HAMILTON CONFERENCE.

Hamilton, Ont., June 4.—At the Hamilton Methodist Conference yesterday resolutions were passed changing the date of conference meetings next year to the first Thursday in June, and that all pastors be responsible for their charges to the end of June of the year of moving. A motion was passed that the conference sympathized deeply with the Montreal church and would indorse any general scheme for securing assistance toward further reducing its debt. In response to the appeal of Joseph Gibson, of Ingersoll, $1,500 was subscribed on the spot by the delegates in aid of the Woodstock church.

OVER 70 DEAD!

As a Result of the Tehuantepec Fires---Many Plantations and Homes Destroyed.

Oaxaca, Mex., June 4.—Further details of the great fire which raged on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec for several days have been received here. Over 70 people were unable to escape the rapid progress of the flames and were burned to death. The fire started on a coffee plantation, and owing to the dryness of the vegetation it was soon beyond control and wrought great destruction to growing crops. Many thousands of acres of coffee trees, bananas, orange trees, and other tropical products were destroyed. A number of plantation buildings were destroyed. Those who met death in the flames were all families of plantation laborers, who, being unable to escape the fire, perished in their huts. The fire burned for ten days and was finally quenched by a heavy tropical rain.

THE BATTLE OF VLAKFONTEIN!

British Had 1,450 Men With Seven Guns Engaged in the Fight.

Enemy Advanced Under Cover of a Velt Fire---Lord Kitchener Says the Public Is Getting All the News Received at the War Office.

London, June 4.—Lord Kitchener in a dispatch from Pretoria, dated June 4 says: "Dixon's report of the fighting at Vlakfontein, May 29, just received. On our side 1,450 men with seven guns were engaged. The force was returning to camp at Vlakfontein when the enemy, under cover of a veldt fire, rushed the rear guard consisting of two guns of the 28th Battery and 330 men of the Derbyshires and Yeomanry. They temporarily captured the two guns. When the remainder of the force came into action the Boers were driven off and the guns were recaptured."

London, June 4—6 a.m.—The war office authorities have lost no time in saddling Lord Kitchener with the responsibility for not satisfying the public demand for more detailed news from South Africa. The suspicion, notwithstanding, still exists that the home officials are holding back some information. The war office is being inundated with numerous inquiries because of the currency that has been given to the rumor of a serious British defeat. It would not injure the British army if the details of the Vlakfontein fight, which by this time have reached Lord Kitchener, were telegraphed home at once, and it would help to relieve the uneasiness felt by a million or more of English men and women who have relatives at the front.

The war office made the following announcement last night: "All the information received from Lord Kitchener respecting recent engagements in South Africa has been communicated to the public."

Willowmore, Cape Colony, June 2.—Commandant Scheeper, with 700 men, attacked Willowmore yesterday (Saturday), but was beaten off after nine hours' fighting.

Willowmore is a village of some size in the district of the same name, and is the center of a rich pastoral region. It lies considerably south of the Graaff Reinet, in the vicinity of which Scheeper recently operated, and consequently much nearer the sea-coast than that town.

JAMESTOWN THREATENED.

Cape Town, June 3.—Jamestown is threatened by Fouches' commando.

Jamestown is a small village in the Aliwal North district of Cape Colony, 24 miles from Dordrecht, around which town much fighting took place in the early part of the war.

BOERS SUFFERING FROM FEVER.

Pretoria, June 4.—A number of Boers who were captured by Intelligence Office men near Pietersburg, Transvaal, were found to have a thousand rounds of ammunition each. They state that the Boers in the northern part of the Transvaal are suffering considerably from fever. They have no doctors, and many are dying.

Boer marauders continue to make trouble for the British. They generally avoid a battle, but wait for favorable opportunities to attack small parties by ambush, and inasmuch as they are badly off for clothing and boots, they use all their skill to kill, in order to strip the dead.

Commandant Ben Viljoen, with a considerable number of men, is dodging about to escape the British troops between the railway at Caroline and Ermelo. He avoids fighting, but some of his men are surrendering.

TWO MORE OFFICERS KILLED.

London, June 3.—Lord Kitchener reports additional causalties in the engagement between Gen. Dixon and Gen. Delarey at Viakfontein. Two missing.

FOUGHT ALL DAY.

Cape Town, June 2.—After a desperate allday fight, a hundred men belonging to the Molteno District Guard forced 250 Boers to retire near Bushman's hoek, Cape Colony.

Boers in large numbers were moving about in the vicinity of Strekstroom, Stromberg, Molteno and Dordrecht.

BOERS WELL FED.

Brussels, June 4.—Dr. Pameyer, who quite recently left Botha's army, declared emphatically that the Boers were well fed and confident. Ammunition and slaughter cattle were abundant, and the mealie harvest had been bountiful, while the British were powerless to destroy it.

It was difficult to estimate the strength of the scattered commandoes, but the Transvaalers alone numbered 8,000, besides the Free State forces, while the number of rebels in the field was steadily growing.

KRUGER'S BOAST.

The only Boer trouble was scarcity of clothing, but they were improvising ox-hide to repair their defects.

Mr. Kruger, speaking to a deputation of German sympathizers with the Boers, declared that the burgher forces could keep up the struggle for several years. The Transvaal Government, he added, had at its disposal a prodigious quantity of ammunition and provisions stored in the country north of the Zoutpansberg, and inaccessible to the British army.

KRUGER CONSULTED.

The Hague, June 4.—The story that Gen. Botha is in communication with Mr. Kruger, through the medium of the Dutch consul at Cape Town is firmly believed here. At the same time but little credence is given to the report that the Boer commander-in-chief is appealing to the aged president to consent to urge on the Boers in South Africa the necessity for concluding peace. So little indeed do the Dutch believe that the Boers are ready to surrender that there is a report current that Boer agents are in Holland buying horses, which must be ready for shipment before July, though it is not stated where or how the animals are to be landed in South Africa.

CLEVER WORK BY BRITISH.

Standerton, June 4.—The capture of Commandant Swartz, near Robertson's farm, was one of the smartest incidents of the campaign in the Eastern Transvaal.

Colonel Stewart sent a squadron of Johannesburg Mounted Rifles, under Lieutenant Baker, to occupy an adjoining hill. As his force approached the top of the hill Lieutenant Baker saw parties of Boers riding up the other side for the purpose of sniping the British camp. The British officer made a hasty but clever disposition of his men, with the result that three parties of Boers were completely surprised and captured in succession. Each party of the enemy was totally unaware of the presence of the British, and when summoned surrendered without a shot being fired.

Commandant Swartz and his nephew were among the prisoners. Swartz confessed that although he had been fighting for nineteen months continuously, he had never been trapped before.

The other prisoners were very dejected. They declare that Swartz will be a great loss to the commandos, as he was the best and ablest general left in the field.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 4.—The body of Mabel, the 14-year-old daughter of Wm. Vaughan, of this town, who mysteriously disappeared about five weeks ago, was found yesterday floating in the water of the international dock. The dock is about one block west and in the rear of the Vaughan residence. There is some suspicion of foul play.

ACTRESS MURDERED BY AN ACTOR.

Chicago, June 4.—Edward Forshay, of Kansas City, an actor, and assistant manager of theatrical companies, last night shot and killed Miss Edna Stokes, an actress, whose home is at Sadalia, Mo., with whom he was deeply in love. The couple had a desperate quarrel a few days ago, and Forshay is said to have beaten the actress badly, cutting her head in two places. Miss Stokes gave orders to the proprietor of the Vernon Hotel, at which she was stopping, that Forshay should not be admitted. However, he succeeded in effecting a meeting in the hotel parlors. When he entered the room Forshay fired twice, killing Miss Stokes instantly. Forshay said he intended to kill himself with Miss Stokes, but his nerve failed at the last

GOOD SHOWING

Made in the Bank of Montreal Directors Yearly Statement—A Note of Warning.

Montreal, June 4.—At the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal yesterday the statement of the directors presented to the shareholders gave the following statistics for the year: Circulation increase, $321,000; deposits not bearing interest, increase, $1,963,000; deposits bearing interest, increase, $5,422,000; current loans and discounts, decrease, $360,000. It is pointed out that it is impossible to compare the above figures with last year's, on account of the changes necessitated by the amended bank act, as the figures include foreign as well as Canadian business. The profits are a little in excess of last year, and the statement, the directors point out, is one of the strongest they have had the pleasure of laying before the shareholders.

The statement refers to the needlessness of a Canadian mint, and goes on to refer to the business situation, which it says was generally good during the past year, notwithstanding the short crop in the Northwest and unsatisfactory state of affairs in the mining districts. After referring to the condition of the woolen business, the statement says: "The outlook for the lumber trade is not of the best. There are also signs of over-production in textile goods and manufacture of pulp, which only need judicious restraint to be put on a good basis. We must not forget the return of the wave," says the statement, "and get so far beyond our depth as to lose our footing."

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS

Aged Couple Fatally Hurt by a Train at Berlin—Young Man Falls Down a Hoistway.

Toronto, June 4.—Campbell McKeernan, a young man living at 17 Clarence Square, with his parents, was fatally injured yesterday while trying to enter a moving hoist at Park Blackwell's packing house. He missed the hoist, and fell head foremost to the basement, fracturing his skull. McKeernan died at Emergency Hospital in the evening.

Berlin, Ont., June 4.—A fatal accident happened near here yesterday on the Berlin branch of the Grand Trunk. It appears Moses L. Snider and wife, of Wilmot township, were leaving for their home, and when they reached Albert street crossing a train came along and whistled, but evidently it was not heard by the unfortunate couple, who are upwards of 70 years old. The train struck the rig in which the couple rode, and both occupants were terribly injured. Mr. Snyder has since died, and Mrs. Snyder, who had her ribs and arms broken, is likely to die.

STRATFORD MAN SERIOUSLY HURT.

Stratford, Ont., June 4.—A terrible accident happened here yesterday by which Mr. Eli Lamb now lies in the City Hospital in a critical condition. Mr. Lamb was at work in his pump works, on Ontario street, when some part of his clothes caught in the machinery and he was wound round the shaft, which was moving at a high rate of speed. A number of ribs were broken and he was injured internally, just how badly has not yet been ascertained.

REVOLUTION FEARED!

Russian Police Fail to Check the Socialist Agitators.

St. Petersburg, June 4.—Socialist agitators are now reaping a great harvest among the laboring class, whom they desire to excite to revolution. Arrests are very numerous daily in the district and neighborhood of St. Petersburg. Factories representing 64,000 laborers are daily invaded by socialist leaders, who fearlessly defy the special police set to watch their movements.

The higher classes in society are anxious over these manifestations. The editor of one of the best-known semi-political papers has just been arrested along with the entire staff for uttering seditious opinions. Several professors, —among them Baranovski and Ugan, two well-known political lecturers — have been arrested and sent to Siberia. Others have been exiled to the Volga districts.

The government tries to conceal the situation, but fails. There is terror in the air. Nobody is safe when the official ire is aroused. In St. Petersburg troops are ready to crush any further rioting at a moment's notice. This they are determined to effect even if they have to make blood flow like water.

MAY RETIRE TO A NUNNERY.

London, June 4.—A rumor is current here to the effect that the Dowager Empress of Newcastle, mother of the present duke and of Lord Francis Hope, is about to become a nun. She has long been a Roman Catholic, and since the death of her second husband, Tom Hohler, the professional singer, has devoted herself almost entirely to Roman Catholic mission work in the east end slums of the metropolis, under the direction of Cardinal Vaughan.

PRISONER RESCUED BY A MOB.

Sydney, C. B., June 4.—A man named Harvey was arrested at Reserve Mines on Saturday for being drunk, and he was lodged in jail. Shortly afterwards a mob of 50 men entered the lock-up for the purpose of rescuing Harvey. Windows were smashed, the iron bars were broken, and Harvey was carried off triumphantly. Edward Poir, one of the rescuers, was arrested and this morning he was fined $25. Other arrests will follow.

CURE FOR DIABETES

French Doctors Are Using Brewer's Yeast With Remarkable Success.

Paris, June 4.—There is probably no country in the world where more people die of diabetes than France. It is, therefore, not surprising that the doctors are racking their brains to find a remedy. The latest discovery of medical science seems to have touched the spot. A Bordeaux doctor, M. Beylot, has been giving his patients brewer's yeast with remarkable success. Two others have done even better. In one case the saccharine matter was reduced from 25 grams to 10 grams, and in another from 100 grams to nothing, accompanied with the cure of a gangrened foot. It appears that the yeast destroys the saccharine matter as it forms. Yeast is liable to cause eruptions, but this can be obviated by giving it in dry form.

COMMISSIONERS TO OWN THE NEW STAND

Platform at Springbank Will Become Their Property in Five Years.

At the regular meeting of the water commissioners yesterday afternoon, which was atttended by Chief Engineer Moore, Commissioner Little and Secretary Ellwood, the time to pay water rates was extended from the 15th to the 20th of the month. A main will be laid on St. Patrick street, and on Oxford street west, from the Wharncliffe highway, 500 feet, at an estimated cost of $250. The street railway was granted permission to double-track their lines east of the pumping house. the commissioners passed the agreement, which gives the street railway company the right to operate the amusement stand at Springbank Park. The agreement gives the stage and grand stand to the commission at the end of five years.

Merely Mentioned.

The late Jas. Brown, of Woodstock, left an estate valued at $47,000.

The city council of Montreal has decided to give $10,000 for the entertainment of the Duke of York and party during their visit there in September.

On Saturday evening James Wallace, of Woodbridge, Ont., third son of N. Clarke Wallace, M.P., broke his leg between the knee and the ankle while engaged in a game of football.

The Winnipeg smallpox quarantine building will probably be closed at the end of this week, when it is expected the last patient will be discharged. No deaths have occurred from the disease.

The Ottawa board of trade has decided to send out circulars to all the boards of trade of the Dominion asking their support for state ownership of cables and telegraphs, as advocated by Sandford Fleming.

Alphonse Bourgeault, advocate, of St. Hyacinthe, Que, has been appointed private secretary to the minister of inland revenue. F. Bouchette, the retiring private secretary, has been appointed to a permanent clerkship.

Chas. Westwood's house at MacDonald, twelve miles northwest of Portage la Prairie, Man., was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday evening. The blaze was caused by the 14-year-old son of Mr. Westwood playing with gunpowder.

LATE LOCAL ITEMS

—Miss Susie McGill and Master Eugene Lockhart leave this afternoon, for a five days' engagement at the Kermiss in Chatham, in aid of the St. Joseph Hospital.

LOST A FINGER.

Harry Snowden, of Thornton avenue, while cutting at Smith's Fly-Paper Works this morning, caught the first finger of his right hand in the machine, the knife cutting it off. Dr. Pingel dressed the injured member.

SHOULDER DISLOCATED.

R. H. Dignan, registrar, accidentally dislocated his right shoulder last evening playing with one of his children. A doctor attended to his injuries, but the genial registrar is busy today explaining why he is carying his arm in a sling.

R. A. COOPER ACCUSED WINNETT

Of Furnishing Lumber to Sidewalk Contractors.

A Direct Charge Made at Last Night's Council Meeting.

A Committee Appointed to Fully Investigate the Alderman's Accusation.

The Royal Tour—Mr. F. H. Heath Elected High School Trustee—The Curb Problem and Other Matters Touched Upon.

It seems that when the aldermen have no important business before them, they intend to inject spice into the council meetings themselves. Last night everything was progressing serenely—of course, there had been healthy though unprotracted discussion over some matters, but nothing unusual—and except for those who had been allowed into the secret, the members of the council thought that this would be a session of dry-as-dust details; but when it was nearly over, Ald. Winnett, chairman of the board of works, rose to a question of privilege, and spoke words that destroyed the placid calm that had so far prevailed, and immediately riveted everybody's attention.

It seems that at the last meeting of the council, Ald. Cooper made some remark containing the insinuation that some members of No. 2 committee had and were making use of their positions for their personal benefit. As he did not specialize, all the members of the board were placed in an unpleasant position. Therefore, when it was in order, Ald. Winnett referred to Ald. Cooper's statement. Ald. Cooper had made a serious charge against the members of No. 2 committee. He wanted to know if Ald. Cooper was sincere, and, if so, was he prepared to back up the charge. If he was, the members of the committee were ready to move for an investigation. Ald. Winnett did not want to lie under any suspicion, while he was in the council. "Let Ald. Cooper," he said, "put the charge in writing."

"Why don't you move for a committee to investigate?" asked Ald. Cooper.

Ald. Winnett — Make your charge first.

Ald. Cooper—They say that when a person makes an assertion and another takes it to heart, the cap generally fits him.

Such a statement before the charge was made, said Ald. Winnett, was unfair. He was speaking for No. 2 committee, and was supported by them.

"Well, if the cap fits you, sir, take it," shouted Ald. Cooper. "I am going to state the matter fully right here and now. I want to ask you one question."

Ald. Winnett—I will not take questions. I want statements.

"It is not a matter of questions," interposed the mayor, "but of statements. If Ald. Cooper has a charge, he should state it, or withdraw his previous remarks."

Ald. Cooper said that he had nothing to withdraw.

"State your charge in writing, then," said Ald. Greenlees.

Again Ald. Cooper tried to explain, but Ald. Winnett was obdurate. He insisted upon the charge coming first.

"Well, what in the dickens do you want?" angrily asked Ald. Cooper. "I made the assertion that it paid some members of No. 2 committee to have as many stone walks as posssible put down. Now, if it fits you (to Ald. Winnett), you can take it. I was told on good authority—and I would believe my informant just as readily as I would believe Ald. Winnett—that Ald. Winnett did last year, and is this year, supplying the Silica-Barytic Company with the lumber required in the laying of their cement walks. If it is not true, Ald. Winnett has simply to move the appointment of a committee to investigate. That is what I said and that is what I mean."

Ald. Winnett wanted the charge put in writing, and the city clerk put it down. Then Ald. Winnett moved that the matter be referred to No. 1 committee to investigate.

The mayor said that it was very unfortunate and indiscreet of any alderman to make a charge against another unless he was satisfied that he could substantiate it. No alderman liked to have his reputation called in question. Ald. Cooper should be sure of his ground.

Ald. Cooper—Well, all I know is, that the parties who told me said they could go into a court of law and swear that what they said was true.

In reply to Ald. Olmsted, Mayor Rumball said that the law was very strict about any member of the council benefiting directly or indirectly by public contracts.

So, for a time, the matter closed.

REFERENCES TO COMMITTEES.

To No. 1 committee: Evelyn Johnston, for grant to the Teachers' Association; A. Mountjoy, concerning lease of store in city hall occupied by him; C. J. Mills, for remission of taxes on the London Furniture Company's factory.

To No. 2 committee: Meredith, Judd & Elliot, notice of action in Sigsworth vs. London; A. O. Jeffery, re standing of wagons on streets near crossings; George Braund, et al., against construction of sewer in Maitland street from Princess avenue to Central avenue; J. Labatt, et al., for cement walk on Cheapside between Wellington and Waterloo; A. J. Morgan, re lowering culvert on Wellington street north; H. Edwards, et al., for use of diamond at Queen's Park; Nelson Smith, et al., against laying cement walk on east Maitland from Princess avenue to Central avenue; T. J. Murphy, et al., for plank curbing on Hyman street, from Richmond to Wellington.

To No. 3 committee—S. Bloomgarden, for relief re loss by quarantine on account of smallpox.

To manufacturers and reception committee: Willis Todd, of Omaha, re the manufacture of beet syrup, by a process that he claimed allowed of greater profits than beet sugar. A plant would cost about $30,000.

RETURNED THANKS.

Miss Teresa F. Wilson, corresponding secretary of the National Council of Women, wrote to the council, expressing their sincere and hearty thanks for the gracious and courteous hospitality which had been extended to them during their stay here. She was especially desired to say how greatly they appreciated the reception given them in the city hall, and the "delightful drive which enabled us to see so much of the city, its institutions and neighborhood." She thanked the council also for the "Illustrated Londons" that had been presented to the members of the executive committee.

Trooper James Wilkey, of the Strathcona Horse, communicated his thanks to the council for the watch presented him as a mark of the city's appreciation of services rendered in South Africa.

Mrs. Boomer also thanked the council, on behalf of the Local Council of Women, for the copies of "Illustrated London," and requested that more copies be secured from the printers, so that they might purchase some for other councils.

THE ROYAL TOUR.

Before proceeding with the routine business, the mayor called the council's attention to the fact that the Duke and Duchess of York would be in Canada in the fall, and if they were to be invited to come to London, the invitation should be sent at once.

On motion of Ald. Winnett, the matter was sent to the finance committee to report back.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The committee reports contained very little new or important matter. No. 3 contained only two clauses, which carried. One related to advertisements for tenders for the city's coal supply.

A communication was received from Mrs. H. Dunn, re grading Ridout street south, and asked to be reimbursed part of the cost of grading her property. There appeared to be some misunderstanding about the details of the cost, and the clause was sent back for further consideration.

The council changed also the clause recommending that the engineer be instructed to report from time to time the plank walks throughout the city, "that are in a dangerous condition," and that No. 2 committee take action thereon in the best interests of the city.

The word "dangerous" was illy used, thought Ald. Cronyn, and would be a nasty expression to have in the minutes, should a suit ever be entered against the city because of defective walks; so the dangerous word was struck out, and in its place the words, "that need renewal" were substituted.

CEMENT CURBING.

The recommendation that cement curbs be constructed, the city to pay the whole cost of curbing at the street intersections, caused considerable discussion.

Ald. Cooper objected to the city paying anything towards stone curbing on the score that it was an injustice to the ratepayers who had paid the whole cost of such curbing, and also to the poor people who were not able to pay for the work. Ald. Cooper continued at length, in the same strain, and when he stopped speaking Ald. Olmsted arose and drily remarked:

"I am surprised to hear Ald. Cooper talking in such a way. There's no person in the body of the hall. He cannot make any votes talking that way tonight."

Ald. Cooper protested hotly, that such was not his desire, and he wouldn't let such remarks pass.

The scheme was supported by Ald. Olmsted, and Ald. Campbell and Ald. Winnett favored the cement curbs, because of their comparative cheapness, durability and beauty.

Both Ald. Parnell and Ald. Cronyn brought to memory the present high debenture debt, a debt that the cement walks is increasing, and which the cement curbs would also raise. Ald. Parnell drew attention to the fact that when cedar curbing is laid, it is paid for absolutely, while the stone curb would increase the debenture debt.

The clause, and also a petition for the curbing on Maple street, were finally sent back to the committee for reconsideration.

The recommendation to award contracts for painting the fair buildings to W. R. Bird and George Howe, for $889, was also sent back. The figure mentioned included only the cost of one coat of paint.

On the petition of Messrs. Moore & Henry, No. 1 committee recommended the purchase of seven copies of the proposed map of London, but the council ordered the recommendation back. All the other clauses were adopted.

INQUIRIES.

Ald. Campbell—I would like to ask the chairman of No. 3 committee if anything has been done about putting in a cement floor at the market house.

Ald. Stevely said that it was spoken of at the last meeting, and was laid over.

"It's all right," replied Ald. Campbell, who is chairman of the board of health, "only there may be trouble if the people are forbidden to sell their goods there. They may refuse to pay their rents."

To Ald. Gerry's inquiry as to whether the board of works had done anything about the pavement in front of Mr. Tambling's place, Ald. Winnett replied that they had had no time to inspect it.

Mr. Fred H. Heath was appointed a member of the board of Collegiate Institute trustees in place of Mr. W. H. Morgan, whose resignation has been accepted by the school board. Mr. J. H. McMechan's was the only other name voted upon.

Prompt Action of the Civil Guard Quells the Disturbance at Corunna.

Ian Maclaren Says the Presbyterian Confession Would Be Better If Shorter and With More Love.

London, June 4.—A dispatch to the Standard from Corunna says there has been a general strike there since Friday. The trouble was instigated by employes of the octrol. The Civil Guards fired on the mob in the streets, killing eighteen and wounding many.

Martial law has been proclaimed, and cavalrymen are patrolling the streets of the city. The shops are closed, and business and traffic are at a standstill. The local papers have been suspended. Several of the leaders of the workmen's unions have been imprisoned. The balconies of a number of workmen's houses are draped with crape inscribed "To the Martyrs of Yesterday."

The captain-general has offered to release the leaders if they will cooperate with the authorities to restore order. It is stated that the government has dismissed the prefect, being dissatisfied with his action.

SHAKEN UP AT MONTE CARLO.

Nice, June 4.—At a meeting of the Administration of the Casino at Monte Carlo on May 30, it was decided, after a searching examination to dismiss eight croupiers and to inflict minor punishments on many others. The trouble arose through the giving of tips by visitors at the Casino. The acceptance of these is forbidden by the rules, and the examination showed that the croupiers who were dismissed had decided disputes regarding places and stakes in favor of those who had given them tips.

IAN MACLAREN ON CREED.

London, June 2.—Ian Maclaren (the Rev. Dr. John Watson), who last year was moderator of the English Presbyterian Synod, was asked for his opinion of the American decision to revise the confession. He writes:

"Many on this side of the Atlantic are glad to know that their Presbyterian brethren in the United States propose to revise the confession. It is an intellectual wonder, and would be improved by a reduction in size and an infusion of love."

FIERCE STORMS IN GERMANY.

Berlin, June 4.—From many districts come reports of great damage caused during the last few days by hail, lightning and cloudbursts. The district of Wurtemberg, Hesse, Waldeck and Thuringia have been specially affected.

The tariff conference which begins today in Berlin will endeavor to reach a general understanding between the various governments of the empire as to the basis upon which the new commercial treaties must rest. Special attention will be given to the question how far Germany may increase agricultural duties without placing in jeopardy the projected long-term treaties with leading countries, including the United States.

THE EUROPEAN CROP OUTLOOK.

London, June 4.—The Mark Lane Express says in its weekly review of the crop situation: "It is already clear that British crops will be very irregular, but we do not despair that wheat will be up to the average yield. Grub and other pests are much in evidence. The crops promise well in Russia, Italy, Spain and Alegria, but there is only a mediocre outlook for France. Austro-Hungary, Roumania and Turkey. There is distinctly less than the average promise for Germany and parts of Hungary. The regions where there is over an average wheat promise may be expected to produce 150,000,000 quarters; the regions with an average promise 75,000,000 quarters, and the regions with a defficiency 25,000,000 quarters. Undoubtedly these figures are quite sufficient to account for the very quiet markets."

TWO PERILS.

Paris, June 4.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, M. des Tournelles de Constant asked the foreign minister, M. Delcasse, for a statement on the Chinese situation. The deputy alluded to American business competition, and said the "American peril" was advancing towards them with methodical rapidity. The Napoleons of American industry declared openly that their enterprise meant the conquest of Europe and the latter's economic ruin. The "yellow peril" was more distant than the American peril, but the Chinese had given a warning which ought not to be neglected. M. Delcasse replied in a reassuring manner regarding China. He said the French troops would leave at the earliest possible moment.

THE MATTER OF LOCOMOTIVES.

London, June 4.—Sir Alfred Hickman, former president of the British Iron Trade Association, has replied to the response of Lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India, to his recent attack in the House of Commons on American-built locomotives and bridges. He quotes from the report of the Burmah Railway Company for the first half of 1900 to show that American locomotives used in line burned 35.5 per cent more fuel per train for each mile and 23.5 more per vehicle for each mile than British-built locomotives. He says: "The American engineer has a protected market, which enables him to make enormous profits at home, and even to sell at a loss abroad, still getting a satisfactory return on his capital." Discussing the Gohtieh viaduct in Burmah, Sir Alfred says Lord George Hamilton refuses to give Mr. Constable an opportunity of proving his statements about the bad American work on the assurance of gentlemen who have proved their partiality to the American Bridge Building Company by showing them in advance private estimates for the projected bridge over the Irrawaddy, and who, by every shift and contrivance, have endeavored to stave off the publication of the reports of their own engineers. Sir Alfred's long arraignment concludes with a request for the appointment of the committee to investigate the subject.

NO ARGUMENT NEEDED.

Every Sufferer From Catarrh Knows That Salves, Lotions, Washes, Sprays and Douches do Not Cure.

Powders, lotions, salves, sprays and inhalers cannot really cure Catarrh, because this disease is a blood disease, and local applications, if they accomplish anything at all, simply give transient relief.

The catarrhal poison is in the blood and the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and trachea tries to relieve the system by secreting large quantities of mucous, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils, dropping into the throat, causing deafness by closing the Eustachian tubes, and after a time causing catarrh of stomach or serious throat and lung troubles.

A remedy to really cure catarrh must be an internal remedy which will cleanse the blood from catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membrane.

The best and most modern remedies for this purpose are antiseptics scientifically known as Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, and while each of these have been successfully used seperately, yet it has been difficult to get them all combined in one palatable, convenient and efficient form.

The manufacturers of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have succeeded admirably in accomplishing this result. They are large, pleasant tasting lozenges, to be dissolved in the mouth, thus reaching every part of the mucous membrane of the throat and finally the stomach.

Unlike many catarrh remedies, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, opiate or any injurious drug, whatever, and are equally beneficial for little children and adults.

Mr. C. R. Rembrandt of Rochester, N. Y., says: "I know of few people who have suffered as much as I from Catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I used sprays, inhalers and powders for months at a time with only slight relief and had no hope of cure. I had not the means to make a change of climate, which seemed my only chance of cure.

Last spring I read an account of some remarkable cures made by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and promptly bought a 50-cent box from my druggist and obtained such positive benefit from that one package that I continued to use them daily until I now consider myself entirely free from the disgusting annoyance of catarrh; my head is clear, my digestion all I could ask and my hearing which had begun to fail as a result of the catarrh, has greatly improved until I feel I can hear as well as ever. They are a household necessity in my family.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents for complete treatment and for convenience, safety and prompt results they are undoubtedly the long looked for catarrh cure.

Lactated Food

A PERFECT SUBSTITUTE FOR MOTHERS' MILK.

Lactated Food has met with the greatest favor at the hands of the medical profession. It is the most perfect infant nourishment that mothers can procure for babies who cannot get sufficient breast-feeding. It agrees with the weakest stomach; all babies relish it and thrive wonderfully on it.

Lactated Food possesses all the important constituents of pure breast-milk, making it the most valuable diet for infants in the hot weather. Lactated Food being sweetened with sugar of milk, renders it invaluable for overcoming any irritable condition of the stomach and bowels. It wards off diarrhea, dysentery and cholera infantum. Tens of thousands of mothers use it and find it the best.

If you would have your baby sleep quietly and naturally and grow up bright and happy, use Lactated Food. Ask your druggist or dealer for it.

Green Sickness or Chlorosis.

Just at the threshold of womanhood, that trying period when the whole system is undergoing a complete change, many a girl falls a victim of Chlorosis or Green Sickness. Her disposition changes and she becomes morose, despondent and melancholy. The appetite is changeable, digestion imperfect, and weariness and fatigue are experienced on the slightest exertion. Blondes become pallid, waxy and puffy; brunettes become muddy and grayish in color, with bluish black rings under the eyes.

Examination shows a remarkable decrease in the quality of the blood. Iron and such other restoratives as are admirably combined in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are demanded by the system. The regular and persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cannot fail to benefit any girl or young woman suffering from chlorosis, feminine irregularities or weaknesses resulting from poor blood and exhausted nerves. It reconstructs wasted tissue, gives color to the cheeks and new vitality to every organ of the body.

THE JEW'S INFLUENCE

Without Parallel in History—His Place in Prophecy.

Two unique and extremely interesting lectures were given in the Christian Workers' Church, where the meetings to promote Jewish evangelization are being held. Rev. Mark Lev's Bible reading on "Bible Names and What They Teach," was a study of the typical significance of some of the familiar names in the Old Testament. He explained many points that are often obscure to the reader of the English Bible, and his exposition would have been helpful to Christians generally. "The Jew in Prophecy and History" was Rev. H. Denning's subject for the evening lecture, which he illustrated by a large chart. He showed that the influence of the Jew is without a parallel in history; that his influence both personally and nationally had been out of all proportion to Israel's numbers; that this remnant of a nation has shaped the course of human thought, and that monotheism has been always taught through the Jewish race and through it alone. The influence of the Jew modified the Greek philosophy, so that the scattered nation before Christ was no small factor in molding the speculations of both Greek and Roman. He also showed the large place which the Jew has in prophecy, both fulfilled and unfulfilled, and that the Jew must again become the possessor of all that the prophets have spoken concerning him.

STRATHROY.

[Advertiser Agent, J. D. Meekison.]

Strathroy, June 4.—What promises to be a very pretty spot and a popular one among the residents of Strathroy is what is familiarly known as the flats, where, under the direction of some public-spirited business men, a great transformation is being effected. It is proposed to fit up the old grounds as a modern park, where a pleasant afternoon can be spent by those having leisure, a purpose for which it is admirably adapted, shade being abundant beneath the spreading branches of stately trees growing in their native state on several portions of the park. A picturesque bridge now spans Bear Creek, which winds through a portion of the grounds, and a band stand has been erected, which will also serve admirably as a platform for public speakers on occasions when demonstrations are held, which is quite often. The natural beauty of the place will be enhanced by the erection of fountains in various places, and already the windmill is in place to raise water into a huge tank, from which the supply will be drawn. Lovers of baseball will have a splendid diamond provided, where the game can be enjoyed, for that portion of the ground has been sodded and leveled in a most perfect manner. The lawn bowlers and tennis players also have a spot on which a great deal of time has been spent, until now the ground is almost perfect, and genuine sport is in store for lovers of the game. It is the intention to have erected a grand stand, and in every way cater to the wants of a live community in providing every comfort for the viewing of outdoor sports of various kinds, in which the youth of Strathroy and surroundings country delight. Of course, when everything is in shape the place at night will be well lighted by electricity. Though the outlay will be large, those who have charge of the improvement can rest assured of the entire support of every taxpayer in providing a recreation ground of such beauty for the people. Strathroy is going ahead.

The marriage of Ida E., eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thomson, to Mr. Scobie Thompson, of this town, was solemnized on Wednesday morning last at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. W. J. Knox performing the ceremony. The bride was charmingly attired in white organdie, with satin trimmings, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on the 9:35 train for Buffalo and other points east.

The board of management of the Front Street Methodist Sunday school met on Thursday evening, May 23, and elected the following officers and teachers for the ensuing year: Superintendent, F. L. Sleightholm, assistant superintendent, Mr. Branton; secretary, Miss M. Hanley; treasurer, F. Harrison; librarian, Charles James; chorister, R. W. Nicholson; pianist, Miss German.

Miss Stewart, of London, was the guest of Miss Kearns last week

GRANTON.

Granton, June 4.—Granton is again called upon to mourn the death of one of her oldest and most respected citizens in the person of the late Mr. Hugh Cameron, who died at his late residence on Main street, on Thursday, May 30, at the age of 72 years. Mr. Cameron came here from the city of London 37 years ago, and was among the first to commence business in Granton. Since then he has been a continuous resident and closely identified with the interests of this village. He was noted for his uprightness and integrity. In politics he has always been a strong supporter of the Reform Government, and in religion a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. One son, Samuel, of Regina, N. W. T., and six daughters, Mrs. H. Ivor and Mrs. R. Henderson, of Toronto; Mrs. F. Clare, of Preston; Mrs. Wm. Wood, of Bryanston; Miss Jessie, of Clandeboye; and Miss Nellie, at home, and his aged widow are left to mourn the departure of one who was the soul of friendship, the kindest of parents and most loving of husbands. The funeral took place to the Granton Presbyterian cemetery, on Saturday, at 2 o'clock p.m.

POND MILLS.

Pond Mills, June 4.—Undoubtedly the best school concert on record was given in Pond Mills school on Thursday evening by the pupils and teacher, Mr. Bert Murray. The night was all that could be desired, and the many people who turned out and the order of the meeting showed the esteem with which Mr. Murray is held in this section. We have every reason to congratulate Mr. Murray on the part taken by his pupils, who showed the ability of their young but enthusiastic teacher. No sight could be more beautiful than to watch the band of juvenile patriots as they sang their patriotic songs and waved the emblems of Canada the free. The assistants at the concert were Chas. Percy, A.L.C.A., London, who was in his usual good form. Will Johnston kept the house in laughter. Penny Brothers are a band in themselves. Ella Hayes showed her control over her violin in some difficult selections. Mr. Freeland sang his comic songs in good voice. Miss Howe plays her violin with unusual sweetness and effect. Miss Flood is the possessor of a clear, rich voice and sings with great effect and expression. Miss Alma James, of St. Thomas, is a perfect little elocutionist. She won her audience with "Sandy's Romance" and "Lasca." After the concert Mr. Murray entertained his talent until the early dawn.

Tired Back Working hard all day is too much for some people. It makes their back tired. It is too bad people have to work so hard, but that is the way of the world. It is a consolation to know that the pains that come in the day will go away in the night, if the back is thoroughly rubbed with GRIFFITHS' MENTHOL LINIMENT. For sale by Anderson & Nelles.

BUFFALO BILL ON BEAUTY.

How Women Can Get and Keep a Rose-Leaf Skin.

He Has One Himself—Live in the Open Air and Eat Little—Thinks Women Should Ride Astride.

When Col. William F. Cody, whose real name in Buffalo Bill, rides gallantly across the arena, even the small boys peeking through the windows can see that he is a fine figure of a man. But not they, nor yet the little and the big aristocrats in the front boxes, can properly appreciate the colonel's finer points.

These minor beauties consist of a small and elegantly arched foot, a certain caressing way in which the colonel's hair curls about his buckskin collar, and finally a skin as soft as a baby's. Now the size of the colonel's shoes is a matter between himself and his shoemakers, and the tender wave in the colonel's hair, there is every reason to believe, is something he has neither begged nor borrowed, nor paid for at the barber's. It is a touch of nature that couldn't be rubbed out even if the colonel wanted to have it done. Not that he does.

But the baby skin of the old Indian fighter is different. For it is a curious fact that whereas all the people in the Wild West show were once equipped with baby complexions, the colonel is the only man of them that still retains one of that sort. A fashionable woman would pawn her diamonds to have a skin like his.

And yet the colonel is not set up by this pre-eminence. In fact he seemed rather upset rather than set up when a feminine admirer asked him for his recipe for the care of the complexion. A soft blush mantled the colonel's cheek and he took a deep breath which made his powerful figure show up to better advantage than ever. Then with the modesty of the true hero and the true beauty alike he evidently suspected that he was being guyed.

"I haven't shaved today," he said apologetically, passing his hand over his cheek, where the blush above-mentioned had made itself delicately at home.

"Don't you do anything to keep yourself in good physical condition? Don't you have to fight fat? Do you never find yourself getting stooped? Above all, how do you manage that rose-leaf skin?"

"Why," said the colonel, "why—really—I've never been interviewed on anything of this sort. If," hopefully, "if you'd like to hear about the time we had four kings and a joker in the Deadwood coach—"

"Oh, of course, if it's a secret!"

"What's a secret?"

"What you do for your complexion."

"I don't do anything. Such as it is, I was born with it."

"Exactly. So was I born with one like it. The question is, how did you manage to hang on to it?"

"You want the story of my life?"

"In a nutshell. Better still, in a capsule, to be administered to women wanting to reform their complexions."

"Well, it won't have to be a large capsule. About three grains of wisdom is all I can give them. First, be born with pure blood; second, live an out-of-door life; third, don't overeat. The first rule, of course, is one we can't follow. That's a matter of luck, and I was lucky. The other two points lie within the choice of almost every individual.

"I was fortunate in being brought up in the country. My early life on the plains gave me the physique which carries me now through an amount of work which would break down most men. Nebraska had a dry climate, and I slept at night under the sky and lived by day in the saddle until my lungs had grown and deepened and strengthened, so that all the years since then have not robbed me of what I gained then.

"It's easy for me to eat little because I'm never hungry. When I used to go out on military expeditions in the old days we were often put on half rations. When we were I could always give half of my half ration to somebody else. And it was the same with water. I could go for twelve or fifteen hours without even feeling thirsty. And I've never drank much water, though I believe it is said to be good for the health.

"I sleep only about four hours a night, going to bed about midnight and lie awake about two hours going over my business affairs and planning for the work of the next day. Then I sleep until 6 o'clock, when I get up. I have an orange, a little oatmeal, a bit of sirloin steak and a couple of boiled eggs for breakfast, and then I'm loaded for work.

"Of course, I think the American women are the finest in the world, but they could learn a good deal from English women. Take the English woman's complexion, which is acknowledged to be better than the American woman's. It comes from her out-of-door life. I've seen women of all nations, but next to the Americans I like the English best. They're more of my sort. They love horses, and I like anybody that does that.

"My! but those English women can ride! And they are sensible enough to ride in the only way a woman should, and that is astride. You mark my words, ten years from now there won't be one side saddle in a thousand. What sort of way is that to ride a horse? Skewed around like this," hanging his legs over the arm of a chair. "I used to think that a woman in one of those long habits, riding in the old-fashioned way, was the prettiest sight in the world. I still think she is pretty fine, but she is nothing to a woman riding astride. When a woman has learned to ride that way she is far ahead of a man riding as a swallow's flight beats a duck's. It's beautiful to see her.

"The English women are beginning to ride to hounds that way, and they will make it the fashion. They're good sports in every way; brave, sensible, strong, good comrades and fair opponents."

"You seem to waver in your allegiance to the American women."

"Well, I am just a bit gone on the English women."

"How about the French?"

"Oh, they're too much like a plumb firecracker. They go off all of a sudden, with a lot of fuss and flurry, and it's all over. Give me the English women. I wish our American girls would follow their example in some respects. If they did, they'd not take such an absorbing interest in what shall be done to save a complexion. The complexion would take care of itself."

THE AGENT'S TRICK

He Employed a Woman's Two Surnames to Good Advantage.

[From the New York Tribune.]

This is a true story, which points out the advantage of possessing, or at least occasionally making use of, more than one surname. Last year Mrs. Smith, who lives in an apartment house uptown, needed an up-to-date sewing machine for a few weeks, and so hired one from a well-known company. Two or three weeks ago she received a call from a commission salesman of the firm. He reminded her of the fact that she had hired a machine last spring, and asked if she would not like one to use again this season for two or three weeks on trial. Mrs. Smith said that she had no intention of buying a sewing machine at present, but the agent, not at all deterred by this, seemed anxious to lease one.

"Well," said Mrs. Smith, finally, reflecting that she could use one for a little work that she had on hand, "I don't care; you may bring it if you like."

A few days later the machine arrived, in charge of one of the company's porters. This man, however, before carrying it upstairs, came in to inquire whether the right name had been given to him. "It says on my card," he explained, "that this is to be left with a family by the name of Jones."

Now, the card on the letter box of the Smiths' apartment reads:

"Mr. Henry Jones Smith."

"Oh," said Mrs. Smith, "that is the middle name."

"Yes," said the man, "so I noticed on the card. I suppose it's just the salesman's mistake, but I wanted to make sure it was right to leave the machine."

But he seemed still to be turning the matter over in his mind, for, after placing the machine where it was desired to have it, and starting to go, he suddenly asked:

"Did you ever have a machine of ours on trial before?"

"No," replied Mrs. Smith, "but I hired one last year."

"Oh," said the porter, smiling, as if he had solved a mystery, "that's it, then! They do it sometimes. It wasn't any mistake on the agent's part to give a different name."

Much puzzled, Mrs. Smith asked for an explanation.

"Well, you see," said the porter, "it's against the rules to send out a machine on trial to anybody who has ever hired one, the idea being, of course, that if you will pay for one there's no use in sending it to you free. But the agents want to leave as many as possible, to get all the chances they can of making sales, so they sometimes fix up schemes like this. Now, when it's time to return this machine, if anybody calls for it in the name of Jones, why, you'll understand it's all right. But I'll probably be the one who comes, and I'll remember. You see, it is reported at the office as having been left with people named Jones. Good day."

FRENCH DUELING PISTOLS

A Southerner Says They Would Hardly Do to Shoot Sparrows.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

"I'd like to know something about the caliber of their pistols," said a crack shot of this city, "before I indulge in any panegyric on this nerve of Count Boni de Castellane and M. de Rodays. The pistol is regarded as a barbarous weapon by the regulation Parisian duelists, and when it is insisted upon they generally do all they can to mitigate the horror of the occasion. I was shown several specimens of the standard dueling arm in one of the fashionable shooting galleries of Paris a few years ago, and my merry laughter seemed to pain the habitues who were present. They explained to me, with dignity, that a gentleman does not desire to mutilate or mangle his adversary on the field of honor, as they understood was the custom in semi-civilized America, and that their pistols were made specially to avoid any brutal disfigurement. I agreed cordially that they were well adapted to that end. They were six millimeters in caliber, which is nearly the same as our 22, and were loaded with special cartridges that contained about half the regular service charge. Unless it was by the biggest kind of a fluke I don't see how such a gun could make more than a flesh would. I am certain it would not break a bone at twenty-five paces. I was assured by the maitre d'armes at the gallery that the type of pistol I saw was the one used at all the famous duels of recent date, and I was then able to understand why those who were wounded were able to make such recoveries. Prior to that time I had supposed the stereotyped joke about the harmlessness of French dueling pistols was badly overdrawn, but I doubt now whether it does the subject justice. It is a fact, by the way, that several Americans have bluffed themselves out of duels in Paris by insisting on Colt 45-caliber revolvers at short range. The hero of one memorable episode of that kind was a physician who has now the largest practice in the American colony. He was challenged by a well-known young Parisian, and, when waited on by a very stiff-necked colonel, who acted as go-between, exhibited a couple of frontier six-shooters, which he declared must be the weapons. 'My principal is, unfortunately, not an artilleryman, monsieur,' said the colonel, dryly, and that closed the incident."

POLITENESS AS A FINE ART.

A Vienna correspondent writes that there is a law in Austria which makes it a very serious offense to insult a public official, or even to offend his dignity in any way. Public officials include all railway employes from traffic director to porter, policemen, tramway drivers and conductors and municipal street cleaners. Recently an electric tramcar ran into an omnibus and overturned it. One of the omnibus passengers, Frau Sidonie Lankh, wife of a well-known doctor in Vienna, was badly cut and received a severe shock to her nerves, which prostrated her for weeks. After the collision in her alarm and pain, she cried, referring to the driver of the electric car: "The wretched fellow! Why couldn't he stop sooner?" For this expression she was summoned and sentenced to a fine of £1 13s 8d "for insulting a public official."

THE PANIC IN WALL STREET.

A Typical Scene in a Broker's Office on Blue Thursday.

The office of one of the best-known stock-brokers in Wall street at the height of Tuesday's panic afforded more material for the dramatist than could be found elsewhere in New York. It was a typical office. Every man present had gone to that place actuated by what is possibly the strongest motive power known to humanity in this age—that is, greed. Greed had made them speculate, greed had made them vision to themselves all manner of delectable conditions-to-be; for weeks and weeks, greed had made them neglect their own business and the remonstrances of their consciences and the whispers of their business honor.

"Steel, 24," said the senior partner, and then, sitting down on a lounge, he sobbed as though his heart would break—the man-sobs that rack the entire body. The junior partner, himself a man past middle age, looked at his partner vacantly, and then began to weep softly. The head clerk came in, looked on his chiefs, and said huskily: "Try Mr. Blank; he'll help you. We may pull through." But the senior partner shook his head, and between his sobs said: "Twenty years in Wall street. And always perfectly honest!" The star customer of the firm strolled in. His own fate depended upon the solvency of the firm. He saw the three swollen-lidded weeping men, and began to rebuke them profanely for their cowardice, to blame them, in the mock-anger of an indignant friend, for giving up hope. But all the answer he received was negative shakes from the junior partner and a mute wringing of hands by the confidential clerk. And on the lounge in one corner of the room the senior partner of that firm, a man who was reckoned among the popular New York millionaires on the day previous, whose straits were due to no fault of his own, but to the utterly unexpected extent of the panic, heedless of the ticker, oblivious of his partner and of the presence of others, repeated to himself from time to time: "Twenty years in Wall street. And always perfectly honest! Twenty years in Wall street. And always perfectly honest!"

Now that man had a charming wife, and a promising boy at college. He was a good man in every sense, engaged in a perfectly legitimate business. The firm never speculated on its own account, and it was well respected by his fellow-brokers and by his fellow church trustees. And he was about to lose everything he had, everything that made life pleasant to those he loved. Indeed, he would lose more than he had; he would be in debt and his life journey was well-nigh done, and those friends who might help him were themselves in straits. There was a customer who owed them three-quarters of a million—a man who was a speculator pure and simple, a gambler to whom the stock exchange was merely a Monte Carlo, where the whirring tickers took the place of the roulette wheels. Well, the stock gambler borrowed a million on his wife's property. He staked it all to save his brokers. He did not look for bargain—in his wife's name—in other offices. He proved honest. His reward? The brokers did not fall that day, and the head of the firm, who had been twenty years in Wall street, and always perfectly honest, laughed hysterically—laughed and laughed, as his partner hurried with the money to their bank, and thanked the gambler by saying, between bursts of unnatural merriment: "You are a dead game sport, Bill; you are a dead game sport."

And the house had weathered the storm. There were many other offices where the ticker tape was wet with tears and the floors strewn with the ashes of millions.

PEACEFUL MISSION FOR CANNON BALLS.

The authorities at one of the British naval arsenals were rather surprised recently by an inquiry as to whether they had any old cannon balls for sale—14 and 28 pounders, such as Nelson used at Trafalgar. It turned out that they were required by the owner of a Welsh slate quarry. When a large slab of stone has to be detached a slit is opened behind it, and small cannon balls dropped in. The workmen then "joggle" the partly-loosened block to and fro with their crowbars, and at every movement the cannon ball drops deeper. Very soon larger balls can be inserted, and then the whole block falls forward completely severed.

The Best Physicians Recommend MALT BREAKFAST FOOD As a True Health Food.

Many of the common and cheaply prepared grain foods use the term "Health Food" on their labels; this is misleading, as a proper analysis would prove. The term "Health Food" is properly added to Malt Breakfast Food, and the ablest physicians recommend it as such. The purest health-giving malt, combined with the choicest wheat, gives to the world a health food unequaled for producing flesh, bone and muscle. Grocers everywhere.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

A Pain Remedy.

For over fifty years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world.

The True Relief,

Radway's Ready Relief

For Internal and External Use.

In using medicines to stop pain we should avoid such as inflict injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception, the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shuts up, and, instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for any length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in either infant or adult.

Will Afford Instant Ease.

For headache (whether sick or nervous), toothache, neuralgia, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and weakness in the back, spine or kidneys, pains around the liver, pleurisy, swelling of the joints and pains of all kinds, the application of Radway's Ready Relief will afford immediate relief, and its continued use for a few days effect a permanent cure.

Instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestion, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

Radway's Ready Relief

Cures and Prevents

Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Influenza, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Asthma, Difficult Breathing.

CURES THE WORST PAINS in from one to twenty minutes. Not one hour after reading this advertisement need any one SUFFER WITH PAIN.

INTERNALLY—A half to a teaspoonful in half a tumbler of water will in a few minutes cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Nausea, Vomiting, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Colic, Flatulency and all internal pains.

MALARIA!

Chills and Fever, Fever and Ague Conquered.

Radway's Ready Relief

Not only cures the patient seized with this terrible foe to settlers in newly-settled districts, where the malaria or ague exists, but if the people exposed to it will every morning on getting out of bed take twenty or thirty drops of the Ready Relief in a glass of water, and drink it, and eat, say a cracker, they will escape attacks. This must be done before going out.

There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague and all other Malarial, Bilious and other fevers, aided by Radway's Pills, so quickly as Radway's Ready Relief.

The Westminster Confession of Faith.

If one can read rightly the signs of the times, the Presbyterian ministers of the United States will revise the Confession of Faith. It seems to be admitted by the majority of them that the Confession requires revision; and to the ordinary man, that fact being settled, it would seem to follow as a matter of course that the necessary amendment would be made.

There are, however, many minds so constituted that it would do violence to their consciences to change what to them has always been regarded as sacred. In religion it is common to follow the beliefs of our fathers, to feel that what was good enough for them is good enough for us. We confess that there is something in such an attitude to be admired, and there is in it an element of safety.

But we must admit, too,

The outworn rite, the old abuse,
The pious fraud transparent grown,
The good held captive in the use of wrong alone;
These wait their doom from that great law,
Which makes the past time serve to-day,
And fresher life the world shall draw from their decay.
Oh, backward-looking son of time,
The new is old, the old is new,
The cycle of a change sublime
Still sweeping through.

There would not seem to be any danger that haste would result in error. A body of men such as the Presbyterian ministers of the United States will take care that they are right. It is plainly their duty, if convinced, that the Confession needs a modern re-statement, to make the necessary change. They do not know in what harm their failure to amend it may result. They should not fail or hesitate to change where change will be an advantage. They should not lose the good that's in the old, nor fail to obtain the good that's in the new.

Those who deal with the question will be men of varying ages. The old man possesses experience, that invaluable aid in exercising a correct judgment. The man who has traveled a long way on the road, and met with many people, and participated in many events, judges of his facts in a different way from the inexperienced. It is not necessary for men to become old fogies or to lag behind, because they are old in years. One of the grandest examples of this was Gladstone, who, with advancing years became more and more radical, until in his later years he laid down programmes that would have frightened him at forty. The judgment, the conscience, all united with his experience in pointing the way. His vision of the future did not become dimmed with age. He saw more clearly the wrong; more accurately laid down the remedy, and more fearlessly carried out what he deemed to be right.

There will be minds like Gladstone's among the Presbyterian clergymen dealing with this important matter. If once convinced as to what is the right thing to do, they will not hesitate to do it. The teachings of all the religious bodies are becoming more alike. There seems to be a clearer understanding of religious questions, and religion is becoming more practical. It has been in recent years robbed of much that shocked the ordinary understanding; and with the outlook ahead clearer still, we think it a matter for congratulation that whatever in the Confession of Faith needs broadening or modernizing will be corrected or restated in accordance with the needs of the day and generation in which we live.

Spitting Gent and Trailing Lady.

According to a medical expert, the spitting gent and the lady with the trailing skirts make an effective combination for promoting tuberculosis in our cities and towns. The man spits, and the lady comes along, and with her street-sweeping outer garment gathers up the dangerous refuse thus deposited on the sidewalks, carrying it into the households, where it develops into the death-hastening bacteria that causes so much desolation among modern humanity.

What has become of Kipling?

Rev. W. F. Wilson, the new president of Hamilton Methodist Conference, will be remembered as on one occasion, in Toronto, refusing to "move on," when arbitrarily ordered to do so by a policeman. He may have changed his mind. At all events his election as president indicates that he is now moving on.

The big rainfall in Ontario may have kept back vegetation somewhat, but it may have averted frost that, with a clear sky, would likely have been experienced, and the great moisture will help to produce a plentiful supply of hay and other cattle feed, if we have a reasonable amount of sunshine soon, as we embrace the opportunity to prognosticate we will have.

Thirty-Six Million Dollars Saved.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, the Dominion Finance Minister, pointed out, in a recent speech in Parliament, that as a result of the reduction in the Dominion tariff, including the advantage over foreigners of 35 per cent given to the British people, the Canadian public have saved $36,000,000 since the present Government came into power. In other words, had the old, so-called National Policy yet been in force, the taxation collected on imported goods would have been $36,000,000. This amount, under the Liberal tariff, has been left in the pockets of the Canadian people, and as the inhabitants of Canada increase, and their purchasing power becomes greater, the aggregate saving will also be much augmented.

The change is in the right direction.

A Great Man.

Canada in general, and particularly the Township of Zorra, in Oxford County, may well be proud of having produced one of the world's greatest men in "MacKay of Formosa," the famous missionary, who died a few days ago in his far-off field. Such men are a moral stimulus in a worldly age that persists in talking of "success" as if the word only applied to money-getting. Thirty years ago, girt with physical and moral courage of the highest order, he entered on his work as a missionary in far Formosa. There are now, on what then was a savage island, no fewer than 60 Christian churches, with a large staff of native preachers, together with hospitals and training schools. Dr. MacKay identified himself with the people by marrying a Chinese woman, a dainty, helpful little lady, who a few years ago visited London with her husband. Dr. MacKay was a great man, a hero, and one whose life must be considered as in the highest sense successful. How many can show such a record?

Canada's Trade With the United States.

The Boston Herald, a journal whose views favor revenue tariff rather than the principle of protection for protection's sake, comes out with suggestions that something should be done by the United States by way of reciprocating for Canadian trade. As trade relations stand at present, Canadian imports from the United States have been greatly in excess of her exports to that country. The Herald speaks as follows:

"That the condition of our trade with Canada is a subject which demands serious and reasonably prompt action no one can doubt who has gone to the trouble of making a study of the character of this trade, and the manner in which during the last few years it has been developed. In the fiscal year of 1900 we sold in Canada American products, which the statistician of the treasury department classifies as manufactured wares, to the value of more than $61,000,000. This was nearly as large an amount as our entire foreign sales of manufactured wares in the fiscal year of 1870. On the per capita basis, the Canadians purchased of us more than $10 worth of our manufactures for each man, woman and child resident in Canada. The increase in sales in Canada of American manufactures has been over $33,000,000 in the last four years; in other words, the gain that we made in four years in the volume of our sales of manufactured wares in Canada was nearly equal to the sales made of every class and description of United States products during the fiscal year 1900 in the entire continent of South America."

While last year Canada purchased over $61,000,000 worth of manufactured wares, the United States bought from us a little less than $5,000,000. The duties charged us by the United States on our imports are nearly twice as great as what we put on American imports. The Boston Herald fears that Canada will not permit such a state of affairs to continue, and maintains that the American Republic should make such concessions to us as will insure a more equitable exchange of commodities. That journal is becoming alarmed at the prospects of Canadian trade with the mother country assuming such proportions that Canada will ultimately be able to dispense with the American market. It says: "They (Canadians) are willing to buy of us, and are our best customers; but, so far as our United States Government policy is concerned, we are unwilling to buy from them, and the result is they are growing in this respect independent of us, and are building up markets in England and in other parts of the world."

Thanks to the efficacy of Canada's preferential tariff with Great Britain, it will evidently be the means of opening even wider markets than at first expected.

In the opinion of Sir Thomas Lipton, the average English boy starts in business too late in life, as compared with the time the American lad enters upon a business career. He maintains that the English lad intended for commercial life is kept in school too long. Sir Thomas attributes the success of commercial enterprises on this side of the ocean to the fact that the youth of this continent begin their work earlier. He says:

"In America boys are turned out to shift for themselves at an earlier age than is the case in England, and I hold that the result of that system is to make the lads more independent and self-reliant than those who are kept under close parental control until later in life."

Our contemporary the Free Press cannot believe that an armory will ever be built in London. It once had the same agnostic attitude respecting the location and erection of the London Normal School. Why the Dominion Government delays erecting the armory on the southwest corner of Dundas and Waterloo streets, is no responsibility or concern of The Advertiser; perhaps it is thought a few months earlier or later, in a building that may stand for half a century, is not of great importance. Our contemporary must kindly possess its soul in patience for a brief season longer. All will come right in the end.

ENGLAND REVISITED

Passing the Customs—A Protest Against the Overloading of Ships—The Present Danger—"The Old Land."

[II.]

[From our own correspondent.]

After a pleasant voyage of ten days, already described, we arrived at Liverpool, thanks under a kindly Providence to a staunch, steady ship and a cautious, skillful captain. We remember well the scenes created in the House of Commons a few years ago by Mr. Plimsoll, when he protested against ships being sent to sea in a dangerous condition through overloading. That was a healthy kind of sensation. The proprieties were shocked, and vested interests were alarmed that lives of men were regarded as of as much importance as dividends. But Plimsoll, though an enthusiast, as every man must be who fights for reform, was not an ignorant fanatic; he based his action upon facts, often tragic in their nature, and the result of his action abides. The Plimsoll mark is a reality and a blessing. The captain of our vessel told us of a terrible voyage he had in the old time running across the Atlantic, in a ship that had been, on account of the exigencies of trade, loaded above her capacity. Many such tales have I heard from sailors in my boyhood on sea as well as land. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." Surely the sea has sufficient risks without additional ones caused by the carelessness and greed of men. As I have looked again recently upon some of the dangerous spots on the east coast of England, places that I have with my own eyes seen strewn with wrecks, Kipling's words acquire deeper meaning.

"We have fed our sea for a thousand years
And she calls us, still unfed,
Though there's never a wave of all her waves
But marks our English dead.
We have strawed our best to the weeds' unrest,
To the shark and sheering gull.
If blood be the price of admiralty,
Lord God, we ha' paid in full."

✦

If Britannia is to rule the waves the feeding of the sea is, as the poet says, "our doom and pride." But that is no reason that any selfish interests should be allowed to lessen needful care for the lives of men.

It appears that now there is need of care in another direction, there is danger if the ship is too light, and though that is not such a frequent danger as the old one, yet it needs to be guarded against. However, for the present, we are done with ships, our face is towards the land, we are thinking of friendly faces, of English lands, green fields and flowers. Recently I heard a lecturer describing his feelings when he came to the "Holy Land," and saw a woman ill-used by the unspeakable Turk; he said he had "a thrill, an Englishman's thrill." In that case emotion, at seeing the land associated with sacred story, was mingled the feeling of indignation against oppression and cruelty. We also had our "thrill" on seeing the old land, some for the first time, and some after years of absence, yet I have no doubt it was of the reserved English kind. Of Englishmen it is still true enough,

"Deeper than speech our love, stronger than life our tether,
But we do not fall on the neck, nor kiss when we come together."

✦

My early associations were with the other side of the country rather than with Liverpool. To me that great commercial city had been a mere stepping off place. I rode up to the station, however, with a native of Liverpool who rejoiced at the sight of the first donkey cart we met. He had not seen a donkey for seven years, and I had to confess that I had not, during my sojourn in Canada, seen many of that particular species. That reminds me of a story of a lady who had been accustomed to the sights of Glasgow, and after being some time in Canada cried out when she saw drunken men in Montreal, "That makes me feel like home." We have no ground for boasting, even with ourselves there is still room for improvement, but in England, the sight of a drunken man, or, sadder still, of a drunken woman, is also too common.

✦

But stop, I am anticipating, before we get to the city we must pass "the customs." My experiences of this order are, as a rule, favorable, and the latest was no exception to the rule. Before we landed one gentleman told us that his address to the official was, "No spirits, no tobacco, no American editions. What do you want?" Some one remarked that the latter part of his speech was suggestive of bribery; but, of course, that was far from his thoughts. I soon concluded that the baggage examination business is like a lottery. I boasted that, traveling light, I would soon be free, but it was a mistake. The race was not necessarily to the swift. One gentleman had cleared the varied assortment belonging to himself and family before I had found my one small trunk. I did not at first notice that the tables were arranged under letters, the initial letter of passengers' names, and when I found my letter, by one of the mistakes which happen even in the best regulated families, my box had gone to the wrong place. When it was found. I had no trouble with the officer. He was courteous and business-like. In response to his inquiry I confessed to a small quantity of the weed, less than half a pound, which was in process of being consumed. Then, with his permission, I went my way. I was told, however, that one man said he had a certain amount of this dutiable goods, and was found to have twice as much in another pocket. This man had the painful experience of paying four dollars, and learning in that way, that in dealing with a sharp man, who is accustomed to look into the eyes of men and to judge the tones of their voice, honesty is best and cheapest. I was glad that so far as my personal experience went, I was able to say that the custom house officers at Liverpool were good specimens of British officials, polite, considerate, but not easy to be swindled.

✦

I wrote this on the 24th of May, and I suppose that now you are having a holiday, and cherish the memory of the noble woman and faithful Queen who recently passed away.

A Baptist minister said to me the other day: "I suppose you sing God Save the King, and that sort of thing." I repeated, "Yes, and if you were three thousand miles or more from your friends and the land of your fathers you would find real sentiments in some of the things which at home seem to be mere formal conventions." Well, something about imperialism and jingoism later on.

How to Get Old.

[Max O'Rell.]

I have heard it said that few women know how to get old. However true this may be, the old woman who believes that she is still attractive is much less ridiculous than the old man who believes that he is still irresistible.

The Children Rule.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]

Right in Woodstock there are several hundred families which are ruled by children, who have been given to understand from the first that all household matters are to be governed by their whims of the moment. The boldness and intractability of the younger generation, and the disrespect shown their elders, constitute one of the crying evils of the present day. Unless parental control is strictly exercised and the child made to understand that his is a subordinate place in domestic arrangements, when he goes out into the world he is not likely to prove a credit to his parents or to anybody else, but a burden and nuisance to the community which is so unfortunate as to have him for a member.

The Anthem Again.

[Harper's Magazine.]

The "Messiah" was sung recently in Philadelphia, and one of the anthems rendered by the chorus had as its theme, "We have turned every one to his own way." As anthems go this sounded somewhat as follows: "Yes we have turned, turned, turned—we have turned, yes, we have—we have turned every one—to his, to his own way, own way—every one to his own way." The anthem involved several pages of music, and every time the chorus sang "we have turned, turned, turned," they proceeded to turn over to the next page, and then burst out again with "we have turned, turned, turned." A certain plain citizen, rather elderly, who sat well in the rear, not appreciating the delicate sentiment, was heard to mutter, disgustedly, "Well, when you get through turnin', turning', them goldened pages, suppose you shet up about it."

Traveling by rail in Glasgow is very cheap, a good long ride being obtained for a half-penny and three times that distance for a penny.

The surest way to keep the womanly health is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity. It dries the drains which weaken women. It cures inflammation, ulceration, and female weakness. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, drives away despondency, and gives a healthy appetite and refreshing sleep. It makes childbirth easy, and nursing mothers will find in it a strength giving tonic.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I never courted newspaper notoriety," writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, Coshocton Co., Ohio, "yet I am not afraid to speak a good word for your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Over a year ago I suffered terribly for nearly four weeks with prolapsus and weakness. After using one bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Pellets' I was a well woman. I have taken no medicine since and have had no symptoms of my former trouble. Have used the 'Favorite Prescription' at different times for more than four years and find it has no equal."

SMALLPOX SITUATION

There Have Been 400 Cases in North Bay District—The Outlook Improving—New Case at Sharbot Lake.

Toronto, June 3.—Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, who has had charge of the smallpox outbreak west of North Bay, has returned to the city. He says that everything is looking well up there now. All told, there have been 400 cases, some of them exceedingly virulent in type, while many were of a light character.

The provincial officer sent east to try and corral the Quebec shanty men who were trying to get home by way of Ontario, wired to Dr. Bryce this morning that the woodsmen had not yet crossed over to Ontario, but were on the Quebec side still.

A new case of smallpox was reported today from Sharbot Lake. It was said that the case came from the C. P. R. works. A special officer has been dispatched to look into the outbreak.

Detroit, Mich., June 4.—The health board records for the week ended on June 1, show there are now 57 cases of smallpox in the city, of which 12 are new cases reported during the week. The total is a decrease of 10 from the last previous report, 22 patients having recovered.

MARRIED FOR PITY

The Bridegroom Is Old, Blind and Poor—The Bride Is Worth $20,000.

New York, June 4.—Mrs. Elise Lewis, a widow, who is 58 years old, and worth about $20,000, was married yesterday in the Presbyterian Church at Springfield, L. I., to Wesley C. Shaw, a carpenter, who is 64 years old, blind and poor. He met her for the first time last October, and had then been blind for twelve years. It was at a sociable in the Presbyterian Church, of which the bridegroom is a deacon, that they met. Mrs. Lewis then said she felt sorry for him because he was blind, and they formed an acquaintance, which resulted in the marriage.

Mrs. Shaw says that she never would have married Mr. Shaw if she had not pitied him. She says that when her former husband, Wm. N. Lewis, died five years ago she resolved never again to marry, and that it was only for pity that she changed her mind.

At the wedding were two sons and five daughters of the bridegroom and nineteen grandchildren. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles H. Rutherford, the pastor of the church.

BRIDE 65, BRIDEGROOM 23.

New York, June 4.—Joseph Nordiello, 23 years of age, of 318 Adams street, and Annie Altiello, or Bertone, a widow, 65 years old, of 530 Adams street, Hoboken, were married by Justice of the Peace Conkling of Hoboken. When Nordiello was a baby in Genoa, Italy, Annie Altiello was his nurse. When a youth he left his home and went to South America, but always kept up a correspondence with his old nurse. In the meantime she had married Angelo Bertone, and they made their home in Hoboken. A year ago Bertone died, and Nordiello, hearing that his nurse was a widow, made up his mind to visit her. He went to Hoboken a few weeks ago, and the result of his visit was the marriage. Notwithstanding the disparity in their ages they appeared to be deeply attached to each other.

CONFERENCE OF EGG-DEALERS.

Toronto, June 23. — Egg dealers from all over Canada met today to consider the effect upon the trade of the suit of D. D. Wilson, of Seaforth, against William Meldrum & Co., of Montreal, which comes up tomorrow. Mr. Wilson claims that eighteen months ago he invented and patented the glycerine process of preserving eggs, by which, after being limed, they are dipped in the glycerine to preserve the color and freshness. Of eight million dozen eggs exported from Canada last year, 70 per cent were subjected to the glycerine process. Mr. Wilson wants a royalty of a cent a dozen—an enormous amount in aggregate—and the dealers have decided to take part in the fight against his claim. One man today said he had used glycerine for six years, and that it was used in Denmark quite commonly. Among those present who will oppose the royalty claim are: Wm. Hunter, Montreal; H. P. Clemes, Port Perry; Wm. Flavelle, Lindsay; J. H. Walker, Detroit; T. E. Moore, Waterloo, and John Nichols, Waterloo. A permanent association of egg dealers will be formed.

"MR. HIGHTENOR WILL NOW SING"—

"I want to get some doors," said the builder, as he entered the planing mill. "Is the proprietor in?"

"Yes," replied the smart office boy; "but he's out of doors."

WHAT WOMAN WOULD?

"George, what is this closure that they talk so much about?"

"Don't mention it, my dear. It's something that you wouldn't tolerate in the house for a single minute."

DON'T ALLOW OPERATION FOR CANCER.

There is a Simpler, Safer and More Effective Method of Treatment.

Dr. J. C. Oliver, of Cincinnati, Ohio, U. S. A., in a paper he read before the Ohio State Medical Society, May, 1895, said: "I have operated in a considerable number of cases of cancer recently, and with one exception, all have died within fourteen months after the operation."

This statement of a prominent surgeon, should make anyone suffering from cancer hesitate before submitting to operation, and consider carefully, the evidence offered on behalf of the new constitutional remedy, which cures cancers, tumors and all malignant growths, without the necessity of operation. It is a simple vegetable medicine that searches out and destroys the cancer growths, completely eradicates the disease, and at the same time builds up and invigorates the system.

Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont., will be pleased to send full particulars of this treatment, in plain, sealed wrapper, to any sufferer on receipt of two stamps.

HOW TAMMANY SUCCEEDS

Sympathy an Element of Power—Organization and Money Do the Rest.

The Tammany organization of today is developed to a high pitch of political perfection, writes Gustavus Myers in the current number of the Forum. Every one of the 36 assembly districts in the boroughs of the Manhattan and the Bronx has its leader, and each of the 892 election districts its captain. All the voters can be reached in a house-to-house canvass within 24 hours, if necessary. There are standing committees on finance, printing, correspondence, naturalization and organization, each of which thoroughly does the duty assigned to it. The general committee meets monthly, and once a year goes through the form of holding a country convention. It is through the executive committee, however, composed generally of the district leaders, that the "boss" issues his decrees. Above all Tammany is never at a loss for funds. All Tammany office holders and many other city employes are expected to contribute. The annual fund from this source alone may be conjectured when it is stated that the city now has about 60,000 employes. All candidates for office are assessed heavily. Gambling houses, pool rooms, saloons and other places also contribute lavishly, as well as corporations of all kinds and individuals who find it convenient not to incur the hostility of the ruling powers.

In addition, the Tammany Hall organization is made more effective by its social activity. It admirably adapts itself to the environment of each neighborhood, and comes into direct touch with the people. Its leaders give annual dinners to the poor of their districts; they get this or that man out of trouble; if a poor widow is in danger of being dispossessed her case is seen to; "jobs" are distributed; entertainments are held for the benefit of struggling churches, and a thousand and one other varieties of assistance are rendered to the needy. All this, of course, is done selfishly, with a view to strengthening the leader and the organization in the districts, and much of the money used comes from sources that would not bear investigation; but the simple fact of its being done affects powerfully certain classes of voters. This element of human sympathy has more effect with them than all the lofty manifestoes issued by committees or bodies with whom they never come in such personal contact.

Catarrh.

Called an American disease, is cured by an American medicine, originated and prepared in the most catarrhal of American countries.

It cures radically and permanently, in that it removes the cause, cleansing the blood of scrofulous and all other impurities. It overcomes all the effects of catarrh, too, and builds up the whole system. c

STREET RAILWAY CHANGE.

The street railway will change the running service on the Hamilton road and London South belt lines, commencing tomorrow (Tuesday), for the purpose of giving a quicker service during the camp. The Oxford and Hamilton road lines will run but one way with a 9-minute service. The London South belt line instead of going north on Richmond, will go east on Dundas around Central avenue, the balance of the line in London South remaining as usual.

Hay Fever Germs Are Now Floating About,

They are in the air everywhere, too minute to see, but just waiting for a chance to get into your lungs. Then they will play havoc with your breathing apparatus, and you'll wonder what to do. The doctor will say you had better inhale Catarrhozone, for it kills Hay Fever germs, and moreover is dead certain to reach them. Catarrhozone cures every time, and absolutely prevents the disease from returning. You inhale Catarrhozone with the air breathed; it goes directly to the source of the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. At druggists', or sent with guarantee of cure, to any address for $1 forwarded to Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

MR. ATKINS NOW ON THE HEIGHTS!

First Detachment of Soldiers Arrived Today.

Preparations Made for the Main Body, Which Comes Tomorrow—First Camp 1,500 Strong—List of Staff Officers.

The year's silence upon Carling's Heights was broken yesterday by the noise of tent building, and now for a month the camp ground at Wolseley Barracks will be the center of local activity. This was a day of quiet completion of final details and of preparation for the morrow, when the regiments walk in. Only five corps will be in London the first couple of weeks: The First Hussars of London (Major Strothers), the 26th Regiment of Middlesex (Lieut.-Col. McEwen), the 27th of Lambton (Lieut.-Col. Ellis), the 32nd Bruce Regiment (Lieut.-Col. Weir), and the 33rd of Huron (Lieut.-Col. Varvoe) The Bruce men were the first to have representatives on the field, their detachment for tent-building have arriver quite early in the morning. They went to the heights immediately and prepared for their regiment's reception. Other men detailed for the same purpose came to the city later in the day.

It is to be hoped, for the sake of the men in camp particularly, that such weather as we enjoy today may continue. Rains at camp time are the bane of Atkins' life, and excessive heat is nearly as disagreeable. The utmost care will be taken this year to make the camp thoroughly sanitary. The prevalence of smallpox necessitates unusual precaution, and Principal Medical Officer Belton will do all that is possible in this respect. This morning he inspected the barracks and found it in the same state of cleanliness and order that excited the admiration and praise of Gen. O'Grady Haley upon his late visit here.

Among the officers, non-commissioned officers and men who will come to camp this year will be many who served in South Africa, and the practical experience that they gained during the campaign will doubtless have its effect upon this camp as regards its layout, the drill, and the methods of instruction. Major Denison, C.M.G., who was on Earl Roberts' staff, and Capt. Carpenter, of the first contingent, will be in camp, and Sergt. Price, Sergt. Tutt, Sergt. Bethune, Sergt. Holmes, Corp. Horner, Ptes. Tutt, Merrick, McCush, Monroe, Miles and Shaw, all members of No. 1 Company, R. C. R. I., will be on duty, several of them on the staff of non-commissioned officers.

The staff of officers for the first brigade will be Lieut.-Col. Peters, D.O.C., brigadier; Major Denison, C.M.G., brigade major; Lieut.-Col. Hegler, D.A.A.G.; Lieut.-Col. Young, instructor of musketry; Lieut.-Col. Dawson, paymaster; Major Belton, principal medical officer; Veterinary-Lieutenant Wilson, veterinary officer.

Police Court Proceedings.

Robert Blackwell, an ex-soldier, was released from jail on Saturday. He spent the afternoon in the pursuit of acquiring a jag, and on Saturday evening he was acting in a disorderly manner on King street, when he was arrested by P. C. Donahue. In the cells at the police station, Blackwell got into an altercation with David Williams, an Indian, who has been in jail several times. Williams is small, but a bad Indian, and Blackwell now carries a gorgeously-tinted eye. The police magistrate thought he needed time to sober up, and gave him 21 days in jail.

The case of Simon Levi, charged with assault by his wife, was further adjourned for a week. The charge of assault laid by James Murphy against Wm. Fogarty was withdrawn on the latter paying the costs.

Albert Lloyd pleaded guilty to using abusive language toward a fellow-workman, Frank Wood, and paid $2 fine and $5 20 costs.

Two citizens charged with leaving animals on the streets promised not to offend again, and were let go, while three Indians who imbibed too much firewater were also discharged.

SORE ALL OVER

Back Sore, Head Sore, Hands Sore—The Terrible Experience of Mrs. Rousseau, of Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., June 3.—(Special).—The following written statement, made and signed by Mrs. J. William Rousseau, of 10 Flora street, this city, shows what some women can go through, and yet live:

"I have been ailing for three years. My back was dreadfully sore. My head ached all the time. My hands were swollen and very painful.

"I cannot tell the pains I indured. No words can describe my torture.

"I used Dodd's Kidney Pills—three boxes altogether—and I am well.

"They did more for me than anything else in the world, and I recommend them to every suffering woman."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have wrought some miraculous cures in and around Ottawa, but none more satisfactory, than in the case of Mrs. Rousseau.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

Real Estate Valued at $325,000 Changed Hands Here Since January 1.

In the first five months of the new century an unusually large number of property transfers were made in this city, nearly 300 having been recorded between January 1 and May 31. The value of the property that changed hands amounted to more than $325,000, and the selling prices ranged from $1, the legalized gift price, to $25,000.

It is officially stated that the United States will remain in control in Cuba until the Platt amendment has been "substantially" adopted.

The New York Mail and Express says that under the title of the American Shirt and Collar Company a $20,000,000 linen goods manufacturers trust will be incorporated under the laws of New York State.

ALLIES SHOT EACH OTHER

Serious Affair at Tien Tsin—A Frenchman Killed and Others Wounded.

Tien Tsin, June 3.—There was a serious affray yesterday between international troops. Some British Fusiliers who were acting as police here, and preventing French soldiers from housebreaking, were attacked with bayonets and bricks. The fusiliers responded by firing into the air. This brought a number of Germans to the aid of the Frenchmen. They numbered together 200 men. Five Fusiliers fired again, this time killing a Frenchman and wounding three others. In subsequent fighting four Fusiliers, five Germans and one Japanese were wounded. The arrival of a German officer and a strong guard ended the fray.

COUNTY COUNCIL BEGIN BUSINESS

Warden Trafford Campbell's Opening Address.

The Middlesex county council assembled yesterday afternoon for the June sessions. The members present were: Warden Trafford Campbell, Councilors Peter Elson, John Bradley, Geo. Neeley, James Murray, Alex. Gray, A. King Hodgins, Simon McLeod, R. W. Jackson, R. M. Piper, Harry Gough, J. W. Salmon, J. P. Grigg and D. D. Graham. The absentees were G. D. Robotham and G. B. Campbell.

After the reading of the minutes, Warden Campbell delivered his opening address. He expressed his pleasure at seeing the councilors ready for the transaction of their duties and said he did not doubt the other members of the council were especially pleased to see present Councilor Simon McLeod, of Parkhill, who was prevented by illness from being present at the last session of the council. He briefly reviewed the business to come before the council and reported on certain matters which has been referred to him for action. In answer to the letter of condolence forwarded to the King, a letter had been received from Capt. Harry Graham, A. D. C., to the governor-general, expressing his majesty's heartfelt thanks for the council's sympathy.

The reading and referring to commit of communications was then proceeded with.

CAPITAL NOTES

Mr. G. W. Dawson, ex-M.P., Appointed Inspector at Penetanguishene—George Taylor, Bothwell, To Be Magistrate at White Horse.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 3.—At a cabinet meeting this morning an order was passed appointing G. W. Dawson, ex-M. P., and recently Liberal organizer for the Province of Ontario, to be inspector of penitentiaries at a salary of $2,400.

George Taylor, barrister, Bothwell, has also been appointed magistrate at White Horse in the Yukon.

NON-JURY ASSIZES ARE IN PROGRESS

First Case Settled and One Now Being Heard.

The non-jury sittings of the spring assizes opened yesterday at the courthouse. Only six cases are on the docket. Owing to the serious illness of Judge Ferguson's daughter, Chief Justice Meredith is taking the sitting.

The first case on the docket, that of Corp vs. North American Life Assurance Company, an action to have declared illegal and void the cancellation of plaintiff's insurance policy by the defendant company, was settled out of court by the defendants paying plaintiff a sum in excess of the payments made by him on his policy. R. K. Cowan for plaintiff; Kerr, Davidson, Patterson & Grant, Toronto, for defendants.

The second case was taken up, it being the Provincial Chemical Works, of St. Louis, Mo., vs. Canada Chemical Company, of London, an action to restrain defendants from using a registered trade mark, "C. A. P." as applied to preparations of acid phosphate of lime manufactured by both companies, and used in the manufacture of baking powder. The witnesses for the plaintiffs are Chas. J. Young, secretary of the company, and Messrs. McLaren (Hamilton), Fuller (Brantford), and Ewing (Montreal), baking powder makers. The witnesses for the defense will be Prof. Harrison, Prof. James Bowman and Mr. John Bowman. Walter Cassells, K.C., Toronto, and Cronyn & Betts appear for the plaintiff, and George F. Shepley, K.C., Toronto, and Flock & Flock for the defendants.

LOOKING FOR BETTER TERMS

A Number of Ottawa Mechanics on Strike.

Machine Wood Workers and the Carpenters Those Who Have Gone Out—The Labor Situation Elsewhere.

Ottawa, June 3.—The strike fever has struck Ottawa today. One hundred machine wood workers went on strike for a 20 per cent increase in wages. The firms affected are the Ottawa Car Company, 25 men; Thackeray & Davidson, 30, and the W. C. Edwards Company, 40. The men demand recognition of their union, as well as increases. Attempts to settle the matter amicably failed, as the employers would not consider any increases nor would they treat with the union.

The carpenters of the city are also on strike for 25 cents an hour, minimum wage. Many of the men get from 17 to 20 cents and hour, and some get 25, and an effort is being made to get the larger amount for all hands. Some of the employers who are paying a few men 25 cents an hour say that the others are not worth it, and they refuse to pay the same rate to all. The carpenters first tried to get an amicable settlement, but failed.

The 35 tinsmiths who went out on Saturday are still out.

Ottawa, Ont., June 3.—Later—The woodworkers' strike is spreading, and about 200 men are now affected. The mayor addressed the strikers this morning at their headquarters. The employers will meet tonight to discuss the situation. They say it will kill business to grant the men's demands. All the men are orderly, and no trouble is feared.

ADVANCE CONCEDED.

Wilmington, Del., June 3.—The Betts Machine Company and the Standard Machine Company, employing about 75 men, have granted the nine-hour day with ten hours' pay to the striking machinists. The men returned to work today.

Buffalo, June 1.—Four hundred and fifty men employed in the New York Central car shops at Depew went out on strike this morning. Between 360 and 370 of them are machinists and the rest are machinists' helpers.

BRICKLAYERS STRIKE.

Toronto, June 3.—About 40 brickleyers' laborers went out on strike Saturday for an increase in wages from 18½ cents an hour to 21 cents. This is only about one-third of the bricklayers' laborers employed here.

THE MACHINISTS' CONVENTION.

Toronto, June 3.—The delegates to the convention of the International Association of Machinists, which opens this morning in St. Andrew's Hall, were continually arriving in the city Saturday and yesterday.

The progress of the strike President O'Connell considers very satisfactory. Mr. W. Melican, president of District No. 8 of the International Association, arrived in the city last night from Chicago to consult with Mr. O'Connell in regard to the situation there.

"I am informed by Mr. Melican," said President O'Connell to the Globe last night, "that the allied trades in Chicago stand ready to go out at any time to assist the machinists. Their assistance, however, is not considered necessary at the present juncture. If a general strike occurs it would involve 25,000 people.

"Mr. Chalmers, a large foundryman of Chicago, and practically the mouthpiece of the National Metal Trades Association, and who handles the truth with a recklessness simply wonderful, states that the Metal Trades Association propose to return to the ten-hour system. I can tell Mr. Chalmers that the ten hours have gone forever, and he will never be able to secure that system again."

ACTION WAS ILL-ADVISED.

The action of the men in the New York Central shops at Depew, who went out, will have to be discussed by the convention, as their action under the rules of the association was illegal. "It was an ill-advised action," said President O'Connell, referring to the matter, "very much so."

CONCILIATORY

The Betts Machinery Company, of Wilmington, have offered a nine-hour day and 10 per cent increase in wages, to take effect on Sept. 1. In the meantime they offer to pay overtime for the extra hour, and a settlement will probably be made on that basis.

Tolyoke, Mass., June 3.—Two thousand employes of the paper mills in this city went out on strike Saturday afternoon, as ordered by the Eagle Lodge of Papermakers' and the Stationary Firemen's Unions.

MORE CONCESSIONS.

Hartford, Conn.—Eighteen hundred of the men who have been on strike here returned to work in six machine shops this morning, the companies having granted the demands for a 9-hour-day with 10 hours' pay, while agreeing to recognize local shop committees, but not the union's committees.

Youngstown, Ohio. — The National Tube Company of the United States Steely Corporation today voluntarily advanced the wages of the 425 workers in the Youngstown plant an average of 17½ cents per day.

Newport News, Va.—About 300 machinists struck today at the Newport News shipyard.

TWO MONTHS FOR YOUTHFUL THIEF.

Samuel Betts Sentenced on Two Charges of Stealing.

Samuel Betts, the Lucan lad who pleaded guilty to two charges, one of stealing $15 from his employer, Chas. Avey, of Biddulph, and the other of stealing and selling a gold ring belonging to Wesley Charlton, of London township, was brought before Judge Edward Elliott yesterday and sentenced to two months' imprisonment on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently. In passing sentence, the judge regretfully to the fact that the prisoner had started so early on a career of crime, and warned him that unless he mended his ways he would probably spend a large portion of his life in prison. Had there been only one offense, said the judge, he would have been disposed to let the prisoner go on suspended sentence. Even as it was, he proposed to make the punishment a lenient one, and would accordingly recommend that the boy be not taken to the Central Prison, where he would consort with abandoned criminals, but be allowed to serve two months in the county jail.

SOCIETY WEDDING IN TORONTO SATURDAY.

Marriage of Miss Frances Lilian Dignam and Sir Jean Alexander Van Hoogenhouck Tulleken.

Toronto, June 3.—Four Toronto brides were married on Saturday. One of these was Miss Frances Lilian Dignam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dignam, of St. George street, whose marriage with Sir Jean Alexander van Hoogenhouck Tulleken, first lieutenant Royal Guards, The Hague, took place at half-past two o'clock in the drawing-room of her home in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends only. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Davey.

There were no bridesmaids nor groomsman, and the witnesses who signed their marriage certificate, which was bound in a handsome "bridal book," were the mayor of Toronto and the consul of the Netherlands, Mr. A. Nordheimer. From 3 until half-past four o'clock a stream of friends arrived to offer their congratulations, who were received upon their entrance by Mr. and Mrs. Dignam, and then passed on to offer their congratulations and good-wishes to the bride and bridegroom, who stood under the arch of white lilies in the bow window of the drawing-room. This arch, and also the very artistic decorations of the mantelpieces and rooms were done by some of the bride's girl friends, and were greatly admired by all the guests. An orchestra played in the upper hall throughout the afternoon.

The fair bride herself looked as dainty and winsome as the white blossoms that hung above her head. Her gown was of white duchess satin, trimmed with beautiful rose point lace and chiffon, and her veil was fastened with a spray of white lupin. Her ornaments were pearls and diamonds. The bridegroom wore the splendid uniform of the Royal Guards of Holland. Mrs. Dignam was in a handsome black costume, trimmed on the bodice with white silk applique embroidery, cameo and gold ornaments. Refreshments were served in the dining-room, where the table was decorated with lilies of the valley. The bride's cake stood in the center on pale green silk and lace, surrounded with some of the lilies. The guests afterwards passed upstairs to see the many handsome wedding gifts, and to write their names in the "bridal book," of which mention has already been made. Shortly before 5 o'clock Sir Jean and Lady Tulleken left for a short wedding journey, but will return to Toronto again before sailing for their future home at The Hague. The bride's traveling gown was of royal blue broadcloth, with a bodice of white satin brocade, the Eton coat being lined with the same; large flat hat, trimmed with pastel blue and black roses. On her return Lady Tulleken will receive with her mother, next Friday afternoon. A pretty departure from the usual custom of ricethrowing was that of pelting the bride and bridegroom with petals of the lilac blossoms, quantities of which had been saved up by some of her girl friends for that purpose.

The long list of invited guests, most of whom were present included the following Londoners: Mr. and Mrs. N. Stanley Williams, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kingston, Mrs. Gilbert Glass and Mr. and Mrs. John Cameron.

The bride, who is well known here, is a native Londoner, her parents having lived here for some years. She is a niece of Mr. Stanley Williams.

JUNIORS' GAME.

A very interesting game of ball was played at Springbank on Saturday between the Junior Hortons and the Junior Superiors, resulting in a victory for the latter by a score of 5 to 3, as follows:

	R.
Superiors .. ..0 2 0 1 0 2—	5
Hortons ....1 0 0 2 0 0—	3

Batteries: Superiors, Wonnacott and V. Ryan; Hortons, Reid and MacClain.

FOOTBALL.

CANADA VS. ENGLAND.

Montreal, June 3.—There is every chance of an "all Canada Rugby team" going to England next fall to show the British football players what sort of men there are in Canada, and the matter will come up for final consideration at the meeting of the Quebec Rugby Union, which will be held in Montreal on Saturday, June 8.

Many of the older players in this vicinity are greatly in favor of such a trip, and if it should be decided to send a team it is certain that a large number of men would turn out to practice the English game, which was seen here at the time of the visit of the Irish team.

That there is an earnest endeavor to bring about such a trip is shown by the extensive correspondence which has already passed between England and Canada upon the subject. If the plan carries the present differences of opinion between Ottawa city and the remainder of the Quebec Rugby Union will probably be smoothed over and players from Ottawa as well as from Montreal will figure on the international team.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., June 3.—D. N. McLeod, merchant tailor, was found dead in bed at his boarding house this morning. He was single and aged about 30 years. His parents reside in Dunvegan.

DR. UNGER ADMITTED TO BAIL.

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Toronto, June 3.—The following provincial appointments are announced: Dr. Robert M. Calder, Petrolia, associate coroner for Lambton county; Henry H. Shaver, Cooksville, and Andrew M. Stewart, Toronto, to be notaries public.

ICEBERGS IN OCEAN HIGHWAYS.

St. Johns, Nfld., June 2.—The Allan Line steamer Sicilian, from Glasgow, which arrived here yesterday, and a copper-carrying steamer arriving at Tilt Cove, both report immense ice floes 200 miles off the coast, drifting south into the track of trans-Atlantic shipping. The floes are studded with great icebergs, which are particularly dangerous to ocean steamers.

GEN. BALLINGTON BOOTH'S STATEMENT.

New York, June 3.—Gen. Ballington Booth, of the Volunteers of America denied today that he was about to return to the Salvation Army and to be reunited with his father.

SNAKES IN INDIA KEEP ON INCREASING

Annual Mortality From Serpents Has Reached 24,621—Wild Animals Also Destructive.

The home department of the Government of India has one sphere of activity to which nothing analogous can be found in this country—namely, the destruction of wild beasts and poisonous snakes. During 1899 the number of deaths among human beings attributed to wild animals was 2,966. Fortunately, however, the number is below the average of the last four years, and much lower than the number (4,283) reported in 1897.

In 1899 tigers caused the death of 899, wolves of 388 and leopards of 327 human beings, while bears, elephants, hyenas, jackals and crocodiles were accountable for a large proportion of the remainder. The tiger is most destructive in Bengal, about half of the whole number of victims of this animal being reported from that province. Maneaters have especially troubled certain districts, and liberal rewards have been offered for their destruction. In the Bhamo district of Upper Burmah a single man-eating tiger killed about 20 persons. A special reward of 100 rupees was paid for its destruction. More than half the deaths from leopards occurred in Bengal, while more than three-fourths of those from wolves occurred in the northwestern provinces of Oudh, says a London newspaper.

Special measures were taken to hunt down a particularly destructive pack near Cawnpur. High rewards were offered and hunting parties organized, but without much success.

The loss of human life from snakes reached the high total of 24,621, a greater mortality than in any of the four preceding years. Nearly half the deaths occurred in Bengal, while the northwestern provinces and Oudh came next with nearly one-fourth of the total. In Bengal the relatively high mortality is attributed to floods, which drove the snakes to the high lands on which village homesteads are built. As will be observed, snakes are more destructive of human life than are the wild animals, but the reverse is true of the destruction of cattle. In 1899 no fewer than 89,238 cattle were destroyed by wild animals and 9,449 by snakes. Of the former 37,986 fell victims to leopards and 34,321 to tigers.

The leopard is even more destructive to cattle than the tiger in Bengal. This province is the greatest sufferer from the ravages of wild animals and snakes, its loss being 30,539 cattle. Assam lost 17,010, Madras 15,529, Burmah 11,016, and the central provinces 11,683. The number of wild animals destroyed was 18,887, and the amount paid for their destruction was 107,476 rupees. The number of snakes killed was 94,548 and the rewards paid for this service amounted to 4,151 rupees.

KINDNESS APPRECIATED.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

On behalf of myself and the children of my deceased brother, T. A. Parkinson, I desire to render my sincere thanks to all the lodges of which he was a member, and other friends, for their kindness and attention during his illness, and in the hour of our bereavement. I shall ever remember with gratitude the many kind acts of his fraternal brethren, and feel that through their ministrations his closing hours were made as peaceful as human skill could make them. I take this means of conveying my thanks to each one.

MRS. McKINLEY'S CONDITION SERIOUS.

Washington, June 3.—Mrs. McKinley's physicians were in consultation about an hour this morning, after which Secretary Cortelyou gave out the following statement:

"Drs. Rixey, Sternberg and Johnston were joined by Dr. Osler, of Baltimore, in consultation at 10 a.m., and report that Mrs. McKinley's condition is as favorable as could be expected. There is no immediate apprehension."

THE OLD LIBERTY BELL

How the Prince of Wales (Now King) Stirred Up the Pride of Americans.

It is recalled with interest at this particular time that the recovery of the famous Liberty Bell from the dust and rubbish of an attic was due to a remark made by the Prince of Wales, now Edward VII., says the Youth's Companion. When the prince—so the story goes—was in Philadelphia in 1860 he took great interest in the relics of the revolutionary period, although his visit to Independence Hall was projected purely in a spirit of mischief by his entertainers.

In rummaging in the garret the party discovered the old cracked bell which had been somewhat contemptuously hidden away, and this more than any other relic seemed to fascinate the prince, whose words have thus been reported:

"This old bell is the greatest relic this republic has today. Instead of being here, covered with this accumulated dirt, it should occupy the chief place in this Hall of Independence. It is to you what the Magna Charta is to England. It is cracked, but it is an inspiration. Believe me, my friends, it affects me more than anything I have been shown."

The good sense of this suggestion appealed immediately to the pride and sensibility of the custodians of the relics, and from that moment the Liberty Bell took its "chief place in the Hall of Independence." It is strange, indeed, that a rebuke for the neglect by Americans of a symbol of their liberty should have come from an English prince, and the direct descendant of the monarch who endeavored to deprive us of that liberty.—U. S. Exchange.

HE WENT.

He—Half-past 11! Isn't that clock fast?

She—I think not.

He—Well, I guess my watch is like myself. It is slow.

She—But it is not exactly like you.

He—Indeed?

She—No. It goes.—Harlem Life.

GOOD BARGAINERS.

Bass—I got some eggs of Mrs. Fowler for 15 cents a dozen. I praised her baby, you know.

Fogg—That's nothing. I bought some of Fowler for 12 cents. I spoke in admiration of his dog.—What to Eat.

A SUCCESSFUL COOK.

Mr. House—It doesn't seem to me that our new cook is a great success.

Mrs. House—Not as a cook, I grant you; but she has lived in nearly half the families in town, and her conversation is so entertaining.—Boston Transcript.

The butchers of New York have announced an increase in the price of meats. The increase will go into effect this morning, and ranges from ½ to 3 cents per pound.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup

AT THE PAN.

Buffalo, June 3.—The Northwest Territories of Canada have decided to make a live stock exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition, including sheep, cattle and horses.

IT RETAINS OLD AND MAKES NEW FRIENDS.—Time was when Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil had but a small field of distribution, but now its territory is widespread. Those who first recognized its curative qualities still value it as a specific, and while it retains its old friends it is ever making new. It is certain that whoever once uses it will not be without it.

The Indian population of Canada was 99,010 in 1900, according to the report of the department of Indian affairs

For Housekeepers.

Except in the flower and vegetable departments the supplies this morning were meagre, and trade was comparatively stagnant. The display of flowers was quite fine, and buyers were more numerous about the florists stands than elsewhere. For transplanting the prices of leading kinds were: Pansies, 10c to 25c per box; petunias, 15c to 20c, and others in much the same ratio. Hand and table bouquets were also exhibited, and found customers quite readily. Butchers' meat was not offered in large quantities today. Spring lambs were a shade easier, and sold from $3 50 to $4 50 each. An average midweek trade was conducted in dairy produce, which was supplied in adequate quantities. Very little poultry was sold.

TOLEDO, June 3.—Wheat—Cash, 75¾c; July, 75¼c; Sept., 74c. Corn—July, 45⅛c. Oats—July, 28½c.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Rumors of a possible "squeeze" in July wheat caused a sharp advance today, and after an exceedingly active session July closed 2¼c to 2⅝c higher; July corn closed ⅛c lower; July oats a shade lower and July provisions from unchanged to 10c lower. The visible supply decreased 3,132,000 bu. Primary receipts were 912,229 bu, against 1,036,000 bu last year. Seaboard shipments of wheat and flour were equal to 1,185,000 bu. Fifteen loads were reported taken for export. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 603 cars, against 419 last week and 529 a year ago. Local receipts were 93 cars, none of contract grade. Corn was dull, but secured considerable benefit from the strength in wheat. Oats were firm, within a narrow range. Provisions were dull, but, helped by the strength in wheat, ruled fairly steady.

The leading futures closed: Wheat—No. 2, June, 76¾c; July, 77⅞c to 77⅞c; Sept., 73⅝c. Corn—June, 44⅛c; July, 45c; Sept., 45⅛c. Oats—July, 28½c; Sept., 26¾c. Pork—July, $14 55; Sept., $14 62½. Lard—July, $8 17½; Sept., $8 22½. Ribs—July, $7 85; Sept., $7 82½.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE PARK.

Hiatt's Specialty Company Open at Springbank Park—Large Crowd Witness the Performance.

The second week of the Springbank attractions opened last night to the largest audience of any evening since the opening. Hiatt's New York Specialty Company, composed of seven people, provided the entertainment. The first part includes musical numbers, jokes, etc., and is of about half an hour's duration. The second part of the programme enables the several members of the company to perform specialties, giving songs, dances and character sketches. The most popular performer is Miss Nellie Franklyn, who is an accomplished artist. She received several encores. In the double turn with W. S. Hiatt, she again received applause for her excellent work as a change artist. The remainder of the programme was provided by Burnett and Rich, musical artists, Rossley and Lee, in a comedy sketch, and Harry Wardell, in negro songs and dances. The company will appear every evening this week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Most of the contents were destroyed.

MRS. BONINE'S CASE.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—The case of Mrs. Lotta Henri Bonine, held for the killing of Young Ayres, the census bureau clerk, at the Hotel Kenmore, several weeks ago, was presented to the grand jury yesterday. The efforts of the government point strongly to the theory that the victim was shot in the thigh while lying on the bed, and that the other shots were inflicted while he was going toward the assailant. Mrs. Bonine will not be a witness before the grand jury.

MACHINISTS' CONVENTION.

Annual Meeting of the International Association at Toronto.

The Men Want Reasonable Hours of Labor and a Fair Wage.

Toronto, June 3.—The convention of the International Machinists' Union was opened this morning, with 150 delegates from the United States, Mexico and Canada in attendance. The union is growing fast, capita dues from 30,000 members having been paid in connection with the convention. The delegates were welcomed by the mayor and members of the council, and afterwards the convention went into executive session. Many important matters will come up in addition to the questions arising from the strike. During the past two years, through defalcations of officers, $83,429 have been embezzled, and it is proposed to require that all local and general officers handling funds shall provide bonds for the proper performance of their duty. The convention will also vote on the question of abolishing piece-work and increasing the dues of the union to 75 cents a month.

The proceedings at the International Machinists' Convention were of a routine nature, after the reading of the president's address. In his reply to the civic welcome, Mr. O'Connell said there was one matter upon which there could be no retreat. The ten-hour day for machinists was gone forever, and as a result of the strike inaugurated on May 20, 150,000 men would hereafter work only nine hours a day. The president announced that there are two clauses in the agreement of the association with the National Metal Trades' Association which he does not approve of—one to the effect that the employer shall be free to employ any man, union or non-union, but that he shall not discriminate against a union man, and the other giving the employer absolute power to determine the question of competency. He recommended that this agreement be taken up for consideration, and a conference arranged for with the National Metal Trades' Association.

The strike news received today at headquarters was chiefly of the signing of the agreement by prominent firms. The Providence Engineering Company, employing 300 men, signed. In Philadelphia, three considerable firms, and in Plainfield, N. J., one firm signed. In Chicago, it is stated officially, only 1,500 men are out. The strike of the machinists in the shipbuilding yards at Newport News, McConnell regards as important, because while there are only 300 machinists employed, there are some 5,000 men employed in the yards. In many other smaller shipyards the men are out, and a nine-hour day in all seems probable.

AT THE PAN-AMERICAN

The 13th Regiment Band, of Hamilton, Gave a Concert Yesterday—A Trick Bicyclist Badly Hurt.

Buffalo, June 4.—The famous 13th Regiment Band of Hamilton, Ont., gave the first concert at the Pan-American Exposition yesterday, and was received heartily by the crowd. It will play for a week. They are the forerunners of Canadian troops that will come later. Major Wolf, director of military, is arranging for detachments of crack Canadian soldiery that were in the Boer war. Above all, he is endeavoring to secure a troop of the famous Strathcona Horse. The 15th Light Argyle Infantry of Belleville, Ont., Col. Wm. Ponton commanding, will be here from June 29 to July 1. They will bring two bands. It was practically assured yesterday that the 48th Highlanders of Toronto, with their band will come some time in August.

Teddy Oliver, 19 years old, was perhaps fatally injured while doing his act in a Midway show at the exposition grounds last night. Oliver's turn was to ride a bicycle off the edge of a platform 40 feet high and dive into a pool of water below. Last night Oliver's wheel swerved just as he made the leap, and he fell near the edge of the basin, where the water is only five feet deep. He landed on his head, and was taken from the water in an unconscious condition.

A MATTER OF NAMES.

They were engaged to be married, and called each other by their first names, Tom and Fanny, and he was telling her how he had always liked the name of Fanny, and how it sounded like music in his ear.

"I like the name so well," he added, as a sort of clincher to the argument, "that when sister Clara asked me to name her pet terrier I at once called it Fanny, after you, dearest."

"I don't think that was very nice," said the fair girl, edging away from him; "how would you like to have a dog named atfer you?"

"Why, that's nothing," said Tom airily; "half the cats in the country are named after me."

WHOM TO MARRY

Max O'Rell Advises Young Men on the Subject—Don't Marry a Woman Who Can't Appreciate a Joke.

In two preceding articles, one on "Advice to Young Men About to Marry" and another on "Selection of Partners," I dwelt on the qualities that a man should seek in a future wife. In a third article I took the liberty of condemning long engagements, holding the opinion that though during the period of an engagement young couples may try ever so hard to study each other, they fail to learn how to know each other, and I attempted to prove why. In this article I should like to content myself with giving a few hints on how to learn the character of a woman from her external appearance.

Phrenology is making progress, and I have witnessed marvelous descriptions of character derived from the feeling of the bumps; but when you take a fancy to a girl you cannot say to her: "Now, I think I might get very fond of you and ask you to marry me, but before going any further I will take you to a phrenologist and hear what he has to say on your bumps." The girl might resent it. There are women who do not like to be trotted out. Of course, you might say to her: "Oh, but I will submit to the operation myself." This would only be fair, but somehow it is not a very delicate and fascinating manner of starting a love affair. Besides, there would be unpleasant risks to run. The phrenologist might say of you before the girl: "You are not a murderer, but you are inquisitive."

Marry a woman smaller than yourself.

Don't marry a woman who has thin lips, or who cannot laugh heartily. The character of persons is ascertained from the way they laugh. Don't marry a woman whose smiles are forced. Marry one who looks amiable when she laughs.

Marry a woman who can see a joke, who has a sense of humor and who looks at the bright side of things.

Don't marry a critical woman who makes fun of her friends behind their backs; marry one who has a good word to say for every one who is abused before her.

Marry a woman who has perfect health and a good appetite. Don't marry one who finds fault with every dish which is presented to her.

Don't marry a woman who, whatever station of life she may belong to, thinks it below her dignity to go in a street car or a third-class carriage when all the first-class ones are full.

If a girl out of her little pocket money saves a dollar a week to make you a little present on your birthday, marry her. If she does not give you anything because she cannot afford to buy an expensive present, don't marry her.

Try to ascertain how she wakes up, however suddenly roused from her sleep. If she wakes up with an immediate smile, marry her. If she wakes up with a frown, saying: "What is it?" don't marry her; she is neither amiable nor cheerful. This test is an infallible one. Half awake, half asleep, she has no time to think; she reveals herself.

If a woman is sulky and consumes her own smoke, don't marry her. Marry a woman who apologizes at once for any lack of consideration she may have been guilty of, and who calls on you to immediately apologize for any such act which you may have committed. Never marry a woman who allows accounts to accumulate. Bills should never be allowed to run. Always settle them as they come along.

Don't marry a girl who has society manners. The girl who keeps her best frowns for the family circle is not fit for matrimony. While you are engaged to her she may treat you as kindly as she does strangers; but you may be sure when she is married to you she will treat you as she does the rest of the family.

Marry a woman who has a soft voice and looks you straight in the face when she speaks to you.

If when you call on a woman she keeps you waiting half an hour in order to appear absolutely irreproachable before you, do not marry her. If she comes down at once, such as she is, with her hair quickly rolled and fastened together and a dressing-gown on, that woman is natural, unconventional and considerate. Marry her, especially if she does not apologize to you for appearing en neglige, which, after all, is a compliment she is paying to you.

If a girl is called by her brothers Ted, Tom, Mich or Dick, marry her; she is a good fellow. Marry a girl who shows her fondness for the other sex by the sweet attentions she pays to her father. Marry a girl who takes an interest in his study or any other sanctum he may have at home and likes to sit with him or by him, on his knees especially, pulling his nose and mustache and calling him by some outrageously stupid and familiar pet name. The girl who flirts with her father, who does not allow him to go out without examining him carefully, who arranges his cravat, who sees that his coat does not show above his overcoat, who takes off little bits from his clothes, and who, when she is satisfied with his general appearance, kisses him good-bye, that girl will be a lovely wife. Happy the father who has her! Happy the husband who will have her!

Arsenic in Clothing.

[From the London Chronicle.]

The fact that arsenic is liable to be found in certain articles of clothing, and that it is capable of inducing skin ailments under certain circumstances, has long been known to the medical world. The most recent information afforded us on this head is that supplied by Drs. Tunnicliffe and Rosenheim on the amount of arsenic which is liable to be contained in black woolen stickings. The arsenic, it appears, originally made its appearance in connection with analine dyes. On this account a German law, I learn, forbids the use of any dye of which arsenic is a component part. In Sweden and Austria similar enactments prevail. At home no such provisions exist, and even wallpapers may be colored with arsenical dyes, without representing articles that the law considers injurious to health. The best classes of wallpapers are, of course, non-arsenical, but it is to be feared that many lower priced papers contain a more than appreciable amount of the poison, which is liable to be volatilized by the gas of a room. The authors from whom a quote remark that the analyses of black silk socks and yellow stockings, "made in Germany," showed a freedom from arsenic.

TRY ONE.

Napoleon III. and Horses Meat.

[Paris Correspondence Pall Mall Gazette.]

M. Decroix, the founder of the French Anti-Tobacco League, who has just died suddenly, though at the ripe old age of 80, was a man of many anecdotes. Most of them bore on the difficulties which beset the path of the reformer who, when he is not treated with contumely, is woefully misunderstood. Under the second empire, and before he began his campaign against tobacco, M. Decroix, in whom the missionary spirit was indeed strong, started a crusade in favor of eating horseflesh. His ideas, in spite of the untiring energy with which he promulgated them, seemed to make little or no headway. In his despair at his scant success he decided to appeal to Napoleon III. in person. He addressed a long report to the emperor, setting forth in detail the undreamed-of advantages of a horse meat diet, and humbly requesting the sovereign to give the matter his attention and to intervene in favor of ideas which would redound to the well-being of his subjects. He recalled how Louis XVI. had established the reputation of the long despised potato by wearing its flower in his buttonhole; a word of approbation from his majesty might dispel the prejudice against the horse. M. Decroix was a veterinary surgeon in the army at the time, and a very few days after the dispatch of his report he was summoned to appear before Marshal Vaillant, the master of the imperial household. He found the marshal beside himself with rage and indignation. "So you, sir," he roared as Decroix entered his room, "are the person who proposes that the emperor should eat horse meat! You must be out of your senses. The emperor eat horse meat!" The marshal was at a loss for further words in which to express his stupefaction, and he motioned Decroix out of his presence with a gesture which indicated that he might be thankful he had escaped being placed under arrest for a grave breach of discipline.

Four Bears at a Shot.

[From the Maine Woods.]

About seven years ago Mr. Withee was presented with two fine hounds, and wishing to try their training and their grit he took them out to do a little bear hunting.

The first morning Withee let the dogs out for a run while he was getting the breakfast, expecting them to be back in a short time. When breakfast was over the dogs had not returned, so taking his gun Withee started out in the direction they had taken. After traveling about a mile the faint barking of dogs could be heard, and it was then plain why the dogs had not returned. They had scented game and were in pursuit. The sound of the barking led him far up the side of a mountain, and soon he came in sight of the dogs standing around the upturned roots of a tree.

Mr. Withee crept up cautiously until within about fifteen feet of a cave that was near by, and then a black, shaggy head could be seen just above the roots. Taking good aim, he fired his 44-caliber and awaited results. After several minutes he went up to the cave, and what he saw there gave him a shock from which he has never recovered. Two bears lay dead and two more were so stunned that a few quick passes with a knife settled them.

For the four bears Mr. Withee received $20 bounty, $27.50 for their hides and $42 for the bear oil, making $89.50 for one day's hunt.

A STERLING HEART.

Feeling as if she had been bereft of a personal friend, Shirley turned sadly away from the little house where she had been so kindly received as a homeless waif, and wended her way back to her boarding-place with a heavy heart and tearful eyes.

"What is life worth?" she asked herself, feeling strangely depressed and desolate as she mounted the steps leading to the elevated station; "at least, what is it worth to me, situated as I am? I have not a friend in the world, save Madame Marton; I have nothing to look forward to save a life of loneliness and ceaseless toil, in order to provide myself with the necessaries of life, while my time is so crowded that I have not even the pleasure of doing anything to brighten the lives of others. I feel as if I were a very useless mortal. It is true that I wait upon Madame Marton a little, but I am afraid that I am not very disinterested in so doing, since I cling to her as my only friend, and should be very lonely without her; while, of late, she has seemed to be growing really fond of me; but the outlook ahead is far from encouraging."

It was not often that Shirley indulged in such gloomy reflections, but the death of her old friend had saddened her; at the same time, her visit to Mrs. Knapp's former home had recalled the days when she had been so happy there in Clifton's love, and the contrast between them then and now was too much for even her sunny nature to overcome all at once.

But no one could have called Shirley a useless mortal during the long winter which followed, and which seemed to her so monotonous and uneventful.

She did not realize what a very bright little planet she was in the sphere where she thought herself of so small account; but she was constantly giving out the light of her sunny nature to cheer the lives of those around her. It never occurred to her, when she appeared every morning, so fresh and breezy, in the rooms of the Misses Marshall that she was a veritable sunbeam to them. But it was the greatest event of the day to them, for she always had something bright to tell them—some bit of news, or a droll incident to relate; or, perchance, a lovely new picture, which she had seen in an uptown window, to describe to them; and those items of interest served as themes for pleasant conversation during many long hours that otherwise would have been dull and lonely.

Then, too, she often did errands for them, such as matching silks and worsteds, getting stamping done, etc., for these portly ladies amused themselves by doing endless fancy work for numerous bazaars and charitable sales.

There was still another to whom she seemed like a veritable angel of light, and who, in after years, as one of the merchant princes of the country, attributed to a great extent his success to her.

He was an apparently dull and stupid boy in the grade above the one Shirley taught.

She had found him crying in the corridor outside her school room one day, and, upon kindly asking the cause of his grief, he had shown her a slateful of sums, every one of which had been crossed out as wrong by the relentless pencil of his teacher.

"I hate 'rithm'tic," he had told her, in despair. "I hate school, and I hate her wust of all," pointing with a very soiled thumb over his shoulder toward the room where "her" presided.

Shirley could scarcely restrain a smile at the comical appearance he presented, although she pitied the poor child, for he looked really wretched.

"Come to me at recess, and we will see what we can do with these dreadful bugbears," she told him in an encouraging tone, and he went back to his other work comforted and hopeful.

He was at her side the moment she was at liberty, and she soon found where the trouble lay.

He knew his rules—he could add, subtract, multiply and divide well enough, but he lacked the ability to reason out for himself, and no one had ever had the patience to teach him how to apply the rules to his work.

Shirley labored with him for one long, tedious month, until he grasped the situation and conquered, and thus won his everlasting gratitude.

A useless life?

Ah, no! With his own duties well done, and scattering these other little deeds of kindness by the way, with a bright smile and a cheerful word for everyone, Shirley Livingstone was of vastly more importance in the world than she gave herself credit for.

So the winter waned and March came in, with its blustering winds and continuous storms of snow, sleet and rain.

Madame Marton took a severe cold about this time, and absolutely refusing to have anything done for it, or any "fuss made over her," it soon developed into an alarming attack of pneumonia.

Then there followed long weeks of wearisome watching and anxiety.

Shirley was obliged to secure a nurse, for, of course, she could not leave her school to take care of the suffering woman, even if she had possessed the necessary strength and experience to do so.

The physician and nurse together made a brave fight for madame's life, and, at the end of three weeks, she began to slowly mend. But she was very frail and feeble for a long time, and it was during this time that Shirley began to realize something of the wealth of affection which her apparently long-calloused heart was capable of feeling.

She was wonderfully patient during her illness, her very nature seemed to soften, until she appeared like an entirely different person, while she clung to the girl who had been so faithful to her with a yearning fondness that was extremely pathetic.

One day, after the fever had turned, and the doctor had given them some hopes of recovery, Shirley, feeling deeply grateful over the invalid's improved condition, stooped and softly kissed the white face on the pillow, when, to her surprise, madame feebly lifted her arms, and, putting them around her neck, drew her bright head down upon her bosom, laying her trembling lips against the soft golden hair.

When she released her there were tears in her eyes—the first that Shirley had ever seen there.

"I suppose you think that I am a foolish, sentimental old woman," she remarked, apologetically, though she still clung to one of Shirley's hands.

"No, indeed, I do not," said the young girl, giving her an impulsive little hug in return. "I think it is perfectly delightful that you are beginning to love me a little."

"A little! Child! child! I have tried to hide it, I am ashamed to confess. This old heart of mine would be utterly desolate without you," madame tremulously returned. "What should I have done but for you this dreadful winter, since all who once professed to be my friends have turned their backs on me?"

"Well, we are rather a lonely pair, as regards friends, dear Madame Marton," Shirley responded, with a faint smile, "and I am sure it was a wise Providence that threw us together."

"It has, indeed, proved a great blessing to me," said the woman, appreciatively, "though I haven't been as good to you as I might have been."

Shirley laid her rosy fingers on the white lips to stop these humiliating confessions, which she answered, brightly:

"You have been good enough to make me love you very much, at any rate; and now, if you will only hurry up and get well I shall be both thankful and happy. Now I must run away to school, and you must not talk any more," and touching her red lips once more to the faded cheek she tripped away, while madame watched her retreating form with fond and wistful eyes.

She had a restful sleep after that, and was much refreshed when she awoke.

The nurse brought her some nourishment, of which she partook with a better appetite than she had yet displayed.

As she passed the bowl back to the woman she asked:

"Do you think, nurse, there is any doubt about my getting up again?"

"No, if you do not take any more cold."

"If I should I'd be apt to go rather suddenly, eh?

"I am afraid so; a relapse in penumonia is something to be very much dreaded," the woman gravely returned.

After a few minutes she asked the nurse to go to a trunk and bring her a certain box, which she described.

It was brought, and madame, taking an official looking document from it, told the woman to lay it on the fire in the grate. This was done, and she lay watching it while it was consuming with an expression of intense satisfaction in her eyes.

When it was finally reduced to a pile of blackened ashes she asked that pen, ink and paper be brought to her.

"You are not able to do any writing today," objected the nurse.

"I know that, but you can write for me," briefly responded madame.

So the writing materials were laid on the table by her side, where her wondering companion seated herself to await further orders.

Taking another document from the box, madame passed it to her, remarking:

"I want this addressed to Jonas Nettleton, Quebec, Canada."

The woman wrote the address in a bold clear hand, madame watching her closely the while.

"Now take a sheet of paper, date it, and write the same address, with the words 'Dear Sir,'" said the sick woman.

This was also done, and she continued:

"Please have this instrument recorded at once and return to me without delay. Very truly yours—I guess it won't hurt me to just sign my name," she concluded, reaching out her hand for the pen.

"No; I will allow you to do that much," replied the nurse, as she rose and held the sheet before her for her to affix her signature.

This done, the note was placed inside the envelope with the document, which was sealed, after which madame directed her to stamp it and go directly out and mail it for her.

She appeared as if relieved of a great burden when this was accomplished, and she seemed to much brighter when Shirley returned from school that she was very hopeful for the future.

A week passed, and at the end of that time madame received her package back again, together with a letter which appeared to afford her the utmost satisfaction; she made no comments regarding the matter, however; but, after destroying the epistle, she ordered the document returned to the box within her trunk, and looked well pleased when the key was finally turned upon it.

She continued to improve steadily after this, and as April drifted into May, and the days grew warm and sunny, she began to look forward to getting out of doors once more.

How to Get Up an Appetite.

Distaste for food often follows Grippe, and fevers, and is associated with a general weakness of the system. To impart a real zest for food, and give power to the stomach to digest and assimilate, no remedy can equal Ferrozone. This is a new and startling discovery. It strikes at the root of disease, and by removing the cause, cures quickly and permanently. Ferrozone will quickly enable you to eat and digest anything. Mr. Strong, druggist, can tell you a great deal more about Ferrozone, how it cures, and why it cures. Call today and see him.

ON PAROLE.

A fine Jersey cow which had escaped from her owner's lot and was roaming the streets of Memphis at will was roped in by a pound officer. This action, says the Memphis Scimitar, evoked a moving appeal to the chief of police from her owner:

"Chief Richards, Old Friend. The pound man hauled my cow into court this morning for prowling. As it was her first offense, please have her let off with as light a fine as possible.

"G. W. Davis."

Underneath this letter Chief Richards scribbled the following instructions to the pound man:

"Release the old cow referred to on her own recognizance."

HAMILTON RACES.

Hamilton, Ont., June 3.—The spring meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club opens tomorrow and will continue for the balance of this week. About 200 horses are now stabled at the track, all the principal owners who attended Toronto having brought up their horses. The entries have all filled well, and the prospects for a good five days' sport are excellent. J. J. Burke will be the presiding judge, Frank Nelson associated judge and handicapper, and Mars Cassidy starter.

BETTING ON THE DERBY.

London, June 3.—The following are the latest betting figures which have been posted for the Derby, to be run at Epsom on Wednesday: Volodnovsky, 2 to 1; Floriform, 6 to 1; Handicapper, 8 to 1; Revenue, 9 to 1; William III., 14 to 1; Royal Rouge, 14 to 1. The other probable starters are: Doricles, Ian, Cottager, Olympian, Pietermaritzburg, Orithard, Lard Bobs, St. Maclon, Tanlalous, Veranese, Royal George, Veles, Osberth, Rusgin, Wargrave, H. R. H., Sang Bleu and Prince Charles II.

GRAVESEND RACES.

New York, June 3.—Good weather, spirited racing and a fast track all tended to provide a good day's sport at Gravesend today. Summary:

First race, 1⅛ miles, hurdle, handicap—Cephalagia 1, Desperado 2, Monroe Doctrine 3. Time, 2:22.

Second race, selling, 5 furlongs—Neither One 1, Right Away 2, Rossignol 3. Time, 1:02 4-5.

Third race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Gold Spinner 1, Ethics 2, Belvine 3. Time, 1:47.

Fourth race, the Criterion stakes, 5 furlongs—Grail 1, Blue Girl 2, Hanover Queen 3. Time, 1:01 4-5.

Fifth race, 1 1-16 miles—Dr. Barlow 1, First Whip 2, Alcedo 3. Time, 1:48 3-5.

Sixth race, selling, about 5 furlongs—Godfrey 1, Dr. Riddel 2, Oliver Mac 3. Time, 1:12.

THE OAR.

FOR THE HENLEY REGATTA.

London, June 3.—The entries of foreign crews for this year's Henley regatta closed today. In addition to the University of Pennsylvania, the Club Nautique de Ghent has entered for the Grand Challenge cup and silver goblets. Nice has entered a candidate for the diamond sculls.

LACROSSE.

LONDON VS. WOODSTOCK.

London's team for the game at Woodstock has not yet been chosen, and the team committee is having a hard time to pick out the best twelve of the bunch that is at work. Some of the best stickhandlers have just turned out to practice, and while they are first-class players, they have not yet got into condition for a hard game, and may have to be passed up until they get another week's practice. While the boys hope for a victory in Woodstock on Thursday, they realize that they will have a hard proposition to go against, and are working hard to get into shape. The home division should be strong. George Gibbons will likely play inside, with Fleming next to him; while the fielders will be picked from Jefferson, Mills, Coughlin, Ross and Dowell. Galbraith will be in his old position at center. The defense end of the field will include Smith and Modeland, of last year's team. Swacheimer will be between the flags, and from his work at practice it will be a hot shot that will get past him. Should Brennan round into form he will undoubtedly get a place on the team.

CORNWALL VS. MONTREAL.

Montreal, June 2.—Cornwall defeated Montreal in the opening lacrosse match of the championship series on Saturday. The match was witnessed by a large crowd. Score, 2 to 1.

BRANTFORD AND PARIS.

Paris, Ont., June 1.—Brantford and Paris teams met for the first time this season on Riverview Park here today in the senior series of the C. L. A. At the end of the first half the score stood 5 goals to 1 in favor of Paris. In the second half Brantford won 5 more goals, while Paris' count was at a standstill, making the final score 6 to 5 in favor of Brantford.

FOOTBALL.

STRATFORD AND BERLIN.

Berlin, Ont., June 1.—The intermediate Western Ontario football game here this evening between Stratford and Berlin resulted in a score of 2 to 1 in favor of Stratford.

GALT AND LISTOWEL.

Galt, Ont., June 1.—The football match in the intermediate series played here this afternoon between Galt and Listowel, resulted in favor of Galt by 2 to 0.

GALT AND BERLIN.

Berlin, Ont., June 3.—Berlin Rangers played Galt a senior championship match in the Western Football Association this evening. The home team proved too heavy for the visitors, scoring one goal in each half and shutting Galt out.

GALT AND LISTOWEL.

Listowel, Ont., June 3.—Galt defeated Listowel here this evening in a game of the Western Football Association. Score, 2 to 1.

CLAIM UPHELD

Strong Case of Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont.—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured Another Case of Chronic Dyspepsia—A Hearty Indorsation of This Sterling Remedy.

The claims made for Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are not based on theory alone. The theory is a sound one, but the facts are stronger still, and every claim made is based on fact.

The theory in regard to Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets briefly is this: The stomach having become tired of overwork and abuse, or being naturally weak, falters in its work, and indigestion results. At length it breaks down and we have chronic dyspepsia.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, in curing dyspepsia, act on the established principle that the stomach must rest if its health is to be restored. Composed of pepsin, diastase and other powerful digestants they do the stomach's work while that organ rests and grows strong again.

That is the theory of it. The facts are that people all over the world have been cured of dyspepsia by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Here is one of a thousand similar letters which prove the fact.

"I write, prompted by a desire to benefit my fellow-beings, and a desire to induce them to give a fair trial to the medicine which I claim has been instrumental in taking me from the brink of the grave and restoring me to health. My case was an exceptional one of chronic dyspepsia. I have been doctoring for it for nearly twenty years, in which time I have expended a large amount of money, both with doctors and for patent medicines.

"About two years ago I was taken with dyspepsia and diarrhoea, which became chronic, and continued for about nine months, during which time I took a large amount of medicine with little, if any, result. I continued to grow weaker, and was at last confined to my bed.

"In talking to a person who was using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets I was persuaded to try them. Up to the time of writing this testimonial I have used seventeen boxes, and now, dear fellow-sufferers, listen to my advice, and give this wonderful medicine a fair trial. It cured me. It will cure you. Try them, and I feel absolutely sure you will join me in the praise of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets."

TEARS MERELY A WASH FOR THE EYE.

Chemical View of the Matter Differs Widely From the Poetical Idea.

[Dietic and Hygienic Gazette.]

Tears have their functional duty to accomplish, like every other fluid of the body, and the larchymal gland is not placed behind the eye simply to fill space or to give expression to emotion.

The chemical properties of tears consist of phosphate of lime and soda, making them very salty, but never bitter. Their action on the eye is very beneficial, and here consists their prescribed duty of the body, washing thoroughly that sensitive organ, which allows no foreign fluid to do the same work. Nothing cleanses the eye like a good, salty showerbath, and medical art has followed nature's law in this respect, advocating the invigorating solution of any distressed condition of the optics. Tears do not weaken the sight, but improve it. They act as a tonic on the muscular vision, keeping the eye soft and limpid, and it will be noticed that women in whose eyes sympathetic tears gather quickly have brighter, tenderer orbs than others. When the pupils are hard and cold, the world attributes it to one's disposition, which is a mere figure of speech implying the lack of balmy tears, that are to the corona what salve is to the skin or nourishment to the blood.

The reason some weep more easily than others and all more readily than the sterner sex has not its difference in the strength of the tear gland, but in the possession of a more delicate nerve system. The nerve fibres about the glands vibrate more easily, causing a downpour from the watery sac. Men are not nearly so sensitive to emotion, their sympathetic nature—that term is used in a medical sense—is less developed, and the eye gland is therefore protected from shocks. Consequently a man should thank the formation of his nerve nature when the contemptuously scorns tears as a woman's practice. Between man and monkey there is the essential difference of tears. An ape cannot weep, not so much because its emotional powers are undeveloped, as the fact that the lachrymal gland was omitted in his optical make-up.

WEAKNESS OF MEN AND WOMEN

Could we read the hearts of every man we meet, what a load of sorrow and despair would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Blood Diseases have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they undermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs into the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or later you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bond to that effect. We would warn you sincerely against the promiscuous use of mercury, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

A LOCAL BUDGET.

—Mr. A. T. Stockwell left yesterday for England.

—Miss Sadie Moore, of Detroit, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Davidson, of Oxford street.

—Mr. Arthur Stringer and wife passed through the city on Sunday on their way to Muskoka.

—The first consignment of rifles for the Young Men's Christian Association Rifle Company has arrived.

—Miss Ada Campbell, of this city, has returned from Toronto, where she has been in attendance at Toronto University.

—No new cases of smallpox have been reported during the past two days, and the cases at the isolation quarters are getting along well.

—The ladies of the Shelter Home committee of the Children's Aid Society gratefully acknowledge donations for the month of May.

—Mr. F. H. Spencer, druggist, of St. Thomas, has assigned to W. S. Bryers-Barkwell, wholesale druggist, of this city. The creditors meet on June 11.

—Dr. Beemer, of the asylum staff, leaves today on a trip to Hamilton, Toronto, Buffalo, New York and Boston. He will be absent about a month.

—Russell Gott, of Strathroy, had a bullet put into one of his hands on May 24. Drs. Jento and Stevenson removed it by an X-ray operation on Saturday.

—Mrs. C. Frank Smith has returned from her wedding trip, and will be "at home" to her friends on Wednesday and Thursday, June 5 and 6, at 352 Piccadilly street.

—Quartermaster Sergeant James Weston and wife and Miss Emma Downs, recently of England, are visiting Mr. M. Weston, 30 Argyle street, West London.

—The London Preceptory of Knights Templar have invited St. Elmo Preceptory, of Stratford, to visit London shortly, and the latter will likely exemplify one of the degrees here on a date to be arranged.

—The Ministerial Association met yesterday, and appointed a committee to collect $100 from the members, the sum being the amount the association promised to pay on the Y. M. C. A. building. This was the last meeting of the year, and several routine business matters were settled.

—A resolution was passed yesterday by the Oxford County Council, making a grant of $300 to the 22nd Regiment (Oxford Rifles) for the purpose of procuring a large marquee and suitable tables for the messing of non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment in camp at Carling's Heights on the 18th inst.

—At Friday's cabinet meeting at Ottawa, Mr. W. J. Gerald, assistant commissioner of inland revenue (formerly collector of inland revenue here), was promoted to be deputy minister, in place of Mr. Miall, who is superannuated. The changes go into effect on July 1, from which date Mr. Miall's superannuation will run.

—In the report of the case of Abbott vs. Fraser in yesterday's issue, it might appear to some that the case was tried and adjudicated upon. In justice to Dr. Abbott it should be said that the order referred to, as made by His Honor Judge Elliott, was upon the application of Dr. Abbott himself, and consented to by the defendants.

—The Young People's Christian Endeavor Society of the Church of the Disciples of Christ, St. Thomas, has unanimously decided to send Dr. Susie Ryjnhart, the well-known medical missionary (formerly of this city), to Thibet next year. The young people's funds will be supplemented by a grant from the foreign mission board. Dr. Susie Ryjnhart is a well-known Canadian missionary, whose husband was murdered in Thibet a little more than a year ago. Her own escape from the heart of China to the sea was one of the most thrilling and romantic in missionary annals.

KILWORTH MAN DROWNED.

Wm. Oliver, of Kilworth, was drowned in the Thames near that village yesterday morning. He waded into the river to catch a boat that was floating down stream, and the current carried him away. The body has not been recovered. Oliver was an elderly bachelor, and lived with his sister at Kilworth.

DIED AT WOODSTOCK.

Mrs. Wm. Wilson, a former resident of this city, died on Saturday at the residence of her son in Woodstock. Mrs. Wilson was born in Cornwall, England, 79 years ago. Coming to Canada in 1830, she lived in Whitby, and in Carlisle, and after her marriage

Total, $35,382 16.

RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

The Retail Merchants' Association met last night and discussed matters relating to the welfare of the organization. Mr. Thomas F. Kingsmill was elected to the office of president, made vacant by the death of the late E. N. Hunt. The following were present: President Kingsmill, Vice-President Shoebottom, Secretary Sutton, Messrs. T. A. Rowat, F. J. Ball, Peter McGlade, George Taylor, Armstrong, Nichol, J. Pocock, Kilgour, Harding and J. Callard.

LECTURE AT ST. ANDREW'S

A large audience assembled last night in the schoolroom of St. Andrew's Church to hear Dr. Johnston's lecture on "The Mammoth Cave of Kentucky." The lecture was under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E., and Mr. Robert McDermid occupied the chair. Dr. Johnston spent two days in Kentucky on his recent visit south, and he gave a very entertaining talk of an hour and a half on the cave, which is among the world's greatest wonders. The lantern was under the management of Mr. Govenlock, and the views were excellent. Views of the old Kentucky home were given, accompanied by music by the St. Andrew's quartet. An instrumental solo was given by Miss Ethel Brock, a solo by Mrs. Wheeler, and a selection by the church quartet. Mrs. Twining, one of Montreal's leading soloists, was also present and sang "There is a Green Hill Far Away."

AN OUTSIDE OPINION.

In the Toronto News, Nina Vivian writes as follows on a subject of local interest: "It would be very nice if unpleasant subjects could always be ignored, would it not? But there is one particular unpleasantness which is being crusaded against with considerable vigor, and which every one of us—the women in particular—are hoping will become gradually a thing of the past, or at least a punishable offense, viz., expectoration on the sidewalks and in public conveyances. As yet no Canadian municipality has passed an anti-expectoration ordinance, and in this way we are considered behind the people of the United States. But something may be accomplished without law. In London, Ont., a good deal of fun is made by visitors of the little signs nailed up on every post and pillar bearing this legend: "Please do not spit on the sidewalks." Nevertheless the cleanliness of the pavement is an evidence of the fact that those signs are useful if they are not strictly ornamental."

FLOWER SERVICE.

Sunday evening the Talbot Street Baptist Church experienced an innovation in the nature of a flower service. The arrangement upon the platform was novel and most artistic. An immense flower stand composed of rows of shelves, ranging one above the other, almost completely covered the platform, and upon these were arranged hundreds of potted plants all in full bloom. These formed a scene most pleasing to the onlooker. The meeting was in charge of Mr. J. W. Westervelt, jun., the superintendent of the Sunday school, and the services were of a varied and interesting nature. Beautiful hymns were sung by the congregation, and these were interspersed by addresses. Mr. George Matthews, secretary of the school, gave a concise statement of the past year's work, after which Mr. J. W. Westervelt, sen., principal of the primary department, gave an address on the duties of parents. This was followed by a most interesting illustrated talk by Mr. C. R. Sayer on the reception and rejection of Jesus by the people of Palestine, the same being closed with a fitting application to the scholars of the school. The choir rendered a suitable anthem, after which the pastor, Rev. Dr. Sowerby, gave a talk upon flowers, bringing out the three great essentials to proper growth and development of human life and character. Mrs. A. E. Brown, the newly-appointed soloist of the church, sang a solo appropriate to the occasion. After the benediction, the scholars of the school filed past the platform and received the plants. The services were most interesting throughout.

MONROE—LEAKE.

A San Francisco paper says: The marriage of Miss Blanche E. Leake, of London, and Edwin Clayton Monroe, of San Francisco, took place Wednesday at noon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Black, 441 East Santa Clara street. The rooms were decorated with flowers and foliage plants. As the bridal party entered they were greeted by the Wedding March from Lohengrin, played by Miss Resseguie, of Oakland. The bride and groom came together, and were preceded by a little flower girl, Miss Phyllis Leake. The bride's gown was white d'esprit over white silk, and her bouquet was white carnations and maiden-hair ferns. The bridesmaid, Miss Jennie Mountjoy, of London, Canada, was attired in a dress of gray crepe, trimmed with white chiffon, and carried a bouquet of La France roses. The best man was Mr. Dave Young. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. B. A. Lewis, according to the ritual of the Episcopal Church. After the service all present gathered around the newly-married couple with words of congratulation and good-wishes, and later a luncheon was served on small tables in the dining-room. Among those present were Mr. Mountjoy and daughter, of Canada, and Mrs. Mary Leonard. The bride is a niece of Mrs. J. C. Black, with whom she made her home, and the groom is a young business man of San Francisco.

The Late Hiram L. Odell.

Hiram L. Odell, one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens of St. Thomas, and a gentleman well known among the business men of London, died at his residence, 149 Wellington street, St. Thomas, on Sunday evening, from a stroke of paralysis sustained about a month since. He had a previous attack about eleven years ago, from which he never entirely recovered, although he managed to look after his business in St. Thomas for some years after, his son, Joseph R., taking charge of the London branch; but for several years the deceased had relinquished all business cares, living a quiet life.

Mr. Odell was cartage agent for the C. S. R and M. C. R. at St. Thomas and London ever since the opening of the roads, and latterly also for the C. P. R. at St. Thomas. The deceased was born in Westminster township in 1835, but had resided in St. Thomas for over a third of a century. His father came to Middlesex from Lower Canada when only 17 years of age and settled there, forming one of the pioneer homes of the western country. Besides his widow he leaves one son, Joseph R., well and favorably known in London as the successful manager of the cartage business for the past eight years, who will have sincere sympathy in their affliction. Deceased was most highly regarded as an exemplary man, and leaves behind a record for kindness and sterling integrity not often encountered in the keenness of business competition. The funeral took place at St. Thomas this afternoon.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Great Summer Medicine That Makes Sick People Well.

Paine's Celery Compound is the one true specific recognized and prescribed today by the most able practitioners for all diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system.

DAWSON'S MISHAP

York Street Man's Attempt to Board a Moving Car Results in a Broken Leg.

Benjamin Dawson, of York street, attempted to get on a swiftly moving street car at the corner of Dundas and Maitland streets last night, and the result was a compound fracture of his right leg. The light at the corner was not burning, and he was not seen by the motorman, who made no effort to stop the car. Dawson, however, succeeded in grasping the rods with both hands, but his right grip failed, throwing his body round and striking his foot with such force as to cause the break. He held on the rod with one hand and was dragged a considerable distance. The car was stopped near Burwell street, and Mr. Dawson was carried into Symmonds' drug store. Subsequently he was removed in the ambulance to Victoria Hospital, where Drs. Macarthur and Wishart set the fracture.

A Big Quarter's Worth

is always found in a bottle of Polson's Nerviline, the best household liniment known. It cures rheumatism, neuralgia, toothache, headache, sick-stomach, in fact is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Mothers find it the safest thing to rub on their children for sore throat, cold on the chest, sprains and bruises. Never be without Polson's Nerviline. It will cure the pains and aches of the entire family and relieve a vast amount of suffering every year.

THEY ADVERTISE THEMSELVES.—Immediately they were offered to the public, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills became popular, because of the good report they made for themselves. That reputation has grown, and they now rank among the first medicines for use in attacks of dyspepsia and biliousness, complaints of the liver and kidneys, rheumatism, fever and ague, and the innumerable complications to which these ailments give rise.
