FLAMES CAUSE LOSS OF $50,000

Fire Destroys Building Recently Occupied by International Creameries, Limited.

Blaze Gains Great Headway Before Firemen Reach Scene.

Damage estimated in the neighborhood of $50,000 was done by a fire which gutted the building recently occupied by the International Creameries, Ltd., and formerly by the Dominion Abattoir, on the outskirts of London, just northeast of Pottersburg.

Although workmen who were in the vicinity turned in an alarm when the blaze was small, the building was a furnace of flame when the firemen arrived, with such rapidity did the fire gain headway. The nearest source of water supply was 2,400 feet away in Pottersburg. By the time the water had passed through this long line of hose, the pressure was low, seriously impeding the firemen in their fight. However, the department was able to save part of the building on the east side, but the main portion was a total loss, the roof having fallen and the walls collapsed early in the afternoon.

The alarm was turned in at 2:35 o'clock, and the blaze had been placed under control a few hours later. Firemen were left on duty at the ruins until hours later, for the fire smoldered well into the night.

The building was of brick construction, 3 stories high, situated on the St. Marys branch of the G. T. R. and well isolated. It is owned by A. E. Greer of London.

MEET TO DISCUSS UNIVERSITY PROBE

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—The parliamentary committee appointed by the Ontario Legislature for the purpose of investigating the organization of the University of Toronto and its relation to the General Hospital and other affiliated institutions, held its initial meeting today at the Parliament Buildings.

Following brief discussion upon the procedure which it would follow in its probe, it thereupon adjourned until Nov. 16, the purpose of the intervening recess being that the committee members might have an opportunity to digest various official reports and to acquaint themselves with the intricacies of higher education.

AGED LOVER APPEALS TO REGISTRAR FOR LICENSE

WINDSOR, Oct. 25.—Mark Hard Woodruff, 73, and Sarah McDonald, 71, both of Hastings, Mich., smitten with the love bug, came to Windsor on Monday, believing they could be married here.

The aged bridegroom-elect told City Clerk Dickinson it was a marriage of experience, and he was anxious to avoid publicity.

Informing that without first establishing a residence here, he could not be granted a license, Woodruff inquired if there was no alternative, and was told that the registrar-general could authorize the issue of the license in an emergency.

The couple thought it over, and today Woodruff wired the Toronto official, asking authority for the immediate issuance of the license. The desired permission came by telegraph and the couple was married by Rev. W. A. Earp, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, this afternoon.

RAPS FREEING OF CONFESSED KILLER

Chief Justice Hunter Denounces Action of Jury at Nelson, B. C.

Nelson, B. C., Oct. 26.—Strong criticism of the verdict of the jury which recently acquitted Charles Beguin, an Argentinian rancher, on the charge of murdering Henry Mark Denorez, at the latter's place at Argentinia on Aug. 31 last, was made here yesterday by Chief Justice Hunter, in rejecting the application of Beguin to return to him the warrant with which he was admitted, at the trial, as a confessed man.

"A self-confessed man was allowed to go free by a jury of his peers, and for the first time, so far as I know, a special kind of lynch law has been sanctioned in this country. It makes no difference in principle whether the victim is slain by one man who lurks in ambush or by a mob who openly attacked him," his lordship said. "I am now asked to add further discredit to the administration of the law by returning the warrant to the assassin. I reject the application."

MRS. YOUNG TO HEAD SOCIETIES

ent of mission bands of the London Methodist Conference.

The only excuse for a church lacking a mission band, Mrs. Young declared, "was because there were no children in it. 'We are inclined to forget in this age,' she continued, 'that the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. At a time when we give so much attention to social service, there is a danger of thinking that a clean face and clean clothes are all-important and the beginning of wisdom.'

"Important as is the health of the child, we cannot afford to neglect the religious life, we cannot afford to overlook the fact that the supremely important safeguard is the fear of God in the heart and the armor of God."

Emphasis was laid on the value of hard work in making Christian Canadians of the little strangers within the gates, the children of newcomers to Canada.

Touching upon the subject of leadership in children's work, Mrs. Young declared that the chief requisites are love of children and love of God. She quoted Mary Foster Bryner, authority on children's work, to the effect that her success in leadership was due to the fact she was the eldest of nine children in a family.

Mrs. Barnard prefaced a comprehensive little journey through the study book for the year by voicing as her view that information and inspiration must go hand and hand, and that inspiration is impossible without information.

Stirred to Action.
"We were interested in the rumors of the fire in Northern Ontario," she said, "but it took the facts of the catastrophe to stir us to action."

Talking on "Christian Stewardship of Talents," Mrs. Dundas warned against the danger of loss of talents through allowing them to lie dormant. The greatest talent of all, she declared to be religious life, which can dwindle unless nourished and exercised.

The message of the conference W. M. S. president, Mrs. Gordon Wright, from the General Conference W. M. S. Board was reserved for the afternoon, when she took the place on the program of Miss Chase, missionary on furlough from Wahstas, Alberta, who was unable to be present.

Luncheon was served by the ladies of Robinson Memorial Methodist Church at 1 o'clock in the church.

After using her coffin as a dining table for nearly 50 years a French octogenarian was recently buried in it.

PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS MEET

Prominent Members of Profession Address Gathering At Chatham.

Dr. E. R. Secord and Dr. T. C. Routledge Speak At Luncheon

Special to London Advertiser.
CHATHAM, Oct. 25.—Surgeons and physicians from the counties of Essex, Kent, Lambton, Elgin and Middlesex met in the city today and listened to several interesting lectures by Dr. George McNeil of London, Dr. Duncan Graham, Dr. Perry Goldsmith and Dr. F. W. Marlow of Toronto.

This evening, at 6:30 o'clock, a luncheon was held at the Gray-Dort Club on Centre street, and addresses were given by Dr. E. R. Secord, president of the Ontario Medical Association, and Dr. T. C. Routledge, secretary of the association.

The first home and school club was formed in the city yesterday afternoon, when some eight mothers attended a meeting at Queen Mary School, on Queen street.

Mrs. Coltart of the board of education, presided over the meeting and outlined the duties of the club, after which the election of officers was held, resulting as follows:

President, Mrs. E. C. Briscoe; secretary, Mrs. G. D. Briscoe; treasurer, Mrs. Black; committee, Mrs. McGeorge, Mrs. Lauchlin, Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Schlenker, Mrs. Green and Miss Boyle.

Mrs. T. L. Perkins of Kansas City, was the speaker of the afternoon, and gave a general outline of the work of mothers' clubs in the city.

J. A. McBride of London, a freight conductor on the C.P.R., had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail when he was in the C.P.R. yards in Windsor this morning. By the time that the train arrived in this city the wound became very painful. He was taken to the office of Dr. Rutherford, the company physician, where the wound was his home, and was later removed to his home in London.

The demand for farm drain tile in Kent county is getting well beyond the available supply, owing to the large number of farm-drainage improvements that are taking place on Kent county farms this year, stated V. C. Lowell, drainage expert of the Ontario department of agriculture, in an interview today. Mr. Lowell further stated that, owing to the high cost of labor and fuel, the tile farmers have not carried as large a stock as usual, with the result that the farmers "have had to put the brakes on improvements." It is expected, however, that conditions will be improved within a short time.

When members of the Rotary Club held their weekly meeting today, they were greeted by grinning pumpkins, faces and halloween decorations. In anticipation of the annual evening of pranks. PARLIAMENT TO MEET NOV. 20 the new parliament any one party could have to elect 315 candidates. It will be seen, therefore, that the Conservatives and Liberals are the only two with enough candidates in the field to obtain an independent majority. Their organizations have been whipped into far better shape than those of the other parties.

Has Two Opponents.
One of the main centers of interest in the whole election is Glasgow, where the new prime minister, Andrew Bonar Law, has two opponents. In his campaign for re-election as the member from the central division of that city. Former Baillie Mitchell is his opponent on the Labor ticket and Sir George Paish is opposing him as a Free Liberal.

Labor is making a very strong campaign among the large population of Glasgow. At present only one of the fifteen constituencies in that city is represented by a Labor member, but the party has for a long time conducted earnest propaganda in the big industrial communities, and it seems likely to fulfill its hope of gaining a larger representation.

One of the candidates in Glasgow is the Communist, John MacLean, whose term of twelve months in prison for sedition expired yesterday. Treated as a political prisoner, MacLean devoted a great part of his time behind the bars to the study of political matters. Coming at this time, his new freedom brings to mind the fact that he was released from confinement while undergoing a similar punishment in 1918, in order that he could participate in the elections of that year.

Reports that Premier Bonar Law in his expected reform of administrative departments might relegate the works of the ministry of labor to some other department have strongly aroused the leaders of the labor party, who will vigorously oppose any such change. The labor ministry, founded in a small way in 1916, has grown to be a big department, with an annual expenditure of almost £5,000,000 for salaries and allowances alone.

It has been estimated that on a mature maple tree of vigorous growth there is one-half acre of leaf surface exposed to the sun.

Rescue Two Wallaceburg Men From Sinking Tug In St. Clair River.

Special to London Advertiser.
SARNIA, Oct. 25.—Two men, whose names could not be learned, were rescued late Tuesday in the St. Clair River flats district, below Algonac, by the crew of the steamer Wilpen, when a small tug, which hailed from Wallaceburg and manned by the two men, who also reside at that town, sank.

Signals of distress from the tug were seen by the crew of the Wilpen, which was up-bound, and the two men were taken off a few minutes before the small tug went to the bottom.

The tug, which was used in the fishing business, sprung a leak and was going down fast when the rescue was effected. The men were put ashore at Marine City and went to their homes at Wallaceburg without giving their names. A report of the rescue was made at Marine City by the captain of the steamer Wilpen. It is believed that the tug will be a marine navigation, but an investigation will be made by American officials to determine the location of the wreck.

PREMIER AT GLASGOW.

Glasgow, Oct. 26.—Prime Minister Bonar Law was unanimously adopted today as the Conservative and Unionist candidate for parliament from the central division of Glasgow.

A resolution of confidence in him was passed.

Premier Bonar Law arrived here this morning to open his campaign in the general election, with speeches in his own constituency. He is member of parliament for the central division of Glasgow.

A cordial demonstration marked his arrival at the railway station. He was greeted by a large number of his supporters, and he spoke at least twice during his stay here, once early in the afternoon and again in the evening, devoting the latter address to an outline of his platform. As these will be his first public utterances since assuming the premiership, they are awaited with profound interest.

Mr. Bonar Law visited the Royal Exchange, where he received a rousing welcome. He said it was not an occasion for him to make a political speech or try to obtain converts. "But," he explained, "in the position which I am called upon to occupy, good or bad, I shall always realize that the real foundation of the welfare and prosperity of this country is that trade and industry should flourish, and anything I am able to do to secure that object will not be left undone."

Bonar Law in discussing his policy told a meeting of the West Scotland Unionist Association: "My strong belief is that this nation needs above everything else, rest and tranquility, and my policy will be a negative one in this sense."

The government's policy, said the prime minister, would be to leave the recovery from the war to the untrammelled initiative of the men and women of the country.

the middle of the thoroughfares as now.

"We don't want anything to do with the street railway company, and I believe that I have a majority of the council with me in this respect."

At Customs House.
Ald. Drake adds that the buses could be rerouted up King street and Queen's avenue to relieve the traffic on Dundas street, while a transfer point could be introduced at the customs house corner.

It was reported Thursday that the special session of the civic transportation commission, called for Saturday next to consider the proposed purchase and receive a report from the valuers, will be open to the public through the press.

Should Be Open.
Members of the council, chafing under what they term a delay in this question, have repeatedly advocated that "everything should be open" in order that the electors will be given every opportunity to hear the arguments from every angle, to insure that they may be enabled to vote intelligently upon the issue when asked to do so.

Although the claim has been made in certain quarters that the entire affair is "cut and dried," and that nothing will be submitted for real consideration than "a re-vamped" report of the hydro-electric survey of two years ago, Mayor Cameron Wilson took direct issue Thursday with those who have expressed themselves in that light.

"That is not so," he declared, "and all these reports circulated recently are highly erroneous."

REDS CAPTURE VLADIVOSTOK

Japs Turn Over Military Stores to Troops From Siberia.

Allied Warships Guard Foreigners Until Final Possession Is Attained.

Tokio, Oct. 26.—Troops of the Red army captured the Far Eastern Russian port of Vladivostok today. The last of the Japanese soldiers evacuated the city yesterday after handing over to the invading Reds an inventory of the arms left behind and the keys of the warehouses containing them. Only a Japanese flag remained to mark the complete transfer of military stores.

Japanese troops, who had been embarking since Tuesday, left the Siberian port en masse, making a stately procession.

British, French, Japanese and United States warships remain in the Vladivostok harbor to protect foreigners until the Chita forces have taken over the administration and assumed responsibility for maintaining order.

Japanese soldiers remaining on Russian soil are those on the northern part of Sakhalin Island. But the Japanese public is demanding their return also, as it is feared that restoration of trade with Siberia will be impossible unless this is accomplished.

Mussolini Orders Military Sections to Prepare for War.

Rome, Oct. 26.—Benito Mussolini, head of the Fascist movement, called today the military leaders of that organization, and simultaneously has ordered all the military sections of the Fascist party to prepare for war.

The gathering of the Fascist passed off without any grave incident. The only notable event was the invocation of the Naples office of the Rome newspaper Mondo, which published an article favorable to former Premier Nitti, stating that the Fascist movement was a force, the farthest statement made by Professor Benito Mussolini, leader of the Fascist, prior to leaving Naples at the end of the party's congress held here.

BLUENOSE WINS SCHOONER RACE

and headed up the bay hand on the starboard tack.

Bluenose had a lead of 1 minute and 8 seconds at the first mark. The crew of the Blue Nose and her skipper, Angus Walters, flushed with their success yesterday in the smashing 40 mile scrap with the Henry Ford, were in high spirits, although whistling for more wind, which would bring out what they said were the best qualities of their craft. Captain Charles Montgomery brought the crew of the Henry Ford together on the deck before they started to hoist sail and said they were going out to do the best that was in them, and hoped that their best would be good enough to win.

Gloucester skipper, taking nothing away from the Blue Nose's victory yesterday, nevertheless said that he wished he had a whole main sheet to work with instead of the mangled one, cut down by official interpretation of rules with which the Gloucesterman's skipper and designer differed.

POSTPONED TILL 11 O'CLOCK.
HARLOW, N. S., Oct. 26.—A special Gloucester dispatch to The Herald this morning says: "Today's race has been postponed until 11 o'clock as a result of serious damage discovered by divers to the shoe and keel of the Bluenose."

The Bluenose was assigned berth alongside the gas company wharf, where the skipper was assured there was an adequate depth of water and a soft mud bottom. After the first tide it was discovered that the defender was aground at least two feet.

A diver went down at 6 a.m., and after a thorough examination made the following report: "I find that starting one foot from the stern post twelve feet of shoe is ripped away. A little further along eight inches of keel is gouged out. About the same beam about three feet of keel is badly chewed off. Cement in the seams has come out and keel bolts are sticking out. It looks as if vessel had been damaged by resting on a rocky ledge."

"I don't want any excuses," said the Gloucester captain, while admitting that the damage would materially affect the defender in weather work, especially in light winds, and would have a serious effect when running before the wind in light airs.

ALLEGED SPEEDER SEES 42 MILES TOO FAST FOR ANYONE

PAY FINE FOR 22-MILE RATE.

"YOUR worship, anyone who would go 42 miles an hour, ought to be put in jail!" exclaimed a young London motorist, when a constable testified that he had been traveling at that rate on the Pipe Line road in view of it," remarked the court.

The defendant did not think that a jail term should be imposed in his case, as he denied he was going so fast.

"How fast were you going?" asked the magistrate.

"Oh, about 19, 20 or 22," replied the motorist.

"Well, if you were going 22 you were exceeding the limit," he was told.

The young man did not object to being charged with having his speedometer register 22, but did object to being accused of going 20 miles an hour faster.

Then he proceeded to tell of the constable using profane language in front of some young ladies, who were in the car. "The officer was very excited, your worship. He was trembling all over."

Magistrate Graydon remarked that probably the excessive speed was the cause for the excitement. Finally, he told the defendant that if he talked too much, his remarks might cost him something.

"Well, I'll quit right now," he concluded.

When the storm of laughter subsided a fine of $5 was imposed.

This motorist also was fined $5 for turning the corner of Dundas and Adelaide street at a greater rate of speed than ten miles an hour.

An officer stated he went round the corner at about 20 miles an hour.

"Willy, I'd tip over," protested the driver.

The officer stated the car made the turn on two wheels. His evidence was corroborated by a street railway man.

The defendant submitted all four wheels were on the ground, but as he did not enter the witness box, the fine was imposed.

MEN'S CLUBS AT ST. DAVID'S ENTERTAIN.

The women of the congregation were the guests of the Men's Clubs, of St. David's Church, at a pleasant social affair, Wednesday night. Progressive euchre formed the evening's program, and at the close there were two enjoyable instrumental numbers by Messrs. Ward and Welsh. J. Deacon headed the committee in charge of all arrangements. About 65 were present.

CENTENNIAL CHOIR CONCERT AT GLADSTONE CHURCH.

Centennial Methodist Church choir responded Wednesday night for the second time to the invitation of the Gladstone Presbyterian Church to put on a concert there.

Those who heard the first concert, and those who were disappointed in being absent turned out in goodly numbers for the second concert, all evincing much enthusiasm in their reception of the program.

Following the concert the members of the choir were entertained at a chicken dinner, and Rev. Mr. Taylor of Gladstone, in a most hearty manner, voiced the appreciation of his congregation.

Capt. Fletcher expressed the thanks of the choir for the welcome shown them, and Earl Scott moved the vote of thanks to those who volunteered motors for the occasion.

The choir, who are under the leadership of Bert Weir, gave in splendid style three unaccompanied numbers. Solos were rendered by A. E. Tudor, Mr. Dixon, Bill Taylor, and two delightful readings by Edna Lancaster.

The male quartet of the choir gave two numbers, and the numbers given by the ladies' quartet were also standing out features of the occasion. Dressed in costumes, they rendered the Kitchen Orchestra and the Story Book Ball, in the latter appearing to represent Mother Goose Rhymes.

SEEK CHANGES IN U. S. TARIFF

Commission to Consider Adjustments Under Flexible Provisions of Law.

Will Completely Reorganize to Meet New Demands.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Investigations to determine the necessity of changes in United States tariff rates as provided for under the so-called flexible provisions of the new tariff law may be made by the United States tariff commission on its own initiative under rules of procedure made public today by the commission.

This applies not only in the case of the section dealing with under methods of the importation of goods, but also to the section which provides for an increase or decrease of as much as 50 per cent in the rates fixed by congress or for the declaration of United States valuation as the basis for assessing ad valorem duties.

REORGANIZE COMMISSION.
New York Oct. 26.—Complete reshaping of the organization of the United States tariff commission to meet the new responsibilities placed upon it by the tariff act of 1922 was announced here today by William S. Culbertson, vice chairman of the commission, in an address before the American Manufacturers' Export Association.

Under the commission there are now four broad divisions: Office of chief investigator, the office of chief economist, the legal division, and the secretary.

The commission's organization under the direction of the chief economist and the chief investigator consists of a series of divisions, each with a chief and other experts, said Mr. Culbertson. In addition, the commission has provided for the establishment of a New York office, and for the conduct of investigations in foreign countries.

PRINCE OF GREECE IS UNDER ARREST

To Be Court-Martialed For Part Played in Defeat of Army.

Athens, Oct. 26.—The newspapers announce that Prince Andrew, brother of King George, who was arrested yesterday at Corfu on the charge that he contributed to the disaster suffered by the Greek army in Asia Minor, will be tried by a military court on a charge of treason.

Gen. Stratigos is the latest addition to the roster of Greek statesmen and soldiers who are confined in jail. His arrest yesterday followed "the publication of the revolutionary committee's decree establishing a tribunal to try political and military prisoners in connection with the defeat of the Greek forces in Asia Minor."

At the same time three civil leaders were arrested: George P. Baltazis, former foreign minister; M. Stais, once minister of the interior, and M. Bzikis, former governor of Thrace.

Prince Andrew commanded one of the corps of the Greek army on the Smyrna front. After the disaster to the Greek forces on that front, he went to Corfu, saying he expected to proceed to London to join his wife, formerly Princess Alice of Battenberg. On Wednesday, an Athens message stated that an investigator had been sent to Corfu by the commission in charge of the inquiry into the Greek debacle to question Prince Andrew regarding the charge that while he was at the head of his army corps he refused to execute an order, thus contributing to the disaster.

LONDON HIKER, ON LONG TRIP, REACHES LINDSAY

LINDSAY, Oct. 25.—Two hikers Griffiths of Oshawa, Ont., and Saunders of London, Ont., walking from coast to coast on a private wager, tramped through town today. They started at Charlottetown, P. E. ARMED MEN ROB LONDON CITIZEN OF VALUABLES

James Rennie Victim of Holdup At Francis and Oxford Streets.

DROVE TOURING CAR

Bandits Escape Before Number of Auto Could Be Secured.

Two armed men, unmasked, held up James Rennie, a Grand Trunk employee, of London Township, with revolvers, while a third man relieved him of a small amount of cash and his watch when he was on his way home, at the corner of Francis and Oxford streets, just at the city limits, shortly before dusk last night. The three highwaymen were occupants of a large touring car. Police were notified that the car had headed for the city, and immediately set out in search of it, but failed to uncover a clue.

Rennie was walking along the side of the road, when the car, which pulled up alongside of him, stopped. "Where is the Park Hotel?" inquired the driver.

Rennie told him. "What's that? I'm a little hard of hearing," continued the driver, raising his voice.

The Oxford street man walked over to the car and leaned over to the driver, repeating his information.

As he talked two men who had jumped out of the car poked him in the ribs with their guns and ordered him to throw up his hands. He obeyed. The driver got out and searched him. Then his interrogator got back into the car. The two gunmen forced Rennie to walk away from them.

"Walk west, and keep on going," they commanded. "We're going east!"

They leaped into the car just as it started away toward the city.

Rennie turned to get the license number, but was only able to see two figures—67—before the marker passed out of sight. Immediately Rennie rushed to the nearest telephone and reported the matter to the police. "All the men were light coats," was the only description furnished the authorities.

DENY SEEKING ANY POWER OF COUNCIL

Town Planning Commission
Claims Organization Does Not Want Control of Finances.

There is no intention upon the part of town planners of the various municipalities, by means of provincial legislation, to wrest any financial power from other civic spending bodies, declared members of the London Town Planning Commission, in special session on Wednesday.

While no definite action could be taken, the members considered proposed town planning legislation, as drafted at the recent Town Planning and Housing Association's convention at Toronto, at which attended from London Mayor T. J. Murphy, K.C., and Ald. Dr. L. H. Holmes.

Exception has been taken to Clause 32, which provides that the commission "shall in addition to all other rates and assessments for municipal purposes, levy and assess in each year a special annual rate of one-tenth of a mill upon the whole assessment for real property, income and business within the limits of the town planning district."

City Clerk Barker suggested that the word "may" replace the word "shall" in order to insure that the city council could exercise every judgment in the matter.

This suggestion was received with unanimous favor, and will be discussed at another session of the local board, as it was impossible to obtain a quorum at the time.

Major Murphy stressed the point that he had considered the proposed legislation with a parliamentary committee in Toronto, and all had been sufficiently agreed that the council was to retain full control of the financial situation.

"That was what we understood," he said, "and the tenth of a mill debenture issue proposed was the maximum, and the councilors, if they chose, could give that or any amount below, or nothing, as they deemed expedient."

Major Murphy, relating his experiences at the Toronto convention, explained that many of the members of the Legislature had impressed that the personnel of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board should include men who were more familiar with town planning activities.

Ald. Holmes concurred in this respect, holding that the board in question was "so small that it was practically incompetent in this respect."

The latter was also insistent that the council should retain control of the situation locally, and instanced the housing commission as an example of what might occur.

While Major Murphy said that this was a question of securing the right man, Ald. Holmes feared that the same might happen again despite precautions.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT was called out to put out a small blaze, started in a house at the corner of Horton and Richmond streets, this morning. Apparently somebody had been burning rubbish, and when the fire trucks arrived there, nothing but a little bit of smoke was evident.

The old building at the corner of Edward street and Tecumseh avenue is completely demolished and work on the new structure will start immediately.

ALFRED TEDEMAN, when brought before Judge Talbot, Macbeth in the county court at the court house this morning on a charge of assault, occasioning bodily harm, had his case postponed until Monday. C. H. Webster of Manor Park is the complainant. It is alleged that Tedeman knocked Webster down and kicked him in the face and in the ribs.

WHEN A YOUNG Toronto man made restitution for a hotel bill, for which he gave a check which was marked "n. s. f." when presented at the bank, and which he incurred last February, he was allowed to go on suspended sentence by Magistrate Graydon in police court this morning. The prisoner also agreed to pay the costs of his arrest and the court costs. His counsel, Albert M. Jand, pointed out that the young man had been "in the red" all winter, but had "since started in business, and was doing well."

EARL BEACROFT, a young Iona boy, agreed to go back to his father's farm if he was given another chance and consequently sentence was suspended on him, after he had been convicted of stealing articles from a C. T. R. car, in police court today. It was his first offense. The boy had been working on the road and when he was discharged had little money. His destitute circumstances forced him to commit the crime, he pleaded. Although he said he would prefer to work in the city he thought it better to go back to the farm than to go to the Reformatory.

SHOW IMMIGRANTS FLOCKING TO U. S.

Local G. T. R. Official
Declares Settlers Pass Through City Daily.

Although the summer months, usually regarded as the immigrant season, have gone, people are still flocking from the British Isles and from various corners of Europe to America. Two hundred and fifty immigrants, the majority from the British Isles, with a smattering from France, Italy and Russia, passed through London today in a special train, G. T. R. en route to the United States.

The party entrained at New York and are traveling via Buffalo, Detroit and Port Huron to different sections of the middle western states. The personnel of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board should include men who were more familiar with town planning activities.

Ald. Holmes concurred in this respect, holding that the board in question was "so small that it was practically incompetent in this respect."

The latter was also insistent that the council should retain control of the situation locally, and instanced the housing commission as an example of what might occur.

While Major Murphy said that this was a question of securing the right man, Ald. Holmes feared that the same might happen again despite precautions.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT was called out to put out a small blaze, started in a house at the corner of Horton and Richmond streets, this morning. Apparently somebody had been burning rubbish, and when the fire trucks arrived there, nothing but a little bit of smoke was evident.

TRAIL RANGERS HOLD BIG TIME

London Boys Stage Annual Camp Gathering at the Local "Y".

Crests and Shields Presented to Winners of Season's Activities.

Although in numbers not quite so large as on previous occasions, the annual "camp" of the Trail Ranger groups in the city held in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night ranked high among the banquets in the last few years, as far as the enthusiasm and action of the boys was concerned.

Decorated Own Table.

Each one of the ten groups represented decorated its own table, and the manner in which the youthful artists bunting, streamers and trophies, to beautify the banquet hall was a surprise and a delight to the Y. officials, as well as to the lads themselves.

The Knox Presbyterian Wingfoots carried off the honors for the most attractive tables, and the Senecas and the Argonauts won second and third places, respectively.

Phil Burton, a popular boy councillor of the city, made a hit with the hundred or more lads by his denunciation of the use of tobacco among minors. He declared that during the coming winter the Boys' Council would wage a strenuous campaign against the use of tobacco among boys, pointing out that they were promised the co-operation of the school principals and several prominent businessmen.

Can Do Harm.

"Tobacco is nothing more than a cultured weed," said Mr. Burton, "and can do an enormous amount of harm to youths in their teens if the practice is kept up. It is a known fact that tobacco stunts a boy's growth, and in a few generations what may be have tobacco—a race of stunted, small men. We know that, although boys are sorry to admit it, that smoking among boys is on the increase, and to try and stop the habit and save the boys, so that they may grow to be healthy men, we have decided to inaugurate the anti-cigarete campaign."

William Haggard, the newly-elected grand chief ranger of the Trail Rangers of the Ontario Humane Society, emphasized the numerous opportunities offered for the winning of C. S. E. T. badges. The young leader also spoke on the necessity of everyone taking part in the C. S. E. T. program during the coming winter.

"If you boys are going to derive a benefit from C. S. E. T. training you must put in daily practice what you are given," declared W. R. Tendall, who gave a brief though interesting talk to the gathering.

Can't Live Square Life.

"A boy whose habits are wrong can't live a square life. You may imagine you can, but you can't fool your conscience, because it knows right from wrong. Above all things, be honest with yourselves, boys. If you are trying to be good, don't be ashamed to admit it to others, but be proud of the fact that you are trying to live a strong, honest life."

After the banquet, a presentation of stunts and shields won during the summer months was held. Earl Cadwallader presented the baseball shields to each member of the Wingfoots team, who are the 1922 champions. The personnel of the team included Jack Ferguson, Jack Gordon, William Gray, J. Mowatt, H. Pollock, R. Knapp, T. Gunther, W. Gidley and Bob Roughley.

Other prizes awarded were: Fishers' Glen Camp prizes, Jack Brooks and Gordon Ford, 4 badges each, presented by Lloyd Houlding; shield for the greatest number of points in the athletic meet, won by Jack Rankin; indoor baseball, shield won by the Wellington Street Reliabs; tennis, prizes won by Douglas Goudge and Albert Parsons.

Awarded First Prize.

For obtaining the highest number of points in the four events held after the banquet, the Wingfoots were awarded first prize. The winners had 12 points; the Knox Presbyterian Cubes came second with 6, and the Ashkin Street Senecas third with 4 points. The events contested were basketball, football, broad jump, relay race and relay swimming race.

Friday night the annual Halloween party will be held in the Y. for the boys, their girl friends and their fathers and mothers.

A. R. Kennedy was chairman of the banquet.

WILL ASK SCHOOL KIDDIES TO AID OLD BOYS' REUNION

Association Prepares Cards To Facilitate Registration Of Former Residents.

As in past years the school children and teachers will be asked to the Association with the London Old Boys' Association.

School Trustee Edwin Smith, secretary of the organization, has prepared cards that will be distributed through the schools to the children, who will take them to their homes.

Parents will be asked to fill in these cards with the names and addresses of all former residents of the city, following which the secretary will send preliminary notices to all.

Trustee Smith reports that preparations for the big carnival, scheduled for the first week of August next, are well under way, and indicates point to a banner demonstration.

Chorus girls got $50,000 for broken hearts, and an Ohio man only got $500 for a broken leg.

I SPIED TODAY

EVERYBODY'S "spying"! Why not you, too? Keep your eyes open for news and—

WIN TWO TICKETS FOR THE GRAND THEATRE.

Remember, however, that "spying" isn't dressing up some well-worn joke for the occasion. Hundreds of such entries have been discarded to the waste paper basket. It's news that is wanted; something you see, not a funny conversation or an old joke.

If "K. T." in Wednesday's "I Spied" column will call at the Advertiser office today or Friday, he will be given two tickets for the Grand Theatre, Friday.

INVITE INSTITUTES TO VISIT HOSPITAL

Officials at Victoria Recognize Assistance Women Give Sick Children's Institution.

In appreciation of their assistance given during the construction of the War Memorial Hospital, the Women's Institutes of Western Ontario have been extended an invitation by the Victoria hospital trust to visit the Children's Hospital during the annual convention here, commencing Nov. 7.

The members of the board met Wednesday afternoon and elected James Gray as chairman for the balance of the year in the event of the absence of C. W. M. Gauthier, who is expected to leave within a few weeks for Europe.

Much routine business was disposed of at the meeting. On the recommendation of the house committee, the board decided to dispose of the laundry boiler to the Alexandra Sanatorium. Since the necessary steam has been obtained from the steam heater, a boiler has not been needed.

In appreciation of his services at the hospital, and to the general health of the city, a resolution of condolence was passed to be sent to the family of Dr. C. S. Moore, at one time a member of the hospital staff, who recently died.

Miss Struthers of Fort William was appointed dietitian and Miss Stock, housekeeper, the two positions having become vacant a short time ago.

The superintendent's monthly report showed cash receipts of $13,378.92; total admissions, 231; total number discharged, 295; total number of births, 17; deaths, 17; number treated at the free dispensary, 467.

ELSA RYAN WILL APPEAR AT GRAND

Lovely Comedienne Has Leading Role in Greatest Booth Tarkington Comedy.

An important attraction of double interest will be shown at the Grand tonight, Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee, when Augustus Pitou presents the lovely, piquant comedienne Miss Elsa Ryan as the star player in "The Intimate Strangers," the latest and greatest comedy by Booth Tarkington.

In this delightfully fascinating play, the famous novelist-playwright tells a whimsical story about the chance meeting of a man and woman at a lonely railway station in the country, where they have to spend the night, and what comes of it.

Naturally, love comes of it—comes so quickly, and suddenly that the man is easily bewildered and falls an easy victim to the mischievous teasing of the woman. It is the role of this woman—a real woman, tender, sympathetic, sincere, with just a strain of impish contrivance to make her complete—that Miss Elsa Ryan finds the finest opportunity she has ever had to display her inimitable talents.

London and Toronto are the only Canadian cities Miss Ryan plays on this tour.

LONDON TO ELECT LEADER OF PARTY

Will Be Youth to Lead Forces in Boys' Parliament at Toronto.

Boys' parliament will be held this year in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto during Christmas week. London has been honored this year by being asked to give one of the party leaders. Steps are being taken to appoint the best all-round boy 18 years of age to handle this important job. It is expected that he will show his platform at once, so that news can be broadcasted to those who will be elected from various municipalities belonging to Tuxis groups to support one or other leader.

The Tuxis and Trail Ranger boys, on Friday next, are having their third big annual "Halloween" party, starting at 7:45. The boys' committee, under the chairmanship of W. D. Beamer and Wilfred Spearman, will handle the program. They will be assisted by a number of ladies, who will act as chaperones.

The admission ticket makes it necessary for every boy to have a girl accompany him. This year a novel feature has been added, in that any parent may come provided they are in costume. There will be about 500 attend, and the whole building will be turned over to them.

Beginning tonight, under the auspices of the London Religious Education Council and the Y. M. C. A., all the teachers of Sunday school classes of boys 12 years of age and over are invited to be present from 7:45 for the purpose of hearing of efficient methods of teaching and handling boys. The instructors are A. R. Kennedy of the London Advertiser, and Lloyd Houlding, B.A., boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

A number of the church C. S. E. T. groups met in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night at 6:15 for supper. Prices and trophies were presented by R. Kennedy, chairman of the Boys' Work Board, acted as chairman of the group.

Although Fred Vandusen, arrested at the home of Mrs. Ida Church, 232 Clarence street, on a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, wanted his hearing Thursday morning, he was adjourned. Mrs. Church, who has been similarly charged, was unable to proceed because of the lack of a material witness, and both cases were adjourned until Tuesday. Mrs. Church was allowed on $500 cash bail. Vandusen was given the same opportunity, but when court adjourned he was still without the money or two sureties of $250 each, which would gain him his liberty until the case is brought to trial.

Police who raided the Church home at noon yesterday have since charged on the fact that Mrs. Church was convicted several months ago under the O. T. A., and that her house is no longer a private dwelling within the meaning of the act.

R. Meredith, counsel for Mrs. Church, asked for an adjournment, in order that an important witness might be heard. Howard Cliff, counsel for Vandusen, objected to his client's case being laid over, but as Chief Birrell wanted both cases postponed, the adjournment was granted.

RELIEVE WANTS OF ANIMALS IN NORTH

Humane Society Receives Thanks From Provincial Secretary for Aiding Fire Sufferers.

G. Tustin, inspector of the humane society in this city, has received a letter signed J. W. Wilson, secretary of the Ontario Humane Society at Toronto, complimenting the London Humane Society on their continued efforts in aid of the suffering animals in the fire zone of Northern Ontario, and acknowledging several timely shipments of supplies.

"The Ontario society, from dispatches in the daily newspapers, people have formed the belief that the Ontario government has been doing all the relief work in connection with the animals. Such is not the case. Yesterday the first shipment of branches of the humane society at Cobalt administering aid to animals in need, and Dr. Thompson urged the continuance of relief measures already adopted."

"Mr. Wilson asserted that if it had not been for the aid of the many branches of the humane society the animals in the fire zone would have been beyond the need of this rather late government assistance," said Mr. Tustin.

According to Mr. Tustin, the London Humane Society had no intention of letting up in the aiding of the suffering and needy animals, and further supplies will go forward in the course of a few days.

LITERARY SOCIETY ELECT OFFICERS

After a spirited publicity campaign, with "stump speaking" and all that goes to make an election a stirring event, the officers of the South London Collegiate Literary Society were elected Wednesday afternoon.

The results were as follows: President, Hiles Temple; vice-president, Donna Gracey; secretary, Marguerite Doring; treasurer, Robert Franks; middle school representatives, Jean Watts, Arthur Hill; second year representatives, Ruth Tanton, Jack Ferguson; first year, Marjorie Allander, Edwin Kennedy.

NOTED SOLOIST TO APPEAR IN LONDON

Charles E. Wheeler, F.C.G.O., has secured the eminent dramatic soprano, Madame Lughrin-Fahey, as visiting soloist, for the annual service of Praise to be given next Monday evening, Oct. 30, in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Madame Lughrin-Fahey evoked great enthusiasm when she gave the opening recital of the season for the Woman's Music Club a year ago, and her return is being anticipated with delight by music lovers who heard her on that occasion. Particularly interesting choral work has been prepared by the choir and soloists, under the direction of Mr. Wheeler.

Receives Bible Carried By Son Who Died in Flanders

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 26.—Mrs. D. Wagner of this city was given a pleasant surprise yesterday, when she received by parcel post a Bible that had belonged to her son, the late Lieut. Archie Wagner, who was killed in action at Vimy Ridge on April 9, 1917. No clue has been obtained as to the identity of the sender.

BRITISHER LAUDS GROWTH OF WESTERN UNIVERSITY

Sir Henry Meers Writes Letter of Congratulation to Col. W. J. Brown.

Col. W. J. Brown, executive secretary of Western University, has received from Sir Henry A. Meers, D.Sc., F.R.S., vice-chancellor of the University of Manchester, England, a letter of congratulation on the progress of Western University.

In the course of the letter, the vice-chancellor says: "As one who has visited some of the Canadian universities and feels a sincere concern in their development, I desire to let you know that we on this side of the Atlantic are deeply interested in your growth. We are all part of one great imperial brotherhood, and with the increasing desire for closer intercourse and interchange of students and teachers, the increase in the number and size of the universities of the empire and their maintenance of high standards is a matter of greatest importance to us."

"The first congress of the universities of the empire, in 1912 (which was originally proposed by myself when I was principal of the University of London), was a beginning of more intimate relationships, and I hope that the tradition of a healthy circulation of teachers and perhaps even students among these universities will be a growing source of strength of the academic life of all."

"I shall always watch the development of Western University with great interest, and shall be much obliged if you could from time to time let me know something about its progress."

VANDUSEN UNABLE TO RAISE SURETIES

Hearing Is Postponed in the Church Liquor Case at Police Court.

SAYS BUSINESS GOOD IN WEST

J. F. Sherlock Describes Conditions Observed on Trip Through Provinces.

Declares Farmers Claim Excessive Freight Rates Cause Loss of Fruit.

Farmers throughout the west are strongly criticizing the high freight rates. And because of this condition thousands of bushels of splendid fruit, pears, apples and peaches, grown in the Okanagan Valley, will not be harvested. Such was the opinion expressed by J. F. Sherlock, of the Sherlock-Manning Piano and Organ Company, of this city, who returned last Friday from a five-weeks' business survey of the west.

"With some exceptions, mostly in the marketing of fruit, where excessive freight rates threaten the grower with a loss, conditions in the west are fine," said Mr. Sherlock. "Wheat crops in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the southern part of Alberta were excellent. In some sections near Regina I saw great fields of wheat, in which the stalks were so close together that they were almost touching each other. However I was told Northern Alberta experienced its first complete failure of crops in 32 years, and farmers there are in despair."

Mr. Sherlock investigated trade conditions and all his dealers were very optimistic in regard to the business outlook for the coming season. "If shipments were all made at one time, it would take a good-sized train to transport the pianos we have sold in the West since September 1," said Mr. Sherlock. "That serves to British Politics.

WHAT policies can the Liberals or Conservatives of Britain have that the Coalitionists under Lloyd George did not seek to develop?

Can any one party come out of the election with a working majority? Can the Coalitionists Liberals and the Asquith Liberals come together? Does Labor want to rule in Britain, and if so would they follow their avowed policy of nationalization of such things as mines, transportation and other facilities? When one starts to go into the political situation in England right now, he can sit down and do nothing but answer questions that suggest themselves.

It is easy enough now to attack the Coalitionist government, and call it an opportunist affair, anxious to see at which corner the band wagon of popular approval was going to turn. Fusion government cannot be otherwise, because they have to suit men of widely divergent lines, and the price of the continued existence of such a government is very often that it will not hew to the line, but consent to follow the chips. It may for the moment centralize its powers on a single issue, while it will not subscribe to a given platform as a permanent policy because it dare not.

CAN Labor stand alone? There can be no doubt of the strength of the movement in recent years, but there are 707 seats in the House of Commons, and it takes a large following to control the situation. During recent strikes, especially the protracted one in the coalfields, when the fight was made for nationalization of this industry, the support of a large body of the more conservative people was lost to the Labor party, although some of the senior leaders are very pronounced now in their statements that the nationalization of industry is not now an issue.

Grant that such a claim may be put forth, and with a certain amount of force behind it, does it not, while placing the conservative element in the Labor group, cut off support from the radical wing? The latter will want to go on from anything the Lloyd George government ever did. It is doubtful if Labor can hold its present strength if it does not hang up a very advanced program. If it does this, then it cuts away from any chance for a working agreement with the Liberals. The Labor party is squeezed going, coming or standing still.

Then, again, there is the question of where Labor stands to make its greatest gain—holding the reins of government or holding the balance of power, in the latter situation being able to force concessions as the price of continued support. A balance of power situation, skilfully handled, is about as powerful a club as can well be placed in the hand of any party.

VOLUMES have been written of the fortunes of the Liberal party in Britain, and in recent years it is not pleasant reading, except for the political enemies of the party. It is necessary to get back to the late '80's to come to a time when all Liberals came together and "found shelter under the big umbrella of Gladstone." Of recent years it can be truly said that the Liberal party was at its best between 1906-10. Asquith is the one leader left who can command a good following, and it is a tribute to his powers that through all the turmoil and coalition change, the phrase "Asquith Liberals" refers to a very large percentage of the people of that particular political persuasion. To many of the old-time Liberals the move of the former chief lieutenants of Asquith—Lloyd George and Churchill—to the ranks of the Unionists, meant that they had left the party for all time.

Scant courtesy is paid to Asquith in some quarters, but let it be remembered that the awful responsibility of declaring war was placed on his shoulders, and his judgment and courage were of true British worth. He was turned out in 1916 by means that it is not necessary to discuss here, but even in the hour of demotion and since his course has been marked by a quiet dignity and an adherence to certain principles that he would not abandon. But Asquith can't come back. It is not possible that he should stage such a come-back as Gladstone did in 1880, when, after having retired for five years in 1875, he returned to the Commons, and it was at once seen that he was the Gladstone of old, master of the situation.

Of other leaders of the Liberal party, McKenna has left politics apparently because he can make more money in business. Sir John Simon opposed conscription, and has paid the price; Lord Haldane was great as a war executive and organizer, but it is continually held against him that he should have known in 1912 that Germany meant to have war, and that having discerned this, he should have interpreted these aspirations to the British people. Sir Esmund (now Viscount) Gray knows diplomacy as few men do, and he is admirably schooled for leadership. His honesty is of the transparent type, and his standing high, but as a member of the House of Lords he is out of it as Liberal leader. If the old-time Liberals back Asquith, and it seems certain they will, where does Lloyd George come in? They have already announced a tentative platform, one of the chief planks of which is their avowed adherence to free trade, coupled with the announced intention of dealing with the protection of industries act, now in force.

Parties must start out on new lines and well-marked lines. War-time talk will not win an election in England, because the people there realize they are living in 1922 and facing the future.

Events are moving rapidly, and it is necessary that the parties place their cases plainly before the people. We will know more of the lineup before many days have passed.

A Good Point.

DE PALMA, the auto racer, was doing 70 miles an hour on the road, and so he went to jail for ten days and parted with $100 as well.

When he gets on the racetrack and does his 70 or 90 miles an hour the people get up and yell their approval, after which he goes to the box office and rakes in his share of the receipts.

When he puts on the same performances on a public highway, the people run to find shelter behind trees or crawl in some nearby culvert.

Other car drivers might make a note of this.

When they want to speed, hunt up the nearest racetrack.

A Trifle Too Gay.

KING ALPHONSO of Spain is a fairly decent sort of a king, at least people who know him say so. We can't recollect that he ever did anything very brilliant, but then he has the good quality of having kept out of a lot of trouble.

Wherever he goes he smiles, and shuffles around in a way that earns for him the title of being a good fellow.

But he has a fault or two, and one of them seems to be of spending money. Remember, he's not the king of a rich country—far from it. On the contrary, he's the first citizen in a very poor and very highly taxed land. Reports have it that when he attends functions where dancing takes place, he presents each partner who dances with him with a diamond brooch, ornamented with the Spanish crown and the royal initial. The report is that six of these have been handed out, not a few of them to American girls. No scandal attached, but simply a big lot of money from a people who can't afford it.

Meanwhile underfed Spaniards are being more or less driven to support a war with Morocco in which they are not even interested. Alfonso might do well to pin that elevator sign over his front door, "Watch Your Step."

Is This Right?

A FEW weeks ago a jury in Hamilton brought in a verdict granting a widowed woman $5,000 on account of her husband having been killed on the railroad track.

The lawyer who handled the case did so at the time without remuneration, although he may have been paid for his services since, but the circumstances of the plaintiff were such that she could not afford to pay out large sums for counsel.

As soon as the verdict was given the railroad company served notice that it would appeal the case and carry it to a higher court.

This means that the woman, who is without means, as she cannot receive the $5,000 on account of the appeal, will have to do one of two things: (1) drop the case, or (2) go on, without money and fight it through the next court. The company can go on with law, and the woman cannot.

Now, we pride ourselves in this country that we do things in good order, and that there is a spirit of fairness in all our dealings. In this case, though, there seems to be something out of tune. The country provides a criminal with a lawyer if he has not the money to pay himself. Why should there not be an equal consideration shown here? We are not advocating that the government should make a business of providing lawyers for every person who wants to go to law, but there is the situation, and it is not the only one of its kind—it is only one of many, where a person with a very just and worthy claim has to drop out and lose because of inability to fight in the courts.

LITTLE 'TISERS

It's a high piece of luck when you find that last year's rubbers will fit this year's boots.

Quite a lot of this generation seem to think one way of becoming a star is staying out all night.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

The Romance of Mother Earth

Egypt's Heyday and Decline.

THE story of Egypt from the 4th to the 15th Dynasty is a story of conflicts between alternative capitals and competing religions, of separations into several kingdoms and reunions. It is, so to speak, an internal history. Here we can name only one of that long series of Pharaohs, Pepi II., who reigned 90 years, the longest reign in history, and left a great abundance of inscriptions and buildings.

An invasion by Shepherds. At last there happened to Egypt what happened so frequently to the civilizations of Mesopotamia. Egypt was conquered by nomadic Semites, who founded a "shepherd" dynasty, the Hyksos (18th), which was finally expelled by native Egyptians. The invasion probably happened while that first Babylonian empire which Hammurabi founded was flourishing, but the exact correspondences of dates between early Egypt and Babylonia are still very doubtful. Only after a long period of servitude did a popular uprising expel these foreigners again.

After the war of liberation (circa 1,600 B.C.) there followed a period of great prosperity in Egypt, the New Empire. Egypt became a great and united military state, and pushed her expeditions at last as far as the Euphrates, and so the age-long struggle between the allies of Necho I. were taken into captivity by Nebuchadnezzar to Babylon.

When, in the sixth century B.C. Chaldea fell to the Persians, Egypt followed suit, a rebellion later made Egypt independent once more for sixty years, and in 323 B.C. she welcomed Alexander the Great as her conqueror, to be ruled thereafter by foreigners, first by Greeks, then by Romans, then in succession by Arabs, Turks and British, until the present day.

Such briefly is the history of Egypt from its beginning; a history first of isolation and then of increasing entanglement with the affairs of other nations, as increasing facilities of communication drew the peoples of the world into closer and closer interaction.

The Conquerors of India. The history we need to tell here of India is simpler even than this brief record of Egypt. The Dravidian peoples in the Ganges valley developed upon parallel lines to the Sumerian and Egyptian societies. But it is doubtful if they ever got to so high a stage of social development; they have left few monuments, and they never achieved any form of writing.

Somewhere about the time of Hammurabi or later, a branch of the Aryan-speaking people who then occupied north Persia and Afghanistan pushed down the northwest passes into India. They conquered their way until they prevailed over all the darker populations of North India, and spread their rule or influence over the whole peninsula. They never achieved any unity in India; their history is a history of warring kings and republics.

The Persian empire, in the days of its expansion after the capture of Babylon, pushed its boundaries beyond the Indus, and later Alexander the Great marched as far as the border of the desert that separates the Punjab from the Ganges valley. But with this bare statement we will for a time leave the history of India.

Stomach Troubles Are Due to Acidity

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach-ache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia, in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advt.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it. "Paint" the hair, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.—Advt.

BAPTISTS VOTE AGAINST STAND OF T. T. SHIELDS

Rev. G. A. Leichter of London Moves Resolution of Confidence in Governors.

GIVEN BIG MAJORITY

Thomas Urquhart Criticizes Financial Report of Church's Officials.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Baptists of Ontario and Quebec in convention here today reaffirmed in no unambiguous manner their confidence in the board of governors of McMaster University, despite an hour's attack made upon the governors by Dr. J. J. Shields of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto.

The four retiring governors whom he had attacked all decided to stand for re-election, and were endorsed.

Addressing the convention, Dr. Shields said he had a feeling he had missed a great deal in not being admitted to the charmed circle of McMaster University; an adopted child was never in the same favorable position as one of the family. He then declared that from criticism which had been leveled against him it was evident his pamphlet had in some respects been misconstrued. His purpose was that McMaster might be led to realize the purpose of its founder as a denominational seat of learning. There was a downward tendency which it should be the convention's right to check.

He had never suggested that Woodstock and Moulton Colleges had not done good service. He had never suggested that Baptist seats of learning should close their doors against other denominations. Likewise, those who entered a Baptist university should expect to receive a Baptist teaching. A university which called upon Baptist churches for aid should not be called upon to apologize for being Baptist. In such institutions there should not be a suppression of Baptist truths. As far as the ideals and purpose of the charter of the university as laid down in the report presented by the board of governors was concerned, he could find no objection. The question involved was whether they stood true to those ideals.

The convention had been passing a resolution year after year reaffirming what should be the ideals and purposes of McMaster University, but, he charged, the conventions had failed to elect the men who would carry them out. What had been the use of passing resolutions without removing the cause? He further charged that one professor, whose teachings were contrary to the doctrines of the Baptist Church, had been kept on the staff for nine years, despite the fact that conventions had urged his removal, the professor at last having retired voluntarily.

This was followed by an attack on the financial report of the board of governors by Thomas Urquhart, a former mayor of Toronto, who criticized the fact that no mention was made of how the trust funds were invested or what rates of interest were being earned.

The tide of battle then turned against Dr. Shields, with the following amendment to the McMaster report, moved by Rev. G. A. Leichter of London, Ontario:

"That the motion adopting the report be amended by adding thereto the following:—And the convention place itself on record as heartily approving of the valuable work in university education which has been and is being done by McMaster University, Woodstock College and Moulton College, and of the administration of the senate and board of governors, and that this convention calls upon the churches to continue their full moral support of the university and colleges."

This was seconded by Rev. H. McDiarmid of Stratford.

At this point Mr. Urquhart caught the chairman's eyes and moved that all of Rev. Mr. Leichter's amendment be eliminated after the portion approving the work of the Baptist colleges and university, and in its place a demand made upon the governors for an accounting each year of the trust funds together with a list of securities invested in, but he was unable to secure any support.

Declines Withdrawal.

Dr. Shields injected the remark that while he did not care whether Rev. Mr. Leichter withdrew his motion of censure or not, he should remember that it was as a result of his recommendation that the latter had secured his London pastorate. This Mr. Leichter took up as a further challenge, causing him to declare he did not wish to withdraw any portion of his amendment. His church board had told him this story was in circulation and to nail it as a falsehood. His motion, however, was not against Dr. Shields, for whom he bore no personal enmity, but against his methods, especially his pamphleteering.

The vital question of the day was then put to the convention. The report of the board of governors, together with Mr. Leichter's amendment to it, being passed by an overwhelming majority.

Greeks Applaud Rebel Leaders

Given Big Reception By Athens Citizens.

ATHENS, Oct. 25.—Acclaimed by the Greek populace, the three real rulers of Greece since the revolution ride through the streets of Athens. They are Colonel Gonatas, Colonel Plastiras and Marine Commander Phocas Protosinolos. They led the revolution that dethroned Constantine.

It was decided at the evening session to empower the board and senate of McMaster to conduct further negotiations looking to the removal of the university to the city of Hamilton with the understanding that when a definite proposition was put forward by the Baptists of that city a special meeting of the Baptist convention would be called to consider it.

SHIELDS MAKES REPLY.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—Walmer Road Church was packed with people this afternoon, all eager and keen to hear Dr. Shields make his reply to the controversy that is stirring the Baptist Church over the attacks of Rev. T. T. Shields on the McMaster University governors.

Even the choir loft was filled by the spectators, who were 75 per cent women. The seats in the gallery were quite inadequate to accommodate the crowd. They sat on the steps in fact anything, that even faintly resembled a seat.

Many members of the Jarvis Street Church, followers of their pastor, Dr. Shields, were in the gallery.

Rev. Dr. Shields was given an hour in which to reply to his critics. He was applauded from the gallery when he arose.

"I want this matter settled this afternoon, once and for all," he said. He had copied his figures from McMaster reports. He did not suggest that Woodstock and Moulton Colleges be closed to all but Baptists.

"I hope Dr. Sanderson will be able to substantiate everything he has said today," said Dr. Shields. "It is an unpleasant thing to be an agitator, but everything I have done I have done openly."

From year to year the convention had passed resolutions, but hadn't elected men to carry them out, on the board of governors, the will of the convention. He endorsed the appointment of Professor Kerr, replacing "one who was notoriously out of sympathy with Baptist teaching." (Cries of "No.")

There was laughter when he said, "No one loves peace more than I do." He challenged in vain that the author of a disturbing article three years ago stand up. There were cries of "No" when he said the man was afraid.

Apologizing for one mis-statement concerning Dr. Sanderson, Rev. Dr. Shields provoked a chorus of dissent, when he said: "I was glad to hear his confession of belief in the divine inspiration of scripture, but he had been unfortunate in his associates. There is a way to live so as to be above suspicion."

Rev. Dr. Farmer resumed his speech on Baptist educational history in general, and McMaster in particular, at the point where he had left off in the morning session.

"The theological side of our McMaster work is not robbed or skimped for the benefit of other subjects," he said. He declared that the late Senator McMaster had set aside $35,000 for theological work, and the cost is now double that amount.

Applause greeted his emphatic declaration that the six professors on the McMaster theological staff "are well worthy of your confidence." The literary courses provided a recruiting ground for the ministry.

He denied that pastors who were not McMaster graduates were discriminated against in finding pulpits for them. He denied also the charge of boasting laid against McMaster.

"Boasting is a bad thing, but there is such a thing as esprit de corps," he said.

"Let us come together in the spirit of kindly and constructive criticism," he concluded, in appealing for unity.

MacNeill Answers Critics.

Rev. John MacNeill, pastor of Walmer Road Church, seconded the adoption of the report. From his own personal experience, he declared, he felt that McMaster University was "well worth the full endowment of $1,000,000."

"I say with a stern sense of Christian justice that Dr. Sanderson told me from a sick bed what he told you this morning, and I have no reason to doubt the sincerity of his declaration," he continued amid applause.

He paid a warm tribute to the ex-tion of what I had voted for at the Bloor street convention in 1910. I therefore declare and say that this charge, No. 1, is absolutely false.

Idea Not Entertained.

"False statement No. 2: That I am reported to have said that 'in the view of all who were informed on such matters, John's Gospel had been discredited and discarded.' 'I hereby declare that I have never entertained any such idea, nor has any person ever hinted to me in any shape or form that I myself held such a foolish and erroneous belief, nor do I know of any Christian scholars who do discard and discredit this marvelous gospel. The plain fact is that I have always regarded John's Gospel as of inestimable worth. I regard this gospel and the other three gospels as of priceless value. I therefore declare the foregoing charge as false.

"False statement No. 3: That I am strongly antagonistic to the conservative Baptist theological position. 'I declare and say that I accept without reserve the Baptist theological position as set forth by Dr. McCrimmon in his presidential address at this convention upon 'The Baptist Message.' I know of no part of this exposition of Baptist principles and theology that I could not fellowship. I declare my adherence to the purpose of McMaster University as set forth in the present report of the senate and board of governors, including the affirmation of the Guelph convention of 1888, and the reaffirmation of the same at the Bloor street convention of 1910, that McMaster University should be permanently developed as a Christian school of learning, with the Lordship of Christ as the controlling principle.

"I conclude with this positive affirmation that the Lordship of Christ is the central controlling principle of my life, and by the word Lordship I mean to include the idea of the deity of Christ.

It all depends upon the Breakfast

BREAKFAST is the most important meal of the day. Many hours have elapsed since your last meal, and the nourishment it provided has been utilized by your system.

Your digestive organs have rested—Nature now demands that they resume their function of extracting new energy for mind and body from the nourishment you take.

Many things depend upon breakfast. It makes or mars your day and it affects your very future—no matter what your walk of life.

Eat the right morning meal and you will go to work with a will, clear-eyed, alert, vigorous of mind and body, self-confident, anxious to grapple with the day's problems, equipped to accept its opportunities.

Health commands success in business, sport and society; it makes life worth living—and health depends upon breakfast more than upon any other meal.

Eat the right breakfast and be healthy. Eat a good breakfast of Quaker Oats porridge—the finest of all foods and the most nourishing. The oat is almost the ideal food in balance and completeness. It is a body builder and a vim-food. And of all Oats, none can compare with Quaker. The cream of the crop goes into the Quaker carton. We secure the pick of Canada's best oats and about 55% of them mill up to the Quaker standard—just the large, perfect, flavoury grains. The puny or imperfect grains are discarded.

Milled into very thin flakes, Quaker Oats cook quickly all through and make the most delicious and the most easily digested porridge. They are full of nourishment—and the family that eats plenty of Quaker Oats is sure to be a healthy, sturdy family.

Remember, Quaker quality is only to be found in the Quaker carton. Tell your grocer none other will do.

LONDON Y. W. C. A. CAN HOLD ITS OWN

Equals Any in Progressiveness Though Lacking in Equipment, Says President.

"I suppose comparisons are never in order, but for the sake of London, I have been struck with the fact that our Young Women's Christian Association measures up in progressiveness with associations anywhere." The foregoing comment was made to the women's department of The Advertiser on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. C. B. King, president of the local Y. W. C. A., just after her return from a three weeks' visit in Chicago, Detroit and Indianapolis. Holding the position she does, it was natural she should thoroughly investigate Y. W. C. A. methods in these cities and other places in which she visited.

A unique privilege was hers in Indianapolis, that of attending by invitation, a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. board.

"Indianapolis, a city of perhaps 350,000, has a fine Y. W. C. A. building, erected some 10 or 12 years ago," said Mrs. King, when the conversation turned to the subject nearest the hearts of all interested in Y. W. C. A. work in London, that of a new building.

"Though the Indianapolis building has been up so long," she continued, "it is modern in every respect, so far as equipment features are concerned. The feature which is the greatest source of revenue is the cafeteria, which last year earned $7,000. Another source of revenue is the hall, which is rented to various outside organizations."

"In addition to a fine gymnasium, there are two swimming pools, one for the small children, and one for the grown-ups. Clubs and classes are organized very much in the same way that ours are, only they have adequate club rooms in which to meet, with piano, tables, and so on. "The clubs for the high school girls are featured."

"With our own clubs and classes going ahead by leaps and bounds, I naturally dreamed about the day when we will have such facilities for the girls here."

With all the associations she has visited, and the association buildings she has looked at with critical eye during her term of office as president in London, Mrs. King has this to say: "While the standard of architecture does not vary a great deal in Y. W. C. A. buildings, I must say that the one in Hamilton, Ontario, is the handsomest I have yet seen."

WITCHES, BLACK CATS RUN RIOT AT LENMORE

Spirit of Halloween Festivity Takes Possession of Y. W. C. A. For Spooky Season.

Miss Marjory Morton, recently appointed general secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was discovered Wednesday afternoon, her eyes twinkling mischievously, in one hand a huge pair of scissors, and distributed around her quantities of materials which looked suspiciously festive.

"Just going to cut out ghosts, witches and clowns' costumes for the Lenmore 'Comrades' Halloween party next Tuesday evening," she announced, brandishing the shears dangerously.

For once the mind of the Y. W. C. A. is very much on pleasure bent. The Halloween season has evoked the spirit of fun-making, and during the next two weeks the King street residence in particular will be dedicated to social gaieties. No less than seven or eight parties are booked for the evenings between now and Saturday, Nov. 11, when the Y. W. C. A. leaders' camp reunion will take place. Friday, Nov. 3, is the date set for the annual campers' reunion, always an event of great importance, with visitors from the outside as well as the London girls, to review their holiday fun.

Thursday evening the ball is to be set rolling, with the Halloween party of the Federation of Girls' Clubs, which has aroused pleasurable anticipation.

The annual federation banquet is announced for the evening of Nov. 9, an event to which the presence of Magistrate Margaret Patterson of Toronto will add dignity. Dr. Patterson, as she is still more familiarly known, is remaining over in the city for the banquet, after attending the annual convention of the Western Ontario Women's Institute.

Witches, pumpkins and black cats, the time-honored symbols of Halloween, are already running riot in the decoration of the first floor rooms of Lenmore, when the Halloween frolics will take place, as well as the more sedate parties.

It is estimated that the dog has been man's companion for about 20,000 years.

Don't Be Disfranchised Voting Day; See Your Name Is Listed This Week

Get your name on the London Voters' List, Madame Citizen?

You have until Tuesday, Nov. 1, to find out and make your appeal to the judge, in case it is amongst those missing. If you fail to find out by Nov. 1, and discover later you have been overlooked, then you must abide by the consequence of your own carelessness. If you are a property owner, you cannot count one for or against the building of the much needed nurses' home, and you cannot have a say with regard to a new city hall.

If you are a tenant, or possess the necessary income qualifications you cannot say to the extent of one vote who shall or who shall not be elected to certain offices.

In other words, unless you make a point of finding out in the next few days, you run the risk of being disfranchised on municipal election day, Monday, Dec. 4.

The place to find out if your name is safely inscribed in the voters' lists is at the city hall, in the office of City Clerk Baker. The lists are there for you to consult for yourself any time before Wednesday, Nov. 1.

If you expect to vote as the wife of a tenant or property owner this year, then you are going to be disappointed under any circumstance. True, legislation making this provision to enfranchise married women went on the statute books of Ontario during the last session of the Provincial Legislature. But it doesn't become effective until 1923. There's the rub.

"If the London municipal elections were held on New Year's Day as formerly, would I have a vote next election day?" is a typical question asked City Clerk Baker during the days of voters' list canvassing.

"Couldn't be done," is the answer, "because this year's voters' list would be used under any circumstances."

The London married woman upon whom the Legislature has conferred the right to vote, by virtue of the fact her husband has died, is a woman who, with all his worldly goods, must possess herself in patience until December, 1923. Then she can vote to her heart's content!

Day Nursery Gratefully Acknowledges Aid of Good Friends.

The Day Nursery on King street is one of the most conveniently located institutions in the city, almost in the heart of the downtown, a little over two blocks east of the market, in a straight line, and easily discovered by the number, 284 King street, on the sign above the door. Always at the Day Nursery there is need of vegetables, and especially potatoes. If farmers going home from market with some of their stock still unsold would drop a donation of vegetables at the nursery the board, staff and the little ones themselves would be inclined to call such benefactors blessed.

Just at a time when funds for maintenance of the work were getting very low the Day Nursery board was rejoiced this week by the arrival of a second check for the year from the united welfare fund.

Donations also gratefully acknowledged are as follows: Mrs. Travers, $10; Mrs. Angus McLean, crib and baby buggy; Mrs. D. H. Howden, 10-pound pail of honey; Colborne Street Methodist Church, fruit and vegetables; Talbot street Baptist Church, treat; City Creamery, Mrs. Griffiths, bag of pears; Mr. T. Howlett, basket of peaches; Mrs. Charles Leonard's Bible class, First Presbyterian S. S., small shower of toilet soap.

Mrs. Cleary and Mrs. Ed Walsh will act as joint hostesses of the next sewing tea, to be held Nov. 16, in the home of Mrs. Cleary, 131 Sackville street.

Mrs. A. H. King has returned to town, after an absence of four months, during which she has visited friends in Louisville, Kentucky, Indianapolis, and in her old home town, Detroit. Mrs. C. B. King, her daughter-in-law, joined her in Detroit, after a trip to Indianapolis and Chicago, and they traveled home together Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid of the First Methodist Church is holding a bazaar November 16 and 17, both in the afternoon and evening. Many attractive articles have already been turned in to the various conveners, and a tea room in charge of Mrs. Sanborn is to be an added attraction. The affair is under the joint convenship of Mrs. Joseph Brown and Mrs. Thomas McFarland.

Miss Helen Ruse was the guest of honor of a miscellaneous shower arranged in her honor Tuesday evening, by Miss Elsie Holm, Wharncliffe road north. The rooms were very attractive, with Halloween decorations, which were also used on the dining-room table. The gifts which were concealed in a miniature house, a model of the bride's future home, were brought to Miss Ruse by little Miss Phyllis Griesman, frocked in black taffeta, trimmed with gold lace. Annie Bottrill made a charming welcome attendant. During the evening, Miss Elsie Orr, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Dexter, sang several delightful solos.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Goodburne and daughter Betty, who have been visiting the former's parents, 1050 Dundas street, and Mr. and Mrs. Mayne, Woodstock, have left for Montreal, where they will reside in future. Landon, second vice president; Mrs. Detwiler, secretary; Mrs. Louis Wood, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Dell, treasurer.

Mrs. A. H. Clinger was the hostess Wednesday evening of a miscellaneous shower given at her home in Ridout street in honor of Miss Marjorie Croden, a bride-elect of this week. The rooms were bright with Halloween decorations, and the many attractive gifts were presented to the guest of honor in a basket decked with yellow and black streamers. Supper was served later in the evening at a table centered with a miniature bride and groom, from which streamers radiated to the chandelier. The guests numbered twenty-two.

Most complimentary comments have come from Detroit with regard to a recital given before the Twentieth Century Club by Mrs. Robert Durst (Lita Layman Durst), contralto, during the past week. One number which brought her enthusiastic recalls was "The Cry of Rachel" (Mary Turner Salter). She opened her program with a group including "O Cessate, die piagnanti" (Scarlatina) (Caccini), and "Sapphic Ode" (Brahms). Three numbers, "Wind and Lays" (James Rogers), "One Golden Day" (Ray Foster), and "A Birthday Song" (Alexander MacFayden), completed her diversified contributions.

She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Durst, her assisting artist, with Ola Dufos Eustice at the piano. The tribute of the club to Mrs. Durst was a magnificent bouquet of chrysanthemums.

While in Detroit, Mrs. Durst was the guest first of Mrs. George Frazer, Glenvale avenue, Huron park, and later to Mrs. Seward Holts, Marlborough street.

Cynthia Greys

BULLETIN.

Boxites, we all have been invited to attend the grand opening of the War Memorial Hospital, which takes place Saturday, Oct. 28, at 2:30 o'clock. Cynthia is included, so I will have to don my best bib and tucker and attend the official opening. I am sorry all of you who have contributed towards the fund will not be able to be there, but all those who live in the city will be delighted to go and represent the Mail-Box.

KNOWS MRS. FATTY.

Dear Miss Grey,—You will think I am almost a stranger, but although I have not written you for so long, I never fail to read all the Mail-Box letters. I was sorry to read about so many in need of help. I just know how hard it is to try and make something out of nothing. I sincerely hope that things will brighten up for them soon. I am enclosing shin-plaster for S. C. H. What a splendid idea to help the Cynthia Grey Cot with a Cynthia Grey Cookery Book. Sure we could all send in our very best recipes for it. We must all make an effort to make a big success of it when someone can be got to take it in hand.

My, what a long letter we had from Mrs. Fatty last week. Cheer up, old dear! Let me whisper to you, Miss Grey: I know Mrs. Fatty, and the Chilper. What a pretty place they have, can just picture her recently if she had guessed she was saluting the Union Jack of the Mail-Box—she is so patriotic. Well, I will write you again soon if I may. With best wishes and success to you, dear Cynthia, and all the Boxites. What do you think of my writing for an old mother?

UNION JACK. Thank you for the plaster for our hospital fund. Our fund has reached $755.11. I think it splendid! I think Calamity Anne is going to take care of the cook book. Doesn't Mrs. Fatty know who you are? It must be interesting to meet the different Boxites. You write a very pretty hand, Union Jack. Don't stay away so long next time.

SAMMIE ANN.

Dear Mistress of the Mail-Box,—I am a newcomer and just want to peek in and ask if this is the recipe someone was asking for. I cut it out of the Mail-Box a year ago and tried it, and it was so good that I tried it again this fall. The cook-book idea is a very good one. Several years ago the Y. W. C. A. of St. Thomas got out a cook-book to raise funds, and I believe it was quite a success.

WITH THE BRIDES.

TELFER-CAMPBELL. A pretty house wedding took place at Pannekoek manse, Hideron, on Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1922, when Mary Edna, eldest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. N. A. Campbell, was married to Leigh Robson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Telfer of London Township. In the presence of their immediate relatives, the bride, who was unattended, wore a smart traveling suit of navy blue tulle, with white georgette blouse and corsage bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Gordon Robson, cousin of the groom, played the wedding march, and also played while the register was being signed, and the bride's father read the marriage service. After a wedding breakfast, at which Mr. and Mrs. James A. Campbell and Nellie Telfer, sister of the bride and groom, did the honors, the young couple left for Rochester, New York and Canada, the bride wearing a black janne velvet hat and fur coat over her traveling costume. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Telfer will reside in London Township.

COOMBS-JOHNSTON. Rev. W. J. Blake united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, Annie, only daughter of Mr. Edward Johnston of Cayuga, formerly of Hamilton, to Glen Coomes of Hamilton. The bride was unattended, and presented a charming picture in her gown of black canton crepe, trimmed in green, and hat to match. At the close of the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, and the newly-wedded pair motored to Buffalo. Mrs. H. J. Hoshal played the wedding marches, and during the signing of the register sang "All Joy Be Thine."

Music With Meals. For lunch, dinner and special hours, McCauley-Russo Orchestra in attendance.

Three Errors and Two More Hits Complete Indian Hurler's Undoing—Galt Adds One More in Eighth.

Three Errors and Two More Hits Complete Indian Hurler's Undoing—Galt Adds One More in Eighth.

U.S.P.H. Oct. 25.—Between 7,000 and 8,000 wildly-excited fans, the greatest baseball crowd that ever witnessed a game in Western Ontario, saw the Belleville Grand Trunk blow up in the seventh inning of the final game for the Ontario senior championship with the Galt Terriers here this afternoon. When the Terriers got to the famous Indian hurler, "Jacky" Williams, for three hits, including a home-run smash to right field from Norm Himes' bat, which sent two runs in ahead of him, and coupled with three errors, nailed the Terriers five runs. For six innings the Redskin pitched magnificently, only allowing two safe blows up to that time, and both of these in the first frame. In the other innings up to the fatal seventh the Terriers were unable to knock a ball out of the infield. The Galt crew, which never knows defeat, added another run in the eighth on two singles by Grove and G. Himes, and it was only too apparent that the Indian was willing badly and had out-pitched himself in the gruelling first part of the game.

Graham Allows Four Hits.

Friendly Graham, the "Chalk" hurler, who beat the Grand Trunk in Belleville last Saturday, was on the mound again today, and pitched a masterly game, allowing only four hits, one of which was a smashing drive by J. K. Williams. Belleville's third baseman, who went for three sacks in the second frame. Williams scored the only run for his team, a solo home run, when Meagher went out at first on a grounder down second base way.

The Belleville team cracked in the seventh, when they looked like winners all over. Friendly Graham was faced at first when J. H. Williams threw his bunt badly to H. Mills. Evans forced Graham at second, and the ball was safe when he grounded to Short, the ball taking a bad hop, but should have been fielded, and Weir was given an error of the first kind. Evans went on to second on the throw-in. Williams grounded to Short, and Grove counted. Norm Himes picked out a straight one, and asked it into the right field crowd for a home run, sending G. Himes and Weir in ahead of him. Krees then singled to left, but W. Graham ended the inning by fanning.

Five Runs in.

Five runs had crossed the plate and the Terriers followed with a road win. After two were down in the eighth, Grove singled to left and G. Himes followed with a home run. Williams, taking third on the hit, Grove scored when an attempt was made to catch G. Himes stealing.

Three thousand Terrier fans came to Galt in special trains, and the crowd was estimated at over a hundred. The officials for the game were Norm Chandler and Harry Burdick of Toronto.

BAPTISTS BEAT NORWICH

Woodstock College Keeps Up String of Victories.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 25.—Woodstock College continued their winning streak in the Inter-County Rugby League this afternoon by defeating Norwich High School by 18 to 5. The brilliant running of Roadhouse, Studdor and Start and Pym's kicking counted for the large share of the victory, coupled with Appleyard's great line play.

The only score in the first period was a safety touch behind the line after Kent had fumbled. In the second quarter Appleyard scored two touchdowns on line play, one of which he converted. In the last quarter Smith bucked through the line for a Norwich touchdown, and as the whistle went for time, and with the street lights forming the only illumination, Roadhouse made a great dodging run for 50 yards and scored Woodstock's final touchdown.

The line-up was as follows: Collette—Halves, Stuart, Roadhouse, Stevens, quarter, Flynn, map, Gibson, flying wing, Start, middle, Giles and Appleyard, insides, Sinclair and Rowe, outsiders, Hill and Spares, Rankin, Scallan, Shedden and S. Burgess.

Norwich—Halves, Fish, Nethercott and Mackinnon, quarter, Kent, snap, Smith, flying wing, Graeme, insides, McCrene, outside, McKie and Mims, spares, Kinsey, De Montmorency and Smith.

Officials—Harry King and J. Randall.

Dempsey Pays Compliment To Big Rioux, Quebec's French-Canadian Hope

ELZEAR RIOUX.

DURING the world series Jack Dempsey acted as a baseball expert. Like all other Dempseyes Dempsey picked the Yankees to win, qualifying Jack for honorary membership in the "great club."

Dempsey was unquestionably the busiest man in the press box. He wore out a couple of fountain pens auto-graphing baseballs and score cards. Before the close of the series his voice was little better than a whisper from answering questions.

"Who is the huskiest fellow you ever faced?" Dempsey was asked.

"A fellow up in Canada who as yet hasn't achieved any fame in the ring. His name is Elzear Rioux," was Dempsey's reply.

There hangs a very interesting tale. Dr. Gadbois, a prominent Canadian sportsman, and a great lover of boxing, has for thirty years been looking for a physically perfect Canadian who might develop into the heavyweight champion of the world.

In Elzear Rioux the learned doctor believes he has found such an individual.

After discovering Rioux the doctor put him under a course of training that

SCHOONERS MEET TODAY IN FINAL

N. S. Boat Displayed Edge in Anything But a Breeze.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 25.—(By Canadian Press.)—Sailing a hair-raising race from start to finish, Captain Angus Walters in his doughty Canadian defender Bluenose, defeated Captain Clayton Morrissey and the American challenger Henry Ford, today in the second race for the international fishermen's trophy by a margin of 7 minutes, 23 seconds. "This means that a third race will have to be sailed tomorrow in order to determine the blue ribbon championship of the North Atlantic seaboard, the first race having been won by the Ford on Monday's victory was won by the Ford, a Route-designed vessel in a breeze that varied between eight and twelve knots. The contest was officially that the defender is a faster vessel than the challenger, on the wind, in anything but a lady's breeze. It demonstrated unofficially that Bluenose is slightly faster on the wind in the lightest of breezes, as the wind is taken by the officers, after the Lunenburg schooner had seen up the race, the Bluenose can hold the Ford as presently ballasted in light airs.

Threw Out Ballast.

Bright and early this morning the Ford's sonar, a 100-ton vessel, which had voted last night to continue the racing, went aboard and set them selves to the task of removing the ballast they had stowed away the previous day. Later John Raymond furnished the Ford's sonar with a statement to the effect that all the ballast put aboard had been removed. This statement was made to Mr. Raymond by the men in charge of the work. The Ford was then ready to sail. But just when the lines were about to be cast off, members of Captain Morrissey's family appeared on the dock and staged a final endeavor to have the Ford quit the race.

After an impassioned appeal to the members of his crew to give up the ship on the ground that they were about to go out and risk their lives for the amusement of a "bunch of millionaire yachtsmen," Captain Claye yielded to the extent of paying a call upon Captain Angus in the Bluenose across the harbor. The two skippers were about to be embraced in a momentary post-mortem of all that had gone before, when someone suggested it might be a good idea for the two to go out and decide the matter, once and for all, by racing. A race was then decided upon.

ST. JEROMES ROLL UP 178 TO 0 IN THREE GAMES

Waterloo Seminars Beaten Yesterday 48-0.

KITCHENER, Oct. 25.—St. Jerome's College intercollegiate team, in winning from the Waterloo Seminars team by 48 to 0 here this afternoon, probably hung up a record in junior rugby. They have won the semi-final game, and in these contests have scored 178 points to their opponents' none. Twice they have beaten the Seminars team, the scores being 42 to 0 and 48 to 0, while they have won the final game, 48 to 0. St. Jerome's team, consisting of 18 players, still have a game with the collegiate team to play before their schedule is completed.

Local rugby followers expect that the St. Jerome's team will go a long way in the intercollegiate series.

The teams:

Judge of play—Byrne.

ASSOCIATION ELEVEN BEAT KING'S NAVEE TEAM 3-1

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—A football match played today between teams representing the football association and the navy resulted in a win for the former by 3 to 1.

The game was played at the National League ground, and the navy team, in a county championship match between Surrey and Eastern Counties, beat the association team, the former won by 4 to 0.

Rugby games resulted as follows: Cross Keys 22, Pillarriors 6; Cambridge 11, St. Paris Football 12; Oxford 19, Bristol 6; Root of Hampshire 18, United Services 11.

BANQUET ENDS SOFTBALL YEAR IN WOODSTOCK

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 25.—The Manufacturers' Softball League season was brought to a close by a very successful banquet, at which the trophy for the league championship was presented to the Harvey Knit Club. During the evening a proposal to organize a volleyball manufacturers' league was put forward. The teams are going at it whole heartedly.

IRISH NINE BUNCH HITS FOR VICTORY

Westerners Win Game With Two Runs in Sixth, Breaking 2-2 Tie.

LUCAN, Oct. 25.—The Lucan Irish Nine came out winners in the second game of the finals of the Intermediate O.B.A., by trouncing Peterboro at Lucan yesterday to the tune of 6 to 3. Peterboro put across the first score of the game in the first inning, but the Lucan crowd came back strong in the second and rang up two counters. Peterboro evened it up in the fourth with another tally, and the score remained tied until the sixth, when the Irish put across two more runs. They repeated this in the eighth, making a total of six. The Peterboro boys battled hard, but were unable to get more than one run, which they accomplished in their half of the ninth.

The feature of the game was a home run by Rose, with nobodys on, and the timely hitting of McCurdy, O'Neill and Crowley.

The box score:

LUCAN, Oct. 25.—The Lucan Irish Nine came out winners in the second game of the finals of the Intermediate O.B.A., by trouncing Peterboro at Lucan yesterday to the tune of 6 to 3. Peterboro put across the first score of the game in the first inning, but the Lucan crowd came back strong in the second and rang up two counters. Peterboro evened it up in the fourth with another tally, and the score remained tied until the sixth, when the Irish put across two more runs. They repeated this in the eighth, making a total of six. The Peterboro boys battled hard, but were unable to get more than one run, which they accomplished in their half of the ninth.

The feature of the game was a home run by Rose, with nobodys on, and the timely hitting of McCurdy, O'Neill and Crowley.

PURPLE AND WHITE BUCK OVER WINNING TOUCH

First Try Made by Locals in Four Years Feature of Well-Earned Victory.

GUELPH, Oct. 25.—Western University's intermediate inter-collegiate rugby squad sprang a surprise here this afternoon when they defeated the O. A. C. First 10 to 8, in a scheduled match. After a long and hard-fought game, the Western team on their own field in the first game of the season, the Aggie were quite confident that they would duplicate this feat on the Guelph turf, but showing a surprising reversal of form the London students well-earned victory today.

Western won the toss and were favored by a stiff breeze in the first quarter. Traynor, the Western center, half, gave a splendid exhibition of kicking resulting in four points. A sensational 26-yard run by McMillan, the Aggie's flying wing, featured the opening quarter.

In the second session the O. A. C. backs also took advantage of the wind and early in the period Traynor was forced to rouse. Another long kick by Smith was fumbled behind Traynor's line, and O. A. C. added another point. All the play in this quarter took place in Western territory. The ball was downed by Western 15 yards from their goal line, and they failed to hold. On the third down Western kicked and goal. On a long end run by McMillan on the second down he scored a try, giving the Aggies the lead at this period 7 to 4.

McMillan opened the third period with a 40-yard run from touch line to center. O. A. C. lost 15 yards on interference. An exchange of kicks took place and O. A. C. secured, but lost the ball on the first down. McMillan ran back a kick from Tray-

A. Stutz Saved Cubs $10,000 In His Slump

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Failure of Arnold Stutz, star outfielder of the Chicago Nationals, to keep up his hitting in the last four games of the 1922 season, saved his club $10,000. It was revealed today. The Chicago Club had agreed to pay the Los Angeles Club of the Pacific Coast League this amount in addition to the cash and players already finished the season with a batting average of .300 or better. Stutz kept the average of .287, according to unofficial figures compiled here, but he was below the season closed the little outfielder was traveling along with a mark of .280. In his last four games he made only three hits in sixteen times at bat.

WOODSTOCK YOUNG LIBERALS GATHER

Largest Membership in History of Club Reported At Annual Meeting.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 25.—The annual meeting of the Young Liberal Club this evening was an enthusiastic affair with the reported membership the highest in the history of the club.

A program of social and educational activities for the winter was approved, the chief feature being a series of addresses by prominent Liberals and a program of weekly debates on political subjects. The election of officers for the year was deferred until the second week in November.

John Eakins today lodged a complaint with the local police in connection with a accident which happened to him yesterday when he was knocked from his bicycle by a motor truck which he claimed hailed from Toronto. According to the statement made by Eakins the truck driver went right on after the accident, and did not stop to inquire as to whether or not he was hurt. He suffered several bruises and was badly shaken up.

News of the death of his mother, Mrs. John Cadamy, in Norwick, England, was today received by Alderman Cadamy of this city. The late Mrs. Cadamy, who was over 80 years old, had for some years suffered from chronic bronchitis, so that the end was not unexpected. Alderman Cadamy had not seen his mother for 12 years. She is also survived by three daughters and two sons, all of whom are in England.

IDENTIFICATION OF PARTS OF WHEEL CAUSES ARREST

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 25.—Identifying parts of his bicycle on a wheel standing outside a local theatre Tuesday night, a local boy went to the police station, and as a result Preston Smith was arrested Wednesday night on a charge of stealing his machine. The theft was first reported during the summer, and the victim of the theft was advised to keep his eyes open for something that looked like his machine. Walking along Talbot street, Tuesday night he noticed several parts which looked like his wheel. The owner when questioned said he bought the wheel from Preston Smith, or parts at least. The arrest followed.

SAYS IRELAND IS PROSPEROUS

Canadian Trade Commissioner Addresses Chamber of Commerce at Luncheon.

Lions' Club Also Attends To Hear Out-of-Town Speaker.

That Ireland today is enjoying one of the most prosperous periods of her career, and if the apparent stabilization of political conditions proves to be a reality it will be "one of the finest little countries in the world," was the firm belief of Gordon B. Johnston, Canadian trade commissioner to Ireland and Scotland, as expressed to a joint luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club in the Tecumseh House Thursday.

Major Johnston told the gathering of the great effect being put forth by the 20 odd Canadian trade commissioners stationed in every corner of the world to make Canadian products famous in Europe, Asia and South America, as they are in our own country. He explained how the Commercial Intelligence Service had been formed to gather information in trade conditions in every part of the world in order that Canadian manufacturers and exporters might be educated in the various phases of overseas trade.

Canada's Duty. The commissioner pointed out how that it is the duty of Canada's representatives to gather trade data of all kinds that would benefit the ports, and also to advise them in the best methods of marketing their products, as well as in customs, tariffs, statistics of exports and imports and private information regarding the morality, the integrity and the business standing of importers in other countries.

"In import trade, the ocean has to be bridged," declared Major Johnston, "and the exporter must bridge that gap. As a rule, the seller is more eager to sell than the buyer is to buy, and the seller usually quotes in the market place of the buyer and receives payment there."

Touching briefly on trade conditions in Scotland, Major Johnston said that the tide of trade is improving wonderfully in that country. Scotland is recovering, though slowly, from the effects of the war, he said, and the labor troubles there are much better than a few years ago. Labor is fairly well contented, and a greater amount of co-operation between employer and employee has been noticed during the past year.

Competitive Prices. "Canadian firms wishing to do business in Scotland must have competitive prices," he continued, "and through perseverance will place their products without much difficulty."

"Ireland, for the most part, is an agricultural country, although in Ulster the linen industry is very extensive. Last year the linen trade in Ulster reached nearly $200,000,000, while in Belfast sales valued at $60,000,000 were built during 1921. At the end of 1920 Ireland was one of the most prosperous countries on earth, 1916 to 1920 being the most prosperous years in Irish history."

Col. W. M. Gardner, in a few words, pointed out the need in the city of a nurses' home, and asked those present to support the bylaw at the coming election calling for the appropriation of $300,000 to build the needed institution in connection with Victoria Hospital.

Secretary Wilfrid Keene of the Lions Club announced that the London den is staging a ladies' night at Bungalow Inn Thursday night, Oct. 26, and it will take the form of a fancy dress party.

CANNOT AFFORD HALL ON SQUARE

Mayor Wilson Thinks Federal Square Scheme Too Expensive.

The citizens cannot afford to assume any large expenditure, as would be occasioned by the construction of a new city hall on the federal square, contends Mayor Cameron Wilson.

His worship also scoffs at the suggestion emanating from Alderman John May that the proposed structure be placed on property adjoining the Middlesex county buildings.

"The only sensible move by the ratepayers at this time," the mayor commented Thursday, "would be the sale of the federal square and the erection of a decent office building on the present site, that could be sold, if need be, in ten years time, and at a good price."

"We have not got the money at this time to expend upon an ornamental structure on the federal square, and the only reasonable solution would be the sale of the square for a good price and the immediate construction here at a reasonable figure."

Mayor Wilson also looks askance at Ald. May's suggestion that the federal square be devoted for future terminal purposes.

"It is not sufficiently far for that," he said, "if anything of that nature is attempted, either Colborne or Burwell streets should be the location in view of the fact that the city is moving eastward, and in time that will be the center of the city."

RUSH WORK ON SCHOOL IN EASTERN TOWNSHIP

LIONS' HEAD, Oct. 25.—The new school, which is being built at Brown's Corner, on the Center road, Eastern township, is going up fast, and when completed will be one of the finest schools on the Bruce Peninsula.

New York Canadian Club Donates $1,500 to Northern Fire Sufferers

New York, Oct. 26.—Canadian Press.—The Canadian Club of New York will subscribe $1,500 to the relief fund for the Northern Ontario fire sufferers. The board of governors was authorized to make this contribution at a general meeting of the members last night. The money will be forwarded to the relief committee immediately.

Another large contribution to this fund from New York is anticipated from the proceeds of a special benefit entertainment which is being organized by the New York Globe, to be held at the Ritz. The date has not yet been set, but it will be within the next two weeks. A number of prominent New York society people have interested themselves in this benefit, and some of New York's leading stage and concert stars will participate.

The entire proceeds will go to the relief fund as all necessary expenditures in connection with the entertainment will be taken care of by the Globe.

Apples were much in evidence, and sold from 75c to 80c per bushel.

Potatoes found a ready demand at $1.10 per bag wholesale and $1.20 retail.

Pumpkins and squashes were also to the fore, and the prices of these ranged from 10c to 25c each, according to size.

Onions were scarce on the local market, none having been offered for the last three days, although the demand is good.

Quotations for eggs remain the same, and the supply is very small. Prices range from 35c to 40c per dozen wholesale and 42c to 45c retail.

Dairy butter is selling at 35c and 36c wholesale and 38c to 40c retail.

LLOYD GEORGE OPENS FIRE ON TORY MEMBERS

Former British Premier Starts Off Election Campaign in London.

REITERATES HIS POLICY

Declares He Stands First and Last To Serve His Country.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By Associated Press).—Former Prime Minister David Lloyd George started off his campaign in London today with a fighting speech to an enthusiastic meeting of the coalition Liberal members of Parliament here, throwing down the gauntlet to the Conservatives, whose attack upon the late government, he declared, left no alternative but to "spread the war." The little Welshman stood by his Manchester speech of a week ago last Saturday, reiterating his declared intention to support any party or government pursuing a policy of peace, economy and steady progress, neither revolutionary nor reactionary.

"We are confronted," said Mr. Lloyd George at the outset, "with a very important decision, affecting not only the future of this country but the future of the world."

Cider Bought At Strathroy Church Bazaar Found To Have Wicked Kick

STRATHROY, Oct. 25.—Cider seized by provincial officers in the hotel of Edward Upton was found after analysis to be too strong, but Magistrate Trueman quickly found the defendant not guilty on a charge of "keeping for sale," when it came out that the cider had been brought to the hotel from a church bazaar one day before the seizure. Hence for the crown was given by Officers Stratton and Barr, the latter being merely the future of those here and those who support them in the country, but a decision which affects the interests of the country itself. That is a more important matter for us all.

"One chapter in the history of the politics of this country is for the moment closed. A new one is opened. What is printed on that page will depend largely on the attitude we adopt."

He counseled calmness and courage, and asserted the interests of the country must come first. "I have seen parties destroyed by personal resentments," continued the former prime minister. "I have seen parties rendered impotent by personal resentments. I have seen their judgment deflected, and for that reason they are not making the contribution they ought to to the well-being of the people, for whose prosperity we are deeply concerned. We will not make that mistake whatever happens. We will consider the issue to which we are deeply attached first. Its interests must be deepest in our hearts; its interests must be highest in our concern."

Great Britain First.

"Great Britain first; any party, even our own second, even last. Now, that is our policy. We have stood for national unity—that is, unity of all men, all creeds, parties and sections—for the purpose, first of all, of winning the war and afterwards of restoring the peace of the world after the war difficulties."

It was not his fault, declared Mr. Lloyd George to his hearers, if party faction had arisen and unity had been for the moment broken. The war had been won and the country was getting through its troubles in peace gradually, and throughout the world re-establishment and success was being accomplished.

"Our credit is being built up in a way that amazes the whole world," continued Mr. Lloyd George. Trade was beginning to turn, unemployment was going down. In fact, success was becoming so manifest that some people thought it time to seize the profits. Factions had been formed, and the success of the coalition had made some of the ablest, most experienced and most honorable men in the Conservative party say: "This isn't jannock" (provincial English for "fair play").

"I can understand," he continued, "a revolt of under-secretaries. I can also understand for the reason indicated why the wisest heads of the party did not join in the revolt."

"The present may look prosperous and promising. The future is dark and difficult, and the wisest men hesitated, were reluctant, apart from the fact that, as Lord Balfour said, 'These things, gentlemen, don't do.' They cannot understand why the majority took that line," said the former premier, laying emphasis on these words.

"It is vital that we should not allow our view of the eastern transactions to weigh against the country's interest. These are the things that matter at the beginning, at the end and at all times."

He doubted whether the Conservatives alone could defend the fabric and institutions of the country for which millions had faced death.

"Cannot explain breakdown. We are here," he declared, "to see how the situation which has been brought about by indiscreet, impulsive, thoughtless men can be so handled that Great Britain shall not come to any harm by their deeds."

"They are not to be found in the discussions of the cabinet," he continued, "and I have looked at the speeches delivered as an indication of the policy of the new government, and I am still more perplexed."

Mr. Lloyd George asserted that conditions here were tranquil and that he had seen conditions abroad worse than now. The Geneva pact had been kept in letter and in spirit and peace reigned along the whole disturbed area from the Baltic to the Mediterranean.

The ex-premier credited the coalition with settling the trouble between Turkey and Greece, "by strong and firm action, which showed that Great Britain meant to have peace on terms honorable to our country, and which would be one of security for the world."

To have peace, he said, one must be strong. Great Britain was not going to extend her responsibilities, "but she must not be afraid of her responsibilities. A Britain that goes to the councils of the world afraid of her responsibilities is a Britain that will cease to count from that moment."

After declaring that he stood by his Manchester speech for support of neither revolution or reaction, but of any party or government working along the lines of peace, economy and steady progress, Mr. Lloyd George said that in order to follow the traditional policy of the country "we must stand for moderation in treatment of foreign affairs, and work with allies to the best of our power, but not abandon the great British policy for which this country has always stood. We must not be tied behind the chariot of any other land."

Wants U. S. In League.

On the question of reparations, Mr. Lloyd George said, there must be no attempt to impose upon Germany any payment beyond her capacity. "And what is her capacity?" he asked. "She should pay."

TWO CONVICTED AS MURDERERS

Nick Thomas and Harry Rutka Found Guilty At Welland.

Both Will Be Sentenced For Crime At Court Opening Today.

WELLAND, Oct. 25.—Nick Thomas of Port Colborne, and Harry Rutka of Thorold, were found guilty by a jury today after two hours deliberation, of the murder of Adam Solton of Thorold, on Aug. 20 last. They will be sentenced by Chief Justice Meredith tomorrow morning.

Adam was found dead on the lawn in front of his home and Tony was found dangerously wounded and was treated for some weeks at the hospital in St. Catharines.

Giving evidence today, Tony said he was at home on that Sunday evening and his brother Adam was with him. Harry Rutka and Nick Rutka called shortly before 8 o'clock. They stayed in the house for a while and then went outside, Adam with them. Not long after he saw them fighting on the street. The three visitors had knives and his brother was unarmed. He rushed for the house and Thomas attacked him. He did not know what they were quarrelling about, as they had not started before they left the house.

Tony's wife, Nellie, said she also saw the fighting. She thought there had been trouble for some time over whiskey.

Giving evidence in his own defense, Thomas admitted that he had gone to Solton's house accompanied by Nick and Harry Rutka, but claimed he took no part in the fight, except to hit a man in the mouth who had slapped him. He then hurried to the station and taken a train for Hamilton.

SLAIN COUPLE USED SIGNALS

Pastor and Choir Singer Employed Care in Telephone Conversations.

Alleged Eyewitness of Murder Fails To Identify Leading Characters.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 25.—The Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were conscious of being spied upon for some time prior to their murder, according to new evidence unearthed by investigators today.

Mrs. Millie Opie, whose telephone was frequently used by Mrs. Mills, testified that the couple were so afraid of answering decoy calls and being trailed into making damaging admissions that they had signals and countersigns which were exchanged over the wire before they dared talk freely.

For instance, when Mrs. Mills got Hall on the telephone she always whistled a few bars of "Just Like a Gypsy" before talking. Then she listened for an answering signal.

Presumably Hall whistled some other tune in the case, it was learned today. Confronted with various suspects and asked whether she recognized any resemblance to the man and woman whom she says she saw commit the murder, she shakes her head.

CONSTITUTION OF IRELAND PASSES

Deputy Describes Document As Greatest Triumph Since Battle of Kinsale.

Speaks of Bill As Tribute To Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith.

DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The new Irish constitution passed its third and final reading in the Dail Eireann today. Deputy John Milroy described the document as the greatest triumph for Ireland since the battle of Kinsale. "It was a monument," he said, "to the two great men who had passed away—(Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith)—whose names would be blessed by future generations of Irishmen."

Mr. Milroy said he did not wish to suggest that the British Parliament would jeopardize a bill won with so much labor, but that the Dail must look beyond the bill to their fellow-countrymen in Northeastern Ireland as the next great step that would have to be considered.

He hoped the Anglo-Irish treaty and the constitution would bring the northeasterners to realize that their interests were those of Tipperary, Cork and Dublin.

"To those people a message of good will should go from the national assembly," the speaker declared.

Numerous other deputies spoke, several of them in Gaelic. All of them supported the motion of Kevin O'Higgins, minister of home affairs, for the passage of the third reading of the bill. After some verbal amendments to the bill the motion of passage was carried.

ALLEGED SLAYER IS UNMOVED BY TRIAL

Robert Stevenson, Said To Have Killed Wife, Unaffected by Proceedings.

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—With calm composure and apparently unaffected by the proceedings, Robert Stevenson, who on April 23 last, is alleged to have killed his wife and one of her two daughters with a gun and axe on his farm in North Gwillimbury, sat in the prisoner's dock of the jury assizes today, charged with murder.

Before the adjournment tonight the crown had concluded its case. T. Herbert Lennox, K.C., counsel for the prisoner, opened his case by calling the medical experts to show that Stevenson at the time he is said to have committed the murder, was in an unbalanced state of mind. Dr. Harvey Clare, provincial medical director of mental hospitals, was called by the crown to establish the fact that Stevenson was not, and never has been since the day of the crime, a victim of mental disease.

Doctors Forbes Godfrey and Thomas E. Callahan, for the defence, declared Stevenson to be one of the most peculiar characters ever brought under their observation, while Dr. Clare refuted their contentions, and under pressure of drastic cross-examination by Mr. Lennox, declared there was no such thing as a diseased mind, or a form of temporary insanity, confining the latter to be nothing more than a form of "prolonged illness."

He had never heard of "temporary insanity" or "diseased mind."

ADMIRAL BEATTY INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Admiral Lord Beatty was in a painful condition today following a motor car accident last Saturday, when it was considered that his injuries were very slight. The admiral was returning from a shoot near Poring when, in an attempt to avoid a bicycle his motor car ran into a ditch. He was severely shaken, though it is understood no bones were broken. He is still confined to his bed, however.

Lady Beatty, who was scheduled to open a new school building at Parkstone today, telegraphed the school authorities last night, saying: "I greatly regret that owing to my husband having had a nasty motor accident I cannot leave him tomorrow."

MANIFESTO OF LABOR CALLS FOR REFORMS

Party Pronouncement Will Create Alarm in All Circles, Is Belief.

BONAR LAW DEPARTS

Takes Train For Glasgow, Where He Will Officially Open Campaign.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press).—With Lloyd George's speech today and issue of the Laborite manifesto, all the forces for a general election are marshaled, and the public placed in possession of the party platforms.

Mr. Bonar Law, who started today for Glasgow, traveling in an ordinary passenger train, was accorded no opportunity for wayside receptions by admirers and for speeches, such as characterized Mr. Lloyd George's journey last week to Leeds. He may possibly, in his speech tomorrow, fill in the details of his policy, already outlined. He is expected to announce an extensive reform of administrative departments, with the object of retrenchment.

This reform probably will affect the ministries of labor and transport, the duties of which may be relegated to other departments, with a considerable saving in the expense of administration. This, however, can hardly be regarded as a new policy; rather, it would be carrying out the recommendations of the Geddes and other economic committees during the coalition regime.

In general outline, however, the platforms of all the parties are known, the most striking one in this connection is the fact that Mr. Lloyd George, after some hesitation, joined his voice today with the leaders of other parties against socialism and labor.

Arrayed Against Labor.

The former prime minister thus placed himself in line with Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Churchill on this question, though in a somewhat less pronounced manner. He declared: "Labor is against social order and we must contest that policy." He confessed he has no election slogan, and this is characteristic of the manifestos of all the parties with the exception of the Labor party.

Mr. Lloyd George continues to base himself on the imperative need for a coalition for solving the post-war problems. In essence there is very little to choose between the pronouncement of Mr. Bonar Law and Lloyd George and the general public is likely to find it difficult to differentiate between the two policies. On the question of relations with France and Russia there is a decided difference. The new premier advocates close co-operation with France while the former premier would not urge any co-operation antagonistic to England's own interests.

Favors Russian Pact.

Mr. Lloyd George favors a pact with Russia, which it is thought the new government is not likely to countenance. Mr. Lloyd George also stands by the Balfour note with respect to inter-allied and United States debts.

It would seem, as between the Lloyd George party and the Bonar Law administration that the election must likely turn upon the personal question of whether the country is still devoted to Lloyd George or whether there is any real reaction against the former premier in consequence of four years' experience of his peace administration.

The labor party's manifesto is probably the most striking pronouncement yet issued. "The labor party in England is a strong party, making continual and rapid growth and possessing in its ranks important intellectual elements. Its program while containing nothing that the party has not for a long time advocated, is calculated to inspire much fear, not only in capitalist quarters, but also among the taxpayers generally, since it calls for many social reforms of a costly nature."

The manifesto says that Labor will not penalize thrift, but that it will require some restitution from the profiteers out of the huge fortunes made in the war.

The taxation of land values also is advocated.

The Conservative government, the manifesto declares, was formed to carry out a policy of naked reaction; Labor is appealing to the men and women of the country on a policy of international peace and national reconstruction.

Revision of Treaties.

"Revision of the peace treaties, which caused greater international wrongs than they removed, is the first step to peace," it continues. "German reparations must be brought within Germany's capacity to pay. Turkey's relations with Europe and the freedom of the straits can only be dealt with in an international conference by the representatives of all the countries concerned."

"Labor is working for an exclusive league of nations with powers to deal with international disputes by methods of judicial arbitration and conciliation. Through the League of Nations an agreement can be reached for the limitation of armaments with general disarmament as the goal."

The Labor party advocates the independence of Egypt, self-government in India and cordial acceptance and ratification of the Irish treaty. "Labor," says the manifesto, "recognizes the urgent need of lifting about a more equitable distribution of the nation's wealth by constitutional means. This is neither bolshevism nor communism, but com-

Wears Knickers, School Teachers Send Girl Home

MISS JENNIE CORFFA. PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 25.—If the girls at the high school here want to get a day off from school, all they need do is put on knickers.

Miss Jennie Corffa, 15-year-old sophomore, tried it. She had just come from Springfield, Mass., where the girls wore what they pleased.

But Principal Willard W. Woodman, head of the school here, barred her on account of her costume.

by a special graduated levy on fortunes exceeding $5,000,000. Labor will not penalize thrift, but will require some restitution from the profiteers out of the huge fortunes made in the war."

Advocates Taxation System.

It advocates a system of taxation distributing the burden fairly according to ability to pay, increase of death duties and the taxes on large estates and incomes, exempting incomes below $250, reducing the tax on incomes below $500; taxation on land and statutes to secure to the community socially created wealth diverted to private hands.

It opposes indirect taxation and all burdensome impost, whether customs, excise or stamp duties. It further advocates economy, without starving public service or at the expense of the poor for the benefit of the rich, and adds: "Reduced expenditure on the education of children, the health and safety of workers, the well-being of mothers and babies, is the costliest kind of waste. Labor's policy is to provide work or maintenance for the unemployed by reducing trade with foreign countries; by national organization of production; by a large program of necessary and useful public works."

"The plight of agriculture must be dealt with by a bold program requiring landlords to sacrifice rents rather than that the workers accept starvation wages."

It proposes establishing councils for agriculture reforms, and includes school facilities, more and better cottages, increased hospital facilities and fuller opportunities for recreation in its program.

"Labor is resolved to change as speedily as possible by constructive means the social and economic system which confers unfair privileges on the few and undeserved hardships on many workers," it continues. "This system has brought unemployment and reduced wages to the workers, suffering and starvation to their families, loss of opportunities for full mental and physical development to their children, and anxiety and worry to salaried professional workers and small traders."

"Labor means to bring about a more equitable distribution of the wealth produced by common effort of work by hand and brain. Our industrial policy involves prompt nationalization of the mines, as recommended by the Sankey commission; nationalization of the railways, with an increased share in their control to the workers; an improved workers' compensation act and other measures for the protection of the working people."

"Labor opposes attempts to interfere with trade boards, demands a national scheme of housing to replace the slums by decent homes, an increase in old-age pensions, complete suppression of the press; 'poor law,' and a system of pensions for widowed mothers; and opposes also the cutting of ex-service men's pensions or transferring the mental, or physical, or moral, or social, or political, or religious, or racial, or ethnic, or linguistic, or color, or race, or sex, or age, or disability, or other measures for the protection of the working people."

"Labor's progress is the best bulwark against violent upheaval and class wars. A democratic government must stand for the control of the liquor traffic, according to the people's will."

The manifesto concludes: "Labor's progress is the best bulwark against violent upheaval and class wars. A democratic government must stand for the control of the liquor traffic, according to the people's will."

HOME OF DELHI FARMER BURNED

Early Morning Blaze Destroys Dwelling, Garage and Touring Car.

Special to London Advertiser.

SIMCOE, Oct. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Michael Powell and family were burned out of their home on the Col. Taylor farm near Delhi early Tuesday morning. They escaped from the burning building with just a scant amount of clothing. Their garage and touring car were also destroyed. There was very little insurance. How the fire originated is still a mystery.

Omar Vanatter of Stratfordville was found guilty in Tuesday night's police court of the theft of a purse containing $5 from the bakery of Dun-

STINNES SEEKS NEW GLORY IN BANKING

Move of German Industrialist Astonishes Berlin.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Curiosity and amazement mark the advent of Hugo Stinnes into the Berlin banking world, where he has acquired a third of the capital stock of the Berlin Handels Gesellschaft, rated one of the richest and soundest of Berlin's financial institutions.

The fact that the industrialist has temporarily transferred "his far-flung aspirations for capitalistic conquests to the world of finance instead of confining them to mines, smelters, pulp mills, overseas shipping and hotels, provokes less comment than the uncanny facility with which he is able to pay "cash down" for anything he wants, regardless whether the amount involved is calculated in millions or billions.

The Berlin Handels Gesellschaft probably is the only bank in Ger-

EXCHANGE DROPS PACKARD STOCK

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Common stock of the Packard Motor Car Company was ordered dropped from the list of the Detroit Stoc. Exchange today.

The board of governors holding the exchange had not been given sufficient notice in the declaration yesterday of a dividend of 5 per cent payable to stockholders of record today.

The suspension, announced as temporary at the opening of the stock exchange today, was made permanent when the company declined to advance the record date to tomorrow.
