LEON AND TONY WERE HANGED AT SIX O'CLOCK

Met Death Calmly—The Execution Carried Through Without a Hitch—Crowds from Outside Points Made Some Disturbance

ANDOVER, May 4.—With the wind blowing from the north and the sun shining brightly over the hill tops, Tony Arosha and Leon Seppeli left their prison cells at five minutes to six, Father Ryan with Sheriff Tibbitts beside him led the way. Next came Wm. Johnston, constable, leading Tony and behind came Seppeli with Radcliffe. They were led out through the back door of the court house, and as Tony passed through the kitchen he turned to some men sitting there and pleasantly said "Good morning."

It was the first double execution in the history of the province and Radcliffe, the public executioner, performed his grim task without a hitch. A small sprinkling of spectators were in the neighborhood of the jail to await the final scene. The condemned men spent the early hours of the night at their devotions with Father Ryan. A little before three o'clock they went to sleep side by side in Arosha's cell and on awakening at five o'clock they received the Holy Communion.

Radcliffe was early at the jail to make the final preparations and went to the cells at 5:50 o'clock. After a brief interval the procession started for the scaffold. The executioner led the way followed by Father Ryan, the constable, Wm. Johnston, the Librarian of the Blessed Virgin, Arosha and Seppeli with their hands handcuffed behind their backs, walked next in single file with the guards beside them. The two men were deathly pale but showed no signs of flinching and mounted the scaffold steps without assistance.

The scaffold was entirely screened from view by a fence of tall trees. There was no demonstration. All six stood on the scaffold together. Seppeli was placed in front of Tony with his face toward the south, Tony directly behind him. Radcliffe stepped forward to Tony's neck first and drew the black cap over his face. As he did so Tony whispered and uttered a faint audible prayer. The noose was then placed on Seppeli's neck and the black cap drawn down.

Father Ryan at the left side repeated the Lord's prayer, and as he uttered the last word Radcliffe stepped forward and the trap fell. The strap bound on Tony's legs broke as the trap fell. The men made no sound whatever on the gallows other than Tony's prayer and once when the bodies were handed over to Father Ryan who had them conveyed to Indian Point. Requiem mass was sung and burial was made in the Indian Point cemetery.

During the early evening large numbers of people from the neighboring districts gathered at Andover for the purpose of witnessing the execution if possible. A large number of men from Fort Fairfield, some of them under the influence of liquor. They created considerable disturbance and finally when the execution was over, a group of about twenty occupied a position on a piece of high ground, waiting until three o'clock this morning, when they grew tired and went home.

Dr. R. W. L. Earle, of Perth, the doctor in attendance, examined the bodies and pronounced life extinct. There was a dislocation of the neck in each case and death was instantaneous. At eight o'clock an inquest was held and the usual verdict was returned. Then the bodies were handed over to Father Ryan who had them conveyed to Indian Point. Requiem mass was sung and burial was made in the Indian Point cemetery.

The annual agreement expires June 30. The work of the convention will consume a large part of this morning and then a conference committee will be sent to meet a conference committee of the manufacturers. President T. J. MEMRAMCOOK CHILD KIDNAPPED IN SALEM

May Beauregard Stolen by Father From Convent Believed to be Now Coming to New Brunswick in Charge of Her Aunt—Police on the Wain.

SALEM, Mass., May 4.—May Beauregard, the four-old daughter of William Beauregard, was kidnapped from the Gray Nun's home on Lafayette street, South Salem, yesterday, by a man supposed to be her father. The child is thought to be en route for Memramcook, N. B., with an aunt, Ida Beauregard, and the police are using every effort to apprehend them. The little girl, who was placed in the home by her mother some time ago, resolves a visit from a man representing himself as her father. The mistress in charge of the home allowed the girl to go with him for a walk. On the failure of the pair to return the Salem police were notified. From investigations it was found that the girl was turned over to a young woman at Lynn and taken to Boston. This woman is thought to be an Aunt Ida Beauregard, and the father of the child and on that account she had been placed in care of the Gray Nuns. From Boston it is believed that the pair, Ida Beauregard and her niece, took the 10 p. m. train for New Brunswick. They were seen at Newburyport on the train, and the police along the railroad have been asked to meet the train and arrest the aunt.

TWO WOMEN BATTLE WITH BUTCHER KNIVES

One Stabbed Under Heart is Near Death—Other Wounded

TACOMA, Wash., May 3.—Battling with bitter fury in the flickering light of a cool oil lamp, two married women engaged in a hand-to-hand encounter with butcher knives in Forest Mill Thursday night. Today Mrs. Joe Burgess at the point of death, her antagonist's knife having cut an ugly gash just below the heart. Mrs. S. Campbell is slowly recovering from loss of blood, which last night threatened her death. Both women are married women. They live in small cabins near a logging camp. Quarrels of a trivial nature led to jealousy between them. They met outside the Campbell cabin, and the quarrel ensued. The women ran in opposite directions. Each entered her cabin and snatched a butcher knife. They met again at a spot illuminated by the rays of a lamp in Campbell's cabin as it shined through the open door. The women clenched, each stabbing at her antagonist. Wielding her assailant's knife off with her hand, Mrs. Campbell, with her right hand, plunged her weapon at Mrs. Burgess' heart. Both women fell to the ground.

MAN AND WILD CAT IN FIERCE BATTLE

Connecticut Farmer Has a Narrow Escape From Death When Vicious Beast Attacks Him.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., May 4.—John Simonton, who raises chickens at Deep River, near here, had a desperate battle with a wildcat near his home last night and narrowly escaped with his life. Simonton had gone to the chicken pen with his dog to look over his poultry, much of which had been stolen of late, and he caught the animal in the act of making off with one of the chickens. At a signal from his master Simonton's dog jumped at the cat, but the animal turned and struck him a blow with one paw that tore his head open. Simonton stepped a club just as the beast sprang for his face. He side-stepped and swung at it with the weapon, but he missed his aim and the cat sank its claws into his arm. He shook it off, but it came at him again, and, realizing that his life was in danger, Simonton fought with such desperation that he at last put in a blow that broke his club over the head of the cat. The blow stunned the animal, and with another club Simonton soon despatched it. It is the first specimen of a wildcat seen in this section for years, and is about three feet long and weighs fifty pounds. Simonton will have the skin mounted.

MAYOR AND COMMON COUNCIL TAKE OFFICE FOR ENSUING YEAR

MAYOR BULLOCK'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS Reviews Matter Relating to the City

Many Recommendations Covering the Different Phases of Civic Government.

The following is a summary of the Mayor's inaugural address which was read at the meeting of the Common Council this morning: Gentlemen of the Common Council:—It again becomes my duty to preside over your deliberations, and right here I desire to express my sincere thanks to the citizens for their friendly and trust.

Permit me to give a review of some of the activities of the past, as well as a few recommendations for the future. The findings of the special audit reveals the fact that the city harbor properties capitalized at three per cent carry a book value of $2,948,877.00. The annual interest against these properties, after providing for sinking fund, is estimated $80,000.00. The net revenue based on 3 year average is $4,000.00, or a shortage of $25,000.00 for the whole harbor.

The Government does not seem desirous of taking over our harbor. Nothing will suffer if the matter of harbor commission stands over for the present and we are content to know that the Government's fixed policy is to annually appropriate a large sum of money for dredging and wharf construction in the harbor. During the year we agreed on plans submitted by the Government for extension and development of harbor facilities to the south of the Sand Point property. In order to proceed with this very important work we have given the Government to understand that we will transfer a strip on the foreshore in exchange for the company's wharf and holdings on the Beacon Sp.

THREE MASTED ICEBERG PASSED BY STEAMER

Anchor Line Passengers Got a Little Nervous When the Cold Storage Plant Hove in View.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The first three masted iceberg ever seen in the Atlantic was sighted by the officers of the Anchor Line California, which arrived here yesterday from Glasgow. The big berg which was called the "Lutania of the Arctic," was about 300 feet longer than the fast Canadian steamer presented much more freedom. Through a glass an officer said he could see the outline of a fairly good rig of the foremast, but the main and mizzen appeared to be stripped of their frosty sails. This ice mountain struck terror to the hearts of timid passengers when it stood out plainly to them after the sudden clearing of a thick fog. The California was steamed at reduced speed through the fog when the vapor cleared suddenly and the sun shone on the glistering berg. It was about a mile and a half dead ahead.

CAMPBELLTON SHOOTING NOT A SERIOUS AFFAIR

CAMPBELLTON, N. B., May 4.—The young son of Alice Tope and son of Oscar Johnson were playing with a 22 rifle last evening in the vicinity of Sugar Loaf street, when in some way young Tope was shot in the back. Dr. Price was called and on examination found that the bullet had entered the neck, but no sign of internal trouble was found. The young lad was removed to the hospital this morning when another examination will be made to locate the bullet. The doctor does not consider that the lad is in any immediate danger.

"And so now I get the post office to bring me my orders and deliver my goods." "But who solicits your orders?" was the question. "The mail man," said he, "and does it thoroughly for it reaches thousands of homes and business places." Call main 95

EUROPEAN WOMEN HAVE LESS BRAINS THAN MEN

LONDON, May 4.—Professor F. W. Mott, lecturing at the Royal Institution in London yesterday, demonstrated that in quantity, if not in quality, the European woman's brain is distinctly behind the European man in the matter of brains. He showed that the average weight of the male brain was from 1350 to 1380 grammes, while that of the female was only from 1215 to 1220 grammes. As to whether there was a relation between a high order of intelligence and a good brain weight the professor showed a chart giving the weight of brains of a large number of distinguished men. Of these, 88 per cent. exceeded the average brain weight generally very considerably, and only seven were below the average.

PULPIT TO GUTTER—THEN UP—UP HIGH, HELPING OTHER FALLEN MEN

NEW YORK, May 3.—From a pulpit to the gutter and back to the pulpit is the career of Dr. Harvey G. Furby of New York.

Ten years as a tramp and a bum, a drunkard and a vagrant, have left their marks on the face of Dr. Furby, who once was pastor of the Oxford Presbyterian church, Philadelphia. But he declares, and the other Presbyterian pastors of New York, who assisted the other day in reordaining Dr. Furby to the ministry, declare that his work in the future will be all the more efficient in certain lines because of the terrible nightmare, 10 years long, through which he passed. Dr. Furby was overcome by the death of his wife and took to drink. He handed in his resignation to the pastor of the Oxford church and then allowed himself to slip down to the depths. Occasionally he braced up for a time, but the next fall was worse always. He saw the inside of work-houses, slept in the open street, dressed in rags.

They have destroyed their brain and "That is the terrible danger of alcohol. A reformed drunkard must train nerve centers, and their will power is gone."

REV. HARVEY G. FURBY.

One night in the Jerry McAuley mission, in New York, he sat in the rear seats with him, when they entered two clergymen who had been colleagues of his. The awfulness of his condition dawned upon him and he arose and told who he was.

He was immediately cared for and, through mission influences, was restored to his normal condition. He took charge of the Industrial Christian Alliance and has collected $100,000 of $200,000 which will be used for a new home for the alliance.

"No man is saved from drunkenness by prayer alone," said Dr. Furby to the correspondent of The Star. "There are many men who cannot be saved. They will die drunkards. The trouble is they have drunk so much his mind against alcohol. That is my only redemption. I keep a steady, firm grip on myself and go through a regular routine of work every day.

"There are lots of men, however, who can be saved. But their minds as well as their bodies must be cleaned by the thoughts that come with hard work and decent thinking."

LAW IS RESPECTED BETTER IN CANADA THAN IN THE STATES

CALGARY, May 3.—A new kind of reciprocity with Canada was outlined by one of the 60,000 immigrants from the United States, who came into Canada during the year 1903. This man is a successful farmer in the Gleichen irrigation district. His sentiments are very largely to be those of all former citizens of the United States who are now becoming citizens of the Dominion of Canada.

"In giving them some new ideas about being good farmers," said he, "and they are giving us some new ideas about being good citizens. They have a law against taking liquor into the Indian Reservation. One of our fellows was caught on a reservation with a bottle on him, and it cost him $50. One of the Canadian Mounted Police found him, and let me tell you they find everyone who tries to go up against the laws of the country."

"On Saturday night every barroom is closed at exactly 11 o'clock. Why? Because it's the law, and it's the same with every other law. There isn't a man in the whole district, and a woman can come home from town to the farm at midnight if she wants to alone. That's Canadian law. We turn out a frontier; they have certainly taken us a lot."

"On the other hand, we are running their farms for them better than any other class of farmers. I guess I can say this without boasting and the Canadians appreciate us. We turn out to celebrate Dominion Day; they are glad to have us help to farm the country; they know they are getting to know how to work.

"Will my children be Canadians? Well, they are going to the schools and studying Canadian history books."

GLEICHEN DISTRICT OPENING UP

A large number of settlers are coming in northwest of the town of Gleichen; 22,000 acres having been taken up by men from Scotland, who are bringing in registered Clyde, both studs and mares. It is reported that the south side of the Bow River Blackfoot Indian Reservation is going to be opened up for settlement this summer, and the townsite of Gleichen has, in consequence, been enlarged.

Mr. C. Coughlin, of Montreal, live stock exporter, has been in Calgary for a few days, arranging with local contractors for the building of a handsome residence on his 5,000-acre ranch, situated sixty miles south of Calgary. Mr. Coughlin intends having broken this spring 400 acres to be sown in wheat; the balance being for grazing purposes. Already he has over 500 head of stock, and is very enthusiastic over Alberta's future.

THE COAL INDUSTRY

The Provincial administration of the Coal Mines Act has been carried on by the Inspector of Mines, with headquarters at Edmonton, and a district Inspector of mines at Lethbridge, who has looked after the Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and the Crow's Nest fields. An estimate has been made of the output of coal for the past year, which shows that about 1,250,000 tons were mined in this province, a very considerable quantity over the output of previous years, as shown by the report of the old Northwest Government. Sixteen new mines were opened during the year, making a total of 61 mines known to be in operation in the province.

Immigration Officer Winn has just completed his report for the year ended March 31, 1903, which contains many interesting items concerning Canada. The number of cars of grain inspected at this point is as follows: Winter wheat, 1,044, 87,000 bushels; 1,862; oats, 2,825; barley, 220; fax, 24; rye, 17.

There are at present in the province 175,000 range horses, 750,000 cattle, 145,000 sheep. The average yield of wheat in the Calgary district last year was 30 bushels to the acre, which is about double the average in the States.

The coming season promises to be a very busy one for the contracting firms and building trade men in Calgary. Building permits were issued during March to the amount of $23,000,000. Among other buildings will be the new public library in Central Park to cost $50,000.00. Three new schools for the suburbs of Bankview, Hillhurst and the Merchants, 18; the Bank of Montreal, 7; Northern Crown, 5; Traders, 3; Dominion, 3; British North American, 3; Royal, 2; Hochelaga, 1; Nova Scotia, 2; the Eastern Townships, 1.

REMARKABLE INCREASE IN BANKS

Six years ago there were only 25 chartered banks in Alberta. Now there are 110. The Canadian Bank of Commerce has 27 branches in the province; the Union, 25; the Imperial, 8; the Merchants, 18; the Bank of Montreal, 7; Northern Crown, 5; Traders, 3; Dominion, 3; British North American, 3; Royal, 2; Hochelaga, 1; Nova Scotia, 2; the Eastern Townships, 1.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 3.—Samuel Eberly Gross, a sixty-year-old Chicago real estate operator, from whom his wife recently obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion, became the husband today of Miss Ruby Louise Haughbey, the eighteen-year-old daughter of James R. Haughbey, a building contractor of this city. The Rev. F. H. Rodman received the marriage vows in the home of the bride in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gross left for New York, the bride carrying with her pearls, rubies and diamonds worth $2,000, the wedding gift of the bridegroom.

The first Mrs. Gross, who has been living alone in the Lake Shore family home in Chicago since she and her former husband have been separated, failed to send a message of congratulation to the Chicago house formerly was the scene of elaborate social functions and the Gross fortune was liberally used in entertaining there. Then adversity came and Mr. Gross sought and finally obtained a decree in bankruptcy. The bride of today had been attending the high school of this city and left school to be married. Eventually Mr. Gross will take his young wife to Europe, where she will receive a musical education. She has studied both vocal and instrumental music in the Battle Creek Conservatory of Music and is a member of the Amateur Musical Club, the leading musical society of the city.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES MAKE FOR PEACE National Peace Congress Looks to Them to Prevent War.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 3.—"War always devalues the best." These words, written by the German poet, Schiller, a century ago, formed the theme of an address at the opening of the national peace congress presided today by David Starr Jordan, president of the Leland Stanford Junior University.

It is in the great growth of fraternal organizations in the United States, said Joseph B. East, of Chicago, speaking at the evening session, that the peace movement has its greatest present factor.

"Perhaps," Mr. East said, "the greatest guarantee against another civil war in this country lies in the fact that over one-third of our men belong to fraternal orders and are taught to regard their fellow men as brothers."

Two sessions of the congress were held in the afternoon and an evening session, but the evening session was in two parts, one at Orchard Hill, presided over by E. G. Hirsch, of Chicago, and the other in the Fine Arts building presided over by the Rev. J. G. Gordon, settlement worker in the chair.

WORK OF MISSIONARIES LED TO THE REVOLUTION

BOSTON, Mass., May 3.—"The invasion of civilization and the work of the missionaries preaching the word of God was the cause of the great revolt of the oppressed and harassed people of Turkey," declared Professor Edward C. Moore, D. D., of the Harvard Divinity School in the principal address tonight at the centennial celebration of the Massachusetts Bible Society in the New Old South Church.

Among the speakers was Hon. J. Gordon Furies, President of the New Brunswick Bible Society.

COMMON COUNCIL

The last meeting of the old council was held yesterday afternoon. It was decided to further consider water extension in Lancaster. Engineer Peters will be again retained at the end of this month. The Champlain street cleaner recommended by the board of works will not be bought just now. Cushing and Co. and George McKean will be allowed to store lumber in Nos. 1 and 2 sheds at 10c per 1000 feet for the first month, and 5c per 1000 feet for the second month.

The Adelaide Road water service extension was referred back. Ald. Prink was appointed to settle the water claim with the federal department of public works. Bill boards will be taxed 5c per running foot, dogs $1, and bitches $2 per year. Shooting galleries will also have to pay shooting fees. The Lancaster water extension scheme will be held up indefinitely. A unanimous resolution of sympathy was extended to Ald. Hamer. Several communications were referred to the various committees.

Over Half a Million Gallons of Spirit Burnt in Huge Belfast Fire—Twenty People Injured and £300,000 Damage Caused.

(Londre News) Perhaps the most remarkable thing about a remarkable fire which occurred in Belfast on Tuesday was the way in which it was caused. Just before noon two men employed in the bonded stores of Messrs. J. and W. McConnell, the well known, whiskey distillers, were at work on the third floor, putting hoops on a barrel of whiskey, when the barrel fell and crashed through the floor and into the room below.

The half-heaped barrel burst, the spirit spurted in all directions, some of it came in contact with a gas jet, and thus was started a fire which was heard, followed by a great column of flame. At every inch of the nearest batch of spirit was being poured before the cloud of suffocating fumes, but they returned again and again with the greatest courage.

Shortly before six o'clock the interior of Messrs. Clarke's establishment was burning itself out, and only one hose pipe was playing there. The interior walls fell with a crash, and there followed thick clouds of black smoke and showers of dust and charred pieces of timber, which enveloped those who were near. One of the greatest difficulties experienced in the earlier stages was the fact that all the windows in the bonded stores were by regulation barred with strong iron bars, and inside these there is invariably a fine wire netting of strong texture. Under the circumstances the firemen were unable to fight the flames from outside so readily as if the windows had been of the usual type.

The fire at seven o'clock was still raging, but the brigade were then confident that all danger of further extension was over.

About eight o'clock two firemen were conveyed away in a condition of collapse. One had been jammed between falling barrels and his leg was badly crushed; while the other was overcome with the heat. Not long after a loud noise told that one of the walls of the bonded store had fallen into the street, and it was seen that a number of lads who had been seated on a wall opposite watching the fire had been hurt. Police and civilians ran to the spot and attended to the injured lads, who were suffering from cuts and bruises and severe burns, chiefly to the legs. One had been knocked senseless, and was apparently in a serious condition. Four of them were removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where they were detained. Altogether the casualties numbered twenty.

The bonded store, which has been gutted, is only one of several owned by Messrs. McConnell, and it will not affect the continuity of their business, as they have four others connected with their distillery in another quarter of the city.

THE TESTOTAL FIREMAN. One of the firemen was for a time his galleons and graven upon his suits of armor.

Using the same device with its special reference to the New World, early Spanish writers on America, like Ovando, Las Casas, and Gomara, placed plus ultra with the pillars of Hercules upon the title page of their books. Presently the same motto and emblem began to appear on the Spanish dollars, or pieces of eight. Here the device could be indicated only in miniature. The pillars of Hercules became hardly more than vertical strokes across which wound a scroll enclosing the legend plus ultra. Finally, for purposes of contraction, the motto drops out altogether, the scroll being retained as a kind of letter S which winds across two vertical lines. It results that for the origin of this well-known symbol in daily use among us we are taken back to the Spain borne by a town in southern Spain long before America was known to Europe.

The foregoing story is here told, not simply because it is singular in itself, but because plus ultra—once beyond—is the true motto of every individual explorer. Francis Bacon, who, like Newton, voyaged through strange seas of thought alone, placed plus ultra upon the title page of the Advancement of Learning. It was in the spirit of this motto that Champlain pierced to Lake Huron, and La Salle hoisted down the current of the Mississippi. Plus ultra—more beyond. What watchword bears a stronger stimulus, a nobler incentive, than this to the nation or to the human soul?

WHERE THE DOLLAR MARK CAME FROM

Prof. Colby Discusses Its Origin in Book on "Canadian Types."

Pillars of Hercules With the Motto "Plus Ultra" on a Scroll Across Them First Placed on Spanish Coin.

MONTEREAL, May 3.—One useful thing about history is that it explains many things, some trivial and some important, which otherwise would remain unintelligible, writes Prof. C. W. Colby, of McGill University, in the chapter on Champlain in his recent book on "Canadian Types or the Old Regime," which he then proceeds to make two interesting explanations.

On the back of one's pocket coat are two buttons, adding little perhaps to the beauty of the garment, but not placed there by the vagaries of modern use. They are a historical survival from days when every gentleman wore his sword, and required buttons to support the belt.

But what I started to speak about was the dollar sign, which we write every day of our lives. It goes back to this somewhat singular origin. Prior to the discovery of America, the town of Seville in Spain had for its coat of arms a shield upon which were blazoned the two pillars of Hercules, with the motto between: Ne plus ultra or nec plus ultra. About thirty years after Columbus discovered America, Mariani, an Italian physician, suggested to Charles V. that he should take over the motto of Seville as his own device, simply dropping the negative. Hence plus ultra or plus outry (it was used equally in Latin and French), became the motto of a Spanish King. Charles had it woven on the sails of

GREAT COAL FIELDS IN SOUTH ALBERTA

Mines are Developing Rapidly in Output and Equipment While Market is Extending EDMONTON, Alta., May 3.—The fact that there is some labor difficulty in South Alberta between miners and operators, is, perhaps, a first intimation to people in the east that mining has reached that stage in this province where those engaged in it can talk and discuss strikes, lockouts, and such like terms, familiar to the coal regions along the Atlantic seaboard.

VALEDICTORIES
Ald. Beakin said that it was twenty years since he first took a seat in the council, but since then he had met with several defeats and was getting used to it. He referred to the changes in the forms of government since then and the large increase in taxes. He expressed a belief that the city would eventually return to the ward system. In retiring he thanked the voters for their past confidence and the council for the past year's work.

MAYOR BULLOCK'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

For the last several years a committee has been studying a re-adjustment of the respective departments without much result. While the last committee stood for much criticism, their recommendation was adopted in effect, one tender to control water and sewerage, streets, ferries, and harbor property. Subsequently Mr. Wm. Murdoch was selected to fill the position at a salary of $2,500 per year. Mr. Hurl Peters acceded to the board's request to continue in the dual capacity of consulting engineer and Director of Public Works.

LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Campbell, milliner, has removed to 8 Sydney Street.
The house of Angus P. Govan, on Dover Road, about seven miles from Moncton, was burned to the ground yesterday, destroying besides about 150 bales of potatoes. There was no insurance and the loss is about $150. The fire caught from a spark from the chimney.

Chief of Police George Rideout of the Moncton police force was in the city this morning. He called at the Home of the Good Shepherd where he took charge of one of the inmates known as Dol Beves and conducted her to Dorchester, where she is to give evidence in a robbery case preferred against the soldier O'Brien.

The funeral of Jeremiah Donovan took place at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from his late home, 33 Clarence street. The remains were conveyed to the Cathedral, where Mass was said by Rev. Father O'Brien. Interment was in the old Catholic cemetery.

There was a pleasing function in No. 1 fire station last evening when James Dismore, who for many years has held the position of secretary of Wellington No. 1 Hose Company but resigned on receiving his appointment as a preventive officer in H. M. Gustave, was made the recipient of a gold chain and locket by the members of the company. The presentation was made by H. G. McBeath, assistant foreman. Mr. Dismore, after thanking the donors for their gift, invited them to an oyster supper at Jackson's restaurant. Mr. Dismore's place as secretary of the company has been filled by the election of Armstrong Clifford, who is promoted from the position of substitute. Roland Robb succeeds Mr. Clifford as "hub."

FOUR HUNDRED WOMEN WASTING A WEEK

BOSTON, May 4.—Fully four hundred women from many sections of the country and all earnest devotees of wheat, assembled today in the parlors of Hotel Somerset for the opening game of the twelfth annual congress of the Women's Whist League. Play will continue through the week. The first relay of play were begun at 10 a. m. in open progressive pairs for the Washington, Cavendish and Boston trophies, and the Philadelphia cup, and for women playing to qualify for the Brooklyn trophy contest. A special section of the parlors was reserved for playing mixed pairs where men players were allowed to compete with the members of the fair sex. All the scoring is in charge of Charles S. Gilman, vice-president of the American Whist League.

Palpitation of the Heart.

One of the first danger signals that announce something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throbb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or again, there may be a most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visible pulsations of the arteries. The person may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centers, is beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief that no one need suffer.
Mr. Sylvester Smith, Hampton, N. B., writes:—"I was troubled with palpitation of the heart and tried doctor's medicines, but they only gave me temporary relief. I heard of your Heart and Nerve Pills and bought two boxes and before I had used them I was completely cured and would recommend them to all similarly affected."
Price, 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25 as a 100-day or 3-month trial on receipt of 4 pins by The St. Albans Co., L. S. D. Canada, Ont.

LESS EXPENSIVE MINING.

One feature in connection with mining in Alberta, which makes the industry less expensive to the operators and which makes the product correspondingly low in price, is that the coal is easy of access. There are no deep and expensive shafts as one finds in Nova Scotia. What the Dominion Coal Company have spent in building and equipping the Dominion No. 2 colliery alone would build and equip every mine in Alberta. The Star correspondent a day or two ago visited the colliery of the Alberta Coal Company near Edmonton. The coal is only about twelve feet below the surface, and then there is a seam varying in thickness from ten to fourteen feet. From the bankhead, or tipple, which was an inexpensive one to build, the empties run by gravitation into the mine. There is no gas and no air, owing to the number of air shafts, is perfectly clean. It is under such conditions that the coal is being carried on in this province.

GROWTH IN OUTPUT.

The output for the Northwest Territories eight years ago amounted to only $46,000 tons; in 1922 the output was $10,674 tons; in 1923, $22,539; and in 1924, $32,931 tons. In the following year, the provinces were formed and Alberta produced $11,888 tons. The next year saw an increase to 1,385,000 tons and the year after, 1921, the output amounted to 1,834,745 tons. Last year it reached two millions.
The new large deposits were opened during the year, making a total of 112 now in active operation in the province. Of course, many of those are small and unimportant but still all contribute to the growth and development of the province. In the remote sections, considerable prospecting for coal is being carried on. The Grand Trunk Pacific or a subsidiary company has located extensive deposits on the Macleod river on the line through the Yellowhead Pass. The Canadian government has large deposits and during the present year, another large area exists on the Pembina, about sixty miles west of Edmonton near where the Grand Trunk Pacific crosses the river. These deposits will, with the advent of railway facilities be operated, and employment given to thousands of men.

USING BY-PRODUCTS.

Up until within the past year or two little or no attention has been paid by the mine operators to the utilization of the by-products in connection with their business. Now, however, plans are in operation for the manufacture of briquettes, the coal being pulverized and then compressed under very high pressure. The briquettes are expedient, economical, and free from dirt.
The process of mining coal is also being reduced to more of a science than it has been in the past. There has been a tremendous waste of coal owing to the fact that the operators sought to recover as much coal as was obtainable at the very least expense. Of late only pillars of ordinary size are being left, but still sufficiently large, according to circumstances, to ensure absolute safety to life. As a rule, the mines are perfectly dry or, in any case, easy of pumping. In the past considerable coal used to be left because of the expense involved in pumping the mines.

BURDEN TO ALL CLASSES.

"On the other hand, the preparations for war in modern times bear with tremendous weight in times of peace upon all classes of the community. And the financial load is enough to make the richest nations reel and stagger. As Senator Hale has said, the one-third of the annual revenues of the United States are used to defray the expenses entailed by past wars or necessary for the preparation for future wars. Taking Europe as a whole, something like six millions of people are now in arms, all withdrawn from industrial pursuits in order that they may be trained for war.

URGES PEACE WITH ASIATICS.

"When we turn to Asia we feel the greatest need of mutual understanding, appreciation and sympathy. Those Asiatic peoples differ from us in race, in color, in modes of thought, in manners of life, in customs, in laws, and even in moral precepts and practices. Nothing is now more important than an increase of intercourse between them and us; for that increasing intercourse is bound to bring increasing knowledge, understanding and sympathy on both sides.
"I do not overlook limits which in the present condition of mankind are established. A racial commingling of Americans with Asiatics is not to be thought of. And as Japan and China hold their territories for the Japanese and Chinese, so the United States, not only the United States, but all North and South America, will hold this hemisphere for the white man. But even so, these people are not excluded on both sides there is no reason in the world except ignorance and misunderstanding why Americans and Asiatics should not dwell together in peace and amity on each side of the Pacific ocean."

Ald. Lively moved that the Harbor Board replace it. Ald. Elkin pointed out the desirability of such a committee of public safety. The motion was carried. The committee was appointed as follows: Elkin, Lively and Scully.

MINOR RECOMMENDATIONS.

As a means of bringing about equality of taxation, the Board of Assessors to be authorized to prepare and publish a list of permits of real estate in the city—arranged to location on the various streets, giving the name of the owner, the size of the lot, the amount taxed—the amount taxed on the improvement and the amount of personal property for which the owner is liable.
With one exception the School Trustees have failed to provide for a sinking fund which would enable them to retire their bonds as they mature. 1

MANUFACTURING INTERESTS.

A problem that this board can well consider is "How to make St. John Grow?" I am not sure but that it might be a good thing to supplement the work the Board of Trade are doing and appoint a man to seek out and secure new manufacturing plants. There are doubtless many property owners who consider themselves entitled to take and use the sub-adjacent space fronting their property. It is a matter of fact, the city is the absolute owner and has absolute control of such space. A very considerable sum can be collected as ground rent for a small fraction of the waste space, which the city owns beneath the sidewalks of the streets.

SPITTING IS DANGEROUS IF YOU WEAR HIGH COLLARS

Two Drunks are Now Up Against a Charge of Theft—Other Police Affairs.

Like Monday morning the police sheet contained the names of eight drunks today, making sixteen drunks dealt with in two days. Five were fined four dollars each and as there was not that much money in the bunch, they went to jail for ten days.

William Connor was charged with drunkenness and spitting on the sidewalk. The magistrate fined him four dollars for being drunk and excused him for spitting as he was the first one to be reported and he was drunk. His honor remarked that he would like to get hold of some of these high collared fellows who spit on the sidewalk and don't care whether the spit flies on others or not. He said the high collared chaps had better be careful.

John Knight, Samuel Sleigh and Vernon Frame pleaded not guilty to drunkenness. Policemen Ross told of the arrest, that the men were drunk and on Sleigh and Frame he found two copper measures and some photographs that had been stolen from Wm. O'Keefe's saloon on Union street. The two were then charged with theft. Mr. O'Keefe identified the stolen goods as his property and said the defendants had been in his saloon during the terrorist. Frame said that he purchased the measures and pictures from a sailor for thirty-five cents and that he gave one of the measures to Sleigh. Officer Gossline testified that Sleigh, O'Keefe's saloon on Union street. The young men were given a talking to by the magistrate and were then remanded to jail.

Wm. Bonnell, a teamster, was charged by Ald. Howard E. Codner with breaking down his fence at 15 High street. The alderman explained that Bonnell tried to force an eight-foot wagon through a six-foot gateway, with the result that damage was done. As he did not wish to have Bonnell fined the defendant was allowed to go with a warning to be more careful in the future.

TO BUILD A NEW METHODIST CHURCH AT BROOKVILLE

With the rented hall comfortably filled every Sunday evening by permanent residents the people of Brookville and Territory feel that the time is ripe for an aggressive move to raise funds to build a church.

The church membership has been materially increased as the result of special services held during the past winter and the spiritual life of the community quickened.

A large building is now a necessity to properly carry on the work and the children of the Sunday school are taking the first step to raise money for the purpose. They will give one cent of their pocket money on Thursday, 13th inst., and intend asking city friends to help along the work.

The attendance at school last Sunday morning was over fifty and that number will be materially increased when the influx of city children during the summer months.

A building lot has been promised by a member, the amount necessary to erect and furnish a suitable building is estimated at $400 or so, and the feeling of determination of the community is that building operations will commence within a year.

HOTEL BARS MAY HAVE TO MOVE OUT FRONT

So Interiors Can be Seen From the Street.

Premier Puts it Up to Commissioners to Interpret the Law and to Enforce it.

At eleven o'clock this morning Liquor Commissioners Blaine, Linton and McCarthy with Inspector Jones, waited on Premier Hazen at his office, Prince William street. The conference with the premier was a brief one and from what the head of the government told those in charge of the granting of licenses it looks as if the hotel bars would have to be brought out in view of the public.

At present with but a couple of exceptions the hotel bars are away in the rear of the buildings, and to move them out front or to have them so arranged that a full view of the barroom can be obtained from the street will mean a considerable expense and extensive change in the construction of the buildings. The Royal, Dufferin, Victoria and Park hotels will find it almost impossible to make a change so that a view of their bars can be obtained from the street.

The new act calls for an unobstructed view, and this means that all screens, offices, partitions, etc., must be cleared away so that any person walking along the street can see all over the barroom.

The premier in his brief talk with the commissioners pointed out to them that the act called for an unobstructed view of the barrooms and that they were the persons to judge in the matter and see that the law was carried out, that the inspector was the official who is supposed to enforce the act. The commissioners should not run away with the idea that they are to do just as the government tells them, but they must act according to the law as an independent body. If there was a difference of opinion as to the law the courts would decide. The act is quite plain and it was now up to the commission and inspector to have it carried out.

The Commissioners and the Inspector have some good work before them. All of the bars have removed the screens from their windows, but in many cases the whole or part of front stairs have been left up and this prevents an unobstructed view to the barroom.

In some bars bright lights are used in the front windows while there are no lights in the bar and from the street customers are not discernible. In other cases the front windows are very dirty and this prevents a good view to the interior. There is one objection noted to the open bar to the effect that little boys and girls are frequently seen looking in the windows when the men drinking at the bar.

Some of the beer shop proprietors have been evading the law by closing their bars by starting a miniature grocery business and having the beer end of the business, which is the only profitable end, as a side line.
