel. Farmers are now hauling in freely, and many are depositing large amounts of money in the local banks. Nearly all the farmers in the vicinity of Houlton have about finished digging. It is understood that there are still many acres undug in the northern part of the county. In northern Aroostook, farmers plant on a much larger scale than in the southern part of the country, and owing to a scarcity of help this fall it has been a serious matter in getting the harvesting done. Ploughing is now in order and many fields are being prepared for next year's crop. Potatoes will be the principal crop as in years past.

Speaking of good roads in the province, the annual waste of money by turning the contents of the ditches up on the surface of the roads to be churned into mud by the fall rains, goes merrily on, and the Clarke government makes no move to change the system. The Hon. B. Frank Smith, however, has told a Montreal paper in effect that the opposition road policy appeals to him, and he may annex it in the near future.—Times.

NIXON'S

A Pointer for Local Merchants

The advertising manager of one of the largest mail-order houses in Canada in a talk before the members of an advertising club recently gave some interesting information on how they secured much of their business. He said:

"We have a bureau whose duty it is to read each week the country newspapers from all over the country.

"There is not a paper of any consequence in our trade territory that our bureau does not get. This bureau looks over these papers and when we find a town where the merchants are not advertising in the local papers, we immediately flood that territory with our literature. It always brings results far in excess of the same effort put forth in territory where local merchants use their local paper."

That is the mail-order situation. The local merchant who does not use his local paper for advertising has only himself to blame when worth-while business goes by the mail order route to Toronto.

Let us help you with your advertising. Just give us a hint and we'll show you how our service will make money for you.
