"SLIM'S" TRIAL NEARS CLOSE; TOPPING FOLLOWS Government Prepares To Submit Liquor Referendum

WITNESSES STATE NO BULLETS FIRED FROM 'SLIM'S' GUN

Eleven Witnesses Called at Morning Session of Murder Trial—
Prisoner Will Take Stand and Tell Story of Crime—Case
Expected To Go To Jury This Afternoon.

PRISONER "SCARED AND HYSTERICAL"

At the opening of this afternoon's session, T. J. Rigney, K.C., asked permission to call Sidney Murrell as a witness.

The murder trial of "Slim" Williams commenced at 9 o'clock this morning in drawing rapidly to a close. The thin, white-faced Melbourne bank robber will probably know his fate before 6 o'clock tonight.

Although Sidney Murrell was found guilty last night of firing the shot that killed Russell Campbell at Melbourne in April, 1921, the law of the land says that any member of a robber band is guilty of murder, even if he does not do the actual killing.

At the last trial of Williams in October 1923, "Slim" told the court that he was present at the robbery and gave a whole history of the affair.

Williams will also take the stand in his own defence this afternoon, possibly about 3:30 and will again tell the story of the ghastly conclusion of the bank robbery.

Eleven witnesses were called by the crown this morning, all with the exception of Mr. McBride, architect, telling of the revolver Williams had when captured.

Several witnesses stated Williams was scared and hysterical and it was proved beyond a doubt that the revolver he carried was never fired during the robbery.

R. E. Campbell declared Williams "was the scariest man I ever saw." The crown will call two more witnesses before Mr. Donahue will put Williams in the box.

That jail officials did not consider Williams as dangerous as Murrell was quite evident. The prisoner walked into the prisoners' dock unshackled and without handcuffs. He was dressed in a neat brown suit and sat with his arms folded across his breast during the entire session.

The same provincial constables who stood guard over Murrell were on hand to look after "Slim."

Fifty-five jurymen were called, three more than in the Murrell trial before a jury was finally selected. Ten of the jurors are farmers, one a clerk in the city and the 12th lives retired in the country.

The jurors, with one exception, are young looking men.

Of the first sixteen jurors called, eight were chosen to try Williams. There were six challenges before the ninth jurymen took his seat. Mr. Donahue challenged four more before S. J. Chadwick of London was sworn.

Mr. Rigney asked B. Cunningham of London to step aside. Thomas L. Scott was agreeable to both crown and defence. He was the 30th juror called.

With eleven men in the jury box, Clerk Edmund Wedd called up the jurors six at a time. He might just as well have called another clerk, as there were 24 more challenges before a panel was secured.

Crown Prosecutor Rigney asked 24 men to step aside, while Mr. Donahue challenged 19.

Following are the jurors as they were chosen:

J. A. Leitch, Moss Township, farmer; Neil Munroe, Metcalfe Township, farmer; Albert Thomas, Westminster Township, farmer; Ernest Howay, West Nisour Township, farmer; Charles A. Shipley, Lobo Township, farmer; Oliver McKern, Metcalfe Township, farmer; George N. Willis, London Township, gentleman; Mitchell Innes, Moss Township, farmer; Arthur Morgan, Adelaide Township, farmer; Sydney J. Chadwick, London, clerk; Thomas L. Scott, London Township, farmer; Merrill West, London Township, farmer.

"We are called upon to continue an inquiry arising out of the murder of Russell Campbell in April, 1921," stated T. J. Rigney, K.C., in opening the case for the crown by an address to the jury.

"You men are chosen from a large number, the others of which, for various reasons, were challenged. The charge is a serious one and you will be called upon to decide it. The hon-

SUMMARY OF TRIAL

Trial of "Slim" Williams opened at 9 o'clock this morning.

Fifty-five jurymen challenged before panel completed: ten farmers, one gentleman, one clerk.

Eleven witnesses were called this morning: H. C. McBride, R. S. McCandless, Dr. Dewar, Dr. Freele, Detective Down, Detective Nickle, John Little, Robert E. Campbell, Charlie Long, John Marr, Robert A. Campbell.

Two more crown witnesses to be heard. Williams will testify. Case may go to jury this afternoon. Crown witnesses have sworn that no shots were fired from Williams' gun.

MINE FLOODS DROWNING FORTY-ONE

Only Seven Escape From Minnesota Pit as Roof Suddenly Collapses.

DIE WITHOUT WARNING

Associated Press Despatch.

Crosby, Minn., Feb. 6.—Collapse of part of the bottom of a swamp lake sent a torrent of water into the Milford iron mine near here late yesterday and snuffed out the lives of 41 miners caught like rats in a trap.

More than 150 feet underground, the 48 miners were working when, with hardly a warning, water burst through the roof, flooding the mine within 15 minutes to within a few feet of the top of the shaft.

Alarmed at the first rumbling as the earthen roof and timbers gave way, seven miners near the shaft started up the stairs to safety, but their 41 comrades, caught in the muddy, swirling waters, met almost instantaneous death.

First check-up last night indicated that of the normal crew of 55 men 49 had been in the workings, but the final figures announced early today by company officials put the number at 48 and the death list at 41, with seven survivors.

The high-powered electric pumps, rushed here from Duluth, were pumping water from the muddy swamp lake and the mine today, and mining experts said the working and the lake bed must be emptied before it would be possible to enter the mine.

The water from the mine is being dumped into a lake a quarter of a mile away. Between this lake and the mine shaft lies the mud lake whose water penetrated the mine workings, causing the worst mining disaster in the history of the Minnesota iron range.

Mining experts said today that the drift of the Milford mine, which is on the Cuyuna range, and produces manganese ore, did not extend under the lake, and they believed the water had worked a subterranean passage to the roof of the mine, and the pressure finally crushed it in the roof.

MELVIN KERR IS CONVICTED OF HOLD-UP IN DECEMBER

Judge Ross, St. Thomas, Frees London Youth on Suspended Sentence.

CRITICIZES TESTIMONY

Prisoner Ordered To Report Monthly To Inspector Nickle and To Dispose of Car.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Feb. 6.—Melvin Kerr, London youth, was found guilty of holding up the M. C. R. ticket agent here in December last, but was released on suspended sentence by Judge Ross today.

In passing judgment on Kerr, Judge Ross expressed his regret at finding him guilty of such a serious charge. He reviewed the evidence, remarking on the black mask which had been found in his possession at the time of his arrest.

"I cannot help but believe that the mask was in your pocket for an improper purpose," said his honor. "I cannot see why a man would also perjure himself so far as to refute Watson's statements."

Good reports were received from Kerr concerning his record. The judge instructed Kerr to report the first of each month to "Chief of Detectives Nickle in London and to dispose of his car."

Frederick S. Coombs, the M. C. R. brakeman, who pleaded guilty to four charges of robbery in police court last week, was fined $300 and committed to the M. C. R. charge, while sentence was suspended on the remaining three.

Following Coombs' arrest with a party of St. Thomas people in Detroit for shoplifting, about $1,600 worth of stolen goods was recovered in a raid on his home. Coombs admitted having a craving for tools, and stated that the goods had been taken from cars at the M. C. R. C. P. R. and from McMurtry's hardware store.

COCKSHUTT OFFICIALLY OPENS ONTARIO'S 16TH LEGISLATURE

Speech From Throne at Opening of Legislature Reveals Many Measures.

PLAN REORGANIZATION

Modification of the Course of Study in Elementary Schools Recommended.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—The first session of the sixteenth legislature of the Province of Ontario opened officially this afternoon with all the customary ceremony. After the election of Joseph E. Thompson, M.L.A., as speaker, Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt read the speech from the throne which gives indication of considerable government legislation to be brought down during the session.

Among the various measures which the speech announces to be forthcoming is one to make provision to enable the government to secure an expression of opinion from the people with regard to provincial liquor legislation.

Another is to provide the appointment of a legislative secretary for Northern and Western Ontario. It is understood that this position will be given to Frank Keefer, M.L.A. (Port Arthur).

The speech after reference to legislative in Ontario makes a reference to hydro, saying that the problem of further power development now presents itself. Legislation is announced for modification of the courses of study in elementary schools. The better advertisement of Ontario in the old country and selected immigration with supervision of arrival is also announced.

There will be a committee of the House selected to study the economic end of agriculture and make suggestions for legislative remedies. The government will encourage co-operative marketing of farm products.

Re-organization of the highways department and more encouragement to county and township roads is promised.

Encouragement by means of a bounty on iron ores will be given to mining. Extension of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway into the Lorrain district will be seriously considered. Provision will be made for a separate ministry of health. The speech announces re-organization of the compensation board and its work.

TOPPING'S CASE MAY GO TO GRAND JURY TODAY

Jurors Expected To Bring In a True Bill of Murder.

WILL TAKE EVIDENCE

Miss Viola McNaughton Will Be Questioned This Afternoon.

The wheels of justice may, on occasions, grind slowly, but not at the present winter assembles at the court-house. Two murder trials in three days and a third one scheduled for tomorrow is the record to date.

Immediately the case of "Slim" Williams goes to the jury this afternoon, the evidence in the Clarence Topping murder case will be submitted to the grand jury. That the grand jurors will bring in a true bill against the young Strathroy man is a foregone conclusion and this bill it is expected, will be handed to Mr. Justice Lennox before court is adjourned.

"The Topping murder case will go on," definitely stated Crown Prosecutor Rigney at the noon adjournment today.

The evidence of Miss Viola McNaughton, who was present when Topping shot and fatally wounded his sweetheart Geraldine Durston, will be taken at Victoria Hospital this afternoon. Miss McNaughton was also wounded in the shooting affair which occurred at the home of George Cook, York street on the morning of November 23 last.

D. A. J. Swanson, counsel for Topping, states he will not be ready to proceed with the case before tomorrow afternoon, but a settlement will be arrived at between Messrs. Rigney and Swanson. It is expected.

The crown has summoned a dozen witnesses for the case, while witnesses for the defence are numbered at 15. Mr. Swanson intimated that the defence had a number of surprises for the crown.

Unaccompanied.

Dr. F. W. Merchant, provincial supervisor of education, who is in London today in connection with the Technical School question, made a personal visit to the three collegiates and the technical school during the morning.

In his investigation Dr. Merchant went about unaccompanied by any of the officials of the board of education, preferring to carry out his survey entirely by himself. It is understood that he feels this the only fair way to approach a finding in connection with this vexatious question.

The board of education will meet Dr. Merchant at 3:30 this afternoon at the Technical School, where he will go into the matter thoroughly and advise the local board as to his findings.

98 OUT OF EVERY 100 WOMEN BENEFITED

An Absolutely Reliable Statement
Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. 50,000 Women Answer

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it—only two women out of 100 received no benefit—98 successes out of a possible 100.

Did you ever hear anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cough, Ontario.

ASKS RECTORY CLUB SUPPORT EAST SCHOOL

Principal A. E. O'Neill Visits
Mothers' Club Meeting
Last Night.

Principal A. E. O'Neill, of the East London Collegiate Institute, visited the Rectory Street Mothers' Club at the meeting held last night in the school, asking the support of the members in the new East London Collegiate Parents' Association and their campaign for a high school for the east end of the city.

Major Bradshaw, probation officer for the juvenile court, was also present at the meeting, explaining to the mothers the workings of that institution. The club is arranging a euchre party, to be held on the afternoon and evening of February 28 at the home of the president, Mrs. B. Sinclair, Ashland avenue. Plans were also made for the March meeting, when the program will be given by the children of the school. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served.

SACRED HEART UNIT.
Mrs. R. M. Burns, president of the Catholic Women's League, addressed the regular meeting of the Sacred Heart Mothers' Unit, held last evening in the school. Mrs. Burns urged the mothers to encourage the Catholic women to join the league, and stated that every Catholic woman should be a member.

Further plans were made for a St. Valentine's social, to be given by the unit in St. Peter's Hall, Thursday evening, February 14. Bridge, euchre and music will be included in the program.

PLANS BANQUET.
Meeting last evening in Moose Hall, the lady members of the Sons of Scotland planned a banquet to celebrate their fourth anniversary, which takes place the 15th of March. Mrs. Bert Webb was appointed convener in charge of this affair. Plans were also made for a Leap Year dance to be held in Hyman Hall, Feb. 26, with Mrs. Isabel Smith as convener. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. May Haldane.

London Free Press Made
An Error in Advertisement

The Free Press last Saturday made an error in a local merchant's advertisement. It seems this merchant in one day sold for cash 17 diamond rings from $50 each up to $675 each and they in error said from $50 to $75 each. Quite a difference. Of course these rings were sold by John A. Nash, My Jeweler, 182 Dundas street, "Where you will eventually buy."—Adv.

Aunt Martha's HOUSEWIVES' COLUMN

Would you rather have a hundred people give you one dollar each, or one person give you ten dollars?

I think most any of us would prefer the hundred dollars. It's just the same way with Dominion Store profits. Each of the 300 Dominion Stores sells a lot of groceries at a very small profit on each sale. The result is that a million customers a week buy at our red front stores and the little profits add up into the biggest retail grocery business in Canada.

That's good for us—and good for you. You pay less for your groceries and our business keeps on growing bigger and bigger as more and more thousands of Canadian housewives discover that the surest way to steady savings is to buy regularly from the Dominion Stores.

It's a good thing to remember, too, that Dominion buying experts buy our high quality foods in enormous quantities—and therefore at surprisingly low prices. So you see why the price tags on Dominion Store shelves are so low. We buy for less and sell at a very small profit indeed.

Thousands of careful Canadian housewives have proved to themselves that Dominion Store savings help them feed their families for less. They keep a record of their food expenditures. Then at the end of each month they add up their food costs and see how they actually came out.

They find that regular buying at their Dominion Store saves them three to ten dollars a month.

Ferguson Does Not List Farmer Members Among Political Acquaintances

Premier Reaffirms Statement
That Liberals Are To Form Opposition.

WILL FARMERS BOLT?

Prime Minister Making No Changes On Eve of Session.

By WILLIAM SHARMAN,
Special to The Advertiser.
Toronto, Feb. 5.—When the first session of the sixteenth Ontario Legislature proceeds tomorrow there will be two distinct political parties in the House, according to Premier Howard Ferguson—the Conservatives on the government benches and the Liberals as their official opposition.

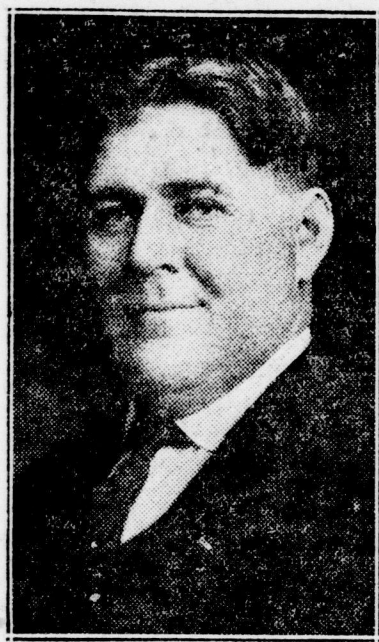

Premier Ferguson told The Advertiser tonight that he is making no last-minute changes in this regard. In what group the U. F. O. members consider themselves he does not profess to know. They may be the new Progressives, as stated by their new leader, Hon. Manning Doherty, or they may be Independents.

Or as Captain "Joe" Thompson, the new Speaker, suggested, and the wish is father to the thought in the minds of the Tories, some of the U. F. O. may bolt to the old-line parties, preferably to the banner of Howard Ferguson.

May Alter Enactments.

While reaffirming his attitude that the Liberal party shall be the official opposition, Premier Ferguson points out that, if the government's policy in this regard does not fit in with the legislation enacted by the late Drury government, providing that at least 15 members must constitute a party, it will be incumbent upon himself and followers to alter or upset entirely such enactments.

"Why should I say that the U. F. O. or the former members in the House shall be designated as the opposition?" the premier enlarged. "From what I hear from the attitude of the majority of their leaders, they are supposed to be open-minded members, and entirely independent. They are in the House to insure proper consideration for agricultural ex-reeve of Dover, who was defeated for re-election by Matthew Rankin in the second election of this year.

Await Developments.

"Who are the Progressives? I don't know who they are, and we'll have to await further developments in that direction. I have had communications from Hon. Manning Doherty referring to his followers as the new Progressives, but that doesn't enlighten me any. I don't know anything about this body, who composes its membership, or how many of them."

"From what I know of the U. F. O. principles—and I have followed them—I would think that it would be against their policies to define themselves as a political party for opposition purposes. How am I to know that they will oppose the government upon measures of importance and of interest to agriculture?" The premier understands that the U. F. O. members are in the House to support or oppose, as the case may be, measures of the latter nature.

"It is different with the Liberal party," he concluded. "They are Grits, and they say they are our opposition, and that is how I consider them."

GIRL WAITS KISS TO SID MURRELL

Proudly Says "I'm His Girl," To Crown Prosecutor,
T. J. Rigney.

"You bet I'm his girl." Thus spoke a young woman in the early twenties as she was asked by T. J. Rigney, crown prosecutor, if she was the sweetheart of Sidney Murrell, who was convicted last night of murder.

Sitting beside Sid's sister, this girl in a blue dress, with dark, bobbed hair, listened most attentively to the evidence of the witnesses for the crown, every once in a while turning towards the prisoner and smiling at him.

When Sid took the stand on his own behalf, she, with her chin on her hand, gazed steadily at him, and after the counsel for defence had concluded his address to the jury, and as Sid was being taken downstairs for supper, she put her hand to her mouth and threw him a kiss, which, judging from the smile on his face, Sid received.

She was a Mrs. Edinson, who came from Toronto to attend the trial, and after a short conversation with Mr. Rigney, arranged to see Sid, paying him a short visit last night before the court convened.

MAY APPEAL DECISION.
Special to The Advertiser.

Windsor, Feb. 5.—Rumors tonight that E. B. Winter intends to appeal the ruling of Judge J. J. Coughlin, holding the recent municipal election valid, were not denied by Winter or his counsel, Barrister J. H. Rodd. An announcement will be made within the 15 days allowed for an appeal, they said.

FERGUSON WOULD CUT BOUNTIES ON WOLVES

North Bay, Feb. 5.—In connection with the proposal of Premier Ferguson to cut the wolf bounties, it is pointed out here that in Quebec this bounty is much less than in Ontario, and the fact has been commented upon that near the interprovincial line Quebec has been called upon to pay very few wolf bounties.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER TENDERED FIRE VICTIMS

Special to The Advertiser.
Hyde Park, Feb. 5.—A miscellaneous shower was given Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keays, who recently lost their house, with all its contents, by fire. It was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Ross, Hyde Park, Friday evening, under the auspices of the Hyde Park Woman's Institute and their friends. During the course of a very enjoyable evening spent in cards and dancing, Mr. and Mrs. Keays were presented with many useful gifts of bedding, table linen, kitchen utensils and over eighty jars of fruit and pickles. Each gift was a token of sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Keays. The recipients made suitable replies. At the close a bountiful banquet was enjoyed.

STOLEN BEER FOUND.
Special to The Advertiser.
Windsor, Feb. 5.—Three hundred cases of beer stolen from railway cars at Sandwich, January 13, were found today in a stable at the Kenilworth race track. The beer was there without knowledge of the race track officials, the police said. Frank Ryan, Windsor youth, was found guilty of stealing the beer and remanded eight days for sentence by Magistrate W. E. Gundy.

ENGINEERS MAY CONSIDER PLANS FOR WATERWAY

Canada Asks U. S. Appoint Joint Board To Report On Scheme.

STATES WANT TREATY

Associated Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Feb. 5.—The Dominion Government has proposed to the United States that the technical aspects of the St. Lawrence waterway project be given further consideration by the joint engineering board and a report covering the whole project, including its cost, be obtained. The proposals of the United States government for the immediate conclusion of a treaty looking to the development of the St. Lawrence waterway, or, alternatively, the construction of a joint committee of experts to make preliminary studies as a basis for the framing of a treaty, are still under consideration. The reply of the Dominion government to the proposal of the United States was made public this evening. It is in the form of a communication sent by the governor-general to the British ambassador at Washington.

Canada Ready.
It states that the Dominion government is prepared to appoint additional engineers to the joint engineering board with a view to having the final report prepared. It also says that the Canadian government "intends to constitute a committee which will, in consultation with the Canadian members of the joint engineering board, inquire fully from a national standpoint into the wide questions involved, and hopes shortly to be able to take further action on the proposals made by the secretary of state." The communication follows: "My government has had under consideration the note of the secretary of state of the United States, which refers to a note transmitted on May 22, 1922. It is observed that the secretary of state in the latter suggestion either the immediate conclusion of a treaty looking to the development of the St. Lawrence waterway along the lines recommended by the international joint commission in its report and providing for the constitution of a joint commission (doubtless a special one), charged with the formulation of a complete plan which would be subject to the approval of the two governments, or, alternatively, the constitution of a joint commission of experts to make preliminary studies and investigations and frame a project of a treaty."

Recommend Plan.
"The report of the international joint commission recommended that before any work was gone on with the joint engineering board, whose proposals are generally approved, should be enlarged and that as so enlarged, it should further consider the technical aspects of the problem in detail and decide upon the plan which should be adopted. "My government is still considering the suggestions made by the secretary of state of the United States, but considers that, without awaiting a decision on them, the proposal made by the international joint commission might be acted upon. It is accordingly prepared to appoint additional engineers to enlarge the joint engineering board with a view of having the board, so enlarged, prepare a final report covering the engineering features of the whole project, including its cost. My government intends to constitute a committee, which will, in consultation with the Canadian members of the joint engineering board, inquire fully from a national standpoint into the wide questions involved and hopes shortly to be able to take further action on the proposals made by the secretary of state."

Await Suggestion.
"Upon the question of the number of additional engineers who should be appointed by each government to the joint engineering board, my government would welcome a suggestion from the government of the United States, and would also be ready to nominate one or more technical officers of the United States, the terms in which they would recommend that instructions to the enlarged engineering board should be couched, and the time in which it should be instructed to report. "My government trusts that these proposals will receive the favorable consideration of the government of the United States. "My ministers request that you will inform the United States government of their desire that arrangements be made by telegraph for publication simultaneously in Washington and Ottawa."

F. W. JOWETT,

commissioner of works in the Mac Donald cabinet. He began life as a half-timer in a Bradford textile mill at the age of eight, and became manufacturer's manager, after which he entered municipal politics before being elected to the House of Commons.

MURRELL IS FOUND GUILTY OF MELBOURNE MURDER

TRIAL ENDS IN SWIFT DRAMA; CROWN MAKES SUDDEN CLOSE AND BANDIT TELLS HIS TALE

Jury Brings Verdict of Guilty After Less Than One Hour.

SENTENCE LATER

Justice Lennox Will Deliver Sentence After Verdict Is Found On Williams.

SLIM'S TRIAL TODAY

Murrell Hears His Fate With a Smile At His Mother.

Sidney Murrell has been found guilty of murdering Russell Campbell at Melbourne on April 2, 1921.

A Middlesex petit jury rendered a unanimous verdict after deliberations lasting but 56 minutes. The case went to the jurors at 8:44 last night, and they returned to the courtroom at 9:40.

Crown Prosecutor T. J. Rigney announced later in the evening that Mr. Justice Lennox, presiding judge, would sentence Murrell immediately after the murder trial of Henry Jack "Slim" Williams, which opens at the court house at 9 o'clock this morning. Williams was a companion of Murrell's the day the Home Bank was robbed, and Campbell was shot down in a laneway beside the bank.

Williams' case will probably last longer than that of Murrell, which took a day and half. The same seats were taken by the same people as they had occupied since the beginning of the trial.

After the roll had been called, Clerk of the Court Edmund Weld asked whether a verdict had been reached.

"Guilty, My Lord."

"My lord, the jury finds the prisoner guilty," declared N. J. Stanley, foreman, in a half whisper, without turning his head either way or the other. The other jurors fixed their eyes on his lordship, none of them glancing towards the prisoner. Their features were set in a stern look and that they fully appreciated the responsibility and the seriousness of their verdict was to be seen in every face.

After the foreman had given the verdict, Clerk Weld again asked whether the jury had agreed, "one and all."

He was answered in the affirmative.

After hearing the jury's verdict, Justice Lennox asked whether J. M. Donahue, counsel for the defence, wished to make a plea for the prisoner.

"Yes, your lordship, but I would ask that I be given a day to prepare it," said Mr. Donahue.

"I am an older man than you are," replied his lordship, "and I don't think any delay is necessary. The king's business brooks no delay."

Mr. Donahue will probably make his plea this morning before the case of Rex vs. Williams is proceeded with. Mr. Justice Lennox then asked the crown attorney, J. T. Rigney, whether he was ready to go on with the Williams case, and as he was told the crown was ready.

Murrell Smiled.

Sidney Murrell ascended the stairs to the court room at 9:42, taking his seat in the old corner of the box. As he entered the box he turned to where his family was sitting and smiled. It was noticeable that the gun he had been chewing since the trial opened was missing.

As Edmund Weld asked the jury whether they had arrived at a verdict, the prisoner's eyes searched each juror's face as he turned, and as he glimpsed their serious features, his own became more downcast.

When the foreman, N. J. Stanley, rose to deliver the verdict, a pin could be heard drop, and Sidney Murrell, as the fatal words "We find the prisoner guilty" dropped from the juror's lips, grew very still.

After having heard his attorney state that he would like to plead on his behalf, and hearing the court adjourned, Murrell rose to again go downstairs, where he had been turned away by his family and shook hands with them in pantomime, smiling again. He then was taken down stairs, where he will remain until brought up for sentence.

Mr. Rigney opened the address for the crown at 7:27 p.m., court having opened two minutes previously. He told the jury that the evidence, as submitted, could be condensed in a short time. He stated he had never tried a case where the evidence was more conclusive nor where a jury had given greater attention.

"The duty of the crown consists of two sections: To show the commission of a crime, and the person by whom committed."

"I do not think, after hearing medical evidence, any doubt can exist as to the commission of the crime, as a man shot through the chest."

SIDNEY MURRELL—"GUILTY OF MURDER."

This is Sidney Murrell, who was last night found guilty of murdering Russell Campbell at Melbourne in April, 1921. Murrell will be sentenced by Justice Lennox on completion of the trial of "Slim" Williams, which opens this morning.

accused. I am sure you have reached the conclusion that there is no possible question of doubt. "You have had two witnesses swear they saw the shot fired. Do you believe those witnesses?"

"Mr. Theaker heard a report and saw Campbell crumple and fall. Can any evidence prove more conclusively? He had no reason to come here and make this statement. He pledges his oath to what he saw, and asks you to believe it. So do I. Was there anything in his cross-examination to lead you to believe otherwise? Is there any evidence any stronger that can be presented?"

"In addition, there is John Stuart Campbell, brother of the murdered man. He told you of the occurrences, that he was shot at by the prisoner, who admits it. He (the prisoner) says what Campbell says is true. Campbell continues and says he saw Murrell and his brother struggling. Then Mr. Mair's evidence is also contradictory."

Did Not Deny.

"It isn't necessary for you or me to admit having done something discreditable, yet the prisoner said he did not deny the shooting. Don't you think that if he had no knowledge of it he would admit it. There is no reason why you should disbelieve the evidence. It has not been contradicted in any way."

"I don't deny it." Does that mean he admits it? You know the demeanor of an ordinary man. If an accusation is not true, he denies it. Let it be for the unfortunate man in the case, that is outstanding in the sordid tragedy, he did not deny it. That is to his credit."

"There are various other matters, necessarily introduced, but two questions were to be considered."

"Was there a crime, and who did it? The first question has been answered."

"Regarding the second, the prisoner admits firing three shots. Why? Because the other two killed. The prisoner made no reference to the dead man. That was one of the most dramatic and significant incidents. On cross-examination, he said he saw the dead man, can you accept and believe his denial?"

Knew Five Were Fired.

"He said when he was running and before being apprehended he snapped the gun. Why? The man who swore that there were five bullets in the gun knew they had been fired when he tried to take his coat off."

"I have sympathy with any man who will take his coat off and fight, but not with a man who hurts a man's soul before his Maker as in this case."

"I am not appealing for vengeance but not with a man who hurls a oath to render a true verdict according to the evidence."

"My work is done, the task is yours. I think your minds were made up long ago and I feel perfectly confident that despite the opportunities offered the prisoner to prove himself innocent, the facts have shown the opposite. There is no disgrace in bringing in such a verdict, as I ask. If there is a doubt, the prisoner is entitled to it."

Objects.

Mr. Donahue—I would like to make an objection to some of Mr. Rigney's statements as regards evidence."

Justice Lennox.

"Gentlemen of the jury: "This has been a tiring case for me as well as for you. It has been getting the case lately to measure ease by what are the results rather than the issues."

"This is an ordinary case, except that it has been marked by audacity. A bank robbery is not a new thing. There is now highway robbery by force of arms, the entering of a bank and holding everybody up, possibly holding up two girls. Bank managers may be brave in charging you in interest, but are no braver than ordinary men in other respects."

They go to the City of Toronto and I will await you for a while. I will send for you within a reasonable length of time. I do not want to keep you here all night, however, take as you like. You must, however, take as you like. You will bring in a verdict of guilty or not guilty."

Just as the jury filed out at 8:37, Mr. Donahue, addressing the judge, referred to the question of manslaughter being pressed.

His lordship called the jury back, and asked them that in this case one might just as well talk of green cheese as talk of manslaughter. "It is absolutely impossible to bring in a verdict of manslaughter. I don't know of a line or a dot of evidence that suggests it or the facts," declared Mr. Justice Lennox.

Mr. Donahue made the following statement to his lordship after the jury had filed out.

"In your remarks just now on the question of manslaughter, that if ever, when the common purpose clause came, the jury found that the bullet was fired in a vague direction, it is not bound to bring in a charge of murder."

It was expected in every quarter that when the thirteen witnesses for the crown had been heard the fate of Sid Murrell would go to the jury after the customary addresses of the two counsels and that the defence would waive the right of calling witnesses.

Mr. Donahue's action was altogether unexpected and proved a sensation indeed. Murrell was placed in the witness stand about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

On returning to the bench, his lordship asked whether counsel for "Toppin" was in court. He stated that he was very likely to come on and that he would like to speak to counsel for prosecution and defence at the same time.

"There is no reason why it should not come on at the present time," Mr. Donahue asked if he could call Murrell, but his lordship stated that he would be called.

Counsel for defence said he would not avail himself of any of the crown witnesses.

Sidney Murrell, the accused man, then took the stand.

He was chewing gum and asked if he could have the handcuffs removed while giving evidence. The crown attorney said the responsibility was the sheriff's. He said that as a large number of provincial police were present, they might be taken off.

The prisoner was then sworn, one hand in his pocket and the other in his right hand.

Addressing him as "Sid" Mr. Donahue asked for his story.

His lordship objected to his being called "Sid."

Mr. Donahue asked Murrell to tell his complete story.

There were three of us arranged at our house, I mean Stuart Campbell, I was talking to him for quite a while. About that time others came and asked me where the others went. I said, "I don't know." With that he gave me a crack on the ear. The other two came and stood by me, but I wasn't hurt much.

Dr. Freese showed me a bullet and said, "Is that out of your gun?" I said, "Yes."

"I don't know," I said.

"I don't know," I said.

"I don't know," I said.

"I don't know," I said.

A—No, I did not.

Q—Why did you give Norton your gun?

A—He asked for it.

Q—You did not know that Norton gave Williams and your brother their guns.

A—No.

Q—You brought your gun from home?

A—Yes.

Q—Then, after firing three shots you put your gun in your pocket and ran out?

A—Yes.

Q—Why?

A—Thought They Wouldn't Fire.

Q—Because people were at the back of the alley firing guns. I thought if I put the gun in my pocket they wouldn't fire.

Q—Is that the truth?

A—Yes, sir.

Q—If you were told a bullet fitting your gun had been found in the stairway by Parr's store, what would you say?

A—It wouldn't surprise me.

Q—There has been evidence that a bullet was taken out of the stairway. Would it surprise you if it were out of your revolver?

A—It is a hard question to answer, but possibly it is.

Q—The guns of Williams and your brother Bill were 38's and also Norton's?

A—No.

Q—You saw Norton with two 38-calibre guns in the auto going to Melbourne?

A—No.

Q—How many did you see?

A—One.

Q—When the guns were displayed at the police station they were all loaded except yours?

A—Yes.

Q—Your gun, for which you only had five shells, were shot out?

A—I don't know.

Q—When you snapped your gun when you were captured you didn't know it was empty?

A—No.

SIDNEY MURRELL SMILED WHEN HE HEARD HIS FATE

Smile of Gambler Who Has Played and Lost—But Smile of Bravery.

HIS MOTHER WEPT

Tragedy Stalks Through Silent Courtroom As Justice At Last Demands Its Due.

"What is the jury's verdict?" "Guilty, my lord."

When Sidney Murrell, convicted murderer, heard the hoarse whisper of the jury foreman, a quizzical, uncomprehending expression came over his face. Then, in the tense silence of a breathless courtroom, the awful purport of those words seemed to come to him in a flood-tide of realization.

Sidney Murrell smiled. It was a courageous smile—an indescribably pathetic smile, which left an indelible impression on the minds of all who saw it. The smile of futility that comes to a gambler who has played and lost. The smile, which says, "Oyez, oyez!" in the south corner of the crowded courtroom, sat his mother, his sisters and his sweetheart. Murrell turned to look at the latter, and the two smiled at each other. In their glances one read unutterable pathos—pathos profound and pitiable.

Tragedy of Blind Youth.

It was the most dramatic moment in local criminal court history. One felt that there was being enacted a terrible tragedy. A tragedy of blind, ignorant youth, the unhappy victim of false teachings and wild impulses, going to his doom with the savoir faire of a second Sidney Carton. The tragedy of virile manhood led to paths of folly for which an inflexible law enacts penalty. The tragedy of what might have been.

In the second row of benches on the extreme right of the prisoner a little woman was sobbing softly. It was Sidney's mother. Beside her sat the murderer's two sisters, just budding into womanhood. Behind was the father, pale and insouciant.

When the jury filed into the courtroom to render a verdict which all thought inevitable, a profound hush fell over the court. The solemn, wrapt expression on each face told the story. Behind the judge's eyes every man and woman knew what the verdict would be.

Faced His Judge.

A long silence ensued as the prisoner was ushered into his box. He stood up and looked steadily at the judge on the face of the judge who is to pronounce sentence upon him. As he sat down again he turned his head in the direction of his loved ones huddled together on one of the front benches. He smiled gamely at them and each one returned it. Those who saw him smiled at the thought of the four sisters.

While the jury was out, the court buzzed with muffled conversation, and the Murrell family, with Sidney, banked on the side of the court, encouraged to one another. Each of the sisters chewed gum nervously.

and my only excuse is because I felt it my duty. I am now going to leave the fate of Sidney Murrell in your hands," concluded Mr. Donahue.

Crown Prosecutor Rigney predicted early this afternoon he could conclude the crown's evidence by four o'clock and his prediction came true. Fourteen witnesses in all were examined by Mr. Rigney. His lordship granted Mr. Donahue the privilege of cross-examination of the crown witnesses called at the last trial. There are 19 crown witnesses available for Mr. Donahue, but the latter intimated that in the direction of his own examinations would be short. Mr. Donahue stated.

Continuing his address at the trial table, Mr. Donahue testified as follows:

Q—You went out the side door into the alley?

A—Yes.

Q—What did you see?

A—I saw a man running towards the street.

Q—How far was he from the side door?

A—I don't know. He had fired a shot and I charged him.

Q—Where did you first see him?

A—I am not sure of that spot.

Q—You must have run considerable faster than him to catch him at the sidewalk.

A—I don't know.

Q—Did you see anyone else?

A—I don't remember.

Q—You may have seen somebody?

A—After you saw Stuart in front of the bank, where did you next see him?

The Tragedy of Murrell

Murdered Russell Campbell in the robbery of the Home Bank at Melbourne, April 11, 1921.

Immediately captured by Melbourne citizens and brought to London, Sept. 2, 1921.

Escaped from county jail at London, Sept. 2, 1921.

Captured again in Susanville, California, May, 1923.

Brought back to his former cell in London, July 23, 1923.

Faced first trial for murder with Slim Williams, Oct. 15, 1923.

Returned to cell when jury disagreed after 16 hours' deliberation, Oct. 19, 1923.

Faced second trial alone, Feb. 4, 1924.

Found guilty of murder, Feb. 5, 1924, at 9:40 p.m.

The mother removed her black hat and put it on again.

Sidney Murrell's stalwart chest was heaving just before the verdict was rendered, but his face remained the same courageous, rather kindly face of old. As soon as he was escorted out with downcast head the court clerk spoke the "Oyez, oyez" in the customary monotonous tones, and the crowd commenced to file out.

Led His Mother Out.

J. M. Donahue, the murderer's counsel, walked over and spoke to Mr. Murrell, while the prisoner's sweetheart put her arm about the mother's shoulder and led her out to the air. She looked neither to right nor left. The two sisters had disappeared another door.

Sidney Murrell, as he sat in the prisoner's box for the short two minutes during which his fate was irrevocably sealed, presented a picture of a rugged, attractive youth with dark curly hair, a wide forehead and high forehead, and a wide smile breaking into a wan smile, which revealed a row of glittering white teeth. He was dressed in a light brown suit, with a white shirt and black striped tie. It was hard to believe that here was a man who had committed a terrible crime.

Mrs. Murrell all through the period the jury was out remained still, and rarely spoke. It was only when the verdict was announced that she sobbed.

As the guards opened the door to escort Murrell back again he took one last, lingering look at the hushed crowd, and his expression was one to melt the hardest heart. Then he disappeared.

at me and fired. The bullet went through by the counter.

A second shot went through the door into the manager's office and into the ceiling. I went through the manager's office and saw the manager by the safe. Two men were going through the side door. I followed and saw the prisoner and my brother Russell grappling. At the same time—

Q—Where were they?

A—In the alleyway, between the bank and Parr's store. There was another man running to the street.

Q—Who was he?

A—Williams.

Q—Who went out first?

A—Williams. I went out through the door, heard a shot and saw the flash of a gun. I threw down my rifle.

Q—Where did you hear the shot and see the flash?

A—In the alleyway.

Q—Who fired it?

A—Sid Murrell.

Q—The flash and report came from where?

of your county and country are with you."

Mr. Rigney then outlined the tragedy of the robbery of the Home Bank, Melbourne, in April, 1921. The outstanding feature, he stated, was the number of eyewitnesses to the crime. "You have two questions to answer. Was there a crime committed, and if so, is the prisoner in the box guilty?"

"You must approach the case with an open mind. Any notions or ideas must be left in suspension and your verdict arrived at from the evidence you will hear."

H. C. McBride, local architect, was the first witness. He testified as to certain plans made by him of the village of Melbourne and the bank.

Dr. R. Dewar next took the stand. He, as in the previous case, testified as to the finding of the post mortem examination on Russell Campbell.

His Lordship—Then what was the cause of death?

A—A gunshot wound.

In reply to a request of Mr. Rigney the witness described the bullet and said he had given it to Dr. Woods within half an hour after finding the body.

Mr. Donahue asked two questions, dealing with the wound in the hip.

Mr. Rigney called Dr. Freese next, but he was not in court.

Roy E. McCandless then took the stand.

Mr. McCandless related how the robbers came to the bank of which he was manager, entering and proceeding down the public space. He stated he was seized by the first man and turned to the wall. One man went to the safe.

His Lordship—Was the safe locked when the men entered?

A—No, Miss Campbell locked it.

His Lordship—Do you know the first man?

A—He was the one who escaped.

He continued relating how he was ordered to open the safe and on refusing, was struck over the head.

"Somebody shouted, 'Here they come,' and I got up. I saw Robert and Stuart Campbell passing through the bank. I went to the side door and saw a man lying there. I also saw several men apparently struggling near the street.

"I then went back and got my revolver and went to the front door. I saw Williams in the center of a small crowd in the middle of the street.

Q—What happened to Williams?

A—When I next saw him, he was tied to a telegraph pole. I recognized him as the fourth man that went into the bank. I then went back to my office.

Mr. Donahue—How many doors lead out of the bank?

A—Two, front and side.

Q—Where did you see Williams when he was captured?

A—About in front of the postoffice.

Q—Did you see the prisoner when you looked in the box?

A—I did not.

Dr. Lloyd Freese, Glencoe, was the next witness. Under examination by Mr. Rigney he stated he arrived in Melbourne at 11 o'clock the day of the robbery. He saw Sid Murrell and Williams tied to telephone poles.

Williams admitting he owned one of the revolvers. He did not examine either revolver, although he could see there were shells in the small revolver, which Williams said he owned.

"Williams said he had never fired his revolver," stated Dr. Freese.

"Williams was real hysterical when he said it, but it was a fact none the less. He told me he had been shot, in the hand and I could see the wound. There was blood on the handle of the small revolver. There is no doubt it was Williams' gun."

Q—Did he say how he had been shot?

A—I believe he was holding his hands up to surrender when he was shot.

Q—Was the wound serious?

A—Nothing serious.

Volunteered Information.

Dr. Freese stated Williams volunteered information to a number of people standing round. Witness gave him revolvers to Detective Down on his arrival at Melbourne.

"I saw Detective Down examine the small revolver, and there were no cartridges fired," said Dr. Freese.

Williams was wounded and received the same answer given to Mr. Rigney.

Detective Harry Down, London, corroborated the evidence of Dr. Freese regarding the revolver.

Williams said: "Harry, you can tell me. It hasn't been fired. I got shot in the hand," testified the detective, who identified the revolver produced by Mr. Rigney as the one Williams said he owned and given to witness by Dr. Freese.

"Williams again identified his revolver at the police station," said Detective Down. "He said: 'Harry, you can tell me. It's all covered with blood.'"

Questioned by Mr. Donahue, witness said Williams had no previous police record as far as he knew.

Detective Inspector Thomas Nickle was then called to the stand. He stated he found the prisoner and Murrell tied to two posts. He released them and handcuffed them.

He had no conversation with him, nor did he pay any attention to any conversation he might have had with the people. After arriving in London they were searched and then called upon to identify their revolvers.

Williams identified his revolver. Mr. Donahue had no questions.

Mr. Rigney then called John E. Little. He said he just saw the prisoner about 11 a.m. He saw four men earlier in the morning in a motor car, about 6:15 a.m. The car was proceeding westerly, but stopped. He was asked where he could get cigarettes. Two men went into the hotel and got some cigarettes. The car was a Gray-Dort and I saw it again about 11 a.m. in the vicinity of the bank.

"As I ran to the bank after the alarm was given, Williams was on the steps of the bank with a gun in his hand. He told me to go back and I did. I saw the Campbells run up and I followed them to Parr's store, and I was at the corner of the alley when a man ran out of it. That was about four minutes after I was told to go back.

Ran Down Road.

Q—Who was that man?

A—Williams. He ran down the road. I didn't notice anything unusual. I recognized him as the man at the bank steps. In the alleyway I saw two men standing talking Murrell and Campbell. Murrell had a gun, so I ducked back. A shot was fired and Murrell ran out.

Q—Where was Williams?

A—Going down the road. He got down a piece and threw up his hands, saying, "I quit." I didn't follow Williams. I picked up the bag with money in it and gave it to Mr. McCandless. They were then bringing the prisoners back. I went up to Williams and asked whether he was one of the men I sold cigarettes to. He pointed to Sid and said he was the one. That was all at that time.

Questioned by Mr. Donahue, witness said two different sets of men pursued Williams and Sid Murrell up the road.

Robert E. Campbell was next called to the witness box. He was in Melbourne the day of the robbery and first saw Williams when the latter ran out of the alleyway next to the Home Bank.

Williams ran to the middle of the road, turned west, and Mr. Theaker, manager of the Union Bank, ran after him.

"When Williams came out of the alley he was pretty scared," said witness. "I don't know if Mr. Theaker fired or not. Williams turned and threw down his revolver and then put up his hands. I ran up, and Mr. Theaker was with the prisoner. It was pleading that he didn't do any shooting and not to hurt him."

"I walked him up to the front of the alleyway. That was the first I knew anyone was shot. Williams was claiming he never fired a shot. He again claimed he was innocent, hadn't done any shooting, and begged not to be hurt."

"I then took him to the hotel corner and we tied him up to a telephone pole," said Mr. Little.

Witness said Williams "was the scariest man I ever saw."

Long Called.

Charlie Long, resident of Melbourne, was called. He declared he saw the prisoner on the day in question at Melbourne, but that he had no conversation with him. He said he spoke to Murrell, asking him who shot Campbell. Murrell said: "I guess I did." Murrell also stated that Bill Murrell and Pat were the other two.

In reply to Mr. Donahue, the witness said he had removed the clothing from the dead man. He saw no marks of burning. He had not seen the clothing since the preliminary hearing.

John Moir was the next witness. He said he saw Williams holding a gun in front of the bank on either side of the street. He had no conversation with him. Williams stood there a minute or two. He next saw him when tied up in front of the hotel.

Robert A. Campbell, brother of the late Russell Campbell, said he had gone toward the bank that April morning.

His Lordship—A general movement toward the bank that day. It might be called a run on the bank.

Witness said two men were inside the bank door. He passed the bank to shut off a motor car. His brother, Stuart, went into the bank with a yell. The prisoner, Williams, and another man ran into the manager's office and into the other part of the bank. Witness followed his brother. He heard shots fired in the bank first and afterwards outside. Witness told of the pursuit and capture of Sidney Murrell.

Mr. Donahue—Would you say, Mr. Campbell, that when Williams ran through the bank it would be a retreat?

Mr. Campbell—Not in military terms.

Mr. Donahue—What would you call it?

Mr. Campbell—A defeat.

'Sidney Murrell, when summoned as a witness by the crown at 2:30 this afternoon, entered the box and refused to give evidence.

After some delay the murderer gave evidence following a stern order from Justice Lennox.

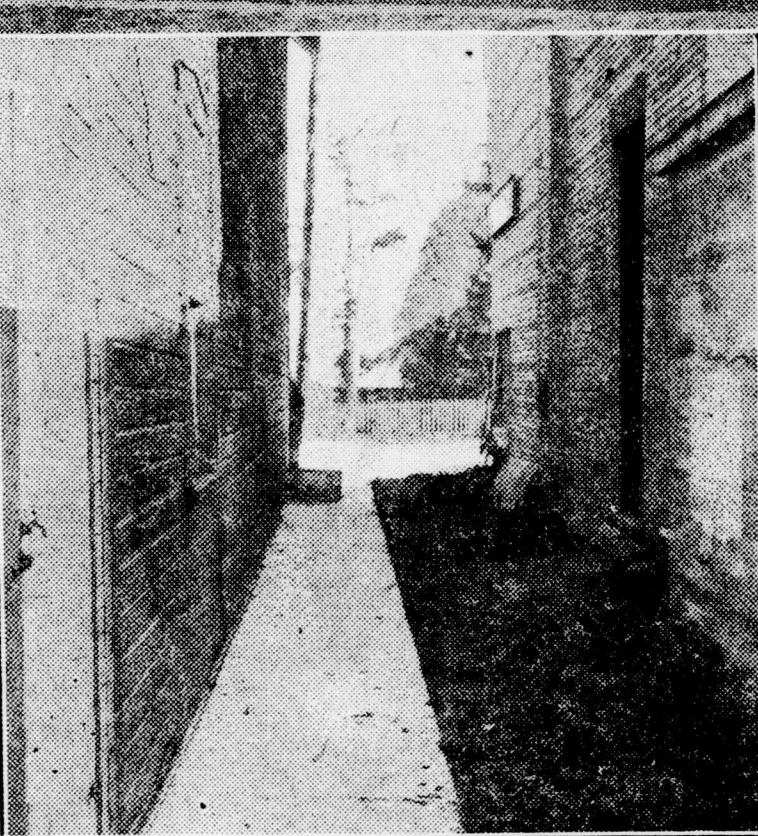

MURDERS HIS WIFE, THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

Double Tragedy Result of Violent Quarrel Lasting For Some Time.

Associated Press Despatch.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Bill Everett, 65, shot and killed his wife, Hattie, 23, and then turned the gun on himself at their home in East Stroudsburg today. The double tragedy followed a violent quarrel, one of a series that had been going on for some time. Mrs. Everett was a Canadian.

Everett had been married three times. His first wife died. He divorced his second, and the third was the result of a romance in the eastern townships of Quebec, where Everett went to secure trees to cut for Christmas trees.

MURRELL VISITED BY SWEETHEART

Chum of Boyhood Allowed To Speak To Him in Cell.

Resolutely putting aside her own longing to see her son, Mrs. Wm. Murrell allowed the boyhood sweetheart of Sidney Murrell to visit him in her place, this afternoon.

Only one person at a time is allowed to see Murrell and the visits are few and far between. They will be more infrequent now that he has been convicted of murder.

Ada Edmonson of Toronto was the pretty dark-eyed girl that begged Governor Dawson for a chance to see the prisoner in his tiny cell in the county jail.

Mrs. Murrell waived her mother's right to see her boy and gazed anxiously down the long court house corridor as the girl disappeared from view.

She was gone 20 minutes before Governor Dawson unlocked the jail door and allowed her to rejoin Mrs. Murrell and five family companions standing in the hallway.

"If you give anything to the press, you nor anyone else will be allowed to see Murrell," declared Governor Dawson, a baleful look at an advertiser reporter.

Ada Edmonson walked slowly down the hall. "I can't tell you anything," she said. "You heard what that man said. I don't want to stop that Murrell from seeing her son."

It was learned, however, that Sid had spent a fairly good night and still retained the nerve that has carried him through two trials.

"Why did you let Sid's sweetheart go to see him before you did?" asked The Advertiser.

"Well, she has to go back to Toronto tonight and she might not get another chance of seeing him again," replied Mrs. Murrell. "I will have a chance to see him later on."

Mrs. Murrell and five family friends were in court this morning to listen to the Williams trial.

Lennox Passed Last Sentence

The last death sentence to be passed in London was that of Mike Tancredi, an Italian found guilty of murdering one of his fellow countrymen.

This sentence was passed by Mr. Justice Lennox, presiding at the present assizes.

Tancredi was sentenced in 1915, Dominic Cosulich acting as interpreter for the crown. This sentence was commuted two days before the date of hanging.

Tancredi is now serving a life term in Kingston.

EMPRESS AVENUE LADIES' AID.

Groceries of a value amounting to about $74 were received at the shower held yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Aid of Empress Avenue Methodist Church, and will be used for relief work.

A musical program was arranged in connection with the shower, and this included songs by Miss Gwen Ware, and instrumental selections by Miss Edith Roy. Mrs. J. J. Goodman gave several delightful readings. Tea was served during the afternoon, Mrs. McKinley and Mrs. R. Johnston pouring.

SPECIAL COUNCIL COMMITTEE WILL PROBE SITUATION

Unemployment Conditions in the City Will Be Subject of Thorough Investigation.

ENGINEER'S OPINION

The special committee appointed to deal with the unemployment in the city will meet on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock to consider some means of meeting the present situation in London.

The committee consists of Aldermen McKay, Shaw, reer, and Drake. Tree trimming has so far—in fact all through the winter—been the chief stand-by on the part of the city. The sewer work has been able to absorb from 70 to 90 men every second week, but it has never been possible for the city to provide relief work for all the men who have needed it. At the last meeting of the council, Engineer Near stated that he could not very well use inexperienced men in the deep workings of the sewers, and that he was using the men who have been able to absorb from 70 to 90 men every second week, but it has never been possible for the city to provide relief work for all the men who have needed it. Determination Needed.

There are fears expressed now that the government will go ahead and put into effect many of the economies for which the country has clamored.

There were those who for political effect called for action, and now that action is likely, seek to stop the idea from taking effect.

A member of the Ottawa Journal staff has been writing articles in MacLean's Magazine showing overloading in the civil service; he has accused many of the employees of loafing and killing time. While this is going on the Journal itself is busy showing why the civil service should be left alone. It is Ottawa's outstanding industry.

Ottawa despatches claim that it is possible to do away with the department of secretary of state, handing the work done there over to some other department. The work of the department of soldiers' civil re-establishment is also becoming less, and it is not unreasonable to suppose that the not overworked department of national defence could absorb most of the duties of the D. S. C. R., which was never intended to be of a permanent nature.

Naturally this would leave two cabinet ministers, Dr. H. S. Beland and Hon. A. B. Copp, without a position in the ministry. No government would be justified in keeping a department going in order to provide a position for a minister at its head, and there is nothing to indicate that the King government would try such a course.

The suggestion is made that there are two vacancies in the senate where these ministers would be taken care of. That might be an easy way out, but it would not be a step toward senate reform or senate abolition.

Unless all signs fail, the government at Ottawa has set its face toward a policy of cutting out all unnecessary material in the civil service, and if it finds that it has two departments that can be absorbed by others, then it is its plain duty to proceed with the work of centralization.

Juggling the Figures.

The London Free Press published on its front page Tuesday evening one line eight columns wide:

"City Pays Over $300 Per Student At The Technical School."

On the story is the following heading:

COST PER PUPIL AT TECH. IS NOW $325.

Further down in the same heading the fact is also further set forth by the statement:

"London Expends $94,000 on 292 Tech. Students."

If the story were intended as a deliberate attempt to prejudice the minds of the people of London against the Technical School, and to make London look ridiculous in the eyes of outside places, its object has possibly been achieved.

The $94,000 was not spent on 292 pupils.

The cost per pupil at the Technical is not $325.

The registration at the Technical School for the last full school year, September, 1922, to June, 1923, was as follows:

Technical	330
Commercial	332
Adolescent	329
Evening classes	1,091

Total 2,132

There were 2,132 pupils, technical and commercial full time, the adolescent part time, and evening classes, represented in the expenditure of that $94,000.

London does not claim to have solved the problem of technical education, but it is making an honest and efficient attempt. It is providing an opportunity through its night classes for those who have gone out with too little education. It is small assistance to have the figures concocted and twisted as the Free Press has done.

The City of London Bill.

The last session of London City Council brought about a discussion on the "City of London Bill." This is not a new discussion, neither is it a new bill. It is almost as old as the city itself.

Stripped of all its legal standing, and taken away from the legislation that keeps it in existence, it is a measure taken by the municipal council to do things that are contrary to the municipal act. London is not alone in this, because nearly every municipality that has a good stiff tax rate has a city bill at the legislature. It is a convenient chariot that can be driven over the heads of the ratepayers if the city fathers chose to do so, or at times it can be used to correct situations for which the municipal act does not provide.

For instance the council last year authorized debentures for a sewer on Hamilton road, on a ten-year basis; the cost was 45 cents a foot against an average of 30 cents, making the charges against frontage expensive. This year the City of London bill is used to amend that provision and put the work on a 20-year payment plan. In this the bill has been used to serve a useful purpose.

To illustrate how the people lose control of money expenditure through the operation of the bill it is only necessary to take the case of the storm sewer system. Ten years ago the people wanted $450,000 for a system covering a wide area. Since then amounts have been added, bringing the total up to $1,500,000, and the amount may ultimately run up to $2,500,000, and all of this money in excess of $450,000 has been spent without a vote of the people.

About 14 years ago the incinerator plant was installed at a cost of $85,000 through the City of London bill, without a vote of the ratepayers.

The manufacturers' building at the Western Fair was built at a cost of $180,000, and the authority for the debentures was via the City of London bill. The fair board pays the charges, but this year another $20,000 is needed to finish the work, and the city will have to assume the charge itself.

There are two ways to raise money, according to the municipal act, (1) by placing the amount in the estimates, and (2) by submitting it to a vote of the ratepayers. But the City of London bill provides the third way, and since London became a city there have been millions raised in this way on which the ratepayers never voted.

Once the legislature has given its approval to a measure through this bill no action can be taken against an alderman in connection with any expenditure, but there is not that degree of finality as far as the city is concerned. A few years ago the gas company wanted to increase its capital, so an agreement was made whereby the city was to get 90-cent gas, a matter dealt with in the City of London Bill. Afterward the gas company applied to the legislature and was successful in getting a horizontal increase to $1.25. In that case the bill was no protection to the city's bargain.

This City of London bill should be locked up in a cage where access to it would be difficult. It should be used only in very extreme cases, and that word "extreme" means just what it says. It is not good municipal practice to persistently ignore the people who are putting up the money.

The Same Situation.

Mr. W. E. N. Sinclair, leader of the Liberals in the Ontario Legislature, was tendered a banquet in his old home town of Oshawa. During the course of an address he stated that "the Liberal party held out the olive branch to all thinking people who had temporarily allied themselves with other forces."

On the other hand the U. F. O., or the Progressives, as some of the leaders prefer to use the term, are inviting outsiders to come into their membership.

In short the present session of the legislature is going to see a situation very similar to the one that marked the last session. The Liberals and the U. F. O., or the Progressives, hold views on many provincial matters that are very much the same. If the things for which each stood were placed side by side, it would take keen discernment to see the difference.

Knocking the heads of Liberals against the heads of Progressives is good business for the Conservative party, and for no one else.

Note and Comment.

A resident of the north end of the city says he saw several gray squirrels out this morning, and wants to know the meaning. The meaning is that if some grown-ups had the spunk of the squirrel and got out in the open in winter it would be better for them.

The day it rained you gave assent when some one said, "It's a great day." The day it froze you nodded to the same greeting, and when it started to snow for a new winter you didn't dispute the same salutation. Truly the weather was never intended to be a subject for controversy.

Wall St. Fortunes

DISCUSSING the $800,000 made by Lieut. Wood on Wall street, the Wall Street Journal says $800,000 have been made in Wall street stock market operations, but not on stock trading capital.

About 15 years ago an individual cleared close to $5,000,000 by trading in a mining stock on the curb. He was successful in obtaining an option on more than 200,000 shares and sold on a rising market.

A steel producer cleared $2,000,000 on a copper mining stock in less than a year, 20 years ago, and a half dozen others made fortunes ranging from $100,000 to $500,000 in the same stock.

During the Northern Pacific rise to $1,000 a share a trader held 100 shares on a slim margin. He was away for several days and returning stock was held, but when he returned the stock was selling above $900 a share. The faint cost him $10,000, but at that he cleared over $70,000 on an investment of $50,000.

Fortunes Won and Lost.
SEVERAL fortunes were made and lost in Savoy Tire shares, which are now worthless. On a capital smaller than that of Lieut. Wood one man made over $1,000,000. He started to make another million in the same stock and lost the first million and his original investment besides. But this stock, which now has no market, did enrich a western operator by more than $2,000,000.

The fortunes made during the European war make the fortune of Lieut. Wood look like the proverbial drop in the bucket.

A group of financiers cleared more than $20,000,000 in European marine boat. One banker made over $4,000,000 in the stock alone and as much in Bethlehem Steel in less than a year. In various transactions in the first two years of the European war this banker added more than $20,000,000 to his fortune.

Scores of financiers and big operators, from 1914 to 1920, each made fortunes many times over the $800,000 Wood is said to have made.

At the time of dissolution of Standard Oil the Rockefeller family held close to 28 per cent of old Standard Oil of New Jersey, worth at that time around $125,000,000. This stock "in blue" is now worth about $1,000,000,000. Tremendous fortunes have been made in Standard Oil over the last 15 or 20 years.

Steel Makes Fortune.
IN 1904, when Steel common went down to around $8, a financier bought 300,000 shares that averaged, it is claimed, $15 a share. He sold it at a profit of several million dollars.

Harriman's operations netted him many millions in certain good years, and the same can be said of John W. Gates, James R. Keene, and scores of other operators since the stock exchange was opened. But it required many millions of capital to make millions in the market.

Utah Copper, Anaconda, Inspiration, Chicago, Corro de Pasco, Greene Cananea, and other copper mines made many multi-millionaires. More extraordinary were the great fortunes accumulated by the large holders of Carnegie Steel, American Steel and Wire, Illinois Steel, American Sheet and Tin Plate, and other companies absorbed by United States Steel. Schwab came to New York with over $20,000,000, and Gates and Reid with $10,000,000 or more each. Carnegie, Leeds, Frick, Phipps, Edgemoor, Corey, Reiss, and a dozen others were made fabulously rich largely through merger with United States Steel. James R. Keene made a successful market for Steel common held by individuals who turned it in for United States Steel.

But a majority of the great fortunes have been made by people that have held on to shares of successful standing.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for us to be here, and let us make three tabernacles—Luke ix, 33.

How often we have longed to escape from the turmoil and temptation of this evil world and dwell in some calm and lofty region of religious ecstasy, holding unbroken communion with God!

This is the feeling that has often withdrawn the purest men and women from their duties in the working world to spend their lives in sweet contemplation amid the quietude of convents and monasteries.

I suppose Bunyan's Pilgrim would gladly have stayed in the House Beautiful.

I suppose he hated to go down from the Delectable Mountains. But he had to go.

The only way to the heavenly city led through the rough valley and over the weary plain.

There is no gate into heaven except at the end of the path of duty.

There is not even an honored and peaceful grave for us until we can say with the Master:

"I have glorified thee on the earth, I have finished the work thou gavest me to do."

Not Breaking Laws.

Londoner Says All the Workers Ask Is That the Laws Be Observed As Was Intended.

Sir,—I notice in your evening edition of Jan. 31, a letter from one who styles himself "Another Lover of Justice," and who thinks the verdict O. K. which convicted James McLachlan and five other members of the working class of sedition libel.

"Another Lover of Justice" says in his letter that these men knew the law and broke it, and therefore the verdict is not unjust. Now, we know the laws of Canada, and we are demanding that who control the law-making powers of this country shall live up to them, and it is to compel the ones in power in Nova Scotia to obey the laws of the Dominion of Canada that we are demanding a new trial to take place under conditions that are provided for in our constitution, namely, the British North America Act, which distinctly protects accused persons from being tried in other than the jurisdiction wherein the offence is committed.

We are not whining when we demand justice, no matter what the writer of that letter, who thinks the verdict O. K., may think.

We will agree with his opinion that the decision was fair, for no decision is fair that is obtained by breaking the laws of Canada.

Another Western Student Writes To Give His Views on Matters Coming Out as News.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I read with certain amusement a letter recently printed in The Advertiser, in which the writer, who says he is a Western student, claims that articles printed in the local dailies in regard to university news, are unfounded and of misleading nature. In this letter I wish to uphold the newspapers—while there are, of course, bound to be occasional errors, in the main the local press is printing the truth, though exaggerated it sometimes may be.

If the letter in The Advertiser were written by a bona-fide student of the University of Western Ontario, then I must believe he is either ignorant of university affairs or simply one of the type that likes to see himself in print. He may be a man of the lower years.

Myself, I am a senior, and during my four years' course, have learned that a great deal going on at the university is "university" as he says, and the majority of the student body. Anyone, who has been attending Western for any length of time, would realize that this year, the increased study by the exams, has made examinations harder than ever before (at least in my experience), and one of upper years is able to tell, without receiving his marks, whether or not he failed exams; that is, unless the marking of the professor is tempered with mercy and justice, and that is doubtful.

So there was some talk of taking the failure question to Toronto, although it was confined to a very few, and consequently would not be known by all students.

Thanking you, gratefully, for your space, I am,

Presbyterian Holds That There Is No Unanimity, So the Plan Should Not Be Forced.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir: As the day for the opening of parliament draws near, we realize that a crisis may take place in the life of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and in asking for a small space in your worthy paper I would say at the outset that I am not opposed to the uniting of our forces with those of the Methodist and Congregational faith. As an evidence of this I may say that I voted for union whenever the opportunity presented itself, but I hope that God will never let me stoop to support the method contemplated to bring this union about.

There was given to me at my mother's knee a conception of God and His Son, Jesus Christ, somewhat vague and misty at first, but becoming clearer and stronger as the years came and went, a conception that I would be loath to set aside, yet if I have to accept the theory that Providence looks with favor on the method suggested, my conceptions of divinity are somewhat shattered.

To me it is inconceivable that a body of men with mature minds would formulate plans and endeavor to carry them out, compelling every

To His People At Home

Dear Jean,—“Police here have been requested by John Jones Smith to locate his son Tom, who left home some years ago, and has not been heard of since. His father is seriously ill.”

Not such a very uncommon notice to see in one's daily paper, either. In this day of science when radio, cables, fingerprints, and psychoanalysis are a few of the aids given by science to mankind in maintaining relationship and communication, the tie of the home, seems to be growing less sure and less binding.

All the science in the universe cannot assuredly bring this man's son back—and love could. If you doubt it go back through history and see what men and women, and in many cases animals, have done for love. Efficiency has its just and well-earned place in the economy of modern life, and always will have. But by all instincts of humanity it cannot be more than an adjunct to what is actually the ruling passion. For love, men have fought so often and died so often as to make reference unnecessary. Women have borne horrors and pains as stoics for the satisfaction of worshipping at the altar of self-sacrifice. Any police department can show records of criminals of both sexes who have faced inexorable fate, the terror of which no one knew better than they, simply because the happiness and safety of someone they loved made it necessary.

Why did the prodigal son come home? Was it for the fatted calf, and the shelter of his father's house? Was it not because he wanted the love he remembered as the atmosphere of his father's house? Pride you may say would keep a boy away. Perhaps so, but in that case it is because love has not reached its full development, for love itself is full of pride and refuses to take second place to any other desire. You can't send belated love over the wires or through a police department. The time to build it is within the warmth of your own fireside, and later its strength will save you from the ignominy of such a plaintive message as that quoted above. At least that is what I think about it, Jean.

WOMAN STRONGLY DENIES CHARGES OF DETECTIVES

"Alibi Lillie" in Police Court Maintains Police Officers Made Bad Mistake. MUCH EVIDENCE

"Alibi Lillie," one of the best known female police court characters in these parts, justified her notoriety when she appeared in court this morning, charged with keeping a disorderly house.

Constables gave evidence of a rather revolting nature, claiming that Lillie, who is also known as Mrs. O'Byrne, entertained Chinamen at her rooms, 136 Queen's avenue, offered $100 bribes to keep her out of court and volunteered to give a young girl for Oriental who frequents her abode.

Mrs. O'Byrne and her sister, Ethel Lee, an equally well known member of local underworld activities, denied the constables' story. Lillie said she was merely showing Lung How, one of the Chinamen caught in her premises, a room, thinking he was a prospective boarder. The argument over whether he should pay $3 or $2, she said, was in connection with the room rent. The alleged attempt to bribe the officer, she added, was misconstrued. She only offered to give them $100 each to "bail her out."

Equal To Occasion. Although the evidence submitted by two plain clothes members of the police department seemed to be conclusive, "Alibi Lillie" was equal to every emergency. She denied absolutely that she had spoken of procuring young girls under fifteen. She also denied that four children lived in the house.

Mrs. O'Byrne's husband disappeared when the war started, she said, and she hasn't seen him since. She was negotiating with the "China boy" when a police officer emerged from under the bed and took all the occupants of the room to jail. They included Lillie, her sister, Ethel; James B. Ferguson, a young man of 19, and Lung How, the Chinaman. The hearing was held in private, with only officials and reporters in the court.

When the case had progressed half an hour, A. L. Douglas, local attorney, entered to appear for Lung How. He questioned other Chinamen who came in later, and was permitted to have a conference with his client.

Both detectives who laid the charge told how they entered Mrs. O'Byrne's rooms, concealed themselves, and heard the revolting conversation between the prisoners regarding the amount of payment and the question of securing "a girl of fifteen and another of fourteen."

Questioned by Chief. Chief of Police Robert Birrell questioned both women as to their past behavior, asking if they had not frequently lived with "China boys" while residing on other streets of the city. Apparently the two sisters were not on speaking terms the last time Mrs. O'Byrne appeared in court, but the breach has been made up.

According to one of the plain-clothes men, Lillie and Lung How were having an animated talk regarding the amount of money Lillie made. The latter is alleged to have said she would make much more if she did not live so close to the police station. She added that she intended moving at the first opportunity.

Exhaustive evidence was taken before court adjourned. Ferguson and Lung How, charged with being frequenters of the house, were in the prisoners' box. How got very excited when a compatriot appeared and made hysterical gestures to speak with him. The case will probably be continued tomorrow.

STUDENTS SUCCESSFUL IN RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Christian Movement Members Plan To Raise More Money This Year.

Members of the Students' Christian movement of the University of Western Ontario have met with considerable success in their effort to secure funds for European student relief work.

Last year a drive was made by the students and more than $60 was raised for relief work. Yesterday the drive was commenced again and many of the senior students gave short addresses in each class on the conditions of education in European countries. It is expected that several hundred dollars will be raised by the university.

NOTED CITY SURGEON BACK FROM CHICAGO

Dr. A. B. Rankin Performs Successful Operation on Wife of Prominent Physician.

Dr. A. B. Rankin, London surgeon, returned to the city Monday, after performing one of the most difficult operations known to surgery on Mrs. S. Bronstein, wife of a prominent Chicago physician.

Dr. Rankin studied and practiced in Chicago before coming to London two years ago, and was considered one of the cleverest surgeons in that American metropolis.

When it was found that Mrs. Bronstein was in a critical condition and that only an operation could save her, a professional friend in Chicago recommended Dr. Rankin to perform the operation.

On Friday he was notified that his presence was required in that city. He left immediately, and the operation was performed on Saturday afternoon.

Word was received in London today that Mrs. Bronstein's condition was greatly improved, and it is expected she will be completely recovered in a few weeks.

Just recently Dr. Rankin performed an operation in London in which he removed a portion of a boy's skull and then cut an abscess from the brain, the patient finally recovering.

LOCAL DRUGGISTS APPROVE BANNING OF LIQUOR SALES

City Pharmacists Believe Such Legislation Would Wipe Out Fake Concerns. NO EFFECT HERE

Prospective legislation of the provincial government prohibiting newly organized drug concerns from dealing in alcohol is regarded with much favor by local druggists. Such action would tend to wipe out all possibility of fake drug concerns starting in business, and would depress the traffic in liquor to some extent, they said.

Ed. Nellis of Anderson & Nellis, local pharmacists, declared many firms operated under the disguise of drug stores when in reality they were being conducted for the purpose of selling alcohol. This was particularly true of Toronto and the larger cities. In London such organizations were few.

"Many crooked doctors have been found in Toronto who join drug companies as directors and leave the actual work to the employees," Mr. Nellis said. "The proposed legislation would be a blow at the 'moon room' drug stores, against which there have recently been many convictions."

"A doctor who makes out prescriptions can conduct a drug store under his name which is really an out-and-out liquor shop. The drug store part of it is only a bluff. I am informed by travellers that proprietors of these stores are compelled to buy small amounts of drugs to keep up an appearance of legitimacy. Wholesale houses who sell to them, however, are taking a big chance, for one never knows when these fake concerns will be apprehended and forced out of business."

Other London chemists spoke along similar lines. Although the legislation would not affect London to any great extent because drug concerns here were practically all above reproach, it would eliminate all possibility of an invasion by firms who use the dispensing of drugs merely as a blind to cover the dealings in alcohol.

Thomas Maurant in Hospital With Badly Penetrated Knee.

When a horse, hauling lumber for the L. H. Martyn Lumber Company, slipped at the corner of Dundas and William streets this morning, the driver of the wagon, Thomas Maurant, 26, of 160 Glen street, was severely kicked on the knee.

Spectators picked up the injured man and took him to Dr. C. H. Reason, who administered medical aid. The man was then removed to Victoria Hospital. Hospital authorities state Mr. Maurant is suffering from a badly penetrated knee. An X-ray photograph will be taken this afternoon to ascertain the extent of his injuries.

REV. R. L. GARBUTT WILL ACT AS ASSISTANT

Owing to the rapid growth in various departments of Askin Street Methodist Church, Rev. R. L. Garbutt of 14 Cove road has been appointed assistant to the present pastor, Rev. J. C. T. Morris.

Mr. Garbutt will assist in the many duties connected with the work among the congregation, which has increased in proportion with the growth. The need for such assistance was manifested at last night's joint meeting of the quarterly official and trustee boards.

Mr. Garbutt, who is a superannuated minister, has spent the greater part of his life in working in the London Presbytery. He is known as a man of scholarly attainments, has lived in the city now for nearly two years. He has been in charge at Lucknow, Glenora, Lambeth, Petrolia, Wingham, Wallaceburg and other places.

MORGENTHAU INTERVENES IN CRISIS IN GREECE

Athens, Feb. 6.—Henry Morgenthau, head of the League of Nations commission for the succor of Greek refugees, yesterday intervened in the Greek political crisis by obtaining Great Britain's assurance that that country would not object to the plan of the Republicans to abolish the Gluckburg dynasty by a vote in the National Assembly, providing this should result in political stability. Mr. Morgenthau obtained the British view through the Bank of England.

which advanced the refugee relief loan after Mr. Morgenthau found the Venizelists and Republicans hopelessly deadlocked over the method of dismissing the dynasty.

For the Cough That Sticks

Common Cough. Syrups Won't Help—You've Got To Make Your Own.

Cheap and Best

For any kind of cough, but especially for the stubborn one that persists and keeps you awake nights, this home-made cough mixture will quickly loosen the phlegm, allay the inflammation and stop the cough.

You can make it yourself at home in two minutes by following these instructions: Get from any druggist one ounce of Parment (double strength) — to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half-pint — that's all there is to it, and children like it.

Like a soothing, healing poultice one costly substance in this home-made mixture spreads itself completely over the membrane of the throat. This causes the most stubborn hang-on cough to cease almost instantly. No ordinary slow-acting cough syrup contains this expensive ingredient.

It's a mighty fine remedy for chest colds and acute nasal catarrh, and remember, that any remedy that overcomes catarrh, partially or wholly, is bound to be of benefit to those who are troubled with head noises and catarrhal deafness.

Get Parment and get better.—Adv.

Beauty

A Gleamy Mass of Hair

35c "Danderine" does Wonders

for Any Girl's Hair

Girls! Try this! When combing and dressing your hair, just moisten your hair brush with a little "Danderine" and brush it through your hair. The effect is startling! You can do your hair up immediately and it will appear twice as thick and heavy — a mass of gleamy hair, sparkling with life and possessing that incomparable softness, freshness and luxuriance.

While beautifying the hair "Danderine" is also toning and stimulating each single hair to grow thick, long and strong. Hair stops falling out and dandruff disappears. Use a bottle of delightful, refreshing "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter and just see how healthy and youthful your hair becomes.—Adv.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs — loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "311" ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

AID TO HOUSING SITUATION AIM OF MACDONALD

Labor Must Find Solution of Problem To Please People.

WILL FIGHT COMBINES

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Feb. 5.—The new government is energetically working to be in readiness to meet parliament next week. Cabinet meetings are held almost daily, and a number of committees are studying the different problems.

It is clear that the ministers intend to concentrate on internal policy, especially housing, unemployment and agriculture.

Housing has been a constant source of difficulty since the war, and successfully solving this problem will probably do more to reconcile the country to the new administration than success in any other direction. An important conference will assemble tomorrow privately to discuss the question in all its bearings. It will be attended by the ministers of health and labor, and representatives of both employers and trade unions connected with the building industry. The government's aim is to induce the trades unions to allow some relaxation of the strict trade union rules, or "diluting" as it is called, in order to provide more skilled labor to the building trade.

Want Guarantee.

In return for such relaxation the trades unions contend that the government ought to guarantee a continuance of its housing policy over a period of fifteen or twenty years, that is guarantee to the trades constant work. This is a difficulty requiring to be threshed out.

Another difficulty to be overcome is the hindrances placed in the way by rings or combines restricting supplies of building materials, and it is said that the government is ready to fight these rings.

It is understood that the financing schemes do not present great difficulties.

With regard to foreign affairs, it is reported that Premier MacDonald contemplates a visit to Paris in May, after the French elections, which, it is hoped, may bring together a chamber better disposed to meet the British views on the reparations question.

An interview with Ramsay MacDonald will appear tomorrow in the Manchester Daily Despatch, in which the prime minister declares that the recognition of Russia is "absolute," with regard to the term "de jure recognition." Mr. MacDonald says he objects to language which cannot be understood by the man on the street, but as the Soviets attach importance to the phrase, he willingly subscribed to it.

Include Germany.

Affirming that Russia and Germany ought to enter the League of Nations, Premier MacDonald says that there will be difficulty in the case of Russia, but that Germany's inclusion must be insisted on.

Discussing relations with France, he expressed the opinion that the hesitating and negative attitude of the British government has been mainly responsible for past misunderstandings, but adds, "All that is gone. Great Britain will be no longer content to sit and watch events, and the result of this new attitude seems to be succeeding beyond expectation."

The premier ridicules the gloomy prognostications of falling securities when Labor took power, and asserts that securities are rising, and that the business world is looking forward with relief to a period of stability.

L. S. R. HEAD ARRIVES FOR ANNUAL SESSION

Progress Was Made by Road During Year, According to Vice-President Ivey.

Charles Currie, of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the London Street Railway Company, arrived in the city last night. The annual meeting of the shareholders of the company will be held at 2:30 today, in the general offices of the company. R. G. Ivey, vice-president, stated that the company had "made a little progress during the year."

He said, "We paid our dividends, of course, at five per cent, and then we have a few thousands over." The situation between the street railway company and the city in regard to the street paving question remains "in statu quo" until the Ontario Legislature considers the request from the London city council to allow the company to pay its full share in ten annual installments.

INNOVATION IN TEACHING CHEMISTRY SEEN AT "U"

Three Specialists Now Handle Duties Instead of One as Formerly.

An innovation in the method of teaching general chemistry was introduced into the University of Western Ontario recently with the beginning of the second school term. The custom has been to have all the various topics of this course in modern chemistry presented by one professor.

The new system, which has been tried out with considerable success in several of the large institutions of the East, varies from the ordinary one in that the discussion of special applications of the science is presented by various members of the staff of the chemistry department. By this method the material is given from several standpoints, by instructors who through training and experience may be classed as specialists WANTS MORE TRADE.

Premier E. C. Theodore of Queensland, who passed through Vancouver on his way to London, suggests that if Canada would buy her cotton from Australia it would go a long way toward rectifying the trade balance between the two countries and make the development of reciprocal trade much easier.

In their own divisions of the science, so diverse are the ramifications of modern chemistry that it is becoming quite difficult for a person to speak with authority in more than a limited field of the subject.

The course will be continued under the general direction of Dr. J. A. Gunton, who will be assisted in the development of the special topics by Professor John Russell and J. W. Burns.

Besides this official, whose specific

WORKMEN'S BOARD DUE FOR CHANGE WITHIN A YEAR

Legislature Will Probably Re-visit Compensation Body To Meet Complaints.

HOUSE OPENS TODAY

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—All is ready at Queen's Park tonight for the formal opening of the legislature tomorrow by Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt. Election of Joseph E. Thompson as speaker will precede the reading of the speech from the throne by his honor. Immediately after the speech, the House will adjourn until Thursday, when the debate on the reply will proceed.

Outstanding among the legislation which it is understood will be heralded in the speech from the throne is the complete reorganization of the workmen's compensation board.

Protect Claimants.

In former sessions H. H. Dewar, K.C. Hon. G. H. Ferguson, now premier, and other members opposing the Drury government, have vigorously assailed the board for what they termed its "autocratic administration," and now it is proposed to reconstitute the organization as a sort of judicial body, with an official representative of claimants paid by the government.

Besides this official, whose specific duty it is to assist claimants in presenting all the facts of their case, the legislation, it is said, will also provide for the appointment of an official to represent the contributors to the board funds. It is the government's view that such reorganization will insure the careful and adequate preparation of each case before it comes to the board, and remove the cause for such complaints as have previously been leveled against the workmen's compensation act administration.

This legislation would be along the lines advocated by Premier Ferguson when in opposition. In presenting the legislation to the House, it is understood he will contend that such provision would eliminate such overhauling and revision of individual cases on the floor of the Legislature, such as was the case last session.

Bounty On Ore.

Another item of importance which the speech from the throne will forecast is legislation providing for a bounty on iron ores, conditional upon the Dominion government coming in with a subvention. Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, visited Premier Ferguson in his office today relative to the subject, and it is understood that legislation will be introduced into the Federal House at the next session to provide for the payment of a Dominion government subvention.

Then, it is understood, there will be the University act to provide for graduate representation on the board of governors, as was suggested in the report of the university committee during the last session.

It is understood that there will be a reference to the Ontario temperance act, in which, according to reliable information, provision will be made that Premier Ferguson's pledge given to the people will be carried out, that when public opinion is sufficient to demand a submission of the question of a change in the method of administration the question will be submitted.

TOBACCO CROP DAMAGED.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Havana, Feb. 6.—Unusually heavy rains in Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces have damaged the tobacco crop to an extent which is not yet known, but which is believed to be considerable. The heaviest losses were near St. Diego del Valle in Santa Clara province, and at Majagua, Camaguey.

Minister Makes Urgent Appeal For Bible Society

Rev. R. J. Bowen's Address Is Feature of Annual Meeting Last Night.

PROGRESS MADE IN 1923

Declares It Is Only Force To Bridge Racial Bitterness.

Of the several messages brought to this city by Rev. Dr. Trevor Davies of the Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, none have been more impressive nor more urgent than his appeal

MAYOR OF BOTHWELL.

William Hailer, who directs activities of the municipality again this year.

last evening for the Bible Society. His address and the report of the secretary for Western Ontario, Rev. R. J. Bowen, were salient features of the annual meeting held in the First Methodist Church, and at which representatives of all Protestant denominations were present. Mr. Bowen reported the past year as one of splendid progress, but one in which the very progress itself made it imperative that there would be no slackening of the work in the coming year.

It was against any such slackening that Dr. Davies made his urgent appeal. Not only did he plead for the Bible Society in its work in Canada, as an influence among foreigners and strangers in the Dominion, but in its broader aspect of internationalism, as the only force which can bridge the gulf of class and racial bitterness. But even superseding this need, as Dr. Davies presented it, there was the present-day need of the Christian expression of faith in the Bible.

Expression of Faith.

"The Bible Society offers the great and living expression of our faith in the Word of God," Dr. Davies said. "Christianity is unlike agnosticism, which is not in a hurry because it has nothing to tell. The Christian has something tremendously urgent to give to the world at large.

Not to be aggressive with its message would be the worst form of selfishness.

Has Always Existed.

"The Bible has always existed precariously. One marvels that it survived at all those early centuries. It was banned and burned by power after power. It comes to us through blood and struggle, yet it was never greater than it is today. It is indestructible, universal. There is a special need for us to express our faith in it today because the advancement of knowledge has disturbed people. Moses and Darwin are pitted against each other, as though they had been professors in rival academies. Many and varied are the differences of interpretation, and yet all believe it to be the true work of God and are united on this fundamental of our religion. The Bible Society affords us one means of demonstrating our profound belief of the Christian Church that the Bible is the inspired word of God. If we present this to the world, then it must believe that we believe, which is a step toward its own belief."

New Directors.

The annual report, which included the new board of directors for 1924, was presented to everyone in attendance at last night's meeting. Rev. John Garbutt, pastor of the Dundas Center Church, heads the society as president. Other officers are: Vice-presidents, Rev. D. C. MacGregor, B.A., D.D., and J. K. H. Pope; honorary secretaries, Prof. Frank Anderson and Rev. M. Kelly; honorary-treasurer, T. C. Margrett.

The presentation of life memberships, a usual feature of the annual meeting, did not take place, since all were not able to be present. Rev. Professor Anderson, however, announced their names as follows: Miss Smallman, Miss Annie Smallman, Miss Eliza Coveydeaux; Rev. J. B. Hunter, Miss E. L. Proctor, Miss E. S. Emery and Miss Margaret C. Munro.

Among those on the platform were: Rev. John Garbutt, presiding; Rev. J. B. Hunter, Professor Anderson and Dr. C. C. Waller.

It's More Than Wonderfully Delicious!

Ward's Orange-CRUSH is a real fruit drink that everybody can heartily enjoy with the very best of results.

From the very beginning, Orange-CRUSH was a tremendous success. To-day it's the largest-selling fruit-flavored drink in the whole world. And why? Simply because, by a secret process the wonderful flavor of delicious, juicy-ripe Oranges is sealed in every Orange-CRUSH bottle. It's a sparkling, wholesome beverage that teases the palate with its genuine goodness—a drink you like because you like luscious ripe fruit.

Drink it Now—Drink it All Winter

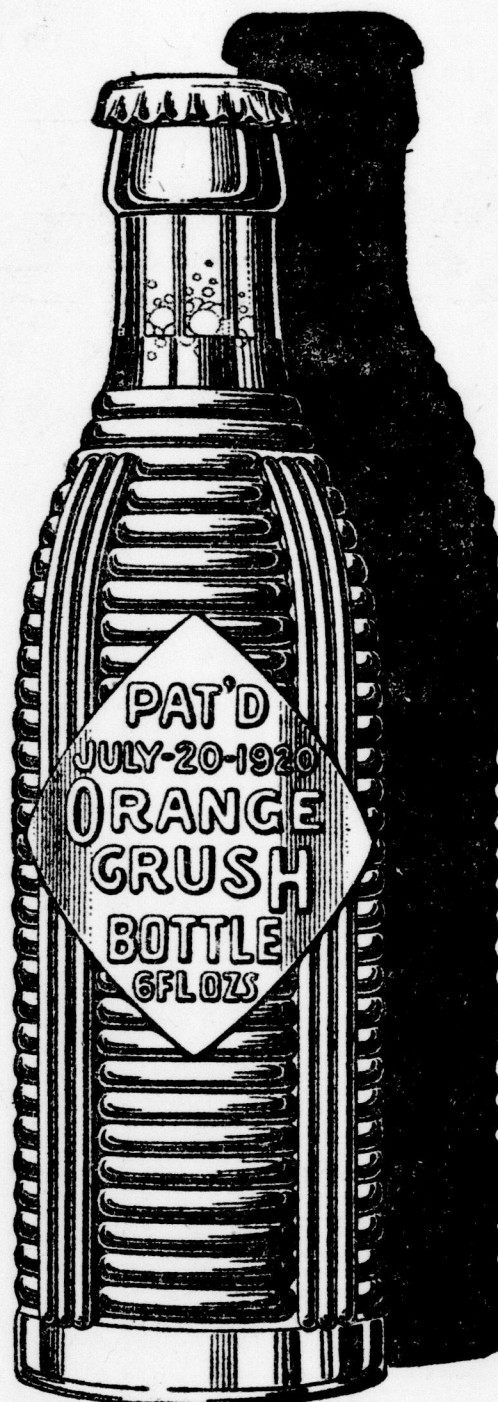

Drink Orange-CRUSH everywhere you go. Ask for the Krinkly Bottle—at the fountain, cafes, restaurants. Get it from the grocer near your home. You don't need to be thirsty to enjoy it. You can drink it any time and heartily enjoy it with the very best of results, because it is so nourishing and refreshing.

Get it by the Case—from Your Grocer

Get a case of 24 bottles from your grocer. Simply telephone him. He'll have it delivered. Then you'll have it always handy—always on hand when the family wants it—or when company comes. Everybody likes it!

—and if You Like Lemon or Lime then you'll find that Ward's Lemon - CRUSH and Ward's Lime-CRUSH are worthy pals to Orange-CRUSH itself. They have distinctive, inimitable flavors that have won them millions of friends.

Insist on the Krinkly Bottle

It is well worth your while to make sure you get the Krinkly Bottle with the Orange-CRUSH name blown right into the glass. For no other than the Krinkly Bottle contains Orange-CRUSH quality and supreme goodness. It's a drink that was originally made to sell for 10c. Only enormous demand could possibly allow us to sell it at 6c.

WOMEN and THE HOME

Shall Boys Be Taught Domestic Science?

Dorothy Dix

Advocates Keeping Men in Their Sacred Sphere

Husbands of the Future, Trained to Cook, Sweep and Sew, Would Not Be Such Matrimonial Prizes—With the New Domestic Knowledge, They Could Tell Their Wives Where to Get Off.

The American Home Economic Association recommends that boys be taught domestic science in the schools so that when they grow up and get married Pa will be able to substitute for Ma in the home in an emergency.

At first blush this idea will seem alluring to women. When a girl gets married she does not look forward to getting a helpmeet, as a man does. On the contrary, she knows that she is getting some one for whom she has to cook and clean and patch, and mend the balance of her life. So the prospect of having a soul-mate who is also a working partner and who will literally have her labors and double her joys is, indeed, a dazzling one.

Certainly matrimony would have a new lure if the wife could, on her husband lending a hand with the darning at night. When she was in a hurry of a Sunday morning she could leave him to bathe the baby, secure in the knowledge that he would do it scientifically instead of washing it with mangle soap as he would a setter pup. She would have no hesitation about staying downtown of an evening because she could phone hubby at the office to hurry on home and get the dinner.

Undoubtedly, also, it would make for greater sympathy between husbands and wives if men had had a thorough training in household work and knew from experience the endless steps it takes to prepare a meal and the never-ending toil it requires to keep a house clean and tidy. A little turn of the domestic treadmill would give men respect for woman's work, which now in their inexperience they regard as a perpetual picnic. No man who had ever tried scrubbing for mother would ever be guilty of making that ancient and infuriating remark to his wife: "I wish I had nothing to do but to stay at home with the children as you do."

All of these considerations would make it seem highly desirable for boys to be taught domestic science in the schools. Undoubtedly, a husband who could sew on his own buttons and get his own breakfast without musing up the whole kitchen would be a pearl of price. But the matter is not so simple as it seems, and there are many drawbacks to the plan.

In the first place, it would be the greatest possible discourager of matrimony and men are none too keen over the holy estate as it is. The reason why the great majority of men marry is to get a home.

There comes a time when a man sickens of even the finest club and restaurant cooking, or his tummy revolts at the sight of boarding house prunes; when he finds, as he is dressing in a hurry to go out, that the laundry hasn't brought home his clean linen and that he hasn't a shirt that isn't shy of buttons, or frayed at the wrist bands. Then it is that he turns to matrimony as his salvation, and Heaven delivers him into the hands of the nearest woman.

For otherwise what is he if he were a trained home maker and an accomplished chef and a first-class seamstress. Then he could make his own home, cook his own dinners, darn his own socks and save himself the expense of a wife, and the worry of getting along with her, and the danger of losing his personal liberty.

Take away men's need of women to make them comfortable and you strike a solar plexus blow at matrimony.

To teach boys the domestic arts would also be first aid to divorce, because it would provide every household with a critic on the hearth, and not even Patient Griselda herself could endure that affliction.

No woman knows why, but every woman knows that it is true that no man else on earth is as aggravating or makes her so mad as to have anyone find fault with her housekeeping. She would rather have strictures passed on her morals than her bread. She would rather be told that her conversation was heavy than her cake. She will sit at the feet and humbly learn of anyone who will lecture about health, beauty, dress, art, science, religion, but woe to those who try to teach her how to run her house differently.

Hence no one can visualize the dove of peace making its nest under the roof pole of the home in which the husband throws his own brand biscuit in his wife's teeth, and tells her how light they always are, and that his pie crust is always crisp and flaky, and not like the leathery compound that she makes, and that he always doubletells his seams, and he would be ashamed to turn out the sloppy work that she does and call it a job.

Goodness knows, husbands are prone enough to kick now about their wives' domestic performances, when they kick in the dark, as it were. And what they would say when dinner isn't up to the mark and there is dust on the mantelpiece, if they knew what they were talking about, it makes one tremble to think.

Certainly it is something that no woman of spirit would stand for, while Ma is still on the map.

All of which is a solemn warning to women to keep men in their sacred sphere. Keep them ignorant of the domestic arts. So shall they be dependent upon us and marry us and eat what is set before them without making remarks upon it.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

were guests at a dinner arranged by Monsignor Brady, at the Tecumseh House last evening. Covers were laid for 30 and special guests of the affair were Father Chisholm and Dr. Foulkes. Following dinner, the guests went to St. Mary's Parish hall where a very enjoyable program was given. Among the numbers were: piano selections by Miss Keating, organist of the church; and also by Miss Lethbridge; solos by Mrs. Charles Kelleher, Miss Gertrude Pelton, Mrs. McClafferty, Miss Bergin and Messrs. Allan, Halsall, and Evans; violin selections by Master Lethbridge; and readings by Miss Mary Turner. A sing-song, led by Mr. Gillies, leader of the choir, was also an enjoyable number. Following the program, dancing took place and dainty refreshments were served.

A smart post-nuptial reception was held this afternoon, when Mrs. Douglas Weldon, formerly Miss Margaret Black of Sackville, N. B., received for the first time since her marriage at her home in Hayman Court. Quantities of spring flowers were used throughout the rooms, making a pretty setting for the bride, who received wearing her graceful wedding gown of white satin, with pearl trimmings. Her mother, Mrs. F. E. Black of Sackville, N. B., received with her in a handsome gown of taupe cut velvet over cloth of gold. The tea table, covered with an Italian cut-work cloth, was adorned with freesia and pink tulips, and tea was poured out by Mrs. C. R. Hunt and Mrs. A. T. Little, the latter wearing a smart gown of gray georgette with a becoming black hat. The many guests were ushered to the tea room by Mrs. Harold Groom, who was gowned in navy blue canteen crepe, with steel bead trimmings and wearing a black hat. The assistants in the tea room were Miss Helen Little, Miss Margaret Seaton, Miss Doris Belton and Miss Marion Beck. Mrs. Weldon is entertaining her assistants this evening at bridge and mah-jong.

East End Club Hears Inspiring Talk Given by Rev.
Roy Mess.

A large number of the members of the Ealing Mothers' Club, meeting last night in the school, expressed themselves as strongly in favor of a high school for the east end of the city. The discussion, however, was not carried to any great length, a special meeting for the purpose of discussing the situation having been called by the East London Parents' Association to be held in the Chesley Avenue School tonight, and an invitation to attend extended to the Ealing Club members.

The chief feature of last night's meeting was a talk on "The Main Principles of Young Life," given by the Rev. R. D. Mess. Environment was an important contribution to the growth of young life, said the speaker. There were three factors to be considered—the home, the community and the school, and the mothers' clubs were exerting a great influence on the type of environment which the community offered.

The speaker urged that character development should be the main object in teaching a child. Too often the stress was laid on diplomas, rather than character. A new secretary was appointed, Mrs. Boyle in place of Mrs. Knowles. A recitation "Nancy Pandy" was an interesting part of the program. The club is arranging for a concert to be given in the school on the night of Friday, February 15.

MRS. W. J. GLASSFORD,

Janey Canuck Chapter, L. O. D. E., at the annual meeting held last week.

The annual meeting of the Overseas Chapter, L. O. D. E., was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Reid, Wellington street north. The former officers, who were re-elected by acclamation at the last meeting were in charge and Mrs. Allan McLean was added to the executive as honorary vice-regent.

The secretary's report, presented by Mrs. Harrison Link, was most gratifying, showing that the chapter had enjoyed an active year. In presenting the treasurer's report, Mrs. Robert Heard stated that $2,327 had been raised during the past year, and the chapter's endowment of $2,500 for a room in the War Memorial Hospital had been completed. One hundred dollars was donated to the educational war memorial fund of the I.O.D., also $100 to the Navy League.

Plans were made for a sacred concert to be held in the near future, with the regent, Mrs. A. H. Clinger, acting as convener. Following yesterday's meeting tea was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Kennerston and Mrs. Davis.

BOYLE MEMORIAL.
An inspiring talk on Sabbath observance was given by the Rev. P. J. Charlton before the members of the Boyle Memorial Mothers' Club. The program also included a vocal solo by Mrs. Dixon and a recitation by little Miss Margaret Gow. Several new members were received into the club, which is now carrying on a splendid relief work in the community. At the close of the meeting, presided over by Mrs. Goldby, a social hour was spent.

VICTORIA ALUMNAE.
Owing to the fact that Dr. Hill was suddenly called out of the city last night the Victoria Nurses Alumnae was left without a speaker. The members enjoyed a social time together.

Mercer; Echoes secretary, Mrs. J. B. Groschaw, who also was returned by acclamation.

Plans were made for a Valentine musicale and tea, to be held Saturday, Feb. 16, in the officers' quarters, in charge of Mrs. J. W. Smith, assisted by Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy, Mrs. R. A. Mercer and Mrs. Donald Campbell. Mrs. S. Errol Johnston was appointed convener of the decorations, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Gough and Mrs. E. Waller, and Mrs. Ralph Miller will arrange the program. Tea was served at yesterday's meeting, in charge of Mrs. S. Errol Johnston.

Miss Elizabeth Thom Tells the Isabel Hampton Chapter of Her Experiences.

Miss Elizabeth Thom gave an exceedingly interesting talk on her work as a nurse in the Near East at the annual meeting of the Isabel Hampton Chapter, held at the home of Mrs. J. Stapleton, Bruce street last night. Painting vivid pictures of conditions in the Near East, when thousands of orphan children lined the streets and other thousands of orphan children lay dead at their feet, Miss Thom told of the reconstruction work of the Near East relief committees.

Of special interest to the members of the chapter, all of them nurses themselves, was the fact that during her term there Miss Thom saw many Russian and Armenian girl refugees become fully trained nurses. In three years, three classes of such nurses were graduated.

Reports of the chapter work showed that the members had now cleared $1,000 for the Children's Hospital, and had a bank balance of $100. Deep regret was expressed in the death of Miss Rankin, one of their charter members.

DENNY BROOKS

A STORY OF COURAGE
By ELENORE MEHERIN.

CHAPTER LXXXIX.

The Accident.

Denny threw his sweater over his chair. As he did, a letter in his pocket dropped from the pocket. He looked at it with a laughing tenderness. Katy handed it to him.

"You didn't get the picture yet, Denny?"

"It's coming." This was all he said, but he took a damp cloth and stuffed the letter absentmindedly in his pocket. Katy noticed his eyes, that she loved, because they were so young and tender, now dark and a little hard.

"What troubles him? Is Denny lonesome for Petra? Does he love her with all his soul?"

Katy asked this of herself often, feeling it a treason against him because the question held a prayer, a hope and these were not for Petra, but for Joan.

"What couldn't it have been? Oh, why!" She looked at the clean, strong sculpture of his chin, the close-fitting ears and piled the dishes with little whisks. "Why Joan? You Joan? Oh, you're stupid! That's why! You don't know how to show off. And Denny's blind—just blind. Does Joan love him? We could help it. She would make him happy. I know it! Maybe Petra will."

But Katy never thought of Petra without remembering the cruel evening when she had phoned and so lightly permitted Katy to know that she was in reality a burden. This was a beautiful thing to do. Katy, for all her sweetness, was a sharp judge when Denny's interest was at stake.

If he should not be happy? Oh, but he will—

The next look she caught at his face brightened her. He was brown as an Indian and his teeth just gleamed, they were so white against that dark skin.

"I'll be home to lunch, Katy-kid. I'll be at the dam most of the morning. Say, the work's going like magic. I'll get you down there in the next couple of days. You'll get a thrill out of it. Joan, I'll have something extra good."

Just at noon Katy took a steaming apple pie from the oven. And just at noon she heard step on the path.

"Smell it, Denny? Good, huh?" She glanced swiftly from the window, saw a reddened face and curly blonde hair. "Oh, it's you, Martin? You've brought me the mail?"

Whenever the mail arrived at noon young Martin Loop came up with it to Katy.

"Yes, I've a letter here for you, but your brother's not coming, Miss Brooks. He asked me to tell you. He's busy."

"Oh, Martin! And just come in and take a look at this lovely apple pie. Now isn't it a shame?"

He stood hesitating on the edge of the threshold, the boyish eyes flushing. "Say, you did get it nice and brown. That's quite a trick, ain't it?"

"I'm very tricky, Martin. Did you give them all my love?"

He stammered something about the mess hall. Katy rather liked to tease him; to mother him.

"Come in, Martin, and eat my brother's lunch. Please do, and you can have his share of the pie, too."

"I don't think your brother'd like that, Miss Brooks."

Katy laughed, waved her hands in a capricious gesture. "Why, Martin, didn't you know that I'm perfect? And everyone must like what I do. So if I tell you to come in and eat, that's the proper thing to do. Well, I guess you ain't far from it, Miss Brooks. You beat most of the girls I've ever seen."

He stammered something about the mess hall. Katy rather liked to tease him; to mother him.

"And no doubt you've seen a great number. Well, we've cold lamb and beans and potatoes, and the whole of this pie, Martin. But perhaps you have an enormous appetite, have you?"

Poor fellow going from one blush to another! Now he laughed, the square shoulders shaking. "Guess I ain't exactly a bird, Miss Brooks. Sure your brother won't mind if I stay?"

"Why, he'll be charmed, Martin." When he found that Katy wasn't watching him and that she didn't even notice when in his nervousness the beans dropped to his lap, Martin Loop became talkative.

"You like this here country, Miss Brooks?"

"I love it." "Well, just wait till you've seen it! Say, I wish I could get you around a bit."

"You know what I told you, Martin?" "That's what I'm thinking about, Miss Brooks. I wrote to my mother, and you can come and stay to our place next year if you like. Say, you'd like my mother and she'd like you. Then you could see the waterfalls and the mountains and you'd never guess the queer feeling it gives you in all that stillness and all that there's a bigness. It's plain upliftin'! It's better than going to church. Say, I wish you could see the moon ridin' over the sugarplum in last night. I was wishin' you was up there on the ridge."

"The ridge will still be here next year, Martin, and that's not so long to wait."

The kind, boyish blue eyes surveyed her. "Guess you're right, Miss Brooks. And you ain't the com-plainin' kind. But we'd be right glad to have you visit us, all right."

Katy laughed. "You've a dear, kind heart, Martin."

The big fellow passed his hand awkwardly over his face. "You've been pretty nice to me, Miss Brooks, and always saving me a share of that candy. Well, I guess I better be movin'."

He looked at the pie that was left. "Want to take it with you?" Katy asked quickly.

"Say—I'd like to take a piece to your brother."

"And to Bill Cross? And to Ned Crowley? Take the pie, Martin, and have your lunch!"

He carried it gingerly, looked back with a shy laugh. "This is pretty nice. En you, Miss Brooks. Say, the fellows will like it."

She leaned at the window, watching the brawny young fellow swinging down the slope. With a boy he was—what a fine, good fellow—good to the marrow. Katy smiled. "You've a soul, Martin, and that's more than a lot of people have. And good luck to you!"

Denny roared when Martin thrust the pie sheepishly into his hands. "All for me?"

Martin's fair skin flamed. "Well, your sister said Bill was to have some and Ned Crowley, but that's all."

right if you want it all." "Give it to them, Martin. She's baking another one for me now."

Then he saw that when the still noon air grew nicker with the voice of a hundred engines and there came belching from all the chutes at once a great rush of concrete, Denny stood near one of the towers, stood in the midst of the roar, an exultation in his veins.

He watched with a vast fascination the rhythmic swing of arms placing the masonry as it dumped from the chutes.

Far down there he could make out Bill Cross and the blond curls of Martin Loop.

And suddenly as he watched, and so ghostly in its swiftness he never knew whether he was not, there came a swaying—a tremor passing through the steel arm supporting the immense chutes.

A tremor—momentary sagging. And in the pit, men working with rhythmic sway of arms.

A cry ripped from his heart, froze on his lips. The great cable snapped apart; the immense chutes, with their terrible weight of concrete, went smashing on the men below.

It split through him like a bayonet. He was conscious only of a hoarse utterance, scarcely audible, "Get out of the way! Run! God!"

He was aware only that he threw a mad shout into the din and that there came striking back a shriek piercing and agonized. Good God! Who was that?

A man rushing crazily, bumped against him. Denny caught his shoulders, sent him flying for more men. Then he was down in the pit, in a blackness, a tangle of groans, the spilled mass of concrete, snapped iron, the dangling chutes. Feet stuck out under wreckage. Denny flung into it, tore away twisted steel.

He looked into the face of Bill Cross. The fellow opened his eyes. "I'm all right. Get Martin. He's under there."

Denny stared at him, a frenzy tearing him. "Where, Bill? Where?" Where Bill Cross pointed men were raising a still form, raising it gently. Denny saw the blond curls of Martin Loop.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It
Darkens So Naturally
Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and gives a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in of the greatest advantage.

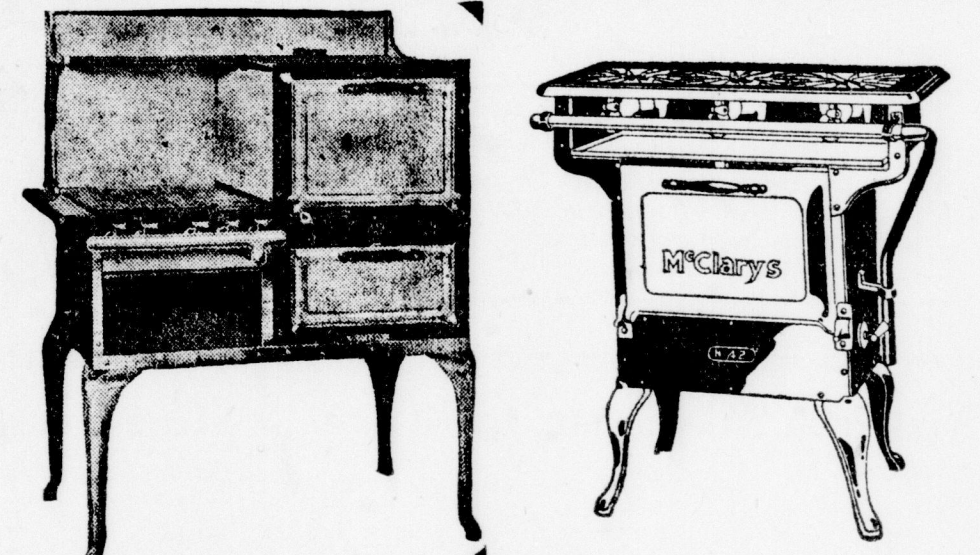

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musty mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Adv.

Honey Protects Radiators.

Honey as an anti-freezing agent has been tried out successfully in automobile radiators by farmers of Wisconsin. About 10 pounds of honey with an equal quantity of water will last through the winter.

Glencoe Defeats London In Hardest-Fought Battle of Season

WOODSTOCK PLAYS TUNE FOR LOCALS' SWAN SONG

London Juniors Go Under 8-1 in Last Game of the Year.

LOSS MEANS LITTLE

Absence of Monahan Noticeable in Showing of Team.

Somebody must have tampered with the Sicilian soup the juniors were popularly supposed to be training on in preparation for their last public feud against Woodstock youngsters last night. The score of 8 to 1 for the big Red and White team indicates the soup was watered.

A small crowd saw the fixture, which meant nothing in anybody's life. The Londoners' last appearance did not add anything to their season's reputation, although in spots they showed some of the hockey which earlier in the season was considered promising. Monahan was away with the intermediates, emulating along with the rest of this over-worked crew. Custer's last and fatiguing stand and his absence broke up the combination which came in flashes during the juniors' career this season. McMillan, McLeachan and Moore turned in splendid games, especially the latter, who not only broke up countless Woodstock plays, but after a series of threats on the Woodstock goal, tallied London's only goal in the dying moments of the game.

Also did his share, and kept the Woodstock score within the bounds the figures indicate by making some miraculous saves.

Woodstock in Form.

The Woodstockers, with their abbreviated knickerbockers, which produced long snickers in various portions of the audience, played their usual good style—plenty of good training, individually smart and clever, and full of confidence. Goyer did not wear his jersey cap the first period, but was there all the time with his strange style of stick-handling and skating, and, with Jemmett, the smart-stepping center, and Jimmy Smith, another man full of strange notions but exceptionally good hockey, made up an attack which should go far in the O. H. A. race this season. Pascoe and McCartney had little trouble in splitting the attacks which came down on them in individual rushes. The London efforts to combine were hooked to pieces on the bumpy ice in the first period, and the locals soon gave up that style.

Of feuds there were few considering the earlier battles between these two teams. Barrett managed to work one up with Pascoe, firing the hockey little visiting man with some sleight-of-skate work, and then on his next sally down the ice being dumped as the innocent victim.

Scored Two Really.

London scored two goals last night, although the score says one. The first Woodstock goal was a carom off Howard's stick. The second, in five minutes, and right on time, at ten minutes, Jamie Smith plowed down one side of the rink and beat Tozer.

Two minutes later Jemmett took a pass right on top of Tozer and tallied.

The second was more of a yawn than the first. Moore, McMillan and Howard rushed. At 4:11 Jemmett scored and tallied on top of that. Tozer, with Goyer, the pair going right in on top of Tozer for a goal.

It took only 50 seconds for Woodstock to get the fifth goal of the night to start the third period, Jemmett doing the trick.

One of Goyer's long drives tore through Tozer's hand which protected his face and laid the London goalie temporarily out, but he gamely continued, Jemmett got Woodstock's seventh alone.

Is Lively Session.

It grew lively for a few minutes, Whitehead going to the hoosegow for crosschecking Howard and McCartney trying a swan dive through the solid boards. Jemmett and Goyer, with five minutes to go, sneaked down together on a nice piece of combination play and tallied the eighth. Moore, with little help, back-checked the whole Woodstock team over the ice and finally broke through with the goal that saved London a round goose egg.

The Line-ups:

London — Goal, Tozer; defence, Howard and Moore; forwards, McMillan, Barrett, McLaughlin and Kenny; sub goalie, Bligh.

Woodstock — Goal, Murdoch; defence, McCartney and Pascoe; forwards, Jemmett, Goyer, J. Smith, Whitehead and Roadhouse.

SARNIA C. I. MAY DEFAULT GAMES TO WINDSOR FIVE

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, Feb. 5.—Sarnia may withdraw from the Intermediate O. B. A. race this year, and default its games to Windsor, according to Chas. Keeber, athletic director of the local college.

While a fair Intermediate team has been rounded up at the school, there has not been the response expected, and several stars in the city who were counted on to round out the team did not turn out. The result is a squad with a strong smattering of green material, which would not go very far against well drilled teams of veterans, whom they would meet later in the season.

N. H. L. CONCLAVE COMING.

Canadian Press Dispatch.

Montreal, Feb. 5.—A meeting of the governors of the National Hockey League will be held here over the week-end. Discussions will take place as to the future of professional hockey in the east.

SWEEPINGS

The curlers dropped their umbrellas yesterday and grabbed brooms as they started in the preliminary rounds of the McNeen trophy, the first event of the city of London bonspiel.

Despite the pattering of rain on the roof, a good glassy surface greeted the competitors at both the Thistle and London rinks.

Sheriff Johnston of Sarnia was a defaulter.

Dr. Ireland and his Harrison party arrived all right, but the doctor's favorite granite were missing. A search party from the London Curling Club finally located the missing staves down at the C. N. R. station.

Last night the curlers left the rinks cheered by the forecast that colder weather would prevail today.

It would need to be. There's been little water ever connected with curling.

A. M. Crawford's Wingham rink got lost in the shuffle. They were entered late, then missed a game at the Thistles in the afternoon, and where they'll turn up today goodness knows.

Owing to the late start at the Thistles yesterday, the spiel will run well into Thursday.

STRATFORD WINS FROM KITCHENER

Indians Slip Green-Shirts 4-2 Loss in Big Four Mix.

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, Feb. 5.—Stratford defeated Kitchener 4 to 2 here tonight in a senior O. H. A. Big Four fixture. The Indians did not display much of the brilliant teamwork used against Monday in preparation for their scheduled fixture tomorrow with London Aces. The Elgins took their setback at the hands of the London A. A. team last Friday with a smile, and with characteristic promptness began a thorough training for the second Forest City quintet.

Manager George Lang has made some changes in the line-up, which should cause the London team some confusion, and with the benefit of several good workouts, the visiting five can expect a real fast game. Elmer Lang and Skelton will act as guards, Martin and Belbin will be on the bench.

Orlons, entered as junior O. A. B. players, will play a scheduled game with Western University in the Y. M. C. A. here Friday night.

Percy Dawdy has every man in the pink of condition for the game.

The teams:

Kitchener—Goal, Woods; defence, Kargess and Wiley; center, Master; wings, Erb and Molson; subs, Krugg and Maloney.

Stratford—Goal, Dolson; defence, Ayley and Berger; center, Brickman; wings, Wood and Kelterborne; subs, Griffin and Bannister.

Reference—H. Farlow, Toronto.

ST. MARYS LOSSES.

Canadian Press Dispatch.

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Working with machine-like precision, the University of Toronto O. H. A. senior team tonight beat St. Marys 14 to 1. It was the season's record score. St. Marys' weakness in checking gave the collegians a great chance to get their feet on the ice.

"Conny" Smythe's well-coached team had a field day.

WOODSTOCK CITY ICE LEAGUE OPENS

Woodstock, Feb. 5.—The City Hockey League opened here last night. Five keenly contested games were played before a fairly large gathering of fans. Three junior and two senior games were on the program. In the junior games the Collegiate and O. H. A. teams defeated East End Juniors, 2-0, while Pulkins outscored West End, 2-1. In the third game, St. Paul's Seniors whitewashed East End, 3-0, and St. Marys Seniors won the decision over Shadlocks by 5-1.

The line-ups:

Junior Collegiate—Goal, Wright; defence, Goddies and McKay; centre, Shadden; wings, Sinclair and Pullin; subs, Bailey, Innes and Blair.

St. Marys—Goal, Carrigan; defence, Tanaley and Mulken; centre, A. O'Bright; wings, Scallisi and C. Bryson; subs, Hawkins and C. Bryson.

Junior Beavers—Goal, Carter; defence, Gibson and Stevenson; centre, Devans; wings, Pearson and Dent; subs, Carr and Bennett.

East End—Goal, Wheatley; defence, Hewitt and Bowker; centre, Littlewood; wings, Hopf and Hutchinson.

Junior Pullins—Goal, Scallisi; defence, Harford and Childs; centre, Weller; wings, Harrington and Hill; sub, Patterson.

West End—Goal, Kennedy; defence, Turner and Bradley; centre, Mason; wings, Coles and McInnis; subs, Stricker and Banner.

Senior St. Pauls—Goal, Hamilton; defence, O'Neill and Robbins; centre, Kelly; wings, Hutchinson and Love; sub, Mayes.

West End—Goal, Kennedy; defence, A. McIntosh and C. McIntosh; centre, Harper; wings, Phelps and Dorken; sub, Mason.

Senior Shadlocks—Goal, Bickerton; defence, Lewis and Bewley; centre, Locke; wings, Trotter and Sharp; subs, Cannon and Wright.

St. Marys—Goal, O. Wilson; defence, Watson and O'Bright; centre, Pullin; wings, Moyer and F. Wilson; sub, McKay and Bryson.

CURLERS IN PRELIMINARY ROUNDS OF CITY OF LONDON BONSPIEL AT LONDON CLUB YESTERDAY. Seaforth, Strathroy and Stratford group, which started off the preliminary round of the McNeen trophy, the first event in the city of London Curling Club, are included in this bonspiel at 1:30 yesterday afternoon.

ELGIN FIVE READY FOR LONDON AGES

St. Thomas Intermediate Cagers in Top Form For Battle Tonight.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Feb. 5.—The Elgin Regiment O. A. B. A. intermediates had a good workout at the armories Monday in preparation for their scheduled fixture tomorrow with London Aces. The Elgins took their setback at the hands of the London A. A. team last Friday with a smile, and with characteristic promptness began a thorough training for the second Forest City quintet.

Manager George Lang has made some changes in the line-up, which should cause the London team some confusion, and with the benefit of several good workouts, the visiting five can expect a real fast game. Elmer Lang and Skelton will act as guards, Martin and Belbin will be on the bench.

Orlons, entered as junior O. A. B. players, will play a scheduled game with Western University in the Y. M. C. A. here Friday night.

Percy Dawdy has every man in the pink of condition for the game.

Jackie Marr To Race Local Boys

Arena Management Plans Big Program Tomorrow Night.

At the arena tomorrow night Jackie Marr, the 11-year-old speed marvel from Toronto, will take on any local youngster up to the age of 15 who has defeated other London boys in an elimination race. Edward Stephenson and the Misses Herman and McRae, the other three skaters brought here by the arena management, will race with any local skaters who volunteer.

This promises to be a big night at the arena, and there is no extra charge being made for the special attractions which will consist of speed skating, barrel jumping and figure skating.

The regular skating will continue after the special performance.

GLENCOE PUTS CRIMP IN LONDON'S CHANCES

Scotchmen Slip Red, Black and White 6-4 Defeat in Hardest-Fought Battle in Group This Season.

Intermediate Standing.

	W.	L.	T.	F.	A.
Sarnia	8	2	0	53	25
London	7	3	1	48	30
Glencoe	3	5	0	17	24
St. Marys	0	8	1	28	58

Special to The Advertiser.

Glencoe, Feb. 5.—A crinkly crimp was put in London intermediates' group chances here tonight, when the locals grabbed off a 6 to 4 win. It was a slaughter, and according to the London fans, this in more ways than one. Judging by the London comments, the team will have to use crutches in tomorrow night's game at Sarnia.

The first period was 4 to 1 in favor of Glencoe. The next read 4 to 3, and it was here that London looked as if they were going to pull the fat out of the fire, but in the second they fell away, Glencoe outscoring them 2 to 1 and making the final verdict read 6 to 4.

The Cockneys were badly disappointed. They had no expectation of losing tonight's battle, but Davenport and company put up one of the best games this winter, checking the Londoners closely, while they bored in on the defence and on Smith.

London, in view of tomorrow's game, used Stevens of the Civil Service team as a sub, and Johnny Burgess was back in the line-up. The going was bumpy all the way, and the ice heavy and suited to the heavier locals.

Glencoe—Goal, Quick; defence, Davenport and Humphrey; center, Aldred; wings, Weaver and Weaver; spare, Wall.

London—Goal, Smith; defence, Somers and Loughheed; center, McGeech; wings, Burgess and Manahan; spares, Deolittle and Stevens. Referee—Sid Rankin.

On the Side Lines

With C. S. G.

It's fortunate that the London team didn't have more postponed and replay games or the O. H. A. would have had them working every night. A game in Glencoe last night and the big test in Sarnia right on the top of that tonight isn't giving the London team much chance. It looks as if a little sportsmanship could have been injected somewhere along the line, especially as the game in Glencoe last night was necessary, not because of any fault of London's, but because the Glencoe team used players who were ineligible.

DOES SEEM STRANGE.

The New York Times editorially calls attention to the poor showing made by Canada in the winter sports competitions at the Olympic, making pointed emphasis of the fact that Canada was 9th among the 13 nations, and owed all her accomplishments to the win of the hockey team.

Canada, the editorial points out, possesses a greater population than Finland and Norway combined, and it might be added, much the same kind of climate.

The reason lay in automobile and dance hall statistics. Certainly "Our Lady of the Snows" should be able to make a better showing in winter sports.

Of course there are lots of outdoor sports yet in Canada—on the evidence of the magazine covers.

"CAME NOT TO BURY."

The rival captains, Dunc Munro and Small, buried the hatchet immediately after the game, and then proceeded to bury their respective countenances in a flowing beaker of "bubbly." A cheerful burial.

BRANTFORD FANS SEE TWO KAYOS

Smith and Lear Put Opponents To Sleep in Short Order.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Feb. 5.—About 800 fight enthusiasts turned out for the professional boxing held in Brantford here tonight, under auspices of the Shamrock Club. Smith, Brantford, a new arrival from England, knocked Casey of Hamilton out in the first round. Casey started strong and felled Smith, but later the latter came back with a K. O. after two minutes.

"Liberty Lear" speedy bantamweight from Hamilton, knocked his man out in the third round after a hard fought battle with Russell, Buffalo.

Tredzie Williams, who was to have met Smith, Brantford, was prevented from fighting by the club doctor.

The feature bout of the evening was Bobby Eber, champion bantamweight, and Johnny Dunn, Buffalo, in a ten-round fight which went to the limit. While Bobby showed flashes of the old-time form, it was generally conceded that he was not the Bobby of the past. After about nine months of seclusion Eber fought well, and Dunn would have been no match for the Bobby if he came back to his old form.

The crowd became impatient with him for punching in clinches after Referee Hayes had called a break and an explanation was given in the crowd by the referee. Eber won by popular decision.

Referee—Hayes of Hamilton.

STRATHROY JUNIOR SIX DEFEATS EAST END CLUB

Strathroy, Feb. 5.—In a hot exhibition hockey game here tonight the fast London East End Club went down to a 4-2 defeat at the hands of the local junior sextet, after they had fought to a scoreless tie in the first period, and were leading 2 to 1 at the end of the second.

The local lads made a strong comeback in the final session, and wiped two tallies past Fitzgerald, to win 4 to 2.

Fitzmaurice for the visitors, and Bartholomew for the home boys, were the stars of the night.

The lineups:

London East Club—Goal, Fitzgerald; defence, Burch and McCausland; center, J. Mills; wings, Fitzmaurice and Reynolds; subs, R. Mills, Hal-dane.

INTERMEDIATES MEET TUNNEL CITY TONIGHT

Short Jabs

Frankie Ash, kingpin of English flyweights, who landed on this side a couple of weeks ago with the avowed purpose of regaining for England the world's flyweight championship, which Jimmy Wilde lost to Pancho Villa last summer, will take the first step in his campaign next week. On February 12, at the Stadium Boxing Club of Jersey City, Ash will engage in a ten-round bout with Johnny Buff, former American flyweight and world's bantam-weight king.

Ash is not by any means the only Englishman over here in quest of a world title. No less than four English champions are seeking honors—Billy Brown, Harry Mason, Fred Archer and Roland Todd. MacAdam, the Scots idol, is also on this side.

But in England the fans have their hearts set on the recovery of the title which Wilde, the "Mighty Atom," held for so many years. British fans will follow with eager eyes the reports of Ash's quest in this country, and if it comes to pass that this new "Mighty Atom" eventually dethrones Villa, there will be gay doings in the land across the sea. If Ash succeeds in the task he has set for himself he will be handed the keys to the city when he gets back to that dear old Lunnun.

The invader never fought Wilde, though he had a forfeit of $2,500 posted for three years in an effort to get a match with Jimmy. But Ash has met the other foremost flyweights of Europe, and according to the records he brought with him, he has the edge on them all.

Frank Marlow has sold Johnny Wilson the contract for Wilson's services which Marlow bought from Marty Killea a year or so ago. Marlow has lightened all of Wilson's troubles with the boxing commission and sent him against Harry Greb, who won the title from Johnny last summer and defended it successfully for his own business, at least for a time. Marlow has turned over Jack Delaney's contract to Harry Lenny, who already has set to work to get Greb into the ring with Jack.

The second championship match of 1924 at Madison Square Garden will take place on Friday night, when Pancho Villa will defend his title against George Marks, the Brooklyn boy who went to California to make a reputation as a boxer and several months ago came back to his childhood home to demand a chance at the flyweight championship.

So many ring decisions, not only in this country but in England and France, have been disputed of late that the question has arisen in England as to whether it would not be a good idea to change the way in which the referee or the judges declare their decisions. It is felt that if they should declare at the end of each round which boxer, in their opinion, had the better of it, the spectators would know as the bout proceeds which contestant was leading. In this way there would be no occasion for unexpected announcements at the end of the bout, the apparent loser had won. Such an innovation, which would provide for the posting of the points scored in each round on a board in full view of the spectators, or be otherwise made known to them, would, it is predicted, do much to increase the interest of the onlookers and at the same time prepare them for the ultimate verdict.

FOREST HIGH SCHOOL ELIMINATES WATFORD

Will Now Meet Sarnia C. I. For Wossa Group Title.

Special to The Advertiser.

Forest, Feb. 5.—Forest High School hockey team eliminated Watford High School in the Wossa series on the Watford arena Monday, 4-2.

Forest won the round, 9-2, Watford had previously eliminated Alvinston, Forest and Sarnia now meet for the group championship.

The Forest defence and back-checking was too strong for Watford, Burke in goal being on the job.

Anderson hit the Watford nets three times, while Deolittle took a pass from Roche for the fourth after a combination rush. Harper and Prentiss scored for Watford off rebounds.

Forest had no subs, but kept up the pace throughout.

The line-ups:

Forest—Goal, Burke; defence, Anderson and Milne; centre, Roche; wings, Deolittle and Rawlings.

Watford—Goal, Shuger; defence, Kinnell and Harper; centre, Howden; wings, McCormick and Cook; subs, Prentiss and Kersley.

Referee—Forbes, Forest.

Timekeeper—Williams, Forest.

Goal Judges—Trenouth, Watford; Todd, Forest.

Rickard Calls Abe Attel Best Fighter of All Time

Was Always Ready To Step Into Ring At Moment's Notice.

STAMINA REMARKABLE

States Boxers As a Rule More Sensitive Than Managers.

TERMED GREATEST FIGHTER.
Abe Attel is, in the opinion of Tex Rickard, the best man of any class that ever stepped into the squared ring.

CHAPTER XIX.
The Greatest Fight of All.
By TEX RICKARD.
The greatest fighter of any weight and of any class, in my opinion, was Abe Attel. I make this statement after much thought and without hesitation.

It was quite a long jump between my promotion of the Jeffries-Johnson fight and my next one, the Willard-Moran affair in Madison Square Garden. I will use the interim in answering some interesting questions that have been sent from various sections of the country since the beginning of these memoirs — if they may be so called.

Yes, undoubtedly, Attel was the most remarkable fighter of any class. He was remarkable for several reasons.

Always it has been a puzzle to me to know just where Attel derived his physical strength, his sturdiness. If he was right in his theory of fighting then all the present methods as to preparing a man physically for a hard flat combat are useless. It is my opinion that both are right, in a way. The present practices are proper for the ordinary man. Abe Attel was such an extraordinary little fellow that he succeeded in spite of his disregard for the conventional customs of the ring.

There was never a time when Attel was not ready to go in the ring, with or without training. As a matter of fact he hardly trained at all. On two days' notice he would go in and fight any man of his weight in the world. Yes, and he would generally win.

I never knew Attel well enough to be familiar with his personal habits. I know, though, that he liked night parties — liked all the social things that go with a successful boxer. I have known him to play poker all night before a fight. He would laugh at the necessity of getting ready for a big fight.

Abe Would Fight Any of 'Em.
"Sure," he would say, "I'll fight him. Who is he?"

"But this is only Monday," the promoter would observe, "and we want to stage this fight Wednesday, day after tomorrow."

"That's all right," Attel would say, "make it tonight if you want. I don't need any training."

And, sure enough, Attel would be there in the ring. What's more, the chances were he'd knock out his opponent.

Now a man who could do that month after month and year after year, to my mind, is undoubtedly entitled to the distinction I have given him as the greatest fighter of any class.

Just where Attel got his remarkable stamina is difficult to understand, as I have said. He was not an outdoor man — one of those fellows who comes from the wide open spaces and so on. He was a newsboy in San Francisco.

As a starter Attel would drop his papers and fight any light fellow in the preliminaries. He got better and better, finally becoming a champion in his class. His total disregard of training methods was always a subject of laughter and wonder among those who knew him.

I have been asked to name the greatest fighters in their respective classes of all times — that is, the greatest in my opinion.

You have no idea how difficult it is to be frank in answering that question. I will attempt it later.

In the mind of the ordinary spectator there is a feeling that prize fighters are simply money grubbers — that all they want is the purse. I have heard many fight fans say that boxers had no sentiment other than to get the money. They were never more mistaken in their lives.

As Proud As Opera Stars.
There is nothing quite as dear to a boxer as a championship or the memory that he leaves with the fans. He wants to be considered the greatest in his class that ever lived. He will waste or lose his money without a word of complaint but as long as he lives he cherishes that idea that he was great in his time.

Fighters are extremely sensitive. I wouldn't say they are prima donnas but they are certainly temperamental. I have to be on my guard for that all the time while dealing with them. The fighter is much more sensitive than his manager. He has the same feeling toward his profession as the opera singer does to his art.

For this reason I am candid enough to admit that I am afraid to include the present day fighters in my selection of the best men in their classes for all times. My selection will be of the old-time scrappers — those whose careers ended just prior to the coming of the present crop. You will have a clearer understanding of just what I mean when I tell of the early arrangements for the fight between Willard and Dempsey.

Now take Jack Dempsey, for instance. There is a boy as proud of his record as Caruso was of his singing. In my mind there is no doubt that Dempsey is the greatest heavyweight fighter for his size that ever lived. It is almost impossible to consider him capable of the things he does when one looks at him in street clothes. He is slender, lithe and comparatively light. Dempsey has a long way to go yet. Even by the time these memoirs appear in print he may have done something more wonderful than we have even thought of. It would be unfair to size him up in an analytical comparison with all the old-time heavyweights.

He Puts Jeffries At Top.
But, going back to the former big lights in fighting, in my opinion that Jim Jeffries was easily the greatest of all the heavyweight champions. In saying this, I have considered John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Jack Johnson, Jesse Willard — all of them.

For a big man, Jeffries had everything that a fighter needs. He had the strength, the speed and the bulldog tenacity. Jeffries was much faster on his feet than many imagine. That he was game was proved time and time again. His fights with Sharkey and Corbett show that.

Jeffries was fundamentally honest. He had the welfare of his friends at heart all the time. No man ever lived who had a greater desire to make good the claims and hopes of his backers than Jim Jeffries.

The charge, sometimes heard, that Jeffries lay down to Johnson, or that he had arranged for Johnson to lay down of him and then got crossed, is so ridiculous to me that I have to laugh. I was with him day after day during the preparations for the Johnson fight. No man was ever more confident of winning. As I related in a previous chapter, Jeffries was so absolutely sure of winning that he insisted on having the purse divided sixty-forty instead of fifty-fifty. Jack Johnson would have been perfectly satisfied to let it go on an even basis.

Yes, of the old-time heavyweights I am sure that Jeffries was the greatest. I will discuss the others later.

PARK RESIDENTS OPPOSE RURAL HYDRO PROPOSAL

Do Not Want To Be Linked
With New System—Enjoying City Power Now.

PLAN TO APPEAL

The proposal that suburban hydro users be linked up with the rural hydro system, recently established, met with strenuous opposition from Manor Park residents at a meeting of Westminster and London Township residents held last night in the O'Dell school house on Brick street.

Miss Mary Grant, London Township clerk and R. E. Hughes, provincial hydro engineer addressed the meeting. W. S. Laddlaw, reeve of Westminster occupied the chair.

Statements submitted by those in attendance showed that the new system would result in an increase in rates of from 2 cents to 6 cents and that the monthly account in many cases would increase by $5. The suburban hydro plan was unanimously opposed and few present were in favor of the proposal.

Plans for appealing to the provincial hydro commission will be made in a few days when another meeting is called. Engineer Hughes admitted that there were a sufficient number of rural users available without the addition of consumers who reside on the outskirts of the city.

When asked what his opinion and views on this matter are, E. V. Buchanan stated to The Advertiser that he considered the position of the Westminster residents who were asking for hydro service at city rates, a poor one from which to ask for a decision from the provincial hydro board.

"These people are living outside the city limits to avoid city taxation. In accomplishing this they have no right to complain that they are treated in the same way as the rest of the township in the matter of hydro rates. These rates are just and are based on the actual cost of serving rural districts with power."

Thomas During Year.

Mrs. C. R. Ead was again elected president of the London Alma Daughters at the annual meeting of the club held last night at her home, Dufferin avenue. Other officers are: Honorary president, Mrs. A. A. Campbell; honorary vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Edwards; vice-regents, Miss Stella Venning and Mrs. W. L. Leslie Hawke; recording secretary and press reporter, Mrs. W. J. Marshall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. G. R. Bartram; telephone secretary, Mrs. Le Touse; flower secretary, Mrs. Douglas Wanless; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph Smith.

Reports of a most successful year of work were submitted. The chapter raised a goodly amount of money during the year, devoting a generous portion to the Fish Memorial, which consists of annual scholarships in music, toward which all the Alma Daughters throughout Canada contribute. This year the club has undertaken to furnish a bathroom at the college. The program last night included two enjoyable vocal solos by Mrs. A. D. Robertson.

The Man-Bird Flies Off Again With Danny Nanny and Their Babies

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

It was on the third day after the birth of their five babies that Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse were startled by feeling their home moving. The great man-bird was being wheeled out to the edge of an open field. The repairs had been finished. The aeroplane was now as good as ever. Danny and Nanny didn't know this. They didn't know what the bumping and shaking meant. And they didn't dare peep out to find out. At last it stopped. For a while they heard men's voices. Then suddenly they were frightened almost of their wits by a great roar. It was so sudden and unexpected and it was so long since they had heard it that for a moment or two they didn't know what it was. It was the engine, which had been started. For a couple of minutes they bounced along over the ground for the field was rough. Then the bouncing stopped. They were in the air. The great man-bird was flying once more.

Danny said nothing to Nanny. Nanny said nothing to Danny. They couldn't make each other hear for the noise that the great man-bird made. But each knew that the other knew that they would never go back to the home they had made under an old stump after the fall of the great man-bird. Each knew that the other knew that once more they were off to see strange places and strange sights. Somehow, he didn't know why, Danny was glad. After a while he ventured to peep out of the little cupboard in which their home was hidden. Only their friend the aviator was in the great man-bird. Danny ventured wholly out. Just then the aviator turned his head and glanced back. He saw Danny. His eyes brightened. He chuckled. "Well, well, well, what do you know about this?" he exclaimed. "I didn't expect ever to see that Mouse again. I wonder if his mate is with him. They must have kept right on living here in that cupboard. I had so much else to think about that I never once thought to look for them. I must see that they get plenty to eat."

He reached into a box of lunch and broke off some pieces of bread. He tossed them behind him so that they fell just in front of that little cupboard. Danny seized one at once and took it into that little cupboard. He gave it to Nanny, then went out for another piece for himself. My, my, how good it tasted! They knew now that that aviator was still their friend, and a great fear was lifted from their hearts. Come what might, they would stay in that great man-bird until those babies were big enough to go out into the Great World. That is, they would stay there if they could get food enough, and they had a feeling that that aviator would see to it that they did get food enough.

So Danny and Nanny resumed their travels. And while Nanny had no thought for anything but her babies, Danny began to look forward to new sights.

OBSERVATION BOOTHS IS PLAN TO CHECK BANDITRY
(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Toronto, Feb. 5.—Chief of Police Dickson is planning to erect observation booths on all main highways at the city limits, manned by two constables, with motorcycles, to check banditry. Chief Dickson stated that he is figuring on twelve booths situated around Toronto on all main roads. Each booth is to be equipped with a telephone connecting with the police signal system, also a shotgun.

WARRANTS ARE ISSUED FOR ALLEGED SWINDLERS

(Associated Press Despatch.)
Chicago, Feb. 5.—Bench warrants for fifty men, supposedly residents of Chicago, who were recently indicted in the federal courts in Arkansas for use of the mails to defraud, were issued yesterday by James R. Glase, United States commissioner, at the request of James A. O'Callaghan, assistant United States district attorney. The latter said he had been informed the men had obtained about $3,000,000 by swindling persons throughout the country by claiming control of oil

STARVATION KILLS GIRL LOCKED UP SEVEN DAYS

(Associated Press Despatch.)
Coatsville, Pa., Feb. 5.—Locked in her room without food or water for seven days by a brother who had suddenly lost his mind, Miss Mary Mooney, of West Nottingham Township, Chester County, died yesterday from starvation and gaugre, which developed as the result of a burn on the arm. Two dogs, locked in the room with her, were all but dead when the woman's plight was discovered by neighbors. Mooney was taken to an insane asylum.

CHILD PERISHES AS HOME IN MONTREAL IS BURNED

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Montreal, Feb. 5.—Henry Baker, 2½ years of age, was burned to death, three other children were slightly burned, and their mother, Mrs. S. Baker, suffered severe burns when their house in Greenfield Park, a southern suburb of this city, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin at a late hour last night. The firemen of St. Lambert, the nearest town, were summoned, but finding no water available, were forced to throw snuff on the house, with only one shovel use between them.

ALLEGED TORONTO SLAYER IS REMANDED TO JAIL

Toronto, Feb. 5.—Harold Godard, who faces charges of the murder of Mrs. Mary Crooks and the attempted murder of Miss May Duncan, made his third appearance in police court today before His Honor Judge Denton, and was again remanded at the crown's request for a week.

King Alfonso of Spain enters and races his horses in the name of the Duke of Toledo. Great Britain will present a powerful, well-balanced women's swimming team at the Paris Olympics.

Extra Lights? What Do I Care!

WHEN some householder in the east side of the city has electric light installed in his home you are not greatly concerned, unless he be a friend of yours!

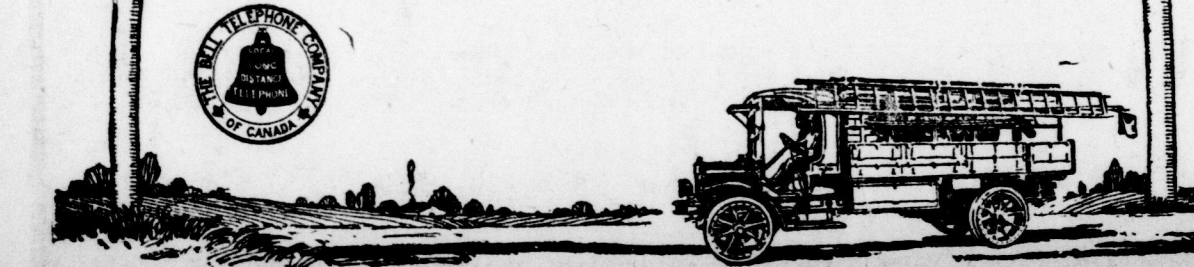

The same is true of the city water service, or gas!

But if he has a telephone put in, it is different. You may have occasion at any time to speak to him or to some member of his household, and his telephone makes this possible. The value of your telephone has been increased by reason of the new installation. The range of local service for you has been widened and its possibilities enlarged.

In other words, the value of each individual telephone depends on the effective working of every other instrument.

Five years ago, London had 7,400 telephones in service. Since then, new cables have been laid, new poles erected, new wires strung, new switchboards and central office equipment installed until today we have 12,700 instruments in service here.

Telephone service is different from other service in that each new unit installed anywhere in town adds to the value of your service.

VEGETABLE MEN WANT NEW RULES

Favor Change in Exhibiting of Vegetables At Western Fair.

The London District Vegetable Growers' Association met last night in the department of agriculture's lecture room, and several important items of business were transacted.

Among the more important matters discussed were the resolutions presented by the committee on exhibits, dealing with proposed changes in the regulations under which vegetables are shown at the Western Fair.

The resolutions which last night's meeting approved called for the placing of some of the smaller vegetables on paper mache plates at the fair in order to do away with the mixing of the vegetables from two or more exhibits.

Another proposed change called for the introduction of a second display of a collection of vegetables, to be smaller than the usual one in order to allow the entry of growers who produce a smaller number of vegetables.

The matter of prohibiting exhibitors to remain in the building while the judges were placing their awards brought out some rather pointed remarks, but the matter was amicably settled with a resolution stating that any exhibitor seen to be interfering with the judges in the discharge of their duties would be disqualified.

The matter of the approaching Provincial Vegetable Growers' Association in Toronto was discussed, and a motion was passed empowering the London delegates to the convention to exert every effort to bring the 1925 convention to London.

No More Trials To Face Red Ryan

Charge of Escaping From Penitentiary Not Heard.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, Feb. 5.—"Red" Ryan, who was to be tried today for escaping from the penitentiary, will not face trial for this or any other charge that may be hanging over his head, according to prison authorities. It is considered that the life sentence imposed by Judge Coatsworth covers everything.

MEXICAN REBEL LEADER AND STAFF LEAVE VERA CRUZ

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Feb. 5.—Adolfo De La Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolution, and his staff, have left Vera Cruz on a steamer for an unknown destination, according to information received here this afternoon from a reliable quarter. The rebel troops, the advices stated, were evacuating the city.

ADRIFT IN LAKE ON AN ICE-FLOE

Norman Turnbull, Grand Bend,
Has Been Missing Since Monday Afternoon.

Special to The Advertiser.

Parkhill, Feb. 5.—Concern is felt over the continued absence of Norman Turnbull, a prosperous farmer living about three miles from Grand Bend, who has not been seen since about 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. At that time Turnbull left his home which is close to the bank of the lake, to look for a place to fish through the ice. During the afternoon the ice broke from shore and it is now feared that he was carried out into the lake with the floe. Turnbull had been in the habit of going to the home of a neighbor and frequently he remained for supper and to spend the evening, so that his failure to return home did not awaken any fears or anxiety on the part of his family until late Monday evening. Inquiry then developed the fact that he was missing. A vigorous search has been prosecuted all day and until late tonight and efforts are now being made to arrange for a search of the lake in the hope that he may be marooned on an ice flow. Darkness stopped the search, which will be resumed at day-break tomorrow.

GERMANY REGARDS WILSON AS ONLY PRIVATE CITIZEN

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Feb. 5.—Baron Leopold Plessen, third secretary of the embassy, made this explanation: "The German government considers the late Mr. Woodrow Wilson a private citizen, and therefore has instructed the German embassy to refrain from any official display of mourning."

FORMER LONDON MAN REPORTED A SUICIDE

Body of Thomas Brown Found With Revolver Clapsed in Right Hand.

Special to The Advertiser.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—With a revolver clutched in the right hand and a bullet wound in the head, the body of Thomas S. Brown, aged 40 years, a veteran of the World War, serving with the Canadian army, was found in his home in the Domer Apartments, 5538 Jackson street, this afternoon. Brown, who was wounded while in the service in the Canadian army, was last seen alive yesterday morning at 4 o'clock, leaving the drug store of William B. Vollbrecht. He had been employed in the drug store, but had resigned last Saturday. It is said that Brown was the son of a minister. Recently one of his children had been stricken with scarlet fever, and his wife, who resides in London, Ontario, underwent an operation. It is believed that he was despondent.

LABEL ACTION ENTERED AGAINST HON. W. E. RANEY

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, Feb. 5.—Writs were issued this afternoon in supreme court here, by W. S. Brewster, in which W. Churchill Livingstone, for fifteen years police magistrate here, alleges libel against Hon. W. E. Raney, former attorney-general of Ontario and the Star Publishing Co., publishers of The Star Weekly. The actions are for unstated damages and arise out of articles on the O. T. A., written by Mr. Raney and published in The Weekly Star and American newspapers.

UPRISING LAUNCHED AGAINST GUTIERREZ

Honduran Presidential Candidate
Objects To Him Continuing Office.

Associated Press Despatch.

New Orleans, Feb. 5.—General Tiburcio Carías, the Honduran presidential candidate who received the highest number of votes in the recent election, but not enough to assure his election, has launched an uprising against the continuance in office of former President Lopez Gutierrez, whose term expired Feb. 1, and has established headquarters near Tholuc, according to advices received today by the Honduran consulate here.

I. O. D. E. Chapter Starts Move To Form Art Club

Decide Need of London For Club of Kind Is Urgent.

WOULD AID STUDENTS

Propose Interesting Businessmen To Meet Financial End.

That the Nicholas Wilson Chapter, I. O. D. E., will make a move to start an art club in London for the promotion of the study and appreciation of art in the community was decided at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the chapter, held at the home of Mrs. C. K. Bluet, Wellington street.

The chapter proposes to get businessmen interested in the idea, and in this way be able to swing the financial end of the scheme. For an art club such as is proposed would involve the renting or purchasing of local quarters for exhibition purposes. The members believe that there are enough businessmen in London who are in sympathy with the promotion of art to insure the success of such a venture.

None Since War.

There has been no art club of any description in the city since before the war. The new club would be of greater practical use than any such organization yet formed in the city. Through its endeavors London citizens would be given an opportunity to view the work of London artists, as well as the masterpieces which hang in many private collections here in the city. With such an art gallery, outside collections might also be brought into the city for the education of students of art here.

This decision on the part of the Nicholas Wilson came as the result of a paper given by Mrs. A. D. Robertson yesterday afternoon on "Art and London Artists."

The occasion was the annual meeting of the chapter, at which Mrs. George MacDonald was again returned as regent, with the following strong executive: Vice-regents, Mrs. John Gemmell and Mrs. A. D. Robertson; secretary, Mrs. Holland; assistant secretary, Mrs. Morris Abbott; treasurer, Mrs. Northwood; educational secretary, Mrs. John Detwiler; standard bearer, Mrs. C. J. Burns.

The chapter arranged to hold a musicale at the home of Mrs. George Lethbridge in March. The chapter is offering two medals in the Collegiate Institute oratory contest, Mrs. John Detwiler and Mrs. Holland being appointed to meet with Principal A. E. Miller to make all arrangements concerning the medals. The chapter has also decided to make its contribution to the Children's Hospital $500, and thus endow a crib. The chapter's funds have been used largely for educational work, and the members have been strong supporters of the National I. O. D. E. Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Fail To Appear.

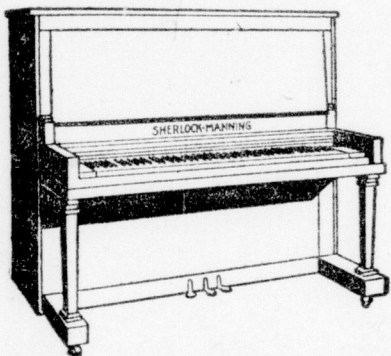

Failure of the Municipal Chapter executive to be present at yesterday's meeting postponed the discussion on the placing of the National I. O. D. E. War Memorial Pictures in the city schools. However, a committee of three was appointed to confer with the Municipal executive on this matter. The committee includes Mrs. G. L. MacDonald, Mrs. J. Detwiler and Mrs. John Gemmell.

Mrs. E. Ouellet Tells of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sends a message of cheer to the thousands of Canadian women who carry a load of pain and weariness through their daily work, St-Andre de Kamouraska, P. Q. Feb. 4.—(Special).—"I have suffered terribly for several years from bad kidneys and indigestion. I was so weak that I was not able to do my housework. After taking some Dodd's Kidney Pills I felt better and the pains in my kidneys have disappeared. I recommend them to all weak women."

Mrs. E. Ouellet, who lives here, makes the above statement. She feels that she owes it to other sufferers to tell them how she found relief.

Of the many persons paying their tribute of praise to Dodd's Kidney Pills, it is noticeable that the great majority are women. The reason given for this is that the great majority of women's ills come from the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Healing and strengthening them, they enable the ENGINEER DIES.

W. A. Bowden, chief engineer of the department of railways and canals, is dead in Ottawa, aged 52.

fore the war we were told (by corporation officials and their satellites) that we in Canada couldn't raise a million for any private project. We now can do so, and are doing it. So there is now no reasonable excuse for granting special privileges or any of the public domain to any foreign corporation. Therefore, public ownership should control all public utilities. When this becomes a fact, this Dominion's emigrant agencies, jails and poorhouses, which have public owners, already are little used except to foreigners and their immediate kith and kin.

ACTING MAYOR TO GIVE MOORE KEY TO LONDON

Deputation of City Officials and Leading Citizens To Meet Actor.

When Tom Moore, the actor, arrives in London tomorrow he will be met by a deputation headed by Ald. Douglass, to bid him welcome to the city. Dr. Douglass, who is acting mayor of the city for Thursday in the absence of George Wenige, who is in Chicago, will give the newcomer a key of the city and present him with the freedom of London. A company of prominent Londoners will gather in doing honor to the first well-known star of both the screen and the legitimate stage to appear in London, and John Minihinnick, the manager of the Grand, where Tom Moore will appear, will be on hand to greet the first screen star to grace his theatre. On Friday Mr. Moore will be the guest of honor at the Kiwanis lunch in the Tecumseh House, and on Saturday afternoon following his matinee, he will hold a reception in the theatre, where he will meet the ladies of London on his stage court. From London he goes direct to Chicago, and Mr. Minihinnick is congratulating himself on having acquired such an outstanding figure for the Grand.

UTILITIES MANAGER INVITED TO SESSION

First International Power Conference Will Be Held in London, England.

E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the public utilities commission, is in receipt of an invitation to attend the first international power convention to be held next summer in London, England, in connection with the British empire exhibition. The convention or congress is slated to take place from June 30 to July 12.

Mr. Buchanan, when questioned as to whether he intended attending the congress, said that he was not prepared to say at present whether he would be the London representative at the conference.

The federal government will in all probability be represented by Ormond Higman of Ottawa, electrical head of the Department of Trade and Commerce, and chairman of the board on the export of hydro power.

The invitation has been extended to the heads and expert electrician of the larger private power companies in Canada.

CITY EMPLOYEE OVERCOME BY GAS

David Mantle Removed To Victoria Hospital in Poisoned Condition.

Overcome with sewer gas while working on the construction of a sewer on High street yesterday afternoon, David Mantle, an employee of the city, was rushed to Victoria Hospital in A. L. Oatman's ambulance.

Although he was working with other men who were but a short distance away, when found he was in a serious condition, as much of the poison had entered his system. At the hospital, first aid methods were immediately applied.

Dr. C. A. Harris, his attending physician, stated last night his patient was out of danger, but he would be confined to the hospital for a number of days yet.

SECONDARY SCHOOL MEETING IS TODAY

Provincial Supervision of Education To Make Survey of Local Situation.

Dr. F. W. Merchant, provincial supervisor of education, is expected in London today. He will make a survey of the secondary schools with a view to advising the board of education concerning the matter of greater accommodation in the London colleges.

During the day a meeting of the special committee appointed to look into the matter of converting the Technical school into a technical collegiate will be held.
It is understood that Dr. Merchant will address this meeting and give his findings on the situation. The meeting is regarded by the local board of education as the best method of settling this vexatious question.

Notions

Long before crocuses and marbles and rug-beaters make their annual appearance, spring sends its forerunners to our store. Already they are taking possession of our Wash Goods department. There you will find the newest Ginghams, Imported Voiles, fine Nainsook for lingerie, and materials for the popular sportswear. As spring sewing comes before spring housecleaning, these announcements are sure to be of immediate interest to you.

ANDERSON GINGHAMS AND ZEPHYRS

Here are many attractive exponents of the season's vogue for black and white, as well as the conventional checks, the new plaids and the clever two-tone designs: 32-inch width, at ... 50c per yard. The Zephyrs are plain colored materials of the same quality and texture as the ginghams, rose, yellow, Delft blue, green, sky and rust; 32-inch width, 50c per yard.

NORMANDY SWISS VOILES

Fine voiles, delicately patterned in white, with tiny stencilled dots which have a permanent finish. The importance of black and white is emphasized as well as pondre blue, sea-foam green, and the soft peach color which is just being featured at the winter resorts; 38-inch width ... 85c. Swiss embroidered voiles in white with dainty designs, 44-inch, at ... $1.25.

WHITE FOR SPORTSWEAR

White forms the background of the Sportswear styles. For skirts, for children's suits, for uniforms and aprons. Tootal's English Pique in plain, fancy and honeycomb weaves, 44-inch widths, at ... $1.35. Burton's Irish Poplin, of the finest Egyptian cotton with a double mercerized finish which retains its silkiness after laundering, 36-inch width, priced at $1.00. Indian Head is useful both for sportswear and for household embroideries such as buffet scarfs and center pieces, 36-inch, at ... 50c.

WHITE FOR LINGERIE

Nainsook of exceptionally fine even weave with soft finish, 36-inch width at 39c; 40-inch width at 55c; Horrockses' fine nainsook at 65c; Tarantulle, for baby dresses and sheer white lingerie 55c and 65c.

To-day I saw

Evidently the new ginghams heard my promise that they were to have a column of their very own. For every time I pass through their cheerful department, they anxiously inquire if it isn't their turn now. Perhaps it was their vivid contrast to the gray out-of-doors that made their little corner on the Main Floor particularly attractive today. They suggest the sunshine and spring flowers that are coming.

You will be delighted with the New York patterns which have been designed by the house of William Anderson, and with the new low prices of only fifty cents a yard. It is interesting to note that the requirements of the English and American buyers necessitate two very distinct sets of patterns.

Plain little checks in a variety of springtime colors—the reds and yellows of flaunting tulips, violet blue, rose and leaf-green as gay as any flower garden. The plaids and two-tone checks are attracting attention, both because of their newness and their delightful color harmonies—yellow and brown, black and orange, Delft blue and peach, coral and seafoam green. (Such an appropriate combination!)

Your collars and cuffs may be effectively made from the Zephyrs, which repeat in solid tones the color range of the ginghams. When you see them, you will picture the porch frocks and children's dresses they will make!
