MATTER OF INTERVIEW WITH MR. GUTELIUS IS TO GO BEFORE FULL MEETING OF BOARD

Delegation Reported Not Well Satisfied With Conference—The List of Questions That Were Asked Manager of Government Railways

The only person quite pleased with the interview of the delegation of the board of trade with F. P. Gutelius yesterday was Mr. Gutelius. Below is given the list of questions prepared and presented to Mr. Gutelius. As his time was limited the delegation felt it would be better to have these prepared. No official note of the answers categorically was taken. The gentlemen composing the delegation, however, made notes, pencilled or mental, of Mr. Gutelius' replies.

It has to be repeated that, though the list was put in, no categorical answers were given. As a reason for this it was accepted that some of the first answers, with or without elaboration, supplied the answers also to later questions.

While Mr. Gutelius expressed himself as very much pleased with the interview, this does not seem to be at all the impression left on the minds of the delegation. They went for bread and they got something that negatively resembled a stone.

Mr. Gutelius quoted as the main cause of everything, whether prior to August, 1914, or after that date, the actual facts that he did give, the delegation was pretty unanimous that there are two features only. One is that to meet the needs of the immediate future Mr. Gutelius was of opinion that two wharves should be constructed near the Sugar Refinery (as indicated in the list of questions); and secondly, that the approach of the Transcontinental to St. John should be via McGinley Junction, and from Frederickton to St. John on the west side of the river.

The feeling of dissatisfaction, however, is not that the replies were not what was hoped for, or that they were evasive or irresponsible, but they left an idea that they lacked good sound business reasons behind them.

THE QUESTIONS

- The list of questions follows: 1. Do you expect to have any grain or other export traffic (for St. John) over the Transcontinental this winter? 2. How do you expect to get this traffic east—by car, ferry or bridge? 3. Assuming that it is the intention of the railway department to make use of the port of St. John for a portion of this export grain, how is it proposed to handle it here in the absence of an elevator? 4. Would it be possible to erect a smaller elevator on the old site to take care of the traffic for this next year, or would it be possible for the government to secure a traffic agreement with the C.P.R. whereby this grain could be handled in their west side elevator without extra cost to the shipper? 5. Would it be your opinion that a grain elevator is a war necessity, which would justify the expenditure of public moneys at this juncture? 6. Having been informed by Hon.

NEW BRUNSWICK CROPS

Hay Shortage in North Made Up Elsewhere—Apples Only Half Crop

J. B. Daggett, secretary for agriculture, has sent the board of trade the following report on crop conditions in this province:

"In Victoria and Carleton, the hay crop is estimated from fifteen to twenty-five per cent. short. In other parts the crop is excellent and more than makes up for this shortage.

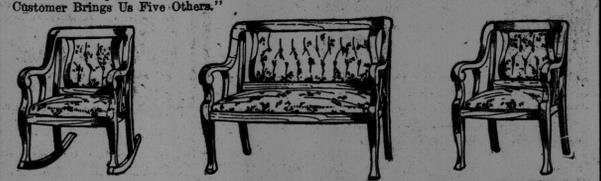

"All other crops are looking splendid; never saw them better. The weather for the last few days has been ideal, and the growth and development have been very rapid and satisfactory. The outlook was rather poor until within the last few days, but now the improvement is so marked we are very hopeful of having considerably more than the average.

"There is about twenty-five per cent. less acreage in potatoes this year, with perhaps more than that increase in the acreage of grain and other crops. There is a good set of fruit, but on account of the cold wet weather in May and June, the set was not very strong, with the result that we are having a large number of drops, with the prospect that there will not be more than a fair crop of apples.

"Pasture is excellent, and live-stock is all doing well."

SERIOUS SAYS COMMISSIONER

One envelope had one hundred dollars in it for himself. His brother told him to deliver the envelopes to the farmers whose names were on them. The witness supposed that the money in them was payment for the horses.

"One of the farmers got $10 too much and returned it to him. He took it to the major with an explanation and his brother told him to put the money in his pocket. He declined and gave it back to the major. He did not know what he did with it."

Mr. Thompson asked Anderson to explain what he had done to get the $100, and witness remarked that he had spent the best part of four days in connection with the location of the horses, meals at hotels and outlay on the trip to Shelburne.

Sir Charles Davidson asked whether Major Anderson's office could not be opened and searched for documents relating to the deals as the matter "was so serious for him."

On Tuesday night he was at a King Square lodging house and is said to have left without settling his account. Yesterday he accepted a hackman and was driven about the city, finally requesting to be taken to central station where he wished to see the chief of police. The sum of $8 was realized and the children wish to give it to the Patriotic Fund.

The "Movies" are not Hard on the Eyes

When moving pictures first came out, eye-specialists feared the flicker, rapid jerking and bright light would ruin people's eyes. But it was found the eye did not change its focus for every movement on the screen, and the pictures were not a danger to eyesight.

"I have never known anyone to complain that the 'movies' hurt his eyes unless he has some eye weakness, such as states error in refraction," Dr. Claiborne, one of the leading American specialists, says.

If the "movies" hurt your eyes you need to have a careful, scientific test made of your eyes. The most satisfactory place for you to go for that is to Sharpe's.

SOME WAR REFLECTIONS.

The streets of St. John last evening were filled with people. The scene on King Square was especially animated and interesting. Strolling about, and noting the great numbers of athletic young men, well dressed, enjoying the pleasures of the evening, one could not but contrast them with those other young men, and men with families, wrapped in their blankets in the tents at Valenciennes, resting after a day's drill; and those other men in English camps, devoted to the task of fitting themselves to endure toil and hardship and danger; but most of all, those other men in the trenches or behind them, or on the lines of communication, or in the transport service, enduring the toll, the hardship and the danger in order that these young men may enjoy their evenings at home, with no shadow of trouble on their horizon.

One has no right to question the motives of another in so grave a matter as throwing dice with death; but are those who remain quite far to those who go? Are the latter getting all the support they deserve? Are we thinking of them as we should—thinking of their comfort, of filling the gaps as they fall, of doing the right thing for those they have left behind? How many on King Square last evening saw in imagination, as they strolled under the colored lights, the fatal hour of battle in the night in Flanders, where the shells shriek and the mines explode and the deadly shrapnel seeks its victims among the young men who a year ago walked in joy abandon the streets of Canadian cities?

There is another thought which Hon. Mr. Hazen pressed home last evening. We can afford to be somewhat careless only because the German navy is bottled up and cannot attack Canadian ports and if we give the matter a little thought we must see that Canada has quite as much at stake as England, and really cannot afford to be careless at all. This is our fight, and we should be its deadly earnest about it, every day in the week. The ranks of these battalions must be filled, the machine guns must be provided, the Patriotic Fund must be made sufficient for all demands, the Red Cross and the hospitals must be sustained, the Soldiers' Comforts Association must be supported, and all this means more of sacrifice and more of patriotic service.

GERMAN FALSEHOODS.

There is a German Information Service in New York, which issues free to newspapers all over the United States a sheet that is viciously pro-German. At the top of each sheet is this explanation: "In view of the British censorship of news, it is believed that in this sheet will be found an invaluable supplement to the regular news reports, enabling papers to give a more comprehensive picture of events. . . . Its contents come only from reliable sources, chiefly the press of European capitals." Detroit Saturday Night points out that in an issue which it has examined there were ten items from Berlin, six from Vienna, two from Cologne, one from Brussels, three from London and two from Stockholm. As an illustration of the character of the news these headlines (also kindly supplied), are quoted: "British Scientist Defines and Leads German Kultur; Italian Wounded Rescue Little or No Attention; Dutch Soldier Made British Prisoner in Singapore; Swedes Urge Retaliatory Measures Against Allies; Trenches of Allies Inferior to Germans; Official French Reports Originate in Gossip; Kitchener's Armies Said to Be Utterly Disorganized; Russian Doctors Careless of Wounded."

Commenting on this propaganda, Saturday Night observes: "The art of making news used to be the cynical definition of Journalism. A more refined art is the art of selecting news."

THE HORSE PURCHASES.

Reviewing the evidence taken before Sir Charles P. Davidson in Prince Edward Island, which showed that W. B. McNeill made a gross profit of $8,850 on eighty-one horses, the Charlottetown Guardian wants to know who the unknown Moncton friend is who sent Mr. McNeill an unsigned official circular letter intimating that horses were wanted and giving particulars as to the class that would be accepted. While remarking that no evidence of a rake-off was discovered, the Guardian makes the following observations: "The pity is, from a government point of view, that the system was not adopted in Summerside that was followed in Charlottetown of employing a buying agent by the day, and obtaining the full advantage of purchasing in the open market. It is creditable to Prince Edward Island farmers and horse dealers that they have not taken advantage of the Empire's necessity to run up the price of horses to an exorbitant figure. Mr. McKie was able to assure the commission that he had obtained over a hundred horses at about $175 each. That is good, clean business, upon which the province may well congratulate itself." The price Mr. McNeill received was an average of $227.50 for horses which cost him an average of $175. The question naturally arises: Why did the gov-

NOT VERY CHEERING.

In reply to questions submitted by members of the board of trade yesterday Mr. Goutelus said that during the coming winter any grain brought over the National Transcontinental would be handled at the C. P. R. elevators. It was the intention of the government, he said, to build an elevator and two elevators each 750 feet long, on the site north of the sugar refinery, but could give no intimation as to when the work would be begun, as the war and the difficulty in securing funds have interfered with the plans. To a people accustomed to plans and promises these indefinite remarks will not come in the nature of tidings of great joy. Very little grain will pay bridge tolls to get to the C. P. R. elevators, and that other elevator may not come for years. Apparently the government is in no hurry to give the National Transcontinental the benefit of the shortest route to the seaboard, or to place St. John in a position to claim its fair share of the new traffic.

With regard to the Valley Railway, Mr. Goutelus is even more indefinite and less satisfactory. In the face of Premier Clarke's announcement that bridge for the site of bridges were to be made at The Mistake, Mr. Goutelus asserts that the western side of the St. John river offers the best route, and that $3,000,000 in cost of bridges should be saved. That would suit the C. P. R., but it will hardly suit the people of New Brunswick.

It is true that an air of mystery surrounds yesterday's conference. Press representatives were not admitted, and the board of trade men who were present are not communicative. There is no sound reason for secrecy, for this is the people's business. The board of trade should not hesitate to discuss openly a matter that has a vital relation to the future of this port, and to the transportation system of the country.

If Mr. Hazen was present at yesterday's conference the fact does not appear to have been noted by the morning papers.

How many recruits will be enrolled this week in 'New Brunswick, as a result of yesterday's patriotic demonstrations?

The Daughters of the Empire are courageous, resourceful and patriotic. They deserve hearty support in all their undertakings. It may be observed more than that the fund collected from the liquor dealers would purchase a number of machines. But will it—that's the question. The Germans are getting a little closer to Warsaw, but the Russians are fighting hard and apparently have no doubt of their ability to save their armies even if they yield Warsaw to the enemy. The Mexican General Villa is reported to have observed that the American government may go to an even warmer climate than that of Mexico. Possibly he is encouraged by the American failure to present in a sufficiently vigorous manner the murder of American citizens by Germany.

An elderly and wealthy cardmaker in this city declined the other day to give anything toward a little fund to send tobacco to some soldiers on the ground that they have something better to do over there than smoke. It would serve him right if a squad of German soldiers got behind him on a long road and prodded him along with their bayonets. An attack upon Roumania in a German official organ may be taken as an indication that little or no hope is now entertained in Berlin of being able to induce Roumania to continue neutral. The Allies are making strenuous efforts to induce Greece to abandon her attitude of neutrality, and apparently with hope of success. A Canadian soldier in an English hospital got some tobacco from home and had to pay duty on it. Two soldiers have written to St. John seeking telling of being compelled out of their meagre allowance to pay duty on tobacco. Is it not time Sir Robert Borden or Major General Hughes or someone with authority insisted that this extortion be stopped? The London Times military expert thinks the war may last another two years. The relative position of the German armies and those of the Allies at the end of the year of war gives color to that opinion. The duration of the war depends very largely upon the British Empire. It has the men, the money, and can get the munitions to turn the scale. The war thus becomes a personal matter with every British subject, although many of them even in Canada do not yet fully grasp the truth of the situation. If everyone did, the recruiting and the organization of industry for war purposes would be more active.

"Any old rags?" asked the junk dealer. "No," answered the householder, "not a thing. My wife's away for the season." The dealer looked up, alert. "Well, then," he urged, "I'll give three cents apiece for old bottles." They made a trade.—National Food Magazine.

In instructing a youthful class in mathematics the teacher turned to John Jones. "Johnny," she remarked, "can you tell me what an average is?" "Yes, ma'am," was the prompt response of Johnny, "an average is what a hen lays eggs on."

"What?" exclaimed the amazed teacher. "What on earth are you talking about?" "That's right, Miss Mary," was the rejoinder of Johnny. "Most every lesson in our 'rithmetic starts off 'T' a hen lays three eggs a week on an average."

Charles and Nancy had quarrelled. After their supper mother tried to re-establish friendly relations. She told them of the Bible verse, "Let not the sun go down upon your wrath." "Now, Charlie," she pleaded, "are you going to let the sun go down on your wrath?" Charles squirmed a little. "Well, how can I stop it?" "Gerald," said the young wife, noting how heavily he was eating, "do I look as well as your mother did?" Gerald put up his monocle and stared at her through it. "Once and for all, Agatha," he said, "I beg that you will remember that although I may seem to be in reduced circumstances now I come of an old and distinguished family. My mother was not a cook."

FATHER FINN FIRST CHAPLIN OF WAR KILLED

Church of England Clergyman Pays Him Tribute DIED TRYING TO SAVE MEN

Jumped Into Water to Rescue Soldiers During the Landing of Troops at Gallipoli and Was Shot by Turks

The first chaplain of the British forces to be killed during the war in Europe was Father Finn, of the Dublin Fusiliers. He met his death in trying to save some of his own men in the landing at the Gallipoli Peninsula. The Rev. H. C. Foster, Church of England chaplain to the second H. N. Brigade, writes the following tender appreciation of the devoted priest:

As I had the privilege and good fortune to be with the late Father Finn on the same transport, and during his last days on earth, I desire a few words from me would not be unwelcome at this time. Father Finn's name will be held in honor and revered by Christian people all over the world, but I venture to say, especially by the clergy and laity of his own church. His blameless character and the gentleness of his disposition endeared him to all who came in contact with him. To see him quietly at work among the men of the Dublin Fusiliers (1st Batt.) gave one the clue as to why this courageous priest was so respected and beloved. He is always had a sympathetic ear for the trials, temptations, difficulties and depression of his men, and when they were depressed and tired of the somewhat monotonous life on an amusing tale of a cheery word, so much so that among his own little circle of Irish "Tommy's" he was known as "Father O'Flynn."

Cornless Feet Are Very Common Now

A few years ago they were not. People pared corns and kept them. Or they used an inefficient treatment. Then the Blue-jay plaster was invented. That ended corn pain instantly for everyone who used it. But it also gently undermined the corn, so in two days it all came out. And this without one bit of pain or soreness. One told another about it, until millions came to use it. Now those people never keep a corn. As soon as one appears, they remove it. We urge you to do that. Prove Blue-jay on one corn. If you hesitate, let us send you samples free. If the pain does stop—it means you. It means a lifetime without corns. Your own friends, by the dozens, probably, know that this is so.

OLD CRAFT SHOWS HOW WOOD LASTS

Schooner, Century and a Decade Old But Sound to the Core, to Be Retired From Active Service

Amesbury, Mass., Aug. 3.—Another remarkable instance of the wonderful durability of wood was revealed to the shipwrights at one of the Quincy yards when they overhauled the famous old schooner Polly to see if it required any repairs. It was found that after 110 years of active service, including its historic exploits in the war of 1812 as a privateer, the famous old wooden vessel was as sound and staunch as one could ask. Only minor repairs to the rigging and cleaning of the bottom were required. The stout hull of oak and pine is good for another century or two.

A society is now being formed here to raise a fund to purchase the Polly and have it brought back here to end its travels over the oceans of the earth, to serve as a sort of marine and historical museum for the instruction and edification of the people of Amesbury, Salisbury Point and vicinity. The Polly's frame timbers of sturdy oak were laid in 1805 at Salisbury Point, and it already was famous for its speed and seaworthiness when the second war with Great Britain broke out in 1812. It was in this war that the exploits of the Polly as a privateer brought it renown throughout the world. Its owner sent it out on its work of destruction and death again and again until the value of its prizes had reached a tremendous sum for those days. The old craft was built for speed and it had it. It could overtake any British merchantman afloat and none of the British men-of-war could overtake it. Both Captain William Spear, who owned and sailed it, and its crew were able to retire on their earnings independent for the rest of their days when the war was over and the Polly no longer carried gunpowder and cannon balls under its stout wooden decks, but American commerce to the ports of the world.

At the time of the Jamestown Expedition the Polly, then a famous old schooner 107 years of age, set sail for Virginia to take part in the expedition. In November, 1810, the National Society of the United States Daughters of 1812 commemorated its many victories on the high seas by setting a bronze tablet, appropriately inscribed, just forward of its cabin. This happened in New York harbor, and it was said at the time that there was not a sailing craft in all that great harbor that had "anything on" the Polly in appearance or general seaworthiness, although the wooden craft was then nearing the end of the first decade of its second century. It was summoned by the Daughters of 1812 from Dighton, and it remained for James L. Jenkinson, of Fall River, who sailed it, to tell of the Polly's greatest achievement. On the way to New York, and showing its way through the heavy rollers of Block Island, the Polly overhauled the Oliver Ames, then considered the fastest master on the coast, which means in the world. The result was a race. Little by little the Polly crept up on its rival, passed it and arrived ahead of Fishers Island hours ahead of the Oliver Ames. While it is agreed that the feat of establishing the "oldest schooner in the United States" as a permanent museum of Salisbury Point is an excellent idea, old seafaring men say it is a pity that the staunch wooden craft is not to have another half century at least of active service.

A colored parson, calling upon one of his flock, found the object of his visit out in the back yard working among his chickens. He called out to the man, "What are you doing?" "I'm looking for a chicken that there were no chickens." "Why, Brudder Brown," he asked, "where's all y' chickens?" "Huh," grunted Brudder Brown, without looking up, "some foul pouson let de ol' open hen fly all west home."

Paul Revere, born at Boston, Jan. 1st, 1735, died May 10th, 1818 — made his famous ride from Boston to Lexington, April 18-19, 1775, to alarm the minute men.

If he had the stunt to do today—he'd use an airship and he'd fly in her among the first to get the pick of these summer suits for young men.

Suits that are high flyers, far above the average. Prices $12.50 to $30. Shirts, Cravats, Collars.

DIGS ROOTS FOR A LIVING

Nova Scotia Makes Business of Supplying Tree "Knees" to Shipbuilding Concerns

Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—Frank Muse, of Tusket Forks, Nova Scotia, said to be the only digger of tree roots for use in shipbuilding who makes a specialty of the business, was here last week spending a day in Boston on business and pleasure.

Mr. Muse knows every trail and section of woods in the vicinity of Tusket Forks and Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and is familiar with the topography of the adjoining forests of the country. He searches the woods for certain trees, digs up the roots, and when he finds one growing at a certain angle he saws the root off, and after preparing it with a draw-shave he sells the "knee" or angle piece to shippers for the construction of ships. Mr. Muse is said to have supplied every shipyard in New England with these "knees" at some time or other, and some of his manufactured roots have been sent to shipbuilding plants even farther away from his forest workshop.

He searches diligently all summer and much of the winter looking for his specialty, which is in great demand by the shipbuilding companies owing to the natural joints being more durable than those made by machinery.

Entire Family Stricken With Cholera.

YOUNGEST CHILD DIED.

Mrs. E. Slade, 376 Logan Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes: "When I first arrived in Canada, nearly four years ago, my entire family was stricken with cholera from which the youngest child died. Soon after a friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and acting on this advice I administered it to all who were suffering with the most gratifying results. Since that first attack my children have been subject to stomach troubles, but on the first symptoms I resort to 'Dr. Fowler's,' and it always brings relief. I have immense faith in this medicine and always keep a bottle on hand, also I never fail to recommend it to anyone who is similarly troubled." Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 70 years, and has become so universally used, that many firms have gone so far as to try and produce a substitute for it, and even claiming similar names, and saying it is "The Same" or "Just As Good." Do not accept their word for this as those no-name, no-reputation, worthless imitations may be dangerous to your health. The genuine "Dr. Fowler's" is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 35c.

BIG BERRY TRADE

One Express Company Alone Shipping at the Rate of 300 Crates a Day During Recent Week

(Amherst Guardian) An average of 800 crates a day was the Sackville strawberry shipment through the Dominion Express Company during two weeks recently. How many crates were disposed of in other ways is not known, but it may probably be assumed that the average shipment from Sackville district during the two weeks was well over 800 crates daily. As each crate holds thirty-two boxes, it requires only a very simple calculation to show that the daily shipment through the Dominion Express Company was 26,400 boxes. On Monday alone of last week the Dominion Company handled no fewer than 280 crates or 12,160 boxes. How much the berry growers were receiving on that day The Guardian does not know, but the figure was probably ten or eleven cents. Taking the smaller figure as the price a box, the grower received a total of $1,216 for the one day's shipment through one company. That isn't bad business.

In recent years an increasing number of people at the Sackville have gone into berry business and the acreage devoted to that purpose has grown steadily. W. B. Fawcett, however, remains the lawberry king of the district with several other men of the same surname not far behind him so far as the size of the crops they respectively raise is concerned. Some idea of the extent of Mr. Fawcett's berry raising operations is given by the fact that he frequently has more than half a hundred pickers at work in his fields.

A BULLETIN ON SWINE RAISING

The second edition of Bulletin No. 17 of the federal live stock branch, entitled Swine Husbandry in Canada has been issued, and may be had on application to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The interest in swine raising stimulated, no doubt, by the high values of pork products, made such a demand for information on this subject that the first edition printed last year was quickly exhausted. This edition brings up to date statistics with respect to pedigree registration and the trade in hog products. It is shown that the total exports for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1911, amounted to 166,048,519 lbs., as against 27,861,140 lbs. in the previous year. This bulletin covers the whole field of swine raising, giving the results of official experiments as well as the practices of successful farmer swine raisers. An interesting section describes the system of feeding hogs in Denmark, where combinations of food are prepared according to their food units in which one pound of grain, wheat, barley, peas, corn etc., constitutes one food unit which is equal to 8 lbs. mangels, 4 lbs. boiled potatoes, 4 lbs. alfalfa, 6 lbs. skim milk, or 12 lbs. whey. It is shown that the diet is varied in a definite way for pigs of different ages.

Manager Ben Herman of a Columbus, O., restaurant, says it pays to tip waiters. He does it this way: Each month there is a contest, all the waiters being entered. The one who shows the largest receipts gets $12; the waiter serving the largest number of persons gets $10; and the one having the best all-round average for politeness gets $5.

BOON TO LUMBER INDUSTRY

Permission to Export Unmanufactured Lumber From Newfoundland of Unestimated Benefit

St. John's, N. F., Aug. 3.—The greatest boon of the timber and lumber business in the history of Newfoundland has resulted from the recent passage of the law permitting the exportation of unmanufactured lumber from Newfoundland and permitting other privileges to lumbermen. Coming just here, on the eve of the war, it has been felt throughout the world, because of the cutting off of much of the supply from countries now engaged in the war, both Canadian and United States capital has been attracted into the new field by the possibilities of large profits.

Under the old law it was impossible to develop the lumber business of the island or of Labrador, and millions of feet of prime timber was allowed to remain in the forests until it either was destroyed by fire. This law has been suspended for two years in Newfoundland and for ten years in Labrador, but it is confidently predicted that the development of the new industry will be so profitable that a further extension will be voted by the government and that the old conditions will never again be correct by any of the means now in vogue.

Within the last few months thousands of square miles of stumpage have been cut down and the arrangements made for developing a big export business. The English commission that recently made an investigation of the timber resources found that about 95 per cent of the forests is spruce whose tensile strength and toughness of fibre are "un-surpassed." British buyers are here contracting for pit props and other colliery and building lumber as well as pulpwood. A dozen large cargoes already have been shipped to England and France, and it is estimated that about 6,000 men are now engaged in the woods getting out lumber. The new legislation will facilitate the efforts of United States interests to secure sites and rights for the erection of pulp and paper mills, as, among other things, the entrance duty free is permitted for all the apparatus and machinery required in such plants. The only mill now operating in the colony for pulp and paper manufacture is that of Lord Harnsworth at Grand Falls, which is now operating at the full capacity.

Indications are that Newfoundland will now begin to take an important place in the lumber business of the world, as it is more European than any other part of the United States or Canada; it has open ports the year around and labor is abundant and cheap. Timber cruisers report that the forests average so thick in Newfoundland that it will take forty years, cutting at the rate of 250,000 cords of pulpwood a year, to take out one generation of trees, while the vigorous growth will have in this time more than replaced what had been taken out.

A well-to-do, Scottish lady one day said to her gardener: "Men Tammas, I wonder you don't get married. You've a nice house and all you want to complete it is a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife." "Quite right, missus, quite right," said Tammas, "but he didn't keep his job lang after he got the wife."

ST. JOHN'S OBSERVANCE

Thousands in King Square and in the Theatres Hear Patriotic Addresses by Prominent Speakers—Empire Resolution Adopted With Enthusiasm

At a mass meeting, largely attended, in King Square, and in the several amusement houses of the city...

Resolved, that on this anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war...

The mayor, in opening the meeting following after the National Anthem...

Our Own War. "And we are in this business because it is our war. Canada is a peaceful country, but she has been invaded...

Hon. J. G. Forbes. In the resolution Judge Forbes made a striking speech. One hundred years ago, he said, Great Britain was engaged in another great war...

Canada Desired by Germany. "In this very city, and all over our land, this full horror will be re-enacted. Canada is the portion of the empire most anxiously desired by Germany...

Another outstanding fact was that British trade routes were kept open and Great Britain still, as before the war, was able to draw her supplies for her people from the sea.

First Year of War Reviewed

(Bangor Commercial)

The second year of the European war has begun. On Aug. 5, 1915, Germany declared war against Russia and the last chance of localizing the Austro-Serbian war, declared three days previously by Austria-Hungary.

The losses of Germany, France and Russia, by reason of their larger armies, have far exceeded those of the Allies.

On the basis of Dr. Helfferich's estimate, the first year of the war cost the stupendous sum of $11,500,000,000.

In addition to the war the loss in destroyed property has been estimated at $10,000,000,000.

It is estimated that the total cost of the war will be $20,000,000,000.

PASSPORTS IF YOU

henceforth passports will be needed by all who go to Newfoundland and as for the purposes of the oldest colony of the British crown, all Canadians are "allies" the rule for passports will apply to them too.

The Man In The Street

Remember how excited you were a year ago today—remember?

And do you recall the little bets you made as to whether England would pitch in?

We made a few, but the anniversary still finds us with at least one uncollected.

And Lots of It

News head: "Kaiser still regards the Almighty as his ally." Now we know what Herman Ridder meant when he said that the German policy was "sound."

If you are hard pressed for conversation, the Ononette Patriotic Pair is a safer topic even than the weather. There's more to say about it.

In Our Mail Box

To the Man in the Street:

Dear Sir—"Would less talk about street railway construction tend to accomplish more from City Hall than is at present for instance to have a night crew at work in raking the various construction about the city, than to be continually talking of what must be done? At Douglas avenue say a most important traffic centre and a spot where many motoring tourists get an impression of our city, would it not be possible to have a night gang at work instead of seeing the street torn up with the men having "nothing to do till tomorrow" and some men nothing to do at all? Aside from the look of it, it would tend greatly to the convenience of the traveling public. Here's hoping for a night crew.

Yours,

DOUGLAS A. YENUE.

Some Philanthropic Patriots

Standard says that some of the largest purchased for war purposes by the government were sold at cost price. Some of them may have been the Summer-meride, P. E. Island dealer who built a lively stable with part of his profits from such sales, was hardly doing it at cost price.

But Killing's All Too Gentle

"Kill the Kaiser" is one of the games for the "pinks" at Ononette fair on Saturday. In our humble opinion the attendant at the booth will have the busiest time of any fellow on the grounds, for everyone will want to "back" at him, (the Kaiser, of course, we mean, not the attendant).

Rough Riding

Commissioner Post says "the trouble with the tracks in Mill street is that they are so low as to be dangerous." Well, it's refreshing to know that the tracks are still there. Riding there at times often causes one to wonder as a sailor would say "Who's rocking the boat?"

But we have to deposit our nickel for the pleasure of riding on the tracks, and the company regards that as "fare."

A street car service to east St. John, is long overdue" says news note, but how about Millidgeville?

Information That Was Not Sussex, N. B., July 31.

Mr. Man-in-the-street:

My wife and I had called for another young couple and had gone driving. After we had passed the fire alarm, we decided it was too dark to enjoy the beautiful scenery of the surrounding country and the command "about turn" was given, when, lo, somewhere out of the darkness came that dread sound, soft but sure, and clear—the fire alarm. Straining our ears we counted 1, 2, 3, 4 which, box is located in the centre of the lower Mrs. P. J. of course, had very grave fears that it was 24 (our number), and "as like as not our house." Nothing would do but she must get out of the phone from the nearest house, but I convinced her what a waste of time this would be and thought we could get the details from someone passing. After we had covered about half the distance we met our first "turnout," and in anxious tones enquired the location of the now plainly visible blaze. He was making his regular nightly return from town, and of course he could tell us. We could not spare the moment to stop, but yelled in unison "Where's the fire," ignoring all rules of courtesy in our frantic desire to get the facts quickly. Breathlessly we waited. Then came the single word in a cold, snappy, crabbed tone—Sussex.

OUTING ON THE MAGIE MILLER

PROVED A GREAT SUCCESS

An excursion held last evening by the residents of Baywater in aid of the Patriotic Fund proved to be a great success and it is believed that quite a large sum was realized. The steamer "Magie Miller" which was generously donated for the occasion by Captain White, left Baywater about 8 o'clock for Millidgeville, where a large number of people who were taking advantage of the opportunity to enjoy a sail on the Kennebecensis were waiting. After a short stay at Millidgeville, the steamer, with about 100 on board, left for the trip up river. After a sail of about three hours on the river, during which time dancing was enjoyed by the younger folks, return was made to Baywater and there three rousing cheers were given Captain White. The passengers from the city were then taken to Millidgeville, where "busses," which were kindly donated by Frank Irvine, were waiting to take them to their homes.

The steamer had been prettily decorated by the committee and presented a fine appearance. The committee wish very heartily to thank Mr. Irvine, who so kindly placed the "busses" at their disposal, Captain White for the use of the boat, and all those who so generously supported the movement.

MAYOR AND FIVE POLICEMEN GET 14 YEARS FOR MURDER

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 5—James H. Thomas, Sr., mayor of Brookfield, Ill., a negro settlement, and five negro policemen of the town, were found guilty of murder in the circuit court here and sentenced to fourteen years each in the penitentiary.

The men were charged with killing Robert Jackson, a policeman under a former administration. The shooting grew out of an election row.

Another German Apology

London, Aug. 5—"Germany has informed Norway that the sinking of the Norwegian steamer Minerva in May was due to unfortunate circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to believe the vessel was British. Germany has expressed deep regret and a willingness to pay damages."

GORDON NUTTALL FOUND SUFFERING FROM SUN STROKE

St. John Soldier Kept Calling Out For His Brother

LATTER SENT FROM THE TRENCHES IN RESPONSE

Gordon Out on the Lines When Stricken—Will Be All Right After a Rest—Praise of Him by Major Lister

J. T. Nuttall, overseer of the Cornwall cotton mill, has received the following letter from his son, Sergeant J. P. Nuttall, of the 10th Battalion, now fighting in France—France, July 31.

"Dear Dad:—

"Received your letter O. K. I was called out of the trenches the other night to go to see Gordon, who is in the hospital. It seems he had been out on the lines and got sunstroke and was wandering a lot and calling for me, so they brought me to him. Now, dad, don't go worrying, for the doctors promised me that they would give him the best of care and they assured me that with rest he would be all right in a week or two.

"I found out that some one had told him I had gone under a few days ago, so that did not help him. I was talking to Major Lister on Monday and he said the whole unit misses Gordon. We all like him and he has done his work with a will.

"Rest assured that he will be well looked after and the rest will make him O. K. He has been taken to the base, and I will let you know how he is doing as soon as I hear word.

"Today we are going to be inspected by Sir E. L. Borden, after that back in to the trenches. Now about going on a fishing trip—we have work to do before play and it has to be done well. At the battle of the Orchard and at Festubert they found out we were not such boobies as they thought. And when they try again we are ready to do our bit as we have in the past. This is no picnic and not the time for cold feet. The soldiers you sent will do fine, and I will see that the kid gets his. Now, Dad, and mother, don't go worrying. The kid will be O. K. He needs a rest anyway, for he has been at it since February and he won't be coming back to us for a while. I will write later and keep you posted."

ANOTHER WARNING

Care Needed or There May Be Motor Boat Tragedy on The River

The regulation which calls for the use of lights on motor boats at night, as they thought, "An' when they try after dark met a great number coming down, and only two or three showed any lights. Moreover, they were hugging the shore on the eastern side, in the course that rightly belongs to boats going up, but not uncommon to see boats coming overloaded. Should a serious accident occur there would be a great outcry, but it would then be too late.

The boat that was recently taken from Public Landing was found near Westfield by Murray Jarvis, a mechanic the owner, George Pools, and the latter secured his property.

There was complaint again last Sunday about the manners and language of some men in a large boat which spent some time at the Landing.

JOHN BECKWITH, PRISONER OF GERMANS, GETS TOBACCO SENT HIM FROM ST. JOHN

A postcard received yesterday by Robert Beckwith of 32 Brussels street, from his brother, John, a prisoner of war in Germany, contained appreciation for a box of dainties, including tobacco, received by him. It was quite an event when confined in a prison camp of the enemy, he wrote, to receive such a package from home.

SON OF HON. MR. HAZEN IS GOING TO THE WAR

Lieutenant James M. Hazen, son of Hon. J. D. Hazen, is going to the war with the 80th Field Battery, now at Camp Niagara. Word came to his father here. The young officer was a cadet in the Royal Military College, Kingston, and volunteered for active service. He was chosen by Major Gillis of the 80th Battery as one of his officers and is now a section commander.

THE BRIDGE SOUVENIRS

Another citizen who heartily approves of the suggestion that souvenirs be made from wood from the old suspension bridge and sold for the benefit of the Patriotic Fund, suggests that a metal die be made with a fac-simile of the bridge, and that this be stamped on each souvenir. This would prevent fraud and serve the purpose of preserving the memory of the famous old bridge.

A Two Name Note

Banks regard the "two name note" as an excellent form of security.

In much the same way a standard trade marked product sold through a reputable dealer offers this same form of security to the purchaser.

Two names are behind it.

The dealer is always ready to make good and the manufacturer is equally anxious to support his good name.

Loss to purchasers is impossible. Look over this newspaper for the names of standard articles and the dealers who sell them.
