

QUICK ACTION

(Special to The Daily News)

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—In the house today D. W. Bole's bill to incorporate the bank of Winnipeg was given a second reading and referred to the committee on banking.

The following western bills received second readings and were referred to the railway committee: Sloan's bill, respecting the Esquimaux & Nanaimo Railway company; Gallher's, respecting the British Columbia & Southern Railway company, and Herron's, respecting the McLeod, Cardstone & Montana Railway company.

The government agreed to Mr. Lake's motion for a return containing all information regarding alleged improper or unauthorized charges made by persons in the Regina lands district for locating people on homesteads, etc.

Hon. Frank Oliver informed H. B. Ames that the government has not been memorialized by the Dawson legislature regarding what is known as the Boyce concession.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries, informed M. S. McCarthy, of Calgary, that five wireless stations had been equipped on the Pacific coast, and that the cost had not yet been estimated.

The British Columbia life saving stations were recently purchased in the United States because the imperial type required could not be made in Canada.

Mr. Frank Oliver informed M. S. McCarthy that since January the 15th last, 1359 Chinese, 738 Japanese and 2046 Hindus had arrived in Canada.

R. S. Lake, Q.C., appealed against the decision of the government to make a distribution of seeds to settlers before spring.

Hon. Frank Oliver replied that the matter was under consideration, and that applications had been received and had been referred to the immigration commissioner.

W. D. Staples, Macdonald, asked if any steps had been taken to acquire the reservation at Swan Lake, Manitoba.

Hon. Frank Oliver said that the Rev. Mitchell had recently made a report on the matter. The Indians were willing to dispose of the Swan Lake lands for $10 per acre, and the Battleford Indians for $6.

Ralph Smith, Nanaimo, moved: "That in the opinion of the house immediate steps should be taken to restrict the influx of Oriental immigrants into Canada; and inasmuch as the policy of the government concerning Chinese immigration has proved a failure, it is recommended that the government should immediately put into operation looking to the accomplishment of equally satisfactory results with regard to all other Oriental immigrants."

Speaking in support of his motion, Mr. Smith denied that the question was a provincial one. Every member of parliament who had spoken on the subject had raised the question.

The seriousness of the problem, he said, was not appreciated outside the province. Declaring the question to be an empire problem, Smith said: "Great Britain in her recent tendency to make treaties with Asiatic countries is going ahead in a way which is entirely unpardonable."

Dwelling on the divergences and animus between races, Smith questioned why, if this immigration were to be permitted, it should be pushed to the Pacific coast. Such legislation assumes that the only desirable class of immigrants are those which come from European countries.

For 25 years the people of British Columbia had fought against the admission of Asiatic immigration, and as a result the Chinese head-tax is now $500. Japanese immigration has been prohibited since the treaty of 1907.

After quoting figures on immigration and Japanese investments in the province, the speaker announced that he had written Mr. Smith pointing out that while the United States treaty with Japan, made in 1882, gave Japan the favored-nation treatment, and gave Japanese freedom of commerce and navigation, the Transvaal treaty in the treaty which stated, "It is understood these regulations do not affect any law or regulation in regard to trade in either direction."

In carrying out the effect of this clause this year the United States had prohibited Japanese whose passports were only good for Honolulu or other outlying dependencies, entering the country proper, the result was that 1400 of them had been shipped into British Columbia within a month.

Under president Kruger the Transvaal attempted to enforce restrictive legislation against Hindus, but the British government objected, and the subsequent representative of the British Indian empire subsequently made before the British government, stated that they had "cherished the anticipation that the war had for one of its main objects, the securing of British India from any such treatment to which they were subjected by the late Boer republic."

After the war the government of the Transvaal passed legislation far more restrictive than that enforced by the Boer republic, and on the advice of Sir Arthur Lawley, lieutenant-governor of Orange Free State, and Lord Milner, high commissioner in Africa, the imperial government refused to interfere with the legislation of a self-governing colony, and British Indians became subjected to restrictive immigration laws.

In regard to the Transvaal, the speaker said that the Transvaal government considered it inadvisable to proceed with the measure last session but now presented the bill, which with the assistance of insurance experts represented careful construction throughout.

The commission had dealt only with life insurance, but the measure now presented covered the whole range of insurance, though providing for adjournment on Thursday until January 8, by fixing it for tomorrow. The opposition agreed.

The house went into committee to consider Hon. Frank Oliver's bill regarding the new bill the minister had introduced to make the bill passed last session and was subsequently repealed because Oliver's bill, which it pertained, was not put through in a month's time.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson wished to amend clause 8, so as to permit of provincial qualifications being recognized, but Mr. Oliver would not accept the proposed amendment.

The majority of the clauses were put through and the house then proceeded to consider Mr. Oliver's bill to amend the Irrigation Act.

The first amendment was to require irrigation works to maintain crossings over all road allowances, whether in use or not.

A new clause denies the right of compensation for the destruction of crops across lands of any municipality without its consent.

The amendment gives the right to any consumer who lives on land adjoining the irrigation ditch to appropriate a way across his neighbor's land.

The plaidity of the house was disturbed when the motion to go into supply was reached. R. Iminger moved that the completeness of the government's reply to the other day regarding the North Atlantic Trading company, and quoting from a circular of a British immigration agent, Mr. Iminger said that it was reported that the North Atlantic Trading company was still in business under another name, and suggested the premier to bring him in a report.

Hon. Frank Oliver replied, denying all knowledge of the matter save that which was already given out.

After recess Mr. Oliver read a letter received by the department from W. F. Cockshutt, and also quoted letters from manufacturers early in 1905 setting forth the urgent need of labor and contrasted them with Cockshutt's present resolution to restrict immigration.

THE WEEKLY NEWS, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1907

providing for adjournment on Thursday until January 8, by fixing it for tomorrow. The opposition agreed.

The house went into committee to consider Hon. Frank Oliver's bill regarding the new bill the minister had introduced to make the bill passed last session and was subsequently repealed because Oliver's bill, which it pertained, was not put through in a month's time.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson wished to amend clause 8, so as to permit of provincial qualifications being recognized, but Mr. Oliver would not accept the proposed amendment.

After recess Mr. Oliver read a letter received by the department from W. F. Cockshutt, and also quoted letters from manufacturers early in 1905 setting forth the urgent need of labor and contrasted them with Cockshutt's present resolution to restrict immigration.

The minister of finance proposed to outline in detail the various other important provisions of the bill, which is extremely comprehensive in character, covering the ground of the royal commission but generally not going so far in its rates.

In dealing with this afternoon, Mr. Blain, conservative, Peel, registered a complaint against the damaged grain shipped into Ontario on account of foul seas.

Hon. S. A. Fisher said he fully appreciated the position of Mr. Blain, but that in the longer run, Mr. Blain's action in bringing the matter up will serve a good purpose as a warning to farmers not use it for seed.

Mr. Borden raised the issue by moving for copies of all orders in council, correspondence, etc., issued this year. He commented that no minister had taken part in the discussion of the bill, and that the constitutionality of the practice under which, as indicated in the speeches of British Columbia representatives, members of the house had been furnished with a copy of the bill, was a matter of some importance.

Mr. Borden also moved for a copy of the report of the committee on the Asiatic issue and interpreted it as meaning that Chinese could be admitted to the country, but that they had no army, but that Japanese must be treated with respect, because they had an army; what doctrine is that, he asked, for an apostle of peace, like the premier?

Mr. Borden reviewed the various writings which the government had had on Asiatic matters, first was the demand of Aulay Morrison, M.P., in 1900 for the Natal act; second the warning given by the royal commission and finally by question in the house by the leader of the opposition himself. In reply to which Mr. Fisher had stated that the government had assumed the responsibility of the Asiatic issue.

Representatives of the Grand Trunk and C.P.R. have protested to the minister of railways against the principle embodied in W. F. Maclean's bill in favor of a two cent a mile rate on Canadian railways.

It is claimed that the proposal is to penalize railway companies at a time when they are not able to meet the requirements of the public, and is unfair inasmuch as it would compel them to maintain an equipment of rolling stock, the large part of which would only be in use for a few weeks in the fall.

Brodeur was waited upon today by a deputation of liberal members from Ontario who protested against dual control of fishery matters by federal and provincial governments in that province. The discussion was adjourned until after the holidays, when it is expected that definite action will be taken to abolish dual control.

Captain Harry Cameron, a well known lumberman, has definitely announced his candidature as liberal in Labelle county for the commons.

Welland conservatives have nominated George Hagan of Niagara Falls for the commons.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—The last session of the house before adjournment over the holidays was perhaps the most interesting and even important of any to date. Not only did the minister of finance take the opportunity of expounding the policy of the government, but the royal commission, at some length, but both the premier and the leader of the opposition made striking pronouncements of policy in this regard.

The royal commission, speaking on the adjourned debate on the motion of Ralph Smith.

The chocolate set, donated by the Canada Drug and Book company for the benefit of the antituberculous society, will be raffled during Christmas week, the proceeds going to the society.

Owing to want of space in this issue from holiday advertising and some special articles, letters from Silverton business men and W. M. Chalmers, concerning the Slocan license question, are held over and will appear tomorrow.

The civic fire, water and light committee met at the city hall yesterday, there being present the mayor and aldermen Selous and McMorris. The committee instructed engineer Brown to cut off all consumer in arrears forthwith, written notices having already been sent out. Power consumers will be given until Dec. 24 to pay up.

J. R. Davis of Fruitvale while taking a load of ties down a steep grade at Beaver yesterday afternoon, lost his balance and fell among the horses, breaking his right arm and injuring his chest. He was taken to the Ymir hospital on the S. F. and N. train last night.

The Hume hotel has substituted a system of telephones in each room to the exclusion of the old bell service. Guests in the hotel may now telephone each other from room to room, or telephone to any person on the exchange, no matter how far distant, without leaving their apartment.

At the general hospital yesterday morning William Sleeman, a miner of Ymir, died from consumption. Deceased was 42 years of age and a Cornishman by birth. The remains were removed to the undertaking parlors of D. J. Robertson and company. A funeral notice will be given later.

It is not often that Nelson is treated to a Shakespearean play and although judged from a London standpoint scenes from the Merchant of Venice, as presented last night by the Sandford Dodge company to a sparse Nelson audience were lacking in many particulars, yet taking the average of the plays lighting the theatre here, the Merchant of Venice was above the average. As far as such a thing can be, the production was original. Dodge as Shylock had a reminiscence of Sadler Wells, and Portia, in a crimson gown, was not new but the more in character with a supposed D.C. Miss Louise Marshall has fault as Portia, who would not with such precedents to overcome, but she is worth seeing. Fox as Bassanio did exceptionally well and John was portrayed by no mere novice. This afternoon will be given In-gomar and in the evening Romeo and Juliet. Good plays are worth encouraging and a visit to the theatre this afternoon or evening will not be regretted.

JUDGE NELSON DEAD
Well Known Roseland Barrister Passed Away Yesterday
W. J. Nelson, the well known Roseland barrister, died at his residence in Roseland early yesterday morning, the cause of death being heart failure. The deceased was about 45 years of age and leaves no relatives in Kootenay. Mr. Nelson was born in Ontario and was called to the bar of that province over 20 years ago. He came to Roseland early in 1886 and was called to the bar of this province the same year and practised his profession in the city of his adoption up to the time of his death. He ably filled the positions of city solicitor, police magistrate and judge of the small debts court.

A man of marked ability and of unusual kindness of heart, Mr. Nelson made many friends all over western Canada and he was always a conspicuous figure in every public and patriotic movement. The deceased was the author of several short poems of merit and was noted for his musical and dramatic criticisms, many of which appeared in the columns of the Miner. Mr. Nelson was a well known member of the Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto and served with the regiment through the Riel rebellion in 1885. It will be difficult to think of Roseland without the familiar kindly face and burly form of the "old judge," as the deceased was universally known.

S. S. TAYLOR THE

UNANIMOUS NOMINATION COMMITTEES OF LABOR PREFERRED PARTIES BY PUBLIC MEETING FORM AND ALDERMEN

At a public meeting last night by the Labor and Progress parties, S. S. Taylor, K.C., proved unanimous choice for the platform for the coming year.

At 8.30 o'clock sharp, the meeting was called to order and the chairman, J. H. Selous, presided. The following short platform:

1.—The building of public accommodations, sufficient to meet the needs of the city for the next five years, estimated on the basis of the present population, during the next five years.

2.—This serious exception on the ground that these were by law on the question and maintained to be done was the duty of the city.

3.—The immediate compulsory power plant in order to keep the city at the highest level of civilization.

4.—The adoption of a system for street lighting.

This carried without debate being only one of one subject.

5.—The putting into open franchise tax principle for the city.

6.—The immediate compulsory power plant in order to keep the city at the highest level of civilization.
