Pains in the Side, Chest, or Back Aching Muscles Cured Quickly

Even Doctors Marrel at the Penetrating Power of Good Old "Nerviline."

Pains anywhere—in the chest, neck, side, back or muscles—they are always a discomfort.

If the inflammation is severe, the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue, complications will follow.

Physicians say one of the best remedies is "Nerviline"—it can't help curing, because it penetrates through the sore tissues, carrying healing properties that destroy every symptom of pain.

In cases of colds, sore chest and pleurisy, there should be a good hand-rubbing with Nerviline, and of course to prevent the trouble coming back, it's advisable to put on a Nerviline Porous Plaster, which, by absorption through the skin draws out all congestion.

For general household use, for curing the ailments of the young and old, for destroying all pain, outward or inward, nothing can exceed Nerviline; thousands testify to this effect.

For nearly forty years Nerviline has been a renowned and trusted remedy in thousands of homes where practically no medicine is needed.

Nerviline is safe to use. For children's coughs, colds and sore throat nothing can be used with more certain results.

Get the large 50c. family size bottle to-day. It is more economical than the 25 cent trial size, and is sure to keep down the doctor's bill and cure a host of minor ills that arise in every household. All dealers sell Nerviline.

Stella Mordaunt:

The Cruise of the "Kingfisher."

CHAPTER XXVII.

"Shall I?" she asked, with all a girl's pleasure at the prospect of a novel employment. He changed seats with her, and she took the reins, and his heart rose at the laugh of innocent pleasure.

"Hold them a little tighter," he said. "Hold them this way. Allow me," and he arranged the reins properly in her small hands. His whole being thrilled at the contact, but Stella was all unconscious.

"This is my first experience in driving," she said. "It is delightful to know that this powerful horse is under one's control."

"Just feel its mouth a little harder," he suggested, as the brown filly, aware of the change, broke into a canter. "It has its nose turned towards its stable, and is anxious to reach its corn. Like this—see?"

And he seized on the opportunity of touching her hand again.

"I see! How strong it is. Yes; it is delightful!"

"Wait until you are on the back of a good horse!" he remarked, resolving that she should be within the next few days. "You will say that that is delightful indeed. We shall have you riding to hounds this winter, Miss Mordaunt—at least, I hope so. Cecilia is too nervous to make a good huntswoman; but I don't think that will be the case with you."

"No, I'm not nervous," said Stella, absorbed in her work.

"And you will make a good whip," he said, looking at her with admiration as she gradually got the "touch" and command of the horse. "You have a good nerve, I see."

"Have I?" she said, naturally gratified. "Rath always said I could learn anything, if I put my mind to it."

He flushed, then went pale.

"May I ask who 'Rath' is?" he said in a low voice.

Stella flushed hotly, then went white.

"He—he was someone I knew," she said, as calmly as she could, her heart beating fast, her eyes growing sad and wistful.

"An—old friend?" he asked, his heart beating as fast as hers, and with a sad misgiving.

"No," she replied, steady her voice. "I—I only knew him for a little while. Am I driving properly?"

"Quite well," he said, mechanically. Then, after a pause, he said in a voice suddenly grown husky: "Miss Mordaunt—"

Stella glanced at him with knit brows, and waited.

am to learn to drive, now is the great opportunity. Please don't take the reins from me! I am quite sure—how it pulls! Yes—yes, I am quite sure I can hold it!"

"Be careful of the turn," he said, yielding to her request, though he felt that he was rash in doing so. "There is a turn at the bend of the hill, and—"

Stella laughed. Her face was flushed with excitement; her eyes dazzling in their brightness.

"I'm not afraid!" she said, between her teeth. "If you will trust me."

"I would trust you with this life and the life hereafter!" he responded, hotly. "But mind the turn!"

"That sounds like 'Put your trust in Providence, but keep your powder dry!'" she retorted, with a laugh.

He looked at her admiringly. A girl who could quote Cromwell at such a juncture was indeed a heroine, a goddess to be worshipped.

"Well—be careful!" he said. "If anything should happen—"

"Put it down to me!" she said, lightly, as she leant still farther back and strained at the runaway.

"What pluck! What spirit you have!" he said, under his breath.

"There is no one like you—no one!"

"If you mean that I'm not afraid; I'm not!" she said. "Rath once said—"

"Rath again!" he muttered.

"That he had only to dare me not to do a thing— Is that the corner? She won't answer to the rein. She won't—"

Before she had finished the sentence, the off-wheel caught in a projecting trunk of one of the pines, and with a sudden lift and jerk—the lift and jerk which Lisle knew well; for this was not his first experience of a spill—the dog-cart went over. He was the first to pitch out, but he fell amongst the bushes, and, after a moment, rose unhurt. When, somewhat dazed, he looked round, he saw Stella lying full length near him, and the dog-cart on its side, entangled in the trees. The horse stood, like the well-bred animal it was, shaking and trembling at a little distance, with the broken shafts still hanging to it.

He sprang to Stella and went on his knees beside her. She was lying as she had been thrown, with her arms spread out, her face deathly white, and her eyes closed.

She looked so "dead" that the heart of the man who loved her seemed suddenly to cease beating, and for a moment or two he was incapable of anything more than gazing at her with a frenzied despair. Then he raised her head to his knee, and, still only half conscious, he tenderly swept the hair from her forehead and called to her in accents of anguished love:

"Stella! Stella! are you hurt? My dearest! my dearest! Oh! my God! she is dead! What shall I do?"

His arms closed round her, and he drew her slim, slight figure to him in an ecstasy of terror; then he remembered a rill of water that ran down the hill near the spot, and he went and soaked his handkerchief and bathed her brow with it. After a moment or two Stella came round. She was still only half conscious, and Lisle, beside himself with terror and love, continued to address her.

"Stella, my dearest!" he cried, hoarsely, "are you hurt! Do you know me? Speak to me! It was all my fault—all mine! What a fool I am! Stella, speak to me! Oh, my dearest, my darling! Speak to me, Stella!"

She opened her eyes and looked at him blankly.

"What—what has happened?" she breathed. "Is—Is Lord Lisle hurt?"

This regard for him broke down his last remnant of reserve.

"No; I am all right," he said, passionately. "It is you—you! Stella, if you are hurt I shall never forgive myself. It was all my fault!"

"Fault!" she said, weakly, as she strove to rise, but vainly, for his strong arm restrained her. "It was my fault—all mine. I ought not to have tried to hold it. And you—are you hurt?"

"I!" he said, with the keenest self-reproach. "I am not hurt in the least. But you—you! And I would willingly have died to save you from a moment's pain."

She raised herself on her elbow.

"There—there is nothing much the matter, then?" she said, trying to

Various Forms Of Headache

"It is necessary in order to treat headaches properly to understand the causes which produce the affection," says Dr. J. W. Bay of Brockton, Ala. Continuing, he says: "Physicians cannot even begin the treatment of a disease without knowing what causes give rise to it, and we must remember that headache is to be treated according to the same rule. It is not only the particular to give a remedy intended to counteract the cause which produces the headache, but we must also give a remedy to relieve the pain until the cause of the trouble has been removed. To answer this purpose Anti-kamnia Tablets will be found a most convenient and satisfactory remedy. One tablet every one to three hours gives comfort and rest in the most severe cases of headache, neuralgia and particularly the headaches of women."

When we have a patient subject to regular attacks of sick headache, we should caution him to keep his bowels regular, for which nothing is better than "Acoloids," and when he feels the least sign of an oncoming attack, he should take two A-K Tablets. Such patients should always be instructed to carry a few Anti-kamnia Tablets, so as to have them ready for instant use. These tablets are prompt in action, and can be depended on to produce relief in a very few minutes. Ask for A-K Tablets. Anti-kamnia Tablets can be obtained at all druggists.

speak lightly; but a spasm of pain choked her utterance. "Is—is the horse hurt?"

"Never mind the horse," he said, half distraught with fear on her account. "It is yourself I am thinking of."

"I am all right," she said again. "Please let me stand up; then I shall see."

He let her rise to her feet; but as she staggered from the weakness following the swoon, he caught her to his breast and held her there while his heart spoke out freely.

"Stella, my angel, my love! Yes, yes; I love you! I have loved you since the first day we took you on board the yacht. Ah! don't shrink from me! Let me tell you—I must tell you now—I love you! You are all the world to me; the one woman I want—I want!"

She tried to draw away from him, but she was still weak from the sudden fall, from the faintness which is kin to death.

"Let me tell you, Stella! I must! I love you! All my life is bound up with you. Until you came I did not know what life meant, what it held. Now I know—I know! Stella, listen to me! You are hurt and weak—it is not fair; but I cannot help it. I love you—I love you! Be my wife, Stella! My dearest! My dearest!"

Stella heard the frenzied words through a kind of dream, a mist. This man was asking her to give him that which belonged to Rath—Rath, alone on his island.

She shuddered as she put the hair from her eyes and struggled for the breath which comes so painfully, so slowly from a sharp swoon.

"Oh! let us go!" she said, helplessly.

"Yes, yes!" he assented. "We are not far from home. But tell me, Stella; may I hope? I only ask for hope!"

She looked at him, at his face, white and working.

"No, no!" she panted. "I—I cannot! Take me home!"

He supported her, his eyes fixed upon her in an ecstasy of longing and despair.

"You mean—"

"I cannot! I cannot!" she breathed, her eyes evading his. "Please take me home. I—I am very sorry; but I cannot!"

His face grew white.

"You mean that? Then—then there is someone else?" he said, hoarsely.

Stella hung her head and drew away from him; then she raised her eyes, full of pain and something like shame.

"Let us go!" she breathed, almost inaudibly. "Please let us go; and do not let us say another word!"

LONDON.

The Governor, Newfoundland, Zeppelins visited outlying parts of London last night, dropping ninety bombs, mostly incendiary, fires caused were promptly extinguished. Fire engines were required in three cases. No public buildings injured; four persons were killed, a few others seriously injured.

Statements of Turkish press in Cairo indicate that Turkish forces in the Dardanelles are terribly short of food. The French Government further progress near Souchez, Neuville. A German attack on Neuville was repulsed with heavy losses.

The Russian Government, about 9,000 prisoners captured in Southwest Poland, between 23rd and 24th. The San battle is being favorably. In East Galicia, between Strij and Dolina the troops have assumed the offensive and on Saturday captured 100 prisoners and thirty guns. The enemy began a retreat.

Italian dirigibles have been causing a great fire in the An Italian destroyer flotilla, the Monfalcone docks.

BONAPARTE.

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, via St. Pierre. In the region north of Arras engagements were delivered during the night. East of the Arras-Souchez road we penetrated wood where a bayonet engagement occurred, and in which we had advantage. On the plateau of Notre Dame de Lorette we had a German work. A very big engagement occurred around Souchez sugar factory. There were about 50 prisoners. In the region near Fontenoy, north of Arras, during the night of 30th to 31st, German attack in which two companies were engaged, was repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy.

Dardanelles operations have been reduced, since the last few engagements of little importance which have occurred almost all ended with gains for the Allies. On the west of the Dardanelles a group of villages belonging to a Colonial force took by assault, on Friday, a small fort that the enemy had to the left end of its line, and dominated the trenches. Our forces advanced so rapidly that the enemy were taken by surprise. In the counter-attacks were delivered by the Turks, with large forces, the fort, but were repulsed, the enemy sustained heavy losses. British troops on their side of the Dardanelles were repulsed with brilliant success by repulsing assault near Kaba Tepe.

The German Consul at Izmir excited Turkish soldiers to attack on a boat flying a white flag. He had the graves of the so-called Bonaparte's army dug and re-

LONDON, June 1.

The Governor, Newfoundland: Zeppelin visited outlying districts of London last night, dropping about ninety bombs, mostly incendiary. The fires caused were promptly dealt with. Fire engines were required in three cases. No public buildings were injured; four persons were killed and a few others seriously injured.

Statements of Turkish prisoners at Cairo indicate that Turkish losses in the Dardanelles are terribly heavy.

The French Government reports further progress near Souchez and Neuville. A German attack on Vesges was repulsed with heavy loss.

The Russian Government reports about 9,000 prisoners captured in Southwest Poland, between May 12th and 24th. The San battle is developing favorably. In East Galicia between Strijl and Dolina the Russian troops have assumed the offensive, and on Saturday captured over 7,000 prisoners and thirty quick-firing guns. The enemy began a disorderly retreat.

Italian dirigibles have bombed Pola, causing a great fire in the arsenal. An Italian destroyer flotilla shelled the Montalcone docks.

BONAR LAW.

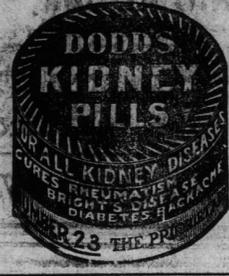

ST. PIERRE BULLETIN.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, June 1.

In the region north of Arras, fierce engagements were delivered during the night. East of the Aix-Noulette-Souchez road we penetrated a small wood where a bayonet engagement occurred, and in which we took the advantage. On the plateau east of Notre Dame de Lorette we captured a German work. A very fierce engagement occurred around the Souchez sugar factory. We took there about 800 prisoners. In the Vosges near Fontelle, north of St. Die, during the night of 30th to 31st, a German attack in which two companies were engaged, was repulsed, with heavy losses for the enemy.

Dardanelles operations have been reduced, since the last few days, to engagements of little importance, which have occurred almost daily, and all ended with gains for the Allied troops. On the west of Kerveles Dere ravine a group of volunteers belonging to a Colonial regiment, took by assault, on Friday evening a small fort that the enemy had built to the left end of its line, and which dominated the trenches. Our troops advanced so rapidly that the defenders were taken by surprise and fled without offering any resistance. Two counter-attacks were delivered by the Turks, with large forces, to retake the fort, but were repulsed, and the enemy sustained heavy losses. The British troops on their side scored a brilliant success by repulsing a fierce assault near Kabas Tepe.

The German Consul at Haifa had excited Turkish soldiers to open fire on a boat flying a white flag of truce. He had the graves of the soldiers of Bonaparte's army dug and the bones camp. Long range cannon are now being transported by the Italians towards the points to be occupied, one of which is within seven miles of Rovereto. The whole of the high plateau of Lufone is now in the hands of the Italian troops, who are also threatening to take the Austrian city of Trent from behind along the Fiume Valley. Austrian authorities evidently realize the danger threatening Trent, because they have ordered the evacuation by all persons of institutions considered useless. Included in this category are the Judges' Law Courts which are being transferred to Mezzolom village, some ten miles further north.

RUSSIAN BARQUE BLOWN UP.

The Russian barque Montrosa, was blown up by a mine last night in the North Sea, 25 miles from Spurn. The vessel was sunk, and the crew were landed at Hull to-day by a Norwegian steamer.

NINETY BOMBS DROPPED UPON LONDON.

LONDON, June 1.

Ninety bombs were dropped in a raid upon London last night by Zeppelin airships. Four persons were killed and a few injured; no public buildings were damaged. This information was given out officially to-day, as follows: In amplification of the information which appeared in this morning's newspapers, the following particulars of last night's Zeppelin raid in the metropolitan area, are now available for publication. Last night about ninety bombs, mostly of an incendiary character, were dropped from hostile aircraft in various localities not far distant from each other. A number of fires, of which only three were large enough to require the services of fire engines, broke out. All were promptly and effectively dealt with. Only one of them necessitated a district call. The fires were all caused by incendiary bombs referred to. No public buildings were injured, but a number of private premises were damaged by fire or water. The number of casualties is small. So far as has at present been ascertained, one infant, one boy, one man and one woman were killed; another woman was seriously injured and her life is despaired of. A few other private citizens were seriously injured, but the precise number has not yet been ascertained. Adequate police arrangements, including the calling out of the special constables, enabled the situation to be kept thoroughly in hand at all times.

TELL OF SPLENDID WORK DONE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Joseph and Nilbon Ross Both Find a Cure for their Troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Pointe aux Outardes, Que., June 2nd. (Special).—Messrs. Joseph and Nilbon Ross, both well known residents of this place, have joined in a statement as to the benefits they have received from Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Joseph Ross says:—"I can tell you I am satisfied with Dodd's Kidney Pills. I suffered from pains in the stomach and backache, and I found a cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills." Mr. Nilbon Ross says: "I suffered from a pain in my side. My brother persuaded me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so and I am cured. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best tonic in the world."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a natural tonic because they cure the kidneys. Cured kidneys strain all impurities, all the seeds of disease out of the blood. This means pure blood coursing through the veins carrying pure blood and nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Laid to Rest.
The funeral of the late Hon. James Baird took place from his late residence Church Hill yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. The pipers of the Nfd. Highlanders, of which the deceased was Honorary Lieut.-Col., preceded the hearse playing "The Land O' the Leal," as a funeral dirge. Next came the officers of the Highlanders who acted as pall-bearers. Following the hearse were the immediate relatives and friends of the deceased, representatives of both branches of the Legislature, employees of the firm of J. S. Baird, Ltd., and a large concourse of citizens with a following party from the Highlanders bringing up the rear. The service at the graveside was conducted by the Rev. J. S. Sutherland, Pastor of St. Andrew's, and interment was at the General Protestant Cemetery. While the remains were being consigned to earth the pipers played "Lochaber no More." Thus was laid to rest the remains of a venerable and highly esteemed citizen.

Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.
FOR THE NURSERY.
"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered, contented household.
Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the Instantaneous or Circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs, downstairs, and in my lady's chamber,"—without any labour at all—Independently of the state of the kitchen fire.
The cost is reasonable.
FOR THE BATHROOM.
An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance.
Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost!
Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of grate cleaning—and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm weather!
A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving because there are no coals to carry, no flues to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.
The master of the house has hot shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.
HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.
When "Spring cleaning days" engross the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.
But at all times—apart from convenience—a gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem.
Latter-day domestic are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes.
The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous—may 12/6.

Stocks Reduced
PRICES RAISED.
Messrs. Lind and Couto, of Oporto, sends the following to the Board of Trade:—
"Owing to the steady reduction of stocks in this market and the short supply, prices have been gradually raised to the level of other markets and codfish is now selling at prices hitherto unheard of here. There is of course much less demand at these high prices as the poorer classes who are the chief consumers are no longer able to buy it. The Rosina from St. John's arrived here on the 1st inst. with 3,000 cwt. of large and medium fish for this market and 2,000 cwt. of Labrador which will probably go to Figueria. This is the only cargo from Newfoundland to arrive since Feb. 8th. The Norwegians in the meantime have kept the market constantly supplied and obtained excellent results. We ourselves have only a few quintals of fish in our stores and much require further supplies. The present is a splendid opportunity for consigning and, no outright sale should be made. Exchange is fairly steady in the neighbourhood of 36½ D."

Private Frampton who writes from Hope Hospital, Pendleton, Manchester, England, says that the battle was a terrible one. He was wounded in the left shoulder, but not seriously. The wound was giving much pain at the time of writing, but he hoped to be completely recovered within a very short time.

Help to the utmost of your power to bring some small comfort and relief to those who are undergoing such terrible sufferings to save our own country from the hands of ruthless barbarians. All we can do is so little, but that little can be done to-morrow by buying a BADGE OF THE NEWFOUNDLAND REGIMENT from the members of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, who will offer them for sale throughout St. John's. The number of Hospital beds obtainable are still inadequate to the number of wounded brought from the firing line, day by day. By to-morrow's sale the members hope to help considerably towards providing and supporting one more bed for six months at a Base Hospital. Give your thirty cents, take your badge, and you will have done your little bit.

The Sea Wolves and the United States.

If American press reports of the feelings which dominate the Cabinet Council at Washington yesterday are to be relied on, the patience of the government of the United States has been severely tried by the German Reply to the American Note about the circumstances attendant on the sailing of the Lusitania, the Gulfight and other vessels. The special pleadings of Jacob, the substitution of fiction for fact, and the general dilatoriness of the German answer will be roundly brushed aside by the President's rejoinder, and Germany will be called upon to give a prompt and definite reply whether Germany intends in future to be guided by the accepted principles of International Law and the rights of neutrals or follow its own rules of maritime warfare. The President will demand that Germany guarantee not to sink unarmed merchant ships without notice, that Germany shall search before condemning merchant ships, whether they carry contraband or not, and shall not sink any such ship without transferring to a place of safety passengers and crew. The request is tantamount to a demand that Germany shall cease carrying on the submarine warfare against merchantmen in the way which it has been carried for more than three months.

The United States is in the right because the German method of maritime warfare is a violation of the rights of humanity. Just as Germany has resorted to the example of Attila the Hun as an incentive to the barbarities practised in her warfare on land, so she has resorted to the inhuman examples of the Corsairs of Algiers in the fifteenth century for her method of carrying on her warfare at sea. Just as Germans have become the Huns of the Twentieth Century on land, so they have become the Sea Wolves of the Twentieth Century.

Unless a favourable answer is returned, President Wilson will sever diplomatic relations with the Kaiser and take steps to safeguard American lives and interests.

Local Fishery is Very Backward.

This is said to be one of the most backward seasons remembered for the local fishery, mainly on account of the ice blockade which prevents boats from getting on the grounds. In some years fishermen had saving voyages ashore up to this date. So far not a fresh 'cod's tail' has come into the local market. Many fisher folks around here have not got any for their own consumption. The same applies to Quidi Vidi, Logy Bay, Torbay and right on to Cape St. Francis. Matters are different at Portugal Cove, although the fishermen there have more than their share of ice to contend with. Codfish is scarce but there has been a good sign of herring constantly for the past few weeks. Yesterday some of the residents there brought goodly supplies to the city and disposed of them at remunerative prices.

In Memoriam.

JAMES HARDING.
In the death of James Harding, who departed this life at 2 o'clock on Friday last, Holyrood has lost one of its best men, in the full flush of life and in the very prime of manhood. Deceased who was of a gigantic stature was stricken down with the incurable malady of heart trouble last October, and despite the medical aid of Dr. Jones and the constant attention of Rev. W. P. Finn, P.F., the illness made such inroads upon his herculean constitution as to bring about his dissolution on Friday last. The late James Harding was only 42 years old and was twice married, first to a Miss Lineham, of St. Mary's, who died four years ago, and second, to a Miss Finlay, of Trepassay, who together with two children, his father and mother (Mr. and Mrs. R. Harding, of Greenfield), and one brother and sister, mourn their loss and to all of whom we tender our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of trouble and distress, but Jim's happy death and the hope of the happiness in store for him ought somewhat to assuage their keen sorrow and affliction. His funeral took place on Sunday evening from his late home to the Southside Cemetery and was one of the largest ever seen here. It was attended in processional order by the members of the Star of the Sea Association, of which deceased was a staunch member. The funeral service was conducted at his home by Rev. Father Finn, who also gave the final benediction at the graveside in the cemetery to our dear departed friend who had been mowed down in the prime of manhood and whose early grave was bathed with tears of his sorrow-stricken relatives. May he rest in peace. Amen.

At the House.

THURSDAY, June 1st.

The House went into committee on the Master Builders' Bill and passed the same without amendment.

The Speaker then announced that the Council had passed the Grand Bank Water Co. Bill, the Volunteer Force Bill and the Sealfishery Bill, the last with some amendments. The amendments to the Sealing Bill were then read a first time, after which the Premier in referring to the same pointed out the necessity of having the amendment printed before any discussion could be held.

Mr. Lloyd agreed with the Premier and suggested that the original Bill be printed on one page with the amended form on the opposite page. He expressed his disapproval of some amendments of the Council in making changes in the Bill which destroyed its value. He also called attention to the fact that the action of the Council in adding a taxation clause was a direct invasion of the prerogatives of the House.

Mr. Coaker agreed with what Mr. Lloyd said.

The amendments will come up for second reading to-day.

The Speaker announced that the Loan Bills and the Train Ferry Bill had been passed by the Council.

Mr. Moulton presented a petition from the sealing steamer owners on the matter of the Sealing Bill before the House. The petitioners objected to certain clauses of the Bill, particularly those having reference to penalties.

Mr. Grimes asked the Premier if anything had been done by the Government in the matter of the Memorial presented to His Excellency the Governor by the W. C. T. U.

The Premier stated that the Memorial presented by the W. C. T. U. had called for the closing of the saloons the day before and the day on which the volunteers sail for England, and also to restrict the sale of intoxicants to volunteers. He held that the placing on the "black list" of men who are going to fight for us in the trenches was a matter outside the jurisdiction of the Government.

The Colonial Secretary informed Mr. Stone that the Government had decided on a full inquiry into the alleged irregularities in the Postal Telegraph Department.

Mr. Kent gave notice of resolutions in relation to the Minister of Justice and Minister of Agriculture not having a seat in the House of Assembly.

Mr. Coaker gave notice of question and called attention to the delay in replies to questions asked on May 7th. At 5.30 p.m. the House adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day.

Marshall Bros

"Committee-itis."

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

My neighbor was sitting at her desk with an expression of great anxiety on her face when I dropped in upon her the other day. I inquired the reason. "My dear," she said in a voice so tragic that I felt sure her husband's business had gone to the wall and she was making out a new budget. "My dear, I can't make up my mind which of these two women to put first."

"You see," she went on, biting her pencil in defiance of all laws prophylactic. "I'm making out the list of people who had charge of our bazaar for the refreshments and Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Richards had charge of the refreshments together. Neither of them was the chairman and if I put Mrs. Marshall first Mrs. Richards won't like it and vice versa."

Isn't that a typical quandary?

Trying to Please Everybody and Pleasing Nobody.

How many of us have had to steer between Scylla and Charybdis in this or that committee woman's displeasure, and half the time have managed to avoid neither!

The charitable and philanthropic work done by women organizations is a tremendous asset in the life of every community. It would be hard to find a community of any size where at least a half dozen of these organizations are not happily and usefully busying themselves about the great task of helping the world along.

Such Women Deserve the Highest Honor If—

The women who thus give their time and the energy to the general good deserve the highest honor, if—and hereby hangs my tale—if they don't tarnish and stain that honor by pettiness, by childish rivalry, by narrow vanities.

I am sorry to say that committee-itis has come to be a rather common disease among women.

What is committee-itis? It's the mania to be on a committee, and to be there not for the sake of the good work you can do, the help you can render your fellow men and women, but just for the love of importance and power, for the pride of seeing your name in reports and in the newspapers.

Real Helper Too Busy for Petty Rivalry.

The two women who would each be offended if the other name were mentioned first had committee-itis of course. If they had been on the committee just to help the world along, they would have been too busy for petty rivalry about precedence.

People like that clog the wheels of progress. They make life narrow and petty when it should be large and sweet.

The germ of committee-itis is in every one of us because it is just one particular form of vanity and the tendency to vanity is in every human being. Let's learn to hate and despise this disease so much that we shall treat the germ whenever it attacks us with the antiseptic pride that is fatal to vanity.

Fads and Fashions.

Toby frills are being worn. Fashion desires flares and frills. The country hat should be of felt. Bathing suits are fashioned with full skirts.

Very many new blouses have the old-time smoking.

The fuller the skirt the smaller the waist should be.

Smocks of all kinds are in great demand this season.

Wraps are a striking feature of the summer fashions.

The prettiest scalloped skirts are those made of taffeta.

Hat streamers have tiny posies applied on their ends.

Pagoda parasols are among the many sunshades shown.

The old-time shoulder cape of taffeta is worn in Paris.

Black silk frocks are being donned with white lace.

Green-grains and fallie silks increase constantly in favor.

The newest shoes are extremely simple and unornamented.

Black and white shepherd's plaid is well combined with taffeta.

Shirring is one of the features of the thin cotton dresses for summer.

Very few skin gloves this summer; silk or lisle almost altogether.

The little vogue of shoes laced up the side is, of course, only a passing fad.

Shooting Accident Proves Fatal.

Edward Spears, the eleven-year-old boy, who was accidentally shot in the head near the Highlanders' Armoury exactly a fortnight ago, succumbed to his injuries at the General Hospital at five o'clock last evening. Previous to the end the little fellow suffered untold pain, as the bullet could not be extracted from the skull. Undertaker Myrick confined the remains and conveyed them to the residence of Mrs. T. Spears, Colonial Street, who was his foster mother and aunt of the deceased. An unfortunate circumstance is that the boy's mother died when he was an infant and his father is now at sea. The sympathy of the whole community will go out to the relatives and friends of the deceased.

CORNS Instant Relief.

Paint on Putnam's Corn Extractor to-night, and corns will feel better in the morning. Magical the way "Putnam's" eases the pain, destroys the roots, kills a corn for all time. No pain. Cure guaranteed. Get a 25c. bottle of "Putnam's" Extractor to-day.

Whalers Ready.

Capt. Amundson and his Norwegian whaling crew are now at Trinity where they will join the whaler Cachalot which has been laying up there all the winter and spring, and proceed to Hawke's Harbor to commence operations. Last year the Cachalot was high liner of the whaling fleet.

BISURATED MAGNESIA

For dyspepsia, indigestion, souring of food, gas, and hyperacidity of the stomach (acid stomach). A teaspoonful in a fourth of a glass of hot water usually gives "INSTANT RELIEF". Sold by all druggists in either powder or tablet form at 75 cents per bottle.

"LAST OF THE EMDEN."

(From the Manchester Guardian.)
The news from Berlin of the arrival in Arabia of the remnants of the Emden's crew is the finishing touch to an adventure well in keeping with the general history of the famous German commerce raider. When the Emden was caught by the Sydney off Cocos Island on Nov. 9, she put out to meet the Sydney without taking on board the landing party which had been put ashore to wreck the cable station. By the time the Emden had formally surrendered and several rescues had been made of isolated members of her crew which had taken to the water, night was falling, and it was too late for the Sydney to get in communication with the cable station. When she did so the next day, her captain learned that the Emden's landing party of forty men and three officers had made vigorous use of the delay. They had seized and provisioned a 70-ton schooner, the Ayesha, and escaped in her the previous evening with four Maxims and a modest but useful amount of ammunition for them. There was material here for a fine adventure after the heart of a seafaring novelist, and it has been pretty well fulfilled in fact. The cable operators vowed that it would be a short one, asserting that the Ayesha was leaking when she was seized and would take her captors to the bottom with her before they got very far. But she did not sink—perhaps the resourceful crew repaired her on the voyage—and in three weeks she was laying in stores at Padang, a straight 830 miles away, on the coast of Sumatra. This was on Nov. 28, and since then, from the details given in the Berlin message, the Ayesha has made her way in four months across at least 4,100 miles of the Indian Ocean, reaching the Arabian coast at the bottom of the Red Sea on March 27. Presumably the intention of her crew was then to march inland to the nearest centre of their allies, the Turkish army. But their adventures were by no means over, for on their way they were attacked by the Arabs of the Yemen, who have no great love for Turkish rule. The Arabs clung to the party for three days, and left their mark on it in the shape of several casualties. The wounded, says the Berlin message, are now in hospital at Jeddah, which presumably means that the rest have got into touch with some sort of Turkish forces; and so we come definitely to the "last of the Emden" as an individual fighting unit."

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

When taking your children to the photographer, be careful not to impress the child with the feeling that it is a visit as solemn as the one to the minister or the dentist. If the child arrives at this conclusion his picture will show traces of fright or austerity, which is quite unnatural to his laughing, light hearted self.

Allow him to be himself in the studio, and even to get acquainted with his surroundings and the photographer, if you wish to get a natural, pleasing picture. When the child poses himself he usually looks twice as artistic as when the photographer arranges each stiff little finger and places the horrible iron head rest at the back of his curls. Naturalness is the keynote of success in good photography.

"Do you think it would be correct for me to wear a linen colored dress out on the porch this morning?" asked the little widow who had been in mourning only a few months.

"You should not wear a linen colored dress. You may, however, wear all white during the warm days of summer. Not until two years have passed should you wear colors," answered her mother.

LONDON, To-day.

In face of yesterday's Russian claims that the Austro-German offensive has passed to the Russian side both German and Austrian official statements to-night asserted that Austro-German troops had successful north and southeast of the fortress and that forts girdling the north had fallen into their hands while southeast they have wrested Stry from the Russians. In fact, Austro-Germans say the campaign is running in their favor every day in the eastern zone from Lubau to the southernmost tip of the Prussian battle line. It is apparent the Russians, since being forced from the San, have been rushing heavy reinforcements in the hope of averting the fall of Przemysl, but Austro-Germans undeterred by their pending losses, have as yet shown the disposition to accept a purely defensive role. British critics say they have been a bit premature in saying the German thrust had definitely failed. A British official communication was issued to-day. The French confine themselves generally speaking, to recounting their successes at Ablain and St. Nazaire. The German official statement ignores this and tells of minor gains elsewhere, but adds that the French efforts to break through the German line failed.

ARMY CLAIMS SUCCESS AROUND PRZEMYSL.

LONDON, To-day.

In face of yesterday's Russian claims that the Austro-German grip on Przemysl had been broken and that the offensive in the great Galician struggle has passed to the Russians, both German and Austrian official statements tonight asserting that Austro-German troops had been successful north and southeast of the fortress and that forts girdling it to the north had fallen into their hands, while southeast they have wrested Stry from the Russians. In fact the Austro-Germans say the campaign is running in their favor everywhere in the eastern zone from Libau north to the southernmost tip of the Galician battle line. It is apparent that the Russians, since being forced back from the San, have been rushing up heavy reinforcements in the hope of averting the fall of Przemysl, but the Austro-Germans undeterred by stupendous losses, have as yet shown little disposition to accept a purely defensive role. British critics seem to have been a bit premature in saying the German thrusts had definitely failed. A British official communication was issued to-day. The French count themselves generally speaking, to recounting their success at Salonika and St. Nazaire. The German official statement ignores this and hints of minor gains elsewhere. It adds that the French efforts to break through the German line failed.

ITALIANS ELATED.

ROME, To-day. Exultation is general in Rome, over the Italian air raid on Pola, and the amount of damage done, as Pola is the greatest military port of Austria, is the centre of the railways of Istria and has great natural and defensive fortifications. The fact that an Italian airship was able to damage the arsenal, railway station and other structures, is taken as a proof that the Austrian fleet now at that port is not entirely safe. There is no disposition here, however, to exaggerate the successes won so far by the Italians. Newspapers are cautioning people against thinking the Austrians will not make a most determined resistance behind the defences which they have prepared.

GERMANY IN CONFUSION. LONDON, To-day. Frederick Bennett, Daily News correspondent at Petrograd, wires: The entire German position is now marked by utter confusion. Entire regiments with machine guns, projectiles and transports are surrendering daily. The pressure of the French and British in the west evidently prevents Germany from sending further reinforcements. Her effort in Galicia which was meant to impress the Balkan States, is rapidly becoming one of the greatest failures of the war.

Decision of U.S. Cabinet

German Reply Unsatisfactory— President Will Demand a Satisfactory and Prompt Reply or Sever Diplomatic Relations, and Take Steps to Safeguard American Lives and Interests.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

President Wilson determined yesterday that the United States must ascertain definitely and promptly from Germany whether the Imperial Government intends in future to be guided by the accepted principles of International Law and the rights of neutrals, or follow its own rules of maritime warfare. The President listened to varied expressions of opinion at the meeting of his Cabinet, taking little part in the discussion himself. Later he began the preparation of the Note to be despatched before the end of this week, embodying his own ideas of what seemed to him to constitute the consensus of opinion of his official family. The verdict of the majority of the Cabinet was that the German Reply to the American Note, following the sinking of the Lusitania, was UN-RESPONSIVE, UNSATISFACTORY, disregarded the good will of the United States, doubted its facts and disclaimed all blame for the sinking of a merchantman with American lives. The questions of fact raised by Germany were regarded as irrelevant at this time. The trend of opinion was that the United States must inquire for and obtain an early answer as to whether Germany intends to recognize the hitherto accepted principle that neutrals may travel anywhere on the High Seas on unarmed merchant ships whether or not such vessels carry contraband, that merchantmen which do not resist capture must be visited and searched, and the passengers and crew must be transferred to a place of safety before the vessel is destroyed. An unfavourable answer to this inquiry would lead, it was predicted in official quarters, to the severance of diplomatic relations on the ground that the United States could not continue intercourse with a Government which repudiated these principles. Steps then would be taken to inform Americans of the dangers to which they were exposed as a result of this action. Such measures as were necessary would be adopted to safeguard the lives and interest of citizens of the United States. Should Germany accept the principles in a way that would constitute a guarantee for the future, the American Government then would reiterate its demand for Strict Accountability for violations of this principle and the killing of Americans by the torpedoing without warning of the Lusitania.

of the debate on Saturday in the German Reichstag, tell of vigorous demands by the Conservative and National Liberal leaders for substantial territorial expansion in the event of German victory. Strong opposition to these sentiments came from the Socialist deputies. It is admitted that the day's proceedings revealed an unmistakable break between the Socialists and other parties.

Hoyt, G. Guy, J. D. Lockyer, Wm. French, A. Mercer, R. Joseph, J. Long; Miss Tremills, Miss Stone, Miss Barnes; Mrs. P. Brothers and 35 steerage.

MALICIOUS DAMAGE TO PROPERTY. —A seaman was summoned to court to-day by Sgt. Noseworthy, charged with destroying a tree, belonging to that officer. When caught he gave a fictitious name. He acknowledged his guilt to-day. The judge commented strongly on the offence and spoke of the carnival of destruction to private property being carried on in and around the city by mischievous individuals, some of which he intimated, had come under his personal observation. In this case he would make an example, and fined the defendant $5 or 14 days.

CARDINAL'S WAR VIEW. "Although no one among us is in any doubt as to the ultimate issue of the war," said Cardinal Bourne at the Westminster Cathedral Hall, recently. "I think we must admit reluctantly that it is not going to be a very, very long business indeed. The position at the front is almost exactly the same as it was three months ago. We have Hill 60 and Neuve Chapelle, but the Germans are nearer Ypres than they were in January. We must make up our minds for a long and a very resolute fight, in which we shall need every resource in men, money, and munitions of which the British Empire can possibly dispose."

Blind Soldiers and Sailors.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I have had read to me recently many extracts from Canadian papers which tell something of what is being done here to teach British and Belgian soldiers and sailors who have lost their sight at the Front, to be blind.

As your readers probably know, we have been so fortunate as to secure St. Dunstan's, Regent's Park, London, N.W., for this purpose. The house, which has been generously lent to us by Mr. Otto Kahn, the distinguished American banker, is of magnificent proportions, and well adapted to its present use. It lends itself to the formation of separate quarters for Officers, and is surrounded by fifteen acres of private gardens and grounds, from which a gate leads into the wide expanse of Regent's Park.

Your readers will, I daresay, be interested in some further particulars of the work which Mr. Kahn's public-spirited act is enabling us to do.

We are happily settled here at St. Dunstan's, and over fifty inmates, among whom are included two military and one naval Officer, are busy at work and at play. Special, and I think I may say, ingenious, arrangements have been made which enable them to find their way about both indoors and out with astonishing facility. Throughout the house are paths of matting, throughout the grounds paths of sheet lead, and warning signals consisting of boards are laid flush with the ground before steps, walls, trees and other obstacles. Each man spends two hours a day at Braille reading and writing and at learning to manipulate the ordinary typewriter. I cannot speak too highly of the devoted work of the little army of voluntary teachers who come here each day to give instruction in these necessary accomplishments. Two hours more are spent in the learning of some useful and profitable occupation. Many men devote considerably more time each day to the acquisition of useful knowledge. A very large conservatory has been turned into a workshop, and here the classes in carpentry, boot-repairing, basket-making and mat-making work busily under the instruction of skilled blind teachers. The quite curiously rapid progress which the men are making may be directly attributed to the influence of the blind teacher. The newly-blinded man knows that he is being told the right way in which to do them.

The Country Life Section, which is under the supervision of Captain Webber, the well-known blind expert, is a most interesting feature. Instruction is given in all branches of poultry-farming, in bee-keeping and in market-gardening, and there are many simple and clever plans to enable the blind men to pursue these avocations with accuracy and ease. Several fellows are learning massage the one occupation at which blind people can compete on even terms with people who can see; indeed, the skilled blind man is very apt to take the lead in this occupation.

We have just started rowing on the Regent Park lake, a branch of which runs into our grounds. Rowing is an ideal exercise for blind people, for, besides the actual physical work involved, it gives them the sense of helping instead of being helped.

The Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Hostel is maintained jointly by the British Red Cross Society, the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and the National Institute for the Blind, and a grant from the Prince of Wales' Fund is defraying the cost of training the men and starting them in life.

We invite contributions to a special fund which is spent on costly apparatus, such as typewriters, and in paying the travelling and living expenses of near relatives who are brought from distant parts of the country to stay near by a blinded husband, brother or son.

The National Institute for the Blind have placed at our disposal a Home at Brighton where the men can go for rest and change.

May I end this brief account by referring to the spirit of cheery optimism which is the key-note to the life at St. Dunstan's? The men are thoroughly bright, interested and happy. A recent writer referred to this place as the 'Palace of Hope. This name truly describes it, and I trust that it will turn out to be a Palace of Brave Endeavour and Patient Achievement, carried to a point which denotes the infliction of a blow as hard as any to which mortals can be asked to submit.

I am, dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
C. ARTHUR PEARSON,
Chairman Blinded Soldiers' and Sailors' Care Committee.

Confidence in the Future

London Daily Mail.—We stand today on the threshold of operations that are absolutely without precedent in our annals. The Territorials have already proved their valor on more than one bloody field. The new armies, drawn from the finest fighting stock in the country, are eager to follow their lead. In all wars we are slow starters. We have been so in this. But we are beginning to overcome the deficiencies of preparation. With Allies with whom it is an honor to fight side by side, with the stubborn spirit of our people rising every day, and with the advantage of preponderant resources in men and materials which our Government can command, when it makes up its mind, we can face the future with confidence.

TALKING SICKNESS.

Your liver may be out of joint, your spare ribs raw and sore, you may be driven to anoint your spavins more and more, but talk of more uplifting things than an aches and fell disease; discuss the mockingbird that sings its rag-time in the trees; discuss the virtues of your cook, or quote Ed. Markham's rhyme, or talk about the latest book by E. P. Oppenheim. The dreariest of human bores is that one who explains the facts about his aches and sores, his bunions and his sprains. He tires us with his tales of bile that runs in turgid brooks, and everyone will spring a smile when he goes off the hooks. I've always found that those who speled of pains that never ceased, until the hearer's blood congealed, were those who suffered lease. The martyrs with rheumatic limbs, whose life should be a curse, are often busy singing hymns because things are no worse. But talking of the ills that make your nervous system jump, won't drive away a throbbing ache, or cure a single mump. 'Twill only bore the friends you have, their peace your whining spoils; so talk of songs instead of salve, of books instead of bolts.

Amusements.

BIG ROYAL SHOW AT THE CRESCENT PICTURE PALACE.

Don't fail to see the great big Royal show at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day, there are six first class motion pictures of comedy and drama with a funny Bunny comedy among them and a special film of the Newfoundland and Canadian Regiments at Salisbury Plains; be sure and see how the boys put in their time on the other side. Mr. Deimonico gives a special vaudeville act; altogether this is the biggest picture show seen for some time in the city, don't miss it.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

There was as usual a good house at the cosy little theatre last night. The good show and the sweet little singer charms all patrons. To-night there will be a complete change and a very special programme is arranged for Thursday's holiday at the little house that is always the centre of attraction to lovers of a good clean up to date show, good music and comfort.

THURSDAY'S PROGRAMME AT ROSSLEY'S.

There was a big house last night at the Rossley East End Theatre, and the crowd more than enjoyed the feast of fun, for the Prize Baby is one of the funniest ever seen, it's one continual laugh. The pictures are very good. "The Black Bandit's Love" is one of the best pictures seen in many a long day. There is to be a special bill on Thursday, everything up to date, great act, good songs, dances and pictures. There will be a big contest this week. The tickets for the reserve seats are nearly all gone. There are lots of names and some very funny acts. There is in preparation another grand potted pantomime. Miss Locke is hard at work on Bo Peep and Boy Blue. It will be very unique and original; all new costumes.

THE LAST CHANCE.

To-night is the last on which this great production of "The Gambler" will be shown and if you have not yet seen it then don't miss it, if you do you will have missed one of the finest social dramas that has ever been shown to a St. John's public. The house of masterpieces was particularly fortunate in securing this famous picture for production here and that it is all that is claimed of it is shown by the fact of so many seeing it and expressing their satisfaction in unmistakable terms. Thursday: "The Royal Box," Charles Loughlin's great play.

THE BRITISH THEATRE.

This popular house of entertainment has an attractive offering for the mid-week programme. "The False Shadow" is an absorbing two part Lubin drama featuring the celebrated John Ince. The specialist casts a shadow about his rival and lures him to the depths of degradation for the gratification of his own selfish desires. The story is a gripping one interestingly told. "The Bond of Love" is another picture that all with the least tendency towards matrimony should see. "Broncho Billy's Fatal Joke" is an interesting western drama featuring the popular G. M. Anderson. "Sherlock Bonehead" and "A Lady of Spirits" are bright comedies that will be sure to please. Mr. Arthur Priestman Cameron will be heard in favorite comedy songs. Matinees for the children are held every afternoon and the new theatre is growing as popular with the little folk as with their seniors who comment very favourably on the standard of performances given.

MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY AT NICKEL TO-DAY.

"The Million Dollar Mystery" will be continued at the Nickel Theatre this evening. The opening reels were so exciting and interesting that every one is anxious to see the continuation this evening. To-day's episode is much better than the first. This great story has caused more comment than any other, and there will likely be large audiences to-day and to-morrow. The Nickel has another great scoop in the "Hazards of Helen." Look out for it. All should attend this evening. There is a great Keystone Comedy.

Enlisted in Army.

Word has been recently received in the city that John Rogers, a seaman of the Royal Naval Reserve, who was invalided out of the Royal Navy at Chatham Hospital, on February 17th last, has enlisted with the 16th Battalion of the Middlesex Regiment. The sailor-soldier is a son of Mr. John Rogers, of 36 Casey Street, this city, and left here on the Carthaginian on the 18th of November last.
