Parcels for Newfoundland Forces Overseas!

(1) Parcels must not exceed 11 lbs. weight.
(2) Parcels addressed to members of the Newfoundland Forces Overseas should bear the name and address of a second addressee to whom the parcels may be delivered or forwarded if it should prove impossible to deliver the first. The original address should be written on the FRONT of the parcel where the postage stamp and Customs declaration are affixed, and the second or alternative address should be written on the BACK of the parcel. If not deliverable to first addressee, send to . . . . . (2nd addressee).

(3) If a second address is not furnished at the time of posting and delivery cannot be effected, the contents of the parcel, unless of exceptional value or of a personal nature, will be turned over to the Military Authorities for distribution.

(4) Parcels containing articles of a personal nature or of special value will be returned if a request for their return in case of non-delivery is made by the sender, such request to be written on the parcel at the time of posting.

(5) This plan is being adopted at the suggestion of the British Post Office, which states that the present procedure of holding undelivered parcels at the Dead Letter Office until instructions are received as to their disposal is resulting in the waste of a large quantity of perishable food-stuffs, which form the contents of 90 per cent. of parcels addressed to soldiers.

J. R. BENNETT, Acting Minister of Militia.

CHAPTER XXXV. HAPPINESS BEYOND WORDS.

"Olive, I—dared not to speak to you before; I was unworthy to even dream of you; yet others as unworthy have dared to approach you. I can bear this suspense no longer. I love you more dearly than life itself. Will you give me hope?"

Olive's eyes were cast down, so he could not read his answer there. "Think of the years," he continued, "the bitter years that have passed since, even in your childhood, I looked upon you and loved you. I have thought of you, and you alone; I have enshrined you in my heart. Ah! don't make my life more barren than it has ever been. Don't send me away with no hope that you love me in return."

He stopped and looked into her face, now returned to him. It wore the same tense look of adoration with which she had gazed on him as a child, so dazzling him by her childish loveliness that he had fallen. But now he was to fall no more; for she half turned to him, and with a cry of joy he gathered her in his arms; and Olive Seymour's heart went out to him who, no matter how lowly his position, had ever been her lord.

For a time there was silence—a lover's silence that is broken at last by the interchange of memories, mutual pleasures and regrets. The hours went on unheeded, till presently Olive started up, a look of pain in her eyes.

And the worst is yet to come—

Valley to replace his defalcations.

Luckily for Reuben, the fund of gold seemed to be inexhaustible, and from the labored account that he received from Jen and his mates, they were fairly on the road to becoming, if not millionaires, yet at least very wealthy men. This enabled Reuben to pay back to Sir Edwin all the sums of money he had handed over to John Verner. It was found, too, that no money had been invested in the companies which Sir Edwin had believed to have failed; in his eagerness to trust Verner, he had handed the checks to him, and he, in his turn, had put the money in his own uses. Reuben had great difficulty in getting the old man to take back the money, but finally overcame his scruples with the aid of Olive.

To their intense surprise old Wynter and Sir Edwin became boon companions; and the latter's knowledge of theatrical matters soon threatened to swamp his interest in agriculture, while both seemed to have taken a fresh lease of life.

Reuben also had to make friends with the county people, who had been estranged by his romantic history. Yet of them all, one alone was missing whom he longed to meet—that one was Lord Cravenden.

Reuben knew of his safe arrival in England, and both Olive and himself had been deeply thankful for they had both believed him dead. The story of his romantic marriage had also reached them, and this was a source of gratitude to Olive, who felt now that she had not ruined his life. Reuben had told her of the rescue, and they both looked forward to seeing Lord Cravenden; but the happy pair still tarried on at Cravenden Hall, in Gloucestershire; and were not returning to the Manor House, at Falcot, for some time. Reuben would have written; but he had no idea of the friendship that Lord Cravenden had felt for him, and he was loath to let himself be known as "Digger Jack;" he feared the fuss that Lord Cravenden might make of him for having saved his life. The recognition was bound to come in time, and account would have to be rendered as to his share in the Golden Valley; but Reuben put it off as long as possible.

"Oh, Reu," she said quickly, "what of Morgan? He can't force me to marry him even now, can he? What shall I do if—"

"My darling!" whispered her lover, "don't give him another thought. All the past is dead and gone with him." Then, very gently, he told her of Morgan's death, and though shocked and grieved at its suddenness, Olive could hardly restrain a feeling of relief though she blamed herself for her callousness. Had she been kinder to him— But at this Reuben rebelled, and drove away her lingering doubts forever.

They made their way together to the house, where they found Sir Edwin, blissfully engaged in planning out the future of the Grange and Bingleigh. His surprise at their news was so obviously overcome that Olive laughingly declared that he was glad to be rid of her; and it was a happy trio that centered back over the downs to tell the news afresh to Wynter—the old man who had brought them together; and who would have yielded up his life that Reuben might escape from death.

CHAPTER XXXVI. THE WEDDING DAY.

IT was arranged that the wedding should take place in about six weeks' time. Reuben flatly refusing to wait any more, he would have run off with Olive there and then, thus following his ill-fated cousin's example, nor would he have been satisfied with Topsy as a substitute.

Fortunately there was plenty for him to do. He had to superintend the fitting up of the Grange, so that it might suit the tastes of its future mistress; then also he had to settle the affairs which John Verner had thrown into such disorder. As he himself had said, he was ruined, and, with him, the estate; and it took a goodly number of the nuggets from the Golden

IN THE TOILS; But Happiness Comes at Last.

CHAPTER I. A CHANCE TO ESCAPE.

AT an open casement of an old-fashioned cottage in the old-fashioned village of Hawthorpe, sat a young girl. A French philosopher says that the most beautiful sight in nature is the face of a happy girl; if he is right, then Olive Estcourt is not a most beautiful sight in nature; and yet it is no ordinary face; she is no ordinary girl. Follow the example of the sun that is shining full upon the window and look at her, as she bends, with that wearied impatience which we know so well, over her work, and acknowledge that if the face is not "faultily faultless," it is one which commands and rivets attention.

The face is oval, the eyes and the hair are dark.

There are plenty of oval faces and dark eyes in the world, but there are few with such capacities of expression as Olive Estcourt's shows.

"Speech," says the same philosopher, "was given us to conceal our thoughts;" Olive Estcourt's face revealed hers.

It was one of those faces which speak. The sun slowly sets behind the church tower; from the belfrey the cracked bell chimes out seven; then, as if aroused from her absorption, Olive raises her head and looks up from her work.

One saw then that her thoughts were not working with her fingers. With a gesture of infinite weariness and impatience she threw her arms above her head, then, as the work slipped from her lap, she leaned forward, and, resting her face on her hands, looked out upon the twilight that comes creeping over the hills.

Before her stretch one of those pastoral scenes for which old England is noted—in the street beneath her lumbers drowsily along an empty wagon returning to the farm. She sees not the scene, she hears nothing, but, with a fixed gaze, stares into a vision of the future. It is not, as she sees it, a pleasant one. Work, work, work! a life of monotonous routine rises before her mental view and appalls her.

It is well that though we peer so eagerly into the unknown it is still the unknown. If Olive Estcourt could see her future unravelling itself, like a panorama in the twilight, what a storm of emotions would that prophetic vision raise; a vision of flashing, dazzling light, a glimmer of silk and satin and gems, the roar of a maddened, delighted crowd; the murmur of love, the kiss of envy and hate; the soft, effulgent glow of joy, and the deep darkness of a bitter pain, is all there if Olive could see it. Instead of this, rousing from her reverie, she sees the plodding wagon and hears, in the room beneath, the murmur of a monotonous, complaining voice.

It is a sound that Olive knows well—too well, and, unconsciously, the dark, distinct brows gather in a straight line over her eyes and make them seem darker and deeper.

Presently the voice ceases, and another takes up the pause. This voice Olive knows, also, and the red, mobile lips curve uneasily. The face, all unconsciously, speaks, tells as plainly as a tongue could do, that neither voice is welcome to her. After a few minutes the voices cease altogether, and a footstep is heard upon the stairs, the door of the room opens, and the first voice, close behind her, says, in an irritable, complaining voice:

"Olive, are you there? Dreaming again! Girl, you are always mooning and dreaming while your work—"

The girl, without turning her head, breaks in slowly, quietly:

"The work is done, aunt."

"Done! Why didn't you come down and tell me, then? You know how Lady Rivers has worried me about it—I shall have 'em here about it again directly. Where is it? Not on the ground!"

But it is on the ground, and Olive stoops to recover the dainty dinner dress which she has been finishing. As she does so, the woman crosses the room and stands looking down at her. It is a sour, ill-tempered, dissatisfied face, unpleasant to look at; perhaps for that reason Olive does not look up at it as she shakes the dress gently, and folds it; then she places it in a light box, and, with the same weary, absent expression, walks toward the door. The elder woman, who has been watching her covertly, fidgeting about the window sill, picking up the needle and the cotton and setting them down in the same place again, says:

"Where are you going now, Olive?"

The girl turns, with a faint expression of surprise.

"To the Court—they are waiting for it, you say."

"Let them wait," retorts the other, rather unreasonably. "Who are they that they should be slaved for hand and foot, minute for minute? Let them wait. It seems to me that slavery's done away with in every part of the world excepting England; the poor are all slaves here, and don't own very good masters, neither. Let them wait!"

Girls! Draw A Moist Cloth Through Hair Double Its Beauty

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

Men's Work Shirts.

Men's COLD WEATHER SHIRTS. WE HAVE THEM!

Shirt Flannels and Winceys have been difficult goods to get even at high prices, but we have managed to procure a fairly decent assortment of MEN'S FLANNEL and WINCET SHIRTS at pretty decent prices.

If you want a bit of Red Flannel to wear on your "chest" these times, you've got to pay about $1.15 per yard for it. It takes about three and a half yards of Flannel to make a shirt, and there is the cost of making. Now, do a little figuring. We offer—

MEN'S STRIPED WINCET SHIRTS at . . . . . $1.50 each
MEN'S HEAVY GREY FLANNEL SHIRTS at . . . . . $1.35 each
MEN'S FINEST QUALITY STRIPED and GREY FLANNEL SHIRTS at $3.00 to $3.50 each.

These latter range in size from 14 1/2 to 17 1/2 inch neckbands, and are made with detachable collars. Most of our other Shirts are made with collars attached.

We have a lot of other Work Shirts which we do not mention here as the quantities are small. Amongst them

A Big Seller is Our Men's Khaki Winceyette Shirts, only $1.35 each.

You will have to admit, on the present prices of materials, that our Shirt Prices are more than reasonable. But be warned, we can't do these prices for always, so buy now. We mention that we have

BOYS' STRIPED WINCET AND FLANNELETTE SHIRTS, without collars; sizes 12 to 14.

ANOTHER DEMAND BY LABOR.
PARIS, Feb. 1.
A despatch from Geneva, Switzerland, to the Temps, says that the Swiss Federal Council, at an extraordinary meeting, at which General Ulrich Wille, Commander of the Army, and his chief of staff were present, considered the ultimatum that had been issued to the Federal Council by the Labor Federation, demanding the demobilization of the Swiss Army, beginning immediately, and remaining not later than May. The labor ultimatum demanded that deserters and recalcitrants as well as men in the auxiliary service shall be mustered out immediately, and given their unpaid salaries. The Federation of Labor Unions adopted the resolution by a vote of 122 to 75, but the minority declares that the action taken was irregular.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR SWISS BORDER.

PARIS, Feb. 1.
A despatch to the Havas Agency from Berne, says that reinforcements of Swiss troops on the Swiss border have been decided upon by the Federal Council because of the interior and the exterior situation. A brigade of infantry and a detachment of cavalry and pioneers have been added to the force.

RUSSIAN ARMY CONDITIONS.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 1.
The war correspondent of the Netherland reports that portions of the Russian front, which have been entirely evacuated, are growing in extent. Trenches are falling in places, posts which were used for wire entanglements are being burned as fire-wood. The disbanding of some military units is in progress south of the Pripiet region, and artillery men are selling their horses. The report says soldiers guarding the road to Lutsk no longer demand passports, but require payment of a toll of twenty rubles for every vehicle.

STRIKE IN MUNICH.

LONDON, Feb. 1.
A three days' strike has been declared in Munich, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam to-day. In Berlin, the despatch adds,

EARLY MESSAGES

ANOTHER DEMAND BY LABOR.

PARIS, Feb. 1. A despatch from Geneva, Switzerland, to the Temps, says that the Swiss Federal Council, at an extraordinary meeting, at which General Ulrich Wille, Commander of the Army, and his chief of staff were present, considered the ultimatum that had been issued to the Federal Council by the Labor Federation, demanding the demobilization of the Swiss Army, beginning immediately, and remaining not later than May. The ultimatum demanded that deserters and conscientious objectors be sent to the auxiliary service shall be mustered out immediately, and given their unpaid salaries. The Federation of Labor Unions adopted the resolution by a vote of 132 to 75, but the minority declares that the action taken was irregular.

new reasons, it was said, were advanced by the President for his opposition, and he was most positive in reiterating that the measures would cripple and embarrass him in the conduct of the war. He again referred to the difficulties President Lincoln had with similar subordinate bodies. The President stated his belief that a large measure of co-ordination had been secured, and that all necessary steps have been and are being taken without the necessity for legislation. The Senators who attended the conference said that undoubtedly efforts would be made in the Senate in conformance with the President's desire to minimize the agitation in behalf of the two bills.

HEATLESS MONDAYS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. After a conference to-day between Director-General McAdoo and Fuel Administrator Garfield, there were strong indications that the heatless Mondays might be abandoned next Monday, Feb. fourth. It was considered that the fuel problem had become purely one of transportation. An order giving transportation preference for coal for domestic consumers, ships for certain classes and war industries, is expected to be continued, and in itself will serve to keep many of the less essential industries closed on Mondays.

DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. Differences between members of the Senate and the inter-state commerce committee over the railroad bill were adjusted to-day, when the committee upheld the report of the sub-committee. The report recommended that a bill be submitted to the Senate with the provision of fixing a period of Government control to 18 months after the war, and retaining a section authorizing the President to fix rates, but permitting an appeal to the inter-state commerce commission.

AFTER THE GAMBLERS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. Luxurious gambling establishments known to be frequented by wealthy women, and located in fashionable residential sections of the city, are to be investigated through the taking of testimony in open court, soon, it was announced to-day by the District Attorney's office. The inquiry is expected to be begun next week. Information in the prosecutor's possession, according to the Assistant Attorney, shows that the wife of one prominent New Yorker lost $10,000 within two hours in one of these places. On the upper west side there are more than forty splendidly appointed gambling places, in which women motor every afternoon, taking their dogs with them and often stronger beverages while they engage in games of chance. According to the District Attorney's information, evidence that the proprietors of these houses are guilty of crooked practices in dealing with patrons will be adduced at the inquiry.

WILL SUPPRESS STRIKES.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 1. The Commander-in-Chief of Brandenburg Province, which includes Berlin, has issued a warning to the population against disturbances, which he announced will be suppressed, according to a semi-official statement from Berlin to-day. It is declared in the statement that there are no indications of an extension of the strike in Berlin, and that outside the capital there has been little spread of the movement.

HALIFAX PILOT COMMISSION.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1. The personnel of the Commission to investigate the Halifax Pilots conditions, will be Thomas Robb, Montreal, manager and secretary of the Shipping Federation of Canada, Capt. Jas. M. Bales, Deputy Port Warden, Montreal, and Captain James Harrison, marine superintendent of the Furness, Withy and Co., Halifax.

HENDERSON'S APPEAL.

LONDON, Feb. 1. We are all weary of the war, said Arthur Henderson, Labor leader, and former member of the War Council, in an address to the representatives of the Engineers to-day. Immediate peace is the greatest need of the world, but peace cannot be achieved by one section of labor acting by itself. Peace will come when the working class movement as a whole has discovered by conference, conditions of an honorable and democratic peace worthy of the unimaginable sacrifices the people have made. Henderson's address was an appeal to the engineers to abandon their opposition to the man-power bill providing for the raising of additional troops which is now before Parliament. Henderson said that his knowledge of history and of controversy had convinced him that Labor was justified in its stand. He continued: In the past Labor responded with real patriotism, fully and freely. Is it too much to appeal to the patriotism of the Government? I strongly urge the Government to display a more reasonable spirit.

FRENCH RAID.

PARIS, Feb. 1. French troops last night made raids on the German lines in the vicinity of Newport, Belgium, and in the Rheims sector. A number of prisoners and one machine gun were captured, the war office announced to-day.

BIG FIRE IN WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1. Fire to-day gutted the business block formerly known as the Canpac Telegraph Block. One Chinaman, who refused to jump in the life net from the top story, was burned to death. The loss is estimated at $500,000.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN MURDERED.

PARIS, Feb. 1. The killed include 11 women and 5 children. The funeral of the victims of the raid probably will be held on Sunday, all expenses being defrayed by the Government. The City of Paris will allot burial plots in perpetuity without cost, to the families of the victims.

ORENBURG CAPTURED.

PETROGRAD, Feb. 1. The Bolsheviks have captured Orenburg, the capital of the Government of the Ukrainians.

TRAIN TRAGEDY.

MOOSE LAKE, Minn., Feb. 1. A Northern Pacific train north bound, struck a bus in which twenty school children were riding late to-day, killing seven. None of the passengers or members of the train crew were injured. A number of children were seriously injured.

NO OFFICIAL STANDING.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. John Reed, an American, appointed as the Russian Consul General in New York, will find when he attempts to assume his duties that he has no official standing before the American Government. Officials at the State Department to-day explained that until recognition of the Bolsheviks at least as a de facto power had been extended, no exequatur could be issued to any consular appointee of Russia. The position of the State Department is wholly technical and was not taken on because of Mr. Reed's indictment under the espionage law in New York. It is customary in the case of a new government to continue recognition of Consuls appointed under the old government and who are continued at the same points by the new government.

FLOOD THREATENED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. Serious conditions, which threaten a disastrous flood in the Ohio River, were reported to the railroad administration to-day by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad management. The river already has forced trains out of the passenger station at Cincinnati and interfered with freight movements. South of Cincinnati the railroad authorities report there is an ice gorge 700 feet deep, which, with a continued rise of water, may cause serious damage.

PARIS CASUALTIES.

PARIS, Feb. 1. Forty-five persons were killed and 207 injured in the German raid Wednesday night, according to the latest revised figures to-day. Of these, 31 persons were killed and 131 injured in Paris, while 14 were killed and 76 injured in the suburbs.

TO RELIEVE COTTON SHORTAGE.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. To relieve the shortage of cotton at the New England mills, Director-General McAdoo instructed C. S. Markham, regional railway director for the south, to ship immediately between 50,000 and 100,000 bales of cotton to Brunswick, Savannah, Charleston and other southern ports for transshipment by water to New York and New England.

It is most important that the blood be kept cleared of impurities. This is the business of the Kidneys. One hour's incapacity on the part of the Kidneys and the blood begins to get clogged with poisons which are carried to all parts of the body—giving rise to one or more of the following symptoms:—
Rheumatism follows the crystallizing of uric acid in the muscle tissues and joints. Uric acid poisons should be eliminated by the Kidneys.
Swollen joints and ankles indicate the immediate need for Gin Pills. Pains in the sides and back, and through the groin, constant headaches, restless nights, derangements of the urinary system, stone and gravel, pusiness under the eyes and frequent chills—all these should be taken as warnings and a treatment with Gin Pills taken at once.

have come into possession of documents, said to have been taken from the Germans in this sector, and which deal with the treatment to be accorded prisoners. The documents say that all prisoners, including commissioned and non-commissioned officers, after being captured are to be kept in cages four days without food and compelled to stand all the time. At the end of the four-day period, only small quantities of food are to be given. Although definite information on the point is lacking, some American officers to-day expressed the belief that the order resulted from the difficulties the Germans probably experienced in extracting information from the American prisoners captured in November. Such treatment of prisoners, it is felt, could only be designed to make them give up military information.

DEMOCRACY MUST DECIDE.
LONDON, Feb. 1. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Sir Edward Carson, addressing the British Empire Producers' Organization, said the present was a critical time both for ourselves and our enemies. He believed the position had resolved itself into this, "Would autonomy, disciplined for war, show a greater endurance and courage than a league of democracies trained for peace?" The real issue was: Could democracy, when attacked, defend itself? We all wanted peace, but the recent speeches of the Austro-German leaders had not offered an honorable peace. We were told we must give up Aden, Gibraltar, the Falklands, Hong Kong, and Malta. "As long as this is the enemy dream," Sir Edward declared, "this country, down to the greatest pacifist, will have nothing to do with it." (Loud applause.)

A History of Deceit.

We stated a few days ago that the only real question of importance involved in the present political disturbance is as to the true nature and purposes of the existing ministry. We have kept steadily before the public the one fact that matters, that that ministry is merely the culmination of some years of scheming having for its object the transfer of political control from the hands of the Morris party to those of the F. P. U. After the revelations that followed the resignation of Sir Edward Morris, there should be no need to insist on a truth which they have made so plain. It is one thing, however, to perceive and understand a fact such as this in its broad meaning, and another to know the whole course of events that have led up to it. The latter, as a basis of judgment as to the future, is of far more value than the fact itself. Here we are again indebted to "Vigilance," this time as an historian, with the essential mark of the historian of being able to present just the facts necessary and pertinent and no more.

The column of condensed history which he contributed yesterday was so clear in its logical sequence, so damning in its exposure of the treachery and deceit that run through the whole of it, that we will not risk spoiling it by offering any comment. What we wish to consider here is something more important than the career of duplicity of the two leading actors. It is the question how the country at large has been treated by them and where it stands in relation to the state of things they have brought about. Fortunately, the matter is so clear that it can be expressed in a few words. In every country enjoying self-government the existence and mutual antagonism of political parties has been found not merely necessary but unavoidable. Such faults as the system contains are more or less outweighed by the merit of the healthy and active criticism which it provides, and which being lacking, at present, government becomes little else than corrupt despotism. Parties in this country have always represented persons too much and policies too little, but there is one more closely bound up with the life and closer to the heart of the country than any other and guided by more lasting and definite principles. That is the Liberal party, now so high in the esteem of the electorate as when Sir Robert Bond and his lieutenant Mr. Kent stood at its head, never so much shorn of power and influence as since their guidance was lost. The events which "Vigilance" has set forth in order show how completely, after Sir Robert Bond had measured Mr. Coaker at his true value and done the only thing which self-respect permitted, the wishes and feelings of that large and numerous party were disregarded contemptuously by its "representatives" that remained and the purposes for which they had been elected thrown to the winds. This has been the case with the Liberal party for three years now.

It is the same to-day with that other large section of the country that stood for Tory principles. They can see that neither Sir Edward Morris nor any one of those who have accepted his outrageous secret compact with the leaders of the other side, men whom they had been elected to oppose, cared a jot either for those who elected them or the principles on which they did so. Perhaps the very extent of the shameless double desertion is as well, for it makes the issue a clear-cut and well defined one. Both the Liberal and Tory members of the present administration having combined against those who elected them, it is for the electors to join forces as well. The question has, moreover, become a greater one than that of Liberal and Tory; it is one of the imperative duty that lies upon all the respectable and decent elements in the country to unite against those who have degraded the office of government and will, if permitted, compass things worse even than degradation. The country has now to look to the future, but with knowledge of the past to assist its vision. In the history which "Vigilance" has sketched, perhaps the things done, bad as they were, are less dangerous and less reprehensible than the deceit which covered them. For three years, more or less steadily, Mr. Coaker and Sir Edward Morris were plotting together and had reached an understanding which only awaited more propitious circumstances for its carrying into effect. During the whole of that time Mr. Coaker in the Advocate not merely attacked the Morris Government but assailed its individual members with all the bitterness and force of language at his command. He did so most strongly when this secret understanding seems to have been closest. Language was given to man to conceal his thoughts, a cynic wrote. It seems to serve no other purpose with the Advocate. In the light of all these events the public knows how to judge everything the Advocate says, which is by inversion. If it attacks one individual with particular bitterness, the chances are that Mr. Coaker is on terms of personal intimacy with him. If it denounces, say, confederation in extravagant terms, we shall suspect that confederation designs are afoot behind the scenes. Similarly with conscription and other matters of importance. If any in the country desire to put their trust in men, of whom the only thing certain seems to be said is that no one can dare to believe or take at its face value anything they say, or do, they must be prepared to stand the consequences.

Bonavista.

The Salvation Army have had a visit from Colonel McMillan, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. Orway, for the purpose of opening and dedicating a new hall. The opening services were a splendid success. On Saturday night, Dr. Forbes, representing the town, spoke words of congratulation. Rev. Mr. Lench, Methodist Minister, was also present and spoke of his early associations with the Army, and wished the local Corps "God Speed." Colonel McMillan based his address on the building and opening of Solomon's Temple, and drew very instructive lessons therefrom. He also referred to the work of the Army throughout Canada and Newfoundland, saying it was in the spirit of democracy that the work began and spread, and to use the phrase of President Wilson, the call came from the people, and the progress of the Army was the outcome of this call. The building is seventy feet long and forty feet wide, with seating capacity for six hundred persons; it has a bold, attractive elevation and is approached by wide stairway; inside, the walls are covered with beaver board and hard pine. The building has been built almost entirely by free labor. A number of Salvationists got logs out of the forest for the frame and foundation, and also assisted Adjutant Earle, to whom great credit is due in the erection. For six months the Adjutant has followed the Apostolic plan of St. Paul—in addition to preaching the Gospel, he has labored with his own hands, and is rewarded by seeing this splendid building opened, valued $4,000 with only a debt of $300, which is spread over five years. On Sunday evening Colonel McMillan preached a powerful sermon on "Expect ye Repent," and seventeen persons went forward to the Penitent Bench and professed to receive conversion. Colonel McMillan was also accompanied by Brigadier Sandall, the Editor in Chief of R. A. Literature in Canada.—Com.

The Menace to the Country.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Sir,—Yesterday I disposed of the first question suggested by Dr. Lloyd's statement in the Evening Telegram of January 13th, 1914, and exposed his base treachery to the public in respect thereto. The question remaining is, has the "grave issue, as far as the Liberal Party are concerned," been settled as Dr. Lloyd stated it would be? That is a question which eventually must and will be answered by the people at the polls. Dr. Lloyd and Mr. Coaker settled it for the time being by the greatest betrayal of trust of which men could be guilty, as I think I have already provided. The public, who Dr. Lloyd admitted had "a right to be taken into the confidence of those immediately concerned" before any settlement was made, were, as I demonstrated in my letter yesterday, totally ignored. But what of the Liberal party? Where did they come in in the settlement? Did he consult the representatives of that party before concluding the arrangement by which he hoped to shelve the "grave issue"? Let us see. When Sir Robert Bond, under the circumstances which I have related, handed down the torch of Liberalism, bright in its first enkindling, to Mr. Kent, that gentleman held it aloft, and kept it brightly burning, despite the winds of adversity and treachery that blew around him. But when he received a call to the Supreme Court Bench he was obliged to lay it down. It has flickered during the past two years, because there was no hand strong enough to support it, yet, it has never died out. The sacred flame of Liberalism is still alive, and it will never die out while there are free men in this land.

In his attempt to get rid of the "grave issue as far as the Liberal party are concerned," Dr. Lloyd, immediately upon Mr. Kent's departure to the Supreme Court Bench, proceeded to try and quench the flame of Liberalism by using Coakerism as an extinguisher. To depart from figures of speech, he proceeded at once to destroy the Liberal party, as a distinct entity, by merging it into the Fishermen's Union Party. He was the Solicitor of the Union, the creature of the Union, so far as his Parliamentary position was concerned, and, there was then not a Liberal in the ranks of the Opposition with more back bone than a squid, so he accomplished his task, and he baptised his bastard production the "Liberal-Union Party." Called to task for his conduct, through the columns of the Daily News, he, on March the 27th, 1916, made this apology in the Evening Telegram—"the matter of the name Liberal-Union is no new question. It was settled nearly three years ago, before last election, and the resolution passed last Friday when candidates at the last Election, who have no seats in the Assembly were present, was merely confirmatory of what had been decided upon before the last Election." This statement was untrue. It was the first step by which treachery betrayed itself. Treachery is a thing which is exposed in the matter, Dr. Lloyd, a day or two later, published a statement in the Evening Telegram admitting that it was "untrue." But not only was the statement untrue as regards the name "Liberal-Union," but it was designedly misleading in its allegation that the "resolution confirmatory" of the title was passed "when candidates at the last Election who have no seats in the Assembly were present." The atom of truth blended with the super-abundance of error made the statement the more reprehensible. As a matter of fact not one of the old leaders of the Liberal party was present, or invited to be present, and only two out of all "the candidates at the last Election who had no seats in the Assembly were present." These two, if I am correctly advised, and I believe I am, were W. J. Ellis and P. J. Summers. These gentlemen have received their reward for standing "god-fathers" to the wretched child that was intended to destroy Liberalism in this Country, and to establish Depositionism in its place. One has a seat in the Executive and Legislative Council, the other a Deputy Minister's position in the department of Justice. Let it not be forgotten that at the very time that this piece of deception and treachery was being practised there was in existence the Coalition Agreement made between Lloyd, Coaker and Morris more than twelve months before, and which, according to the statement of the "official organ of the Fishermen's Union" of date December 23rd, 1915, only awaited the acquiescence of "the Reldis" to come into force. I believe history and posterity will consign to disgrace the name and memory of every man who was a party to this political crime. The last rag, or pretext, or shadow of Liberalism that hung on Dr. Lloyd, and his associates in that crime, is now removed by their own acts. Their account in the books of the Liberal party has been closed, and written opposite their names are the words "no effects." The crisis which is upon us, is but the storm which is going to make Liberalism strike its roots deeper in our soil; but the disease with which it has been affected—The morbus Coakerianus—must first be destroyed. To accomplish this the Liberal party must rally its forces. It is desirable that Liberals should come together so that they may learn by contact with each other to rub off some of their separate prejudices, and know by contact with their fellow men how necessary it is to sacrifice a part in order that one may obtain the things that matter most. The principles of the Liberal party, which is scattered throughout our land, were founded on truth, on harmony, and on justice between man and man. For that reason the future of the Liberal party is the future of this Country, and upon it depends the fairest hopes of the well-being and the happiness of our people. It is a truism to say that if the Liberal party is united it need fear no foe. It is most important that Liberals throughout the country should get together without delay, and become active in order that the pestilence of Coakerism may be stayed. Let me say in conclusion, that I am deeply sensible of my obligation to the Evening Telegram for placing its valuable space at my disposal daily during the past month. I have availed of its kind courtesy solely in the interest of the public, and I hope that what I have written, will arouse our people to a sense of the danger, the menace, that threatens the Country and to their duty in the premises; that it will break "the long polar frost of indifference" in respect to grave public issues.

Yours truly,

Pride of ownership, so universal amongst Buick owners, can be ascribed to the fact that Buick ownership brings complete satisfaction. Now is an opportune time to purchase a Buick six-cylinder and a Buick Four that have not been much used—these cars are in good running order and are being sold reasonably. I solicit your enquiry.

Secretary J. Tobin, of the Hockey League, received a message from Mr. T. Winter, of King's College hockey seven, Windsor, N. S., yesterday, stating that the King's College team would be leaving on the 15th inst., and would, if not delayed en route, play their first game on the 18th.

The Victorias and Feldians had an hour each puck chasing last night and showed signs of improvement. With a little stimulant and less individual play the stock of both teams should advance.

The Terra Novas have their team practically secured and are getting in shape for the opening game which will probably come off on next Monday week, when they will clash with the Victorias.

To-Day's Cables.

FISHERIES COMMISSION. BOSTON, To-Day.
The consideration of the lobster industry occupied the attention to-day of the International Fisheries Commission, which is continuing its hearings here on questions involving the fishing interests of this country and Canada. A Federal law regulating the size of lobsters trapped in the waters of the United States or shipped in inter-state commerce with a similar law in Nova Scotia was favored by the several speakers. Lobster dealers told the Commission that if the industry was to be saved it would have to be protected by laws rigidly enforced. They advocated the adoption of 1 1/4 inch as the minimum size for marketable lobsters in both countries. During the discussion of the fish curing business it was brought out that the increased consumption of salt fish as a meat conservation measure had caused an unprecedented demand which dealers had not always been able to supply. To meet this demand plans are being made for the expansion of the steam trawler fleet operating out of Boston to three times its present size.

SIR ERIC GEDDES ON SHIPPING.

LONDON, To-Day.
"I am an optimist regarding the U-boat war," said Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty, to the Associated Press to-day. "The submarine restrained and unrestrained has been met and has not proved invincible. I am inclined to think that now, since I made my last public statement, we are sinking submarines as fast as Germany can build them. My curves are all good and I cannot foresee any way in which the situation can be changed except for the better. The sooner the better is now the Allied navy's aim; but you see there is still a but, and it is a very important one. We must have more ships if we are able to turn this German failure into a positive Allied victory. The submarine destruction of the world's tonnage is not a big percentage of the whole, but submarine destruction still exceeds the production of tonnage, and meantime demands for ships are increasing by leaps and bounds. America's participation in the war must inevitably make large demands on merchant shipping, yet we must continue at the same time to keep up with the demands of the Allied armies and with the vital necessities of the European civil population. Ships and yet more ships is still the most important corollary of the war, and Great Britain is straining every resource to launch every ton of which she is capable. We are at the present moment building merchant ships at a higher rate than ever before in our record before the war, and before 1918 is over all kinds at a rate of more than double that record year. But a great deal depends on the American effort, and I should greatly regret if anything I might say regarding the failure of the German submarine warfare shall be construed as minimizing the need for ships and yet more ships." Turning to the progress of the campaign against German submarines, Sir Eric again referred to the satisfactory trend on the curves to which he has referred in several of his speeches. All the curves continue to bend in the right direction, he said. The destruction of Allied shipping decreased rapidly, construction of merchant shipping increases steadily and the sinking of German submarines steadily rises.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, To-Day.
The War Office statement issued to-night reads: "There has been nothing more than the usual artillery engagements along the greater part of the front. Our airplanes carried out a raid on the enemy airdromes from which the air raiders recently departed for Paris. Bombs and projectiles of large calibre were dropped with good results, which were apparent to our observers. Eastern Theatre. — French and British artillery were active on the Yvandar front. The Serbian artillery fire caused an explosion of an enemy munition depot. An enemy biplane was brought down by a British aviator."

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

ROME, To-Day.
The text of to-day's official communication says: "After repeated unsuccessful attempts to regain lost ground in the area of Sasso Rosso, the enemy initiated yesterday morning a strong action with the object of driving us off of Monte Di Val Bella. The attack however was broken before it reached our line by the effective co-operation of our artillery, which met our assaults with a powerful barrage fire and compelled them to retire to their starting position. On the remainder of the front there was moderate artillery activity. In Giudicaria we repulsed, by our hand grenades fire, enemy detachments which were attempting to approach our lines. Activity by our patrols is reported between Posina and Astico. Last night enemy aircraft dropped bombs on Bassano and a few persons were wounded. Only slight material damage was done."

THE HUNGARIAN PREMIER TALKS.

AMSTERDAM, To-Day.
The Hungarian Premier asserted that the only conditions required were that the integrity of his country's territory should remain unimpaired and that it should have liberty to regulate its natural affairs. "We will oppose all attempts to sow dissension among us, but whether the near future brings us peace or unavoidable battle, it is certain we desire to maintain our alliance with Germany as one of the most effective safeguards of peace." Premier Wekerle said he hoped that the arrangement which Hungary was about to make with Germany, would make sure his country's economic life. That large field of activity which we need for our strong development and our efforts to create close economic relations with Germany are (not ?) directed against other states, he concluded.

WAR REVIEW.

With military operations on all the major battle fronts continuing far below normal the internal political situations in Germany, Russia and Finland are still to the fore in general interest. In all three of these countries the turbulence of the past few days, involving constituted and de facto Governments on the one hand and dissatisfied populations on the other, still prevails. In Russia the Bolsheviks have captured the important Black Sea port of Odessa and also the railroad junction at Oromburg, which lies near the Asiatic frontier. In addition, the Bolsheviks is continuing its programme of hostilities against Roumania, the revolutionary committee of the Black Sea fleet having confiscated a large number of merchant and other vessels in the Black Sea in order to hamper Roumania's commerce. On the other hand the Roumanians have taken the town of Kikineva, the capital of Bessarabia. In Finland the Red Guard everywhere is being defeated by the White Guard or is voluntarily surrendering and laying down their arms. Revolutionists however, still hold Helsinki. On the battle fronts the most important fighting has taken place in the Northern Italian theatre. Here the Austrians endeavored to evict the Italians from the new positions in Monte Di Val Bella in the Asiago Plateau sector, but were repulsed before they could reach the line of defenders. Previously, the Italians by a quick stroke, masterfully carried out, had pushed further forward their line in this region to the head of Telago Valley. Austrian losses in the past few days' fighting, not including men made prisoners, are estimated at between 5,000 and 6,000. On other fronts fighting continues to be carried out by small parties of infantry in raiding operations and by big guns of both sides.

AERIAL NEWS.

LONDON, To-Day.
The War Office, in an elaboration of the official report of the bombing raid, made by British aviators into Germany, Jan. 26, to-night, disclosed the fact that machine gun fire was directed on searchlights, trains, moving lights in roads and on buildings in each of the districts visited, and also in villages in Moselle Valley. Altogether 5,257 pounds of bombs were dropped at an average height of 1500 feet. One pilot made four attempts before reaching his objective, owing to a heavy mist which made flying difficult. An official despatch from London said the British airplanes raised several objectives in Germany, making direct hits on factories and docks, also in the town of Mannheim. In addition the railway stations of Saarebrücken and Oberbiling were attacked with excellent results.

The draped tight forearm section of a wide, modified Victorian period sleeve on a black satin coat was covered like the upper part with steel and taupe floss chanelle embroidery.

N. I. W. A.

Poses and Affectations.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

What is a pose? Why do we so often resent poses (even agreeable ones) in our friends? Is a pose always a bad thing or may it not be in the nature of a star to which the poser has hitched his wagon? We fell to talking on these subjects the other day when someone criticized an old friend because "she poses so terribly."

An explanation was asked for and the critic explained that the offender, once an old school friend, and no more cultured, than the rest, is always trying nowadays to be terribly cultured, reads those awfully highbrow books and goes to highbrow plays and pretends to like art exhibitions and terribly classical music.

A Pose Meant Trying To Be Different.

Apparently, to this woman, a pose simply meant any effort to be different from what one had been in the past. And I think that is what a great many people mean when they accuse some old acquaintance of posing—that he has had the temerity to try to change himself, to improve in some way. They find themselves left behind. Their own inertia resents this activity and they revenge themselves by calling the change a pose.

Suppose one has an ideal of conduct or education and tries to bring oneself into harmony with it. Of course that is not being wholly natural. The perfectly natural thing is to follow the line of least resistance. Any effort toward improvement is unnatural. Civilization is very unnatural.

All of which is not claiming that poses are always praise worthy.

Are You Trying to BE or Only To APPEAR.

I think the line of demarcation comes here, whether one is trying to be the thing or merely to appear it. If a person tries to appear cultured, that is one thing; if he honestly tries to educate and improve himself, that is quite another.

Affectation is another word that is construed in innumerable ways. Some people call any acquired grace of manner, any little air, any mannerism, an affectation. Perhaps they are, but just the same I don't mind them, if they are not overdone.

Too Much Affectation Like Too Much Candy.

I have a friend on whom a little air of babyishness sits charmingly. I like it, I wouldn't have her without it. But there are times when she lays it on too thick. And then I hate it. It's like having too many sweets thrust upon one.

I think one should choose one's airs and graces carefully. Be sure that they are becoming and suitable to one's style, (nothing is more unsuitable for instance, than the airs of a pretty girl on a plain girl) and one's age. And then don't wear them out. Throw them away when they get shabby. For nothing is more unbecoming than a worn out mannerism.

GROUNDHOG DAY.

Now Groundhog Day, my friends, is here, most fateful day of all the year. The groundhog has all prophesies skinned who fuss with maps and measure wind, who multiply the world's distress with bughouse forecasts in the press. The groundhog scorns all lows and highs; he views the landscape and the skies, and if the weather's bright and fair, with signs of springtime everywhere, he crawls right back into his hole, and sighs, "Oh, winter, let her roll! There'll still be snow and ice to burn—you cannot fool me worth a dern!"

But if the skies are overcast, and there's a chill and wintry blast, the groundhog says, "I'll stay outdoors, and start to do my verbal chores. Old Boreas has come and went—he can't fool me worth a cent." The groundhog's grammar may be punk, but his predictions are not bunk. As we grow old our faith declines in goosebones and the other signs; and human prophets make us sore—they don't guess right one time in four, and they are guessing every day, until they fewer wives would have to carry around a heavy heart and a domestic science chart.

Household Notes.

Veal and boiled rice can be used by lining a baking dish with the rice, then filling it with chopped veal seasoned with onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Bake till brown.

To make fried mush, pour corn meal mush into an enameled dish, and when cold cut into slices and fry in hot drippings until well browned. Serve hot with butter and syrup.

Mildew stains can be removed by rubbing a little soap over the work, and on the top of this a little chalk and lemon juice. Place the garment in the sun for several hours, and then wash as usual, and the spots will vanish.

A good dish for lunch in cold weather is made by slicing cheese in milk and allowing it to stand on the stove until the cheese has melted, then remove it from the stove, add a beaten egg, put it in a baking dish and bake until it is a nice brown.

To remove tea stains, spread the stained part across a wide basin, and sprinkle on it some powdered borax; pour over a quantity of boiling water. Then wash the linen in the usual way, and no stain will be left.

If the stain is an old one, rub glycerine into it, and leave it in for twenty-four hours. Then wash the cloth.

Your Boys and Girls.

Baby's woollens should be rinsed in water of the same temperature of the washing water. Never wring them out. Just squeeze, shake and hang so the neck will not pull.

Woolen stockings should be washed quickly wrong side out and stretched into shape. They will shrink slightly unless placed on stretchers but they should not lose color. It is better to wash them in a suds and rub the soap only on the soles. Mending wool should be washed out in hot water before using so it will not shrink later.

Woolen caps should be washed separately and pulled into shape from time to time when drying. A woolen sweater should be dried in a heap, being gently lifted, kneaded and turned from time to time as it lies near a heater or in the sun on a Turkish towel. It should never be pulled or stretched in any way.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Is it necessary to send a present when one has been invited to a church wedding and not to the reception?" inquired Marie.

"It is not necessary to send a gift unless you have been invited to the reception," said her mother.

BEAUTY OF THE MOUTH.

The expression of the mouth is the true index of disposition and temperament. It women would include the mouth in their ardent quest for beauty, as well as the eyes, the complexion and the hair, they would discover that the facial expression would gain the desired effect in a much shorter time. Close scrutiny would reveal many imperfections. Talking animatedly before a mirror quickly proves how many unnecessary grimaces are made, their effect on the contour of the mouth and the appearance of the face in general.

It is not a simple matter to control the features, but relaxation, letting all tensing of the muscles go, will assist very materially. Screwing the lips around, biting them nervously as many do unconsciously, pulling back the muscles of the cheeks and tightening the lips, are all unsightly habits. The hanging of the lower jaw or keeping the mouth open, are other practices that give a foolish expression to the most intelligent face and tend to disfigure the mouth.

To relieve the nervous tension about the mouth a series of gentle relaxing manipulations are of great benefit. Choose bedtime for this work, or leisure time. Lay the head back comfortably, relax the muscles of the face and inhale and exhale with deep breaths. Then, with the first and second fingers and the thumb, gently encircle the lips and chin, picking the flesh and quickly releasing it to coax away the tension and fatigue. After a few minutes of this, take the fingers and push the middle of the broadest portion of the lips together, to cultivate the enviable beauty bow. Push on one side and then the other alternately.

On the lower lip, gently push forward the center if the lips are inclined to be too thin or flat. Drawing the fingers back and forth over the lips will remove the lines which set about the mouth.

The Book of Knowledge

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE is the greatest and most profitable investment a parent can make. It is the greatest educational help of the century. It is a new force in the home and school.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE was awarded The First Medal of Honor and The Gold Medal for Educational Value at the Panama International Exposition, San Francisco, by the International Supreme Jury.

Sir William Peterson, Principal of McGill University, Montreal, writes "the use of The Book of Knowledge will not only stimulate young people to teach themselves—but at the same time give them a better appreciation of the meaning and aims of all school studies."

President John H. Findlay, New York State Commissioner of Education, who has over two million students under his charge with a faculty of more than fifty thousand and a board of Trustees running into thousands, writes in reference to the Book of Knowledge: "Suppose a boy of ten were to spend fifteen minutes a day reading these pages—he would at thirteen know more about the earth and life on it than the wisest men know a generation ago."

The Book of Knowledge is published in four languages. It has been purchased by all nationalities, on five continents, in fourteen countries, in over 100,000 cities and towns; sales over twenty-six million dollars. In Newfoundland there are hundreds sets now in use between St. John's and the outport towns, both in private families and schools, every one that has bought, is highly pleased, and several have written that the Book of Knowledge has been the best investment that they ever made.

When the present cruel war is over competition for a livelihood will be keener and greater than ever before experienced before, your boys and girls will be men and women before you realize it. Soon they may find before an employer to be scrupulously and judged as to their qualifications, intelligence and their all-around knowledge. If they are not properly prepared it may mean a spoiled life and a loss in earning power of thousands of dollars. Put into your home now a set of the Book of Knowledge and give your children a good early start in the race for knowledge, the child who has access to this wonderful work, has a decided advantage over others, and begins his career with a rich and varied store of information.

For a comparatively small sum expended in its purchase it is the greatest and most profitable investment that any parent can make for the benefit of the family. Write at once for particulars to Mr. M. D. Dawson, Balsam Place, St. John's, who is here at present representing the Publishers, The Grolier Educational Book Co. The large stock held at St. John's has been all sold except a few sets of the cloth bindings. If you desire to procure a set write or wire to Mr. Dawson at once for particulars.—11.

Letters From Our Boys.

WILSON LOVEYS.
Military Hospital, Albert Hall, Nottingham, England, 9/1/18.
My Dear Mother, I will try and relate to you my experience since April 14th, 1917, when I was taken prisoner, and the reception I received on my return.

Well, to begin, we had a very good charge that morning until we reached our objective, a number of the boys got wounded in the charge so we were not very strong when we got there. In the meantime the German reinforcements were getting ready and came on the scene, and gave us a lively time about ten to one. The regiment on our left surrendered; we held the line till about an hour after. The Germans placed a machine gun on the ground they took, just behind a little ridge, so they had to trouble to pick off any of our chaps who would dare show themselves. That was the gun that knocked me out. Soon there were only a few of us not wounded so they came over and took us all prisoners. I was helped along by two Germans behind their lines to a little hut where I was put on some kind of a stretcher made of wood, and four of our chaps brought me along to their advance dressing station; this was about midday. I lay there on the stretcher outside the house till about 5.30, then they took me inside, didn't dress my wounds though, but robbed me of everything I had. Then I was brought out again and put into a room in the rear of this house; they put the stretcher down on the floor on some straw that covered it. I don't remember anything else until I was roused about 9.30, taken out and put into a hay cart and drove away. It was a cold, starry night, and the journey was long and the most miserable

My Limbs Would Twitch

And Waken Me—Unable to Rest or Sleep, I Walked the Floor in Nervous Exhaustion. Specialists Failed I Found a Cure.

Windsor, Ont., February 2nd.—This is the kind of cure that has set Windsor people thinking and talking about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The action of this food cure is so radically different to the usual treatments for the nerves that everybody wants to try it. Gradually and certainly it nourished the starved nerves back to health and vigor and the benefits obtained are both thorough and lasting. Mrs. M. Smithson, 27 Arthur street, Windsor, Ont., writes: "I was suffering from nervous breakdown, which was caused by a shock when fire broke out in the adjoining house. My nerves were in such a state that, after going to bed I could not get my nerves quieted down sufficiently to go to sleep. I used to get up and walk around the room, or go downstairs. Even when I would be dropping off to sleep my limbs would twitch and waken me. I used to have cold, nervous, night sweats sometimes would become unconscious and lie that way for quite a little while. I was always cold and it seemed impossible for me to get warm or keep warm. When on the street I would see two or three objects at once, and did not want any person to speak to me or bother me. Any little noise irritated and annoyed me very much. I had consulted specialists and tried many remedies during this time, but could not gain relief. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before long could see that this treatment was providing me with what I am now feeling so much better that I can go out on the street without any difficulty, can go across the river and go about the same as usual. I sleep well at night, and am feeling more like myself every day. I am pleased to be able to write you to tell you how much good the Nerve Food has done me. It has strengthened and built up my whole system. I am recommending it to everybody I find suffering from nervousness of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

s.s. Sindra and set sail for England on the 3rd of January. Arrived at Boston on the 6th, re-embarked on a tug up the canal to the pier. There were quite a few people on the banks of the canal who cheered us as we came along. We were met at the pier by the Mayor of Boston, R.A.M.C. men and some staff officers who were there to receive us. We were given plenty to eat and some cigars. One Red Cross train took all the stretcher cases and some of us to London. The remainder left on another train for Nottingham. The train arrived into Victoria Station at 1.30 and I believe every person in Nottingham that could manage it at all was there to give us a welcome. The station was decorated with flags and carpet laid on the platform for us to walk on and packed with people who cheered us as we came out of the train. The Mayor of Nottingham was there to meet us, so we lined up in two ranks before him. He gave us a short address of welcome; there was also a guard of honor from the Nottingham Volunteer Corps, who presented arms while the National Anthem was played. We were led then up the staircase on the head of which we got cigarettes, chocolates, cup of ozo, and biscuits, and came out of the station and drove in motor cars to a Military Hospital, Albert Hall, where I am putting in a very pleasant time. The people are doing their utmost to make life for us more pleasant than it has been in the past. Words can't express how delighted I am to be back in England out of Germany. Now I have told you all, so Cheer-O, I will soon be going home again.

Give my love to all the family and best wishes to all friends.
I remain, your loving son,
WILSON.

PTE. E. J. MARTIN.
Chateau Dox, Jan. 1st, '18.

Dear Mother,—Just a few lines to let you know that I am well, hoping you are the same. On Wednesday, Dec. 26th, we left Germany for Switzerland, and we had three days on the train, and when we reached Constance, we were four miles from the Swiss border and we changed over to a German train to the Swiss train. The cars were all lit up. The first station we drew up to the people gathered around and gave us cigars and apples, something we hadn't eaten for a long time. We had but very short delay there and got on the train again. After several hours traveling we stopped at another station. At a hotel they had everything arranged for us. We had plenty to eat and the people came around and gave us more cigars. After the rest we got on toward the electric tram cars, to see the lovely sights of the lake and mountains, as we were then getting handy to the town where we were going to stay that night. The same evening that we got there we were going to have a good time, but the people thought it was better for us to have our supper and a good wash and a good sleep, and have the time Saturday evening. At 4 o'clock we were all invited out to tea in a big hall, and we had a good time. We have all the comforts that the people can find for us.

MR. M. ARSENAULT TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HIM.

They Gave Him Quick Relief From Headache and Backache — He Recommends Them to All Sufferers.
Specie Egmont, P. E. I., Feb. 1st.—(Specialist) Dodd's Kidney Pills have numerous friends in this light little island, and among the most enthusiastic of them is Mr. Mathurin Arsenault, of this place.
"I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer," Mr. Arsenault says. "I had been troubled with headache and backache about two years till I read in Dodd's Almanac how many sufferers had benefited by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.
"I decided to send for two boxes. Before I had finished taking them I was feeling as well as ever.
"It gives me great pleasure to say a few words for Dodd's Kidney Pills." All over the island you find people who tell of benefits received from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are recognized as the standard remedy for kidney ills. Acting directly on the kidneys, they refresh and invigorate those organs. The result is that they do their full work of straining all the impurities all the acids of disease, out of the blood. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills are recognized as a tonic.
"I spent seven months and three weeks in that hospital, and at the end of days before that the R.A.M.C. Sergt. Dec. 3rd the guard came for us; two days before that the R.A.M.C. Sergt. Major in charge of us told me that the doctor had recommended me for exchange, to be sent to England. You can't imagine my surprise. Anyway on the morning of the 4th I left with six more chaps for Dulmen camp. I was only there three nights and two days; can't say much about it; didn't have any of their food there, because I had plenty sent out in parcels from the Canadian Red Cross, and white bread sent from Copenhagen. I went before the doctor there for a medical examination and he made out my papers for me to be sent to Konstanz (a camp on the border line of Switzerland), but instead I was sent to Mannheim, where I arrived on the 8th December and went up before the Swiss doctors, who, I am glad to say, marked me for "Blightly" (a soldier's pet name for England). After I was there about a week my stock of food that I brought from Dulmen, was finished, so I had to begin again and eat the German food, which consisted of two slices of bread (worse than what I got in hospital) for the day, a mug of coffee, without sugar or milk for breakfast, soup for dinner, barley and potatoes, little bits of meat but mostly all water. At six I would get barley and water again; that was the menu all the while I was there except Xmas Day and then for dinner I got—well, the boys called it "fish soup", but to say what it was like is impossible for me to try. I left Mannheim on the 28th for Dachau, where they treated me very good. It was a hospital that I went to which was in Germany. On the first of the new year I left for England along with two hundred and fifty more prisoners, via Holland. After we crossed the border and arrived at Rosendale station, in Holland, it was there that the Red Cross orderly in the train told us that we were no longer prisoners, and I soon found it out too. The Holland Red Cross gave us some tea, bread, cigars, cigarettes and apples. We went from that to Rotterdam, embarked on the

Doctors Use This for Eczema

If you are afflicted with skin disease, the kind that seems to baffle medical treatment, and leaves you wild with itch, do not fail to investigate a prescription that is now recommended by many of the best skin specialists, even in preference to their own prescriptions. This is the simple, soothing, liquid external remedy, D. D. D. Prescription. This liquid stops the itch instantly, and effects a cure that is permanent. In fact, it took thousands of cures, case after case, before the best doctors were convinced of the absolute merit of this remedy.

It is now thoroughly established among medical authorities that eczema is purely a skin disease, due to a germ, and curable only through the skin. It is not a blood disease at all. The effect of D. D. D. Prescription is to penetrate the pores, kill the disease germs, and to soothe and heal the skin, restoring it to its healthy condition.

D. D. D. has been found to be especially effective in all forms of Eczema, Bad Leg, Pimples, Dandruff, Ulcers and other skin diseases. Get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold everywhere. Recommended by T. McMurdo & Co., A. W. Kennedy, M. Connors, Peter O'Mara.

Curlers Preparing For Red Cross Day.

The curlers are busily engaged preparing for their Red Cross Day which will be held on the whole holiday, Wednesday, the 20th. This is for a most worthy cause, that of providing comforts for our brave fighting men and all are asked to purchase tickets which will sell for 25c. each. The bands of the three Brigades, C. L. B., C. C. C. and Highlanders have again offered their services for the day and a most pleasant time is assured.

The Curlers are endeavouring to make the 20th the most successful Red Cross day yet and will put up some mighty good exhibitions, so that all is asked for to make it a success is a large attendance. Mr. P. C. O'Driscoll, the general auctioneer, will be present and all he wishes is to be kept busy. The ladies will also assist. The proceeds will be donated to the local Red Cross Branch of the W. P. A. Therefore fall in line and make the 20th a very successful day for the Red Cross.

MR. M. ARSENAULT TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HIM.

They Gave Him Quick Relief From Headache and Backache — He Recommends Them to All Sufferers.
Specie Egmont, P. E. I., Feb. 1st.—(Specialist) Dodd's Kidney Pills have numerous friends in this light little island, and among the most enthusiastic of them is Mr. Mathurin Arsenault, of this place.
"I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer," Mr. Arsenault says. "I had been troubled with headache and backache about two years till I read in Dodd's Almanac how many sufferers had benefited by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.
"I decided to send for two boxes. Before I had finished taking them I was feeling as well as ever.
"It gives me great pleasure to say a few words for Dodd's Kidney Pills." All over the island you find people who tell of benefits received from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They are recognized as the standard remedy for kidney ills. Acting directly on the kidneys, they refresh and invigorate those organs. The result is that they do their full work of straining all the impurities all the acids of disease, out of the blood. That is why Dodd's Kidney Pills are recognized as a tonic.

At The Casino.

Another large audience greeted the W. S. Harkins Players last night at their first performance of "Turn to the Right." It is a New York play and shows up many of the methods and doings of that great city's criminals. The play is most interesting from start to finish and the different parts were acted very well indeed. Mr. Joseph Selman took the leading role and was ably supported by Mr. Clay Cody and Mr. W. F. Clark. Messrs. Andrews, Alderob, Mann and Newson acted their parts to the satisfaction of all. Miss Eugenie Dubois, Miss Dorothy Chesmond, Miss Marjorie Davis and Miss Lois Perkins took leading parts in their usual capable manner. To-night "Turn to the Right" will be repeated, and this afternoon the matinee will be "The Man who Stayed at Home."

A Really Useful Chafing Dish

Everyone wants a chafing dish! Why not get one that is more than a buffet ornament?
The G-E chafing dish is always ready. No flame, no fuss, no danger—simply connect to the nearest socket and turn on the current.

The G-E chafing dish is of plain, substantial design—handsome and of guaranteed quality.

Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets.

A Work-a-Day Corset
as well as for Dress.

Warner's Corsets are made to wear, not to rust, break or tear.
You may pay all kinds of money for a Corset but you will never have a better fitting, a better wearing, or a more comfortable
Corset than a Warner's.

We can give you any Warner's style that is correct for fashion and your figure, and we confidently expect to fill every Corset requirement with a Warner's Rust-Proof, so remarkable are they in shape, comfort and wear.

Price: $1.50 per pair up.
