CHAPTER III.
Lady Nora.

"It is not likely," said the earl. "Really, your candour is charming, Petherick! Oh, pray don't apologize, as the old lawyer grew red and stammering. Let us finish our wine in peace."

Meanwhile, the gentlemen strolled up and down the terrace with their cigars, talking together, and as they passed the window of the drawing-room, in which Nora was sitting, and in which the lights were lit, they lowered their voices.

"Poor girl!" said Lord Ferndale. "My heart aches for her! Great Heaven! fancy her position to-night! To be welcomed by a father whom she had never seen, in such a cold-blooded fashion! Old friend as he is, I had hard work to keep from flying into a rage with him!"

"Such a lovely young creature!" said the rector. "One wouldn't have been surprised if he had caught her in his arms and burst into tears. They were very near my own eyes, I know."

The squire laughed grimly. "I can't fancy the earl doing that," he remarked. "I often think that he was born without a heart. Why, it isn't only with his wife that he quarrels, there isn't a soul belonging to him that he hasn't parted from. Look at the young viscount. Having quarrelled with his father, the earl has actually never seen the young man. Never seen the heir to the title and the estates, by George!"

"And such estates!" murmured the rector, looking out across the park, thoughtfully.

"Ah, and there's something more than the estates," remarked the squire. "The earl can't have been living up to half—ah, a quarter—of his income, and must be rolling in money!"

"That will all go to Lady Nora!" said Lord Ferndale.

"Yes, and she'll be the richest heiress in the county, or thereabouts," assented the squire. "Poor girl, what a change it is for her!"

"I wish there had been some ladies here to-night," said the rector, "it would have been easier and pleasanter for her."

"What was the earl's idea in having us here to-night?" asked the squire, puffing at his cigar with a puzzled frown.

Lord Ferndale shrugged his shoulders.

"Who can say? To try her—to see how she would carry herself."

"Ah, and how well she did it!" exclaimed the rector. "Didn't you think so, Mr. Berton?"

Guildford Berton was leaning on the coping of the terrace, smoking slowly and thoughtfully, and taking no part in the conversation; he looked up, and inclined his head.

"Remarkably so," he said, in an utterly inexpressive voice.

Lord Ferndale glanced at him curiously, and with something like coldness.

"I think we had better go in," he said. "It must be lonely for Lady Nora," and they flung their cigars away, and re-entered the dining-room. The footman had lit the candles in the drawing-room, and Nora had seated herself before a small table, on which the tea service had been laid, waiting for them to come in. Her gaze wandered round the vast room,

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS

Struggled with Sickness and Discomposure; How Relieved.

Dayville, Killisly, Conn.—"I shall feel me, have a woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband.

I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage, and wasn't able to tend my baby or even get around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet little town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Dayville in November. At that time I was so sick I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and now am the picture of health, and am tempted to return to the stage. We appreciate my health as the most precious thing on earth."—Mrs. H. L. KLENNETT, Box 55, Killisly, Conn.

with its gilded carvings and costly hangings, its priceless pictures and rare and curious bric-a-brac, and a sense of unreality seemed to possess her. It all appeared like a dream. This is her home, and that cold and stately personage her father! Surely she would wake up presently and find herself in the tiny room of Cliff Court, and hear Mrs. Jordan's sing-song voice buzzing in her ear!

Lady Nora! She had not even yet got used to the title, which sounded so strangely in her ears that when it was spoken, she half looked round to see who was addressed by it. Lady Nora! She was Nora Frere no longer, but an earl's daughter, and she had come "home" to this vast place with its palatial rooms and army of servants.

Lonely! No Arab in the center of the desert ever felt lonelier than did Nora at that moment, and the desire for one soul upon whom she could lean, to whom she could pour out her heart, was so intense that her heart actually ached with it.

Then the door opened, and the gentlemen filed in. Lord Ferndale went up to her at once, thinking, as he spoke to her, and looked down at her, that of all the beautiful things in the room, she was the most beautiful; and he noticed with admiration, how promptly she had taken her place at the tea table, just as if she had been accustomed to it for years.

"We have been away so long that we scarcely deserve any tea, Lady Nora," he said, with his kindest smile.

"I am afraid it will be rather cold," she said. "I have been looking round for a cozy to put on the teapot—we always had one at home—"

She stopped, and coloured; it was the first slip she had made. "I mean at the cottage—"

"You would like some fresh tea," said the earl, natively. "Will you ring, Guildford, please."

"I think it is hot enough," said Nora, just raising her eyes to her father's face.

He bowed.

"It rests with you," he said, in his courtliest fashion.

She poured out the tea, and Guildford Berton came and stood beside her, and silently took the cups and banded them round, his dark eyes downcast and guarded, but once Nora happened to look up suddenly, and found them fixed on her hands as if he were studying them, or found something curious in their white shapeliness.

Lord Ferndale seated himself in a low chair beside her, and glanced at the others.

"I suppose you are wondering who we all are, Lady Nora?" he said, with a smile, and in a voice audible only to her.

She turned her dark eyes upon him with a frankness which he found very sweet.

"A little, yes," she admitted. He laughed.

"I'll try and tell you," he said. "I'm an old fogey who lives near you, in a place called The Park. Mr. Parfret, or the squire, as he is always called—well, I suppose he is another old fogey—he lives at the Manor; the rector doesn't need describing, and—there you are!"

"You have forgotten Mr. Berton," said Nora, with a smile. Lord Ferndale half glanced in the direction of that young gentleman.

"Ah, yes," he said. "I beg his pardon, I'm sure. Well, you know his name—and there is not much more to tell about him, except that he is the son of the earl's—your father's—late steward, and that he lives in a little cottage just outside the park—your park, I mean."

How Pneumonia Starts, and How Often Prevented.

You catch a little cold to-day, and by to-morrow it has reached the throat, next day the lungs are affected and you wish you had used "Catarrhose," which kills colds in five minutes. In the first place Catarrhose soothes the irritated membranes and relieves congestion, then it cuts out the phlegm and destroys the germs. It enables the blood to retain a natural supply of oxygen, lung-food, and vitality. In any cough, bronchitis or Catarrh, it's guaranteed to positively cure. Beware of dangerous substitutes offered under misleading names for genuine Catarrhose which is sold everywhere, large quantities containing two months treatment costs $1.00, small size, 50c; trial size, 25c.

Nora thought it was fancy, that she was tired, and over-strained, and it seemed to her that his long, thin fingers struck a chill to her, and she began to think that she understood Lord Ferndale's vague dialike or suspicion of the young man who was the son of her father's steward, and who was "so clever."

The earl, with the courtesy for which he was famous, accompanied his guests to the hall, and bowed them farewell; then Nora heard him returning, and her heart beat fast.

At last they were alone. What would he say to her?

He came into the room, and looked at her as she stood, tall and slimly graceful.

"I am afraid you are tired," he said, in his soft, restrained voice. "Too tired to converse to-night. Indeed, I do not think we have much to say. The past—your past—has been left behind to-day; you start on a fresh, new life. Hitherto you have been simply Nora Frere—Frere was the name, I think? Henceforth you are Lady Nora Arrowsdale, and my daughter; and this will be your home. I trust you will be happy. If there should be anything you desire, anything I can do to insure your comfort, pray do not hesitate to inform me of it, Nora."

"Thank you—papa," she responded. The last words dropped from her lips softly, in a voice that would have melted most men; but if it touched the Right Honourable, the Earl of Arrowsdale, he concealed any emotion most successfully.

"You must not let me keep you from repose," he said. "Good-night."

He held out his hand, and as she put her small, soft one into it, she leaned forward a little. A word, a gesture, and she would have thrown herself upon his breast, but he just bent forward and touched her forehead with his lips.

"Good-night," he said, almost as if he feared she would make "a scene."

"Allow me to ring for your maid."

He rang, held the door open for her, and inclined his head, just as he would have done to a guest, and she passed out.

With her eyes moist, but her head and figure erect, for she was still resolved to show no sign, she went up the broad stairs. At the top, when she had gained the wide corridor, which ran round the vast hall, she paused, confused by the number of doors and their similarity, and as she hesitated, wondering which was her room, a woman, dressed in black, came toward her. She was a woman approaching middle age, with a sober-looking face and a strikingly subdued manner.

"This is your ladyship's room," she said, opening a door.

C. L. B. and Volunteers Church Parade.

Yesterday morning the C. L. B. under command of Lt.-Col. Rendell, accompanied by the C. of E. members of the 8th Regiment, held a church parade, attending Divine Service at 11 o'clock at St. Thomas's Church. Rev. Dr. Jones, Chaplain of the Brigade, preached an instructive and impressive sermon taking as his text: "The Christian Soldier Unshamed." The preacher referred to the splendid work of the Brigade in St. John's which was instrumental in training so many of our boys to become soldiers of the Empire. At the close of the service the vast congregation remained standing while Organist Stirling played the "Dead March in Saut," a tribute to the memory of the former officers and boys of the C. L. B. who have answered the final call. On leaving the church the Brigade was assisted in the parade by the volunteers of other churches and the return to the Armoury was made via Cochrane Street, Water Street, Duckworth St., Church Hill and Long's Hill, the Battalion band furnishing excellent music along the route.

The Strike.

The Union stokers are still on strike. Some sort of a settlement is hoped for as a result of a meeting of the Union to be held to-morrow night. The Reid steamers Meigs and Glen-coe, which were held at Port aux Basques got away Saturday, non-union men being secured to take the places of union men. On Saturday evening last the firemen of Baird's steamers Erik and Diana quit the stokehold and came out on strike.

Yesterday's Ordination Service.

Yesterday morning at the Church of England Cathedral the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland held an Ordination Service, elevating from the rank of Deacon to the order of the Priest, hood Revs. Moulton, Bailey, Hunt and Greavett. The candidates for Holy Orders were presented to His Lordship by the Examining Chaplain, who performed the ceremony which included many of the ancient and solemn rites of the Church. Rev. Canon Smart, Rector of Heart's Content, preached an eloquent and impressive sermon most suitable to the occasion. A large number of friends of the newly ordained Priests, including several people from Port de Grave, Portugal Cove, French Shore and other places attended the service, after which they congratulated the reverend gentlemen.

Acids in Stomach Sour the Food and Cause Indigestion

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach, headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, and each case will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparatory, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid your system of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

Believes He Was Robbed.

A workman named Thomas Dougherty, who was engaged along the waterfront last week, was paid off on Saturday with fifteen dollars odd, receiving the money in the towns of Irish notes and some loose change, including silver and coppers. On reaching home Saturday evening he found to his dismay that a few coppers were all that his pockets contained and that he had been relieved of his "greenbacks" by some unknown member of the light fingered gentry, but supposedly by some individual well versed in the infamous art of pick-pocketing so prevalent in the towns of Uncle Sam. The loss to poor Dougherty and family is great and it is a pity to have the culprit who took his money at large.

Shortage of Business.

Trade at the different Water Street business houses on Saturday night was the slackest for some considerable time, because of people being afraid to venture out of doors in the dark. We understand that merchants and business people generally are now contemplating the idea of opening their stores from 7.30 every morning until 5.30 p.m. on evenings. Would not the suggestion of shopping early on Saturday obviate the difficulty instead of opening the stores an hour earlier every week day?

Cochrane St. Centennial Church.

At Cochrane Street Methodist Centennial Church yesterday two very important subjects were ably and thoughtfully dealt with, that of work which is essential to life and making an honest living, by the Rev. D. H. Hemmison, B. A. and by the Pastor, the Rev. Dr. Bond, the evening service, on the real essential for success in business, as answered by a real live business man well known to the preacher, to be a successful business man it is absolutely necessary to have a proper relationship between man and God. The services were well attended, and the singing on the part of the congregation was bright and hearty.

A Warning to Boys

A number of boys of the East End of the city, who make it their business to hang around the Rinks, are a source of annoyance to the guard of volunteers remaining at the old quarters and to pedestrians who have to pass that way. Yesterday afternoon about fifty of these young hoodlums took a delight in poking fun at the volunteers and when told to move on threw stones at the fence. The practice is a dangerous one which may terminate none too well for those who continue it. Boys should remember these are war times and military laws show little mercy to those that break them.

Workman May Lose His Hand

Mr. James Finn, of Petty Harbor Road, met with a nasty accident on Saturday which may result in the loss of one of his hands. It happened that at the time of the accident, he in company with others were working at the Big Pond dam near Bay Bulls, driving large sledge as supports for the dam, when his companion, who was swinging a heavy sledge hammer came down for a final blow, and not seeing Mr. Finn's hand, which was resting on the stake smashed the member almost to pulp. The sufferer was attended by his comrades who had great difficulty to stop the flow of blood, and securing a horse and carriage drove the unfortunate man to the city where he was treated by a doctor.

The clock on the mantel shelf struck half-past ten, and at the moment a footman announced Lord Ferndale's carriage.

He and the squire and the rector clustered round her to say good-night, and Lord Ferndale held her hand for quite a long time.

"Lady Ferndale will be so glad to come and see you, Lady Nora," he said.

Guildford Berton was the last to come up, and he took her hand with just the two words, "Good-night."

Relief Subscriptions

To Territory in Occupation of the Enemy

21st October, 1916.
Editor Evening Telegram:
Sir, I beg to enclose herewith copies of Code Telegram No. 554, of date 17th instant, received by His Excellency the Governor from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, with respect to the subject of subscriptions, collections or remittances for Relief Societies operating in enemy occupied territory.

This matter is one of public interest, and I shall be glad, therefore, if you can arrange to give this telegram space in your columns.

I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,
J. R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary.

No. 554.
Code Telegram from Secretary of State, (Received October 17, 1916).

Desirable that it should be laid down that general subscriptions, collections or remittances for Relief Societies operating in enemy occupied territory should not be encouraged. This does not apply to National Committee-relief of Belgium which stands on special footing, but does apply to Polish relief and therefore excludes committee. Subscriptions made with a view to Polish relief are only for relief of Poles in Russia and should be sent through H. M. Ambassador, St. Petersburg or if preferred through Polish War Victims Relief Committee in London. Remittances to individuals in enemy occupied territory not being of enemy nationality may be allowed provided conditions laid down in dispatch sent by mail are fulfilled briefly. Firstly, same individual not to receive from all sources more than £25 per month. Secondly, all remittances to be made through Bank in United Kingdom which can be supervised by H. M. Government.

Household Notes.

Mushrooms are most delicious when allowed to simmer in their own juice and a good amount of butter. Powdered sugar always makes a lighter cake than granulated sugar. A few drops of liquid sodalium in hot water will sometimes relieve the baby's colic. Stains can often be removed from clothing with ease and no rubbing. If the stains are rinsed out in warm water, then well rubbed with a good soap and allowed to soak in boiling water for an hour.

Little muslin bags filled with oatmeal and left in the water pitcher overnight are excellent for softening the water. Let an oatmeal bag remain in a basin of hot water for a few minutes, and it will take all the hardness away. To keep celery for a week or even longer, first roll it up in brown paper, then in a towel, and put it into a dark, cool place. Before preparing it for the table put into a pan of cold water and let it remain there for an hour to make it crisp and cool. People who constantly wear furs should keep a little diluted lemon juice in a small bottle on the washstand, and apply to the neck every night. This will prevent the formation of the black marks which so often mar the beauty of the neck. The Daughters of Empire, under the patronage of Lady Davidson, will hold a Sociable in the Presbyterian Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 25th, at 8 p.m. Admission 30 cents, including tea. Come and meet the returned Sailors and Soldiers, who will all be invited to be present. oct20,23

THE SERBIAN SUCCESSES.

There is a distinctly optimistic note in the latest messages reviewing the war situation. There have been further advances on the West front, slight in themselves but adding to gains whose sum total is vastly important; Russia is doing good work; the Rumanian situation, while still uncertain, has taken a turn for the better; and the Serbians have achieved a success which general opinion credits with great possibilities. On this last, the outstanding feature of operations which are daily assuming greater importance, chief emphasis is laid in the official bulletins. There are indeed signs that the Greek and Macedonian situations are clearing. Constantine and his troublesome officers are being shown bit by bit of their capacity for mischief, and any that may be left is most effectually countered by the growing power of Venizelos, whose army may be trusted to shield the back of the Allied forces as they make their way north through Macedonia. The time is now ripe for them to make it, and there are indications that they are getting into their stride in earnest.

It is interesting to observe how opinion has veered around in the course of a year with regard to the Salonika expedition, and changed from open denunciation or veiled scepticism to unanimous approval. Whether M. Briand is to be credited with the idea or not, it was a remarkable foresight which dictated the posting of the large army at this point and base, backed up by the might of their navies, has been, and will continue to be, tremendously important. Among the little advantages it has obtained for us is the co-operation of Rumania, which we should certainly not have got but for it and the great army based upon it.

The victory of the Serbians seems to have been considerable. At one point they have got across the Tcherna, and as they are still fighting the Bulgarians at Kaymakchalan, which is well east of that river, it is probable that, as the message states, they have turned the Bulgarian line and got behind it. This advantage, vigorously followed up, should have a great effect. With the railway station of Remail in their hands and the Tcherna successfully crossed, the most serious natural obstacles in the way to Monastir would seem to be passed. Meantime, it will be well to keep an eye on the doings of the Italians in Albania, where they are said to be in great force and have already advanced a long way towards Serbia. The Macedonia drama is under way and the first scene will have for its subject the battle for Monastir. Upon the issue of that battle much of the subsequent plot will depend.

LAI D TO REST.

A GOOD BAG.

LONDON, Official, Sunday Night. The total number of prisoners taken in yesterday's operations between the Schwaben redoubt and Le Sara is now reported to be 1,018, including 16 officers. Early this morning the enemy exploded two mines south of Ypres in the neighbourhood of Bluff, and occupied the lip of the crater thus formed, where he has been subjected to a continuous bombardment. During the fighting yesterday, our aeroplanes did valuable work in locating enemy batteries. Five enemy machines were destroyed and four others driven down in a damaged condition; three of ours are missing.

KILLED INSTANTLY.

PARIS, To-day. Premier Stuerghk was shot while dining in the Hotel Metel and Schaden Karntner Strasse. Three bullets from Adler's revolver lodged in Count Stuerghk's head, killing him instantly.

POPULAR OUTBURSTS.

LONDON, To-day. A wireless despatch reported that there were grave riots in Vienna following the assassination of Count Stuerghk, which the police were powerless to quell. The wireless also reports the renewal of manifestations in Athens in favor of the States intervening on behalf of the Greeks against the occupation of Athens and Piræus by the Entente Allied forces.

NORWAY HIT AGAIN.

INTENDED SAILINGS.

The S.S. FLORIZEL.

From New York:
FLOEIZEL October 28th.
From St. John's:
FLORIZEL November 7th.
HARVEY & CO., LIMITED, AGENTS.

Netherland Government's note on the use of Dutch waters by subs: Replying to the Entente Allies' submarine note the Dutch Government intimates that in consequence of the uncertainty of the status of subs they will be treated as warships in accordance with the Dutch neutrality proclamation, and will not be allowed to enter or remain in Dutch waters, except under well defined conditions. The Government, however, will not intern merchant subs because there is no principle of international law which would justify such a course.

GREEK ARMY MUST BE WITHDRAWN.

The presentation by the Entente Allies of further demands on Greece, including the removal of Greek troops to the southern part of the country, and the handing over of Greek war supplies, is reported by Reuter's Athens correspondent. An Athens despatch, which is dated Friday, says the demands presented to King Constantine by the French military Attaché in Greece required the transfer of the entire military forces in Thessaly in the rear of the Allied forces in Macedonia to the Morea Peninsula forming the southern extremity of Greece. The delivery to the Allies of war materials destined for the Thessalonian force was also required. Other demands were made the nature of which is unknown.

WAR REVIEW.

LONDON, To-day. In face of a continued violent attack by the Teutonic Allies in Dobruja from the Danube to the Black Sea, the Roumanians and their Russian Allies are still falling back. The town of Topral, fourteen miles southwest of Constantza, and Cobana, seventeen miles south of the Danube, and the town of Rachova have been taken by the combined Austro-German-Bulgarian-Turkish forces, who are declared by Berlin to be in pursuit of their defeated antagonists. On the Transylvanian front hard fighting continues in the mountain passes, but with the result in doubt owing to the conflicting statements of the Berlin, Petrograd and Bucharest War Offices. Petrograd says the Roumanians have been forced back in her Buzeu Valley; Bucharest, however, does not concede this, asserting that counter attacks by the Teutonic Allies were repulsed at the point of the bayonet. It is evident from the official statements, despite their discrepancies, as a result that no change in the positions has taken place anywhere along the front, but that the Roumanians are fighting tenaciously to hold back the would-be-invaders of their country. The battle of the pass in the Narayvka River in Galicia resulted in an important victory for the Austrian-German forces over the Russians, according to Berlin. Here the Russians are now only holding a small part of the front at the west bank of the river following a general attack by the Teutonic Allies between Svitlenki and Skomovochy in which the Russians were driven back and suffered severe casualties. Petrograd says, however, that the fighting along the river is still going on and that the positions have changed hands several times. Twice during Sunday morning and afternoon, the Germans launched violent attacks against the newly won positions in Calines Wood, south of the Somme River in France. Both attacks were repulsed, the Germans suffering heavy casualties, says Paris. Some of the attackers in the morning offensive gained a foothold in the first front line but were surrounded and 150 survivors made prisoners, Berlin, admitting that in Saturday's fighting the British north of the Somme made gains, characterizing the British losses as a reckless sacrifice of human lives. Several trenches between Blaches and La Maisonnette south of the Somme were captured on Saturday from the French, says Berlin. Despite bad weather on the Macedonian front slight additional progress has been made by the Entente Allies on the Cerna River. German troops are now aiding the Bulgarian forces fighting in the head of the Cerna River. Heavy rainstorms and snow falls are impeding operations in the Austro-Italian theatre.

THE WORK OF SUBS.

LONDON, To-day. The sinking of five steamers—two British and three of neutral nationality—with the loss of at least 8 lives, was announced by Lloyd's yesterday. The British steamers sunk were the "Huguenot," New Castle, and the Mar- chioness, Glasgow. The crew are reported landed. The neutral ships sunk were the Athens and Haudrot, of Norwegian registry, and the Swedish steamer Alfhild. Eight members of the crew of the Alfhild were lost, the remainder saved. The crew of the Haudrot were saved.

A SHORT STEP TO WAR.

LONDON, To-day. The Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen, says: "The position between Norway and the Germans arising out of the Norwegian measures against submarines, absorbs the Norwegian press. The Aftenposten of Kristiania, while agreeing that the whole Norwegian people are ready to support the Government, reminds its readers that the nation must have a clear understanding, that the step into war is not a long one and that it is a great task for a small neutral country to uphold the ideals of peace against those of war."

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE.

PARIS, To-day. The Journal Des Debats publishes a despatch dated Zurich, stating that the "Tages Post Stettin" has been suspended for this announcement: The submarine Bremen was torpedoed in an American port after having safely passed the Irish Coast and avoided all the ambushes of the British."

RESIGNATION MORE POPULAR THAN VIEWS.

LONDON, To-day. Arthur Ponsonby, M.P., Private Secretary to the late Sir H. Campbell Bannerman, Prime Minister, has resigned his seat owing to the popularity of his advocacy of peace negotiations some months ago. Ponsonby attacked the Government in the House for allowing diplomatic etiquette to stand in the way of peace negotiations.

GRAND BANKS DESERTED.

NEW YORK, To-day. The Grand Banks are apparently deserted by fishermen, the officers of the American Liner Kroonland reported on the arrival of the ship to-day. The usual fishing fleet which liners pass at the northern trans-Atlantic voyage was not seen by the Kroonland. The officers surmised that the fishermen are being driven away by the recent activities of the German submarine U-53.

CABINET WILL RESIGN.

BERLIN, To-day. A Vienna despatch to the Overseas News Agency says "The Austrian Cabinet held a session after the assassination of Premier Stuerghk. In accordance with precedent, all the Ministers will offer their resignation, but it is not expected they will be accepted by the Emperor."

MacMillan, Arctic Explorer, arrived on Sunday from Lunenburg, she is bringing a quantity of hunting trophies and Eskimo curios consigned to an American museum in New York. The schooner which was frozen in last winter at Baffin Bay, showed virtually no effects of her reported experience. She is expected to make a return trip with winter supplies for the Grenfell Mission at St. Anthony, Newfoundland.

For Rent.

(New York Sun.)

Arthur Norton's house and John Hatfield's became vacant within three days of each other. The Norton house stood on an unusually big lot in the best residence section of the suburban village. It had all the improvements, but Norton, after an anxious examination of the property, incurred an expense of many hundreds of dollars to better it. He installed a new heating system and set the decorator to work in every room, he laid hardwood floors, he replaced costly plumbing fixtures, he had the painter apply to the exterior three coats of the best white lead and zinc. The last touch was supplied by gardeners who pruned the fruit trees and shade trees and rearranged the handsome shrubs massed here and there on the lawn.

John Hatfield, a cigar in his mouth strutted through his empty house. He surveyed unconcernedly the faded wall paper and the ruin wrought by leakages. He gave no thought to the shabby exterior and a glance up and down the street, which had vividly grown less desirable for residences, left him unmoved. After a thoughtful glance at the small, poorly kept yard he spoke a few words to the carpenter and decided to raise the rent $5 a month. For two or three days there was a sound of much hammering and then it became known that John Hatfield had had that old house of his for $35 a month. Would you believe it? The gossips asked, each other. And there was the fine Norton house to be had for only $30 and still standing empty.

Three months later Arthur Norton let his house for $25 a month. Norton met Hatfield about the time. The men exchanged notes on renting. Norton was astounded to learn that Hatfield had not spent a dollar on his house. He told of his own outfit. Hatfield shook his head in tolerant criticism.

"But you did do something to improve the place, didn't you?" asked Norton. "I haven't been down that street in some time." "Oh, yes I built a garage," Hatfield answered. "But that the tenants have a car. But like every one else they expect to have one some day. It's the psychology of the thing that counts, Norton. It's the psychology of the thing."

GOES TO HOSPITAL.—Mrs. Samuel Carter, of Wesleyville, entered the General Hospital this morning to undergo a serious operation. Mrs. Carter while in the city was staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. Moore.

A London, Ont. despatch of the 12th says: Woman is winning by service what she failed to obtain by argument or force. Addressing the great gathering of Women's Canadian Clubs of Ontario, in the auditorium of the Normal School here, recently, Sir Wilfrid Laurier confessed that he had been won over to the cause of woman suffrage. "I do not think that woman's suffrage will achieve all the good its exponents claim for it," he observed, smiling, "and I am sure it will not result in all the bad its opponents expect from it; but, as we witness the glorious part that noble woman is taking in service and sacrifice for the highest and best in civilization, my personal contention is that there is no reason why she should be denied the right of the ballot if she wants it."

AN UNFOUNDED RUMOUR.—A report was in circulation yesterday that Lieutenant Norman Outerbridge, who left with the last contingent, had been severely wounded at the front. It is entirely incorrect. Lieut. Outerbridge not having been near the fighting line. The fact to which the rumour was probably due is that he is under orders for the front, as well as his brother Lieutenant Herbert Outerbridge, and both are at present in London awaiting further orders.

Wedding Bells.

AYRE-DAWE.

Topsal, the popular seaside resort, witnessed the performance of a very pretty wedding ceremony on Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 18th, when Miss Marion Isabella Ayre, of St. John's, daughter of the late Geo. and Isabella Ayre, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Geo. Dawe, P.P. of Port de Grave. The bride wore a travelling costume of cream serge, trimmed with charmeuse satin and pretty picture hat, trimmed with ostrich plumes. The bridesmaid, her sister, Lillian, wore a beautiful gown of pink nylon, with heavy overlace, and a large picture hat of black. Mr. John Dawe of Bay Roberts capably performed the duties of best man. The bride was given away by Mr. William Piercey of Jas. Baird's, Ltd., an old friend of the family.

Mrs. Harold Andrews presided at the church organ, accompanying the singing of that beautiful hymn, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," whilst the ceremony was being performed. The happy couple marched down the aisle to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, proceeding therefrom to the home of Mrs. Butler where the wedding supper was partaken of. Rev. Mr. Bailey toasted the bride and groom. Many valuable and useful presents were received by the happy couple. The honeymoon will be spent at Topsal, after which they repair to Port-de-Grave, their future home. The Telegram extends congratulations to the happy couple.

A Difficult Position.

By RUTH CAMERON.

This is the letter I received. I thought it might be of general interest.

Put The Position On A Business Basis.

"DON'T. But if you do, put the position on a business basis. Make some definite time arrangement so that if you are not happy you can part without a break. If you are both satisfied the agreement can be renewed.

"Try to have an understanding of what is expected of you—dusting, mending, marketing, answering letters, making out checks. Make up your mind to do enough so that you are earning your board" (she is to receive only her board). "But for your board you should not be expected to give up your whole time and you should stipulate on hours of your own.

You Don't Have To Go Everywhere They Go.

"Talk things over and tell Mrs. M. that you do not intend to interfere with her liberty. If she and her husband are asked out to dinner, even by a mutual friend, it is not necessary that you should go too. If they give dinner parties you do not expect to be present at all of them. You understand that an extra woman is sometimes de trop. On the other hand, her house is your home and she should be willing to let you have your friends to meals occasionally if you choose a convenient time and pay a stated sum for each guest according to the cost of extra food.

"Be more careful of her money than you are of your own. Do not use more than your share of electric light and hot water. Do not monopolize the newspaper, the new magazines or the telephone.

Never Criticize The Servants Or Correct The Children.

"Make your own bed, dust your own room, never go into the kitchen or criticize the servants. Servants always resent the presence of a lady in a paid position. Be on time to meals. Do not ask for the automobile or the use of the piano unless it is offered. Do not correct the children.

Do not allow Mr. M. to ask your opinion on business or other matters, and do not let him feel that you are the one woman who really appreciates and understands him. Even if he and his wife have reached the indifferent stage no woman will tolerate the interference of another woman. Go to your room soon after dinner every night. Remember that there are things a husband and wife may want to talk over alone. Vanish at the shadow of a dispute. Do not allow personal confidences and do not take sides.

"Do you think that you are equal to all this and that the position is preferable to the library and independence?"

Enjoy your meals by taking a teaspoonful of Stafford's Prescription "A" before eating. Price 25c. and 50c. Postage 5 and 10c. extra.—July 22, 1916.

Lost at Sea.

Arthur Pavy, a member of the crew of the bark, Attila, was drowned on the passage recently to Bahia, a communication to that effect having just been received by Messrs. Baine, Johnson & Co., from Captain Enon, of the vessel. It was on Aug. 2nd while attending to the ship's lights that the seaman fell overboard and was never seen afterwards. An attempt to rescue him at the time was useless, owing to conditions at the time. Deceased seaman was 38 years old and a native of British West Indies.

AT THE CRESCENT.

The Crescent Picture-Palace to-day presents George Routh and Helen Wolcott in "The Scarlet Chastity," a wonderful feature produced by the Lubin Company in three reels. "The Scintillating" the world's greatest news film. To-day's issue is chock full of instructive and interesting news items, including in London, England, a solemn procession in commemoration of the sinking of the Lusitania, etc. "Millionaires by Mistake," a Ham and Bud Comedy with Lloyd V. Hamilton, the funniest man in the movies and Bud Duncan, Professor McCarthy playing the latest and best music; don't miss this show to-day it's great.

THE HAMMER.

The man who piles a hammer on every thing that's good, kicks up a lot of clamor, but doesn't see the wood. We stand up for improvement, for forward steps each day; we know the old time groove is meat stagnation and decay. Improvement's banner waving right cheerfully we bump; we want to do some paying, and buy a village pump. We get the people feeling that what we plan is right, and then we hit the ceiling—the knocker is in sight. It is a thousand pities that knockers are on hand; for hammers might be cities, if they were only canned. The burg that's buried under a coat of mold and rust, might be a seventh wonder, if knockers bit the dust. One glum, despondent kicker, who greets all hopeful plans with ribald sneer and snicker, makes boosters also rans. The work of busy boosters is easily destroyed; the kicking human roosters soon make it null and void. So let us knock the kicker, and kick the knocker, too, and march to glory quicker than otherwise we'd do.

"England Yet Thrills to the Calls of Her Past."

M. Emile Hovelague, a French writer of note, in a book on the war just published, pays an eloquent and inspiring tribute to the spirit of the British people.

He says: "The old watchwords yet ring out as clear as in the old days; England yet thrills to the calls of her past, and the hearts of her children yet beat in response to them: the life-blood of her veins stirs and once more rings out of the depths of her past and her soul; she yet listens to the voices which called forth her greatness from the void. And some of these words are potent not only over England, but over all men; the world has heard no nobler ones. The last utterance of Scott in that final solitary agony among the icebound fields of the South Pole, those of Oates, that English gentleman who so quietly gave up life to help his frozen companions in distress, thrilled every human heart, excited and magnified man's very conception of himself. And this loyalty to the virtue ideal of the race endures yet. The dead grey cables which run through the primeval slime of the ocean, binding the Motherland to her distant Dominions, thrilled her children: "When England is at war, Canada is at war;" "To her last thrilling and her last man Australia will support the cause of the Empire." And her sons throng to her from Canada, Australia, from the remotest regions of the earth, and their bearing testifies they are her children still, in spite of Germany's denial, and the bond Germany thought broken is stronger than ever.

"Not for the Motherland alone do they lay down their lives, but for the heritage they hold from her, and which like her, is threatened, the traditions of liberty, equal justice, self-government, democracy, which she gave them with her blood, and which are living in every drop that courses through their veins; they are the creation of their race, its contribution to civilization; and never was contribution more precious, nobler, worthy to be defended at the cost of any sacrifice, at the cost of life itself. And the feelings that draw them to England's side, feelings Germany despises because in her blindness she cannot see their force, nor produce the like, nor in her slavish subservience even conceive them, are a living, an undying force; the ideal they correspond to is one of the final aims of all mankind; vaguely, almost unconsciously, it stirs within the souls of the Colonists, settlers, laborers, artisans, traders, who flock from Canada or lands beneath the Southern Cross. It is for the immaterial idea of their race, not for its material aggrandizement, they come to battle; not for a base commercialism but for the free expansion of all life in security and peace; for a loftier form of peaceful human progress which sets Right above Might, and will bow to the tyranny of no man." — Halifax Chronicle.

Your Boys and Girls.

There are those who hold that the methods of preparing milk for the artificially fed baby have been too complicated. The reason why most women who discontinue breast feeding their young babies and give them the bottle, is that they think it will be less trouble. On the contrary bottle feeding is a trouble maker. It is trouble to prepare the milk, to keep it properly, to get the bottle ready, to heat the milk.

It is more trouble to do this than it is to put the baby to the breast, especially since mothers are following the plan of nursing the baby every four hours, and only once or not at all during the night.

When we take into account the sickness rate among bottle fed as compared with breast fed babies, the argument is very much in favor of the theory that breast feeding is less troublesome than bottle feeding. In fact, bottle feeding is so very troublesome that most poor people give it up and go to condensed milk and infant's food.

SPECIAL RELIGIOUS SERVICES.
LONDON, Oct. 22. King George, Queen Mary and many members of the Royal Household attended special religious services in Buckingham Palace last night in connection with the national religious revival. Services similar to these held in the Palace are being held throughout the kingdom this month.

BRITISH MAKING HEADWAY.
LONDON, Oct. 22. The British on the Somme front have made additional headway in their push towards Bapaume along the main road from Albert, according to today's announcement by the war office which records a gain of ground near Butts de Wallencourt.

OFFICIAL FROM GENERAL HEADQUARTERS.
LONDON, Oct. 22. An official statement issued last night from General Headquarters, France, reads: Early on Saturday the enemy made a determined attack in considerable strength on the Schwaben redoubt. At all points, except two, he was repulsed, with loss before reaching our trenches. At two points he entered the trenches, but was ejected immediately, leaving five officers and 80 men prisoners, and a large number of dead in front of our trenches. Subsequently we delivered a successful attack on a front of some 5,000 yards between Schwaben redoubt and Le Sars. We advanced our line from 300 to 500 yards, captured Staff and Regina trenches, as well as advanced our positions north and northeast of Schwaben redoubt. During the day hostile artillery was active in the region south of Arras and around Guedecourt. Yesterday the weather was clear, and most successful work was done by our aircraft. We bombarded enemy positions and attacked among other points an important

Incandescent Gas Lighting.

The remarkable economy of the incandescent gas lamp is by no means either its chief—or even an important—claim for popularity. It meets better than any other source of artificial light the requirements of ideal light. In the color of the light produced it is far superior to any other illuminant in general and universal use. The investigations of acknowledged authorities indicate that for the approximation of artificial daylight the gas mantle has at least one and one-half times the value of the carbon-filament electric lamp. This quality is highly desirable, indeed absolutely essential where the approximation of daylight color values is important. For lighting shops, displaying haberdashery, suitings, gowns, millinery, etc., the incandescent gas lamp is not even remotely approached by any other incandescent lamp. Of all the manifold advantages of gas light, perhaps the most important is its favourable effect upon the eyes. The development of the incandescent electric lamp with its intense brilliant and glaring filament has been accompanied by hitherto unheard of prevalence of eye troubles and diseases which are forcing themselves upon the attention of the medical fraternity. This is resulting in a greater appreciation of the soft, mellow quality of gas light and is rapidly enlarging its field of use.—July 23, 1904 junction and an ammunition depot, and derailed four coaches of a train. There was continuous fighting in the air, in which three enemy machines were destroyed, and others brought down damaged. Two of our machines are missing.

SUCCESSFUL ATTACK.
LONDON, Oct. 22. (Official.) Our attack yesterday was very successful, and our whole objective was gained. Over 800 German prisoners were taken and more are reported coming in at the collecting stations. Our casualties were slight. During the night the enemy made no attempt to retake the ground captured.

GERMANS REPULSED.
PARIS, Oct. 22. Violent counter attacks by the Germans north and south of the Somme, were broken down by barrage fire of the French. The Huns did not reach the French lines at a single point. In an action north of Blaise Wood the French took 250 prisoners. There has been heavy bombardment all along the front, especially on the right bank of the Meuse. The Germans made use of liquid fire in the Somme attack in the region of Blaise wood, but were repulsed everywhere with heavy losses.

FRENCH GENERALS WOUNDED.
PARIS, Oct. 22. Two of the best known Generals of the French Army, Brigadier General Marchand of Fashoda fame, and General St. Claire Deville, have been injured. General Marchand's injuries are not regarded as serious, in fact it is announced that he will be able to continue in command of his brigade on the west front. General St. Claire Deville, however, is seriously wounded.

WINTER SETTING IN ON RUSSIAN FRONT.
LONDON, Oct. 22. There is every indication that winter will set in very early on the Russian front. According to despatches from Petrograd snow has been falling thickly in the Russian capital during the last two days, and there have been several snow-falls in the Carpathians. In Roumania, however, the war theatre, which is just now attracting most attention, the probability is that there will be some weeks yet of good campaigning weather.

ON THE EASTERN FRONT; RUSSIANS SLOWLY GAINING GROUND.
NEW YORK, Oct. 22. A correspondent cables: The next three weeks will probably see the climax of this struggle on the whole Russian front. So far there is no indication of a definite result, although the Russians unquestionably are slowly gaining ground. The chief Russian move, at the moment, seems to aim at the environment of Halicz from the north, and cutting off the Teuton line of communications between that stronghold and Lemberg. That the attacks of the Czar's troops are succeeding in smashing the enemy's defences at some points is indicated by the sudden and hurried transfer of the German third guards division to Halicz sector from Lemberg, where they had hitherto been held in reserve. In Volynia, the Russians have made a dent in the enemy line near Czertany, fifteen miles southeast of Kovel.

SERBIAN VICTORY.
LONDON, Oct. 22. The battle for Monastir in Serbia takes the first place in the news of today in the London papers. The Serbians are credited with brilliant successes, having by the capture of Brod and Velyeselo on Thursday gained a position behind the main Bulgarian front, against which the Entente Allies made an unsuccessful attack in force last Saturday. The Serb advance is regarded as of the greatest importance to the whole Entente programme against Monastir. The Serbians are still continuing the battle, which also has been taken up by their allies. The latest despatch regarding the situation comes from Reuter's Athens correspondent under date of Friday. It says, there is desperate fighting in Kennal sector where the Serbs are attacking along the entire line, supported by the French. The struggle went on all day yesterday and has not yet been concluded. A British press representative with the Serbian army, in a despatch dated Thursday, says the sudden thrust of the Serbians across the Cerna River has driven the Bulgarians out of the villages of Brod, Dradilovo and Velyeselo and the enemy is being chased by cavalry out of sight behind the hills. The Kennal line of entrenchments, which are comparable to trenches of the Western front, stands against a determined frontal attack proved inadequate last week, are now geographically speaking, turned. The Serbians on the Bulgar line flank are behind the main alignment of the Bulgarian front. To-day's offensive in part surpassed the expectations even of the Serbians themselves.

ATTEMPTING TO CHECK SERBIAN ADVANCE.

BERLIN, Oct. 22. German troops are now assisting Bulgarians in an attempt to check the advance of the Serbians, who forced a passage of the Cerna River on the Macedonian front, southeast of Monastir, and captured several towns.

VON FALKENHAYN'S OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, Oct. 22. Von Falkenhayn's offensive against the Roumanians in Transylvania is believed to be Germany's last card, if they are repulsed there, their whole gains can be considered lost, he writes. Still it cannot be assumed that the crisis is permanently passed, he continues, although the Roumanians now hold the passes strongly and have spread panic among the enemy by rolling down on them from the mountains barrels of flame. The Germans and Austrians now have twelve to 14 divisions on the Transylvania front and probably will continue sending reinforcements as long as the weather permits operations in the mountainous region. More than a fortnight has passed since the Roumanians had to withdraw before this long force and the enemy has not attained his aim. The Carpathians have become the tomb of thousands of the enemy, and the impetuous attacks of the Bavarian highlanders have been repulsed with enormous losses.

AUSTRIAN PREMIER SHOT.

LONDON, Oct. 22. Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent says that Premier Karl Stuerghk of Austria was shot to-day by the publisher of the Vienna newspaper Avler, according to a telegram to Amsterdam from Berlin. Nothing is yet known as to the motive. Another message says that a meeting of the cabinet was called and that the aged Emperor Francis Joseph was much affected. The Premier was shot while dining in the Hotel Metstal Und Schaden on the Kärntner Strasse.

GERMAN LIGHT CRUISER TORPEDOED.

LONDON, Oct. 22. An announcement by the Admiralty reads: A British submarine just returned from the North Sea reports that she torpedoed a German light cruiser of the Kolberg class early on Thursday morning. When last seen the cruiser was steaming slowly, in evident difficulties, toward German waters.

HOSTILE AIRSHIP DOES SLIGHT DAMAGE.

LONDON, Oct. 22. (Official.) A hostile aeroplane approached over Sheerness at 4.45 p.m. Sunday, flying very high. Four bombs were dropped, three of which fell into the harbor. The fourth fell in the vicinity of a railway station and damaged several railway coaches. British aeroplanes went up and the raider made off in a northerly direction. No casualties reported.

SERBS CONTINUE OFFENSIVE.

PARIS, Oct. 22. The official account of operations on the Macedonian front issued here today says that the Serbian forces which crossed the Cerna River thrusting back the Bulgarians and capturing several villages, are continuing the offensive movement and have made further progress.

BOMBARD BULGAR DEFENCES.

SALONIKA, Oct. 22. Bulgarian defences at the mouth of the Struma River, in northeastern Greece, were bombarded to-day by the Allied fleet.

SEAPLANE BROUGHT DOWN.

LONDON, Oct. 22. An official issued this afternoon says that a hostile seaplane was shot down and destroyed this afternoon by one of our naval aircraft. The enemy machine fell into the sea. Judging by the time, this is probably the seaplane which visited Sheerness to-day.

SERBIAN CAPTURES.

VODENA, Greece, Oct. 22. The Serbian offensive is proceeding successfully. The Serbians have captured four field guns, one trench mortar, seven machine guns, two Bulgarian officers, a German officer, 114 Bulgars and 25 Germans.

GIVE AND TAKE.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 22. The new offensive of Field Marshal Von Mackensen in Dobruja, has caused the Russian-Roumanian troops to retire slightly, the war office announced to-day. On the Transylvania front the Roumanians were forced back in the Bazou valley. On the northern and northeastern Roumanian fronts, near the little town of Bekas, forty versts west of Piatra, the Roumanians surrounded an enemy division which was occupying a small mountain ridge, the statement says. There they took 500 prisoners and captured two guns and five machine guns. In the Valley River of Twotus, successful fighting continues. There one hundred rank and file and one officer were taken prisoners, and two machine guns captured.

REASON FOR ASSASSINATION.

VIENNA, Oct. 22. The assassination of the Austrian Premier, Count Karl Stuerghk, was purely political, induced by his refusal to convene Parliament, according to the admission of Dr. Friedrich Adler, his assassin, shortly after his arrest. Dr. Adler is an eccentric super-radical socialist, and sometimes known as the Liebknecht of Austria. He is editor of Der Kampf. He at first declined to reveal the motive of the assassination, but after being locked up he broke down, and declared that the Premier's political policy led him to do the deed. Dr. Adler's arrest was not accomplished without the wounding of two more men, who leaped after him after he fired on Count Stuerghk. He discharged the two remaining chambers of his revolver at these men, before the Austrian and German officers, with drawn swords, overpowered him. The wounded men, who are injured slightly are Baron Aehrenthal, brother of the late Foreign Minister, and the headwaiter of the hotel in which the shooting occurred.

PROTEST OF GERMANY.

CHRISTIANIA, Oct. 22. The German Minister has presented to the Norwegian Government a note, protesting against Norway's embargo on submarines of belligerent countries. The cabinet held a meeting and discussed the note, but a decision in the matter has not yet been made public. It was unanimously supported the Government in its right to issue such ordinance, which Sweden has already done. The Norwegian ordinance with respect to submarines of belligerent powers, forbids such vessels from traversing Norwegian waters, except in cases of emergency, when they must remain upon the surface and fly the national flag. Merchant subs are to be allowed the Norwegian waters only in surface positions, in full daylight, and flying the national colors. Any submarine violating the ordinance will, according to its provisions, be attacked by armed forces.

Defenders of Verdun Says They Will Soon be Doing Better Than That.
Paris, Oct. 13.—Gen. Nivelle, Commander of the French forces at Verdun, in talking with Walter Hale, an artist, and H. O. Beatty, Director-General of the American Relief Clearing House of New York, at his headquarters during the shelling of German trenches by the French on Tuesday, remarked that the French were throwing more than one hundred shells to one thrown by the Germans, and that soon they will be doing better than that. The defender of Verdun said that his army had had its bitter struggles, but that now if there should be an attack it would be broken by the French. Beatty and Hale watched the cannonade for two hours at night from the ramparts of Verdun. They also spent a night in the citadel at Verdun with General Petain, Commander of the French forces in the Soissons-Verdun region, with whom they also had lunch. General Petain thanked Director Beatty for the gift of 50,000 francs by the American Relief Clearing House. The General said he intended to use the money in purchasing artificial legs and arms for the mutilated soldiers of his army. The French Commander said he deeply appreciated the open-hearted character of the American people.

Here is Some thing Good to Read

Now That It is Too Dark to Go Out at Night.

WITHIN THE LAW.

(Cloth Bound, 75c. (By Marvin Dana and Bayard Veiller.)

Mary Turner, a sales girl in a New York department store, is unjustly convicted of theft, and is "sent away" for three years as an example to the other employees.

She lays the responsibility for the crime at the door of the Proprietor, who pays starvation wages. On the theory that the law can be moulded to suit the convenience of the rich, she surrounds herself with a clever band of crooks—upon her release from jail—with the sole object of acquiring wealth for the purpose of revenge; and she succeeds because she keeps WITHIN THE LAW.

How she carries out her purpose and eventually brings her persecutors to book must not be detailed here; suffice to say that a story of absorbing and tense dramatic interest has been developed out of this tremendous play, which has been one of the few genuine successes of recent years.
