What To Burn In Case of a Coal Strike

Apparently Impossible To Prevent a Tie-Up in Both Anthracite and Bituminous Fields-Soft Coal Operators Making Final Effort To Prevent Strike by Compromise.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 28 .- The ub-committee this afternoon announced it was unable to agree, and it would so report to the full conference t 3 o'clock. The members said their arguments had brought about a coninuation of the deadlock, as operators and miners repeated their positions of a week ago.

Cleveland, O., March 28.-Hope of averting a widespread coal strike in he United States beginning next Monlay, centred today in a sub-committee which had been appointed by bituminous operators and miners to agree, if possible, on a compromise wage scale. All other means of agreeing had failed, and it was said that unless a compromise was effected soon 350,-900 miners in the bituminous fields would quit Sunday midnight, and the suspension would be in effect a strike.

As for the 175,000 miners in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania it was announced by national union oficials today that a strike there next Monday noon was unavoidable.

A previous reference to sub-committee had resulted in failure "A strike in the anthracite fields may be said already to have been ordered," said John P. one -- - cube of hard wood. A piece of tin from an old can. A piece of brass, one-fourth of an inch square and thirteen inches long, which will cost 10 cents. Two binding posts, which cost no nere than 5 cents each.

Now we're going to turn our big square-ended and well-shellaced spool into a tuning coil. A tuning coil, by the way, is the instrument with which you tune your wireless so that you can catch either the weak waves of the small wireless outfits or the heavy waves of such great outfits as are used on the liners at sea.

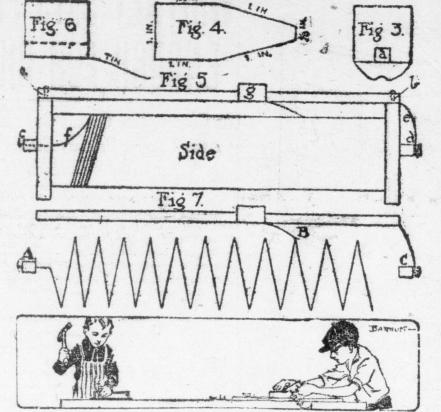

Lengthwise, across the face of the coil, scrape away the shellac and the insulation from the wire, until you have a strip of naked, shining wire, one-fourth of an inch wide, as shown in A to B, figure 2. Be sure that you scrape clean, because now we are going to make a sliding spring that will slide along over the face of the coil, and we want to be sure spring touches the wire closely, when-ever we move it. It is by this spring that we tune our wireless.

Now, to make the spring. on one face of the one-inch cube of wood, cut a groove one-fourth of an inch deep and one-fourth of an inch wide, like in figure 3, so that in this groove the cube will slip easily along the piece of brass like a weight slips along the beam of a scale.

Cut a piece of tin one inch wide and two inches long and taper one-half of it down to a point one-eighth of an inch wide, as in figure 4. Tack the untapered end of the tin onto the grooved side of the cube. Now run your brass rod through the slit in the of bare wire, two inches long under tector.

LONDON, THURSDAY, MARCH 28.

HOW THEY LOOK AT IT. Opinion on Mr. Rowell's temperance policy falls into four categories:

1. Opposition through motives of self-interest. This class is not restricted to persons directly engaged in the manufacture and sale of liquor There are other trades which profit by the business of the barroom, and there are large financial interests intertwined with the liquor traffic.

2. Advocates of total prohibition who look askance at anything that falls

3. Conservatives who, though professing to favor the temperance cause. look at Mr. Rowell's policy through partisan spectacles and pretend to see only a political dodge.

4. Men of all parties who would welcome the abolition of the bar as a great and practical measure for the reduction of the evils of the liquor traffic, and who, therefore, welcome its advocacy by any public man.

The last class comprises the majority of the people of the province, and the majority of the voters. Not all the life-long Conservatives among them, or even the majority, will leave their party on this issue, but there are thousands of electors in this province, and they are a growing number, who are not tied to party, and who look on the temperance question as the most important one in Provincial politics. Many of them have for some years not been convinced that the difclined to suspect the good faith of the Liberal leader in the last election. They are a minority just now, and will be for years to come; but Liberalism, to be true to its traditions must anpeal to the element which is attracted take the stump for Sir James Whitney by a moral issue in politics. True in the next Ontario election. Liberals ask only this of their and do not demand that they find the shortest cut to office.

IMPEDIMENTS TO MARRIAGE.

Dean Sumner and his co-workers at the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul. Chicago, have decided with the approval of Bishop Anderson to demand hereafter a certificate of health from persons wishing to be married at the cathedral. The Record-Herald explains that there is "no eugenic theory or fad evenly remotely connected with the reform." The step has been carefully considered and "the certificate required is merely to state that the applicants are normal physically and mentally, and have neither an incurable nor communicable disease."

This is entirely a praiseworthy action, an example to the state. onus of initiating thd carrying out such measures ought not to be left to the church. The state must lend its support. Just now Dr. Godfrey's bill is before the Ontario Legislature. It does not amount to much except as exciting general interest in this whole question of health and marriage, It is time the state went as far as the cathedral clergy of Chicago, and made it impossible for persons affected with incurable or communicable diseases to procure a marriage certificate.

Safeguards must be thrown round marriage, in justice to all parties concerned in so vital a matter. Every physician will hold up both hands for a measure along the lines judiciously chosen by the Chicago church. No bar need, of course, be set against mere physical defects or weaknesses; almost nobody is one hundred per cent. sound. But certain specified diseases of mind When from a city hardware store or of body should be positively a bar Emerged a gentleman who bore against the marriage certificate.

Especially in large cities this is a desideratum. A little wisdom applied in legislation, and it ought to be forth. From there our hero premptly went coming from men even without woman's suffrage, will save thousands from misery and preserve the integrity of home and social foundations. The stitch in time is required of our legislators. Parents who have been indifferent or careless or embarrassed by a false sense of propriety, should rise up and see to it that the plan of the Chicago clergy is given state sanction. Opinion has been for some time crys tallizing in this direction. Eugenics is steadily gaining ground, and so moderate an application of the science ought to appeal to all thoughtful citizens. SIR JAMES STILL OBDURATE.

The tax reform question was before the Legislature Wednesday in a nonpartisan or bi-partisan form,, which would have allowed the Premier to discuss it on its merits if he had been so disposed. The bills fathered respectively by Mr. Ellis, of Ottawa, a Conservative, and by Mr. Rowell, were considered together. The first sought to give any municipality the right to gradually exempt improvements. Mr.

ties to abolish taxation on improvements at one stroke.

The Premier and Mr. Hanna asserted that the Government would never consent to the "piebald or checkerpoard system of assessment" permitted by both bills. But the piebald or checker-board system is not so ominous as the phrase sounds. If the Gov. ernment is to refuse to allow one municipality to wholly exempt improvenents, another to partially exempt them and another to make no exemption, it will have to remove discrepancies that already exist. Mr. Mc-Donald, of Centre Bruce, stated the truth when he said it would be hard to find two assessors in a rural riding who assessed improvements on the same principle " Mr. Hanna gave his own case away when he admitted that today some municipalities assessed improvements at 50 per cent. of their value, and others at only 25 per cent. Sir James Whitney also demolished his own bogey by alleging that not 50 chool sections in rural Ontario would carry a proposal to exempt improvements in whole or in part. If Sir James believes this, what has he to fear from a policy of local option in assessment? The question goes to a committee which will hear evidence, but Sir James has given fair warning that he ject, and that he regards the committee as a means of interment. But the question is too much alive to b buried by one man's obstinacy. Tribute is due these Conservatives, lergymen among them, who in ves terday's Advertiser frankly expressed their approval of Mr. Rowell's banishthe-bar plank

Bronchitis begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, and there is a dry, harsh,

NEW METHOD OF COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY

Remarkable Results Obtained By Two English Experimenters.

London, March 28.—A new method of color photography, embodying extraordinary brilliant results, has just een demonstrated before the Royal Photographic Society. The peculiarity of the method is that no special color plates are necessary, nor is there any introduction of artificial colored particles. A plain negative, as in ordinary photography, is taken and a lanplaced before his vision. Jim is glad purely optical means, using a grating that he found his molars. It will save and a prism, the picture in natural colors is faithfully reproduced.

The process is the work of two brothers, Ernest and Julius Rheinberg. and is called the micro-spectra method of color photography by prismatic disposition. The method necessitates a special and costly camera, and is herefore put forward for its scientific interests, and not as a commercial proposition. It turns upon the use of a grating, or line screen, which splits up into immense numbers of tiny spectra, one hundred to the inch, and each one complete. The grating is used in making the negatives, and later, when placed behind a positive, when made from the negative, it enables black and white pictures to appear in the exact color of nature. The results of the method were prejected on an aluminum screen, and were declared to be unsurpassed in fidelity of color rendering by any method in vogue at present. Its ability to render the texture of distinctive heen on such articles as silk, china, or glass, is remarkable.

Muscles Useless Without Nerve Force

Perhaps you are not quite clear on he relation of the nerves to the rest of the body. Through the nerve fibres which extend through countless branches to every nook and corner of the human system is conveyed the motive power which operates the various organs.

There could be no breathing, no eating of the heart, no flow of the ligestive fluids, no action of any muscle or organ of the body without herve force. CHAPTER III.

In Which Opportunity Comes the earlier vision of youth fading swiftly as I realized what the message of this card plainly meant, and contem-plated the social gulf yawning between myself and this woman of the English aristocracy. Dreams are exceedingly pleasant companions when aroused by bright eyes and rosy lips, but there are bounds even the imaginings of youth can hardly overstep, and this was such an one. No doubt from her secure pedestal of birth and rank she could easily afford to smile down in simulated equality upon me ously, or to become entangled in a mesh from which there was no escape. A cat may look at a king, and a South American advantage and along aside while I entered.

Oh, well, it was not much I had to overcome—merely an impression, a fugitive admiration which would early perish, for it was hardly probable we should ever meet again, in spite of his lordship's stiff invitation, and here exceedingly warm glance secretly seconding it.

I smiled grimly at though of so insane a dream of love at such a time and place. But a smile can leave a deeper wound than a sword, and my mind would recur, in spite of other intervening thoughts, to the pleasant mystery behind her gracious words and action. I was thus lingering over the nuts and wine, dreaming a fool's dream, and idly wondering at the cause of that endless racket in the streets below, with the chorus of vivas arising from the crowded plaza, when the open window facing my table became suddenly darkened by a burly figure. Before I could push back my chair the unwelcome intruder on my privacy was politely bowing before me, one hand

CULTURE VS. SLANG

[By Cynthia Grey.]

To return once more to the subject of slang. It has occurred to me that my remarks in a previous issue may have been misconstrued by some. I belleve I suggested that many current slang phrases came from a misuse of the Bible and Shakespeare's works. Not for a minute would I wish to be interpreted as discouraging the reading of these great books, or reflecting pon them in any way. In my opinion they are the two greatest treasure houses of English literature, and no one, man or woman, who desires to attain the finest possible culture should neglect their study.

Unfortunately, it is the slang phrases-phrases which are not slang in their Biblical or Shakespearean contexts, but become so when used to piece out colloquial speech today-that are most easily retained in the minds of some people. "Meek as Moses" or "By the skin of his teeth" are two instances from the Bible.

"Great Caesar!" occurs in the Shakepearean play of Julius Caesar. Other expressions now in every-day use could be cited. Anyone who studied the Bible or Shakespeare aright would be chary of vulgarizing them by picking out such oddities.

Newspapers have a great responsibility in this respect While many slang phrases may be permissible on the sporting pages, they do not look well in the body of the paper No doubt it is due to the hurry of composition that the vernacular appears so often in news matter. surprising, too, how many educated men and women use slang phrases from choice. One could excuse this in persons having a rather impoverished vocabulary, but with well-educated people it is a combination of carelessness and laziness that hesitates at the mental exertion of finding a English suffragettes. It was found in substitute for one of the catchy words of the hour. It may be contended Regent street after the recent outthat a slang word frequently expresses a thought more briefly and pointedly than legitimate English, but this is no excuse. Thinking people should cudgel their brains to find pure English.

Of course there is slang and slang. There are a great many words which were at first accounted as being slang, but which have become absorbed into the language, and are now considered perfectly respectable English. Such words are "graft," "fake," "ragtime."

But remember this, any slang phrase or word, no matter how racy it may seem to be at first, becomes a weariness to the ear when too oft repeated.

Beauty of soul, love of God and his reatures, human sympathy and kindness, make the world beautiful, cross off all the marks of time and sorrow. LONDON CLUB EXPECTS TO LAND A MANAGER SOMETIME THIS WEEK Tigers Were Unable to Score

Hundreds of Applications Are Pouring In, But Choice Is Proving To Be a Difficult Problem-Jo Jo Keenan Released, and Is Now Free To Sign With Any Other Club.

HE London Club management are beginning to have their oubles in selecting a manager for the London team this season. A few days ago a representative of a sporting weekly across the border called upon the secretary, and stated that he wanted to get a little bit of dope about the local club. During the conversation it was mentioned that the team was still without a manager. When the article was published, the whole substance of it was that the London club was scouring high and low for farther than Sam Crawford or Frank a man to fill the managerial berth, Sine then the secretary has been flooded with letters from applicants for the job. The first mail brought about a dozen letters. The next mail contained about fifteen, and the number is increasing with every mail. Yesterday afternoon the local management received somewhere in the neighborhood of forty letters, and if the present rate continues until the end of the week it is reckoned that there will be about 950 applications for a manager for the local club. It brings to mind that little story about "Pigs is Pigs," and the management are seriously considering the appointment of an assistant secretary or two, together with three or four stenographers.

WHERE DO THEY COME FROM?

If the letters are any criterion, the big leagues are overlooking some of the best managers in the world. One fellow states that "Muggsie" Mc-Graw never had anything on him when it comes to leading a bunch of ballplayers pennantwards. Another writes that he is in the same class with Connie Mack and Hughie Jennings, and when it comes to managing a baseball team he is the royal flush that cops the jackpot. Another is pleased to inform the local directors that he once managed a shoe store over in Missouri, and he just about reckons that he would make a first-class manager for a baseball club. One applicant states that he once got a letter from a man who was a personal friend of Manager Frank Chance, of the Cubs, and he thinks this will about fit him to handle the London job.

But to be serious, the letters that the management have received form a pile that would fill several waste-paper baskets, and they are still pouring Some of them appear to be from men who would fill the bill nicely, and these are being given the proper attention. Others, however, are hopeless and at the first reading they are relegated to the wast-paper basket.

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY. A meeting of the directors of the club was held yesterday afternoon, and the question of a manager was discussed. Bill Smith, who managed the Adrian Club, of the South Michigan League, last season, and was recommended to the local officials by President Frank Navin, of the Detroit club, was the man who was slated for the position, but a telegram was received from him yesterday stating that he had signed with a New England club.

However, several other good men have been recommended for the job and, although no names have been given out as yet, a manager will be selected this week and will report in London some time next week to arrange matters with the local directors. One of the most likely applicants for the position is a former Jersey City, International League, player. He is an infielder, and would fill the vacancy at third base to a nicety. If the proper terms can be arranged, he will be asked to report in London right away but the management are taking one last look around before fixing on to any body definitely.

JO JO GOT HIS RELEASE.

Jo Jo Keenan was given his release yesterday, and he is now free to sign with any team Jo says that he has two or three places to go, but has not yet decided just where to play this season. He has an offer from a team in the Western Canada League, and a chance has also been given him to play with one of the South Michigan League teams. Every man who had a grievance met the president in private and came out smiling. There were no holdouts. The much magnified Backman trouble was settled in about ten minutes on Tuesday night. Today some of the other players got larger numerals written into their contracts than decorated the same contracts last year. The Toronto policy of liberality will be maintained. PERRY SLIGHTLY SPIKED

Pitcher Martini, of the New Orleans Club, Was Too Fast for the Detroit Team.

New Orleans, La., March 27 .- One Martini, a hurler with a $30,000 arm and a two-penny head, a fellow who can stand at the home plate of any diamond in the land and throw a ball speed that his catcher wears a double glove to pretect his hand, but who outside of shooting them over the pan can do little else required of a pitcher, hurled nine fast innings against Jennings' men this afternoon, held them o one scratch hit in the first seven innings and a total of four one-base knocks for the entire contest and shut hem out, eight to nothing.

Martint handed the Tigers a look at he fastest exhibition of heaving they have encountered at this time of the year in any season. Not being as yet accustomed to peeping at the speed marvels, they did little. With two down in the eighth, Martini filled the sacks, but Charlies O'Leary's fly provided the third out

Press of Western Ontario Urges Importance of Organized Publicity for Resources-Towns and Villages Are Blazing the Way.

The "Stay in Ontario" campaign is gathering impetus every day. Newspapers all over the western province are taking up the cry and urging upon their respective districts the expenditure of large sums of money for publicity purposes. Such men as President G. C. mer's Advocate, has the following to say of the "Stay in Ontario" movement: A timely and praiseworthy campaign of publicity has been undertaken by The London Advertiser on behalf of the outstanding natural advantages of Western Ontario from the farming point of view. This is a wholesome display of enterprise that should be emulated generally by the newspaper press of Eastern Canada, the light of which has too long been

"hid under a bushel" of self-satisfied apathy, while people were drifting away in shoals with the hope of "bettering themselves" in newer regions. It is not necessary to "knock" the States or the West, but rather to awaken in the minds of men, young and old, a sensible appreciation of the priceless privileges lying undeveloped about their immediate doors. People are apt to forget even the cash advantages of an equitable climate, capability to produce with certainty fruits and all sorts of field crops, opportunities of marketing, transportion privileges, electrical power, schools, churches, etc., while dreaming of something that seems cheap and easy in the distance.

It is doubtful if anywhere in the world farming can be pursued with more success and satisfaction than in scores of regions like Western Ontario scattered all over the eastern provinces of Canada, the privileges and the lands of which have all along been held too cheaply.

It may require plenty of ability and knowledge to farm well, but it will pay. There is every opportunity for intelligent capacity in a choice of farm pursuits, and The Advertiser is doing the country, the people, the towns and itself a valuable service in thus breaking fresh journalistic ground. It beats all sensational "yellow" newspaper schemes that ever were tried.

No Use in Reading the Agreement Says Representative of a Hamilton Concern

Toronto, March 28.-The board of investigation appointed under the anticombines act, to investigate the complaints of the shoe manufacturers against the United Shoe Machinery ompany, charged with being a combination in restraint of trade, heard a number of Ontario shoe manufacirers at the King Edward Hotel. Judge Laurendeau, chairman, and Mr. J. C. Walch, editor of the Mont-real Herald, were the members of the board in attendance. The testimony showed that the Shoe Machinery Company did not sell, but eased their machines to the manufacturers. The leases run for 20 years, and are so drafted that the manufac turer cannot buy or lease any other machines for stitching, inseaming, lasting, or heeling. If he does so he runs the risk of having all his ma-chines of every kind taken away from him by the Shoe Machinery Company. The machines are thus "tied" to one another by a chain of contracts, and witnesses frankly stated that they had no choice about agreeing to any terms imposed by the Shoe Machinery Com-

Sea Grass Furniture Made in

DURABLE, ATTRACTIVE, INEXPENSIVE

Many designs on our floors just opened up for your close inspection. Chairs, Rockers, Settee, Tables, Curates and Bedroom Chairs.

Say, What Is Sea Grass Furniture?

First: The grass used is grown in the China Sea. The sea grass is spun into twine, and interwoven with reed, thus forming an almost indestructible combination. Second: The furniture is made on solid Malacca cane frames, and of the best selected sea grass. Third: They are practically impervious to water, and are in no way affected by weather conditions. There is a slight give to the grass and the Malacca cane when the chair is being used, which makes it most comfortable to sit in. Better and cheaper than rattan, reed or willow furniture. The sea grass is a cream color, but can be stained any color you may desire at a small advance. All sizes, and prices right. Just have a look at them.

PICKETS' PARADE ENDS IN A RIOT

Police Are Waiting for His Sen- Textile Strikers Pelt Windows of Cotton Mills at Lowell.

[Canadian Press.]

Lowell, Mass., March 28. - The first lestruction of mill property, since the beginning of the strike of textile workers, and the resulting shutdown of half a dozen cotton mills, took place today during a parade of several hundred strikers. Windows were broken by paraders in the factory of the Bigelow Carpet Company, greatest menace at times of freshets. where the strikers are endeavoring to cause a suspension of work, and in the United States Bobbin and Shuttle Company's plant. Stones, chunks of ice and clubs were thrown in each place. No peron was hurt. One man was arrested and locked up on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

The parade from which the trouble developed was the outgrowth of a picket ine formed during the hour preceding the opening of the mills. With the declar ation by labor leaders last night that the strike against the Lawrence Manufacturing Company, a hosiery plant, was off, and the announcement by the United States Bunting Company that an addiional increase in wages of 5 per cent. making a total of 10 per cent, had been granted, the strikers concentrated their efforts this morning against the plant of the Bigelov Manufacturing Company. They were unsuccessful.

The strike pickets then formed on the parade order and marched through Marset street twice.

A Good Suggestion. Forget the word breakwater, and have the wall come to be known as the Thames embankment, was the uggestion of Ald. Coles, who expressed the belief that "breakwater" has a norrible and ominous sound to some people. The city engineer is now fig uring on something more in reason from a financial standpoint, and will have his plans ready in a few days. In the meantime it is the intention of the committee to have $5,000 or $6,000 laced in the estimates for the perormance of a portion of the permanent works this year. Ald. Coles' idea s that the embankment should be videned and ornamented with an artistic lighting system. If it should be the guests at home, which was not found impossible to make the whole a difficult matter, considering that ength of the breakwater into a park Steward McMurphy had charge of the property sections could be beautified refreshments, in which capacity he vith trees, shrubs and flower beds. If West London property-owners would facing on the breakwater, the plan could be carried out much more readily, and the property of the whole district would benefit vastly by such improvements, West Londoners must in-terest themselves in the schemes and end their co-operation, otherwise the proposal cannot be carried out in the city council. The Situation. Some of the aldermen may not know low really serious the situation is, Ald, Coles continued, otherwise action would be taken speedily. The Blackfriars dam should be removed, and protection should also be afforded the property-owners on the east side of the river at that point, as their places Mr. R. Gorden Brown, of Brigden. are being damaged greatly each year. The people should be taught not to lump every kind of rubbish into the river to make it a cesspool during the time of low water in the summer months.

Garbage and storm water sewerage ystems will have to be taken up this ear, together with the most vital question of all-the city hall construc-

MANAGER C. B. KING DENIES THE STORY

No Truth in Statement That Men Are Quitting in Large Numbers.

Manager King, of the London Street Railway, denies the report that since the first of the month nearly 40 employees have quit the railway. He claims that the report has been spread by a couple of motormen who quit last week because they were reprimanded. The motormen in question were spoken to in regard to their cars being late at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets the other evening by the inspector. They became angry, and with the retort that he, the inspector, had better run the cars himself, quit the job.

Funds in the Estimates.

The reducing of the item for fire department purposes which had been placed in the City of London bill, does not mean that Fire Chief Aitken will the strategic point in youth, and have to go without an automobile this year. As the matter now stands, No. 3 committee will consider the purchase of a machine for the chief at its meeting on Friday night, and it is alto-gether likely that the council will be asked to place a sum in the estimates for the year sufficient to buy a proper car for the head of the fire depart

It is said that an auto for the chief will cost about $2,500 or $3,000. No light machine, some of the aldermen claim, will stand being driven over the roads at a fire fighter's pace, and a car similar to that, or nearly as heavy, as the one driven by Engineer Glaubitz, will be sought for Chief

SAFE-BLOWERS AT ARVA GOT AWAY WITH $100

Dynamited the Safe In Hawkins' Flour Mills Office Early This Morning.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Arva, March 28.—Safeblowers were successful in dynamiting the big safe at Hawkins' mill here between 2 and 4 o'clock this morning. They secured $100, which was in the till and then hurricd away.

A son of Mr. Hawkins heard the crash, but thinking that the noise was made by horses in the stable, paid no attention to it. The office was badly wrecked and the safe door was shattered. As far as can be learned at the present time nothing else was taken but the money. Entrance to the building was obtained hrough a front window, The only clue that County Constable Corsaut has been able find is in the shape of a file which was discovered in the office. MISSION WORK AMONG
