Happiness Secured AT Heavy Cost!

CHAPTER XXXIV.

THE RAY BRIGHTENS.

"He was living—he is living still, unfortunately for himself," he rejoins, turning away and pacing the room to and fro with a look of misery in his eyes that makes my heart ache for him, ignorant as I am of the cause, as it has never ached for myself. "Heaven forgive him if he has been keeping his secret to the cost of other people's happiness; shifting his own burden unwittingly, it is true, onto shoulders to which it does not belong."

"It must have been the hand of an all-wise Providence that put it into your mind to tell me this story, I think, Miss Kendrick," he presently adds, a strange impressiveness in his look and word, "the one man in all the world, perhaps, who can remove this bar to your sister's happiness."

"Oh, Doctor Fuller!" I respond, my heart beating so violently I can hardly speak, "you have always been a good friend to me—to us all; but if you can do that you will place us under a debt of gratitude nothing can ever repay."

"If the woman at Ivy Cottage is the only obstacle to Adelaide's union with Ernest Warden it is at an end," is the reply. "Warden is a free man! The alleged marriage performed by Mr. Smiles was no marriage at all. Not for the reason that Warden asserts, the insanity of the reputed Mrs. Lennox, but from the fact that she was already married when she met Warden ten years ago."

"And I may tell her? I may tell Adelaide this?" I ask.

"Not yet—do nothing, say nothing until you hear from me again," he commands, as I rise to take my leave.

den? What if his freedom has come too late?

Are there any real grounds for apprehension concerning him? I wonder, with a sudden sinking heart, as my thoughts go back to the circumstances of that miserable night in Hanbury; of his parting words: "Many a man less miserable than I has put a pistol to his head and blown his brains out!" of the desperate state of mind in which he left me at the gate, and went out into the gloom and darkness to battle with his misery of his visit to Ivy Cottage later on; of all the facts conduced to me by Mrs. Martin concerning the singularity of his looks and words; of the certainty that he could not have left by the train on the night of his disappearance; and, last of all, of that hideous suggestion concerning the finding of his hat on the brink of the cliff.

Desperate men have done desperate things before now, and my heart turns sick and heavy within me as the thought sinks down into my soul that Ernest Warden was desperate enough that night to have thrown himself over the brink of Warne's Leap or anything else.

"Do nothing, say nothing, until you hear from me again," were the doctor's parting words, and with a strong, deep sense of comfort that I have that kind heart and clear judgment on which to rely, I wait from post to post, in the hourly expectation of receiving a message. But two, three days, and finally a week goes past, and still none comes.

"Len," I remark, one morning, taking my sewing into the great, roomy, pleasant studio in which my brother is hard-at work at his Galatas, "do you remember that you promised to tell me Doctor Fuller's story? You never have told me, and I should so much like to know it!"

"Would you?" Len replies, taking up a fresh supply of paint, with a thoughtful pucker on his forehead. "I'm afraid you won't find it very much to your taste, Lesley," I warn you it is rather a sorrowful story—poor fellow! the world has been none too kind to him."

"Do you think I don't know that?" I ask, with a coupon of impatience. "As if any one could look into Doctor Fuller's sad, grave face, and fail to see that his life has been a hard one! But never mind, Len, dear, go on and tell me all about it. If it is a secret I will never mention it to any one; but hear it I must!"

Len does not refuse any request of mine, and he does not refuse this. "Beyond the fact that he comes of a good family who, from various causes, became very much reduced in circumstances long before he left school, I don't know that there is much need to go into the doctor's family history," Len begins.

"Like him of old of whom we read in that pathetic story that touched the divine compassion, Robert Fuller was the only son of his mother, and she was a widow."

"At the death of her husband, a clergyman in charge of a large and poor parish, in the interest of which he worked himself to death, poor Mrs. Fuller found herself in such straitened circumstances that it was not without a struggle she was enabled to give her son an education and final launch in life."

"Robert, who had always a taste for science, chose the medical profession, and, passing through the usual curriculum, took very good degrees. But this was not all. Even when the diploma was obtained, nothing but uphill work lay before the young doctor, who was too poor either to purchase a practice or to live while he worked one up, and so fell into the overcrowded ranks of assistants—a post in which he received a salary barely equal to the earnings of a skilled mechanic, and for which he worked like a slave in the interest of a country practitioner with a poor but extensive practice, and a family of proud and extravagant daughters."

"With the youngest of these young ladies—a pretty, coquettish girl, who considered the belle of the circle to which she belonged—Robert fell in love, poor fellow! very much as he does everything else, it seems, in dead, sober earnest. "That his passion was hopeless he never doubted. He was not the man to ask any woman to marry him until he had a position to offer her; and whether Miss Benson would have favored the addresses of her father's assistant had circumstances remained as they were, looks a little doubtful, considering the character she afterward displayed, and the fact that, from his own description of himself, Robert Fuller—at twenty-five must have been a less likely man to win the heart of a silly, frivolous woman than he is now, if possible.

"A plain, plodding, thoughtful man, with a sterling depth and nobleness of character for which a good woman, had fate been kind enough to have thrown such a one in his way, might have loved and honored him, he yet never possessed the knack of making small talk or playing of those little gallantries so dear to the class of women to which the idol of his heart belonged."

"But just upon this time Robert, who had entertained about as much expectation of falling heir to the moon as a fortune, came in for a very respectable sum left him by an unknown uncle who went out to the Cape of Good Hope years before, and was never heard of again, until his executors were hunting up the next male heir, to whom the whole of the money he had succeeded in accumulating during his long residence in the colony was bequeathed, without reservation—a circumstance that made a great difference to the prospects of the young doctor, who had hitherto found life such terribly uphill work. And it made a difference, too, it is presumable, in his ladylove's reception of his suit."

"From the hour of this unexpected accession of fortune, Miss Benson began to smile so sweetly on the advances of the shy, awkward young man—who, in the humility of his deep love had never ventured to hope for a return of his passion—that Robert was emboldened to declare his love and ask her to become his wife. "To his delight he was accepted, and, while deluded into the belief that she loved him, lived in a fool's paradise of passion and delusion—a state of felicity that did not last long, however. With Robert Fuller, as with many another man before and since, marriage brought him terrible disillusionment! When too late he saw it for what it was—the fatal mistake of his life! "Mrs. Fuller's desires were boundless. Nothing was too reckless or extravagant for the demands of the girl who had been reared in the home of a poor professional man, who had hard work to make both ends meet, and the inevitable result followed. Doctor Fuller's affairs became involved to a serious extent, and, at last, finding that all remonstrance with his wife was useless, and that his domestic expenses rather increased than lessened in response to his representations that they were living beyond their means, he went back to his profession, and worked harder than he had ever worked before in his desperate effort to right himself—to supply his wife's extortionate demands for dress and gayety. But from the very first the case was hopeless, or worse than hopeless! The more he gave the more she wanted! As well try to drain the ocean as to satisfy the wants of a woman of the type to which Mrs. Fuller belonged."

WAR REVIEW.

The French and Americans are fast driving the Germans out of their positions in Southern Picardy and in the sector between the Vesle and the Aisne rivers. So rapid has been the progress for the Allies, the French in Picardy and the Americans and French from Soissons east towards Rheims, that the retirement of the enemy has the appearance at present of the beginning almost of a rout. Meanwhile Field Marshal Haig in the north from Peronne to Ypres is almost as busily engaged with his troops in carrying out successful manoeuvres, which are only in a slightly less degree of rapidity, forcing the Germans everywhere to give ground. Haig's men again have made the Germans taste bitter defeat on numerous sectors, and the end of the punishment for them seems not yet in sight. In the last fighting in the region extending from the old Noyon sector to Soissons, the French have reclaimed thirty villages from the Germans, have crossed the Somme Canal at several points and are standing only a short distance from the important junction of Ham, with its roads leading to St. Quentin and La Fere. On the south they have made further crossings of the Ailette River and are fast skirting the great wooded region which acts as a barrier to direct attack on Laon, the Chemin des Dames and the western Aisne defence of the enemy. Seemingly at the present rate of progress this barrier will shortly have been overcome and indeed the entire salient northwest of Soissons obliterated. Already the French south of Frenes on the fringe of the high forest of Courcy, have penetrated the old Hindenburg line. All behind the lines northeast of Noyon, great configurations are to be seen, particularly around Jusy and La Fere, which apparently is an indication that it is the intention of the Germans to fall back as fast as they can to the old German lines running southeastward from St. Quentin. The French and Americans are hard after the Germans from the Vesle River and the Aisne, and for more than 8 miles, extending from Conde to Villers-array they have driven the enemy across the Aisne and are now standing on the southern bank of the river. Eastward towards Rheims almost up to the gates of the Cathedral City, the German line is falling back. At the anchor point of the line in the vicinity of Rheims, however, the Germans seem to be holding, evidently realizing that a retrograde movement here would necessitate a strengthening of their line perhaps as far eastward as Verdun. In the initial manoeuvre to the retreat along the Vesle from the Americans and French captured both Banoches and Fismettes. From Banoches they moved six miles northward to Villers-array, while from Fismettes they Already the French south of Presnes on the fringe of the high forest of Courcy, have penetrated the old Hindenburg line. All behind the lines northeast of Noyon, great conflagrations are to be seen, particularly around Jussy and La Fere, which apparently is an indication that it is the intention of the Germans to fall back as fast as they can to the old German lines running southeastward from St. Quentin. The French and Americans are hard after the Germans from the Vesle River and the Aisne, and for more than 8 miles, extending from Conde to Vic-sur-Aisne they have driven the enemy across the Aisne and are now standing on the southern bank of the river. Eastward towards Rheims almost up to the gates of the Cathedral City, the German line is falling back. At the anchor point of the line in the vicinity of Rheims, however, the Germans seem to be holding, evidently realizing that a retrograde movement here would necessitate a straightening of their line perhaps as far eastward as Verdun. In the initial manoeuvre to the retreat along the Vesle front the Americans and French captured both Bancoches and Fismette. From Bancoches they moved six miles northward to Vitlary, while from Fismette they have penetrated more than a distance of three miles into the Barbonval which is only a little more than 6 miles south of the Aisne. In Flanders the British have taken the town of Ploegsteert and positions southwest of Messines and northeast of Wulverghem and repulsed strong counter attacks launched against them. Southwest of Arras all the way down the line to the south of the Somme below Peronne, the British have dug more deeply into the enemy's front on various sectors, especially towards Cambrai in the enemy's rearwards for a considerable distance. The Germans have been violently bombarding the Americans at Frapelle on the eastern end of the battlefield in Lorraine, but have attempted no infantry attacks. More than 3,000 shells, many of them gas projectiles, have been sent into the American line by the enemy.

PRISONERS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Sept. 5. (Official.)—From Neuve Chapelle southward to Givency the British have reached the line they held up to the German attack on April 9th last, while to the eastward of Givency sections of the old German positions have been taken. On the battle line in front of Cambrai an improvement in the British positions south of Moeuvres is reported. The positions to the east of Hermettes near Canal Du Nord, just to the south, also have been improved. Still further south the British have captured the village of Neuville Bourjival, east of the Canal Du Nord. More than 16,000 prisoners and more than one hundred guns have been taken by the British in the past four days.

MARKED PROGRESS.

LONDON, Sept. 5. Marked progress was made by the British last night along the Flanders front, according to to-day's war office reports. Ploegsteert village has been captured, as well as Hill 63, southwest of Messines, on the Lys front. The British hold the general line of Voormeesle, Pulverghem, Ploegsteert, Nieppe, Laventie and Givency.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, Sept. 5. In the Neule region on the Somme front the French crossed the Somme Canal near Yotennes and Offry. Just to the south they have reached the region beyond Homblix, Famery, Hallon and Flavy le Meideux, between the Ailette and the Aisne the towns of Clamecy and Misny sur Aisne have been captured. The operation on the Neule has been extended to the east and a crossing has been effected between Ventaux and Jonchery on a two and a half mile front.

FRENCH REACH THE AISNE.

PARIS, Sept. 5. The German retreat before the French northeast of Noyon continues. During the night, to-day's war office announcement shows that the French troops kept in touch with the enemy rearwards and pushed after the retreating foe east of the Canal Du Nord. Franco-American forces pursuing the Germans north of the Vesle have reached the line of the Aisne, according to advices from the front this morning. Advancing north of the Vesle, French and American troops reached the crest of the ridge dominating the River Aisne.

IMPORTANT DAMAGE DONE.

PARIS, Sept. 5. (Havas.)—Nearly forty tons of explosives were dropped by 148 British Allied airplanes on the towns of Brancourt and Anis Le Chateau, south of Concy Forest on August 29th in connection with the advance of General Mangin's army, says the Matin. Important material damage was done in the hours of the aerial operations. Fifteen fights took place; six enemy airplanes were shot down; only one Allied machine was lost.

BASEBALL—FIRST GAME WON BY RED SOX.

GOMISKY PARK, Chicago, Sept. 5. Red Sox won the opening game of the 1918 world series here to-day, defeating the Chicago Nationals 1 to 0 in a game marked principally by air tight pitching. The winning run resulted from the first of Vaughan's bases on balls, the slip of the Chicago pitcher being followed by two sharp singles by Whitman and McInnis. Sheen scoring on the second hit with the only run of the game. The Cubs had only two good openings for runs, but both of them came with two men out. In the first instance Merkle was passed, and Pick, Chicago's new second baseman, was unequal to the task of driving in the runs. In the second instance, Deal raised the hopes of the Chicago fans by driving a long hit to left, but it fell foul and his next attempt was captured by Whitman. The game lacked almost all spectacular features which usually accompany a world's series contest, but this had no effect on the quality of play, which was worthy of champion teams of major leagues. The fine pitching of the opposing left handers, Vaughan and Ruth, gave the fielders little chance for stunts, and as a consequence the crowd had almost no opportunity to cheer.

THE DYNASTY AND THE CROWN.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 5. In appealing to the constitution committee of the Prussian Upper House to fulfil the Emperor's pledge for reform of the franchise, Chancellor Von Hertling said that in his honest conviction with this serious question the protection and the preservation of the crown and the dynasty is at stake. Count Von Hertling's address was delivered at the opening of the discussion by the committee of the Prussian franchise reform question. The government, said the Chancellor, considers that its task is to bring to fulfilment the royal pledge expressed in the July message. As all the sons of the Fatherland are defending the Fatherland, there is now no question of social discrimination at the next election. The object is one which I undertook to achieve when I accepted office and upon which I intend to stand or fall, but it is no question of ministerial responsibility in the ordinary political sense. My honest conviction is that with these serious questions the protection and the preservation of the crown and the dynasty are at stake. Therefore endeavour to find a road that leads to an understanding. The Government sees no possibility of approving the bill in the form in which it came from the lower House. I fully appreciate the scruples regarding the introduction of general equal suffrage, but at the present time these scruples must give way to greater tasks namely: The protection of the most precious treasures of our political life, the dynasty and the crown.

FIRE DESTROYS CARGO.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 5. An American steamship caught fire at sea and came into port to-day with a hold in flames which had been burning sixty hours, destroying thousands of pounds of sugar, tobacco and fruit taken on at Porto Rico. Fire boats have been pouring water into the hold but it will be many hours before the fire is extinguished.

TRYING TO EXPLAIN.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 5. Apparently it has not been possible to hide from the German people the bitter disappointment among the German military authorities over the evacuation of Kemmel, one of the strategic strongholds southwest of Ypres. The Lokal Anzeiger's military correspondent says the evacuation was effected with a heavy heart and adds that the sole comfort surrounding the withdrawal was that it was voluntary and that it served a tactical purpose affecting the whole army on the west front which does not hesitate at sacrificing a mere place when a purpose is to be attained. More outspoken is Koester, a military writer in the Berlin Vorwaerts, who is completely at a loss to understand why the proud Kemmel bastion was surrendered. This writer says the future alone will tell what purpose the manoeuvre served. He concludes, however, that from the fact that two American divisions had been on that part of the front, some enemy coup had been planned which now had been cleverly frustrated, without casualty.

FRENCH SUCCESSES.

PARIS, Sept. 5. The French troops made important advances to-day along the Canal Du Nord, and north of the Vesle according to the War Office announcement to-night. During the course of the day thirty villages were retaken along the Ailette river. The statement says:

Our troops continued their pursuit of the retreating enemy to-day along the Canal Du Nord and the Vesle and made important advances despite resistance at certain points. On the north bank of the Somme Canal we hold Taly and Offry to the south and we have brought our lines nearer to the road to Ham, along which our front extends from Plessis Patee Dole to Berlancoort, southeast of that village. Our front passes through the outskirts of Givency and Gallionel, Crespien, north of Marest Dancourt and the southern outskirts of Abbecourt.

HUNS BURNING SUPPLIES.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 4.—The Germans are appearing to burn supplies and are blowing up ammunition dumps in the region north of Oise River and east of the Noyon-Guiscard road. Many conflagrations have been seen as far east as Ternigru and explosions at Nogy, north of Chauny.

ON THE EASTERN FRONT.

EASTERN THEATRE.
 On the right bank of the Vardar British troops on the night of August 30 completed their success of the preceding evening, taking new enemy works. The total of prisoners captured was 87, of whom one was an officer. In the Cerma Bend and in the region of Monastir the enemy attempted two surprise attacks, both of which were unsuccessful.

AUSTRIAN OFFICIAL.

VIENNA, via London, Sept. 4. The following official statement dealing with operations on the Italian front was issued to-day by the War Office: On the northern part of the Tonale Pass our mountain detachments by a surprise attack wrested from the enemy Punta San Matteo and Monte Montello and a summit glacier. This feat of arms among the eternal ice and snow is a remarkable testimony of the fighting capacity of the attackers who are equal to the severest Alpine conditions.

GUISCARD CAPTURED.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 4. (By the A.P.)—Guiscard, north of Noyon, was captured by the French this afternoon following a general advance of four to seven miles from St. Simon to the Canal Du Nord. French cavalry advanced this afternoon from Baboucy to the region of Mondescourt on the Noyon-Chaunay Road and midway between the two towns, while Mercourt southeast of Guiscard, was occupied this evening. Officers taken prisoners in the wood between this point had received orders to retreat to Bethancourt, northwest of Chauny. The officers received these orders at 1.30 p.m. just before the arrival of the French troops. There are indications that the Germans proposed retiring from this part of the line to the line of Berthecourt, Ham and Han-court. The speed of the French advance, however, is delaying the schedule for retiring so much that possibly the enemy will not find leisure to stop at Ham. The manoeuvre which forced the retirement of the enemy over the front of Mont St. Simon and the Canal Du Nord began Tuesday morning with an attack upon a strong position fortified and protected by wire entanglements and machine gun nests. The attack was preceded by an artillery preparation of four hours. The infantry then went forward only to find that many centres of resistance had survived the shelling and the hardest kind of fighting ensued, the men often coming hand to hand, overcoming the resistance of the German foot by foot. General Humbert's men broke the line and to-day forced ahead rapidly. The advance at three o'clock being from four to seven miles in depth. Guiscard fell into their hands this afternoon. The first army in the meantime took Libermont, Freinches, and Fresnoy Le Chateau southeast of Ham. General Mangin's men also made further gains north of Ailette, crossed the Vesle at several points and forced a passage of the Aisne at the Bliss farm between Venzol and Misc. Many prisoners were taken during these operations beside three and four inch cannon and a great quantity of material. Jussy, La Fere and other towns behind the German lines, are reported in flames to-night.

Youth Not the Happiest Time.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON.

Some weeks ago I asked my readers to tell me what had been the happiest years of their life. The most interesting thing about the letters I received, was that not one claimed youth as the happiest period. It is impossible to print all the letters, but I must give you extracts from two that carry a message of courage and comfort to anyone who thinks that, with the passing of youth, happiness also must pass.

Thinks No One Wholly Happy Until The Children Come.

"I am well into the forties, have lived in several different places and have had experience as teacher, wife and mother, and it is incomprehensible to me how one who has had had children can say that any time of life previous to their coming was the happiest. I had a happy childhood, my school days were precious, and many happy memories cluster around my years of teaching. To-day, settled down in my pleasant farm home, I find myself happier than ever. When one has reached the age of forty, if one has profited by mistakes and kept the mind and heart open and sympathetic, one has so much better sense of values and proportion than one can possibly have in ones youth. Your quotation from Browning is one of my favorites and I believe, whatever comes, the best of life is now and yet to be."

A Beautiful Picture of Sunshine and Shadow.

The other letter is such a brave, beautiful picture of the sunshine and shadow of a humble life, that I know it must touch many hearts. "One of the happiest years of my life was the year before I was married. Everything looked wonderful to me, then came my realization of life with all its worries. The next time I thought I had Heaven on earth, was when my little girl was born, after having four boys. I was young and strong enough to gather them around me and enjoy picnics and fishing and flower-gathering, then came sickness and death and trouble, but I was able to stand it as I always had a childish habit of jumping on my two feet and feeling alive, and knowing that the time would come when we could look back and thank the Lord for the strength to overcome."

As If She Were Their Sweetheart.

"It was Heaven, again, when my two oldest were through schooling and had trades, each, and were able to bring home surprises in candy and flowers and magazines and things I had longed for, just as if I was their sweetheart. "Then came the war,—well the day my boys came home and told me they were going to enlist in the navy, I was heartbroken but oh, so proud! The letters I get now make me read their souls; so am happy again, and after the war I expect to have the happiest years in my life, if the boys come. If they have to give their lives I will be able to jump onto my feet again and live in happiness of my other two boys and girls. So, you see, there is always another happy time coming."

Immorality of Germany.

London, Aug. 25.—The Daily Express reports from Amsterdam that such scandalous scenes have taken place at Zoppot, a fashionable Prussian bathing resort near Danzig, that the police were ordered by the military authorities to take drastic action. This popular watering place has hitherto been under the direct patronage of the Crown Princess of Germany, but mixed bathing in what is known as the "family bath" has been accompanied by such flagrant indecency that the Crown Princess has hurriedly been summoned back to Potsdam as "Zoppot is no longer a possible place for her Imperial Highness," and the police have taken possession of this particular area and put a stop to the bathing. Meanwhile a number of men and women belonging to good German families have been arrested for misbehaviour of so shameless a character that the newspapers have been prohibited from publishing the details of the charges, beyond the fact that they refer to "flagrant and open immorality."

HOT WINDS.

The winds were fried before delivered; the corn stalks in them curled and quivered, they shriveled in the sun; oh now the men who run the weather should change their campaign all together—oh o t winds won't whip the Hun. The corn healthy, strong and nifty; I've never seen it look more thrifty, 'twas green and full of juice; the farmers sat them down to figure upon a harvest three times bigger than common years produce. And then the rattled weather prophet shipped in a lot of wind from Tophet, where it was doubly broiled; he turned it loose upon those regions where cornstalks grew in rustling legions, and all the crop was spoiled. The weather man should surely catch it; he did it with his little hatchet, and can't get through with bunk; another golden dream is busted, another hope lies red and rusted, and only sit for junk. We are not desolate, forsaken; we have alfalfa, wheat and bacon, rolled oats and wholesome bran; we have excelsior and lettuce—the kindly gods will not forget us, though corn's an also ran. Then let us bravely bear reverses; we can't improve things much with curses, or rending of our hair; we still have prunes and beans and squashes, and we will surely whip the boches, so speak not of despair.

Local Coal.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—I need not say that the public highly appreciate the interest displayed by the People's Paper in the development of our local coal areas, and I am also very pleased to find that the St. George's Coal Fields Co., Ltd., is meeting with the success that it deserves in the effort to raise twenty-five thousand dollars with which the Company will start in to develop the coal mining and demonstrate in a practical manner that coal of the very best quality is to be found in the area owned by them. Geologists have already estimated that the coal areas owned by the above Co., should, according to surface indications, and measurement of all known seams average twenty-six million tons of coal to the square mile. The mode of carrying out their initial operations is a testimony of the implicit confidence that the promoter Mr. Thos. J. Freeman has in the enterprise, for all he asks is, that sufficient money be subscribed to prove that the coal is there. He is offering liberal inducements to men of grit who have confidence in the undertaking and who wish to get in on the ground floor, so to speak. We all, each and every one of us have done our share of grumbling about the high price which we are forced to pay for coal. Now there is an opportunity for us to overcome it, and it is for us to say whether we will do so or not. At the present time nearly every one of us is in a position to become a shareholder, for few there are who cannot invest one, two or five dollars in this enterprise. Mr. Freeman in placing the shares thus, gives every one an opportunity to become a shareholder. It is really the first genuine offer of this nature that has been made to the public, an opportunity that promises to bring us great returns, for we have the guarantee of the late Jas. P. Howley, Esq., that the coal is there, of the finest quality and in very large quantities. Let us strike while the iron is hot, and secure our shares and set this great industry agoing that will mean cheaper coal for the people, that will mean the development of the dormant assets of our country, and that will mean the greater uplifting of the laboring classes and artisans of our native land.

Yours truly,

West Coast.

(Western Star.) A picnic will be held at Lourdes, Cape St. George, next Tuesday and Wednesday.

The strike at Port aux Basques seems to be over, for the present at any rate. About a score of men have been taken on there to replace those out on strike and freight trains are again on the move from that terminal.

A cold wave passed over the West Coast last Tuesday night; at some points much damage to crops was effected by frost and we have heard of one party further west who had a field of five barrels of potatoes cut down. At Grand-Lake also potatoes were badly cut.

We had a visit yesterday from Joseph House, of Bell Burs, who informed us that the codfishery at his home port the past season was very good. Good weather has since prevailed with the result that the season's voyage has been cured and is now ready for market.

Along the Waterfront.

Dallas Johnston's new 286 ton (nett) masted vessel has arrived from a foreign port with a cargo of hard pine from the Ruby Lumber Co. Her name is the Ruby, she carries an auxiliary engine and is about the same size as the "Lovers' Bluffs". The schr. Lagar, New Perlican, T. arrived this morning with a load of new fish, which she is now discharging at Bowering's wharf. The J. G. Baller, of Carmarville, arrived from the Ruby, which arrived here a couple of weeks ago with a cargo of Herring Neck, will sail tomorrow for Port Union with a load of provisions. A masted vessel, manned by Spaniards, is the property of a newly formed Spanish firm here and lies at the wharf recently owned by the Lundenburg Trading Co., but which this firm has taken over. Another vessel of the Spanish firm mentioned above arrived last evening. A Lundenburg banker, which has been fishing on the Grand Banks since the middle of June, arrived in the last evening with 200 tons of fish, comes in for salt. Her captain Wm. Cook. She is now at Jobs' wharf. A steamer is also at Jobs' wharf, unloading a general cargo. A fine 3-masted vessel which is unloading molasses, at Harvey Co's wharf was built last winter by Lundenburg. She is owned by Harvey and Co. When she has unloaded she will probably load fish for a foreign country. The Henry L. Montague, Captain Hattie, owned by the Nid-American Packing Co., arrived from the dry dock, Mr. Grace, this morning. She is now at Shea and Co's wharf, and will probably load fish for a foreign country. A steamer is now discharging coal at the wharf of A. Harvey and Co. The Flora McIvor, Capt. Adams, arrived three days ago, from Batavia, and is discharging a load of salt bulk. She is discharging at the Furber's Wharf, and her fish has been bought by the agent of one of the French fish buying firms now here. When her cargo has been discharged she will go coasting.

Wedding Bells.

MURPHY-SHEEHAN. At Cappahayden, August 22nd, a very pretty wedding took place when Miss Annie Sheehan, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murphy, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Annie Sheehan, R. C. teacher, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sheehan. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. Canon Douthett, P.P., Renewer. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. I. Murphy, and Mr. E. Sheehan, brother of the bride. The bridesmaids being Miss Lily Sheehan, sister of the bride, and Miss Annie Lawrence, cousin of the bride. The bride was neatly attired in blue tulle. The groom's present to the bride was a gold locket, and to the bridesmaids, watches. After the ceremony a very pleasant time was spent in dancing, singing and other amusements. We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Murphy many years of wedded life.

Our Baseball Column.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

NEXT WEDNESDAY.

The fans are looking eagerly forward to next Wednesday's games. There will be two of them. The first will start in the morning at 11 o'clock and the other in the afternoon at 3.15. That interesting contest between the All-Comers and Natives which had to be called at the fifth inning on yesterday week is scheduled for the morning's exhibition. In the afternoon the team picked to play at Grand Falls will play a team from the other members of the League. These two games give promise of the best brand of baseball yet played here and should be witnessed by every lover of the "National" sport.

ANSWER TO "A FAN."
Editor, Baseball Column.
Dear Sir.—On reading the letter in your Column yesterday signed "A Fan," I was surprised to see him stating "the above thirteen men which comprise the team are CORRECTLY PLACED IN THEIR USUAL PLAYING POSITIONS" and in addition are the leading thirteen batters of the League." How he made this mistake I cannot say, as if he witnessed any of the League games at all this season he must surely have seen that three of the players mentioned did not play the positions he has assigned them. I think the "Editor" of your Column last season very strongly objected to players being shifted from any position other than the one occupied by him with his own team, and especial mention was made at that time about playing infielders in outfielders' positions and vice versa.

So far as the premier positions on the diamond are concerned I entirely agree with him, viz. Pitchers, Hall, Carew; Catchers, Clouston, Brainerd; 1st Base, Hillz; 2nd Base, Williams; 3rd Base, Canning. Short-stop—Just here is where I differ from yesterday's writer. My choice for the position is McCrindle. While his average shows only .200 as against Murphy's fine one of .416 still we must look just a little closer into the matter. McCrindle scored 15 runs for his team in the six games in which he played and to my mind what a team wants to win is RUNS. "Mac" is probably the best base stealer in our League, and for this reason, and the fact that Murphy's regular position is first Base, my choice for the short-stop job falls on McCrindle. Regarding the three outfield positions my choice would be Phelan, O'Reilly and Doyle. The reason for this choice is that these players belong in the outer gardens purely and simply. The spaces I would name are as follows: Hartnett, Britt and Murphy.

I hope you will be able to give this letter publicity in your Column and by doing so you will oblige,
Yours truly,
ANOTHER FAN.

We give the above letter for what it is worth. Personally we think the subject is open for much discussion, as owing to the very inadequate means of determining the correct averages of each player we are rather inclined to think they do not show the correct value of the players.

A Serious Matter

There is a delicacy about mentioning piles. And yet so many suffer needlessly who could be readily relieved and cured if they only knew about Dr. Chase's Ointment. Men tell one another about this remarkably successful treatment. But many women pine away their health and vitality, dreading a surgical operation and not knowing how easily they can be cured at home by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

At the City Hall.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. The Mayor presided and the full board was present. J. S. Keating, Deputy Minister of Finance, wrote acknowledging receipt of cheques for $35,242.63 being half year's interest and contribution towards Fire Department due Newfoundland Government.

The caretaker at Windsor Lake reported on the woods being set on fire in that vicinity. Parties found lighting fires in this locality will be prosecuted.

Medical Health Officer Fraser, reported one case of diphtheria in the city for the week.

P. W. Freeman's application for permission to erect scaffold, 9 Bonclody Street, was granted, subject to Engineer's approval.

The following plans were approved subject to the City Engineer—Hon. W. J. Ellis, to build extension to garage, Adelaide Street; H. G. Herder, to build on Pleasant Street; Mrs. Thos. Stick, to build additional story to house, 3 Young Street; Alfred Learning, to build on McNeil Street.

Complaint has been made of fishermen making a practice of selling fish from their boats in Beck's Cove and not using the market for washing their fish. The fish markets are erected for this purpose and they will be made use same.

Councillor Mallory brought to the notice of the Board a letter of Hon. John Anderson's on the Housing Scheme, which appeared in the daily papers of August 30th in which he stated: "It seems a pity that the City Council did not see their way clear to assist and support the effort made by the citizens in the great housing scheme of the Dominion Co-operative Building Association, Ltd." On the contrary instead of this being the case the Council has never been approached or asked to assist the proposed Housing Scheme in any shape or form.

Reports of the City Engineer, Plumbing Inspector and other officials were read.

Pay rolls and bills for the week were passed and after disposing of some routine business the meeting adjourned.

MARRIAGE LICENSES USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Cable News.

ELECTRIC WIRE CAUSES INJURY.

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Sept. 4. An entire family was almost wiped out here this morning, when the electric wire broke from the pole that carried it. The injured are Menard, 26, baker, severely burned about the leg; Mrs. Menard, 52, burned hands; Romeo Menard, burned hands and split head, and Miss Yvonne Menard, 18, burned hands.

WORK OF I. W. W.'S.

CHICAGO, Sept. 4. Four persons were killed and more than 75 others injured by the explosion of a bomb among a crowd at the entrance to the Federal Building at 3.10 o'clock this afternoon. The explosion not only wrecked the entrance of the building, but shattered every window on the first three floors of two buildings across the street. It was attributed to the I. W. W. by Philip J. Barry in charge of the local office of the Department of Justice.

Raid on two headquarters of the I. W. W. within fifteen minutes after the explosion resulted in the arrest of nine men. Several more were taken into custody within the Federal building, and a woman, whose name was suppressed, was arrested in a nearby building. To-night more than 1,500 Government agents and the entire city police force was seeking the perpetrators of the outrage.

THE EDMONTON CROP.

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 4. With an estimated acreage in wheat this year of 4,500,000 acres and taking an average of bushels per acre, there will be some 17,500,000 bushels of wheat harvested in the province this year.

UNDER CENSORSHIP.

PARIS, Sept. 4. The Socialist evening newspaper L'Heure has been forced to suspend for 24 hours. The Figaro and other newspapers say the suspension was due to a request from American general headquarters.

WORK OF THE BOLSHEVIKI.

LONDON, Sept. 5. The attack on the British Embassy in Petrograd last Saturday, involving the sacking of the embassy and the killing of Capt. Cromie, the British attaché, has aroused intense indignation here. The London morning newspapers in their editorials denounce the attack in the strongest terms and endorse the British government's action in the demand upon the Bolsheviki Government for reparation and the threats of outlawry for the members of the Soviet Government should it fail to give complete satisfaction or should further acts of violence be committed against British subjects. They assure the Government that it will have the support of the nation in enforcing the punishment of the perpetrators. According to the Foreign Office advices, Capt. Cromie opposed the Bolsheviki troops and killed three soldiers with his own hands. Captain Cromie was killed and his corpse was mutilated. The documents at the Embassy were destroyed. It is feared that similar outrages will be committed against the French Embassy in Petrograd. Precautionary measures have been taken, the Foreign Office says, and some French soldiers already have arrived at Petrograd. The Bolsheviki are reported to be encouraging the populace to massacre the British and French.

MEETING RESIGNS.

LONDON, Sept. 5. Count George F. Von Hertling, the Imperial German Chancellor, has resigned, giving bad health as the cause of his retirement, according to the Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express quoting a despatch received in Geneva from Munich, Bavaria.
