Report of the Resident Secretary.

August and September, 1917.

The months of August and September at the Home were very much the same as for the previous four or five months.

After the battles of Arras and Vimy Ridge in April, the Canadian forces were not engaged in any heavy fighting throughout the summer except for local engagements to the south-west of Lens, so that there were comparatively few Canadian casualties during that period and less pressure on the hospitals and convalescent homes. But on the 15th August and the following days, the Canadians took a great and glorious part in the attack on the famous Hill 70 and on the western suburbs of Lens. Thanks to our now preponderating artillery and air service, their casualties, although fortunately not so heavy as in previous battles, proportionately to the number engaged and the results achieved, were still considerable. As a result, we commenced receiving some of these men early in September and from then to the end of the month our accommodation was always taxed to its utmost capacity.

The new arrangement allowing men to make a longer stay in the Home continues to work very satisfactorily and the men are able in this way to derive much greater benefit.

The proportion of dressing cases and massage cases amongst our patients continues about the same, viz., from 55% to 60% of dressing cases and 40% of massage cases out of our total number of patients. Lately we have been receiving a number of "jaw cases," i.e., men who have been wounded in the jaws and lower parts of the face. There is a specially equipped department for the active treatment of such cases at the Ontario Military Hospital, Orpington, and the very skilful operations performed there, and the cures which have resulted, are wonderful. Men have arrived at the Orpington Hospital with parts of the jaw, roof of the mouth, nose or cheek torn away by shell or bullet wounds, and in many cases have been almost entirely cured by having the shattered bone removed and replaced, as well as by skin-grafting and other skilful operations. They are then sent on to Kingswood to complete their convalescence, where their wounds receive dressings if necessary and massage treatment.

The weather was rather broken and showery during the greater part of August and September, but in the latter part of September we had a fine dry spell, which enabled our men to get out and about in the grounds and make short excursions in the neighborhood. This improved spell of weather likewise enabled the farmers to complete their harvesting operations, so that the bulk of the grain crop in Great Britain has been secured in good condition; potatoes and other root crops are above the average, and for these reasons, as well as on account of the decreasing menace of the German submarine campaign, the prospects for a sufficient supply of food stuffs for the coming winter are now much more promising. The new Food Controller's regulations have had the effect of slightly reducing the prices of meat and bread, but owing to the world shortage in food stuffs and the want of the necessary ocean transport, the prices of all other necessary articles of food continue to rise. The gardens at Kingswood have done exceptionally well this summer and consequently we have had a sufficient and regular supply daily of fresh vegetables of all kinds for the men. The fruit trees have also done well.

Our men continue to be invited out to a number of entertainments of various kinds, the chief of which during the two months have been as follows:

On the afternoon of 2nd August, 20 men were invited to an excellent concert and tea at the St. Barnabas Hall, Dulwich, as the guests of the "Eucryl" Company, who have a factory in the neighborhood. The entertainment was arranged and the invitations for our men came through our good friends, Messrs. R. B. Leech and Marshall.

On the afternoon of 3rd August, 35 men were invited by the Port of London Authority to another trip by steamer on the River Thames with tea on board. This most interesting and instructive outing was greatly enjoyed by all.

On the afternoon of 7th August, 20 men went to the Scala Theatre by invitation of the Canadian Red Cross Society to see the very fine and up-to-date moving pictures for which this theatre is famous.

A second party of 20 men again visited the Scala Theatre on the afternoon of the 9th August.

On the afternoon of 11th August, 10 men went to a Garden Party and Tea at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Martin, Tulse Hill, who has on several occasions kindly entertained our men.

On the 15th August, there was a route march through the West-End of London of about 5,000 American troops now in training in camps in this country. Forty of our men went to Westminster Bridge to see them and had an excellent view of the procession headed by bands of the British Guards.

On the afternoon of 16th Aug., the Matron and two of the nursing sisters were invited by the Port of London Authority to join a special river trip for nurses engaged in the London War Hospitals.

Also on the afternoon of 16th August, 30 men were invited to a Garden Party and Tea at the home of our neighbors and good friends, the Misses Champion, Dulwich, this being the third time during the past summer that these ladies have very kindly entertained large parties of our men.

On the evening of the 17th August, we had an excellent concert by Mrs. Rowland Hill's Lewisham Red Cross Concert Party. This was originally arranged to take place out of doors on the terrace, but unfortunately the weather was unfavorable, so that it had to be held in the Recreation Hall. They gave an excellent programme of songs, recitations and instrumental music, which was much enjoyed by all.

On the afternoon of 20th August, a party of 35 men were invited to another of the famous trips by steamer on the River Thames, with tea on board. The hosts were, as before, the Port of London Authority, and the invitation again reached us through Mr. Carbutt of the British Red Cross, who also kindly paid the men's railway fares to the city and back.

On the 21st August, 25 men went to a matinee performance at the Duke of York's Theatre, London, the invitation being given by Miss Levey and reaching us through the Canadian Red Cross Society, who also very kindly paid the men's bus fares to the theatre and back.

On the afternoon of 24th August, 40 men went to the Victoria Palace Theatre, London, to see a military display given by the Scots Guards for the benefit of a War Charity. The men enjoyed the display greatly, which comprised exhibitions of sword, bayonet and revolver practice, boxing, gymnastics, etc. This invitation also reached us through the Canadian Red Cross Society, who again very kindly paid the men's railway fares to the theatre and back.

On the afternoon of 1st September, 50 men were invited to a Garden Party, entertainment and tea at the home of our neighbor, Mr. John Pearce, West Dulwich. Mr. Pearce, who is a well-known local gentleman, has on several occasions very kindly and hospitably entertained large parties of our men at his fine house and grounds.

On the afternoon of 4th September, 20 men attended one of the famous concerts and teas at the Savoy Hotel, London, as on previous occasions by kind invitation of our good friend Mrs. Corbett.

On 7th September and again on 24th September, small parties of American-born men from amongst our patients were entertained at the home of Mrs. Robins, Kensington, the invitation reaching us through the American Red Cross Society.

On the afternoon of 13th September, a party of 35 men were invited by the Port of London Authority to another trip by steamer on the Thames, with tea on board. The invitation reached us and the arrangements for the outing were made by Mr. Carbutt of the British Red Cross Society, who paid the men's fares to the steamer and back. This is the fourth time that large parties of our men have enjoyed these interesting and unique outings, a special description of which, written by one of the patients, appeared in last month's Bulletin.

On the afternoon of 13th September we had an exchange of hospitalities with the 4th London General Hospital, which was arranged by the Canadian Red Cross Society. Twenty-four patients from that hospital, mostly men of the Imperial Army, were brought from town by motor-cars to enjoy an afternoon in the country-like grounds of Kingswood, and have tea here along with our men, who welcomed them heartily and did their best to entertain their fellow-convalescents of the Imperial Forces. In exchange, 24 of our men were taken by motor-cars to spend an afternoon "in town." Ladies from the Canadian Red Cross Society kindly showed them around the Zoological Gardens and afterwards very hospitably entertained them to tea before driving them back again to Kingswood by motor-car. This exchange of visits was a great success and very much enjoyed by all.

On the afternoon of 18th September, 20 men went to another of the famous concerts and teas at the Savoy Hotel, London, as before by invitation of Mrs. Corbett. This is now the twenty-seventh time that she has kindly entertained our men at these concerts. These well-known entertainments are held fortnightly, about 300 convalescent soldiers being invited each time by the committee of ladies, who organize them and defray the expenses.

On the afternoon of 22nd September, a party of our men were entertained to games, music and tea at the home of a neighbor, Mrs. Arthur Ross, Dulwich.

On the afternoon of 26th September, 10 men visited the Guards Chapel, St. James' Park, and afterwards were shown over the neighboring Wellington Barracks, the headquarters of the Guards in London, by non-commissioned officers of that regiment.

On the afternoon of 29th September, 30 men were invited to a concert and tea by the young people connected with the West Norwood Congregational Church, of which the minister is our good friend, the Rev. T. Hilton Smith, who takes a share in the Sunday morning services at Kingswood. The young people were most thoughtful, attentive and hospitable to our men, and the afternoon was most thoroughly enjoyed by all.

VISITORS

On 23rd August, we had a visit from a Japanese lady, Madame Tanaka, the wife of the Military Attaché of the Japanese Embassy in London. She has considerable experience of hospital work, both in Japan and America, and was greatly interested and pleased with all she saw at Kingswood.

On 10th September, the Hon. Mrs. Ponsby, accompanied by Mrs. Reynolds, paid a visit to "Kingswood."

On 9th October, the Home was visited by Colonel Delaney, who acts as Assistant Director of Military Service in charge of the invaliding of Canadian soldiers for return to Canada for discharge and accompanied by Colonel Potter from the Headquarters Staff in Ottawa. Colonel Potter had to deal with the arrangements when the offer of a Convalescent Home was made by the Massey-Harris Company to the Canadian authorities, and he was, therefore, very much interested and pleased to see the result of the negotiations.

On 29th October, Dr. Pidgeon, of the Bloor Street Presbyterian Church, Toronto, visited the Home. He was then on his way to France for special work under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. to Canadian troops. He was acquainted with several of the nursing sisters and was, naturally, pleased to see them, as well as others among our patients who come from Toronto.

On Nov. 24th, Her Royal Highness Princess Patricia, accompanied by her lady-in-waiting, visited Kingswood, and was received by Mrs. Reynolds, Matron Hardinge, Assistant Matron Powell, Mrs. C. W. Dawkins, Mrs. R. O. McDonald, Mr. Dawkins and Mr. Robinson. Mrs. Reynolds, who had arranged the visit through Miss York, introduced Her Royal Highness, and the Matron presented her with a beautiful bouquet of roses, after which the Home was thoroughly inspected, including the Wards, Dispensary, Surgery, Recreation and Dining Rooms, Kitchens, ending up in the Great Hall, where the Princess briefly addressed the men who had been assembled for the purpose and who gave expression of their appreciation by good hearty Canadian cheers. The Princess was greatly interested in the Home and the accommodation provided for the men, and expressed great pleasure at having had an opportunity of making the visit.

GIFTS TO PATIENTS

We received a large quantity of apples, pears, grapes, vegetables, cut flowers and an immense loaf of bread from the Harvest Thanksgiving services of the West Dulwich Congregational Church. The children at the Woodland Road School near by sent us from their Harvest Thanksgiving Festival a large quantity of fresh eggs, pears, apples and cut flowers.

Mrs. Martin, Tulse Hill, on two occasions sent us large hampers of cooking pears, of which we were able to make excellent use.

Our good friend, Mr. R. B. Leech, has on several occasions very kindly sent us large supplies of fruit from his very fine gardens. On one occasion he sent sufficient nectarines for dessert for all the men. It was certainly the finest-looking and most delicious-tasting collection of fruit which our men had ever had. Mr. Leech has also sent us two or three large lots of cooking pears, which have proved most acceptable gifts. He also sent us several monster bunches of the finest black hothouse grapes. A snapshot was taken showing the mess orderlies holding up bunches of these grapes, some of which weighed over four lbs.

Mrs. Agnew Corbett has on several occasions kindly sent large parcels of Canadian papers, which are always very welcome for the Men's Reading and Recreation Room.

Our good friends and neighbors, the Misses Champion, sent us on two or three occasions large hampers of pears for the men.

The West Norwood Methodist Church sent us a large basket of grapes from their Harvest Thanksgiving services.

St. Stephen's Church of England, Dulwich, sent us from their Harvest Thanksgiving Festival large hampers of apples, pears, grapes and vegetables.

St. Cuthbert's Presbyterian Church, West Norwood, also sent us a large quantity of pears, apples and vegetables from their Harvest Festival Services.

In this way our men have been well provided with fruit during the month, which has been greatly appreciated by them.

Guest Room—Kingswood

From a pen-and-ink drawing by Pte. A. Redfern Cornwell, Toronto, who was recently a patient in the Home. The Guest Room is a little room at the top of the turret tower, with magnificent views, that has been reserved for any distinguished friends who may stay overnight. When not so required, and the occasions are very few, it is occupied by the Staff Sergeant.

On opposite page is shown the large Hall used as a Recreation Hall. The illustration is reproduced from a pencil sketch by Mr. Cornwell, who before enlisting was an Architect with James Miller & Co., Yonge Street, Toronto.

Extract from Letter from Lieut. Barker (London Office), Egyptian Ex. Force, dated 2nd Dec., 1917

"We were resting after Beersheba when I wrote last, and are now some 3,000 ft. high near the Holy City. On the way up we were simply inundated with oranges of the genuine Jaffa species, 6 a piastre. Gaza is a mass of wreckage now—Johnny Turk had apparently pulled it to pieces, and to me it seemed as if it had not been inhabited for at least five or six months, probably not since the first battle. From Gaza we went on through Esdud (one of the walled towns of the Philistines) and on to Katra, where I saw the first modern agricultural machine. It was a Mower. I sent my sergeant out to see whose it was, and he came back with the words "Massey-Harris, Sir." Later on, still at Katra, we saw a Reaper of very primitive days, but also a Massey-Harris. But the best sight I saw and probably of most interest to us was a camel drawing a sort of chain harrow, and attached to the harrow at rear was a donkey and a young heifer (abreast) drawing a sort of scuffler plough. I tried hard to get a camera, but no one had any films; I had heard of camels as beasts of draught, but had never seen one pull anything before them. But what a weird combination, heifer, donkey and camel. By the way, Katra is a white man's village, I believe Russian Jews, and was very friendly to us. Well, after Katra, we walked some 30 miles in 24 hours, and during the next twelve hours climbed up heights almost impossible to believe, and attacked and captured two villages in the moonlight, but we lost one next day, i.e., the day before yesterday. One village was held by well over 2,000 Turks, and two of our Company's platoons and another whole Company captured it and 311 prisoners about 4 a.m. We did have some 800 prisoners, but it got dawn whilst we were disarming them, and when they saw how few we were, they counter-attacked and drove us out of the village, but we managed to keep 311 of their men and they are now on the way to a compound. How we got away I don't know exactly—'twas pure luck. The country side is a huge mass of boulders and ravines, and already we have lost two officers with fractured legs.

Just now shell-fire is nearly unknown. It is all good guerilla warfare, midnight work at close range, and we can beat the Turk at it, at least the Welsh boys can, as we have a particularly fine lot of first line Territorials with us. Since Beersheba started, our lot has had well over 12 stunts, so we are a pretty busy lot these days."

Report of the Resident Secretary.

October, 1917.

There has been very little change in the general conditions at the Home during the month of October.

Although the Canadians have during September and October been gradually tightening their hold on the suburbs of Lens, they were engaged only in local operations in that neighborhood and their casualties were comparatively slight. There was, consequently, a smaller number of Canadian wounded sent over from France and less pressure on the Canadian Convalescent Homes in England. During the greater part of the month, therefore, we had from 10% to 20% vacant beds in the Home, but they were again filled up as the acute hospitals were evacuated to receive the wounded from the heavy fighting on the Passchendaele Ridge.

The proportions of Dressing and Massage cases remain about the same as for the past two or three months, viz., 55% to 60% Dressing cases and 30% to 40% Massage cases out of the total number of patients in the Home. We have still a number of "Jaw" cases to which reference was made in last month's report, but arrangements are now being made for the special surgical and convalescent treatment of these men altogether in one hospital, so that in all probability no more of them will be sent to Kingswood.

The weather was exceptionally wet and cold throughout the most of the month, so that the men were not able to get out in the grounds and shrubberies to do much gardening work, but whenever the weather permitted they were able to put in an hour or two's healthy work and exercise in the grounds. A number of the men were also healthfully and profitably employed in picking up the fallen horse-chestnuts and acorns from the trees in the grounds and park. In this way several hundredweights of chestnuts and acorns were collected and sent on to one of the collecting stations of the Ministry of Munitions for the extraction of spirit required in the manufacture of explosives.

The Kingswood gardens continue to do splendidly and provide a plentiful supply of green vegetables, sufficient for all the men every day. Potatoes are an exceptionally good crop, so that they are plentiful and cheap; the Food Controller's regulations have had the effect of making a reduction of about 25% in the very high prices of bread and meat to which they had gradually risen during the past summer and autumn, so that three of the principal necessaries can now be secured at more reasonable figures. Most of the other articles of food, however, continue to become more scarce and to rise in price—this applies specially to tea, bacon, butter, margarine, eggs and milk.

We have, however, fair stocks in our stores, and whilst exercising the strictest economy, our men want for nothing and continue to be provided with sufficient wholesome nourishment and well-cooked food. In this respect, as in others, Kingswood enjoys both in England and even amongst the men in France a most enviable reputation as compared with other convalescent homes and hospitals.

Our good friend and neighbor Mr. Bingham, has continued to take out small parties of our men for a ride in his motor-car on Saturday afternoons and Sundays, also occasionally in the evenings he takes out parties for a drive varied by an hour at a picture show. These pleasure drives will unfortunately have to be stopped, as the restrictions regarding the use of gasoline are much more severe from the 1st November onwards, no licences nor issues of gasoline being now permitted except for national work.

With the beginning of October, we commenced our winter season's entertainments, which usually comprise a concert once a week, and a whist drive every week or two. Other competitions are arranged from time to time, such as billiard and bagatelle tournaments. Prizes such as cigarette cases, pipes, belts, purses, shaving utensils, etc., which are useful to soldiers to carry in their kit bags, are given. These are purchased from a special fund, to which handsome contributions have been made by many friends both in Canada and England. Now in the dark, cold winter evenings the men have to be indoors at 7 p.m., and the cripples, as well as those affected by chest complaints, by 5 p.m., but in one way or another, plenty of interesting and enjoyable recreations are provided to enable them to pass the time agreeably.

During October, the following were the principal entertainments arranged :

On the 2nd October, a party of 35 men were invited by His Majesty the King to visit the State Apartments at Windsor Castle. This is now the ninth time that large parties of our men have enjoyed this most interesting trip. After being shown over the State Apartments, and having their rooms and their historical contents explained to them by guides, the men were provided with lunch, in the serving of which Princess Alice and other ladies of the Royal Household assisted.

On the afternoon of 2nd October, 20 men went to one of the well-known concerts and teas at the Savoy Hotel, London, by invitation of Mrs. Corbett.

On the evening of 4th October, we had a whist drive in our Recreation Hall, arranged by the nursing sisters, and in which they and over 40 of the men took part. The winners were presented with prizes provided by members of the staff in Toronto.

On the afternoon of 12th October, 25 men were entertained to a splendid concert and tea by Mr. W. Whitaker at his fine home in Wimbledon in the south-western environs of London. Mr. Whitaker has fortnightly parties of 50 or 70 convalescent soldiers from overseas armies (Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and South Africans). Princess Marie Louise assisted in serving the tea and entertaining the men at what proved to be a most enjoyable party.

On the evening of 12th October, we had a very enjoyable concert here by a small party of local ladies and gentlemen, arranged by our good friend Mr. H. S. Cadle.

On the afternoon of 16th October, 20 men attended another of the renowned concerts and teas at the Savoy Hotel, London, as before, by invitation of Mrs. Corbett. This is now the twenty-ninth time that she has kindly entertained parties of our men at these splendid fortnightly concerts.

On the evening of 17th October, we had another whist drive in our Recreation Hall, arranged by the nursing sisters, and in which they and about 60 of the men took part. Hand-some prizes for the winners were presented by Sister McMechan.

On the evening of 19th October, a very enjoyable concert was given here by Miss Dorothy Douglas and her party of young lady pierrettes.

On the afternoon of 24th October, another party of 34 men were very kindly entertained by Mr. W. Whitaker to a splendid concert and tea at his home at Wimbledon. As on the occasion of the previous outing, the arrangements were made by the Canadian Chaplains' Service, and a motor-bus was provided to convey the men to Wimbledon and back. On this occasion all the 70 convalescent soldiers entertained were Canadians, and the outing was greatly enjoyed by all.

On the evening of 25th October, we had another most enjoyable whist drive here, taken part in by about 60 of our men, the nursing sisters and the matron, and two of the nurses from the neighboring British Red Cross Convalescent Home.

On the evening of 27th October, Mr. D. Davidson's Girls' Choir gave an excellent concert in our Recreation Hall. The Choir is composed mostly of girls engaged during the day in factories and workshops, and who devote their spare time in the evenings to giving concerts at hospitals and convalescent homes in and around London.

On the evening of 31st October, Hallowe'en was celebrated by our men in the Recreation Hall here in the good old-fashioned way. A committee of the nursing sisters had arranged an excellent programme comprising some very clever and amusing shadow pictures, and a number of the old-fashioned games, such as apple diving, needle-threading competitions, bun-eating contest, etc. During the evening the men were plentifully supplied with apples and nuts, as well as some of the maple sugar and cigarettes kindly provided by the young ladies of the Toronto Office. The evening was brought to a close by a service of coffee and cakes for all. Nursing Sister Hamilton has contributed a special description of this most enjoyable evening.

Miss Le Fleming and some of our other neighbors and friends occasionally come in for an hour or two of an evening and help to entertain the men by singing and playing at the piano a number of popular songs, in the choruses of which the men join heartily.

During the moonlight nights in October, the German aeroplanes made a number of air raids on London and suburbs. We are always warned of these raids in good time by telephone from police headquarters, and, according to military instructions, the men are then assembled in the large Recreation Hall, which is considered to be the safest place in case bombs were dropped on or near the Home. No bombs have so far been dropped very near, although on several occasions the enemy planes have passed quite close, the noise of the gun-fire and the bursting of the shells from the barrage of our own anti-aircraft guns is rather disconcerting for some of our nervous and shell-shocked patients.

From time to time, especially during the quiet of the evening and in the early morning at dawn, when the attacks are usually launched, we can hear the thunder of the heavy guns in Flanders. Quite apart from the wounded, who are always with us in the Home, we are made to realize in this and other ways that the great world struggle is going on at a short distance from our doors.

Our Hallowe'en Party

(Contributed by Nursing Sister Hamilton)

Such joy! A Hallowe'en Party at Kingswood to-night! This was the prevailing feeling amongst the boys all day Wednesday, and it truly was a Hallowe'en party in every sense of the word, for all the old traditions and customs of this anniversary were carried out to a nicety.

The decorations in our large Recreation Hall were splendidly done, entirely by the members of the staff and some willing workers among the patients. Two weird old witches riding on brooms, were hung to the ceiling as if sweeping the skies. In another corner a red house was built, with a witch leaning out of the window, holding a lighted candle, two black cats on the roof of the witches' home, and a very beautifully illuminated moon throwing out its beams from above. In the centre of the balcony was a huge black cat with illuminated eyes, and a dozen or more smaller cats peeping here and there through the beautiful autumn leaves, which had been arranged so tastefully about our recreation room and its balcony. Large illuminated pumpkins put in various places helped to take us back to our childhood days, when we got so much pleasure out of these funny vegetables. The making of the witches' house, the witches, the pumpkin lanterns, the illuminated moons and cats, the screen and special light for the shadow pictures, were all superintended and, in most cases, made, by our ever-obliging, capable and resourceful handy-man, Corporal Linfoot, of the permanent orderly staff.

The first part of the programme consisted of Shadow Pictures thrown on a large screen, admirably carried out under the direction of Sisters Powell, Wilson and Whitehead, and Reg. Sgt. Major Foley. These pictures created much merriment, as they were extremely well put on, and so realistic. They were: Three witches supping with long-handled spoons from a large pot hanging from a tripod, nodding their heads in approval of the delicious brew, enhanced by the discovery of a huge black cat in the pot, which was pulled out by the tail. Next came the barber scene, which was a perfect scream. The barber was shaving his victim with an enormous razor, which slipped in the course of operations, supposedly severing an artery, which was represented by a syphon of soda-water, being shot through a rubber tube fastened to the patient's neck. Nurse Whitehead rushed to the scene with needle and thread to sew up the artery which was causing the victim's demise. These two pictures were perhaps the funniest, although the others are worthy of note. These were: "The Drilling of an Awkward Squad," "A Park Scene," and "A Farm-Yard Scene," showing antics of a fractious donkey.

After these pictures, the lights were lowered and the ghosts walked (half-a-dozen patients dressed up in white sheets), also several pigeons were let loose to fly at will, the chief resting-place for them seemed to be on the witches' brooms.

The second part of the programme was entered upon with great excitement, for Reg. Sgt. Major Foley announced that a noted Field-Marshal with his wife and daughter were coming to Kingswood, having expressed their wish to be present at a real Hallowe'en party, as this custom is not kept in England. Close upon this announcement the salute was given, and our distinguished visitors were announced, received by the Matron, Mr. H. B. Robinson (London Office), and Reg. Sergt. Major Foley. The greetings being over, the Field-Marshal expressed his desire to hold a short investiture to confer some most coveted and well-earned decorations upon our heroes. The following are some of the awards:

1. SERGT. MUSTARD—Military Medal.

By laying aside his respirator during a gas attack, he consumed all the gas on his Sector, thus saving his battalion and making Blighty, where he continues bravely to "swing the lead."

2. PTE. SPLINT—Geneva Cross.

Rescued two boxes of No. 9 Pills from the Medical Officer's dugout, which the enemy by concentrated shell-fire was endeavoring to destroy. Pte. Splint's noble action upset the calculation of the German High Command and won him his comrades' undying gratitude.

3. LANCE-PRIVATE HANDSOME HARRY—

Medal de Buckshee.

He penetrated the barrage of the Mess-Room Staff and gained his objective, the Breakfast Table, at 7 15 a.m.

4. PTE. FUNKHOLE PETE—Victoria Cross.

While on duty in the Men's Mess, he always missed "Buckshee Parade," and thus saved an immense quantity of rations on behalf of the Commissary Department.

5. BOMBARDIER KNOWALL—Medal de Dud.

By constantly frequenting the neighboring Pub, he was able to secure secret information as to the quality and quantity of Lager Beer now on sale at Dulwich.

6. PTE. KAISER—Iron Cross

For valiant behaviour in cleaning an officer's boots and rescuing a jar of rum from a Sergeant.

A Royal Red Cross was bestowed upon Nurse Whitehead for the way in which she executed her duties in the Mess especially on the "Buckshee Parade." Last, but not least, of the decorations was one given to Reg. Sergt. Major Foley making him a Knight of the Order of the "Star and Garter." The decoration was brought in on a black satin cushion, and consisted of a very pretty yellow garter with a silver star attached. This brought forth cheers and applause until we almost felt the roof coming off Kingswood. I have become so earnest in relating this part of my story that I omitted to say that the distinguished guests who visited us on this happy occasion were our own boys, dressed and bewigged to represent the parts they were playing, which they carried out to perfection: Private McPhee, Sgt. Hishon, Pte. Jolly were the "visitors," and Pte. Harris and Corpl. Flint were the gentlemen-in-waiting. The part of the Field-Marshal's daughter "Lady Mary," was well taken by Pte. Jolly, dressed in stylish female attire. Part of her make-up was a large muff, behind which was an electric battery, with wires running to her right hand. As the recipients of the "medals" were presented in turn, they received a hearty handshake from "Lady Mary," accompanied by an electric shock which made them squirm! Mr. Robinson was one of the victims to the electric handshake, and in this, and other ways, he entered heartily into the evening's fun, greatly to the delight of our "boys." The Matron then presented the "ladies" of the party with wonderful bouquets from our own vegetable garden, beautifully tied with gaily colored ribbons.

At the termination of this most interesting ceremony, a number of the old-time games were indulged in, which the boys enjoyed to the full. Then came the presentation of prizes for the lucky boys and visiting ladies, who had entered into the spirit of the evening with such zest. This part of the programme was carried out by Sisters McMechan and Hamilton and Mrs. Lucas, with a few helpful suggestions from Sgt. Major Foley. The evening was then brought to a close by the serving of refreshments, nicely chosen and arranged by our excellent head cook, Mrs. McRae, after which we all joined in singing the National Anthem.

Everyone expressed themselves that this party had been quite one of the happiest that Kingswood had ever enjoyed.

NURSE GERTRUDE NORTHMORE.

Nurse Gertrude Northmore, who has lately commenced duty at Kingswood, is a native of Canada, having been born in Catarqui, near Kingston, Ontario. She is a graduate of St. John's Hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y., and comes to us with the best of recommendations from several eminent physicians and surgeons with whom she has worked during the past ten years. We are sure she will help to maintain the proficient service which has always been our aim at Kingswood.

PERSONALS

Another of our old patients, Pte. H. G. Blackhall, of the 15th Batt., was recently awarded the Military Medal in France.

Lieut. Sidney Bell (Melbourne Staff), called at our London Office lately, as he was about leaving for the Front. Lieut. Bell received his commission from the ranks.

In October Matron Hardinge found it necessary to have a respite of a few days from her arduous duties, and during her absence Nurse Powell took over her duties, in a very satisfactory manner.

The Secretary was successful in securing seats for all our patients who were capable of getting to the city, for the Lord Mayor's Show, on Nov. 9th, when this unique pageant was enjoyed by all.

Lance-Corporal Alex. McFayden (Yorkton Branch), has made the supreme sacrifice. He enlisted as a private in the 188th Battalion, and earned his promotions. His parents live at Shellmouth, Manitoba.

Second Lieut. D. Howlett (New Zealand Staff), has been in hospital again, wounded for the fourth time. On this occasion he was buried in a German pill-box, his skull being fractured and also some facial injuries. At last accounts he was hopeful of being quite alright again.

One of our old patients, Cpl. H. L. Edwards, of the 38th Batt., to whom the Military Medal for distinguished conduct in the field was presented at the Sports here on Empire Day, has since been out at the Front, and as a result of his further distinguished services, he has been recommended for a commission, and is now in a Training Corps for Officers at Bexhill, England.

On 9th September, the usual Sunday morning service at the Home was conducted by one of our patients, Cpl. A. W. Mayse. Before enlisting in the Canadian Army, he was Minister of a Baptist Church in Winnipeg. He also took part in the South African War, for which he holds the King's Medal. He was seriously wounded in the recent fighting in France.

Gunner Cope, 22nd Battery (Toronto Factory after British Columbia), who was in Kingswood for four months convalescing from gunshot wounds in chest and right arm, called at Head Office on November 12th, and was very enthusiastic as to his treatment at the Home. He is now at the Davisville (North Toronto) Convalescent Home, and is making good progress towards recovery.

One of our patients who was with us this month, Company-Sergt. Major M. Dagenais, of the 22nd Batt., was awarded the Bronze Medal by the Italian Government. This is one of the highest distinctions obtainable for distinguished conduct in the field; only ten of them have been awarded to Canadians, the recipients being selected by their commanding officers and comrades for long continued, meritorious and brave conduct in the field.

Corpl. Hatch (London Office), had a most thrilling experience after being wounded. He lay in No-Man's-Land for four days and four nights near the German lines, afraid to move when he was able to, and after the first day not able to at all; of course, all this time without food. The fourth night he was discovered by one of our men, who took a couple of hours to move him the necessary 200 yards to safety. He is doing well but will probably not be fit for the Front again. The man who made the rescue was given the Military Medal.

We regret to say that we have lost Staff Sergeant Foley, who has been promoted to larger responsibilities. Since the opening of the Home he has jealously guarded its good name with his wise and conscientious discipline, which was always administered with kindness and tact, but with sufficient firmness to ensure prompt and ready compliance to the rules. In consequence, the reputation of Kingswood for a real comfortable home atmosphere, which is so necessary for the boys during convalescence, has been well maintained.

The management are indeed grateful to Staff-Sergeant Foley for his splendid services while at the Home, and heartily congratulate him upon his advancement.

The Kingswood Staff gave him a good send-off, and presented him with a gold watch.

Three former patients of Kingswood have lately been successful in securing commissions in the Canadian Army, viz., Messrs. G. Aldridge, C. Still and C. Kerr.

Lieut. Aldridge, before the war, was a member of the North-West Mounted Police, and is one of the few remaining members of the original Princess Pat's Regiment. He was at Kingswood for some time as a patient and also acted most efficiently during that period as one of the orderly staff.

Lieut. Still was a patient in the summer of 1916, and was one of the principal organizers of the Concert and Dramatic Entertainment for the Dominion Day celebrations at Kingswood.

Lieut. Kerr, who was a patient last winter, has recently been awarded the Military Cross for the gallant share he took in the desperate fighting on 23rd August in the suburbs of Lens.

Lieut. Hitchon (Ontario Branch) was seriously wounded when his battalion was in the front line on Nov. 13th. A letter from him from No. 14 General Hospital, France, reads as follows: "My injuries are the result of a high explosive shell burst, and consist of a fracture of the lower left leg, a fracture of the upper left arm, shell wound in the lower right leg—these are all receiving good treatment, and doing as well as can be expected, giving me comparatively little pain. In addition, my face was quite badly burned and eyesight seriously affected by the explosion." He was also peppered with small particles of shrapnel embedded superficially, but this, we understand, is not in any way serious.

We regret to say that since the above report it has been found necessary to remove Lieut. Hitchon's right eye, and that the use of the other will be greatly restricted.

During August and September there were three former Massey-Harris employees in the Home: Sgt. R. MacGregor, Cpl. W. Oakley and Pte. G. Jolley.

Sgt. MacGregor, who belongs to the Ottawa Valley, was, until the time of his enlistment two years ago, acting as local salesman for the Quebec Branch. He was accidentally hurt in France on 1st July, and had to undergo an operation, but is now quite recovered.

Cpl. Oakley, before enlisting about two years ago, was employed as a fitter for 3½ years in the Toronto Works, chiefly in the Cutter Bar Department. He was wounded in the attack on Lens on 15th August, when he unfortunately lost his right eye, but otherwise he is now quite recovered. In the fighting, before he was wounded, he accounted single-handed for the "gun-crew" of a German machine gun, which had temporarily held up the advance of his Company, and for this very gallant deed he has been awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal.

Pte. Jolley, before enlisting about two years ago, was employed for a time in the Munitions Department of the Toronto Works. He is now recovered and is once more in good form.
