Fine New Method Clothing for Men

Suits And Overcoats

PERHAPS YOU ARE One of the men who know the high character of our Clothing, but if you don't you will naturally be surprised at it, because it's that and that alone which is bringing to our store men who have been prejudiced against ready-to-wear clothes by the ordinary sorts of other stores.

You will find in New Method Clothes a character which appeals to you though you are a tailor's patron. They possess every trait of the best made-to-measure clothes because they are made as thoroughly.

Correct in style, smart in appearance and perfect in fit, they are the equal of best custom made. Take as examples:—

Those handsome OVERCOATS—the desirable, long loose, broad-shouldered coats of Cheviots, Thibets and Friezes, in blacks, Oxfords and mixtures, at $10.00, $12.50, and $15.00.

Or the fancy Cheviot, Cassimere and Worsted Black Thibet and Cheviots and Black Unfinished Worsted, single and double-breasted Suits, which are priced at $7.50, $10.00, $12.50 and $15.00.

We have an almost unlimited variety of the new fabrics in both Suits and Overcoats—a third of which you will not find elsewhere—perhaps that will surprise you, if that doesn't, New Method High Quality and Fair Prices will, and most agreeably, too.

BOYD GAVE HIMSELF UP

Coolly Strolled Into the Police Station and Cordially Greeted Chief of Police.

Deposited Marked Cheque for $2,000 as Security for his Appearance.

William Boyd, for whom the police have been searching diligently for some time, walked into the police station yesterday afternoon.

Chief Holmes was sitting in his private office, and looking up to see who his visitor might be, was surprised to see Mr. Boyd.

"Well, I'm here. I sent you word I would come," was the greeting of the fugitive.

The Chief tendered his thanks to his visitor and asked him where he had come from. "Oh, I came on the 3.36 C. P. R. from the west, and just came over in a cab," replied Mr. Boyd.

The Chief at once telephoned Judge Houston and Crown Attorney Smith, and Mr. Boyd telephoned his wife and his lawyer, Col. J. B. Rankin, K. C.

The man who had been much sought for was then arraigned on the charge of appropriating to his own use a New York draft for $2,000 belonging to Russell B. Herriman, of Winnipeg, which he (Boyd) cashed later at Kin-cardine.

Boyd pleaded not guilty and was remanded till next Monday for his preliminary hearing. He elected to be tried by jury and his trial will take place before Judge Hall at the sessions which open Tuesday, December 9th.

Crown attorney Smith asked bail in $2,000 cash or two sureties at a thousand dollars each. Col. Rankin went over to N. R. H. Chalmers and returned with a check for $2,000, which was deposited in the name of Boyd, and he was released from custody.

John Gentle, the well-known Kin-cardine horseman, accompanied Boyd to this city and it is said that he put up the money for the bail. Gentle is rated in Bradstreet's as being worth from a hundred to a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and credit first class. He does so much business with the Merchant's Bank that they put themselves out to honor his check on this branch of the Merchant's Bank.

Col. Rankin asked the Judge to set the date for the preliminary hearing later than Monday, but Judge Houston replied that he might not be there next Monday when the $2,000 was provided. He thought that would provide money of a pleasure trip for himself and the Chief. The Chief and the Judge, however, couldn't agree on where to go. Chief Holmes wanted to go to Chicago, while the Judge preferred Europe, so there is liable to be a hitch in the pleasure trip.

While the bail was being arranged, Mr. Boyd chatted in his usual laconic style.

At first when asked where he had been he briefly replied that he had spent most of the time in Canada, but when the Crown Attorney suggested was a big place and Mr. Boyd must have been playing in little out of the way places, the returned Chathamite brightened up and talked some.

"With the exception of five days, I spent all the time in Canada," said Mr. Boyd, "and I wasn't in very out of the way places either. I was in London, Hamilton, Niagara Falls or Brantford most of the time. I saw two or three dozen of the cards that the police sent out. Friends showed them to me. I just came in on the train and walked over to the police station."

The charge on which Mr. Boyd was arrested was that of taking $2,000 from Russell B. Herriman, of Winnipeg. It is said that Herriman claims that he came to Chatham to arrange with Boyd to do a job in the Western States and as an evidence of good faith he put up $2,000. He never saw the money again, and the draft he purchased and gave to Boyd was cashed at Kin-cardine. There is another rumor current to the effect that Herriman came to help Boyd do a job. Money was needed and Herriman asserts that he put up $2,000 for the purpose of fleeing a victim. Herriman alleged that the victim was fleeced all right, but not the one he expected, and the Winnipeg man claims Boyd buncoed him. Boyd denies this and says that he isn't fool enough to take anybody's money in this way.

It was rumored on the streets that Mr. Boyd came back because his little son was sick with typhoid fever, being taken ill Saturday, but the father denies this. "He was here, it is said, just before the assizes, having come with the intention of surrendering himself, but on the advice of his lawyer, it is rumored, decided not to put himself in the hold of the law until after the assizes."

Chief Holmes was wondering how Boyd could come to the city in the day time and go over to the police station with two policemen on duty and neither one see him.

PATRIOTIC SOCIAL

The meeting of the Park St. Methodist Epworth League, was attended last evening by about 100 young people who spent a very enjoyable evening. Miss Ethel Sandison, of the Literary Department, read the meeting. Mr. Harry Westman gave a very interesting talk on his trip through Western Canada, describing the places of interest along the line and the country itself, making a very pleasing address.

The evening was a patriotic one in honor of the King's birthday. Miss Pearl White sang very acceptably "Rule Britannia," Miss Flo Helman gave an instrumental duet, and the League Choir sang "The Maple Leaf." Topic cards were handed out to those present.

WAS ANOTHER BIG SUCCESS

Repetition of the Splendid Central School concert Again Greeted by Throngs.

Presentation of Medal and Certificates of Honor—Kind Words Spoken.

The Central School's magnificent concert was repeated last evening and was again greeted with a crowded house.

School Trustee Dr. R. V. Bray presided and made a neat speech, congratulating the Central school on its good work and on the premier position it occupied in the province.

The special feature of the evening was the presentation of the gold medal to Miss Adele Sandison and the certificates to the graduating class. The graduating class numbered 54 and was the largest number of pupils that ever passed the entrance in the history of the Central school. This year there were 70 in the entrance class and the problem of properly instructing such a large class faced the Board. It was thought that such a class was too large for one teacher, concluded Dr. Bray, and the managers now had under consideration ways and means of dealing with the question of providing proper instruction.

The program was practically the same as it had been on the previous evening. The clever little pupils of the kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Green, the principal of the kindergarten, executed some charming movements to music. It was wonderful how quickly the children responded to the changes of time in the music. A noticeable feature of Miss Green's pupils is their neatness. It is surprising the pride the little ones show in their appearance. Children are great imitators, and neatness and style in the teacher is reproduced in those who are taught.

Dr. R. V. Bray, manager of the Model school, presented the High school entrance certificates to the graduating class.

Geo. S. Heyward, on behalf of W. H. Benson, manager of the Kindergarten, who was unable to be in attendance, presented the art school diplomas to the winners of them, and complimented the successful students on the honors which they won.

A charming incident of the program was the presentation of the VonGuntzen gold medal to Miss Adele Sandison, the pupil who stood at the head of the school.

William Robertson, manager of the Central school, made the presentation. The Coronation Hymn, "Hail, King of Many Nations," solo by Miss Gertrude Potter and pupils' chorus, made as great an impression on the audience as it did on Saturday night. But it is not necessary to eulogize any particular number, as each and every one was so near perfection.

Principal Flew's has had many kind words said about him and he deserves them all. There was only one man who could have grasped the situation which they were in, and he did the principal of the Central school. He not only averted disaster, but restored confidence and filled the Opera House on Saturday evening. It was wonderful and both Mr. Flew's and the School Board, who so nobly stood at his back, deserve the commendation and praise of every loyal supporter of the school.

The Central school concert of the year 1902, will be recorded as the best and grandest—a success financially and in every other way—despite the shadow cast upon it on Friday evening, Nov. 19th, in Park street Methodist church. The program will be a very interesting one. Each League will furnish two numbers on the program. Mrs. Harvey, of Toronto, will address the meeting, in the interests of the Children's Aid.

CITIZENS ARE BEING BUNCOED

Faying Bigger Price Than Good Stove Wood Costs—Some Serious Comments.

John Piggott, Sr., the head of the large lumber firm of John Piggott & Sons, condemns the city for selling such wood as they are disposing of in the city wood yard.

"Last week, while walking up Colborne street," said Mr. Piggott, "I noticed piles of old rotten rails cut in stove wood lengths. I asked who owned the decayed and sun bleached rails. I was surprised when I was informed that the discarded old rails belonged to the city. They were too rotten to burn and the farmers might better have paid for getting rid of them than have sold them."

"I have been dealing in wood and cordwood all my life and I can truthfully say that that is the dearest wood I ever saw offered for sale, in all my life. Why those discarded old chestnut rails are not fit to burn. Chestnut isn't as good as basswood and you know what kind of fuel basswood makes."

"If I bought and used such wood as that I would expect to be poor. I use cordwood, but I certainly can not afford to use that which the city is selling."

"Last Wednesday I saw a couple of cords of cordwood being unloaded. I asked whose wood it was, and was informed that it belonged to Mr. Steen. I purchased a cord and a half of this four-foot cordwood for $5.50 a cord delivered. I paid a dollar a cord for getting it saved, split and piled in the woodshed. When piled in my shed, the wood just cost me $2.50 a stove wood cord. I say absolutely that the consumer is not as much heat in those old rails as there is in the wood I purchased by a hundred percent."

"The old rails are sold at $2.25 per stove wood cord and the purchaser has to pay for delivering, which makes a stove wood cord cost $2.75. I can't understand anyone buying those old rotten rails at $2.75 when they can buy good body wood delivered, sawed and split for $2.50 per stove wood cord. Even if there was no difference in the heating capacity of the woods, the difference of 25 cents a cord should be a matter for consideration. Then, besides the $2.50 wood was good body wood, already split."

"We deliver a load of cuttings containing three times as much wood for $1.50 and I would consider that one load of cuttings would be worth five as much as a load of that city wood, which costs the consumer $2.75. When I was dealing in cordwood I used to sell thousands of cords of wood to the G. T. R., and I am sure if they sold four times as much in a thousand cords like that truck city sells that the company would have rejected the contract."

DR. BRAY ELECTED.

To-day was the time for fying nominations for representatives to the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario, for the counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton. Dr. Fleming was returning officer, and the nomination of Dr. Jno. L. Bray of this city, was the only one submitted. Dr. Bray was accordingly declared by acclamation.

Dr. Bray has presented these counties continuously since 1880, and in re-electing him unanimously his professional colleagues have done themselves credit and evidenced their appreciation of his valuable services.

TENDERS THANKS

Chatham, Nov. 11, 1902.
To the Medical Profession of the Counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton.
I wish to convey to you through the press my most sincere thanks for having re-elected me for the 6th time to represent number one division in the Council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. No honor has ever before been conferred on any member of the Council, and when I take into consideration the number of large towns and cities in this division, containing as they do, many of the most progressive medical men to be found in the Dominion, the honor is the most apparent, and I assure you is keenly appreciated by me, and rest assured that I will endeavor in the future, as I have done in the past, not only to work for your interest, but that of the profession as a whole as well as the general public of this province.

Again thanking you for a renewal of your confidence, believe me to be yours very sincerely,
JOHN L. BRAY.

LAID TO REST

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Howard took place at 8 o'clock Monday morning from the family residence on the Gravel Road, Raleigh, to St. Joseph's church, and thence to St. Anthony's cemetery. It was very largely attended, showing the esteem in which the deceased lady was held.

Mrs. Howard was born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, in 1842. In 1852 her parents came to Canada and settled on the 15th concession, Raleigh, but since her marriage, she had resided on the Gravel Road. Her husband preceded her to the grave by sixteen months.

One daughter, Minnie, and two sons John and James, are left to mourn her sad demise. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

LETTER BOX

"THYSELF SHALL SEE THE ACT."

Editor Planet:

Sir,—For the benefit of Wayback, who had a letter in your Saturday issue, will you permit me to say:—

A prohibitory law is one which prohibits the manufacture, the importation and the sale of intoxicating liquors. The Liquor Act, if passed, would not do this, as is shown by section 222, which reads:

"While this Act is intended to prohibit and shall prohibit transactions in liquor which take place wholly within the Province of Ontario, except under a license or as otherwise specially provided by this Act, and shall restrict the consumption of liquor within the limits of the Province of Ontario, it shall not effect and is not intended to effect bona fide transactions in liquor between a person in the Province of Ontario and a person in another province or in a foreign country, and the provisions of this Act shall be construed accordingly."

Now, then, how would this Act work out? It permits a person living in Ontario to write to any liquor dealer in Quebec, in the United States, or in any place outside of the Province, and order a case of whiskey to be sent to him, and he can keep and consume it on his own premises. That certainly is not Prohibition.

Furthermore, under the Act, warehouses where liquor may be stored are allowable, and all a man has to do would be to order liquor to be sent there instead of to his own place, and then instead of having to pay at one time the whole cost of the case of whiskey, or whatever it was he ordered, he could simply go to the warehouse and take a bottle at a time, paying for it as he got it. The thing is a farce on the face of it, and to call it either Prohibition or partial Prohibition is manifestly absurd.

Again the Liquor Act makes provisions under which veterinary surgeons, druggists and physicians may have liquor in their possession. Clause 160 says:—"Any veterinary surgeon who may deem liquor necessary for the benefit of dumb animals may administer, or cause to be administered, such liquor to such dumb animals, for which purpose he may have liquor in his possession, not exceeding, however, in quantity one gallon, but no person shall drink or consume any of the liquor."

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

PREFONTAINE ENTERS CABINET

But Sutherland Gets Public Works Department—Vigorous Kick.

Much Difficulty Experienced by Laurier Before the Shuffle was Arranged.

Ottawa, Nov. 10.—Raymond Prefontaine, M. P., ex-Mayor of Montreal and member for Maisonneuve and Terrebonne will be sworn in tomorrow morning as Minister of Marine and Fisheries, to fill the vacancy in the Cabinet caused by the retirement of Mr. Tarte. The new minister reached the capital to-night and received the congratulations of many friends as he stood in the rotunda of the Russell House, the centre of an admiring group. Mr. Prefontaine said he would be sworn in to-morrow.

By his selection ends an incident of more than average interest, politically speaking, as the Premier had not so much difficulty in selecting a successor to Mr. Tarte as he had in arranging with the Quebec Liberals to consent to the exchange of portfolios. Quebec has looked upon the public works portfolio as peculiarly its own, and handing it over to an Ontario man was not concurred in without considerable heart-burnings and perhaps an unusual amount of coaxing. The position was Mr. Prefontaine's by right from the start, notwithstanding stories to the contrary. It was his by right of good service to the party, and Mr. Brodeur at no time was willing to accept it. Mr. Prefontaine had some enemies in Montreal, chiefly those created during his regime as Mayor, but not sufficient to prevent his handing the prize. As stated from the very first, Mr. Prefontaine was the man, and the honors awaited him. It was all a question of arranging for giving Mr. Sutherland the public works portfolio. The Government hope that Mr. Sutherland and the public works department will prove a source of strength to them.

It is not likely that there will be any further shuffle in the Cabinet for some time. The talk of Mr. Scott going to Toronto to succeed Sir Oliver Mowat is all buncombe. The Government faces a difficult session, especially if a Redistribution Bill is introduced, and Mr. Scott's knowledge and tact is required in the Senate. The standing of the parties in the Upper House is too close to permit a man leaving the leadership who has been in the Senate for a quarter of a century and knows the "ropes" as well if not better than any one in it.

The local Government organ, the Free Press, states to-night that Sir Oliver Mowat will continue in office for a time, and this is taken to mean that he will not retire until such time as the Government is ready for another Cabinet shuffle. For the present Mr. Scott remains in the Senate. The whole interest centres now in the additional spending power which is to be added to the marine portfolio. Some change is pending, the exact nature of which is not known to-night. Mr. Prefontaine will sit for Maisonneuve and Terrebonne in the Montreal district. He has represented the two seats since the general election, owing to a technicality which prevents a man vacating while a protest is pending.

NEW BLOCK

Architects T. J. Rutley & Son have almost completed the plans for A. Sheddick's new block to be built where the old Post Office stands. Tenders for the block will be asked for in a few days. The building will be a handsome one and have a frontage of 32 feet and three stories high. It will be fitted with all the most modern equipments and will be an improvement to the central part of King street. Hot water heating will be installed and the building will cost in the neighborhood of $7,000.

"Flexibility of a Dorothy Dodd" EASY SOLES

It is said that the woman who goes to church with squeaky shoes goes to the right place, for her sole needs attention.

There is really a good deal about the sole of a woman's shoe that needs attention. You realize it if you stop to think how much you relieve the discomfort and "hardness" of shoes by making their soles flexible.

So far as I know (and I have taken pains to examine many different makes of shoes) the "Dorothy Dodd" is the one shoe for women that is really constructed with a flexible sole.

You can tell the difference as soon as a few steps have been taken. It means comfort. And a flexible sole, as a rule, will outlast any rigid sole—don't overlook that!

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

On Sunday His Majesty King Edward VII. completed sixty-two years of life, and his loyal subjects in every quarter of the globe prayed that he and his excellent consort may be rewarded yet many years to reign in righteousness over the greatest empire the world has ever known.

The King and Queen are loved because of their uprightness, and their evident desire to be one with their subjects. The trials they have undergone during the past year have further endeared them to their people; and not their own subjects alone, but to all the civilized nations.

King Edward was born Nov. 9, 1841, succeeded to the throne January 23, 1901, and received his crown exactly three months ago.

Long live the King and Queen!

A TRUTH.

Toronto Telegram.
The failure of the colonial conference may do something to acquaint Canadians with the mighty truth that imperialism begins at home. In time of war Canadians must direct their energy to the point of danger to the empire. In time of peace their energy is needed at home, and in such times Canada will do her share of work for the empire if she settles on right lines the great problems raised by her own development.

The Doukhobors are desirous of moving into British Columbia, but the Provincial Government has notified them to stay away. They desire to settle in a country where they will not have to obey any laws except those made by God. This province is not hard to please, but it wants no Doukhobors of this kind within its borders. Bitter and his gang of evil braves might get in, but these Russian chaps will have to go to Sifton or climb up in the clouds somewhere and lie down. PERPETUOUS ALIBION IN DANGER.

The Marquis of Castellane has cabled to the New York Journal from Paris that France would thrash England now if she wanted to. This will cause a painful sensation on both sides of the Atlantic, and it is to be hoped that France will not "want to" begin the thrashing at once. It is more than likely that John Bull, with customary obstinacy, would make a good deal of trouble for the Frenchmen before he could be convinced that he was being "licked."

The farmers of Wentworth have set an example well worthy of general imitation. Over $50,000 will be spent in purchasing toll roads in the county. Private ownership of highways and many other utilities are the remnants of a past barbaric age, and a singular anachronism in the light and intelligence of the twentieth century.

ACCIDENT TO A MINER

Strained His Back and Was Sent Home in Agony.

Laid up all Winter, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Put Him on His Feet Again and Now He Is Completely Cured.

Indian Brook, Victoria Co., N. S., Nov. 16.—(Special).—Angus D. McDonald, son of the postmaster here, is prominent among those in this district who swear by Dodd's Kidney Pills as a sure cure for those terrible pains in the back that are one of the surest symptoms of Kidney Disease. Mr. McDonald has good reason for the stand he takes. While at work in the coal pits he strained his back and was sent home in an agony of pain. The nearest doctor, twenty-five miles away, was sent for, but he could do little to relieve his suffering. This was in October, 1901, and he couldn't do a single turn of work till the spring of 1902.

Then a hotelkeeper advised him to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. That hotelkeeper didn't see him again till last August and then his first question was "Angus, how's your back?" "As well as ever it was," answered Angus. "What cured it?" "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely."

And the Postmaster at Indian Brook is always ready to testify to the truth of his son's statement. Pains in the Back, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Dropsy and Heart Disease are caused by diseased Kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure them.

Not every minister has discovered that the shortest sermons may have the longest reach.

Got Lame Back?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order. For Polson's Nervine, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nervine this power, you will think it magic, however, if you try it. Pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere in large 25 cent bottles.

THE DAWSON WOMEN

RIGHT ARTICLE ON THEIR EVOLUTION BY ALICE RAWLINS CRANE.

Ladies Now Frequent the Streets of the Yukon Capital and Are Not Insulted—Means of Recreation for Ladies—How They Spend Their Time in Social Affairs—No Hardships Now.

Much has been said and written about the average women of Dawson, and it is just about these same women that I am going to write a little more, and as it is my fortune to be among the first arrivals in this newly settled town and to have resided here during the past four years of its growth from a few wretched cabins and tents erected on a fever-stricken stretch of undrained swamp to a well-drained, well-built town of handsome buildings, containing most of the comforts to be met with on the "outside," it will be my endeavor to write what observation has taught me concerning the changes which have gradually been brought about in a most things pertaining to my sex.

In the days of 1896 and 1897 there were, of course, no female population in Dawson to speak of, for only prospectors were here in those early days and a few who had managed to hear of the extraordinary richness of Eldorado and Bonanza, and who had rushed headlong to the Klondike, hardly daring to believe a half of what they heard. Such men did not dream of bringing wives or other female relatives with them on that hard and hazardous journey, and Dawson was essentially at that time a bachelor camp.

But towards the end of '97 all the civilized world was thrilled with news of the Klondike's richness, and then it was that women as well as men were enthralled with a burning desire to struggle into the Klondike over the Chilcot and White passes, and to risk the terrors of dangerous rapids in home-made boats, in order to obtain a share of the precious metal which would, perchance, drive from them a life of the greatest wolf which had long threatened it.

In that wild rush in the spring of '98 there were probably two women to a thousand men, and while many of the latter behaved gallantly and obligingly, there were thousands who acted like selfish brutes, and were totally indifferent to the trials, troubles, and dangers which befell others.

Among the heterogeneous mass of perhaps 60,000 men of all nationalities, and many of the lowest grades of desperadoes, the women who came to Dawson in '97 had to live. The state of the so-called roads and trails, even in Dawson, necessitated the wearing of short skirts and masculine looking boots; consequently the women who came to Dawson to earn an outdoor living or whose occupation took them abroad on the occupation took them abroad on the streets or creeks were not dressed in a manner which added any outside charm to female attire. Labor was excessively hard, and women had to either pay extravagant prices to carpenters, paperhangers, and dressmakers, or be content to live in a very rough cabin, rudely furnished, with no more pretence to "show" than the plain, useful dresses they donned.

The few lady clerks, typewriters, and cashiers required were small in number compared with cooks and housekeepers. All were well paid, but could save, owing to the high price of living.

The means of recreation were limited. The theatres were quite unfit for women to attend, both on account of the low standard of vulgar plays put on the stage, and of the almost universal custom of drinking and smoking indulged in by the spectators. The actors appeared to look upon a Dawson audience as devoid of taste or education, and consequently gave a performance which would disgrace a third-rate dime museum.

Social gatherings were rare, as few possessed the means of entertaining their friends; the roads were in such a deplorable condition that driving was out of the question even if there had been conveyances and hacks in the town—but the dog then held supreme sway, and was sold at a price which one would hesitate to pay for a good horse elsewhere.

There were few women to be seen. The streets were choked with men sitting along on the sidewalks, smoking and lounging about, so that women were almost compelled to either stay indoors or walk in the middle of the muddy roads.

The "lords of creation" did not appreciate a good woman, but lavished their time and money on the most lawless and vacillating of type-writer sex; many good and virtuous girls who came to Dawson to seek honest work in order to improve their impoverished condition from the "slavish position they held elsewhere, braved to little purpose the heart-rending dangers which they nobly conquered along the trails, for, unable to obtain employment, they drifted into one of the two numerous dance halls, and thence to ruin and disgrace.

longer the trusting place of ionefers and other pests, but are flanked with up-to-date stores, filled with goods from which it is easy to choose any article of food, dress or furniture needed.

In passing up and down the new well-ordered sidewalks—thanks to the deservedly popular Northwest Mounted Police—one will not see a poorly or peculiarly dressed woman; in fact, women in Dawson dress with as much style and richness as the women of any "outside" town.

If there has been a revolution in woman's dress, how much more has her presence been the means of modifying the dress of the male sex! The man who would now appear at a party dressed in a yellow Mackinaw suit or other equally ugly costume would be a rare sight, and the woman who in '98 could be seen laboriously plodding over the heavy trails on her way to the creeks, looking like a dilapidated rag doll, would be a much rarer sight. Neither does one see women shoveling into the sluice boxes alongside of men, nor working rockers in order to add to their scanty earnings.

Women are seen in evidence at our many churches, libraries, social gatherings, concerts, and balls, and can also venture to a theatre at times. Dawson is well provided with literary, scientific, and musical libraries, and women are often seen comfortably riding to and from the weeks in well-appointed stages, which travel with ease and comparative comfort over the newly-made Government roads.

It is said that experience is the most effective teacher of the race, and it has played no unimportant part in the history of Dawson and the evolution of its women. I claim that the women have been greatly instrumental in helping to purify the immoral atmosphere which for a time hung over the town; by their influence they have elevated the tone of the men, and are gradually winning for the place a name which will no longer be synonymous with everything which a woman should detest, but one which shall be on a par with that of any city in Canada.

The critical years of hardships, trials, and stormy scenes which tended to cripple the morals and dwarf the aspirations are happily past, and Dawson women can now step out and take their places without a blush. They can look back on their checkered days as one remembers a bad dream, and they can appreciate themselves, no doubt, more than others can appreciate them, knowing that they have borne their share of many these bitter experiences have brought out in their lives all that is best and noblest in women; let us hope that the same may be said of our men in Dawson.

CANADA AT EXHIBITIONS.

Government Will Have Exhibits in Japan.
Exhibition Commissioner Hutchings has sent out a communication from Ottawa giving information regarding foreign exhibitions. No decisions have been reached as yet as to whether the Dominion will take official part in the two South African exhibitions to be held next year and in 1904, but Lord Strathcona has been communicated with and asked to send information.

The Government will be represented at Osaka, Japan, exhibition in 1903, and will have its own building. Suggestions are asked as to exhibits which will be most useful in helping trade with that country.

At the St. Louis exhibition the Government will make exhibits in agriculture, horticulture, forestry and mineralogy. Manufacturers and others will show separately.

First Wheat Sent Out of Manitoba.
C. J. Brown the Winnipeg city clerk, has in his office in the City Hall hanging on the wall in a frame a certified copy of the invoice which accompanied the first wheat ever exported from Manitoba.

It is dated Oct. 12, 1876, or over 26 years ago. The invoice is from Higgins & Young to Steele Bros., the seedmen of Toronto, of 70 bushels. The consignment was 857 1-6 bushels, at 85c. per bushel, and 26c. for each of the sacks. The wheat was purchased for seed.

The export of grain have gradually increased since the date mentioned. Ten years later they totalled 4,000,000 bushels, and the year following the crop was a remarkable one, and 10,500,000 bushels of grain was exported. In 1888 the crop was a poor one, and only 4,000,000 was exported. There was a similar quantity sent out in 1889, and 1900 the figures rose to 11,500,000 bushels, and then the increase was gradual, with one or two exceptions, until last year, when the export was 50,000,000.

Apples for Sleeplessness.
The apple is such a common fruit that very few persons are familiar with its remarkably efficacious medicinal properties. Everybody ought to know that the best thing he can do is to eat apples just before retiring for the night. Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of the fruit are liable to throw up their hands in horror at the visions of dyspepsia, which such a suggestion may summon up, but no harm can come even to a delicate system by the eating of ripe and juicy apples before going to bed. The Canadian apple is excellent brain food, because it has more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruit. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and the body's vitality.

Daylight and Don.
A young lady of Toronto made us puzzle our brains over the following letter: "Why are King and Queen streets the way they are? Of course we had to give it up; then we were informed that it was because they came together at both ends and met at the Don (dawn)." Toronto Star.

James Jones, the North Chatham gun smith, has been doing some thinking. He put some apples in a gun to bake without putting in any sugar. When the apples were cooked, Mr. Jones poured off a pint of syrup. Mr. Jones now wants to know where carbon in the sugar that syrup comes from. It couldn't have come from the atmosphere via the leaves. It couldn't have come from the sap because the sap stops running before the apple grows. It must, of course, come from the earth, but from what. Is it from lime stone or from sand in the earth? Mr. Jones offers the problem for solution.

THE DANCE

Large crowds attended the William Street Baptist church to hear the first of Rev. J. J. Ross' special series of sermons. His subject Sunday evening was "Christianity and the Dance," and he proceeded to denounce dancing as a hindrance to Christian life.

"Dancing," said the reverend gentleman, "is denounced by all denominations and not alone by the Baptists. It is harmful from a physical standpoint as well as spiritual. Since I have taken charge of this church even two of its members have been expelled on account of dancing. Some people, even the select of our land, say that there is no harm in it, but that does not make it right. Can you take religion into the ball room? Would you care to talk about taking Christ and Him crucified into the ball room? You cannot serve two masters."

The speaker then proceeded to give statistics, showing that more women were ruined through dancing than from any other cause. He appealed to his audience to be in line with the cause and to send God and come out from the world and follow closely in the footsteps of the lowly Nazarene.

At this service Mrs. S. C. Walker sang a vocal solo.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing minority of the people are afflicted with catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases, known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh.

The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief is concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrh. It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh.

It may be found in any drug store, sold under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, large pleasant-tasting lozenges, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients, Bloodroot, Red Gum and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslie in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkable satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectively and lastingly than any other catarrhal remedy that I have ever seen, and although they are what is called a patent medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

Any sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Your article in Wednesday's issue, giving particulars of the death of a seven-year-old child, caused by Christian Science, refusing to provide medical aid, the article I thoroughly endorse and I sincerely hope steps will be taken to vindicate the law.

Some time ago I had a letter from a lady of the Christian Science persuasion in reference to my mission, as created by hypnosis, suggesting to the possibility of a Christian Scientist being able to create disease as well as to heal it.

Her letter was not altogether reassuring. She admits that disease can be created by hypnosis, but adds "in Christian Science this could not be the case, for any one attempting such a thing is not a Christian Scientist, or follower of Christ, and any one making such an attempt would soon find their power of healing has gone from them."

She also disclaims any desire to create a carbuncle on my nose, though she assumes she would rejoice to remove one were it there.

This is all very well; it would be but small comfort to me to show that the party who created the power of mind thereby forfeited the right to call herself a Christian Scientist, and also that she had deprived herself for the future of the power of healing.

It would seem rather a worse look-out for me if her power of healing was gone, for otherwise she might have repented and cured me.

Besides, a person who is sufficiently malevolent to desire to create a carbuncle on my nose might, in her joy of gratifying her malice, be content to forfeit the title of Christian Scientist, together with her healing powers attached to the science.

My would-be "comforter" remarks that many people criticize Christian Science without having looked into it or read any work on the subject, at any rate, I am not one of these.

For my sins, I read many years ago the greater part of the gospel of Mrs. Eddy, and fully realized the impression which it produced upon my mind. I am bound to say that I cannot advise anybody else to waste the time in reading the book, for the principles that it contains might be stated in half a dozen sentences, if not less.

My correspondent says: "We believe that God, our Father, is all Good, and that He is the source of all our good, and that He is the source of all our evil." Our mind is but a reflection of His mind, therefore from Eternal Good no evil thing such as sickness and pain can proceed. We then believe that our minds reflect Eternal Good, no evil can harm us.

I do not see the force of the "therefore," but Christian Science, I take it, is a matter of faith or intuition rather than of logic.

The sentiments are very beautiful and comforting, and as much applicable to an earthquake, a shipwreck, the breaking of a dam, or any other evil that afflicts humanity, as to more bodily sickness.

My correspondent might well go a step further, and believe, with Dr. Pangloss, that no such thing as evil exists in this world in any shape.

But when it is deduced from such premises that a lady can cure, let us say, a broken-down horse by the power of the mind, for the payment of five dollars per week, there is a somewhat formidable hiatus in the argument.

Yours, J. J. WILDE

ANNUAL RALLY.

The Bloomfield Union Sunday school held one Sunday, which they will remember for many a day, and they were decorated for the occasion. The roll call by Mrs. Wells aroused in the old familiar names of early settlers, Delseus, Wilcox, Chryslers, Leach, Drury, Blackers, Montgomerys, Keats and others to the number of 50 scholars who, with friends and parents, filled their comfortable school house and added their personal and financial encouragement to this live and prosperous mission Sunday school.

The Harvest Home Services in connection with the Dover Presbyterian church were held on Sunday, Nov. 2, and they were a grand success. The roads were good and it was a lovely autumn day—just the day for such a function. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens and flowers and a liberal display of grains, vegetables and fruits betokened a bountiful harvest. The pastor, Rev. A. E. Nelly, B. A., occupied the pulpit at both services. In the morning he chose his text from Mark 14: 8, and in the evening from John 7: 37. Both efforts were eloquent and deeply impressive. The choir made special preparation for the day and the music was well rendered. Instead of the usual tea meeting with its attendant work and worry on the following night, the pastor introduced the innovation of a free will offering in connection with the services and the people responded nobly, the collection morning and evening amounting to $64.

GOVERNOR OF ISLE OF MAN.

The Manifest Duties of a Very Unique Position.

By way of pendant to a recent description of the constitutional independence of the Isle of Man, it is interesting to note what those functions are to which Lord Raglan, as Governor of the island, is called. He has a unique position and responsibilities. He is the successor of the Kings and Lords of Man, who, till the sixteenth century, ruled it as an absolute monarchy, and as their successor he has succeeded to nearly all their prerogatives, and to others which the Legislature has continually thrust upon him. He prorogues and dissolves the House of Keys, which cannot meet without his precept. He is president of the Legislative Council (or Upper House) and the Tyndal Council (both branches of the Legislature sitting as one), which cannot meet without his presence nor adjourn but on his motion, and he not only intervenes in their debates, but can vote in their proceedings and in the Legislative Council has the casting vote.

This is better than the War Office, but it is not all, by any means. He can initiate both legislation and taxation, and without his consent no law or tax can either be made or repealed. He has likewise a direct vote on all expenditure, is Chancellor of the Exchequer, and President of the Local Government Board. Nor is this all. He is Local Chief Justice of Appeal in civil cases, and President of the Court of General Jail Delivery—the highest criminal court in the island. He is captain general of the Manx military forces (here Lord Raglan's hereditary and acquired talents will come in), and Chief Commissioner of the police and prison. A civil appointments are made on his recommendation, he examines and admits members of the bar, and thirteen out of the seventeen Church livings in the island are his gift. To crown all, he exercises the sovereign's right of pardon, and is the leader of Manx social life.

In fact, we can only call to mind two important sides of Manx life with which Lord Raglan as Governor is concerned. He is the lord and supreme arbiter. One is the writing of novels, of which, it is well known, Lord Raglan possesses a monopoly in this island. The other is the breeding and export of Manx ponies. But outside these spheres of activity, Lord Raglan seems to be of everything from Prime Minister to policeman, that an ambitious man could desire. We hope he will get on well with the Manx people.

Great Feats of Human Labor.

The following are said to be ten of the most remarkable works of human labor:

1. The Pyramids of Egypt, the largest work near Cairo, known as the Great Pyramid, built by Cheops, King of Egypt, took 260,000 men twenty years to build.

2. The artificial reservoir—Lake Moeris, near Assuan, which served to store up the waters of the Nile during the seasons of floods, and distribute them by canals, over the land of Egypt, took 100,000 men 100 years to build.

3. The Taj Mahal, a tomb erected in Agra, in Hindostan, by Shah Jemal, and yet seems so airy that when seen from a distance it is so like a fabric of mist and sunbeams, with its great dome soaring up like a bubble about to burst in the sun, that even after you have touched it and climbed to its summit you almost doubt its reality. It cost over $15,000,000.

4. The Temple of Baalbec, in the erection of which stones 62 feet long, 20 feet broad and 15 feet thick have been used—more prodigious masses than have ever elsewhere been moved by human power, and exceeding in size any stones used in the Pyramids.

5. The Temple of Karnak, described by Fergusson as the noblest effort of architectural magnificence ever produced by the hand of man. It covers twice the area of St. Peter's at Rome, and undoubtedly is one of the finest buildings in the world.

6. The Great wall of China, 1,280 miles in length. It is 20 feet in height, and in thickness 25 feet at the base and 15 at the top.

7. The Eiffel Tower, erected in the grounds of the Paris Exhibition, and 984 feet high.

8. The Suez Canal, with 88 miles of waterway, connecting the Mediterranean and Red Seas, and forming the principal route to India. It cost more than $85,000,000, and 172,602 men by human power, and exceeding in size any stones used in the Pyramids.

9. The railway bridge (the largest cantilever bridge in the world) over the Forth, with two spans each of 1,700 feet, erected at a cost of nearly $20,000,000.

10. The Leaning Tower of Pisa, which deviates 13 feet from the perpendicular.

Still Further Honors for Sir Edward Percy Cranwell Girouard.

The London Gazette of August 19, contained the following announcement:

"The King has been pleased to give and grant unto Captain and Brevet-Major (local lieutenant-colonel) Sir Edward Percy Cranwell Girouard, K. C. M. G., D. S. O., R. E., his Majesty's royal license and authority that he may accept and wear the insignia of the second class of the Imperial Ottoman Order of the Medjidie, conferred upon him by the Sultan of Turkey, in recognition of his services as President of the Council of Administration of the Egyptian Railways, Telegraphs and Port of Alexandria."

One the same page of The London Times in which the above were republished there appeared an article from the Johannesburg correspondent upon the subject of the Egyptian Railways, Telegraphs and Port of Alexandria.

The situation that presented itself to Col. Girouard, the able commander and organizer of the Sudan Military Railways, on the voyage out to South Africa, to take over the duties of Director of Railways, was in many respects a complete novelty. Without any precedent to serve as a guide, a set of instructions had to be drawn up on board, apportioning the several duties of the staff and laying down the lines on which the civil administration of the railways was to be used by the army would be amplified by military officers corresponding to the existing officials. As time went on these instructions, good as far as they went, but necessarily incomplete, were revised and improved upon, until the effective organization that obtained at the conclusion of peace, and which will doubtless be found a tradition in the British army, was evolved.

When the circumstances of its establishment are taken into consideration, the absence of skilled officials, the never-ending interruptions of the normal working of the line, it must be owned that the Imperial Military Railways performed their task well. When peace came and people had time to look around and see what progress had been made at Pretoria and Johannesburg, they realized that they owed something to the Imperial Railways, with the presence of special mining trucks and the placing of large orders for rolling stock over a year ago testified to the foresight, energy and ability of the Commissioner of Railways, Sir Percy Girouard.

There is nothing easier to get lost in than a maze of words.

TO REMAIN BEAUTIFUL.

Sensible Rules Laid Down by One Who Knows, Adelina Patti, World's Most Famous Singer.

To remain young and fair, to defy the years that leave their traces on face and figure, lies within the power of each woman. The great magic secret is contained in these rules, writes Adelina Patti, the world's most famous singer:

Keep the mind clear of all unnecessary worry and the body clear of all unnecessary food. Live with great regularity and still greater moderation.

Keep the heart young. The one in whom faith and hope and love still live must reflect the fact on the features. It is the hopelessness, the disappointment of life, the absence of love of the positive sort, that make so many women grow old before their time. They may have those near to them in a perfect state of way, but this is a negative love.

The love that lifts them out of themselves and glorifies the humblest home is gone or has forever passed them by; hence the unhappy, disappointed faces one sees on every side. And so I would say love some one or something truly, if it is only a dog. The emotion makes you forget yourself and the world is yours.

To be healthy is the natural state, disease usually being a punishment for some indiscretion or excess. Therefore keep well.

Sleep eight hours in every twenty-four.

Ventilate your homes and offices. Sleep with the windows open, winter and summer.

Examine the list of your social obligations. Prune it by far for the best. Simplify your social life. Simplify it all you can.

Complicated living causes worry, and worry is the chief destroyer of health and happiness. Our home as pleasant and cheerful as possible, but keep within your means if you would have a mind at peace with yourself and the world.

Drink nothing but water or milk—especially drink quantities of water. You never can drink too much of it.

Bear in mind that alcohol is so much poison—that wine, beer, coffee and tea are poisons too.

Do not touch anything into your system unless absolutely necessary. Eat little meat.

Very little food of the right sort is required to keep the body in full strength. Fruit is by far the best food, and cheapest. I have known details men who lived on milk, dried figs and nuts. Their health was superb, their strength remarkable.

Remember that health is your health. Lying on your back is a disease. The stiffening of the joints is a disease. The wrinkling of the skin is a disease, and disease brings age with it.

Cold cream and massage to preserve the complexion and the youthful contours are minor details. If you would get at the heart of things, keep well and happy and thus be forever young.

Roosevelt's Name.

The Americans appear to have considerable difficulty in pronouncing the name of their President. According to one paper they have at least fourteen different ways, including Roosevelt, Roovey, Roovey-felt, Roovey-felt, Roovey-felt, Roovey-felt. We cannot very well laugh at the Americans, as we have had our own difficulties with a certain ex-president whom some people to this day persist in calling "Krooz."

lied upon the English people, however, to suggest, as is done in the paper referred to, that a few million of them think the President of the United States is a Boer. The Germans, we are told, think of him as a Jew, while the French regard him as a German, especially since he talked fluently in that language with Prince Bismarck.

President Roosevelt must be perfectly well acquainted with the fact that there are other names quite as mispronounced as his own, such, for instance, as Goethe and Pepsy and even Sophocles, whom to-day we hear rhyming with "monocles."

A Story of Tissot.

An interesting story is told of Jacques Tissot, the great French painter, lately deceased. While in England, he painted a beautiful religious picture, and meeting a countrywoman asked her opinion of his work. "It is a chef d'oeuvre," she replied, giving a remarkably just and detailed appreciation of the various merits of the picture. "And you," Tissot asked a friend, "Tissot answered in the negative. He entirely repainted his picture, working night and day. When finished he sent again for the critic, who pronounced it "admirable." Tissot then asked, admiring it with smiling criticism: "Are you satisfied?" asked his friend again when the lady had departed. "No," answered the artist, and set to work for the third time. When the Parisienne saw the new painting she gazed at it for some moments with evident emotion and then without a word sank softly to her knees and began to pray. "Are you satisfied now?" whispered the friend. And Tissot said, "Yes"—London Tatler.

Trees Affect Soil Temperatures.

That this is true has been proved by many experiments in this country. In South Australia, some observations showed that the temperature of the soil in a forest was 21 per cent. lower than in the open field and that the air temperature in the forest was 10 per cent. lower.

The effect of retaining silence, equalizing the extreme summer heat is thus demonstrated.

The Winter Layer.

The good summer layer is the good winter layer when the conditions can be controlled. A good, warm house, with plenty of grain and an abundant supply of green feed, with a small quantity of meat and bone and plenty of grit and shell, will produce eggs in the best condition to exercise enough to keep in good health and with good appetites.

MOVING PICTURES

At the Grand to-morrow—matinee and night—under the auspices of the local Oddfellows. The following is from the Woodstock Review of Nov. 7th:—

"The Colonial Moving Pictures presented under the auspices of the Woodstock firemen, attracted probably the largest audience the opera house has seen in five years. The pictures were easily the best yet seen in this city. All that was advertised was given to the letter. The coronation scene was realistic, every detail of the imposing pageant being brought out with vividness. The English stag hunt was thrilling as were also several views of the London firemen at work fighting fire and saving life. The comic scenes were both ingenious and funny and provoked great enthusiasm among the young folks who were present in large numbers.

"The Span of Life" will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House next Thursday. The play is well known to the theatre-goers, either by seeing it or by reputation, and the incidents of the human bridge and light-house scenes are well remembered. The latter is one of the most realistic scenes ever presented in this city. It shows the lighthouse with the angry sea dashing all around and enveloped in a heavy mist. The fog horn of a steamer can be heard in the distance, gradually getting louder and louder. The hero who has been wounded by the villain, recovers sufficiently to realize the impending danger of the slowly approaching vessel. The oil for the lamps has given out, not a drop being in the place; but a boat from the shore is expected with help, and through the darkness the headlights of the enormous steamer are seen approaching. There is nothing to be done but ring the fog bell. The hero, with one arm useless, climbs up the outside of the lighthouse, reaches the beam and rings the bell just as the small boat from the shore arrives, bringing help. The huge ocean liner is seen dashing towards the rocks, with port-holes aglow with light. The beacon light of the Coffin Rocks breaks forth and as the curtain descends you can see the enormous steamer backing away from danger.

AMONG BLACKFOOTS.

INTERESTING RESULTS OF A BLACK-FOOT ON THE C.P.R.

The Bow River's Work—Imperial Limited Brought to a Standstill—Guests of the C.P.R.—A Detestable First—Bunches of Mushrooms Daily—Sketch of the Blackfoot—Men Thrifty and Women Marvels of Dexterity.

We were aboard No. 1, the C.P.R. westbound, and it was the 4th of July. We pulled into Medicine Hat long after twilight, and were informed by the porter that there was a washout ahead, and we were to lie in the siding all night. The Americans aboard fired their last bunch of firecrackers, and the porter, after the manner of his kind, bundled us all into our berths, and the following morning the C.P.R. did a great and memorable thing. It pulled us one hundred and twenty-five miles west, then tied us up for forty-eight hours at Gleichen, in the heart of the Blackfoot Indian reserve.

No spot on the entire system of the great transcontinental highway could have been of so intense interest and few more beautiful. We had not halted very long when the pride and delight of the true Canadian's heart—the "Imperial Limited"—roared up abait, and in another twelve hours a second "No. 1" stood in to harbor, and then we learned the truth—two bridges down, one struck at Banff, the Imperial Limited, eastbound, tied up the gods alone knew where. Never in the history of the C.P.R. has traffic been so congested, never has the great Imperial Limited ceased its ninety-seven hour career across continent.

That criminal little Bow River has done what saint nor sultan, nor fairy, could never dare to do: it has brought the great ponting transcontinental flyer to a standstill. Traffic had congested but 24 hours when the C.P.R. took us over as its guests. For a week it has "boarded" thousands of transients at the very best hotels, the dining cars, the cafes. The company spared no pains, no money, so long as their patrons could be royally treated. At Gleichen more than six hundred of us were the guests of the C.P.R. for two days. At Calgary 200, at Banff and at Field another five or six hundred—all treated like Princes at the expense of the road, that is, heavily dropping unestimated thousands. One million dollars will hardly cover the loss, and yet every official smiles through it all, and the public are treated with a consideration open-handed enough to almost border on extravagance, and even the over-exacting American tourist remarked loudly that after "free meals" had been declared to the traveling colony at Gleichen, neither service nor menu in the two dining cars "St. Cloud" and "Frogmore" fell off one jot.

But just here a delightful surprise awaited us all, an indecipherable, peevish, who wandered up prairie trails, ever searching for information, discovered mushrooms of that large, luscious, shell-pink variety that only comes from wild stretches of field, and that have a flavor far more delicate and appetizing than those found in the city markets. Buckets, baskets and even hats were requisitioned, and we supplied the dining cars for every meal with these delicacies. The detestable gave us impromptu lectures on edible fungi. He was a man of most extensive information, had traveled the world over and kept his eyes open, but he told us he had never seen such quantities of mushrooms together as these. We gathered bushels of them daily. I hardly think the Indians eat these fungi, or else the enormous camp of Blackfoots would have been up by times and secured our breakfasts while we yet dozed in comfortable berths, for their tepids arose, smoke-stipped and conical, not 500 yards from the siding where we lay. The Indians made a good thing out of the Blackfoot, for the tourists hired horses from them at "a dollar a ride," and even the tender-foot would vault into the Mexican saddle and ride away across the prairie. The sturdy, shaggy, innuys laying their ears and loping away with the long, clean rocking motion, never seen except in the prairie-bred animal. Only one lamentable accident occurred, in the evening, when we had breakfast and horse races. In the latter a fine grey pony, the property of a splendidly handsome blanket and buckskin clad Blackfoot, plunged into a badger hole, fell, and instantly expired. It is time to refute an aspersion too frequently laid upon our wilder Indian tribes of the great west. The prejudiced white man will tell you that the Indians will eat anything, animals that die of disease, unclean portions of meat, etc. The detractors of the redman, and there were plenty of them abroad, assured the crowd that "the Indians will have a great post-mortem, and the head of the dead horse," over the unlucky animal that lay near the track. But the next morning and the next night, and yet another morning came and went, and the horse lay where it had fallen and the Blackfoot braves shook their heads when asked about a "feast."

A goodly collection was taken up for the owner, which reward he deserved, as his steed had expired in making "a white man's holiday."

This identical brave exhibited great appreciation of class distinctions. A curious Chinaman came forth from his car, and a tourist asked the Blackfoot, "Is this your brother?" indicating the Mongolian. Such scorn and hauteur as the reply "No!" expressed, such a lifting of the red chin, and indignant glance, it amazed some, but I was proud of my cousin of the prairie, and of his fine old aristocratic red blood, that has come down through the centuries to pulse in his conservative veins.

We visited the camp; a group of

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Some dozen tepids, neat, orderly and picturesque, were bunched against the southern rim of the prairie. Great herds of fat cattle and excellent ponies grazed near by, for the Blackfoot is a thrifty person, and his wife is a marvel of dexterity in needlework. Beside every tepid was a travois, the peculiar vehicle that supplies the place of a cart. It is a fixture like two shafts, fastened at the lower end by a horizontal pole, firmly lashed in place by deer sinew. An immense amount of duff can be stowed on this contrivance, and when the band "treks" the clothing, utensils, tepids and the smaller children are all packed atop the travois, a horse or dog is harnessed between the shafts, and the cavalcade starts up the trail.

The interior of the tepids was a delight. A fire burned in the centre, the smoke ascending through the apex of the canvas. Beautiful beadwork, buckskin garments, fringed and ornamented elaborately, hung about in profusion. Well-blanketed women cared for tiny children, whose painted cheeks glowed vermilion and yellow in the fire and sun. The gay coloring of the tent, the red of the robe, the sleek, fat herds, the camp fire, and the glorious carpet of coral colored prairie flowers, the over-hanging blue of the territorial skies, the far-off Rockies, with their snowy coronets, made a picture beyond the limitations of the artist's brush or pen, and always and ever the vivid scarlet of the tunics of the mounted Police. We sighed a keen regret when the engine, sounded a long series of whistles to get us aboard, for word had been flashed from Calgary that the Bow River had been conquered and that our 48-hour blockade was broken. E. Pauline Johnson in the Toronto Globe.

A Lady Says:
Paine's Celery Compound
Has Been Worth Hundreds of Dollars to me.

A Happy and Complete Cure After Eighteen Years of Awful Agony.

All weary and disheartened sick people and those who have lost faith in the remedies they have used in the past, because none of them have given indications of cheering results, should now be filled with a strong determination to make use of the one agent of new life that saves hopeless and despairing sufferers after all other agencies and means fail.

The thousands of victims of tormenting neuralgia after reading the testimony of Mrs. G. H. Parker, of Windsor, Ont., must see, that to avoid a continuance of suffering and the possibility of sudden death, it is absolutely necessary to use Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that successfully banishes neuralgia and kindred never diseases. Mrs. Parker says: "I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia for nearly eighteen years, and my sufferings at times were so bad that words fail to describe them. After having tried a host of remedies, I was persuaded to use Paine's Celery Compound. I am happy to say that, I am now a different woman and am completely cured. I can now recommend Paine's Celery Compound; it has been worth hundreds of dollars to me."

Politeness in Mexico.
Gentlemen in Mexico tip hats whenever they see each other, they shake hands whenever they meet and part, they do not consider it bad form to stand in line on the sidewalks and stare at the ladies, they wear their hats in a theater until the curtain rises, and, moreover, they put them on at the audience, and after a separation they embrace and pat each other on the back if they happen to be intimate friends.

They smoke everywhere, even in some theaters. They never carry bundles in the street, but each is attended by a servant, who carries even the smallest packages. They are wonderfully courteous to each other, and two friends will spend a good deal of time in deciding which shall enter a room or carriage first.

Finally, every Mexican gentleman when strolling on a street insists on giving the inside of the walk to his companion as a mark of politeness. This point is quickly decided if there is a difference in station or age, but if there is not, and the two friends go down a street and cross often so that the relative positions are changed, a new discussion as to which shall occupy the inside becomes necessary at every corner.

A Child Bishop.
A curious custom formerly prevailing on St. Nicholas day was the election of a boy to maintain the state and authority of a bishop, for which purpose he was clothed in rich episcopal robes and wore a mitre. Dean Colet, in the statutes of St. Paul's school, expressly ordains that "his scholars should every Childrens (Innocents) day come to Pauls church and hear the child bishop's sermon, and after be at the high mass and each of them offer a penny to the child bishop." On Nov. 13, 1754, the bishop of London ordered that all the churches in his diocese should elect boy bishops to take part in processions in the streets of the metropolis. With the rise of Protestantism this election was suppressed, but the Eton Montom was a continuance under another form. The "boy preacher" was known in England before he came from America.—London Chronicle.

The Quality of Charity.
There probably never was a man or woman who did not occasionally need the charity of those with whom they came in contact, and on hearing a story relating to the silliness or fickleness of some one it is surprising that they do not hope, for the honor of their race, that it is not true, or at least treat it with charitable silence, as they hope to be treated. There never was a great man who paid much attention to gossip; there never was a woman distinguished above her sisters for goodness who was not charitable. You might as well amuse yourself by remarking the ugliness of people as to amuse yourself by remarking their faults and transgressions. We are all faulty enough, heaven knows, and we all have too many faults to warrant us in being surprised at faults in others!

Rapid Army Mobilization.
The finest example of rapid organization of an army was certainly the mobilization of the German army in 1870. On July 17 in that year the famous telegram, the shortest and most concise ever dispatched, "Krieg. Mobil." went forth from the headquarters at Berlin, and within a fortnight an army of 500,000 men, fully uniformed, equipped and provided with commissariat, was on its way to the French frontier. Of course it must be remembered that all these men had been through their period of military training.—London Answers.

Playful Monkeys.
Apes and gorillas are usually vicious and resentful and less addicted to playful tricks than the common monkey. Indeed the monkey, as we all know, is a trickster both in his wild and domestic state. In their native forests they spend hours in swinging from the branches of trees, suspended by their tails, and chattering and grinning with evident signs of delight. Humboldt mentions seeing over a hundred so employed in a South American forest.

Golf to Blame For Her Loneliness.
A fisherman noticed a lonely lady sitting on a rock at North Berwick knitting, and remarked to his companion: "That's a lonesome bodied woman. She sits on that rock a day's eye knitting, she never speaks to a livin' soul; an' auld maid, I suppose."

"Auld maid?" replied the other. "No her; I ken her find. Her man's a gowf!"

White Animals Among the Japanese.
A white fox is often mentioned in the Japanese fables, and a "big serpent" appears in their pictures of Kintou, the god of fortune. Among the Japanese, as among the ancient Greeks and Scythians, white horses were dedicated to the gods and are still attached to the larger temples of the country. The milk and butter of white cows were formerly prized as a medicine.

An Interesting Teacher.
The donkey was trying to explain the Darwinian theory to his class when he observed that they were not paying proper attention. "Boys," he said, "when I am trying to explain to you the peculiarities of the monkey I wish you would look right at me!"

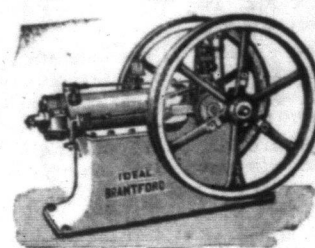

Leave It Out.
There is but one art—to omit. I would ask no other knowledge. A man who knew how to omit would make an "Omit" of a daily paper.—L. Stevenson.

Why Catarrh is Fatal

Because it pours a flood of poisons into the circulation that saps strength and digestion so materially as to render the body incapable of resisting disease, and consumption is the result. Catarrh is quickly cured by Catarrhine, a fragrant germ destroying vapor that goes to root of the disease. It soothes and heals the inflamed mucous surfaces, clears the head and throat, and positively never fails to perfectly cure Bronchitis, Asthma or Catarrh. Nothing is so good for diseases of the respiratory organs as Catarrhine. Large outfit $1. Small size 25c. Druggists, or by mail from Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

WORLD OF SPORT

FOOTBALL

OUT FOR GOOD.

Sandwich having lost to Essex Saturday by the score of 1 to 0, is now out of the race for Peninsula League honors and it is not improbable that they will not finish their remaining games. Essex heads the western circuit, but she has only one more game to play, and that is with Windsor next Saturday. If the local team defeats Essex and Sandwich defaults to Windsor the home club will be in a position to play in the finals. Darrell and Wallaceburg were advertised to play Saturday, but Darrell was given instructions not to play owing to the fact that Wallaceburg defaulted some time ago, and signified her willingness to retire from the league. — Windsor Record.

REGULARS 2; SCRUBS 1.

The Scrubs gave the League team another hard tussle on the football field yesterday afternoon, but this time the city team was out in full force and turned the tables. The game was a close one and well contested. The League team scored first, after about fifteen minutes' play, and it looked very much as if the scrubs were not going to get the ball between the bars, but just three minutes before time of the first half they scored on a pretty shot.

In the last half the regulars secured the lead again by getting another goal. The game continued without further scoring, the Scrubs putting up a good defense game.

Special mention should be made of the playing of Bates and Hutchison at full back, Winters on the halfback, and Anslee and Brundage on the forward line of the scrubs.

For the Regulars, Wilson at full back, Smith in goal, Piotti, and Carter, the Englishman, at half-back, and Sissons on the forward line, put up the strongest game.

Another game will likely be played on Wednesday.

The line-up of yesterday's game was as follows:—

Regulars.
Goal—Smith.
Backs—Coutney, Wilson.
Half-backs—Pigott, Laurier, Carter.
Right Wing—Messer, Backin.
Centre—Sissons.

Scrubs.
Goal—Taylor.
Backs—Hutchison, Bates.
Half-backs—Lawson, Reid, Winters.
Right Wing—Williamson, Brundage.
Centre—Annslee.
Referee—J. D. Lamont.

GALT COMING

Arrangements have been made for a game here with Galt on Friday Nov. 28. The local club has given a good guarantee to the champions and the citizens should back them up for bringing the team here and giving them an opportunity of seeing a first-class game of football. The local team will be strengthened by the best material in the county and the game would be so awfully one-sided as has been imagined. There will be many practice games in the interim, which will do a great deal to strengthen the team. What is wanted is that all the team turn out every night a practice is called for. The city team practices to-morrow night.

A NEW DEPARTURE

It was a bright and happy thought of Rev. Mr. Ophelick, that of coupling a special service and sermon for the old people and the November quarterly meeting love feast afterward, in Park St. Methodist Church Sunday morning. It resulted in one of the largest gatherings, especially of aged ones, in their history, and more than one expects it will be their last love feast until they meet in the eternal love feast above. The whole service was admirably conducted by the pastor. The following took part in testifying, the oldest taking the lead:—

Mr. John McGavin, totally blind, aged 93.
Mr. James Gardiner, aged 83.
Mr. Abram and Mrs. Huff.
Mr. S. Barfoot.
Mr. S. F. and Mrs. Gardiner.
Mr. J. Mounteer.
Mrs. Sarah West.
Mrs. Chapman.
Mrs. Leeson.
Mrs. Tyhurst.
Mrs. Corbett.
Mr. Warren Martin.
Mrs. Forbes.
Mr. John Rice.
Mrs. Young.
Mrs. J. N. Stein.
Mrs. J. R. Reid.
Mrs. G. Schwemler.
Mrs. I. Dolson.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Leek.
Mrs. Towl.
Mrs. Henry Shaw.
Mrs. Thomas Ward.
Mrs. Farley.
Mrs. Morris.
Mrs. Brooks.
J. A. Wilson.
Mr. Collip.
Mrs. Hamill.
Mr. Stephenson.
Mrs. Finley, and others, forty or fifty in all.

Special conveyances brought those who were unable to walk and returned them home afterwards. Such a gathering every three months or so, it is thought, would be greatly appreciated by the young, and the old especially. The bright, beautiful Indian summer day was in complete harmony with the occasion.

A MAN'S WORD.

The greatest liar on earth tells the truth to his doctor. The most truthful man alive is tempted to lie to the assessor.

A SOURCE OF SURPRISE

To Physician and Patient Alike.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the new discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied; this was the more surprising to him, because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine or similar poison could be detected.

Physicians look with great favor upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations and because it is so simple, so easily applied, and contains no mineral or other poisons so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Esbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation.

Mr. J. W. Rollins, of Sweet Springs, Mo., writes: I consider the Pyramid Pile Cure without an equal; it cured me in less than 30 days. I waited 15 days or more before I was fully cured before writing you. I can now say I am cured and I shall recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure at every possible opportunity because it deserves it.

The popularity of this remedy is such, that all druggists now sell it at fifty cents a package, and its sales exceed those of all similar remedies combined.

Write Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., for their book on cause and cure of piles.

Cleanliness.

Cleanliness means more than washing the hands and face and body. It means the keeping of one's surroundings free from influences which would taint the air we breathe, our food and our drink.

Sea Bed Iron.

An enormous quantity of iron, in the shape of old anchors and chains, is annually rescued from the sea. During one period of twelve months as much as 150 tons weight was dredged up on the east coast of England alone.

Ancient Dress Trains.
In 1264 a London priest preached against the fashion of trains, which he said, "trailing behind a woman, raise a dust as high as the altar."

The Rainbow as a Siphon.
In many countries the rainbow is spoken of as being a great bent pump or siphon tube, drawing water from the earth by mechanical means. In parts of Russia, in the Don country, and also in Louisiana and vicinity, it is said that a rainbow which is equivalent to "the bent water pipe."

An Ordinary Shoe.
There are over 100 distinct pieces in the ordinary shoe, including the forty-four parts, the lasting tacks, the heel nails, threads and laces.

Rice Griddlecakes.
Press cup of cold boiled rice through sieve; add tablespoonful butter, melted, and teaspoonful salt; break two eggs into mixture and beat well; add cup milk. Pour this over cup flour; add two teaspoonfuls baking powder. If the batter is too thick, add a little milk. Bake on a hot griddle.

Tricks That Are Old.
Many of the most wonderful feats of magic were known centuries ago. There is a famous trick of making a plant grow instantaneously, for example, which was described in a French paper of the year 1685, but the secret of it was not given.

A Gypsy Scheme.
The gypsies employ a very simple method to check the member of their band of musicians who has to make the collection. They give him a plate to hold in his right hand and a live fly which he has to keep imprisoned in his left hand as he goes around collecting the money.

A Japanese Custom.
At a Japanese banquet it is considered a compliment to exchange cups with a friend.

Panama Insects.
The cattle which draw the mahogany logs in the forests of the isthmus of Panama have to be sprayed with kerosene to destroy the parasites, which are their deadly enemies.

Paint Brushes.
Paint brushes on which the paint has been allowed to harden may be easily cleaned if they are put to soak for a few hours in linseed oil. This will soften the paint, and they can then be rinsed in turpentine until they are clean.

Greek Topknots.
At the time of the Persian wars all Greek men wore long hair tied on the top of the head in a knot and fastened with a hairpin.

Fireflies in Japan.
Fireflies are sold nightly by peddlers in the crowded quarters of Tokyo and other Japanese cities. The insects sell for 3 rin apiece, a rin being equal in value to the twentieth part of a cent.

Catarrh, an excessive secretion from an inflamed mucous membrane, is radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The Core of Our Business

No business firm ever yet got too clever to have little things go wrong occasionally. It wouldn't be human.

We don't claim that this store has quite reached perfection—though we're reaching after it. What we would like every customer of our store to remember is this:—

Every statement made to the customer over our counter and every statement made to the public through our advertising is as true as we can make it. If any article, big or little, should fail to bear out our promise or should prove unsatisfactory in wear, it will be kindness to us to bring the article back and let us make it right.

Please expect this store to redeem its promises as faithfully as any bank in the land.
