Let's Go Over It Together.

London Sides With Laurier

C. S. Hyman Elected by a Magnificent Majority.

Sweeping Liberal Victory in All Four Wards.

A Monster Procession With Thousands in Line.

Speeches From The Advertiser Office Windows by London's Representative and Prominent Liberals—Streets Ablaze With Lights and Fireworks—The Town Was "Red"—Scenes of the Greatest Enthusiasm—Mr. Beattie Cries Corruption—Notes of the Contest.

Well, it's Hyman!

Five hundred and forty-six!

This was the good news that sent the enthusiasm of the Liberals of London up to fever heat last night, and sent the enthusiasm of the Conservatives into the shades of zero, with no unmistakable sound. The Liberals had fought a good fight and had won a magnificent victory. And there was general rejoicing in the ranks of the supporters of good government. The victory was the greatest Liberal sweep in the history of London, and never was there more wildly enthusiastic scenes than those that followed the announcement of Mr. Beattie's overwhelming defeat. Those on the inside were confident of victory, but even the most sanguine did not expect the handsome majority that Mr. Hyman received. When it was flashed from the Advertiser windows, the Conservatives in the crowd were paralyzed with amazement; the Liberals were wild with joy. They shouted, cheered, tooted, shot off fireworks, waved hats and flags, in a perfect delirium of happiness.

The returns began to pour in within fifteen minutes after 5 o'clock. By that time the pavement was blocked with people. With usual dispatch the Advertiser was first to post returns. The first Hyman gain was received with tremendous cheering. From that first bulletin until the grand total was shown, prodigious enthusiasm was manifested by the immense throngs. When his splendid majority became evident the air was rent with cheers. Immediately the people began to show their satisfaction according to the time-honored customs of election nights.

The Detailed Returns.

At The Advertiser.

When the final returns from the different subdivisions of the city had been received, Mr. Hyman, accompanied by a number of the prominent members of the party, proceeded to the office of the Advertiser, at about 6:15 o'clock, and addressed the immense concourse of cheering electors, assembled in front of the building. Mr. John Cameron acted as chairman of the impromptu meeting, and introduced the speakers. Mr. George Gibbons stepped first to the open window and called for cheers for Mr. Hyman, and a thunder of acclamation rent the air, intensified and prolonged as the successful candidate himself appeared at the casement.

MR. HYMAN SPEAKS.

When the enthusiasm of the throng had sufficiently spent itself to allow Mr. Hyman to be heard, he said that he felt grateful from the bottom of his heart for the enthusiastic support that had been given him. (Cheers.) He was, he said, deeply obliged to the members of his committee, who had done so much to return him, and he felt deeply grateful, too, to those who, while not promising their support, must nevertheless have voted for him. He was sorry he had not much voice left, but he wished to thank his every supporter heartily. (Cheers.) London had returned a Liberal by the largest margin in its history. (Cheers.) He was glad to say that in this election there were no 297 spoiled ballots. When the beloved Liberal chief, Sir Wilfrid Laurier—(Cheers)—heard the good news from London he would rejoice beyond measure that the city had been redeemed. (Cheers.) Mr. Hyman again heartily thanked his supporters, and promised that in the honorable position to which they had elected him he would do his best to do his duty in a satisfactory manner. (Prolonged cheering.)

GEORGE C. GIBBONS, Q.C.

Mr. Gibbons was greeted with an enthusiasm only second to that evinced by the candidate himself. The election, he said, there were 297 spoiled ballots, but today there were not 20. If there had been only 20 in the last contest, Charles S. Hyman would have been the member for London for the last four years. (Cheers.) Mr. Hyman's opponents had fought a good fight, but they had been thrashed, and thrashed well. (Cheers.) The Conservatives had lost, and he hoped they would be mainly enough to acknowledge defeat and turn in and support a good government. He hoped that the strife which had existed in the city so long would be forgotten for the next four years, and the Liberals, Conservatives and Socialists alike would join in efforts to build up and forward the interests of the city. (Cheers.) Mr. Gibbons concluded by saying that the majority relied up was sufficient to convince the Conservatives that London wanted C. S. Hyman for its member. (Cheers.) And if they were not convinced now they would be next election. (Cheers.)

T. H. PURDUM, Q.C.

Mr. Purdum was warmly received by the crowd. The old saying declared that it was the unexpected that always happened; but this time it was not only the expected but the predicted result which had come to pass. (Cheers.) The nomination it has been predicted that, given a fair election, the Reform candidate would receive the majority of the votes, and this had been amply verified. (Cheers.) The news of the glorious victory in London would be heard with rejoicing all through Canada. (Cheers.) As London had gone, so would the whole Dominion. (Cheers.) The Conservatives had put up a good fight, but it was against better material than themselves. (Cheers.) The result of the contest would be to teach both parties to respect themselves more and their opponents more. (Cheers.) Mr. Hyman was victorious after a long, hard, honorable fight. (Cheers.) The city had every reason to be proud of Mr. Hyman, and he had reason to be proud of the support he had received from the city. (Cheers.) When Mr. Hyman goes to Ottawa he will prove himself one of the best members on the floor of the house, and the speaker believed he would sit in parliament not only as a member for London but as a member of the best ministry Canada has ever known, under the best premier the Dominion has ever seen. (Cheers.) The Liberals of London could sleep soundly, for they had done their duty, and this city would reap the benefit. (Cheers.)

EX-MAYOR LITTLE.

Mr. J. W. Little opened his remarks by announcing that Minister Blair had beaten ex-Minister of Finance George E. Foster, in St. John, N. B., the news being greeted with applause. Mr. Little was sure that all were delighted with the result of the election. It had been a quiet, decent contest, and it had been won fairly. (Cheers.) After fighting for thirteen years, Mr. Hyman had secured what rightfully belonged to him. (Cheers.) The Liberals of London might feel proud that they had stood by him in adversity, and they would continue to stand by him. Mr. Little said he respected every man's principles, but he firmly believed that it would be a misfortune if the Conservatives triumphed, for they had sought to win by stirring up racial strife, and he had united to many down these tactics on the part of their leaders. Mr. Hyman was proud of his supporters, and they on their part would never regret their action. (Cheers.)

Mr. John Cameron closed the speech-making with the announcement that Mr. Hyman's correct majority was 546, and this again aroused the enthusiasm of the multitude to the highest point. Mr. Gibbons then announced that Mr. Gibbons would leave the Liberal committee rooms at 7:30, and invited all those present to participate in it.

THE VANQUISHED.

When the Liberals had ceased speaking, Mr. Beattie appeared at the Press window. The crowd surged in that direction, anxious to hear what the ex-member had to say about his defeat. He took it with very bad grace. "You see by the figures," he said, "that we are in a tight city. I hope that Mr. Hyman and his friends take pleasure in their figures." Some kindly youth assured the speaker that they would. "They show," he continued, "a clean buy-out." (Derisive laughter.) "Why don't you take it like a man?" Continued laughter. "Thirty thousand dollars have been paid to buy the election. I know perfectly well that the election was gone some days ago. Corruption walked upon the scene. Hyman's gang worked well," he continued frantically, to the amusement of the crowd below. "Men in ladies' attire were giving $10 bills to people on the streets. (Laughter.) ### FISTIC.

DEATH OF "KID" O'BRIEN.
Detroit, Mich., Nov. 7.—Michael Goldman, known in sporting circles as "Kid O'Brien," died at St. Mary's Hospital at 3:45 this morning, of concussion of the brain, caused by striking the back of his head on the padded floor, the result of a knock-out blow delivered by Bernard Carroll, at the Light Guard Armory last night. The unfortunate affair occurred in the seventh round, after one minute and thirty-five seconds of fighting. Police Lieut. Boersig had Carroll taken to the police headquarters, and took all the names of the seconds and promoters of the fight.

VALUABLE RACEHORSE DIES.
New York, Nov. 7.—The well-known race horse Fire Arm died recently of pneumonia. He was accounted the greatest sprinter in 1909, having won many big stake races.

SLOAN OUT OF ENGLISH RACING.

New York, Nov. 7.—The facts regarding the anti-American crusade in England are slowly coming to light. It is more than suspected in this country that James Todhunter Sloan, sometimes called premier jockey, had more to do with the trouble than had yet appeared on the surface. Sloan is reported to have been refused a license to race in England, and that his riding career on the other side is at an end. Sloan knows if he applied for a license on the other side and was refused, he might have considerable trouble in persuading the jockey club here to grant the necessary documents.

Sloan has been mixed up with the betting ring. It is said, and this is the real reason why the powers turned him down. It is very likely the prince did not care to have a jockey riding for him who had the run of the betting ring, and who was likely to take advantage of stable secrets to his own advantage. Sloan's retainer from the prince was the largest ever offered in any country. It was a matter of $25,000.

It is also said that Eugene Leigh was mixed up with Sloan in some way. Leigh is the trainer of Frank Gardner's string, while Sloan is the manager. It will be remembered that Sloan, while in this country last fall, bought Lady Massey and Longshoreman for Mr. Gardner. There is a shrewd suspicion that Sloan had more than a manager's interest in the stable. Just exactly

GREAT DECEIVERS

Celestial Beggars Masters of the Art of Deception.

Horrible Injuries, Frequently Self-Inflicted, Used to Excite Sympathy—Beggars' Guilds Well Organized and Effective—Beggary is an Established Institution and Recognized Occupation in China.

One who has never visited the native quarters of Chinese cities cannot conceive the indescribable mass of filth and rubbish of all descriptions that cumber up both streets and houses. Such a thing as cleanliness is unknown, for where the struggle for existence is so keen people have no time to waste on keeping their habitations or their persons in a reasonable state of cleanliness. Peking, being one of the largest, has an equally large proportion of dirt, but even in that phenomenally unclean place no other spot can vie for repulsiveness with the Bridge of the Beggars. Not alone are all varieties of inanimate refuse on exhibition there, but also the raffish and remnants of Chinese humanity.

The Chinese beggar resorts not alone to personal appeal and unending lamentation, but also on personal mutilation, in the hope that the sight of his deformity, natural or artificial, will awaken pity in the breast of the passerby. Many horrible instances might be noted of the manner in which the Chinese mendicants deliberately mutilate themselves in order to be fitted for their calling. One method is to bind an insect upon the eye and allow it to destroy the sight. When this is accomplished, the beggar may go forth to present his claim in consideration of his blindness. This is but one method of many similar ones. Every device that Chinese ingenuity can invent is adopted to produce deformity, and the human form divine is twisted out of all resemblance to its normal self in some cases. Of course a vast amount of patience and perseverance is often necessary, but these traits are inborn in a Chinaman of whatever rank in life. The hideous repulsiveness of results obtained is such as to spoil the dreams of the foreign observer unless he have unusually strong nerves.

In this respect the Chinese beggars resemble closely those of Italy of the present day or of those of mediaeval Europe, although the injuries of the latter were for the most part only feigned. The Chinese likewise are also too shrewd to needlessly mutilate themselves when they can avoid it. As is well known, they are past masters of the art of deception, and some of the imagined injuries and deformities are so cleverly simulated as to defy all inspection and fear of detection.

Beggary is an established institution and recognized occupation of China. Children are trained to it from their birth, as any one who has been assailed by the vociferous calls for alms from Chinese beggars of all ages will readily testify. The mendicants have their well organized societies and guilds, in this resembling all classes of Chinese tradesmen and workmen. At the head of the guild is the "king of the beggars," who is often a person of considerable local importance. He is generally possessed of means gained by the taking of a percentage of the alms collected by the members of his guild, and he lives in fine style. He exists in all the walled cities and large towns of China, and in such places a regular tax is levied upon every one who is considered sufficiently wealthy to afford to pay it. All foreigners are, of course, included, for by their presence in China their wealth is inferred. The native who pays his assessment to the guild often attempts to delude himself with the idea that so doing is obedience to the Confucian precepts inculcating benevolence. Besides this, he knows that to refuse the demands of the guild is to bring down upon his head a host of troubles. Unless his usual contribution is forthcoming the king leads upon his place of business a host of beggars of all sizes, shapes and descriptions, and if he has any goods left in his shop when they depart he may thank whichever of his numerous gods he most believes in. The guild divides the city into districts and assigns to each beggar his district; but, as in every other Chinese profession, there are tramp beggars who bring disgrace upon their worthy trade by trespassing the boundaries of others.

Many amusing instances might be given of the tricks played by the beggars upon missionaries. A very well known worker in this field cured a native beggar of catarract, only to be met with the demand that he support the man, as he had been deceived by the cure of his means of earning a livelihood.

JUST A TRIFLE GAUDY.

It Was Not the Kind of Wagon the Old Man Expected.

"It's a hard life," declared the old circus man, "and I always say at the close of every season that I am through with it. But there is something in the life, the smell of the sawdust ring, the glitter and noise, the changing scene, that appeals to a man who has once been in the business, and it is seldom that one leaves the life until death steps in. There is a good deal of humor in the business, too, as we are brought into contact with all sorts and conditions of men."

"I am reminded of a funny thing that happened to me a good many years ago when such a thing as moving a circus by rail was not thought of. It was part of my work at that time to drive our great $10,000 chariot not only in the parade, but between towns as well. What I sleep I got I had to catch here and there on my seat while we were on our way to another town. One night my doze turned into a sound sleep, and when I awoke I discovered that the team, left without a driver, had turned into a farm-yard and come to a stop before a hay-stack, where they were quietly eating. While I was rubbing my eyes and trying to grasp the situation the old man who owned the hay came out where I good and walked around the chariot and looked it over with a critical eye."

"Well," said I, with a grin, "what do you think of it?"

"Gosh," said he, "ain't hit jes a trifle bit gaudy?"

"Well, what do you expect?" said I indignantly at this implied reflection upon the great moral show that I represented.

"Well, I suppose it is all right," answered the old man doubtfully as he looked it over once more. "I ordered hit, and I'll stand by my bargain. Hit seems ter me that hit is jes a bit loud. But I suppose I ain't used to city ways."

"It was now my turn to be surprised, and I was about to ask him what he was driving at when he added that I might as well unhitch, as the funeral wouldn't be until 2 in the afternoon."

When there were explanations all around. It seems that the old man's wife had died and he had sent to the nearest city for a funeral car and had mistaken our great $10,000 chariot for it. There had been a good deal of rivalry in the neighborhood in regard to funerals, and the old man had made up his mind to outshine them all, and I think he was disappointed in the end when he discovered that he had been mistaken."

A Pain Remedy.

For over fifty years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world.

The True Relief, Radway's Ready Relief

For Internal and External Use.

In using medicines to stop pain we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and if continued for any length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in either infant or adult.

Will Afford Instant Ease.

For headache (whether sick or nervous), toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and weakness in the back, spine or kidneys, pains around the liver, pleurisy, swelling of the joints and pains of all kinds, the application of Radway's Ready Relief will afford immediate relief, and its continued use for a few days effect a permanent cure.

Instantly stops the most excruciating pains, always inflammation and cures congestion, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

Radway's Ready Relief

Cures and Prevents

Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Asthma, Difficult Breathing.

HALF A HALF—A half to a teaspoonful in half a tumbler of water will in a few minutes cure Croup, Spasms, Stomach, Nausea, Vomiting, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Colic, Flatulency and all internal pains.

MALARIA!

There is not a remedial agent in the world that cures Fever and Ague and all other Malarial, Bilious and other fevers, aided by Radway's Pills, so quickly as Radway's Ready Relief.

The Laurier Government Sustained.

The year 1900 has been a great year for Governments.

A few weeks ago the British Government was granted a new lease of power.

On Tuesday last the voters of the United States gave another four years of administrative rule to President McKinley.

And yesterday the electorate of Canada said, "Well done, good and faithful servants!" to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his associates, by intrusting to their charge the destinies of the Dominion for another five years.

The electors of Canada have decreed wisely. Had they supported the unprincipled campaign of Sir Charles Tupper and his discredited associates—with their bogus Globe, their pamphlet No. 6, and their policy of saying one thing in one province and another thing in another province, for the sake of power to set race against race and creed against creed—the omens for Canada's future, and for peace, concord and healthful development in the years to come, would have been ominous, indeed.

But the people of Canada have risen superior to cries of race and creed, and to reckless charges of whatever kind. They saw in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues men who preached the same doctrines in every part of the Dominion; men under whom the country had prospered in a manner unexampled; men who sought to unite, not separate citizens of varying creeds and races; men who had done great things in fostering bonds of lasting loyalty between Canada and the mother country; men under whose rule the Dominion had become favorably and advantageously known in every part of the civilized globe.

Canada can now go on in its course of splendid development, under which, for example, employment in London increased 67 per cent in four years, and under which the foreign trade of Canada increased $142,000,000 in the four years of the present Government, as compared with an increase of only $68,000,000 in the eighteen years of the previous Administration.

If anything more were needed to emphasize the splendid victory of the Liberal Administration yesterday, it is to be found in the magnificent personal majorities of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, over 2,500; Hon. Mr. Blair, over 1,000, and the Hon. J. Israel Tarte's splendid personal triumph. On the other hand, among the slain on the field of battle, are to be found the veteran leader of the Opposition, Sir Charles Tupper himself, who must surely have lost faith in his prophetic vision; and he has with him good company, the Hon. George Eulas Foster, and Dr. Montague, of Haldimand, his two most eloquent supporters; with Hugh John lying on the prairies of the Northwest, his scalp in the belt of the able and eloquent Minister of the Interior, the Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Laurier and his Government were sworn in July 13, 1896. And from that moment, Canada began to prosper.

London Redeemed.

The result of the election in the city of London is eminently satisfactory. It must have delighted the hearts of the old stalwart Liberals of the city, those who have fought since the fifties the battles of Reform, with only once in a while a faint glimmer of success. It brings back to mind the election in which Col. Walker defeated the Hon. John Carling, the Liberals then and now naturally enjoying enthusiastically their victory after a hard fight.

The contest prior to election day gave little evidence of excitement, although both parties were working like beavers. The quietness can perhaps be accounted for now on the theory that the electors were thinking, thinking hard and anxiously, and desiring that result which would be for the best interests of the country. They have succeeded in obtaining that result.

This is the fifth time that Mr. Hyman has contested London. On each occasion he fought a fair, square, manly fight. If there is one quality in him more than another that his supporters have admired, it has been his manly bearing whenever the fight was thickest and the prospects blackest. He has always carried out Shakespeare's instruction:

"Beware Of entrance to a quarrel; but being in, Bear it, that the opposer may beware of thee."

There has been a feeding, too, that in the past more than once justice has miscarried. The splendid victory of yesterday will do much to cause the Liberals to forget the past, although it cannot fail to confirm their opinions of the causes which produced the former defeats.

There is no doubt that the result in this city was partly produced by the success of the Liberal Administration, and the esteem and admiration which all citizens have for the leader of the Liberal party, Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The success of the Government was early felt to be an important factor. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's success in producing and maintaining prosperity in Canada, the favor with which he is regarded in England, through his visit to the Queen's Jubilee, and the promptness with which the contingents were furnished in the South African war, all helped. The country believed in him and his colleagues, and therefore the splendid majority of 546 must to some extent be credited to them.

Whether the majority of 546 is due to the member's personal popularity, or the fighting qualities of his supporters, or the virtues of the Government, it is a comforting and comfortable majority. It leaves no room to doubt who won. London has been redeemed. Charles S. Hyman is the member for London, and in his place in Parliament will be one of the most useful members in the House. He has all the qualities necessary to enable him to take a foremost place in Parliament.

To the Reform Association too much credit cannot be given. Their President, Mr. George C. Gibbons, Q. C., threw all the energy of his nature into the contest, and the same spirit prevailed throughout the ranks. Like soldiers in battle, the good men are often full privates, and there are many who have worked in the Reform ranks at many elections entitled now to a full measure of joy. To Mr. George M. Reid every Reform worker will cheerfully give a word of praise. Well done, London! Hyman elected! London redeemed! It will be good news to many from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

After the Victory.

Where, O where, is the "nest of traitors"?

"What about Tarte?"—Conservative campaign question.

Doing very well, thank you. What about Tupper?

By the way, where is Mr. Lowies, who spoke in the Rink?

There are 213 House of Commons constituencies in Canada. All of these voted yesterday, excepting five, all of which will probably go Liberal when they get a chance.

Let us be brothers. Away with all these distinctions of race or creed. We have been separated long enough. Give me a true man, a true Canadian, and I value him without regard to his creed or race.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Cornwall.

Laurier's majority in his own constituency, 2,500. Who deserves it better?

There are five deferred elections, for one reason or other. They will vote a little later. They are Nipissing (Ont.), Yale and Cariboo (B. C.), Burrard Inlet (B.C.), Gaspe (Que.), and Chicoutimi (Que.) The last four went Liberal, and probably all five will this time.

There were only four acclamations eight days ago—namely, Lavergne (Que.), Charlton (Ont.), Cstigan (N. B.), and Seagram (Ont.). The three first-named are Liberals.

The Advertiser's advice, to let well enough alone, was heeded.

The people liked the Prosperity Government well enough to ask for five years more of it.

Miss Canada's attitude on election night:

"When day expires in the west The curtain draws of nature's rest, I flee to his arms I love best, And that's Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

It looks as if Sir Mackenzie Bowell's statement that so long as he had a voice, no member of the nest of traitors would ever be a member of a cabinet in Canada, has been verified. The Hon. John Haggart is not likely to be accepted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and Foster and Montague have not secured seats. Such is fate! Sir Mackenzie has had his inning.

Hyman had a majority in every ward in the city. He had a majority in every polling subdivision except two, and one of them was a tie. Good enough!

What material is left in the House out of which the Conservatives could form a cabinet? Sir Charles goes. Hon. Geo. E. Foster goes also, with Dr. Montague and Hugh John. Have to fall back on Sir John A.'s bust again.

The only leader left to the Conservative party is Sir Mackenzie Bowell. The material to form a cabinet out of the Conservative members has not been elected.

An Object Lesson From Germany.

The Sunderland Daily Echo, a vigorous Radical journal of the north of England, points to the present tariff discussions in Germany as furnishing an object lesson for English people, and if it does that it also teaches something that Canada needs to learn. The writer makes a good point in the following brief passage: "A few years ago it was a parrot cry of British protectionists, masquerading as fair traders, reciprocity men, and so forth, that our industries would in time fall before the long hours and low wages of the continent. It was, of course, clear to rational minds that foreign workmen were in all essential respects like our own, and that in proportion as they found their employers flourishing, they would insist on improved conditions of labor. This process has been going on for some time, and the relative lead of the British artisan in the matter of wages and hours has been considerably diminished. As the industrial spirit of Germany has been aroused, so has the spirit of the workmen, who are eagerly watchful for chances of improving their lot." This statement is true, and it is good that it is so, for, as the condition of the working class is improved, the widespread industrial competition is conducted on fairer terms, and the decent-living, self-respecting workmen of one country are not called to compete with the starvation wages of another country.

We know that in Germany the union of workmen is watched by the authorities with a jealous eye, and the Government of the country is not so sympathetic towards the workmen as in England or Canada. The writer, whose statements we are now considering, shows an acquaintance with the facts when he goes on to say: "Millarism and protection are, as of old, still like a millstone round the neck of German enterprise. There are signs, however, that in the fiscal conflicts of the classes, the masses of Germany will slowly tend to get their due." We trust that this is a true forecast, for from the standpoint of good of Germany, as well as for the well-being of humanity, it is important that the workman should get his due there. The thing that makes this so interesting now is the fact that in the coming meeting of the Reichstag the great battle will be over the momentous question of the revision of the customs tariff. The agrarians demand increased protection on account of the hardships which the landed classes have suffered by the migration of the laborers to the towns, whither they have been attracted by the better wages, produced by the great rise of manufacturing interests.

In their demand upon the Government they rely upon the fact that they are its chief supporters in all movements for further expenditure on the fighting forces. As a reward for this service, they wish the power to put a higher tax on the people's bread. They are not very modest in their demand, which means a maximum duty of 80 marks per ton, or about $4.50 per quarter, a tax that would press heavily on the great mass of poor people. Well may this writer say: "And thus with rising taxation, and imminent higher prices for food, the German masses are unlookingly being driven to the wall." We should be thankful that in this country neither of these millstones press with anything like the same weight on the working mass.

RACED 15,000 MILES

Two Steamers Finish the Long Voyage Only Four Hours Apart.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7. — The British steamships Baron Eldon and Baron Innes, have arrived at the Delaware breakwater from Java, finishing a race of 15,000 miles within four hours of each other.

The vessels left Java Sept. 1 for the breakwater, their course being via the Suez Canal, the Mediterranean Sea, and North Atlantic Ocean. Each was laden with 5,000 tons of sugar. For days after leaving Java the vessels were not in sight of each other, but arrived at Suez about the same time. After leaving Port Said they did not sight each other until the Delaware breakwater was reached. The Baron Eldon arrived first and the Baron Innes four hours later. During a gale near the American coast one of the Baron Innes's crew was swept overboard and drowned.

Perhaps the most famous man in China today is Sir Robert Hart, K. C. B., the Inspector-general of customs. The November Atlantic has a most interesting and timely paper on this distinguished man by H. C. Whittesey, who served under him for some years in the Chinese customs service.

heim, the great Russian pianist, who is to give a recital in this city, Nov.
12, makes him an important factor of the best society. The presentation of a handsome pin, with crown, set with diamonds, by Her Majesty Queen Victoria is said to have been conferred upon him.

MISSION TO LEBERES.

The annual thanksgiving meeting of the London branch of the mission to Lepers took place in Somerset Hall, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Robertson presiding. The Rev. Dr. Saunders conducted devotional exercises, and gave an address on "The healing of the leprosy in the Bible."

Mrs. Billie sang very acceptably
"Heaven is My Home." The secretary and the treasurer's reports show the society to be in a flourishing condition.
The total receipts for the year were $143.12. The disbursements for the year amounted to $17.50. The officers elected are the same as for previous years,
with the exception of vice-president, Miss Fraser being appointed to that office. The society is very grateful to the various friends who have so generously assisted them during the year with solos
and Bible readings.

Y. M. C. A. WOMEN'S AUXILIARY.

A special meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the parkers on Monday afternoon last, when a large number of the members and their friends were present. The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev.
W. A. Hutton, of Atlanta, Ga. Mr.
Hutton is the international field secretary of the south, and is at present touring the country in the interests of his association. Mrs. J. N. Wood, secretary of the auxiliary, read a review of last year's work, which was most satisfactory, and encouraging for future efforts. Miss N. E. Williams gave an outline of work planned for the ensuing year, and then Mrs. Sayer followed with a short account of association work. After many important questions had been asked and answered by Mr. Sayer, Mr. Hutton interested his hearers by a statement of association work among the colored young men of the Southern States of America. Mr. Hutton emphasized the helpfulness to young men away from home by the kindness shown by these institutions. The meeting was then thrown open, coffee was served and a pleasant, sociable time was enjoyed by the members of the association.

Amusements.

"A CAVALIER OF FRANCE."

The New York Dramatic Mirror of recent date contained the following allusion to Miss Blanche Crozier, who will be seen at the London Opera House here on Saturday: "Miss Blanche Crozier has recently signed contracts with the Messrs. Shipman to enact the leading role—that of Gabrielle du Bois—in their romantic success, "The Cavalier of France." Miss Crozier's work in the past entitles her to this distinction, for she has displayed that rare ability which is ever identified with the successful artist."

Miss Crozier is a Canadian girl, a native of Brantford, Ont., and is already gaining stellar honors. If the Messrs. Shipman should decide upon
"The Little Minister" for next season, Miss Crozier will be featured in the role of Zola. "The Cavalier of France" plays both matinee and evening performances on Saturday.

"DOWN MOBILE."

All of the great spectacular scenes which abound in Lincoln J. Carter's new play, "Down Mobile," which will be seen here next Monday, Tuesday and Tuesday matinee, really exist in the State of Alabama, as Mr. Carter spent many months studying that country before he wrote and produced
his piece.

Devised to produce a true picture of southern life and character. Even the characters of the play have been taken from life. The famous "Sunnyside Mansion," situated on the Mobile River, is one of the pictures reproduced with startling accuracy.

CONVALESCENT HOME

Progress During the Year Shown at Monday's Annual Meeting.

The postponed annual meeting of the board of management of the London Convalescent Home was held on Monday last, there being a good attendance of the officers and members of the board. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
President, Mrs. Doomer; first vice-president, Mrs. Niven; second vice-president, Mrs. Mawhinney; third vice-president, Mrs. St. John Hyttenrauch; fourth vice-president, Mrs.
Hopkins; fifth vice-president, Miss Hamilton; treasurer, Miss McRae;
secretary, Miss Loughheed; lady patroness, Mrs. Labatt; board of management, Messrs. Beemer, Hopkins, Lushbrook, Edge, Mawhinney, Strong,
Buckie, Magee, Wilson, Dann, Reid,
Owen, Blinn, Caldwell, Kent, R. K.
Cowan, Mitchell and Dewar; advisory board, Messrs. Gil, Thomson, J. H.
Flock, McCormick and Rev. Dr. Johnston.

The financial statement showed receipts of $1,001.44, and expenditures of $801.75, leaving a balance of $199.69.
The expenditures exceeded those of last year by $31.

The president's report, presented by Mrs. Doomer, was a most gratifying and encouraging one. The admissions for the year numbered 23, while two were in residence at the beginning of the year, making a total of 30. Of these 8 were men and 22 were women,
and their collective stay in the home was 1,695 days. The board desires to express its sense of the kindness of its many friends, expressed not only in gifts of money, but in contributions of every kind. Hearty thanks are also due to the several organizations of the city for their visits and help in securing for the 30 days' board, in service to those of the clergy who have visited the inmates, to the press,
to the medical men for gratis professional services, to the advisory board,
officers, and very especially the ladies of the purchasing committee.
There has been no abatement in the faithfulness, intelligence and patient unselfishness with which the matron and her sister have again fulfilled the duties of their office.

The treasurer's report is exceptionally encouraging, although the running expenses have, from obvious causes, somewhat exceeded those of previous years. The most acceptable legacy of $249 from the Robinson estate enabled the board to pay $100 on the mortgage, leaving $149 still to pay before the home is free of debt.

HOW ARE THE
MIGHTY FALLEN

The downfall of a Talkative Sorutine and the Means by Which It Was Accomplished.

A tale of a Gray street episode was told about town yesterday afternoon.
Wherever it was heard were seen smiles of satisfaction, and there was ill-concealed glee even among the principal actor's friends. The story was about a Mr. Edmund Weld, and the affair transpired in No. 7 subdivision of the first ward, at the house of Mr. L. Reford. Weld is not small by any means—six feet, or thereabouts,
broad of shoulder, and of large build.
He is a Conservative, and an ardent one at that. However much that may be regretted for his own sake, he is not to be blamed for his political allegiance. Unfortunately, he was overzealous in his party's cause. He was made inside scrutineer in the seventh subdivision, and in that capacity he swore many men when they went to votes, with oaths, as one irritated gentleman said, "as long as you arm."

This, also, is pardonable, but he accompanied the swearing with a varied flourish of his own ability in that line. So annoying, so positively disgusting did his behavior become, that protestations were made. Mr. Reford sought to throw the proverbial oil on the troubled waters, but the offense was repeated. At last, Returning Officer Dignan was asked to abate the nuisance. He went to the polling-booth. One of the officials there was Mr. Charles Efner. He is a man of short stature, muscular and broad-shouldered, a much smaller man than he who was acting so obnoxious. Mr.
Efner investigated, and ordered Mr.
Efner to remove the obstructive scrutineer. Mr. Efner looked at him, felt his muscles, and charged. In less time than it takes to tell it, Weld was lifted high from the floor, writhing
and wriggling, carried from the house and dropped with no more tap upon his dirty sidewalk. Mr. E. T. Efner was immediately installed in his place, and the wings of the dove of peace flapped
over the scene during all the hours
that followed.

Fit-Reform and
Its Mission...

Fit-Reform
was produced to fill three wants.

First—To give tailor-made clothing at ready-made cost.
Second—To give tailor-made style and fit without tailor-made delay.

Third—To do away with tailor-made guess work as to how a piece of cloth will look when made up.

Fit-Reform is not merely a name. Its name is useful only to distinguish it from make-shift clothing.

Fit-Reform led the way to good clothing ready made. It still leads where other branded clothing is unsettled and uncertain, following an idea without the experience to carry it out. Fit-Reform has passed through the primary grades and stands at the head of the ranks of the best.

Suits and Overcoats—$10, $12, $15, $18, $20.
Trousers—$3, $4, $5, $6.

FIT-REFORM WARDROBE

ROBERT M. BURNS,

180 DUNDAS STREET, LONDON, ONT.

ARRESTED AT
THAMESFORD

Young Man Charged With Trying to Defraud a Glencoe
Hotel Keeper Captured by Detective Ward.

On Tuesday of last week a young man of engaging manner arrived at the McRae House, Glencoe, and announced his intention of enjoying the hospitality of Miss Host Alexander McRae for a more or less protracted period. He registered as W. Benner, of Toronto, and said he was a picture agent. He brought with him a horse and buggy, a quantity of pictures and picture frames, and a valise containing his personal belongings. With this secure security for the amount of his guest's board bill, Mr. McRae did not consider it necessary to insist upon the trifling formality of pay in advance.
But in this the host reckoned without his guest. On Sunday night Mr. Mc-Rae and the remainder of the household retired to peaceful slumbers, but when morning dawned it was found that one inmate of the house had not been asleep. An open window and a dangling rope showed that Mr. Benner had gone down by another way.
Investigation showed that he had not departed alone, for his horse, rig and other belongings had taken their departure with him. Mr. McRae at once swore out an information alleging that Mr. Benner had fraudulently and without color of right, taken one horse,
one buggy, one set of harness, one valise containing a quantity of clothing, and other articles, and a number of pictures and picture frames, with intention to defraud the said McRae, who had a special interest therein, being a lien on them for $6.97. Under the new criminal code, Benner's offense in taking his property, which was considered as security for his 30 days' board, is almost as serious as if he had stolen
them from another.

At noon yesterday the case was placed in the hands of County Detective Robert Ward, and by 1 o'clock
Ward had located Benner in Thames-ford, and arrested him there. The prisoner was brought to London, and taken before Squire Lacey, who remanded him to jail until Friday next, Nov.
9th.

SPENCER---READ

Mr. Jas. R. Spencer and Miss Kate M.
Read United in Marriage.

Quiet and decidedly pretty was the marriage solemnized at the residence of Mr. John Callander, York street, yesterday afternoon, when his sister-in-law, Miss Kate M. Read, was claimed as bride by Mr. James B.
Spencer. During the time of his
