BEAUBIEN SPEAKS IN NATIVE CITY

Senator Pays Tribute to Alsatians in Address at Strasbourg. Paris, Aug. 7.—Senator Beaubien, Montreal, who is accompanying the Canadian traveling exhibition through France, made a touching speech yesterday at Strasbourg. The Strasbourg Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet in honor of visiting Canadians and the Senator replied to the welcome accorded to him. He recalled the sacrifices of the Alsatians who had fought in the Franco-Prussian war in 1870, and he referred to those Alsaitians who had emigrated to Canada rather than become Germans. Touching on the great war, the Senator said his first son was killed at Soissons in 1918, but his second son, whom he had sent to replace the first, was able to enter Strasbourg with the victorious French army. The Senator recalled that Strasbourg was his own native city.

HEARING TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

Prisoner Held on a Serious Charge Following Death of Owen McCann. VERDICT GIVEN. Campaign to Start Against Drivers at Auto Wheels While Drunk. It was announced by the detective department this afternoon that a charge of manslaughter had been brought against Thomas Crawford in connection with the death of Owen McCann who was struck by an automobile driven by the defendant on the morning of July 29.

HEARING TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

The preliminary hearing will be begun tomorrow morning in the police court here. It is predicted that a campaign will be started at once against men under the influence of liquor driving automobiles. The charges against him previously were those of driving a car while under the influence of liquor and of neglecting to stop after the accident. E. J. Henneberry is acting for the defense.

HEARING TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

The coroner's enquiry into the death of Owen McCann was brought to a close last evening and a jury found that he came to his death as the result of being hit by an automobile driven by Thomas Crawford.

HEARING TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

The verdict was as follows: "That Owen McCann died at the city of St. John on Thursday, the second day of August, 1923. That he came to his death from injuries received by being struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Crawford on the morning of the 29th day of July, 1923. Signed, Ernest J. Todd, foreman; A. M. Sherwood, William Ordish, Joseph Taylor, John B. Jones, D. J. Stockford and M. J. Isaacs." Dr. A. S. Chesley, interne at the General Public Hospital, who was on duty when McCann was admitted to the institution told his condition when brought here. The man was unconscious and blood was oozing from the right arm. There was a bruise on the right cheek and behind the right ear and he was bruised on the left elbow and right shoulder. There was no indication of liquor on the patient. He would judge the man had rolled and had only one direct fall. In his opinion the sound on the head was from a direct blow.

SITUATION IS EASIER

Little Hope, However, of Agreement Between British and French.

London, Aug. 7.—While little tangible evidence is at hand to indicate the probability of British and French statements arriving at any sort of agreement at present on a method of solving the Ruhr and reparations problems, British government spokesmen declared today the situation was not so serious as the week-end press reports and comment had seemed to indicate.

CHIROPRACTIC is based on fundamental, natural laws. The organs of the body are the motors, the nerves are power lines which carry vital energy or life to all parts of the body. Impairment or pinching of the nerves interferes with their life-carrying power and disease is the result. The Chiropractor adjusts with his hands the misaligned vertebrae and the impinged nerves are freed. The flow of life enters the part diseased, normal functions are resumed and health restored. GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

CARROLL PLAYERS HERE ON AUG. 27

Popular Stock Co. at Opera House—Some Old and New Faces.

Hundreds have been besieging the Opera House Management, by telephone and otherwise, for information relative to the Carroll Players, and it will be good news to them that Mr. Carroll has not only decided on the opening date, but selected the excellent company members, and forwarded instructions to prepare for the opening bill.

The personnel of the company it is said will represent both new and familiar faces, and Mr. Carroll writes that he has secured some wonderful bits for the Fall season which will receive the same careful presentation that characterized Mr. Carroll's organization last season. Full details concerning the company, plays, ticket sale etc., will soon be forthcoming.

Design Motor Cars To Meet Road Conditions

Stockholm, July 17.—(A. How You Can Make Hairs Quickly Disappear

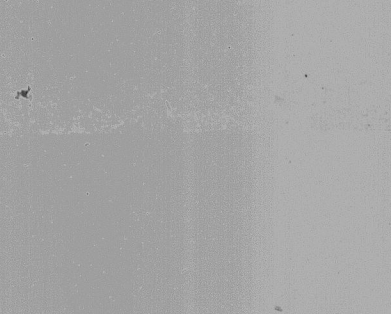

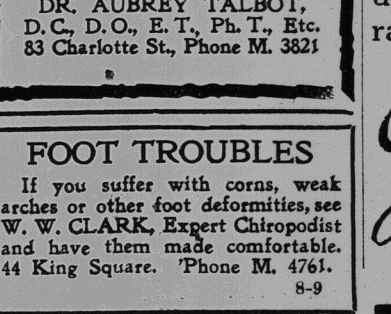

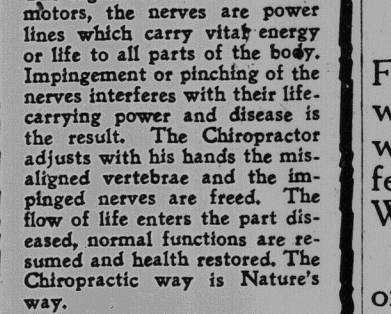

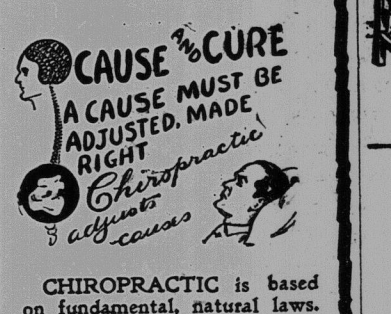

(Helps to Beauty) Even a stubborn growth of hair will quickly vanish from the face, neck or arms after a single treatment with depilatory. To remove hair from arms, neck or face make a stiff paste with a little powdered talcum and water apply to hairy surface and after about two minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left free from hair or blentish. To avoid disappointment, be quite certain you get real depilatory and mix fresh as wanted.

SHARP TALK BETWEEN FRIENDS

"That the great majority of Frenchmen do not desire to make a wild dash, which is sure to be unsuccessful, at the empire of the world, is a fact which is not generally known. It is a fact which is not generally known. It is a fact which is not generally known."

This is an example of the sharp exchanges which have been going on between London and Paris, unofficially. While the official language has been courteous the extent of the tension existing is revealed to some extent by articles like that in The Spectator, in which France is charged with much more than failure in the Ruhr.

Describing the French occupation of the Ruhr as a tragic failure The Spectator proceeds to discuss the French conduct in the most severe language. It is sure the French "have not meant to be cruel" but it says they have had to seize city after city, to shoot at night, to combat not only hostile mobs but individuals, and to punish by death or long imprisonment large numbers of civilians. It has isolated cities as if they had the plague, and worse, have driven over 80,000 people, men, women and children, from their homes into exile.

It is sure the French "have not meant to be cruel" but it says they have had to seize city after city, to shoot at night, to combat not only hostile mobs but individuals, and to punish by death or long imprisonment large numbers of civilians. It has isolated cities as if they had the plague, and worse, have driven over 80,000 people, men, women and children, from their homes into exile.

To what extent has the French course at large alarmed Europe? The Spectator says the reckless "policy of domination" has been pursued and advised in such a fashion as to awaken a sense of uneasiness if not of fear in every Chancellery on the Continent, and it repeats that while Frenchmen generally cannot intend to make an attempt at "the empire of the world," the French nation has "more than once occasion found itself committed to wild adventures" which it has deliberately contemplated.

The British and other ships are carrying too great a proportion of the foreign commerce of the United States, the complaint of the National Maritime Association, which says a "survival" of a real American merchant marine depends upon more protection and encouragement by the government. Toward the close of the war and for a short time after it the United States expected to become a dominant factor in the carrying trade, but that ambition has ended in disappointment.

That American shipping has "touched new bottoms in a progressive decline in its carrying of our foreign commerce," is now the contention. In support of it official figures are quoted covering the first four months of this year and of last year. United States Shipping Board vessels carried in the overseas trade during the 1923 period 2,808,000 tons, as compared with 2,504,000 tons in the 1922 period, a loss of four per cent. The total for privately owned American vessels decreased from 946,000 tons to 748,000 tons, or twenty-one per cent. The total for British ships increased from 4,022,000 tons to 4,799,000 tons, or nineteen per cent, while the total for other foreign ships increased from 3,880,000 to 5,054,000 tons, or twenty-eight per cent. The tonnage available was 1,604,000 greater in the 1923 than in the 1922 period, yet less, while foreign ships carried 1,901,000 tons more. Department of Commerce figures are quoted to show that during April of this year the total entrances and clearances of American vessels with cargo aggregated 3,008,000 net tons, as against 3,225,000 net tons in April of last year, while foreign vessels advanced from 4,161,000 net tons in April, 1922, to 4,862,000 net tons in April, 1923.

"It is therefore evident," the statement of the Association concludes, "that American ships are carrying a steadily decreasing proportion of our foreign trade, whether viewed from the standpoint of the value of the goods, the volume of cargoes, or vessels securing cargoes."

WHAT WILL HE DO?

Mr. Coolidge, judging by extracts from his speeches, talks like a book. In the hope of throwing some light upon the course he is likely to pursue as President the reviewers have made some selections from his public utterances. These are worth little as indicating what he will do, or attempt to do, with the tariff, or in international affairs, but they serve to disclose something as to his type of mind and his outlook on government and men.

As a rule the United States Presidents have not been men of wealth. The late Mr. Harding is an exception, the estate he left being estimated at $700,000. A small amount compared with many American fortunes but large compared with the earthly possessions of most of his predecessors.

est float was begun yesterday at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The Indiana and South Dakota, which thus disappear in accordance with the naval limitation treaty, were to have cost $70,000,000. The dismantling conference, though in some respects it fell short of expectations, did at least bring to a cessation in the naval shipbuilding race. Had aircraft and submarines been included the world would have been much more secure today.

When Sullivan first fell bottom on finishing his conquest of the Channel he was so weak that he staggered and one of the boat's crew went in, waist deep, to help him. But Sullivan cried, "I don't want any help. I'll finish this myself." And he did. That is the spirit. Because of the tides he swam nearly fifty-six miles, although as the crew files the distance is less than twenty-three.

The coroner's jury in the McCann case has left for the courts the question as to responsibility for the tragedy. That question must be answered by the coroner's jury, but they evidently thought it beyond their province to go into the question of negligence on one side or the other. The coroner's questions will be answered as the case is dealt with by another tribunal.

The Question of a Park at Fort Howe

(By A. M. Bedding.)
The following extracts from the minutes of the St. John Playgrounds Association meeting on Nov. 7, 1919, are of special interest for the reason that, now almost ten years later, the question of what to do with Fort Howe is up once more.

The President (Miss Mabel Peters) reported that she had had some correspondence with the Commissioner of Dominion Parks at Ottawa (J. B. Harkin) relative to historic battlefields in New Brunswick, but especially with reference to the conversion of Fort Howe into a public park. The Commissioner's request for information about New Brunswick battlefields was referred to Archdeacon Raymond, who, in turn, had asked W. C. Milner to give the Commissioner what he could. The Commissioner had expressed himself favorably regarding Fort Howe, and had asked if it could be converted into a park. Dr. Raymond had referred to the Historical Society, which had prepared a resolution approving the plan. It would be remembered that the Hon. Minister of Public Works had sent an engineer to inspect Fort Howe, and he had reported that it could be converted into a beautiful park. Miss Peters expressed the hope that M. E. Agar, Commissioner of Parks and Pleasuregrounds for the city, would heartily co-operate.

"Mr. Agar said he was probably the first to make the suggestion, as he had publicly advised the conversion of Fort Howe into a park before it was examined by the engineer. He had, in fact, made the suggestion in 1919, and felt there was no more convenient place for a park. He felt that the City Council would co-operate, and if the plan could be carried out, no one would be better pleased than himself."

"Mr. Agar undertook to bring the matter to the attention of the Hon. Minister of Public Works, and he had also moved that the Commissioner of Dominion Parks be asked to visit the city in the following week."

TABLE MANNERS

(Manchester Guardian.)

In the correspondence columns of the "British Medical Journal" Mr. Morley Roberts—greatly daring, it would seem, since in those pages the layman, however distinguished, has the air of a lion in a den of Daniels—ventures to plead his own theory of the right way to eat. His proposition is that if we all keep our mouths thoroughly full when we eat it will be possible to bolt our food and thus injure our digestion. Mr. Roberts admits that his proposition is unpalatable. "Polite mothers and nurses" warn their infant charges against inordinate mouthfuls; at adult gatherings a similar prejudice is to be observed. Moreover, if the prejudice were to be abandoned, it would obviously make an end of conversation at the moments when it appears most appropriate; but Mr. Roberts is sincere enough to doubt whether this moral or mental loss would be worth setting against the physical gain. Our doctors nowadays are pretty efficient surgeons of appetite; however, if they are to find a startling proposition which cannot be tolerated by somebody, why not suggest that the same line of business remains to be followed in the case of the dinner-party? Whether they will tolerate a layman in the same line of business remains to be seen. It is an ascertainable fact that the more one eats, the more one improves health declines and that it fills the mouth, to hastening ill a prey. Where talk accumulates and teeth decay?

MORE "IGNORANT" STUDENTS

(New York Sun.)

A class in political science in Syracuse University failed to score very highly in a test given on current events. This included the names of twenty prominent men and thirteen topics in the news. The average grade was 60.

This record will of course provide a text for those who are fond of talking about the ignorance of college students and questioning the value of academic education. But it does not reflect upon the students themselves, who are always some thing—especially since the questions did not deal exclusively with subjects directly related to political science. College students often, perhaps generally, are less careful readers of the news than those outside colleges. It is natural that they should be less concerned about the daily affairs of the moment than the layman is. In political science, for example, they study the past rather than the present, as they should. There is plenty of time and probably more inclination to observe current affairs after they leave college. There is little likelihood that they will ever attend more to the philosophy of politics than to the current affairs.

It would be a good thing if students followed contemporary affairs more closely, and many historical courses seek to get them to do this. But in the long run it is much more important that they possess an insight into the sources and causes of past and present events. They should be able to glitzy state names and dates bearing on present day events.

WEARING BLINKERS

STEAL LOAD OF CHEWING GUM AND TRUCK WITH DRIVER NEAR

New York, Aug. 7.—Detectives from the Truck Squad at Police Headquarters are searching for a gang of thieves who stole a truck in front of the stable of Isaac Witkin, 602 Water Street, loaded with sixty cases of chewing gum valued at $8,000.

Witkin said the truck was stolen while he was in the stable answering the telephone. Two men were arrested on suspicion, but were later released. The truck was found late in the afternoon at Twenty-fifth Street and Eleventh Avenue by operatives of the Merchant Truckmen's Bureau.

TO CURE THE BUSINESS BUES.
(Toronto Globe)
In the history of Canada there have been periods of depression, predictions of disaster and advocacy of annexation, but all these have proved to be mere eddies, while the stream of progress has flowed in increasing volume. Precipitation is usually due to gazing at the eddy instead of the stream.

FRIENDSHIP CLUB IN TOKIO
Tokio, July 8.—(A. P. By Mail)—Japanese formerly resident in the United States have organized a club to be known as the Japan American Club. The object is the promotion of friendship between the two countries.

The building of a miniature model of "Sverdrup of the Seas," required three years.

It may be cured by looking at the progress that has been made since Confederation, of evil in a ten-year period. Take, for instance, the fact that in 1922 although the extraordinary expansion caused by the war was over, the trade of Canada was fifty per cent. more than in 1913. Evidence could easily be accumulated, but, generally speaking, we prescribe the Canadian Year Book as a cure for the blues.

A Good Moral In Arliss Feature

"The Man Who Played God" at Imperial a Strong Story.

"The Man Who Played God," the new photoplay in which George Arliss, distinguished screen and stage star, appeared at the Imperial theatre again today and tomorrow, opens up an avenue for consideration of the plight of celebrated stage and concert personalities after their public careers have come to an end.

In many instances, our great characters retire from the stage of their efforts in silence, and scarcely anybody ever knows that they are gone. In some instances, such celebrities "die in harness," so that their passing arouses sympathy. This was true of "Becket," Caruso, the world's greatest tenor, virtually "died in harness"—seemingly an untimely death.

In "The Man Who Played God," Mr. Arliss has the role of John Arden, famous musician, who loses his sense of hearing. Jules Eckert Goodman, the dramatist, who wrote a plot of the most intense sort about the character of Arden, had before him famous examples of celebrities who have stepped out of the Play of Life via blindness as Milton did, or through deafness, as did Beethoven.

It is with a deft stroke that the dramatist here has built his character of John Arden. The dramatist topples his principal player from the highest pinnacle of success, and leaves him, alone and embittered, eating his heart out in despair. Arden appears to be a type of man who never knew what failure was. When the complete reverse comes, following on the heels of an outrage in a Paris drawing room, Arden is a mental and physical

GREATER RANGE OF FABRICS

There are few concessions to the new style made by the tailored suit. Its lines are a trifle straighter, its coat a trifle longer—its appearance a trifle smarter.

The greatest difference is the material of which it is made. There is a greater range of fabric—the reps, the twills and the smart camel's hair fabrics—all in large Jacquard patterns.

Incompetent—unable any longer to withstand the ravages of ill fate.

Into this dilemma, when Arden has turned everybody away from him by his demeanor and conduct, comes another study in psychology. Arden has decided to rid the world of his presence. He will end everything by throwing himself from his high apartment window to the avenue. Then the unexpected happens! Here the story takes a most dramatic turn, and suspense, if not intensified, is at least further maintained, until the final denouement.

In a certain sense, the dramatist has advanced a substitute for such distress as we find our musician in. The idling away of lonesome hours by—DOING GOOD! Little acts of kindness, none the less. Could anything provide better entertainment, or seem to solve the dreadful destiny of a man who has toppled from the pedestal of success? The dramatist finally rescues his chief actor from oblivion, and the restoration of the sense

Brides Cost $4 Each In Egypt

London, July 16.—(A. P. By Mail).—Professor W. Flinders Petrie, eminent Egyptologist who was recently knighted by King George, gives some interesting information regarding the private life of the ancient Egyptians. The earliest marriage contract known in Egypt, he says, dates from 2500 B. C. The terms of the pact, as drawn up by the husband, were as follows: "Since God willeth that we should unite one with the other in righteous wedlock, after the manner of every free man and every wise woman, therefore I have given thee four dollars in gold as a bridal gift, that thou mayest come and enter my house as a free woman. And for my part I will not neglect thee more than as it were my own body. Neither shall I be able to put thee forth without a cause, having legal ground. But should I wish to put thee forth, I will pay 17 dollars for the matter."

KNIGHTS WELCOMED TO MONTREAL

Proposing the toast to the "Province of Quebec, Premier Tashereau said he was not a member of the K. of C., and would like when women were admitted to the membership. He asked the order to help the Province by aiding the laws in preventing work being done on Sundays and in the stamping out of bad standards of living throughout the Province. He did not believe the Knights of Columbus were not as progressive as they might be.

Arthur Sauve, leader of the opposition, said that if Mr. Tashereau were a K. of C., they would be better able to see eye to eye on many questions and the Province would be much improved thereby.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe said that "amid the numerous dangers and difficulties that threaten the world in these troublous times, let the Knights of Columbus be a light that will show not only their members, but their fellow citizens the road to justice, truth and charity, honest, loyal and patriotic citizenships."

Hon. Jas. A. Robb paid a tribute to the good work being done by the K. of C. fraternity throughout the world.

Proposing the toast to Canada, Dr. L. G. Griffin, state deputy for Pennsylvania in the fraternity, said that in 1910 there were only four thousand members of the order in Canada. Now there were fifty thousand.

Crystal Amplification.

One or two stages of amplification may be added to a crystal receiver with good results, but if this installation is contemplated it is advisable also to use a vacuum tube to replace the crystal detector, as batteries for filament heating and plate voltage must be provided for the amplifying stages and are therefore available for use with a detector tube. Sometimes, however, the crystal detector is advisable to give clearer and less distorted reception.

Latest Radio Development.

Two elements of radio receiving sets which have been perfected during the last year or two have gone far to help in making it convenient and satisfactory to use radio receiving sets outdoors. The first of these is a dry battery tube, electron tube detectors and amplifiers which require only a small dry battery rather than a heavy storage battery to light the filaments. The second is the development of more satisfactory loud speakers which furnish a considerable volume of sound without undesirable distortion. This is possible now, with small portable receiving sets which can be purchased or which can be fairly easily assembled, to receive satisfactory radio broadcasting while camping or boating or making automobile tours.

SULLIVAN'S FEAT WAS MARVELOUS

The last 12 hours of the swim proved to be a tremendous endurance test. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the pilot boat at Calais was a little over three miles ahead, but for the next two hours the swimmer's relative position to the land was unchanged. Then the tide set off the coast and Sullivan was forced to make a great fight to retain his advantage.

Gigantic Struggle.

At 11:15 o'clock Monday morning the swimmer was two and a half miles from shore with the Calais lighthouse to the southeast. He was then making 84 strokes to the minute and swimming very regularly. By noon the tide began to carry him westward down the channel and in the following hour he drifted in this direction, striking 88 to the minute and edging slowly across the current. At 3:15 o'clock Monday afternoon he had reached a point opposite the Sanguette Cliff. The water was choppy and the tide was dead against him. One hour later Sullivan was still drifting west and his position was rather despaired of unless it proved that he could hold out for the returning tide which those aboard the boat believed would help him ashore. At 5:17 o'clock he was still two miles off the coast and while caps were breaking, the accompanying party, to cheer him along, sang "For he's a Jolly Good Fellow."

The Tide Helps.

With the change of tide at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening Sullivan made better progress toward his goal, and the occupants of the boat could see the crowds on the sands in front of the Calais casino watching the struggle with the choppy channel waters. An hour later the swimmer was exactly opposite the lighthouse, one mile from the coast. He was quite cheerful and swimming strongly.

At 7:00 o'clock the athlete expressed confidence that his seventh attempt within the channel would be successful. At this time he was making 82 strokes to the minute and was gradually forging ahead.

Swam 56 Miles. It was five minutes after eight when Sullivan first felt bottom. He attempted to stand but staggered as though intoxicated, and one of the crew jumped from the boat up to his waist in water.

"I don't want any help," cried Sullivan. "I'll finish this myself!" He swam nearly 56 miles, although the point to point distance by airplane is only approximately 22½ miles.

To Get $1,000 Prize.

Dover, Aug. 7.—The Daily Sketch announced today that it had decided to award to Henry Sullivan the £1,000 prize it offered some time ago for the channel swim. The newspaper says that although Sullivan entered the contest, he did not fulfill the conditions inasmuch as there was no representative of the paper in the accompanying boat, but that in view of his pluck and the fact that there is no doubt of his having accomplished the feat, the prize will be awarded.

Woman Turns Back.

Dover, Eng., Aug. 7.—Mrs. Clemington Carson, the U. S. long distance swimmer, abandoned her effort to swim the channel owing to cold and exhaustion. She had made excellent speed throughout the entire distance and it is said that but for a choppy sea encountered six or seven hours at a stretch in mid-channel, she is confident she would have accomplished the feat. At times the waves were so high that they obscured the pilot boat from the swimmer's sight.

TO CLEAN SOILED CANVAS SHOES

With a box of White-O and a few minutes' time, you can keep your canvas or buckskin shoes always spotlessly white. There is nothing which looks more "sloppy" than soiled canvas or buckskin shoes. Takes only a minute or two to apply White-O and a few minutes longer to dry.

swimmer, is reported to have abandoned her attempt to swim the English Channel when at a point six miles off Cape Gris-Nez on the French coast. She is said to have become very exhausted during the last half hour she was in the water.

London, Aug. 7.—A Dover despatch to the Evening Standard today reports that Mrs. Clemington Carson, U. S. woman swimmer, abandoned her effort to swim the channel owing to cold and exhaustion. She had made excellent speed throughout the entire distance and it is said that but for a choppy sea encountered six or seven hours at a stretch in mid-channel, she is confident she would have accomplished the feat. At times the waves were so high that they obscured the pilot boat from the swimmer's sight.

Canadian Gives Up.

Calais, France, Aug. 7.—The Canadian swimmer, Omer Perrault, entered the water here at eight o'clock Sunday evening in an attempt to swim the English Channel but was obliged to give up when only six miles from the English coast. The failure is attributed to the roughness of the sea.

Perrault was still swimming strongly when he decided to abandon the attempt. He returned here yesterday aboard the launch which accompanied him outward and announced his intention of making another try.

Henry Sullivan is the third man to accomplish the hazardous feat of swimming the English Channel. The first man to make the passage across the narrow but always extremely choppy course, with its tides and eddies, was Captain Matthew Webb and the second, T. W. Burgess. Both were Englishmen.

Webb made the swim on August 24-25, 1875, covering the 22 1/2 miles between Dover and Calais in 21 hrs. 45 min. Webb was drowned on July 24, 1883, while attempting to swim the rapids at Niagara Falls.

T. W. Burgess accomplished the feat on September 6, 1911, swimming from South Foreland, England, to Le Chatelet, France. His time was 22 hrs. 38 min.

There has been standing for a long time an offer of a London publication of a prize of $5,000 for the successful crossing of the Channel by a man or woman swimmer.

Nephew of Grace Bay Man.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 6.—Henry Sullivan, of Lowell, Mass., Channel swimmer, is a nephew of William Connolly, Grace Bay.

JERSEY FARMER SLAIN.

Police Think Revenge or Robbery Was Motive for Crime.

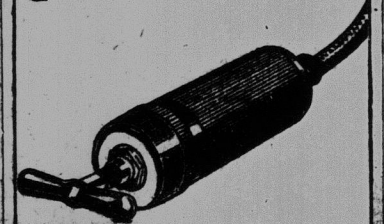

Williamstown, N. J., Aug. 7.—Walter J. Crosier, 51, a farmer, was found shot dead recently on his farm six miles west of Williamstown. Gloucester County authorities say the murder was committed two days ago and attribute the motive to revenge or robbery.

The police have several clues, one of which they think may lead to an arrest. A bullet from a .38-caliber revolver passed through Crosier's body. Neighbors said they heard shots. Crosier was in the habit of carrying money in a large shot bag, which is missing and the motive to revenge or robbery.

One of the Shore Line engines jumped the track at Duck Cove yesterday afternoon and it took a crew of men all evening to get them the track again.

King Square was crowded last night to listen to the excellent programme of music provided by the Carleton Cornet Band, under the direction of William Lanyon.

NEW PROCESS INCREASES YIELD OF MOTOR FUEL

Detroit, Aug. 4.—(A. P. By Mail.)—Processes to increase fivefold the amount of motor fuel produced from each ton of coal will be put into effect shortly at the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company here. This announcement is made by Wallace Campbell, vice-president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada in connection with the starting of work on a similar plant for distilling benzol from coal, to be located at Ford, Ontario. Under the new plan low temperature distillation will replace the present high temperature process. Present methods give 2.2 gallons of benzol, 7,000 feet of gas, 8 gallons of tar and 80 compounds of sulphate ammonia from each ton of coal, leaving a residue of 1,140 pounds of coke. Under the new process, as explained by Mr. Campbell, Ford engineers will obtain 10 gallons of tar, 8 gallons of cresolite and there will be a residue of 1,600 pounds of coke. Cresolite is not obtained under the present method of distillation. It is estimated that the low temperature distillation of coal, as planned, will increase the value of the product of each ton of coal by $2.00. The River Rouge plant will be able to distill 4,000 tons of coal a day, or an increased productivity of $8,000, while the

The low temperature system is the result of experiments carried on for the Ford Company by Emil Piron, a New York chemist, and V. Z. Caraculski, a New York consulting engineer. The practicability of the plan was tested in a demonstration factory recently built at Huntington, West Virginia. As soon as the process had been satisfactorily demonstrated, plans were made for installing the system in Ford plants here and in Canada.

FULL-BLOODED ALASKAN NATIVES ARE DYING OUT

Anchorage, Alaska, July 10.—(A. P. By Mail.)—Within a few decades full-blooded natives along the southwestern coast of Alaska will be scarce, according to Charles Coe, who has spent much time in the lower Cook Inlet country.

The squaws refuse to marry full-blooded men because the white men are better providers and offer better opportunities for social advancement, Mr. Coe explained. Only the educated native who has some regular mode of earning a living has a chance to win a young squaw.

MAKES ROCKEFELLER WIGS.

Lidoff of Washington Says Each Takes Six Weeks' Work.

Washington, Aug. 8.—It was learned recently that a Washington man named Lidoff has been making wigs for John D. Rockefeller ever since the oil king first resorted to artificial hair. Mr. Lidoff, who used to be foreman for Heper's says it takes six weeks to fashion each of the Rockefeller coverings, as they must be formed hair by hair.

Mr. Rockefeller has one wig for golf, another for church, and several other ordinary wigs.

Easily Won.

The biggest liar in the country was strolling through an orchard with his friend. Pointing to a tree covered with hundreds of red apples, the friend remarked: "Let you a box of cigars you can't tell me a lie for every apple on that tree?"

"Just a moment," broke in the fabricator of lies. "Before we go any further, I wish to inform you that those are not apples. They're bananas!"

He won the cigars then and there.

CHEVROLET

Economy Definitely Proven

BY THE RESULTS OF THE NATIONAL ECONOMY CONTEST

55.4 Miles to the Gallon

CHEVROLET owners themselves have proven beyond all doubt their claim that Chevrolet is the most economical car in the world to operate. 55.4 miles to the gallon of gasoline is an almost unbelievable record for any car to make, yet this record was made by a Chevrolet in Edmonton, driven by its owner. It was a stock car in every sense of the word and no special appliances were installed on the motor or carburetor. Many Edmonton people witnessed the test from start to finish, including F. H. Needham, Automobile Editor of the Edmonton Journal, and one of the best known automobile men in Western Canada. Though this record was the highest of the many received, there were many others almost as remarkable, such as 41, 42, 44 and 45 miles to the gallon in all parts of Canada. Runs were made under ordinary road and climatic conditions and were witnessed by at least two independent witnesses who rode with the owner.

One of the most remarkable features of the contest was the very high average mileage obtained.

Took Bank's $78,500, Lost It In Stocks

Two Employees of a Bethlehem (Pa.) Trust Company Confess and Go to Jail.

Bethlehem, Pa., Aug. 7.—After they had played the stock market on margin and lost $78,500, Elmer E. Renner, teller, and Howard R. Behrig, assistant treasurer and bookkeeper of the Bethlehem Trust Company, were arrested last week. They confessed and were sent to jail in default of $25,000 bond each.

The bank stands to lose but little, as it will recover $50,000 from a bonding company and $25,000 from the personal property and real estate of the two men, which has been seized. The bank directors will make up the remaining $3,500.

Their method of juggling the accounts is known as "tripping." When patrons of the bank made a deposit, the deposit slip would be filled out by Renner in sight of the depositor, but later would be destroyed and the money put into his own pockets. Certain accounts in the trust company, along with his personal account would be fixed up by false entries.

OLD PICNICS AT TORRYBURN ARE TOLD OF ON DAY OF OUTING OF 1923

Story of the Crinoline and Lightning Storm One Incident.

The Bishop's Picnic is an institution. It was founded about sixty-five years ago, when Bishop (afterwards Archbishop) Connolly held a picnic which was later known as the Barker estate near Lily Lake. Later picnics were held at Torryburn, on the property of Henry McCullough, just across the fence from the present Bishop's Grounds, where there was also a race-track in the old days. For more than half a century, however, the picnic has been held on the present grounds, under three Bishops—Sweeney, Casey and Le Blanc.

Great changes have occurred, but the Bishop's Picnic never grows old. Throughout the years it remains as young as childhood and joy. To the child of today it is the inspiration of happy dreams, just as it was to the little ones of more than sixty years ago, of whom those still living recall the old delights as they watch the long procession march, as they themselves marched, through the streets to the train en route to Torryburn.

Missed One in Half Century. The writer is indebted to James Connolly for some interesting reminiscences of the Bishop's Picnic, from which he (Mr. Connolly) has been absent but once in more than fifty years. He recalls especially the bands that played. There was a Teachers' Band, about 1864. Hon. R. J. Ritchie, then a law student, was the secretary of this band, and imported its instruments from Oliver Ditson & Co., Boston. There was another band composed of P. Atkins and others, and still another organized by Michael McGilligan. Mr. Connolly remembers that in 1862 or 1863 a military band played at the picnic. Mr. Connolly attended the picnic with the Christian Brothers' Band in 1872. The Home of the Christian Brothers was where the Mater Misericordiae Home, in Sydney street, now stands, and their school where St. Joseph's school is now located. They left the city about 1873 or 1874. Their band had been succeeded by the Father Matthew Band, which was also short-lived, and in 1874 sold its instruments to the City Cornet Band. The latter still flourishes and is today completing its 49th year in attendance at the Bishop's Picnic. Of its original members only four survive.—James Connolly.

olly, William O'Leary and his brother, Florence, of this city, and W. E. Walsh of Brockton, Mass.

They Rode on Flat Cars.

In the earlier years of the picnic at Torryburn the procession of children marched from St. Malachy's Hall in Sydney street, to the old railway station at the foot of Dorchester street. The attendance was much larger than it is today. Hon. R. J. Ritchie recalls one with an attendance of about six thousand people. In those days, and until twenty-five or thirty years ago passenger cars were not available. A railing was placed around the ordinary flat cars and benches provided. Thus the passengers got the benefit of the wind and an unobstructed view of the landscape—and of soaking when it rained. Tears were not a sign of either grief or joy, but of a cinder in the eye. One can imagine the climbing, the jostling, the laughter and confusion in getting on and off the cars, whose passengers also received such bumps as a flat car of those days could administer as it jolted over the flattened joints of the rails. But to happy childhood all this was an adventure. In later years the cars were covered, and in due time came the real passenger cars. Mr. Connolly remembers to have seen as many as thirty-five flat cars in use on picnic-day. There were always three trains in and out for the picnickers.

When Hoop-skirts Were Shed.

Of course the weather was always a consideration. In the early days there was no shelter on the grounds, any more than on the cars, and a heavy shower meant a soaking. So eager were the people to enjoy the picnic that many would remain up till a late hour the night before, if the weather threatened, to see if it would not clear and ensure a fine day. The parade was always a feature, and the weather was generally favorable, but Mr. Connolly recalls that in 1871 the picnic had to be postponed for a week, although the parade formed up three successive mornings and marched to the station.

One wet picnic, however, has never been forgotten by those who were there. A terrific rain and thunder-storm came up suddenly. Those were the days of crinolines, or hoop-skirts. Some waggish persons suggested that these contrivances would attract the lightning. A near-panic ensued. Women and girls are said to have raced to the woods or other place of momentary concealment, shed their crinolines, and then raced again through the rain and mud in search of shelter. The dresses clinging to their limbs and producing an effect quite startling in comparison with the staid preciseness of the hoop-skirt. It is said that a more thoroughly soaked and bedraggled crowd of people had never been seen in these parts.

Those who were able to appreciate the humorous side are said to have found rare enjoyment in the spectacle. Also there were crinolines on every bush long afterward.

On another occasion a calamity was narrowly averted. Heavy rain drove a great crowd into a barn that was filled with hay. Their weight caused the floor to sink more than a foot, and had the building collapsed many must have been killed or injured. Fortunately the open doors were wide, and the crowd rushed out even more rapidly than it entered.

Hon. R. J. Ritchie remembers with gladness the Bishop's Picnic of his early youth. He was arrayed in white pants which were much worn by boys at that time. His mother wore a green dress. Heavy showers of rain fell, with the calamitous result that on arrival home the mother's dress was completely spoiled, and the son was arrayed in green pants. The "fast" dyes of that day sometimes demonstrated their speed by running, and the embryo statesman and judge was a victim.

The Sports of Those Days. One of the great attractions at the picnic was archery, both for men and

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enamelled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enamelled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. men. Large numbers of both sexes were expert with the bow and arrow, and competition was very keen, for prizes which sometimes were articles of much value. Foot-races were also an annual event with many competitors, and anticipated from year to year with great interest. The late James McDade of Mill street was many times a winner in these events. Mr. Connolly remembers that among those who took an active part in the picnic for years were John, Allen, Thomas Kichham, P. Gleeson, P. McHale, T. W. Foley, John T. Kelly, and T. H. Haley.

An old-time picnic of any sort seldom occurred without some disorder. Those were the days when saloons were everywhere, and the drinking habit very common. Those, too, were the days when the harbor was full of ships, and other ships were building after four months' absence.

Such an event as the Bishop's Picnic was certain to attract groups of the rougher sort, who were apt to procure a fresh supply of liquor in a house at Torryburn. It is within the memory of many that on one occasion, when the police were summoned from the city to quiet a fighting crowd around a bar-room, the participants having never gone to the picnic at all, the arrival of an unpopular policeman made matters worse and resulted in several officers being badly beaten. Efforts to have this place closed on picnic-day had always failed, and it always detracted to some extent from the pleasures of the day, despite the fact that disorder on the grounds among the children was rigidly prevented. The picnics of those days were subject to the conditions of social life then existing, but the children were made happy, and revelled in pleasures as they do today.

There were two great St. John picnics in the earlier period under review. One was the Bishop's Picnic, and the other "Dr. Bennett's Picnic," and Hon. Mr. Ritchie says it was the habit of everybody to patronize both. Most of those who enjoyed them have passed away, but the Bishop's Picnic still has a pleasant memory for who survive.

KIDDIES SCRAMBLE FOR PENNIES ON WAY TO PICNIC

Fine Procession Wends Way to Train; Off to Torryburn.

Led by the City Cornet Band, and accompanied by the priests of the Cathedral staff many children of the Cathedral parish marched to the Union Depot this morning to entrain for Torryburn, there to enjoy the good things which willing and untiring ladies and men of the congregation have prepared for the picnic. Today being the occasion of the Cathedral Sunday school picnic.

The boys and girls, ranging in age from six to twelve, neatly dressed, their faces wreathed in smiles, as they anticipated the good things that were in store for them, created no little interest as they marched through the streets. Two by two they came, leaving time to the strains of the music. Order marked the procession, until the boys reached the junction of Germain and King, and then ensued a scramble. "Ting" went a penny as copper and concrete, up went the penny and searched the street for the location of always welcome lucre. One spied it and away he went, but before he reached a hall of coppers from the windows of the office and store building began to fall, until the street rang with the jingle of money and the shouts and laughter of the boys as they chased the wherewithal of added attractions, and more ice cream at the picnic. Several lively tussles, over the possession of the shining coppers, ensued, but everything was good natured. Father Duke smiled as he saw the lads break ranks for it was picnic day and boys are boys.

"Isn't it great to be a child and happy," was the thought in many an adult's mind as they watched the happy faces of the children. No responsibility has yet crossed their faces and left its mark thereon. The light of innocence shone from their eyes, but mischief and fun were there too.

Additional trains left the Union Depot at 12:30, 1:30 and 2:30 this afternoon for the scene of the picnic. They will return this evening at 7, 8, 9, and 10 o'clock.

"NEDDER" HEALEY MAY MOVE HERE

"Nedder" Healey, welter-weight champion of the Maritime Provinces, who fought a draw at the Arena last night with Gordon Paris, the clever St. John boxer, left for his home in Halifax this afternoon. He was accompanied by his manager, Roy Chisholm. Healey expressed a desire to reside permanently in St. John and it is likely that he will arrange to move here.

It is probable that another bout will be staged at the Arena within the next two weeks in which Healey will be prominent. He will be matched with either Warren of Boston or Jones of Montreal.

The biggest card ever offered boxing fans east of Montreal will be staged in St. John during exhibition week. Roy Chisholm will, it is expected, be on the card along with several other prominent Canadian and American boxers.

Eminent Men Of Old Days

Thinking of Old Times,
I recall the eminent Men of our City
In the past—
JOHN CALLAGHAN MCCARTHY!
The leading Poet,
"Grand to be seen,"
Who wrote of the men of the Day,
With a reporter as amanuensis,
And then there was the COUNT
MALONEY:
Who spent many days,
And obtained free board
At a stone building, King Street East,
And in the interim, interviewed the citizens
And told his tales of woe.

Also I remember
PETER SCHILLING
With his crooked stick
And ill fitting clothes
Who roamed our streets
And forgot his change. When he spoke to the motorman the latter said he did not remember him, but the change would be forthcoming if his cash proved in excess when he reported at the office. Evidently he was over, for today he met Mr. Sparks—who he had not known before Sunday—and gave him his change. The conductor is Joseph Koehler, No. 10.

REMEMBER WHEN—

Consumer's Cordage Company Rope Walk and dwellings, on Junction of Millidgeville Road and Hilerest Road, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday, June 3, 1903.

Large loss in New Brunswick and Maine by forest fires; St. John and other places clouded with dense smoke, Thursday, June 4, 1903.

Wholesale price of milk on Wednesday, June 3, 1903, was 32 cents per can or four cents a quart. Retailers five cents a quart in summer and six cents during 1903.

One hundred and ten buildings were burned in Musquash and vicinity, from Spruce Lake to Clinch's Mills, two women were burned to death at Piccadilly, Kings County, Cape Spencer Light House was destroyed as result of forest fires, Thursday, June 4, 1903.

Wanderers hockey team of Halifax defeated Thistles of St. Stephen in border town, 6 to 2, on February 19th, 1903.

Wanderers of Halifax lost hockey game to All-St. John, in St. John on February 20th, 1903.

Dan Littlejohn of St. John and Billy Jordan of Boston, went ten rounds to a draw at Halifax on March 4th, 1903.

LOCAL NEWS

TRADE INQUIRY.

An inquiry was received at the office of the Board of Trade this morning from a firm in Italy for the names of the fish exporters at this port.

TWO IN POUND.

Two dogs are occupying the pound at the present time, a black and white setter and a brown airdale. Neither of these had on a collar or license tag.

FINE AT ROTHSAY.

Although rain was falling in the city at two o'clock a report from Rothsay said that the weather was fine and warm there and that the garden party would be held.

GOLF MATCH TODAY.

Thirty-six players left the city about noon today to participate in a golf match on the links of the Westfield Golf and Country Club between the members of that club and a team from the Riverside Golf Club.

GAME TONIGHT.

The Civics and Customs will meet in a heated atmosphere this evening on the East End grounds at 7 o'clock, and a good game is expected. The battery for the Customs will be Burden and Kelly and for the Civics, Burke and Gormley.

W. F. HATHEWAY'S ILLNESS.

It was announced this afternoon that the condition of W. Frank Hatheway, prominent wholesale grocer and merchant, showed some slight sign of improvement. His right side is affected, but the doctor says that he is doing well. Mr. Hatheway is considered to be seriously ill.

WATCH OUT.

The track section in Market Square will be closed to vehicles after tomorrow it is said this morning by the road engineer, and traffic down King street, bound north, would have to take the north side of the Square to Dock street; traffic from the north end for King street would have to take the south side of the Square, around the grass plot and thus up King.

ANOTHER OLD TIMER.

The old coins continue to come in. This morning The Times was called on by Edward Bennett of Navy Island and he produced a Spanish coin of the year 1784. This coin was found about a week ago while digging in the garden and was black and badly corroded. After being polished the following inscription was made out: CAROLUS III, 1784, HISPAN ET IND. REG. J. R. F. F.

TRAFFIC CASES.

Jacob Friedman was fined $10 in the police court this morning for speeding at the intersection of Main and St.monds street and with blowing his horn. Policeman McBrien gave evidence.

A traffic case against Laura Chesneau charged with driving past a standing street car while passengers were getting off was postponed until tomorrow morning. U. S. AUTO TOURISTS. Some idea of the number of automobile tourists who are passing through the province can be obtained by an examination of the records of the St. John motor to the border and back. Between the head of Spruce Lake and St. George's, Mr. Regan counted twenty one cars with foreign license tags and doubtless more came along after he had passed. ANOTHER BIG DAY. The Dominion Governor Dingley arrived this morning from Boston with a very large passenger list, every inch of accommodation being taken up. The list totaled 520 in addition to a large general cargo. Fully 400 of those arriving were destined for points in the Maritimes. LIQUOR FIND AND FINE. As a result of the search made yesterday by the local liquor inspectors, Allan Green of Milford, appeared before Magistrate Allingham, this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor. He was fined $100 and costs. It is reported the inspectors had quite a search to find the liquor as some was buried in the ground in some back rocks and some in a boat. The scene of the find was in the vicinity of Robinson mill which was destroyed by fire two years ago. TRIBUTE TO HONESTY. On last Sunday evening H. Sparks and his family, of Adelaide street, were passengers on an East St. John car to the station. Sparks bought tickets and forgot his change. When he spoke to the motorman the latter said he did not remember him, but the change would be forthcoming if his cash proved in excess when he reported at the office. Evidently he was over, for today he met Mr. Sparks—who he had not known before Sunday—and gave him his change. The conductor is Joseph Koehler, No. 10. BIRTHDAY PRESENTATION. The Golden Rule class of the Pleasant Point Sunday School met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Arbo last evening. The guest of honor was Mrs. W. E. Hamm, an honorary member of the class. It was the occasion of Mrs. Hamm's birthday, and on behalf of the class Leonard Stevens presented to her a beautiful pyrex casserole and in a few words wished her many happy returns of the day, and extended the good wishes of the class for the future. Mrs. Hamm thanked the class, for their kindness. A nicely decorated birthday cake, which contained souvenirs for the younger members of the class, was a feature of the table decorations. A most enjoyable social evening was spent by all. GARDEN PARTY AT ROTHSAY. A garden party at "The Grove," Rothsay, the residence of Brig.-General H. H. McLean, K.C., this afternoon under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club, gave promise of being a complete success in every detail. The weather looked somewhat threatening this morning but it was hoped the rain would hold off. The affair is being conducted in aid of the educational work of the Club and is under the general convener'ship of Mrs. W. Edmond Raymond. Bridge play was provided for by a committee under the convener'ship of Miss Ann E. Finney and tea was to be served by an efficient staff of ladies of whom Miss Canada, (Miss Winifred C. I. Blair) an honorary member of the club, was one.

WAXES WARM AT MEETING ON MILK QUESTION

Anti-Pasteurization Delegation is Heard by the Government.

A meeting of the Provincial Government here this morning, was devoted to the hearing of two delegations, one in opposition to the compulsory pasteurization regulations of the local Board of Health and the other from the New Brunswick Pharmaceutical Society seeking the proclamation of the Pharmacy Act.

The members of the government present were: Hon. F. J. Veniot, premier; Hon. Fred Magee, president of the council; Hon. J. W. Robinson, minister of lands and mines; Hon. J. P. Byrne, attorney general; Hon. W. F. Roberts, health officer; Hon. D. W. Meserveau, minister of agriculture; and Hon. J. E. Michaud, minister without portfolio.

The delegation on the milk question was heard first and they completely filled the committee room. Among the speakers for the abolition of the regulation were J. N. Riley, councillor of J. E. McAuley of Kings County and E. P. Raymond, counsel for the St. John Milk Dealers' Association.

The discussion at times waxed warm, one of the delegates going as far as to remind the members of the executive that this was not Russia, and the people had a right to rule.

John Kelly, chairman of the Board of Health, and Dr. William Warwick, district health officer, were present in the interests of the board.

At the conclusion of the hearing, which occupied about three hours, Hon. Mr. Veniot pointed out that this was a matter with which the Government as a body had nothing to do. It was a local regulation purely and he suggested that the producers, dealers and the health authorities get together in an effort to arrive at some action which would be satisfactory to all.

For the Pharmaceutical Society the delegation asked that the act passed at the last session of the Legislature be proclaimed. This was opposed by W. M. Ryan until certain petitions for registration had been acted upon. The Government took the matter under consideration.

This afternoon another meeting will be held at which Hon. F. B. Carvell will be heard with reference to the application of the Woodstock Light and Power Co. for hydro service from the Aroostook line.

Bridge Case.

The City of Fredericton wired the Government urging an appeal from the decision of Mr. Justice Grimmond that the jurisdiction in the matter of the C. P. R. bridge at the Reversing Falls, lies in the Dominion and not in the Provincial. It was claimed that on coal freights alone the existence of the bridge in its present form and its annual charge of $15,000 on the people of Fredericton.

Hon. J. P. Byrne said this matter would not come up until the meeting tomorrow in Fredericton.

TRACK READY BUT NOT ALL STREET FOR EXHIBITION

Report on the Britain Street Paving—Waterloo Street Work.

That Britain street paving would not be completed for the exhibition was the statement made this morning by G. N. Hatfield, road engineer, but the track section would be and this would enable the street cars to run. The north side of the street was about half graded, Mr. Hatfield reported, and on the track section the foundation was poured, with the exception of about 150 feet and about 200 feet of granite blocks had been laid in the track section.

Waterloo street was done past Cliff street and the grading was done as far as Richmond street. This job would be half completed by Saturday, if the weather had not done much rain.

Rodney wharf was about half graded for the asphalt sidewalk which is to be placed there.

As Hiram Sees It

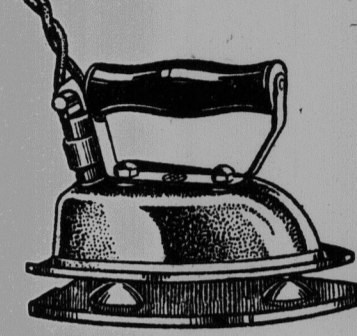

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Horne as he had come to the end of life, which would you prefer to have over you—a load of granite or a shower of remembrance?"

"Well," said Hiram, "I think I'd rather be the flowers. I ain't well up in the doin's o' folks after they shuffle off this mortal coil—but if I was able to come out an' float round in the moonlight an' some other feller bring to brag about his 'audience—I'd hev to talk to him about death bein' the great leveler—an' some folks needn' weight to put 'em where they belonged. An' if a feller like Sile Jones hed a thousand dollar stone an' I hed only a little slab I'd be liable to say somethin' about vanity—an' pint to my little flower. I mind some men lookin' one time at an old monument that must ave cost a heap o' money—an' not one of 'em ever heard o' the name carved on it—an' it was almost fallin' down—an' bushes growin' round it an' over the lot. I ain't sayin' nothin' agin' havin' a nice stone—but jist to put it there an' ferget it don't mean nothin' to them that's gone—no, sir."

"Sure," Clayton told me the other day," said the reporter, "that he was indebted to a newspaper man for havin' the Sallors' Lot cleaned up some years ago. The newspaper man described a weeping willow on the lot, and remarked that any willow which would not weep amid such surroundings should be cut down as a emblem of the ground. The grim joke had its effect."

"Better print that story," said Hiram. "It orto wake us all up—By Heni!"
