Changes for Grey County. Dealings with the situation in Grey County, Hon. I. B. Lucas pointed out that the population was about 60,000. North Grey, including Owen Sound, had a population of practically 27,000 or 28,000. Center and South Grey were purely rural ridings. To equalize the population, Mr. Lucas suggested that the Township of Artemesia be trans-ferred to South Grey and the towns of Meaford and St. Vincent be included in Center Grey.
Mr. Lucas pointed out that Artemesia was formerly a part of the riding of South Grey, and in the equalization The committee reported not long agreecess it was only restored to its urging abolition of the district.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Ont., April 9 .- The Legistature after three weeks of almost continuous sitting at morning, noon and night, was in a jaded condition this afternoon, and members escaped from time to time to eatch outgoing trains for the Easter recess. At one time a quorum was not present and the division bells were summoned to call in sufficient members to keep the House in session. Allan Studholme occupied almost the entire time in discussing his eight-hour day and fair wage bill, which was no concluded on the adjournment until 6

Milan, Italy, April 9. — The dirgible balloon Citta di Milano, which was built by public subscription and presented to the army, was entirely destroyed today. The dirgible landed outside of Milan, owing to damage to her motor. Almost immediately a crowd gathered, notwithstanding the warnings of the officers aboard, someone imprudently lighted a cigar. A tremendous explosion resulted, and fifty persons suffered in-juries of various kinds, two of them being dangerously wounded. An outburst of flames completed the damage done by This is the first accident that has happened to any Italian dirgible. The Citta di Milano had a capacity of 12,000 cubic

FUTILE FOR CANADA TO TRY AND BAR CHINESE

Vancouver, B. C., April 9. - British Columbia Presbyterian clergymen gathered at their annual synod here today, were startled at a new view of the Oriental question introduced by Rev. Duncan Mc-Formosa. China, he said, was a mighty nation, pulsing with life and ambitions, and for Canada to say she would keep the Chinese out, was futile. They might as well raise their hands, and beat back the winds of the air, as to expect to beat back an awakened China.

"You people here," he said, "stiffling in your little mountains, have no idea of the tremendous forces that have been awakened in China. "It was unjust and foolish to judge the Chinese by the samples that over here from the slums of the great to judge the people of Great Britain by people from the slums of London, Glasgow and Dublin. "You say," he continued, "we must sweep them out. You cannot do it."

Judge Advises Against Hoping For Clemency at

[Canadian Press.] Morden, Man., April 9 .- Three months from today, on July 9, John Krafchenko is to be hanged at Winnipeg for the nurder, on December 3, of last year, of H. M. Arnold, manager of the Bank of Mentreal branch at Plum Coule, Man. The close of a long and sensational trial came at 4 o'clock this afternoon when the court met after a two-hour intermission which followed the jury's verdict of guilty. When the court resumed, Krafchenko made a statement to the court in which he did not deny that he had been concerned in the hold-up of the bank, but in which he asserted positively that he was not the man who killed Arnola. Then Chief Justice Mathers imposed sentence. From the moment of the reading of the indictment to the last scene of all, the prisoner preserved the same steady attitude and he showed little or no emotion even when the death penalty was pronounced.

LIVELY ROW IS BREWING OVER SELECTION OF A SLOGAN

Sarnia, April 9.-According to information given to The Advertiser this evening the liveliest kind of a row will take place at the meeting of the council next Monday evening over the slogan recently adopted by the board of trade for Sarnia, "The Beacon City."

Many of the councillors and a great many citizens favor "The Imperial City" as the best name for Sarnia and will urge that it be adopted. Some of the aldermen, it is stated, think that the board of trade took too much upon itself in taking the matter of selecting the slogan without consulting the council. It is pointed out that it would be especially appropriate for the Duke, a mem ber of the royal family and representative of the Imperial Government, to christen Sarnia "The Imperial City." to say nothing of the name being more high sounding in every way than "The Beacon City." The board of trade members, however, are fully prepared to stick to their guns and it is predicted that the meeting will be a warm one.

T WAS brought out the other day in the Legislature that certain school grants to trustees had to be lopped off 28 per cent because the expenditure had to that extent outrun the estimates. The query naturally arises: What is the education department doing with all the money it gets? Mr. Marshall and other members of the Opposition have been pointing out that one serious cause of waste of money is the stream of unnecessary and some of them floolish school books being foisted on the schools at the expense of the department ap-Next to reducing the cost of the mill- parently to give jobs to some unnamed editor-friends of the officials.

On Tuesday Mr. Marshall read to the House some passages from one of these books: "God may forgive sins but awkas there is sure to come a moment when wardness has no forgiveness in heaven or earth." "A parlor maid is no more privileged to use the front stairs than the cook." "A man may wear a black tie at the theatre or a small dinner, but he should wear a white tie at the opera or a large dinner." "A guest, after a visit, even a short one, is to bestow upon a servant a small fee." "At church a man should wear a frock coat and a Those West London boys who carried tall hat." The county is taxed for printoff the refreshments intended for the ing and distributing to the schools books of such calibre as this.

It would be generally admitted that if anyone is competent to give expert testimony on school books and school book tines for the Federal prisoners. It is making it is Mr. George N. He said further that books were being written by officials of the education department, and he cited a case where a particular friend of an official of the department was allowed to write a supplementary reader. The book was produced by the Government and authorzed for use in the schools. It was put in use but was found so inadequate that it was practically withdrawn and that. according to the report of Mr. Morang's evidence as telegraphed to the Globe, the department is now authorizing another reader which is being prepared for them by a publishing house in the United States. PENAL REFORM.

BOOK entitled "A History of Penal A Methods," by Mr. George Ives, has appeared on the eve of the International Penitentiary Congress, at London, Eng-The author gives a painstaking and vivid account of the bloody record of man's inhumanity to man. This narrative he follows up with suggestions as

Mr. Ives overstates, perhaps, the bar Things are hardly so bad as he paints them. He advocates for long-distance only a little way and Mr. Ives has valuable and original hints to offer.

He holds that the only business of penalties should be the amelioration of the offender. He does not beby horrible "examples," but that making an example of a man really does make him an example to be followed by others. This is a doubtful view. It is hard to believe that severity of punishment really has ever in itself promoted crime. increased severity of punishments at the vention of the irregular revenges of general run of men are still so disposed to a wild justice that civilized, legal champion egg hunter of Canada, and he justice must be on its guard to maintain its exclusive jurisdiction.

One of Mr. Ives' suggestions is that the best cure of crime lies in the discovery and eradication of its causes. There is a great point here, and one that Liberalism always stands for. Another fruitful idea is that the prison should be a psychic hospital and that confirmed criminals should not be allowed to get out until they are cured. It is even proposed that euthanasia, or painless execution, be applied to the incurable. This is certainly advanced, and on a par with the similar proposals current today regarding the hopelessly insane. But the declaration of an experienced prison officer is remembered, that one-half of his charges ought not to have come in, and the other half ought never to be allowed to go out. Is the lunatic at large safer than the confirmed pickpocket or

THE SUCCESSION DUTIES.

A MONG the Ontario Government's de-vices to raise more money is the increase in succession duties, and more stringent regulations to prevent evasion of the tax. If increased revenue were absolutely necessary this would be a form of taxation to which perhaps least objection would be felt. Moderate estates going to one's natural heirs are exempt. But where the estate is a large one, or where there are no direct heirs it is quite permissible for the country to ask for a small share. When the owner of an estate dies he has no further use for his money. The dependent members of his family have a legitimate for the pecuniary loss they have sustained. Beyond that the community in which the deceased made his money, and to which he has been largely indebted for his success may justly require a small portion to meet its own expenses. Of course, custom has established the right of a man to do what he likes with his own, and dispose of it as he pleases, either before or after his death. But the socialistic tendencies of the age are gradually moving away from that position; and it may be that some day other notions will prevail. In the meantime, the interference of the community to the extent of taxing the estate, is accepted as proper legislation in many civilized countries.

But, then, what has become of the Tory doctrine of the present Government? When a Liberal Government first introduced the succession tax, the then Opposition were righteously indignant To interfere with a man's post-mortem nicious legislation. They were only too glad to avail themselves of the revenue duties, and proceed to take more out of the dead man's pockets. But that was not the only piece of Liberal legislation tion, but cheerfully accepted when in

Once upon a time someone wrote a fable and rang in a gag about sour grapes. Perhaps this ancient and honorable literary concoction has come to the ears of one Reuben Deneau, and then again, perhaps, it hasn't. But the fact remains that as the original sour-grape guy, Rube gets the leather medal. What William Jennings Bryan is to the grape juice business, Deneau is to the sourgrape industry.

Rube is a loud talker, which is putting it mildly, indeed. In fact, his talk is loud enough to remind one of the awful blast that emanates from the depths of the Mauretania's siren when the big liner gets in view of the Statue of Liberty at New York. The siren is all right in its way, but it doesn't propel the boat or net the steamship company any appreciable amount of kale.

Rube's loud talk may-the word may is used advisedly—be all right in its way, but if it helps the Brantford Red Sox to bring home the Canadian League bacon and eggs, or puts any money in the pockets of the directors, we will miss our little guess.

The erstwhile manager of the London team is sore; possibly he will deny it, but who can doubt it after reading some of the interviews of vituperation that "I believe you mean it, Mr. Wrandall," Cummins was coerced into becoming Gen. Villa's messenger, but states that he did so with some reluctance atter about the room. first refusing.

Report to State Department. The report of Mr. Carothers to the state department follows: "At 4 p. m. (March 27) Gen. Villa Villa, Villa said to him that he (Cummins) was an enemy to the Constitutionalist cause, that he had information that Cummins was accustomed to banquetting with the Federals, that he knew he was a friend of Gen. Velasco and that in view of this friendship with Velasco he rived after introducing Cummins to study of this friendship with Velasco he wanted Cummins to take a communication to Velasco in which he demanded the surrender of the city to avoid any further bloodshed. Villa said the inessage was couched in terms usual in warfare in such cases. Cummins refused to take up the message, arguing

"At this Villa became very angry and said we foreigners were demanding that he protect foreigners and be humanitarian in his costs and the foreigners are foreigners. in his acts, and that at the very first opportunity given us to do some good we opportunity given us to do some good we refused. He commenced to talk about probably having to fight all of us, when I interposed and advised Cummins to go.

"Villa said he first thought of sending the message by me, but on second thought had decided on Cummins on account of his friendship with Velesco as count of his friendship with Velasco, as he would be in no danger. Cummins greed to go, so I wrote some instructions to Mr. Ulmer. Cummins left about five o'clock and was to return about noon next day. The interview with Villa had a most serious aspect for a few moments, but as it turned out, Villa and he shook hands, called each other 'amigos,' and hands, called each other 'am parted in the best of spirits." The Ulmer mentioned in the report is I. M. Ulmer, United States consular agent at Torreon.

They Became "Amigos." Mr. Carothers, when seen by a reporter here today, amplified his report to the State Department as follows: "Just before leaving Villa's headquar ters Villa called Cummins 'amigo.' Cummins turned to Villa and said: 'You call me friend?' 'Yes, I call you friend, because I want you for my friend,' responded Villa. Villa's last word to us was that he left all arrangements about getting away to us.

"I then walked toward Mr. O'Hea's house with Cummins, but left him before reaching there in order to get a handcar. I saw Cummins enter O'Hara's house. A half hour later I met Cummins coming from O'Hea's house with a British flag and a flag of truce. I had een unable to get a handcar so Cummins said he would go on foot, as it was getting late and he did not want to not make any complaint to me of coercion then or later. On his return on the 30th, he was most cordially received by Villa, who embraced him and thanked im for what he had done.' Mr. O'Hea, mentioned by Mr. Carothers, is Patrick O'Hea, recently appointed to succeed Cunard Cummins as British Vice-Consul. Cummins had resigned, but was still acting as vice-consul.

All skin diseases such as Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Rash, Boils, Pimples, and Itching Skin Eruptions, are always caused from the blood being in a bad condition, and it is impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you put your blood into good shape. This you can very easily do without the slightest trouble by using Burdock Blood Bitters.

ECZEMA.

It drives out all the humor from the blood, and makes it pure and rich, and not only are the unsightly diseases removed, and a bright clean complexion produced, but the entire system is renovated and invigorated at the same time.

Mrs. G. A. Day, Somerville, N.B., writes:—"Last spring I had a bad attack of Eczema. I tried several patent medicines as well as the medicine of a physician, but they seemed to make the disease worse. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and I did so with the result that in two weeks time the sores began to disappear. I continued to take it until I had taken three bottles and they worked a complete

To Redivide Essex.

With regard to Essex County, Mr. Hanna showed that, exclusive of Windsor, there was a population of 67,000, based on the last census. It was proposed to create a new urban constituency, consisting of Windsor, Sandwich and Walkerville, with a population of 29,000, and North and South Essex East with a population of about 20,000.

The counties of Elgin and Kent would likely remain undisturbed, but the Provincial Secretary intimated that a change would likely occur in Haldimand, Welland and Lincoln. Evan E. Fraser, who was a member of the committee, was not present, and no discussion of the proposed changes would take place until all the members affected had been consulted. What is likely to happen in this district is that the old riding of Monk, now represented by Thomas Marsnall, will be wiped out and there will be two members for Welland and two for Lincoln, one for Haldimand and two for Norfolk.

Likely to Change Bruce.

"There are two counties that are apparently in the same position," said Mr. Hanna, continuing the outline.

VETERAN REPUBLICAN DEFENDS PRESIDENT

Senator Lodge Asks Repeal of Animal Ran in Front of Train Canal Bill.

the minds of the executive and will be Senator Kenyon Approves Suggestion of Roosevelt for Arbitration.

Washington, D. C., April 9 .- Hearings on the Panama Canal tolls exemption repeal bill opened today before the Senate Canals Committee, but interest in the repeal fight was focused on the Senate itself, where Senator Lodge, veteran Re-Publican, member of the Foreign Relations Committee, held the attention of virtually the entire membership and of crowded galleries for more than two hours, defending the position of President Wilson in insisting upon the passage of the repeal bill. The Senator spoke without a single interruption. He declared that in his opinion the right of the United States to exempt any of its shipping from tolls was unquestioned under strict interpretation of the treaty, but because of the delicate position in which the country finds itself in its foreign relations, urged non-partisan support of the President. At the conclusion of the Senator's speech the occupants of the press gallery broke into applause and the Vice-President's gavel rapped loudly before order was restored Position of Country at Stake. "To thwart the purposes or to discredit the policies of the head of a political party," Senator Lodge declared, "is legitimate political warfare. To break down the position of the United States on a foreign policy is quite another thing, not to be undertaken except for the very gravest reason. In one case we overthrow a party leader within that arena where the American people sit in judgment; in the other we break down and discredit the representative of the whole country in the great forum of the nations of the earth and paralyze his future power and usefulness in that field where he alone can declare and represent the policy, the honor and the dignity of the United States." Before the canals committee Senators Norris and Thomas appeared to discuss their tolls propositions, the session marking the beginning of the fifteen-day public discussion decided upon earlier in the week. Representatives of commercial organizations in Pacific coast cities and New Orleans, at whose request the hearings were ordered, have not arrived and several senators who have submitted substitutes for the Sims repeal bill, which passed the House, intimated today they had no desire to defend their proposals before the committee. Consequently a delay to await the arrival of commercial representatives appeared probable.

Senator Norris' Suggestion. Senator Norris urged upon the committee his suggestion that while the present clause should be repealed the right of the United States to such exemptions should be expressed in the repeal measure.

Senator Thomas outlined his plan to throw open the canal to the free passage of all commerce. He elaborated this later in the day in the Senate, going into a detailed statement of his view of mic situation that would justify his proposal.

Debate on the repeal, which has occupied the Senate virtually the entire week, although senators have not been speaking directly to any bill, promises to continue at intervals at least until the committee reports its findings.

Favors Arbitration. Senator Kenyon announced during the day that he approved the suggestion of former President Roosevelt that the tolls question be arbitrated.

Senator Williams, of Mississippi agreed that the question might well be arbitrated and that arbitration would satisfy the "nearer consequences" spoken of by President Wilson in his repeal message. He said, however, that a canvass of the Senate a year ago showed that two-thirds of the Senate were not in favor of arbitration and so far as he had heard, only two senators opposed to repeal supported arbitration.

Important Improvements Will Be Made Shortly and Building Remodelled.

Ingersoll, April 9 .- Struck by the incoming passenger train at the King street crossing of the C. P. R. a delivery horse attached to the bread wagon of S. Zurbrig, baker, was instantly killed today. The horse was standing on Benson street, parallel with the railway, when it was frightened by the train. It ran to King street and turned to go over the crossing just as the train approached. The animal was truck broadside and instantly killed. It was carried by the locomotive distance of two hundred vards. The wagon, which was left near the scene of the accident, was badly damaged. The driver was making a call at the time of Largely Attended.

During the two days that it has been neld several hundred citizens have attended the vocational exhibition in the own hall. The exhibition embraces work done under the educational system in Ingersoll from the kindergarten to the industrial evening classes, and has been iewed with deep interest. The work of the manual training and domestic science pupils, and those of the industrial evening classes is particularly interesting. In connection with the industrial classes there are fine displays of needlework by the girls and ladies, and splendid specimens of cabinet and other work by the boys and men. The exhibition has given citizens a strong idea of the importance of the work carried on by these branches of education.

Will Make Improvements.

The plans and specifications for the ong-talked-of additions and improvenents to the Ingersoll postoffice for which a large sum was included in the suplementary estimates, have been reuilding will be extensively remodelled, changing the postmaster's office from the front to the rear. There will be an additional main entrance and revolving doors at each entrance. There will also be new boxes throughout and on the whole the improvements will be along practical and much required lines. During the time the alterations are in progress, which it is expected will be comenced in the course of three weeks, the postoffice will be in the old Imperial Bank Building. Officers Elected.

The Tennis Club has elected the following officers for the year: Honorary President, J. A. Coulter; honorary vicepresident, O. E. Robinson; president, F. N. Horton; vice-president, W. C. Johnson; secretary, F. G. Venables; treasurer W. H. Beatty; manager, E. De Witt Hutt. The advisability of entering the Western Ontario League will be discussed when full information has been received. The Canadian Club will meet at the Ingersoil Inn next Tuesday night. The speaker will be Mr. John Markey, Woodstock, who will discuss the Irish Home Rule question.

London, April 9.—Securities showed pre-holiday dullness today. Domestic issues were lifeless. Americans lacked feature, were lifeless. Americans lacked feature, but for the most part kept above parity. Canadian Pacific was feverish, failing to hold its rally, notwithstanding a reassuring statement that the freight rate cuts will not affect the company's main line. Foreigners appeared inert. Mines benefited by strong bull demonstration. While not brisk, Canadian Industrials reflected a cheerful sentiment on account of the fariff changes.

Further Weakness in Can. Pac. Tended to Aid Uncertainty

Market Closed Uneven With a Heavy Undertone.

New York, April 9.—The principal anovements in the stock market today were among the industrials and weaker rality and shares, a number of which declined sharply. The market as a whole was uneven, with a heavy undertone. Sentiment was bearish, and the inclination of professional traders to take the short side was expressed in the gradual falling away of values, which ultimately brought the list to a lower level despite occasional ralilies.

Pressure converged on steel, in which a large proportion of the day's business was transpacted. This state was thrown over in lots of the day's business was transpacted. This state is the stimates called for a shrinkage of 300,000 tons or more in unfilled orders. Reports of further price cuts and the suggestion of trade authorities that wage reductions might be necessary intensified bearish sentiment towards the steel stocks.

Renewed bear selling started states are reduction of trade authorities that wage reductions might be necessary intensified bearish sentiment towards the steel stocks.

GRAIN VALUES WEAKEN ON CHICAGO BOARD

Holders Unwilling to Carry Wheat Over Holiday.

PRICES OF CORN TUMBLE

Belief That Wheat Has Escaped Frost Damage Tended to Dislodge Bullish Control.

Chicago. April 9.—Increasing belief that wheat had escaped damage from the freezing weather tended today to dislodge bullish control of the market. After a decided advance prices closed weak, off %c to %c and %c up, compared with last night. Other speculative articles all showed a net decline—corn %c, oats %c and provisions 2%c to 7%c.

Selling pressure developed in the wheat pit as soon as the fact became evident that talk of possible damage by cold %id not have any backing in the way of complaints from the region thought to be affected. Besides, holders evinced a disposition to liquidate rather than to chance uncertainties during the holiday tomorrow.

Reports of killing frosts at many places, Reports of killing frosts at many places, especially in Kansas and Oklahoma, were chiefly responsible for wheat prices bulging until the final hour. Some temporary strength came also from higher prices at Liverpool and from the remarkable decrease in shipments credited at Argentine, land a part Austrelia. India and Australia.

Corn tumbled late in the day, influenced by disproof that Argentine shipments necessarily contained weevil. Samples of necessarily contained weevil. Samples of the South American grain, which were shown in the pit, had no trace of infection. Furthermore, New York confirmed fresh offers from Argentina at still lower prices. Most of the session, however, speculators were in a bullish mood and inclined to urge that not enough corn to make much difference could possibly reach Chicago from South America before June. Oats weakened ahead of the other cereals. Cheap cargoes obtainable from Canada burdened the market. Canada burdened the market.

SEVENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT BALANCE SHEET

Report of the Directors of the Bank of British North America, Presented to the Proprietors at Their Seventy-Eighth Yearly General Meeting, on Tuesday, March 3, 1914.

In submitting the Report and Balance Sheet of the 29th November, 1913, the Court of Directors desire to point out to the Proprietors that the changes now introduced into the form of the Balance Sheet have been rendered necessary by the provisions of the Canadian Bank Act, 1913.

It will be seen that the profits for the Year, including $93,446.79 brough forward from 30th November, 1912, amount to $783,191.89, of which $194,666.66 was appropriated to a dividend paid last October, leaving a balance of $588,-525,23, which the Directors propose to distribute as follows:-In the payment of a Dividend of 40s, per Share.....$194,666.66 Payable less Income Tax, on the 4th April next.

Transferring to the Reserve Fund..... Transferring to the Bank Premises Account 97,333,33 36.500.00 And in the Payment of a Bonus of 5 per cent. to the Staff, about...... The above Dividend will make a distribution of 3 per cent. for the year. The Dividend Warrants will be remitted to the Proprietors on 3rd April next. The capital remains the same, and to the profits of the year. The notes in circution show little variation, being $107,-966,66 above the figures of 1913. The deposits at $33,227,666.66 are $1,221,533.32 lower. The explanation of this is to be years ago. I then referred to a larger increase in the deposits than we are accus-

200.00, which I will explain later on. And now, leaving the maze of these unaccustomed figures, I come to the profit and loss account. You will observe that (still in conformity with the Act) we now give the figures for the whole year, instead of for six months only, as in the past. This, think, is an improvement, for it shows at a glance the result of the year's operations. The net profit was $689,745.00. which compares with, in 1912, $678,505.00 an increase of $11,240,000. Seeing that 1912 was a year of only eleven months that result would appear to be somewhat disappointing, but it is not so really, for the earning power of the bank was better than ever. There were, however, certain items in 1913 charged against the profit and loss account that did not appear in 1912, amounting to $77.866.66. The principal item in this total was in anticipation of probable loss in respect of the guarantee for the Sovereign Bank; another was for depreciation in investments. With this explanation I think that we may be fairly well satisfied with the results of the year's operations. You have already seen, both from the report and the balance-sheet, the proposed distribu-tion of the profits, $389,333.33 goes in the payment of the dividends, $97,333.33 to the reserve fund, $97,333.33 to the bank premises account, and $36,500.00 in the ment of a bonus of 5 per cent to the staff. You have, in the past, always so gener ously sanctioned the payment of the onus to the staff that we are encouraged to ask you to do so once more, and have we couple this request with the assurance that it is deserved, for I cannot speak too highly of the loyalty and the energy displayed by all ranks of the service in their duty to the bank. We have also made the usual appropriations for the Officers' Widows' and Orphans' Fund, the Pen sion Fund, and the Life Insurance Fund, of which I feel confident that you will approve. The Pension Fund inevitably inwith the constant growth of the staff and the retirement of the senior members, but it is impossible to overestimate the value of it, apart altogether from the fact that it is our manifest duty to make provision for those who have spent a lifetime in the service of the bank. In dealing with the balance-sheet has been necessary to refer to the Bank Act of 1913. The two clauses in that Act which, in my opinion, stand out prominently, are the Compulsory Audit by independent and duly qualified auditors, who require to be nominated and elected according to a definite formula which we all have to observe. This independent audit means nothing new to this bank, for we adopted it of our own free will as long ago as 1889, and have continued it ever since. This is sufficient evidence that we consider the new regulation to be a wise one. Secondly, provision has good and cheap land awaiting settlement been made for a much greater elasticity in a country where law and order prevail in the circulation of all the banks by the and the rights of property are respected joint control of the Canadian Bankers' Association and the Minister of Finance. and will be subject to inspection at frequent intervals by that Minister.

This new privilege affects us in no small degree, principally because it finally relieves us of an anxiety which, during recent years, has sometimes been quite out of the profits of the year. The neces- limits of our authorized circulation during the autumn months when the moveexplained to you so fully that I may avoid ment of the harvest causes unavoidable expansion. It also affects us individually in another way. I have often exduring the last ten years. Before I say anything else, I would like to tell you that it was very gratifying to me to learn from the Court of Directors that they wished me to be present at this meeting. If gives me much pleasure to meet the shareholders, and the visit affords an opportunity which I greatly value for personal consultation with the Court of Directors regarding our various

Mr. Hoare has dealt with the affairs of the bank, and I have been requested to address you regarding business conditions in the Dominion of Canada. The year 1913 was not free from anxiety, but at the same time it was a profitable one for the banks, and practically all of them show increased earn-

There have been references of late to the likelihood of a financial crisis in Canada, and some pessimistic utterances been made: there is not the same readiness in London to buy our securities, and a higher rate of interest has to be paid on the issues that are accepted. There is no doubt that the country has recognized that a slackening of the pace The large borrowings of recent years are mainly a reflection of the continued excess of imports over exports. For the satisfactory. Mining, taken on ten years ending March 31, 1913, the excess amounted to $3,149,000,000, and of this total $541,000,000, or 47 per cent occurred during the last two years of the period. Until a year or two ago it was easy for issues of Canadian securities to be floated in London, and it was perhaps natural that an enterprising and sanguine people should take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to extend their operation. Governments, municipalities, railways and industrial enterprises-all came to the market and a few were turned away. It is a matter for regret that amongst these issues there were some which did not represent commensurate value or earning power and the disappointment experienced by the purchasers of these securities is no doubt in large part accountable for the curtail. ment of our credit. It is probable however, that Ganada will, for come, require to be a borrower. The deposit of gold and Dominion notes in the will naturally operate as a magnet to "Central Gold Reserves." These "Cendray settlers from Europe and from the tral Gold Seserves" will be under the United States; and these new arrivals compel the expenditure of large sums of money for railway building in order that they may reach the land. In earlier times railways were built through districts already settled, and which seemed

The growth of the towns and cities also makes increased expenditure for circulation on November 30 by more than public improvements a necessity which cannot be avoided, but I think it can safely be said that the money raised for this purpose is in the main spent in a legitimate and productive way, and that reasonable taxation will provide for both interest and principal.

Speculation in real estate has been going on fer some years. There are many instances of fortunes quickly made in this way, and it is natural that others have been influenced by these examples and have endeavored to take a short cut to wealth by making heavy purchases of real estate with a small first payment and a long series of deferred payments. The money stringency, however, has imposed a wholesome check upon operations of this kind. There has been no break in the value of good inside town and city property, but trouble is being experienced by some of those who have undertaken to pay fancy prices for property in outlying subdivisions. Though underlying business conditions in Canada are healthy, it would be unwise to exprosperity of a few years ago. No serious do not, and will bring into the light the speculators who have embarrassed themselves through real estate operations. I will now refer very briefly to general business conditions, of which I am glad to say a quite satisfactory account can be given.

In the Maritime Provinces the crops were good except the apple crop in Nova Scotia, which was a disappointment. The lumber industry has, on the whole, had a fair year. The fisheries have been good, and the mining operations constitute a record. In the province of Quebec the crops were satisfactory and prices good. An exception has also to be made here in the case of fruit, especially apples, which were far below the average. In the lumber industry, logging conditions during the previous winter were not favorable owing to the want of snow, and some logs did not reach the mills, but demand and prices were good, and the industry, upon the whole, had a satisfactory year. In Ontario the crops were a good aver age, and prices high. The lumber indus try, while not so prosperous as in for mer years, did fairly well, and in mining there was a good year with increased

In the Prairie Provinces there an excellent crop, larger in quantity than the previous year, and of exceptionally high quality. Though prices were been developing very fast, and it is not quite so good as in 1912, the tota value of the crop was a little ahead o

> In British Columbia, the crops con sist principally of fruit, and were very whole, was prosperous, in spite of a protracted strike in the coal mines Nanaimo. The fisheries also had a good year, 1913 being the big year on the Fraser River, which occurs once in four years; the northern canneries did not do so well, but the average result was satisfactory. The lumber in British Columbia is depressed, those interested in this industry had a poor year.

From the above brief synopsis it will seen that, except for the lumber trade in British Columbia, conditions in the natural industries of the country may be called generally satisfactory. Manufacturers throughout the Dominion have, speaking broadly, done well, though the outlook for 1914 is hardly so good. General mercantile business been good, though retail trade has suffered at those points where it had been stimulated during recent years by the spending of the profits so easily n real estate and other speculations. The action of the United States Government in removing the tariff from lumber, agricultural products. cattle and fish, is expected to stimulate trade through giving our people wider markets. One immediate effect was the shipment to the United States of large numbers of cattle, and it is felt that too many of the farmers were induced by the high prices offering to deplete their herds.

In the annual address of the chairman three years ago, reference was made to the establishment in Canada manufacturing plants, and the hope was expressed that this example would be followed by British firms. gratifying to see that since that time several British firms of the highest class have arranged to establish branch manufacturing plants in Canada. These form a welcome addition to the business community, and there seems every reason to expect that their experience will encourage others to follow.

Owing probably to the reports of depression in Canada, the outlook for immigration this year is not so good, though there will no doubt be a substantial number of settlers. In this connection the fact seems often overlooked that in the Maritime Provinces and in Ontario and Quebec there are good and cheap lands awaiting settlement. The great bulk of the emigrants still go to the prairies, but steps are being taken to draw attention to the available lands in the eastern provinces. I cannot offer any prediction as to pect an early return to the bounding the time when the full tide of prosperity will return to Canada, but it difficulty is expected, however-just a is well to keep in mind that general and accounts be adopted, which we business is by no means depressed, and I may remind you that the interests of this bank are almost entirely connected with the natural industries and with manufacturing and commercial enterprises. We have no interest in company promotions, mergers, or other operations of that kind, and few advances for other than strictly business purposes. A policy of perfection in this matter is not possible, but as nearly as may be we try to confine our advances to loans to business people tive enterprises. There is no sign of a for the legitimate purposes of their business, and with a source of repayment in sight from liquid assets. Before I sit down, I would like to take this opportunity of saying what a pleasure it is to myself and to the members of the staff in Canada to welcome the visiting directors who come to us from time to time. We feel specially indebted in this matter to Mr. Hoare, whose visits are always helpful and encouraging. Last year we had the pleas-> see an extraordinary number of branches and to inform himself regarding all the more important departments of the business. These visits are of great advantage to the bank, and I speak not only for myself, but for the whole staff, when I express the hope that they will continue to be made at least annually. (Cheers.) The Chairman: Gentlemen, I am sure you have listened to Mr. Mackenzie's address with very great interest. I had no idea of what he was going to say. He offered me his draft, but I declined to take it. I said that I should prefer that he should come here to meet you entirely uninfluenced by any comments that I or anybody else might make or his address, and I am sure you will agree with me that that has proved to be quite the best thing that could have been done. You have heard a most valuable report on the affairs of the Dominion and of our own bank.

Mr. E. A. Hoare moved, seconded by Mr. Frederic Lubbock, that the report duly carried. Some discussion of the balance sheet followed, after which Messrs. J. H. Mayne Campbell, C. W. Tomkinson and E. A. Hoare, the retiring officers, were re-elected, and Messrs. N. E. Waterhouse and F. S. Price were elected as auditors for the coming year. The proceeding then terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman, directors and staff,

E. WATERHOUSE,

HUMANE TREATMENT FOR THE SOLDIERS

Interesting Topic in German Military Circles.

BAVARIA SETS EXAMPLE

Reports of Gross Cruelty to Recruits Show Deplorable Conditions.

Berlin, April 9.-Will Prussia follow the lead of Bavaria in insisting on humane treatment of soldiers by their superiors? This I find the leading topic of the day in military circles, and has a very important bearing on the relations between France and Germany.

The famous French Foreign Legion is recruited largely from German soldiers who have been driven to desert by gross inhumanity. This fact rankles in the breast of every German patriot. Em-peror William feels deeply on the subject, and as far back as January, 1890, issued the order: "My soldiers shall be treated in accordance with law, justice and humanity, for such is the necessary foundation of contentment and love for the service, as well as of attachment to superiors.

This order was soon a dead letter. Weekly reports of cases of gross cruelty to recruits show deplorable conditions. At present there is only a small section of the political world that cares to show up such cases of gross brutality as appear from time to time, and I observe that the press, which is in closest touch with the powers that be, practi-cally suppresses the reports of trials for cruel treatment in the army. For them such treatment scarcely appears to exist. On the other hand, they are not backward in encouraging most unprincipled attacks on the Foreign Legion, such as already necessitated diplomatic representations.

Appeal to Officers.

The Bayaran Minister of War's order, which may be the beginning of the wiping out of a standing German disgrace, is lengthy and fine-toned.

Beginning by remarking that in spite of several ministerial orders brutal treatment has not deminished to any remarkable degree, so that a sterner form of address is necessary, the Minister, Baron Von Kress, appeals to all officers to help in rooting out an abuse which greatly damages the name and fame of the army. Not only actual brutality, but also bad language are to be forbidden with the Noncommissioned officers of the Bavarian army who abuse their authority will stand in danger of immediately losing their rank and their claim to a pen-In the case of officers there also will remain the real risk of being cash-

Officers are to remove from their minds any old prejudice that brutal ways are necessary for discipline. Mean treatment Baron Von Kress says, is the greatest danger to real discipline, and all recruits should feel assured of just and humane

SCHOOL TO TEACH LOVE, THE LATEST IN EDUCATION

Berlin, April 9.—Should love be taught? The idea is certainly gaining ground in Germany, and in German newspapers the curious may continually find stories of plans to found nools, colleges, and even universities of love. Even the highly dignified Frankfurter Zeitung published the other day an advertisement headed:-"Wollen Sie Lieben?"

"Do You Want to Love?" that is, and this ended with the offer of a Dr. Franz Ruderer (in Prussia doctor is a real doctor) "to teach personally or by a course of correspondence on scien tific principles, how to display and

The latest professor of love is an Austrian, an unmarried gentleman, named Stiller, decorated with several university degrees who decided to start an institution where love would be taught. Dr. Stiller's one defect was celibacy. He feared that people conclude (quite wrongly, of course) that unmarried men know nothing of love, so he sought a married partner whose wife would act as cha-

He found one in a gentleman named Leonard. Herr Leonard came into the business and brought 7,000 kronen capital, which is $1,500. The school of love was actually opened. It was not frivolously called a school of love, but an "educational institution for persons of both sexes who would love, are loved, or would be loved." To this title which reads like an exercise in subjunctive mood, was added "G. M H.," which is the equivalent of "Limited Liability Company." And so everything was in order. What is more, pupils came. This Brunn plan did not realize the founders' notions. The pupils, for reasons of privacy, wanted separate lessons, and the notion of having a big class where all should be taught in common fell through. The plan ended in litigation over Herr Leonard's contribution in cash.

Instructive facts transpired about the organization of this school of love. The school proposed, if things flourished, to have an archive of love. The archive was to contain all the useful things said about love, from Plato to Paul Bourget; further, "a Bibliogra-phy of fiction, which shows love in a pure, true, impassioned light." ther proposed to deal with "love's artifices," which meant, it is feared, mere

The fate of the love school of Herr Stiller and Herr Leonard is as bad as the fate of the previous love university of Dr. Hassall, who could not raise the capital. But should these first failures discourage other men, and will anyone urge that they discredit generally the notion of teaching

GOVT. STRIKE SITUATION

Government Employees Taking Advantage of Approaching Election.

Paris, April 9.-A delicate, and in many respects a menacing strike situation has been coming to a head in France as a result of the approaching general election in May. It involves the workers in a number of Government departments. who see in the political situation an opportunity to enforce their demands by threatening the politicians with vengeance at the polls if they show themselves to be unsympathetic toward the real or fancied grievances of labor.

The Government employees have fer sound grievances at the present time But they want to make their power felt, and incidentally, they are not averse to obtaining higher wages. Several strikes are threatened, and already there have been one or two minor walkouts. Should the movement become general, the authorities would be in a quandry. Kid-glove methods would probably result in the granting of exorbitant demands, while a firm handling of the situation would come near to being the political suicide of the officials involved.

At the same time I want to avoid holding out false hopes over what action will be taken. I advise you to employ the intervening time at your disposal in preparing to meet your doom. The sentence of the Court is that you be taken from hence to the provincial jail of the eastern judicial district at Winnipeg, and there confined as the law directs, until Thursday, the ninth day of July in this present year of Our Lord, and on that day between the hours of 6 in the forenoon and 10 in the forenoon you be taken from your place of confinement to the place of execution and there be hanged by the neck until you ar dead, and may God have mercy on

As he slowly and solemnly pronounced the dread sentence, his lord. ship's voice sank low, but it was always distinct. He was very much affected, but the quiet tones reached every corner of the hushed court-your soul."

The Court was then declared closed, and thus ended one of the longest trials known in Western Canada, a trial which opened on March 18 and ended on April 9.

Story of the Tragedy.
The homicide and bank robbery for which John Krafchenko has stood his trial at Morden, Man., occurred December 3 last, in the little town of Plum Coulee, situated on the Deloraine branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway, about 65 miles southwest of Winnipeg. The place has a opulation of 400.

Shortly before noon that day, a mar disguised with black false whiskers and moustache, was seen on the streets of the town. He was wearing a black cap, and had the fur collar of his long black overcoat turned up around his ears. It was a fairly mild day, which made his wrapped-up appearance the more conspicuous. He was observed by many witnesses to be wearing tan boots. About 12:30 (noon), when the two bank clerks had gone to lunch, the bandit entered the Bank of Montreal, and held up Manager H. M. Arnold, who was alone in premises at the time. It appears that he was interrupted in his work, almost be fore it was started, by a woman who called to cash a cheque, but on her retirement, the manager was forced to hand over bills and currency to the extent of over $4,000. While this was going on another witness states that he looked in the door, and saw the manager with both hands held up, but took this as a the railway shops there as a mechanic. A signal that he was not wanted.

Arnold Shot Down. The bandit then rushed out of the bank with the money in his arms, and was pursued by the manager, as he rushed has started on a diet recommended to him around the rear of the bank. One witness by William H. Taft. In reply to a letter stated that the manager grappled with him on the way. When the rear of the bank had been reached, the bandit, it My diet has not been severe. > The Escape by Auto. On arrival at the car, the bandit jumped in with the words: "I am ready," and at the command, the car jumped forward and disappeared behind some buildings at the next corner, going in an easterly direction. The man with the black whiskers, in his haste to board the car, dropped a package of $1 bills, which was picked up by one of the commercial travellers, and returned to the bank.
> The driver of the car was William

Dyck, the proprietor of the Exchange Livery, in Plum Coulee, and he states that he was forced, at the point of a revolver, to drive the bandit a distance of 35 miles to a point opposite the town of Osborne, which is 30 miles south of Winnipeg. He then returned home, arriving there between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening. Dyck first told a story of two men being in the car, but later on made the statement that there was but one man, and said that his life had been threatened if he did not promise to tell the two-man story. On the return of Dyck from the drive, his automobile was searched, and a bag was found under the front seat containing $350 in silver. A further amount of $19.50 in silver was found in his overcoat pocket. Two days afterwards a gold watch, said to have beonged to the bandit, was found the rear seat of the car, and 15 days later Dyck led the police to where an overcoat had been hidden in some willow bushes along the trail. He said it had been placed there by the bandit. The right hand pocket was badly torn. Arrest of Krafchenko.

The arrest of John Krafchenko occurred December 10. He was apprehended in a house on College avenue, Winnipeg, where he had been posing as a college professor. An outfit of woman's clothes, including a wig, was found in his rooms, also two automatic revolvers. No Bank of Montreal money was found on his person, but a roll of bills of this bank was found under the fence in front of the nouse. Krafchenko immediately upon his arrest professed his innocence, and stated to Chief Elliott, of the provincial police, that he could prove an alibi. He continued to assert his innocence, and according to his counsel, he was confident all through the present trial that he would

It was exactly one month after his arrest, on the early morning following his commitment for trial, that Krafchenko escaped from the third floor of the central police station in Winnipeg, where wo guards were watching over him. He was seriously injured at this time by the breaking of the rope with which he was letting himself to the ground, which prevented his complete get-away; but he was eventually recaptured a week later in the Burriss block on Toronto street, and did not resist arrest, although he was found to have a gun close by him in a wastepaper basket. Constable Reid, of the Krafchenko's guard at the central police station when he made his escape, subsequently pleaded guilty to complicity in the escape, after a sitting of a royal ommission appointed to probe into the sensational disappearance of the bandit. Percy Eldon Hagel, counsel for Krafchenko, John Westlake and John H. Buxton were also held by the police, the latter turning King's evidence, which led to the recapture of Krafchenko and the canviction of the other three confederates.' Hagel and Westlake were recently sentenced to three and two years, respectively, at the Winnipeg assizes, for complicity in the escape, while Buxton is still in the hands of the police, out will not be convicted on any count.

Wife Lives at Graham, Ont. Suspicion attached to Krafchenko from the fact that he had been living around Plum Coulee just prior to the robbery and murder, although for one year previous he had been living a

LONDON'S DIVORCES BREAK THE RECORD

London, April 9.-Matrimonial litigation was the only kind in which, as shown by official figures, an increase was recorded in 1912, the latest year for which statistics are compiled.

The main interest in the figures lies in analysis of the cases that came before the divorce court of London. The total number of divorce petitions for the year was 920, the largest number ever recorded in London. Of these 506 were brought by husbands and 414 by wives. In addition to these cases there were 122 petitions by wives for the restitution of conjugal rights, "many of them doubtless intended to found claims on account of desertion. Give Length of Marriage. Other kindred matrimonial cases brought

STOP

Tea and Coffee Drinkers, And think a minute!

Some persons seem able, for a time at least, to get along with tea and coffee, but they contain a subtle, habit-forming drug, caffeine, which sooner or later is pretty sure to rob one of health and comfort.

If you know tea and coffee don't harm you-if you feel prime and fit under their continued use, well and good-stick to 'em.

But—if you are sometimes a bit "off color," and irritable nerves, disturbed heart action, biliousness, headache, or symptoms of liver or kidney trouble make you wonder what's the matter-

NORWAY GIVES WOMEN EQUAL SHOW WITH MEN

All Professions Opened to Them After Granting of Suffrage.

BALLOT WON PEACEFULLY

Franchise Said To Be Used Only to Bring About Better Social Conditions.

Christiania, April 9.- The first and most vivid impression received by the student who moves among Norwegians is the position of women. It seems to differ from their present position in any other country of Europe. They are neither timid nor loud. They dress with modesty; and they dress fittingly, as when they go out for sport. But the great fact is their social position. Here they really seem to move among men as equals; and that posi-tion seems to be now accepted without any real damage either to the womanhood or manhood of the country. On the contrary, both seem to be

The achievement of the voting power by Norwegian women is only a part of this vast movement, which is represented by a claim to equality in society as a whole. The women of Norway have worked for that greater aim simultaneously with the suffrage agitation ever since 1885, and they have achieved their aims together.

Practically all the professions are now open to women in Norway, except the priesthood and the army. Men and women are educated together at pleasure and serious objects.

The young men, indeed, are now said to refuse to have separate societies, and the two sexes are more and more working together in all spheres sent, never been so prosperous.

Vote Woman's Crown. The vote is the banner and the emblem of this movement, the crown of woman's claim in Norway. The story of the way in which the women of Norway secured the vote will be deeply interesting at the present moment. There as no violence of any kindnot even interruption of meetings.

The Norwegian women obtained the vote without losing their womanhood. The victory came in the end quite peacefully, and by the consent of all parties. The Prime Minister of Norway had acted as the militants are acting in England—or even as the non-militants of the National Union—they would never have got the vote in Nor-

Gain Limited Vote. The next victory was the gain of the limited vote—the "conciliation bill" such dimensions that given marching orders.

The younger man is

That limited vote some time, but in 1912 the Liberals vere returned to power in spite of it. In 1913-last year-the Liberals and Socialists combined, and, not opposed by the Conservatives, extended the vote to all women; and now the suffrage in Norway stands the same for both men and women-a universal vote for all adults over 25, both for the state and local purposes.

Women are allowed to sit in Pariament, but not to become members of the Government. One woman sat in Parliament for a short time as substitute for a man-the Norwegians, happy people, have a substitute system which saves them from by-elections-but she has been defeated, and no woman now sits in the Norwegian Parliament.

Results on Politics. Now for the results on politics. Women's opinions are, of course, much more deferred to. There sits in Norway a women's council, which represents all the higher interests of women. That body is regularly consulted by the Government on all women's questions. No Norwegian Parliament has yet been elected on the universal suffrage, but the women's vote has played a part which gives sufficient guidance for the future, What, then, do the leading men say?

They all agree that the women's vote is a progressive vote in Norway. Take the opinion of Herr Casaberg, a very remarkable man, the Liberal leader who is now pursuing a policy in Norway so extraordinarily similar to that of the British chancellor of the exchequer that he is unanimously called here "the Norwegian Lloyd George." The question was put to him, "What part does the woman's vote play?" and he answered, "It is of the greatest use to me in my social reforms."

The latest achievement of the vote hase been to gain the maternity benefit for Norwegian women-which, to do Englishmen justice, has been given to English women without the help of the women's vote.

On all social reforms-wages, homes pensions and children's care—the same thing is happening. The women's vote is pushing all these things forward. Above all, it is powerful in temperance. Thus Norway, with her powerful local option law, is setting a lead to the world. And in that the women have played a great part.

Drive Out Other Woman and Make Husband Reform.

Munich, April 9.-A curious affair reported by the local police to have taken place recently in a quiet residential street where there lived an otherwise harmless insurance agent and in spector, whose wife, owing to his "ge ings on," had left him.

The mothers of the district, to the number of some 300, having learned that the insurance agent had formed another attachment, proceeded to storm the house. They cut off all possible means of escape, and with much noise themselves. Not a mouse stirred in-side, and no reply came to the shouts. Stirred in the shouts. TO SECURE OPTIONS FOR MARKET IN EAST END

Cost Would Be $5,000-York St. Firms

Refuse to Put Up With Draymen. The board of control yesterday authorized the mayor to secure options on two pieces of property recommended by the ishment of an East End market, at the corner of Dundas and Rectory streets. The cost is estimated at $5,000. The city ouncil will hold a special meeting probably next Tuesday night to finally discose of the scheme.

It was decided to take no further action in connection with the three clauses struck out of the city of London bill by the Legislature, relating to the proposal to charge rent on all buildings enroaching on the street, and to provide a certain amount for repairs in all local improvement work done by day labor. .

Bills for certain furnishings at the ourt house were approved. The total furnishing account is expected to run in he neighborhood of $3,000. The special draystand committee will be reappointed to find another location for the draymen. Property-owners of York street, between Clarence and Wellngton, threaten legal action if the draymen are placed in front of their buildings, as suggested by the committee. The records will be searched to determine where the city stands in the matter of a pavement on Windsor avenue. A local land syndicate, comprising George T. Brown, Thomas Baker, John M. Moore and others, claimed that its officers were told that the city would bear half the cost of the construction of sidewalks in front of its property, only to find later pay this amount. IF KIDNEYS ACT

Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells: your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of Water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. RUMOR SAYS THAT TAMPICO HAS FALLEN

Grave Reports Received at dockage. American Consulate.

Vera Cruz, April 9.-The United States consulate has received word from the consular agent at Tuxpan that grave rumors are current there Tampico has fallen. While there is no confirmation of this, it is known that there has been serious fighting between the Federals and Rebels around that port.

The British steamer Teesdale, from New York, March 13, which is now at Tampico, has been unable to discharge her cargo, and asked permission by wireless to come here. Gunboats Kept Busy.

The estimates tabled yesterday for this year's grants show that while the sum of $80,000 has been given to the University of Toronto, the Western in London and Queen's in Kingston, medical school are let down with a mere $10,000. The feeling is held by many, however, that although the amount is small, it is at least a starter, and that better things may result.

said C. R. Somerville, of the board of directors, to The Advertiser, when informed of the Government's attitude last night. "But it is a starter and may lead to better things for the furate. We are hoping for a more substantial one, next year." "We should be granted $50,000," said J. H. Chapman, "The amount tabled is certainly a small sum for a thriving university. I am aware that the Poronto grant exceeds ours by a considerable amount. It seems to me that was most anxious to comply with the demand of the consumers. Mr. Doherty, he remarked, was firmly convinced that the gas could be purified, and that plans for a plant to cost a quarter million were being prepared and that the company intended to start with the work as soon as these were complete. The plants would take at least four months to build, Mr. Bain thought, or perhaps even longer, but he declared that there would be no delay on the part of the company.

"Didn't the company know the condition of the gas before turning it on?" asked Mr. Brewster, South Brant, the chairman of the committee.

It was here pointed out by Mr. Pattison, of South Waterloo, that the company had refused to take any action to remedy conditions until the present course was decided upon. "The company," said he, "had informed the City of Brantford that they could take the gas supplied or nothing." Mr. Bain endeavored to explain this away by saying that a change in management had been made within the last few months and that the company was now prepared to do everything reasouable to meet the demands of the municipalities. "This is not a gas distributing business but merely a brokerage firm," as-

BOARD OF TRADE FAVORS GOVERNMENT STEAMSHIPS

Backs Millers' Association in Fight Against Excessive Rates __ $3,500,000 For Technical Education Indorsed.

The regular meeting of the board of trade last night was largely devoted to the passing of resolutions. Motions to indorse various projects were put through with more or less discussion, one of the most important being an indorsation of the request of the Dominion Millers' Association for a Government solution of the problem of alleged excessive ocean freight rates, either in the way of a line of publicly-owned boats, estimated to cost $2,500,000, or by some other

The Millers' Association, in a letter to the board, pointed out the difficulties put in the way of shippers by what is termed an excessive schedule of rates provided by the ocean steamship combine, the stock of which, it was stated, was largely held by foreign capitalists. The association asked that the local member and senator be asked to support a measure to secure Government relief for the shippers, and the board of trade fell in

D. H. McDermid pointed out that it was rather a large order for the board of trade to ask the Government offhand to spend several millions in establishing a boat line, while A. B. Greer thought that some undertaking would have to be given the Government that the shippers would patronize the boats if built. He feared that the outcome might be a repetition of the experience of the R. and O. Navigation Company, which, after making Port Stanley one of its points of call, had not received the support of the shippers of

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore agreed with Mr. Greer that it was a matter for serious consideration. Owing to the poor usiness last year he said, the company had decided to discontinue stopping at Port Stanley. He was inclined to believe that shippers might hand out the Lean, A. M. ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL CHOIR'S EXCELLENT WORK

Renders Lee Williams' 'The Last Night at Bethany" in Exceptional Style.

When a church choir attempts to render an extended musical composition like Lee Williams' "The Last Night at Bathany," it is attempting an almost impossible task, because a composition of so rich possibilities requires much more earnest study than any church choir can beauties. And yet in the performance of the choir of St. Paul's Cathedral last evening there was little with which the most carping critic could find fault.

The work of the choir was most noticeable in its ensemble work, achieving a rich, well-balanced tone, combined liam Cochran to determine the owner any impression of weariness was removed. A nice precision in attack and release marked the choral work. The soprano section was perhaps rather thin in tone-body, but the tone achieved was of good quality.

The contralto recitatives were taken with excellent effect by Miss Chrissie Armstrong, who revealed a rich, warm voice of high potentiality. Mrs. A. C. Patterson and Mrs. Innes Carling sang the soprano solo passages, and H. Carson rendered the baritone passages. The quartet and chorus, number 6, proved one of the most pleasing selections in the cantata.

While the assisting orchestra was small, an excellent tone-body was secured, always subdued to its proper relation to the choral passages, the brass winds being exceptionally good. The one hope is that the choir will re peat this number on some future oceasion, for it is one of the finest choral offerings in religious music.

WEATHER MAN PUTS BAN ON MAPLE SYRUP SEASON

According to farmers and dealers in maple syrup, citizens who have a "sweet $1,066.67, which he alleges is due him as tooth" for the article may not have another chance to lay in a supply this season. Owing to the eccentricities of the weather man, the flow of sap ceased almost as soon as it had fairly begun with the result that makers of the sugary stuff were, figuratively speaking, left in the lurch

Early indications for a record yield of sap caused the farmers to make unusual provisions for receiving and converting t into syrup and sugar. Then it was that the controller of the weather, who had been looking on, showed his authority. The frosty nights were succeeded by warm ones, while days, too, were also of the spring variety. Not Sap Weather.

It was not sap weather. There was little doubt of that. Throughout the past few weeks when the flow in other years has been heavy, there was only a trickle that perculated through the bark and oozed into the metal receptacles. The effect on the market has been noticeable. Little syrup of the real "off the soil" kind has been offered for sale and prices have consequently been high.
