CALLED HER HARD NAMES

Another Insulting Language Case in Police Court To-day

Evidence Was Conflicting—Johnson Was Fined $1 and Costs

A bevy of young women, a widow in deep mourning, a colored officer of the law from the East End, and a hackman, formed the line-up in a rather mixed-up case in Police Court this morning, in which Peter Johnson, man-about-town, was the defendant.

Johnson was accused by Mrs. Elizabeth Twigg, of King street east, of using insulting language. According to Mrs. Twigg's evidence, Johnson called her some rather hard names, which would not look very elegant in print. She alleged that these names were reinforced with a number of strong adjectives, the mildest of which was that "she was a dirty old thing." She said that Johnson called her all these names without provocation.

Johnson said in a rather meek tone of voice that he did not remember calling Mrs. Twigg all these names, but he said she persisted in calling him "Jacoway," a name which he disliked very much to be called. Other witnesses who substantiated the evidence given by Mrs. Twigg were Mabel Bowers, Alice Askeil and Albert Kilbraith.

Hackman Reginald Lampard furnished what was probably the most interesting testimony. Questioned by Judge Houston, he admitted having mentioned that the girls in the King street house were sporty. This, the Judge was inclined to think, was the cause of the row.

The evidence was so conflicting that it was almost impossible to arrive at any conclusion as to how the row took place, but according to Officer Thompson's evidence, it appears that it took place at Mrs. Bowers' place on Wellington street. He said he heard Mrs. Twigg calling Johnson by the name "Jacoway," and the latter was quite provoked about it. He told Johnson to go away, and Johnson went.

When Johnson was asked if he had anything further to say, he mumbled something about "being at Mrs. Bowers' place looking after her children, while she went to the show."

Judge Houston—I thought that this was the day that Mrs. Bowers' husband was buried.

Johnson replied that it was a day or so afterwards, and that he was sent out that night for a bottle of whiskey, something he very much disliked to do, as it was contrary to his moral ideas.

Judge Houston fined Johnson $1 and the costs. It is likely that another case arising out of this one will come up later on.

Mrs. Twigg was the only witness who gave evidence that anything definite could be made out from. She was quite stylishly dressed, and her fingers glittered with costly rings.

Peaker, the young colored boy, who was tried and found guilty of stealing a boiler from Mrs. Simpson's place on Colborne street, was up this morning and sentenced to six months in Central. It seems that there were two other charges of theft against him previously.

The three young boys who were charged with breaking into the Pere Marquette car, were tried privately this morning. The case was heard behind closed doors on account of the extreme youth of offenders.

R. L. Brackin appeared for the defendants, and Crown Attorney H. D. Smith presented. The parents of two of the boys settled the case by paying the costs, while the third young lad will come up this afternoon.

A young English emigrant, named Les. Gildert, brought a case against Caleb Wheeler, claiming that the latter owed him $5 back wages.

It appears that when Mr. Wheeler hired the young man it was with the understanding that Gildert was an experienced butcher. His contract was $5 a week and board. Afterwards it was found out that Gildert could not do the work properly, and it seems he spoiled a couple of carcasses, which as a result were refused by the down-town butchers. When Gildert's time was up, Mr. Wheeler paid him $20. Gildert claimed that there was $25 owing to him, as he had worked for five weeks. Mr. Wheeler's foreman testified that Gildert was not a competent butcher.

Judge Houston, however, said that the law was against Mr. Wheeler, no matter how incompetent the workman was, and he gave judgment in favor of the complainant for $5 and the costs, in all amounting to $9.15. The Judge said that Mr. Wheeler should have discharged Gildert the first week, otherwise he was liable for the full amount of the contract.

TO BE A REDUCTION IN ELECTRIC LIGHT BILLS

The citizens will learn with a great deal of pleasure that the Chatham Gas Company are contemplating a reduction in the price of electric light, to go into effect on the 1st of July. Manager P. S. Coats made this interesting and gratifying announcement this morning. Since the installation of natural gas at the Electric Light Station a great saving has been made in the matter of fuel, and the company are in a position to produce the electric light at a much smaller cost than formerly. They intend to give their patrons the benefit of this saving.

This is another great benefit which this city derives from securing a supply of natural gas. This will mean much to Chatham, and will prove another inducement to cause more people to come here. This city is waking up in the matter of municipal improvement. Everything is shaping towards helping along the boom, and if the present activity is kept up, the effect will soon be noticeable to all.

MR. AND MRS. T. PREMEAU HAVE GOLDEN WEDDING

The following appeared in a recent issue of the Windsor Record:

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Premeau, 4 Windsor avenue, celebrated their golden wedding Tuesday by a family reunion. They were married in Chatham on June 4, 1857, and lived there before removing to Windsor about eighteen years ago. Mr. Premeau has been a life-long Liberal, and could teach some of the younger party privy to some things about politics. He is on the clerking staff of J. A. Diebel, the dry goods merchant. The following are the surviving children: Mrs. William Jacques, Alfred Premeau, Mrs. W. Lloyd, W. D. Premeau, Mrs. J. Walker, Mrs. Herbert Northwood, Jason Premeau, and Miss Eva, at home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Premeau are well known in this city, and their many friends join in congratulations and good wishes.

MANY PEOPLE ATTEND SPLENDID SONG SERVICE

A very fine song service was given in the First Presbyterian church last evening. In the absence of the pastor, who is attending the Presbyterian General Assembly in Montreal, Rev. Timothy Wesley, of Newmarket, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening. At the evening service a splendid program of music was given by the choir. Besides an excellent anthem, a vocal solo was given by Wilfrid Smith, a violin selection by Mr. Gordon, and a quartet selection by the First Church male quartet. There was a very large congregation, and the services were immensely enjoyed and appreciated.

Rev. Mr. Wesley is a young preacher and is a thoughtful and eloquent speaker, and he gave two excellent addresses. He has just graduated, and judging from the merit of his sermons yesterday, he has a brilliant future before him.

COMPLIMENTARY BANQUET

The Masonic Fraternity of this city will, on Tuesday evening, ten o'clock, a complimentary farewell banquet to E. W. Bro. George B. Crumb, Past District Deputy Grand Master, who is leaving on Wednesday for Niagara Falls. A committee from Wellington Lodge, Parthenon Lodge and Wellington Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, has the matter in hand. W. Bro. George Massey will preside over the toast list.

STORY OF THE BIBLE

The Young Peoples Society of the William street Baptist church announces what promises to be an interesting and informing series of addresses on "The Story of the Bible," by the new pastor of the church, Mr. W. E. Matthews, B. A. The purpose of the course of lectures will be to trace, in outline, the long journey of the Bible from its earliest beginnings down to the present Revised Version, and to deal with some of the biblical problems which are before the public to-day. The first of the series will be given to-night in the school room of the church, when the public will be cordially welcome.

THE NEW OFFICERS

At a largely attended meeting of Chatham Tent, No. 8, Knights of the Maccabees, held Friday evening in the lodge room, the following officers were elected for the semi-annual term, commencing July 1st: P. C.—R. O. Springer. Com.—Alex. Jacques. Lieut. Com.—Geo. Pritchard. Rec. Keeper—G. W. Sulman. Physician—J. S. Agar, M. D. Chap.—Chas. Montague. Sergt.—R. A. Scott. M. at A.—Peter Sutton. Sentinel—B. TO SELECT A SITE FOR THE BRASS WORKS

Robert Gray, President of the Chatham Board of Trade, has informed The Planet that he has received a communication from Cornelius Bros. of Grand Rapids, to the effect that they will be here on Wednesday to select a site for the proposed new Canadian Wolverine Brass Works. President Gray has expressed himself strongly in favor of having the new factory located in North Chatham, and he desires any property owners who have suitable property for sale to send in their names to Ald. W. H. Westman, chairman of the Industrial Committee, at once, so that they may be considered on Wednesday.

There are many reasons why it is desirable to have this factory located on the north side of the river, as suggested by Mr. Gray. It is quite desirable that factories should be located along the line of the Electric Railway. It is hoped that Cornelius Bros. will find it to their advantage to locate in this part of the city.

DON'T SUE YOUR GIRL FOR PRESENTS

Windsor, June 5.—Judge Clement has decided that George Murray, a young man of this city, had no cause of action against a young woman against whom he brought suit to recover $44 worth of presents given her during their courtship, which ended in a quarrel.

The judge held that the girl is under age, and the fact that she wrote a letter offering reconciliation at the time of the quarrel was sufficient to show that she was willing to carry out her promise to marry Murray.

A FINE PROGRAM FOR WEST KENT FAIR

A meeting of the directors of the West Kent Agricultural Society was held Saturday afternoon in the Secretary's office. The principal business done was the revision of the prize list for the Fall Fair. The directors purpose increasing the prizes in all the different lines, and particularly so in the stock line. This will attract outside exhibitors to come to the Fair. They also instructed the committee on Attractions to negotiate for an elaborate program, and have placed at their disposal the sum of $1,000. This will undoubtedly bring better attractions than heretofore have ever exhibited in this city, and the Fall Fair of this year will be one worth attending.

CHATHAM GOING AHEAD

On Wednesday a by-law to grant lease of $2,000 to the Wolverine Brass Goods Manufacturing Company of Grand Rapids, Mich., was carried at Chatham by an overwhelming majority. This company will now establish in Chatham a large plant for the manufacture of plumbers' supplies, to be completed and in running order by January 1, 1908. They will give employment to 100 workmen. Chatham evidently did not make the mistake made in St. Thomas when the "go-cart by-law" was submitted—that of neglecting canvassing and organization.—St. Thomas Times.

PORTERFIELD WAS STRONG

A very interesting game of singles was played on the bowling green of the Deacons Park on Saturday, between Robert Porterfield, of Ridgetown, and R. G. Fleming. Fleming claimed that he could beat Porterfield and went into the game with the greatest confidence. To make things more interesting, the sum of five dollars was put up by John Lee, the winner to take the money. Fleming was ahead until the last four ends, after which he began to go back, and his opponent went to the front. The game resulted in favor of Porterfield, in which he was three ahead. Mr. Fleming would like very much to play another match in the near future.

DECIDE BETWEEN EXPERTS

The city of Chatham has asked the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board to solve a problem which has arisen in connection with the lighting of its streets. The Chatham Gas Company has offered to light the streets for $60 a light per annum. The municipality has two reports from experts on the cost of enlarging the city electric lighting system to meet present requirements. One of these estimates the expense at $69.55 per light per annum, the other at $57.44. The Board is asked to decide which report is most accurate.—Mail and Empire.

Alex. Eady, the man who was charged with ill-treating a horse belonging to Liveryman Lampard, was up this morning. He was dismissed, there being no evidence to prove that he was criminally liable. The Judge gave him quite a calling down for not interfering when the man Edwards over-drove the horse.

People Who Sell Incubator Eggs Endanger The Public

Correspondent Points Out That Practice is a General One

The Planet is in receipt of the following letter, which is worthy of the widest publicity:

Dear Planet,—We wish to warn our fellow citizens, if they are not already aware of the fact, that eggs that have been in the incubator for from 70 to 90 hours, are taken out, and if they then show no signs of being fertile are then sold to consumers in the city.

We submit that eggs subjected to the heat of an incubator for such a length of time are unfit for human food, at least people of fastidious tastes may be pardoned if they feel some qualms about eating such an article.

Trusting this letter may check the detestable practice, we remain,

Yours,
BEN. BUMPS,

MANY PEOPLE WERE DROWNED

Typhoon and Tidal Wave Destroy Hundreds of Lives

Fifteen Hundred Persons Homeless—275 Natives Killed

San Francisco, June 10.—The first details of the havoc wrought by a typhoon and tidal wave in the Caroline Islands in March reached here Saturday.

The Ouel group was devastated, the land being buried under sand. Fifteen hundred persons were made homeless, and 250 were drowned on one island alone.

Twenty-five persons were lost on another. The typhoon lasted three days. Hundreds of natives saved themselves by swimming about until the tidal wave subsided.

AN ARTISTIC SINGER

Samuel I. Slade, the popular basso of Detroit, gave a couple of fine solos during the service in St. Andrew's church yesterday. Mr. Slade has a remarkable deep powerful voice, and he is very popular among Chatham lovers of good singing. His solos were much appreciated by a very large congregation.

This church is fortunate in having especially bright and attractive musical services. The large choir is in excellent form and their singing adds greatly to the success of the services each Sunday.

Mr. Slade arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and during the day he was the guest of Mr. James Scott Gray, William street.

A BIG CELEBRATION

Hugh Gallagher, of the local Organizers, is receiving encouraging reports from the different fedges which are expected here on the 12th of July. There is a big celebration to be held in this city on that date, and from the present outlook, it will be the most successful one ever held in Chatham.

Mr. Gallagher has received word that three lodges from Michigan intend to come and assist in the proceedings of the day. Reduced rates are being given on all of the railroads, and all that is needed now is fine weather.

Good Reports From West.

Winnipeg, June 10.—The C.N.R. crop bulletin bears good news. The reports from all the districts state that all the wheat is seeded, and the acreage sown is about the same as last year, though, if anything, it is a little more.

The wheat is about 3 inches high in nearly all the districts, and there has been plenty of rain all over, so that the wheat is in excellent condition.

All the coarse grains have not yet been sown, but the work is going on well.

The farmers are very optimistic about the outlook, and say that this year's crop presents a better appearance and is further advanced than the crop of last year was at this time.

COUNTY COUNCIL IS CONCLUDED

Vote Of Thanks Is Passed to Warden Somers Of Wallaceburg

Assessed And Equalized Values for Municipalities For 1907

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The County Council resumed at 3 o'clock, all members being present. The Poole Publishing Company of Toronto requested an order for copies of the statutes.—Finance.

The Chatham Gas Company applied for a contract to heat Harrison Hall with gas.—Property.

Chairman Buchanan, of the Roads and Bridges committee, reported as follows:

That all grants towards roads and bridges this year be refused.

That a grant of $75, made in 1903 to the village of Thamesville, be received on the original conditions.

That the grant of $100 to the line between Romney and Tilbury East, which was received at the January session, be changed to be spent east of the Three Government drain.

That Chatham Township Council be granted $50 towards the expense of swinging the Tapperville bridge.

That the Dresden Town Council be granted $200 towards the repairs and maintenance of Dresden bridge.

That the usual grant of $200 be made towards the maintenance of the Wallaceburg bridge.

That a grant of $50 be made to improve the approaches of the bridges north of the village of Wheatley, on the county line, between Kent and Essex, to meet a like amount granted by Essex in the January session of 1907, and that Mr. Robinson be the commissioner to expand the Kent grant.

That a special grant of $50 be made to assist in purchasing two boats to be used as ferries across the river at Louisville, and that Mr. Abram be appointed to see that the boats are constructed and that payment be made upon his report.

That the following accounts be paid: W. Stokes $4, D. E. Wallace $17.16. Township of Zone amount of conditional grant made in 1906, to be paid when certificate of Bothwell's share of expenditure is put in, $100.00.

This report was adopted.

The following report was submitted by Mr. Peats:

That an equalization basis be adopted the same as in the year 1906; that if any one of the municipalities appeal against this basis of assessment, that it be brought before the county judge for equalization, and that the Clerk is hereby instructed to carry out the proposition to be raised by each municipality, so as to have the same ready for adoption by this Council at the present session.

This report brought forth considerable heated discussion. Mr. McLarty objected to the report on the grounds that it was illegal. He moved that no action be taken with regard to it. His motion was lost.

Mr. Peats claimed that he had the advice of County Solicitor Walker on the matter, and the report as it stood was not in any way illegal. He moved for its adoption, but the warden did not put the motion.

Mr. Peats persisted, and objected to the Warden's action in not putting the motion.

The Warden—if Mr. Peats does not care to carry out this work as the Council desire, he can resign his position.

Mr. Peats—I have interviewed the Solicitor, and I am in the right.

After a great deal of delay, the Warden finally called for the vote, and the motion was carried.

Mr. McLarty called for the yeas and nays.

Yeas—Messrs. Abraham, Badder, Buchanan, Crawford (Dover), Crawford (Tilbury), Ferguson, Greene, Irving, Irwin, Johns, Rankin, Ribble, Somers, Wickmans—14.

Nays—Messrs. Brien, Clark, Dilworth, Graham, McLarty, Peats, Robinson—7.

The peculiar feature of this vote was, that Mr. Peats voted against his own motion.

The Warden questioned this action on his part, to which Mr. Peats replied that the report was irregular.

The Warden—But I thought you said you had interviewed the County Solicitor?

Mr. Peats—I beg your pardon; I did not consult him on this matter, but I did consult him as to my duties as a Councillor, and I was told that it was not necessary for me to act as clerk, and I don't propose to do so henceforth. The County Solicitor is present, and I will refer the matter to him if you wish.

"Reading of by-laws" announced the Warden, and the matter was dropped.

County Solicitor Walker was later called on for his opinion, and said that under certain conditions there should be no difficulty in reducing the assessment of each party of the municipalities.

Mr. Rankin, for the special committee on the Jeannette's Creek bridge, submitted an agreement with Joseph E. Thomas, to run a ferry over the river at or near Peatrie Siding for the convenience of pedestrians and vehicles each day during the week, free of charge to all parties, at a salary of $55 per year.

The agreement was ratified by the Council.

It was moved by Messrs. Johns and Greene, that Crown Attorney H. D. Smith be heard within the bar as to whether he has any complaints to make about this Council.—Carried.

It was moved by Mr. W. C. Crawford and Mr. Denholm, that a grant of $25 be made to each Public Library maintaining a reading room.—Finance.

It moved by Messrs. W. C. Crawford and Graham, that the Council petition the Government to have an engineer investigate the feasibility and cost of erecting a bridge over the river on the town line between Raleigh and Tilbury.—Roads and Bridges.

The County Treasurer's report was read and referred to the Finance committee.

SATURDAY MORNING.

The Council resumed at 10.45. They were addressed by J. S. Fraser, of Wallaceburg, in reference to appointing a Child committee to the Mimico Industrial School some years ago by Magistrate McDougall, of Wallaceburg. The magistrate had assumed to charge its maintenance, $1.25 per week, to the town. Mr. Fraser quoted the statutes to show that this sum was chargeable to the County. There is now a claim of $38 due to Wallaceburg from the County. He asked that the matter be referred to the County solicitor. The matter was referred to the Finance committee to consult with the County solicitor.

A communication was received from Wallaceburg drawing the attention of the Council to the maintenance of Wallaceburg bridges.—Roads and Bridges.

Mr. W. C. Crawford read the report of the Finance committee, making the following recommendations: That no action be taken with regard to the motion that the inmates of the County House of Refuge be maintained by the County instead of by the various municipalities.

That an additional grant of $50 be made to each of the Agricultural societies of this County, making a total of $100 to each for the year 1907.

That a grant of $25 be made to each of the Public Libraries maintaining a reading room in connection therewith, this amount to be granted in addition to the $25 already granted to Public Libraries.

The report also recommended the payment of a grant of small accounts. This report, on motion, was adopted.

Mr. Denholm, for the Education committee, brought in the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That the reports of the P. S. Inspectors of East and West Kent be adopted, and that the same be printed with the minutes.

That we have received the account of the Leamington High school for $108.85, as the County's share for maintaining the Kent County pupils. We find that there are two pupils wrongfully charged to this County: Ada Hanson, of Wheatley, a resident of Essex; and Wm. Tamblin, of Lonsdale, in Huron County. We recommend that this account be sent back for correction accordingly, and on this being done, that the Warden and Clerk have power to pay the account.

COUNTY COUNCIL CONCLUDES.

The concluding session of the Kent County Council was held in their chambers in Harrison Hall Saturday afternoon, all members being present.

Mr. Peats brought in his amended report on equalization of assessment, which recommended that the Council adopt the equalized value of the different municipalities, as shown in last year's schedule, as revised Friday, June 7, 1907, except in the changes in the different towns and villages, as follows:

Camden $50,000 added.

Harwich $300,000 decreased.

Howard $200,000 decreased.

Raleigh $250,000 decreased.

Tilbury Village $50,000 added.

Wallaceburg $400,000 added.

The total amount to be raised by County vote, $35,000.

The amount to be raised for school grants per Public School Act at the rate of one hundredth part of a mill on the dollar, is as follows:

Camden, $128.83.

Chatham, $314.14.

Dover, $219.39.

Harwich, $355.53.

Howard, $239.25.

Orford, $147.55.

Raleigh, $276.19.

Romney, $80.87.

Tilbury East, $146.26.

Zone, $58.56.

The report was adopted.

Mr. P. Crawford, of Dover, brought in a report for the committee on Petitions and Legislation, recommending that the Clerk be empowered to petition the Government to send an engineer to report on the probable cost of erecting a bridge at Peatrie Siding. The report was adopted.

Mr. Rankin brought in a report on the County House of Refuge, giving a list of stock, grain, etc., on hand, and recent improvements at the institutions. The report was adopted.

The following is a schedule showing the assessed and equalized values of the assessment rolls for the County for the year 1907:

BLENHHEIM

Blenheim, June 8.—Mrs. C. L. Von Gunten entertained at cards last Thursday evening.

The Blenheim life and drum band had their first practice for the 12th of July celebration last night.

Miss Edna Fellows, who has been at Erieau for some time, is spending a few days in town.

There has been quite a number of touring cars pass through Blenheim lately, some of which were most elegant.

An interesting game of baseball was played last night by Blenheim vs. Cedar Springs, on the latter's grounds, in which Blenheim came out best by one point, the score being—Blenheim 5, Cedar Springs 4.

Dr. C. B. Langford is having extensive alterations made to his verandah this week, which, when finished, will be a great improvement to his fine residence.

A very enjoyable evening with Drummond was spent in the basement of the Methodist church last night. A program of selections from the author for the evening were interspersed by local members. Altogether those present spent a very pleasant and instructive evening.

It seems too bad that the Pere Marquette railroad cannot be a little obliging and give a more reasonable service re Erieau this summer.

As it is a great many cottagers will find it impossible to go to Erieau for the season as they cannot come and go to suit their business arrangements.

Occasionally one has the fortune to meet women who are ideal in looks and figure. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred you will find she takes Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Tea or Tablets, 35 cents.

WORLD'S HORSES ARRIVING.

Collection of Equine Beauties Gathered in London For Show.

Lovers of beautiful horses will note with pleasure the growth of the interest in the great international horse show, Olympia, which exceeds even the ardent dreams of the organizers. By June 7 London will see the best horses of the world. Stabling will have to be found for over 1,000 horses outside Olympia.

Excitement about the show is expressed in scores of cablegrams from all over the world. The Canadian Government is making an official grant so that their horses may be worthily represented. The Ministers for War in Belgium and France have given special leave to officers to wear uniform in the riding and jumping competitions, and very attractive some of the light blue uniforms will look. A number of fine jumpers and harness horses are arriving from Spain and Belgium. From Paris, M. Roy, one of the most famous dealers in the world, is sending sixteen carriage horses; and M. Thoms, the millionaire, known for his incomparable "turn-outs" every Parisian, has entered many singles and pairs.

The American and Canadian entries are not yet complete. But besides Mr. Vanderbilt's troupe of twenty-seven, Mr. Armour is sending his six splendid greys, which are the champion draught—not, as has been said, park—horses of America, and they will be conspicuous by the fact that they are fitted into their harness. They will compete with the splendid teams owned especially by English breeders, of whom Mr. Watney's will be among the best.

But even apart from the international element, the show will be incomparably the finest and most representative collection of English and Irish horses ever seen anywhere. Not single well-known stable is unrepresented, and those who are rather foolishly afraid that the show will be too spectacular for serious horsemen may calm their fears on this score.

It was said at first that the price of the boxes was prohibitive, but over one-third have been already taken, each for the whole week, and the American colony, it is said, are determined to make of the occasion as great a social success as the Madison Square shows, in which, however, horses are applied to come rather a long way after diamonds in general interest.

Among competitors new to English people will be the horn-blowing, and many points are to be given in certain classes for smartness of harness, coach and livery, on which the Americans spend the minutest care. Between 27,000 and 28,000 horses are given in prizes, and that English horses will have a large share of the triumph may be expected.

NEW LANDS FOUND.

Result of Surveyor's Trip North of Prince Albert.

The more we know about Canada the more we realize that its resources have hitherto been entirely underestimated. In one of the first numbers of the Prince Albert Advocate to reach eastern Canada after the recent railway blockade, there is an interesting article covering the trip of Mr. J. N. Wallace, D. L. S., who left Prince Albert in May, 1906, to survey the fourteenth baseline running north of township 52 and who returned to Prince Albert at the end of the following March after about eight months in the north. Interviewed by an Advocate reporter, Mr. Wallace said his party experienced considerable difficulty through large muskies in the summer and deep snows in winter, and of the fourteen pack ponies with which he started out only five survived. He found several considerable errors in the location of lakes and rivers in the unsurveyed territory as shown on existing maps, and in one case this got him out of a serious difficulty.

Shortly before the freeze-up he was, according to the old maps, about 25 miles from the Hudson Bay post at Pasquia Mountains and 23 from Birch Island. The nearest food supply was at the post, and there was no fodder nearer than a cache on Birch Island. The camp was reduced to such straits that the food meant the starvation of the horses, and to return for fodder a similar fate for the men. Mr. Wallace decided to sacrifice the horses and started out for the Hudson Bay post, which he suddenly came upon in township 52, range 7, instead of in 53, range 4, as he had expected. The post being 16 miles nearer than was known saved a journey of 90 miles, and Birch Island was reached in time to save the horses. Indian Reserve 29A is close to the post and is on the maps shown 16 miles east of its true position.

After running the 14th baseline from the third to the second meridian, Mr. Wallace went north to the Carleton river and ran the meridian from there to the Saskatchewan, a distance of only about 16 miles. He made the return trip to Prince Albert almost in a straight line, via Fort la Corne, his pack ponies traveling 160 miles in nine days.

Mr. Wallace passed through large forests of spruce and tamarack on the line and he states that he found the Pasquia Mountains to be 1,500 feet high. During the whole period of absence the party only lost two weeks' time. There was a good deal of excellent agricultural land seen about Birch Lake and on the Cande Lake trail.

One and a Million.

"That's the first time I ever sold a single envelope," said the young woman at a big stationer's store in the city's center. "I've always sold them in packages, but that gentleman came in with a letter in his hand and asked for an envelope, and I sold him one for a cent. I imagine that's the smallest sale that has been made in this establishment since it opened. The biggest I ever made happened to be in the envelope line too. A rather roughly dressed man came in, asked to see our envelopes and wanted to know the price by the thousand. I told him. Then he asked the price by the million. I got the figures from our manager, who smiled as he gave them to me. Yet the man ordered a million envelopes, and when we asked for reference he said he would as lief pay the bill on the spot, which he did from a roll of yellow bank notes about the size of a loaf of bread. We delivered the envelopes, but haven't seen the purchaser since."

A Square Deal

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for external and internal use than the medicinal alcohol of the ordinary preparations. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in its treatment of all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stage it will yield to its soothing remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery," to use the "Golden Medical Discovery" treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy. It soothes the inflamed mucous membrane, relieves the irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Dis" is not so good to do acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

The Discipline of Delay.

God's best gifts come slowly. We could not use them as he wants us to use them if they did not. Many a man who is called of God to the doing of a work in which he is pouring out his life, and rightly so, comes to God means to bring that work to abundant success, nevertheless grows discouraged at times and chafes that "results" do not come. But growth and strength in waiting are results, greater results often than the end that is so impatiently longed for. No one who has ever done real great things for God did them quickly. Paul had time to realize this as he lay in prison; Moses must have wondered "why" many times during the delays in Midian and the wilderness. Jesus, himself experienced the discipline of delay in his thirty silent years. God means to send us that success in his work that we so eagerly pray for. But He cannot send it until the blessing of waiting has first fitted us to use the latter blessing aright when it comes. Our acceptance of this preliminary blessing determines our receiving of that for which we wait.

Fen Country Speaks.

South Lincolnshire has its haunted house. It is situated at Marton, and for some time past the occupiers, it is said, have been disturbed at nights by unaccountable rappings at the doors and windows. Up to the present the cause is an absolute mystery. One evening three distinct knocks were heard at the front door, but upon the tenant proceeding to open it no one was there. Shortly afterwards the knockings were repeated. The same thing occurred on subsequent nights, and the village policeman selected himself to watch and see if anyone was playing a prank. While he was thus engaged the knocks were frequently heard, and so loud occasionally that they were audible to the next-door neighbour. On one occasion the tapping came to the door while the policeman stood by, and when there was absolutely nothing to reveal the cause of it. All attempts to unravel the mystery have proved in vain. The house has become notorious, and many people have visited it with the object of hearing the supernatural tapping for themselves.

A Quick Wit.

Husband—Did you notice how ill tempered my colleague was this evening? He was annoyed because I have brought you a new set of jewelry. Now he will have to get a new set for his wife too. Wife—A disagreeable fellow that man is! If I were you, I would annoy him often.

Real Distinction.

"Is Mr. Scadda a man of scientific distinction?" "Yes, indeed," answered Miss Cayenne. "He has so many college degrees that when he sends in his card you can't be sure whether it is his name or a problem in algebra."—London Tit-Bits.

Worse Time to Call.

Doesn't it embarrass you to have somebody call when you are taking a bath? Yes, but it sometimes embarrasses me more to have somebody call when I am trying to take a jacket.

ANCIENT COUNTERFEITERS.

It is difficult to think of counterfeiters in connection with the golden days of Charles I., but a recent discovery of old coins in the well which is being excavated in the ruins of Scarborough Castle, England, seems to prove that they not only existed at that time, but were frequently in danger from the officers of the law.

The find in question consisted of a large mass of copper or brass strips, two of which coins had been punched, together with a number of imperfectly struck coins. The discovery took place at a distance of 90 feet from the surface of the ground.

H. A. Grueber, the keeper of the coins at the British Museum, to whom a portion of the find was sent, pronounced them to be incomplete farthings of the reign of Charles I. issued between 1626 and 1630. It appears that the coins were struck in a die which was granted by King Charles to the Dowager Duchess of Richmond and Sir Francis Crane, who no doubt made a considerable profit on the monopoly. The result of this monopoly seems to have been that extensive forgeries were made, and the British Museum's expert is of opinion that the coins found during the excavations at Scarborough Castle are forgeries struck at the time, and that in all probability they were thrown down the well to escape detection.

From the Dim Past.

There have just been placed on exhibition in the Egyptian galleries of the British Museum a select few of the Egyptian inscriptions recently discovered in the Sinaic peninsula. One of the most interesting is a sandstone stele and altar set up by Sebek-heb, an overseer of the Royal apartments, and a subordinate official named Kosen, who were attached to the Royal Chancery. The tablet, which is dated in the forty-fourth year of Amen-hat III., about B. C. 2000, is of red sandstone, and contains an inscription in which a prayer is offered to Athor, the "lady of the turquoise land," by which name the Sinaic peninsula was known to the ancient Egyptians. There is also the lower portion of a statue of Usarenes II., B. C. 2333, dedicated to Hathor by the King's officials stationed in Sinai, and the lower portion of a seated figure of Hathor, dedicated to the goddess of Seneferu, a captain of the boats in the reign of Amen-hat III. The objects were discovered at Serabit-el-Khadim in the Sinaic peninsula, and were presented to the British Museum by the Egypt Exploration Fund.

A Weather Stone.

There exists a stone which, it is said, unflinchingly foretells the changes in the weather. The stone was found in Finland many years ago by an explorer and has since been watched by scientists with great interest. It presents a white, mottled appearance in sunshine, gradually turning from gray to black as a rainstorm approaches. The stone is composed of clay, water and rock salt. In dry weather the salt in the stone is prominent, but when the air is filled with moisture the salt absorbs the moisture and turns black, thus forming the barometer.

A Tip to Him.

"Of course," said the long winded bore, "it's essential that a man should weigh his words when speaking."

"Yes, and for some," remarked Poppy, "it's well not to give such generous measure."

Twenty-Nine Lives Lost—Whole Village Almost Wiped Out

Chicago, June 10.—Twenty-nine known dead and forty persons injured constitute the list of casualties resulting from storms of wind and rain which swept over Southern Illinois and Indiana and Central Kentucky Saturday night and yesterday. These fatal visitations came in the shape of cloudbursts, high winds and electrical disturbances. The property damage is many thousands of dollars. Houses were swept away, bridges demolished and thousands of acres of growing crops destroyed.

Gradyville was the worst sufferer, twenty-one persons being drowned or crushed by falling houses.

The disaster was due to the erratic behavior of Big Creek, which was already swollen by recent rains. When the cloudburst precipitated 6 inches of rain in an hour on Gradyville and vicinity, the creek took a new course, with the force of a tidal wave.

Inhabitants of Gradyville were nearly all in bed when the foaming waters struck the town carrying away six residences, a mill and a number of small houses. Nearly all the victims were drowned, but four were crushed by the collapse of dwellings.

Gradyville is a village of 175 inhabitants in Adair County, six miles from Columbia, and 187 miles from the nearest railroad station.

At New Minden, Ill., a tornado killed five persons and injured six others.
At York, Ill., three persons were killed and thirty injured by a tornado which descended on the town

THE "CODY" Natural Gas Lights

We have been fortunate enough to secure the agency for these celebrated inverted natural gas lights and we can safely say that no gas light has ever been produced that gives such genuine satisfaction as these.

W. J. Bennett's store is now the most brilliantly-lighted store in Chatham, thanks to the "Cody" lights, and the cost of lighting his store has been reduced to about one-tenth of the former cost.

We will have a full stock during the coming week, and shall be glad to show them to you, or, better still, place one or more with you on trial.

TO DEMAND AN APOLOGY.

Japs To See If Indemnity Can Be Secured.

Washington, June 10.—That the Japanese of the Pacific coast and the Progressives, a political party of Japan, have entered into an alliance which has the earmarks of an international conspiracy, with the overthrow of the present ministry in Japan and the annulment of the clause in the immigration bill excluding Japanese coolie labor from continental United States, as the ultimate object, was learned authoritatively here yesterday.

The preliminary steps in this scheme, it is said, will be to induce the Tokio Government to recall Viscount Alki, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, and to demand an apology, and, perhaps, an indemnity from the American Government for the alleged acts of violence against Japanese subjects residing in San Francisco.

FRANCE AT THE HAGUE.

Question of Limitation of Armaments Doomed to Be Shattered.

Paris, June 10.—The press in general approves of the prudent tone of the definition of France's position at the coming peace conference at The Hague, made Saturday in the Chamber of Deputies by Foreign Minister Pichon, and agrees that there is little prospect of accomplishing anything definite on the question of the limitation of armaments, which is considered illusory.

M. Honnataux, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, and one of the greatest French authorities on diplomatic relations, in an article in a weekly review, says that compulsory arbitration or the limitation of armaments is a magnificent ideal doomed to be shattered.

MASSANOGA

A lake shaped something like a pair of spectacles, rather a pair of lakos joined by a passage some few feet wide. A lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe along its shores. Beautiful woods all round, full of native life, unspoiled and largely untrodden. And, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga.

"The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fully enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadow nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to find. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so homelike is it—the hotel feeling lasts no longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga; and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon-trout.

Massanoga is a resort recently discovered, and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not out of touch of civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters and all the fascinations of a primitive region combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kalamarg, 150 miles east of Toronto on the C. P. R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto.

Reduced rates to Detroit and return, going every Saturday and Sunday, returning up to Monday night, was $1.60, is now $1.50. C. P. R. are also making rate of $1.00 going every Thursday, good to return until following evening. For further information ask C. P. R. ticket agent, corner of King and Fifth streets.

Mindard's Liniment—Lumberman's Friend.

The Policy Of Peter.

By CECILIA A. LOIZEAUX. Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

When Walter Leighton brought Peter home and laid him tenderly in his wife's arms, she rose to the occasion nobly, though a dog was the last thing on the earth for which she had any desire. But she saw in one quick glance that Walter was bringing her a gift that he considered a fine one, and she was a woman who never did things by halves.

So she listened with respect to the list of doggy's ancestors and gravely considered the markings, though she knew not one from another. But when he reached the price, $25, she remembered that supper was waiting. Later that evening when she was making the unhappy, shrinking little beast a warm bed in the dining room Mary Leighton said disrespectful words in a loving tone that caused the pup to lick her hand and cease his whimpering for the moment.

"You ornery, red eyed, bow legged, stabled little brute!" she cooed. "If I'd known you were coming I'd have got in a previous bid for that lovely hat at Mason's. I didn't say anything about it to Walter because I thought he couldn't afford it, and here he has gone and wasted $25 on you!" And then because the pup was small and helpless and soft and she was a woman she got up twice in the night to feed it warm milk and lush its whimpering.

And so in time she learned to love him and called him Peter and bragged about him to Mrs. Carey, who was her nearest neighbor and who did not love Peter at all. Mrs. Carey said it was because he chased her pet chickens to death and chewed up the dish towels which blew from the line on wash day, but Mrs. Leighton whispered into Peter's ear, with a knowing smile, that it was because Mrs. Carey was jealous since her husband had not bought her a dog.

There never had been any very marked cordiality between the two young married couples. The men came and went to their business on the same terms and would have been good friends probably, having the same tastes in tobacco and politics, but that each man was uncomfortably aware that his wife wished he wouldn't.

After the advent of Peter, especially after he began to grow into an age of mischievous intelligence, the neighborly relations slowly died away until at the beginning of summer there was a very thinly veiled hostility. The two houses, alike as two peas and built by a corporation, were divided by a wide strip of emerald lawn, carefully watered and clipped by the two men after work at night and early in the morning. There was between the front porches a distance just great enough so that ordinary conversation on one porch could not be heard on the other.

When Peter, having chased home a wandering hen, would return with a self satisfied leer on his ugly face to his mistress, Mrs. Carey, running into the back yard to see why her hens were squawking, would catch a ripple of laughter from Mrs. Leighton and see her pull Peter's stubby ears affectionately. Being just out of earshot, she could get only the caressing tones of Mrs. Leighton's voice; but, being a woman, she could very well guess what kind of a scolding Peter was getting.

Mr. Carey rather liked Peter. He knew a good dog when he saw one, and Peter was undeniably a good dog. Moreover, he believed in the instincts of a high bred animal. And did not Peter, after chewing up his wife's dish towels, stop in his complacent journey across the lawn to wink one red eye at Mr. Carey, secure in the belief that in spite of the woman's urgings that gentleman would not turn the nozzle of the garden hose his way?

But one evening matters reached a crisis. Mr. and Mrs. Carey were going to an elaborate dinner to which the Leightons were not invited. It so happened that when the cab ordered by the Careys drew up at the curb Mr. Leighton was spraying the dividing line of lawn with the garden hose.

Mr. Carey came down the steps of his porch and waited on the cement walk in front while his wife put on the last, dear finishing touches to her toilet. The men exchanged civilities a little shamefacedly, and Mr. Carey lifted his hat to Mrs. Leighton, who, with Peter beside her, sat reading on her front porch.

out with dismay at the extent of the injury and then heartily and graciously offered to Mrs. Carey a new and beautiful white gown which she had never worn.

But Mrs. Carey's temper had received the last straw. She turned to her husband without seeming to hear Mrs. Leighton. "You must go alone," she said, "and explain to our hostess that I am the unlucky victim of jealousy." And then she went into the house and closed the door.

Mrs. Leighton and Mr. Carey parted miserably, the man making what excuse he could and the woman protesting, after the manner of women, that she should have been more tactful in her desire to help.

This was apparently the end of all communication between the neighbors, but Peter grew into a beautiful specimen of ugliness. He had his uses, too, which none could deny. The cherry trees and currant bushes were no longer stripped by urchins in the dead of noon, when Nora and her mistress rested from their labors and lusted. Nor were the Careys' hens disturbed by midnight marauders. Mr. Carey knew and appreciated this, petted Peter on the sly and wished that women would be sensible.

There were many robberies that summer. Night after night two or three homes would be entered, and the work was so skillfully done that so far the thief had not been caught. And at last there came a dark windy night while Mr. Carey was away on a trip for his firm. Mr. Carey, not naturally timid and unafraid of the mutterings of an approaching storm, went to bed as usual and to sleep. Her maid of all work followed the example of her mistress.

Some time after midnight Peter, who had been lying motionless in the deep shadow of the front porch, lifted his head and blinked his red eyes. For a moment he heard nothing but the wind, and then a window creaked as it was slid cautiously up.

Peter slunk across the grass and sat down on his haunches, silently expectant, beneath the window. A cat waiting for a mouse could not have been more alert than his white bulk. His ears caught the tinkle of silver, heard the soft splutter of a "noiseless" match, and he felt rather than heard padded footsteps which after a time stole upstairs. And then there came the scream of a frightened woman. At that Peter stood up and, with bowlegs planted firmly, waited at attention.

Footsteps, and less soft ones than the previous ones, sounded on the stairs. A clinking bag was thrust out of the open window and was followed by the leg of a man. Peter gave a little spring and took hold. The man lost his balance and fell upon his back, with Peter on his chest.

Three seconds later Mrs. Carey thrust her head out of the open dining room window to see what had become of the man. When her eyes took in the situation, she gave a little cry of joy. Then, realizing that Peter was hardly more than a pup and might not be able to hold out against the struggles of the man, she dashed across the yard and rang the Leightons' doorbell furiously. The whole affair had been so noiseless that though all the windows were up, the Leightons had heard nothing. Mr. Leighton thrust his head out and demanded an explanation, and then reached the front porch so quickly that his wife said afterward that he must have slid down the banister.

He was not any too soon, for the burglar had managed to reach his revolver, and as Mr. Leighton vaulted the porch railings there was a report. Peter growled savagely and took a firmer hold.

When the man was securely bound with many yards of clothesline, Peter slowly and with infinite dignity left his post and held up his wounded paw to be bandaged. Mrs. Carey put her arms around his neck and kissed his blunt nose, at which demonstration he was serenely unmoved.

Peter now wears a silver collar with an inscription which would make him vain were he an ordinary dog, and, moreover, he hardly knows who are the members of his immediate family, so intimate are the two families.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

In discoursing on the glories of a new climate some people talk as though you could eat scenery.

However, you couldn't prove it by the tailor that the clothes do not make the man.

If you really want to see yourself as others see you, just get into a quarrel with a sharp tongued lady.

The politician shakes hands just as a business investment.

What an improvement it would be if everybody were to carry about all day the same face that they use when looking in the looking glass.

In going into a theater check your thirst at the door.

Some people will not laugh at certain jokes because they respect old age.

When a man is ashamed of his country the country is not apt to be sorry about it.

Oh, Spring! Oh, spring, you're fine to read about. But when we come to try you out Then you are not So fine and hot a spot. When you are Johnny-on-the-Spot.

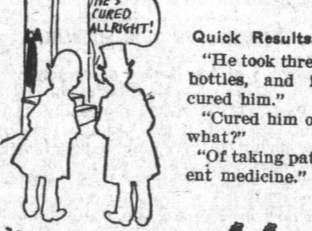

We listen for the babbling brooks. The kind we read about in books. But all we see Is slush so free It almost reaches to the knee.

The little birds come to sing In what is advertised as spring. Then they retreat With frozen feet In search of what will pass for heat.

Sometimes you smile a little bit. But later on you throw a fit That you've got the plain. A reputation to maintain.

And, though at winter we may scoff, We do not take our flannels off, Because we know Your three ring show At any time may run in snow.

Oh, spring, you large and windy bluff, You never hear us call "Enough!" The points that win You spread out thin And then proceed to rub it in.

Knocking the Ladies.

Every one in awhile some college professor or a gentleman who has acquired enough strength to write a book makes the startling discovery that man is superior to woman and proceeds to gloat over the alleged fact. As soon as a man gets to a position in life where his income justifies two suits of clothes he begins to feel mighty and to look with pity on the women who have had seven or eight dresses all the while. As he never went out in the kitchen and tried to make a pie he feels quite certain that he is superior to any one who can.

It is only when a man arrives at the age when young girls begin to call him "grandpa" that he harbors such notions. Young men under the age of twenty-five know better. They have met with so many ladies who were able to make them feel like a few loose bits of pocket change that they are mighty glad if some certain woman will condescend to look on them as an equal.

The Hopeless Bill. "A charge I have to keep." That's what the grocer said. It almost made him weep. When the account he read. What was it, children, made him say it? He knew the man would never pay it.

Not In Sight. "I can't see anything strange about it," exclaimed the small boy to the young man who was calling on his big sister. "About what, child?" "Your head."

"Isn't my hair combed?" "Sure, but last night I asked pa what a vacuum was, and he told me to look under your hat for one."

It Always Follows. Birds will soon be singing In the blooming trees; Onions will be springing Up, and so will peas; Soon I will be taking At the garden his, Back and knees all aching With the rheumatiz.

Born Detective. "He is looking for the philosopher's stone." "That so? Has he any idea where the philosopher lost it?"

Their Specialty. "He thinks two can live as cheaply as one." "The milliners will break him of that notion."

CREW'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Barge Goes Down in Storm, But No Lives Were Lost.

Providence, R. I., June 9.—The barge Pactolus was lost off Hogg Island on the New Jersey coast during a recent storm and Capt. James Deputy was badly hurt. Capt. Deputy and his crew of three men were saved. The barge was blown up the coast in tow of the tug Tormentor.

Off Hogg Island during a south-easterly gale and heavy sea, a big comber swept over the deck of the barge and knocked Capt. Deputy down. He was rendered half unconscious, but managed to grasp the bulwark and keep from being swept over.

The barge sprang a leak and a few hours later it sank. The captain and crew escaped in the tender and were taken aboard the tug, which arrived here late yesterday.

JAIL GOVERNOR DISMISSED.

Gov't Receives Adverse Report From Commissioner Who Investigated.

Toronto, June 8.—Governor Vanzant of Toronto jail has been dismissed because of the charges which were brought against him, and which were investigated a couple of months ago by Mayor Judd of London, acting as a commissioner at the request of the Ontario Government.

It was known some days ago that Mr. Judd had his report prepared, but it was not until yesterday that his finding was received by the Government. The commissioner finds himself compelled to say that he believes that Mr. Vanzant was guilty of improper conduct with female prisoners, of incompetence, of irregularities, and of favoritism. In addition to this the commissioner declares that the discipline of the jail has been extremely bad, and while he is due alone to Vanzant for taking bribes, he considers that in every other respect almost he is unfit to be the head of such an institution.

Things He Didn't Understand.

A shrewd, worldly agnostic and a Christian clergyman dressed in a modest clerical suit sat at the same table in the Pullman dining car. They were waiting for the first course at the dinner, a delicious Hudson river shad. Eying his companion coldly for a moment, the agnostic remarked: "I judge you are a clergyman, sir?" "Yes, sir. I am in my Master's service."

"Yes, you look it. Preach out of the Bible, don't you?"

"Oh, yes; of course."

"Find a good many things in that old book that you don't understand, don't you?"

"Oh, yes; some things."

"Well, what do you do then?"

"Why, my dear friend, I simply do just as I do while eating this delicious shad. If I come to a bone I quietly lay it on one side and go on enjoying the shad and let some fool insist on choking himself with the bones."

"Then the agnostic wound up his Waterbury watch and went into the smoker.—Exchange.

Medicine In Ancient Egypt.

There is much evidence in inscriptions and manuscripts that the ancient Egyptians practiced medicine and surgery extensively. Probably their practice was based on little knowledge of anatomy. Each physician treated only one or two diseases. The sick were exposed in public places so that others who had suffered similarly might tell them of helpful remedies. Diseases of the eye were best understood and received both medical and surgical treatment. The most important medical manuscript found in Egypt is the Papyrus Ebers, written 3000 B. C. and discovered in Memphis. Disease, according to the Egyptians, was due to the anger of some deity, the result of the triumph of evil in its struggle with good, an idea which is still very general throughout Africa and Asia and which at some time has been prevalent in modified forms in almost every race.—Records of the Past.

TREATING WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their physicians suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better; but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all these distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system.

Steamer Bridgewater Ashore.

Halifax, N. S., June 8.—The steamer Bridgewater, of Port Beckett, 100 miles east of Halifax, yesterday afternoon. She was on her way from Halifax to Canso. The fog was dense, and the captain lost reckoning and struck the shoals. With great difficulty the boats were launched and the passengers and crew were saved.

The steamer will be a total loss. She was valued at $22,000, was insured for $15,000. The steamer was owned by the Coastal Steam Packet Co., and was of steel, built in 1889.

"Deed, honey, mah ole man ain't lazy," she declared; "it's des dem scientific notions he dun got when he was a wuckin' in de college."

"But what have scientific theories got to do with his not working?" the lady demanded.

"Got er whole lot ter do, honey," Aunt Mary said, gathering up her basket. "Yo see, dem ideas what he got was dat hit wasn't healthy ter wuck after meals, an' he ain't been able ter figger out no way ter 'complish dat, not yet—less he gibs up eatin', an' er course he can't do dat."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Literal Victim.

They stood pensively on the platform of the toy railroad station at the beautiful suburb Bensenville.

"I understand you clearly," said the victim. "You told me that the property was but a stone's throw from the station. Where is it?"

"It's just up the road a bit," replied the real estate man.

"But it should be right here. You said a stone's throw."

"Yes."

"Now, see here, sir," cried the victim testily, "you know blamed well that a stone can't throw."—Harper's Weekly.

How Long Will It Stay There?

There are times when I am blue, And, you bet, I hate 'em too. There are times when there's no joy in anything, When dark clouds come 'cross my sky, When I almost want to cry, When I cuss, instead of praise, the birds that sing, But that's when I'm busted flat, When I'm realizing that I'm right up against the commonest of 'em.

But it's just the other way; There's no night—it's all bright day— If I only have a dollar in my clothes.

There is nothing quite so sad To one almost always glad Than to know his pockets don't contain a cent.

All his cheerfulness will fade, Into deep despair he'll wade, And he'll wonder where on earth his money went.

But the sun will shine once more, Shine as brightly as before, And he'll feel a tinge of joy clear to his toes.

When the time arrives that he Can dig where his coin should be, And discover he's a dollar in his clothes. —Denver Post.

HIS ABLE DECISION.

Justice as it Was Dealt Out In a Certain Village.

The mayor of a village in a western state, under a law by which the mayor is also police judge, had before him a cattle stealing case.

Two men had stolen two steers and sold them to a butcher in the town for the extremely low price of $37.

Now, the jurisdiction of this mayor-police judge extended in such cases only to the limits of petty larceny, which required that the stolen articles be not of a value of more than $35. Beyond this amount the magistrate had to bind the prisoner or prisoners over to the circuit court, subject to the action of the next session of the grand jury. Likewise, in cases thus bound by his jurisdiction, the judge got no fee, and at this particular time, as at many others, he needed the money.

When the evidence had all been adduced the case was as plain as the proboscis of an elephant seen in profile. The men had stolen the cattle, had sold them for $37. No amount of questioning could make the butcher who had bought them say that it was $34.50 or any other amount short of the originally mentioned sum. Apparently no mayor's fee was in sight.

Then the mayor thus summed up the case:

"We have heard the evidence in this case, and the duty of the court is clear. These men stole the cattle. They sold them for $37. Taking the mere prima facie evidence and the bare letter of the law, it would seem that it was a clear and unmistakable case of grand larceny. But I have decided to allow the two prisoners $4 for driving the cattle in to the market. This reduces the selling price to $33, and I fine the two prisoners each $20 and costs. The court is adjourned."—Chicago News.

MURDER CASE

Defense Will Try to Shift Responsibility For Awful Crimes

Orchard Keeps Cool on the Stand—A Horrible Tale of Atrocities

Boise, Idaho, June 10.—The cross-examination of Harry Orchard, by his own confession the slayer of eighteen men with bullet and bomb, is likely to last through Monday and Tuesday of next week, possibly longer. Orchard has now been on the stand for 14 hours. The state had him in hand for nearly eight hours. At that time he told a horrible tale of crime during the last eleven years of his life.

Orchard spared no incident under questioning by the state, which might prove to the jury his readiness to slaughter for low pay and his utter indifference as to the number or condition of his victims.

Under cross-examination by E. F. Richardson, counsel for W. D. Haywood, Orchard has so far described the series of tragedies prior to the year 1904. Three more years and may murders are yet to be analyzed. For purposes of its own, not so far revealed, the defence is determined that Orchard shall relate in his testimony the most diabolical or the most squalid detail. Slowly but surely the defence is developing the lines by which it hopes to break down Orchard's testimony, so far as it affects Haywood. If it is possible to heap further obliquity on the witness, they have done so by proving him capable of petty crimes.

No Crime Too Low.

By his own admission, Orchard is a bigamist, a thief, a liar and an incendiary; he has been treacherous to his employers; he has deserted two wives, and his children. All of these offences he has been forced to confess, but notwithstanding a gruelling examination by Mr. Richardson he has stuck stubbornly to his story.

By its questions the defence has plainly indicated its intention of proving that Orchard was the hired agent of the mine owners, who, harassed by the Western Federation of Miners, and determined to wipe out union labor at the Idaho and Colorado mines, planned assassinations, wrecking and mine explosions, which could be laid to the federation and thus keep militia on the ground while non-union men worked the mines.

It has been shown under cross-examination that Orchard trafficked with railroad detectives in the mining region of Cripple Creek during the great strike there, while almost at the same time he was in the confidence of the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners. Led on by Mr. Richardson, Orchard has stated that he was hired by Meyer, president of the federation, to act as his guard against alleged thugs said to have been hired by the mine owners to attack and terrorize Meyer.

Orchard the Coolest.

The coolest man in the court is Orchard. Under Mr. Richardson's grilling he has seldom changed a tone in which he first told his awful tale. His answers come without hesitation. So far he has not made any material contradictions. From time to time he has actually corrected the record itself when his answers of the day before have been read. At times his reply to an assertion made by Richardson is positive in the extreme. "I made no such statement," or "I said nothing of the kind," is a frequent answer, and when he finds some statement not to his satisfaction, he will change it, always preceding the change with: "I beg you pardon, sir, but I would like to change that answer."

Another Week of It.

At the close of Orchard's cross-examination the state will take him in hand for re-examination. Then will come the renewed cross-examination. It seems hardly possible that he will be dismissed before the end of next week. He may be recalled afterwards as the case develops. The warden at the penitentiary says that Orchard shows no sign of nervousness or strain. He eats well, and speaks without particular emotion of the events of the day.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's examination was that Orchard aids his first wife, whom he deserted in Canada in 1886, to run away with another man's wife. He testified that since imprisoned he sold a locket and chain and other objects for something like $115, the greater part of which he had sent to his wife. The objects, beside the locket and chain, were a fishing-rod, a gun, a revolver, and some little things. He said that the warden disposed of these for him, with the understanding that the person buying them could have them "after the trial."

Wife to Testify.

There arrived in Boise yesterday, Mrs. Ida Toney-Orchard, a widow, with three children, whom Orchard married, notwithstanding he had another wife in Canada, and known there under Orchard's true name, Halsey. Mrs. Toney will testify, it is said, that while Orchard lived at Cripple Creek he was in the employ of the mine owners. It is expected by the defence that she will be able to throw light on the motives of Orchard, and that she will strengthen the assertion of the defence, that the mine owners, and not the Western Federation of Miners, were the conspirators who employed Orchard to murder.

Some new light has been thrown on the murder of Lyle Gregory in Denver. According to statements made by the police in Denver, Orchard, or Simpkins, or whoever Orchard's accomplice was, were suspected of murder. Bloodhounds tracked the murderers to the yard behind Pettibone's store, where Orchard says he hid his gun. Other evidence was also discovered. The police were about to arrest the two men when the story goes, orders came from some myster-

WIFE SUICIDES.

Could No Longer Bear Mother's Death and Husband's Disgrace.

Karlsruhe, Germany, June 10.—Karl Hau, professor of Roman law at the George Washington University, Washington, who is in prison here charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Molitor, was visited by the governor of the prison Saturday and informed that his wife had committed suicide by drowning in a lake near Pfaffikon, Switzerland.

The governor had quite a lengthy conversation with the professor, which led to a report that he had confessed that he had murdered his wife's mother, which he has strenuously denied. The state's attorney subsequently denied the report that Hau had made a confession.

Mrs. Hau came to Karlsruhe two days ago and had a long talk with her husband. She left the prison in a state of the utmost depression and went back to Pfaffikon. On arriving there Mrs. Hau went directly to a bathing establishment on a small lake near Pfaffikon and requested to be given a separate dressing room. The attendants later saw her swimming out in the lake, but soon afterwards they observed that she was no longer moving.

A boatman rowed out to the spot and brought the body ashore, where a physician, who was hurriedly sent for, attempted in vain to resuscitate the unfortunate woman.

Confessed to Wife.

It has not been possible to discover the origin of the story that Hau had confessed the murder of his mother-in-law to the governor of the prison, but it is assumed here that Hau did make a confession to his wife when she last saw him.

THE HAYWOOD MURDER CASE

Defense Will Try to Shift Responsibility For Awful Crimes

Orchard Keeps Cool on the Stand—A Horrible Tale of Atrocities

Boise, Idaho, June 10.—The cross-examination of Harry Orchard, by his own confession the slayer of eighteen men with bullet and bomb, is likely to last through Monday and Tuesday of next week, possibly longer. Orchard has now been on the stand for 14 hours. The state had him in hand for nearly eight hours. In that time he told a horrible tale of crime during the last eleven years of his life. Orchard spared no incident under questioning by the state, which might prove to the jury his readiness to slaughter for low pay and his utter indifference as to the number or condition of his victims.

Under cross-examination by E. F. Richardson, counsel for W. D. Haywood, Orchard has so far described the series of tragedies prior to the year 1904. Three more years and may murders are yet to be analyzed. For purposes of his own, not so far revealed, the defence is determined that Orchard shall relate in his testimony the most diabolical, or the most squalid detail. Slowly but surely the defence is developing the lines by which it hopes to break down Orchard's testimony, so far as it affects Haywood. If it is possible to keep further obliquity on the witness, they have done so by proving him capable of petty crimes.

No Crime Too Low.

By his own admission, Orchard is a bigamist, a thief, a liar and an incendiary; he has been treacherous to his employers; he has deserted two wives, and his children. All of these offences he has been forced to confess, but notwithstanding a grueling examination by Mr. Richardson he has stuck stubbornly to his story.

By its questions the defence has plainly indicated its intention of proving that Orchard was the hired agent of the mine owners, who, harassed by the Western Federation of Miners, and determined to wipe out union labor at the Idaho and Colorado mines, planned assassinations, train wrecking and mine explosions which they kept hidden from the public while non-union men worked the mines.

It has been shown under cross-examination that Orchard trafficked with railroad detectives in the mining region of Cripple Creek during the same time he was in the confidence of the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners. Led on by Mr. Richardson, Orchard has stated that he was hired by Moyer, president of the federation, to act as his guard against alleged thugs said to have been hired by the mine owners to attack and terrorize Moyer.

Orchard the Coolest.

The coolest man in the court is Orchard. Under Mr. Richardson's grilling he has seldom changed the tone in which he first told his awful tale. His answers come without hesitation. So far he has not made any material contradiction. From time to time he has actually corrected the record itself when his answers of the day before have been read and transcription shows an error. At times his reply to an assertion made by Richardson is positive in the extreme. "I made no such statement," or "I said nothing of the kind," is a frequent answer, and when he finds some statement not to his satisfaction he will change it, always preceding the change with: "I beg you pardon, sir, but I would like to change that answer."

Another Week of It.

At the close of Orchard's cross-examination the state will take him in hand for re-direct questioning. Then will come the renewed cross-examination. It seems hardly possible that he will be dismissed before the end of next week. He may be recalled afterwards as the case develops. The warden at the penitentiary says that Orchard shows no sign of nervousness or strain. He eats well, and speaks without particular emotion of the events of the day.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's examination was that Orchard aids his first wife, whom he deserted in Canada in 1895 to run away with another man's wife. He testified that since imprisoned he sold a locket and chain and other objects for something like $115, the greater part of which he had sent to his wife. The objects, beside the locket and chain, were a fishing-rod, a gun, a revolver, and some little things. He said that the warden disposed of these for him, with the understanding that the person buying them could have them "after the trial."

Wife to Testify.

There arrived in Boise yesterday, Mrs. Ida Toney Orchard, a widow, with three children, who Orchard married, notwithstanding he had another wife in Canada, and known there under Orchard's true name, Harsley. Mrs. Toney will testify, it is said, that while Orchard lived at Cripple Creek he was in the employ of the mine owners. It is expected by the defence that she will be able to throw light on the motives of Orchard, and that she will strengthen the assertion of the defence, that the mine owners, and not the Western Federation of Miners, were the conspirators who employed Orchard to murder.

Some new light has been thrown on the murder of Lyle Gregory in Denver. According to statements made by the police in Denver, Orchard, or Simpkins, or whoever Orchard's accomplice was, were suspected of murder. Bloodhounds tracked the murderer to the yard behind Peterson's store, where Orchard says he hid his guns. Other evidence was also discovered. The police were about to arrest the two men when the story goes, orders came from some mystery ons source that the men were not to be molested, and Orchard was allowed to leave town. This statement is said to have been made by Chief of Detectives Loomis of Denver, Paul Gregory, a brother of the murdered man, has made a similar statement. It is likely that both will be called as witnesses.

WIFE SUICIDES.

Could No Longer Bear Mother's Death and Husband's Disgrace.

Karlsruhe, Germany, June 10.—Karl Hau, professor of Roman law at the George Washington University, Washington, who is in prison here charged with the murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Molitor, was visited by the governor of the prison Saturday and informed that his wife had committed suicide by drowning in a lake near Pfaffikon, Switzerland.

The governor had quite a lengthy conversation with the professor, which led to a report that he had confessed that he had murdered his wife's mother, which he has strenuously denied. The state's attorney subsequently denied the report that Hau had made a confession.

Mrs. Hau came to Karlsruhe two days ago and had a long talk with her husband. She left the prison in a state of the utmost depression and went back to Pfaffikon.

On arriving there Mrs. Hau went directly to a bathing establishment on a small lake near Pfaffikon and requested to be given a separate dressing room. The attendant later saw her swimming out in the lake, but soon afterwards they observed that she was no longer moving.

A boatman rowed out to the spot and brought the body ashore, where a physician, who was hurriedly sent for, attempted in vain to resuscitate the unfortunate woman.

Confessed to Wife.

It has not been possible to discover the origin of the story that Hau had confessed the murder of his mother-in-law to the governor of the prison, but it is assumed here that Hau did make a confession to his wife when she last saw him.
