CHAPTER XXX.

It was about a week after this that Miss Craythorne stole out of the house after dark to post a letter which she had forgotten to put in the bag. As it was to her mother upon matters of private importance, she did not care to intrust it to a servant, and the walk to the post-box would not occupy many

She went through the orchard by a way that was little frequented except by the servants and tradespecple. It was the quickest route to the village, and lay through a pretty love stories from the country swains. an air of insincerity about him, and doing the lady bountiful. Instead I wicket, which had heard hundreds of lane, which led to the village.

The way was dark that November evening, and the bare trees waved mournfully in the wind, that sang of the swift approach of winter: but Ada Craythorne was not given to nerwondered what Sir Charles would say if he knew that she ventured hither alone so late in the day.

These thoughts were cut short by a huge figure looming up before her, posted. She was thinking of the man man being thrust almost close to hers. thoughts were full of unsatisfied She felt his hot breath upon her cheek, longing, of a yearning that was al

To her it seemed an age of doubt and misery that intervened first week in January. She felt that honored him for his reticence, knowing that it would be cruel under existing circumstances, to speak of his passion, she felt angry with him for torturing two hearts, when it would be so easy to undo the wrong that had been done by appealing to the law. How long would he be content to suffer under his odious burden? If he loved her as well as she loved him-ah! but half as well!he would not wait in idleness a single

She returned by the lane, but stopped suddenly when she reached the wicket, for the sound of angry voices fell upon her ears-those of a man

In a moment she rembered the felstories of burglaries connected with the complicity of servants flashed in-The man and the woman, whoever the shadow, anxious to pass unnoticed so that she could warn Sir Charles. The voices became louder, the man's

A furious oath escaped him; then he seemed to recover himself by an effort, and continued:

"I do not believe you. You have given your money to him. This is a mere trick. I am starving, do you hear? I must have money to-night. You shall not stay here. As a servant you shall not stay here at all. If you disobey me, I will shoot you as 1 rould a dog. Listen, woman! Do you forget our compact long ago? to claim your name-your place at the head of this household. You were to make terms with him, such terms that we could live in plenty the rest of our days."

"I shall never live with you again," she replied, calmly. "I will never permit a parasite like you to feed upon that noble man. He has been wronged too deeply already."

"Noble man!" he hissed, frenzied with jealous rage. "So it has come to this, has it? If I had really been dead, you might have fallen in love with your precious husband."

"I have done that already," she answered, bravely. "Yes, you may glare and threaten. I tell you that I despise you, now I have sense to see what a brute you are! I came back to England because I was nearly penniless, thanks to you. I came intending to force my husband, Sir Charles Hastings, to make me an allowance, or give me his name: Finding that the old lawyer was dead, I had to pretend that I had money to get his successor to work for me. In reality I had barely enough to keep body and soul together. I came here without fenr, and met my husband in the streets. I was afraid to speak to him. (to be continued.)

A Great Discovery.

There are certain resinous and biposed to thin films the action of light and air become insoluble in oils. In his process of picture-making, Niepee coated a silver plate with a varnish consisting of a solution of bitumen of Judaea in oil of lavender.

When dry this was exposed for six or seven hours in a camera provided with a lens. The image was developed by immersing the plate in oil of lavender, which dissolved the portions of the bitumen unaffected by After experimenting with various materials, Niepee made his bitumen process known in 1829, but which was never used to any extent Another Frenchman, named Daguer re, had also made experiments in photography, and in 1829 he entered into partnership with Niepee. When the latter died Daguerre continued the experiments. The outcome was Footwear.

Wearing shoes with high heels or narrow toes is responsible in many cases of fallen arches, corns, bunions, hammer toes, weak muscles and it is not infrequently an attributing factor in defective eyes and various neryous disturbances

A great number of people have been killed or crippled for life thru falls due to high-heeled shoes. It should be the parent's aim to develop strong, youthful feet in their children. Put away the idea that any kind of shoes will do for the children. In childhood the feet are easily moulded and may become irreparably deformed through the parent's lack of knowledge and desire to have the child prettily shod. The public ought to demand common sense shoes which conform to the shape of the foot, and manufacturers should be obliged to supply them. One must also remember that greater standard with fewer

THE

Limited.

CAPITAL $ 50,000.00 SHARES $10.00 each. PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS:

R. J. Murphy, L. N. Marshall, W. A. Mackay.

This Company was incorporated for the purpose of purchasing and operating the Silver Cliff Mine at Argentia. THE HOLDING is fee simple 640 acres at tide water on the East side of Argentia Harbor. A LARGE FISSURE VEIN is exposed in a gorge on the Broad Cove river, traceable a mile on the property which shows over seven feet wide, carrying good values from wall to wall and having wide streaks of solid galena which will permit "high grading." The remotest outcrop in the hill shows over 14 inches of solid ore which assays over $100.00 per ton in gold, silver and lead.

THE PROPERTY is equipped for immediate operation having a 35 h.p. gasoline driven air compressor, air drills, etc., blacksmith shop complete, compressor house, bunk house and mess house to accommodate twenty men; and sufficient dynamite and mining supplies for 3 months operations.

WATER POWER sufficient for the mining and milling of two hundred tons daily, at pier site, the outlet of Broad Cove River

MARKET-The Company has an order now for two thousand tons of high grade, which at present prices has a c.i.f. value of $80 per ton.

CONCENTRATION-As there are over four thousand tons of concentrating ore on the dumps it is proposed to instal a twenty ton mill for treatment of this ore as well as residue from picking tables of operations this season.

LABOR-There is abundance of first class labor available. NO PUMPING or hoisting necessary as there is sufficient tonnage in sight to premit employing gravity for

ALL YEAR SHIPPING-It will be possible to ship at all seasons.

MANAGEMENT—The services of a first-class mining engineer will be obtained to direct operations.

PROBABLE OUTPUT-The immediate operations will consist of hand picking fresh mined ore, the output of which will be several tons daily. After the installation of small concentrator this will be increased by at least two tons daily. When sufficient ore has been marketed the water power will be developed and 200 ton mill installed which should produce at least 30 tons daily of concentrates having a c.i.f. value of from $90 to $100 per ton.

TO SUM UP-The physical conditions of this property are unique and to quote the words of a gentleman who visited it recently, it is a veritable bonanza. A large portion of the capital has been underwritten and intending investors had better get their applications in quickly by wire or mail. W. A. MACKAY,

Hero of Alexandria.

Hero, who was either a Greek of an Egyptian who wrote in Greek, lived in Alexandria about 2000 years ago. He was a scientist and an inventor. He invented a water-clock an organ run by water-power, a catapult worked by compressed air and his books contain descriptions of levers, wedges, screws, pulleys, a fire engine, a self-trimming lamp, a theodolite and an aeolipile. The last named was a hollow ball containing on its surface a number of tubes whose ends were bent in one direction. When steam was generated in the ball it caused the latter to rotate as it was forced out of the bent tubes. Hero gave particular attention to the study of the measurements of leaving Humbermouth areas, volumes, heights, etc., and made the remarkable discovery still referred to as the method of Hero of Alexandria. By this method anyone, who has learned how to extract a square root, may ascertain the area of any triangle if the length of its three sides be known.

Harbor Grace Notes.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Fred Martin took place on Monday afternoon and was very well attended. Interment was made in the Church of England Cemetery. Mrs. Martin's death occurred on Saturday after an illness of some duration. She was in her 60th year, and leaves to mourn a husband, three daughters, two at home, and one in the U.S.A., three sons, Mr. Herbert Martin of St. Johns' and William and Fred of this town. We tender our sygmpathy to the family, in their hour of affliction, Miss Maud Davis of Bear's Cove, leaves by tomorrow morning's train to take passage by S.S. Rosalind en route for Montreal, after spending an enjoyable holiday at home. She will be accompanied to Montreal by her aunt, Miss Tryphena Davis.

Miss Mary Langmead of St. John's who has been visiting town, the guest of Miss Stella LeDraw, returned to the city again on Saturday.

Some twelve or so young people of the town spent from Wednesday of last week until yesterday camping at Rocky Pond. Their stay under canvas 'midst the woods, lake, and shall we say-flies, was a pleasant time for the bunch, and they are all looking in the pink since their return from the country.

The R.C. Sunday School picnic which was to have been held yesterday (Wednesday) was postponed until a later date out of respect to the memory of the late John Foley. Postmaster. whose sudden death occurred on Sunday night.

Mr. J. G. Thistle of the Bank of Nova Scotia, left town yesterday morn ing for Pouch Cove, and will spend his holidays at his home.

The Ladies of Christ Church, are holding the annual strawberry festival in the school room this evening We wish them success in their undertaking.

Miss A. Ebsary of St. John's is at present in town visiting friends at 'Hawthorne Cottage."

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held their Garden Party yes terday in Donnelly Hall Grounds-an ideal spot for things of this nature, HAY FIELD OF GARDEN. and the place naturally presented a very pleasing appearance. High class teas, candy, drinks and ice cream were sold. The amount realized was $140.

S.S. Meigle from the Labrador called here this afternoon, and left again shortly afterwards.

Mr. John T. McRae was a passenger from Labrador by the S.S. Meigle on a brief visit. CORRESPONDENT.

Studying Rickets. CURES BY SUNLIGHT AND COD LIVER OIL SUGGEST NEW

THEORY. London, July 4-The study of rickets has been carried a stage further by the work of a group of investigators under Dr. Chick, laboring in Vienna on behalf of Austrian children. They found, according to the Lancet, that children receiving fresh milk from stall-fed cows to which milk sugar had been added developed rickets during the winter and spring. They did not develop it in summer. On the other hand, when cod live oil was added to the diet and more milk and less sugar given rickets did not develop at any time. The disease, moreover, could be cured by cod liver oil and by exposure to sunlight or to the radiation of the mercury vapor quartz lamp. The latter point is of very great interest for it suggests that the wellknown curative effect of sunlight may ises, consisting of Shop 15 x 20 feet, depend on the ultra-violet rays it contains, which are present in (large storey; and Wharf, 40 x 60 feet.

Deeply interesting, too, is the fact that the action of cod liver oil on the one hand and light on the other appear to produce an indentical effect on the bone lesions of rickets. Cod liver oil is stated to contain vitamin A, and hence the suggestion is now made that this mysterious body may be produced in the animal body by a process of "photo synthesis,' 'under the influence of sun radiation-"an idea which is quite new to animal physiology." Experiments on animals to confirm or elucidate this idea are now in progress.

THE BRITISH RADIO & ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING INSTITUTE,

Uniformity of Fish Prices.

In all the countries of Europe there has been, and there still continues to be, a slump in the demand for fish. and Germany are devising means of no doubt sees the necessity for maintaining a seafaring population if, even in the very far-distant future, she is to have a navy again. Herr Lubbert, Hamburg, is leading the German propaganda. He is an eminent authority on fishery matters and during the war held an important post in Berlin in connection with the distribution of fish foods throughout the empire. At a recent meeting in one of the fishing centres Herr Lubbert pointed out that increased production was useless without increased consumption, and the scheme submitted by him, which he said was originally taken up in 1911, but was interrupted phrase "Sell cheaper fish." The trawling fleet was now greater than ever it was, and butcher meat was dear, and the circumstances provided a suitable opportunity for developing the trade in fish. The preliminary part of the scheme was similar to and since the war. The high food value and compara tive cheapness of fish were to be emphasised in the newspapers, and cookery books were to be placed on sale at the cost price of one mark. The main proposal, however, was that two days in each week should be boomed as "Fish Days," and that a committee of officials and traders should fix the price a day in advance for the Fish Days. Retailers were to be asked to give a written undertaking to adhere to those prices, which would be published officially in the daily press, with a list of the shops in which such prices would obtain. After considerable discussion Herr Lubbert's proposals were carried unanimously, and a price committee, consisting of two officials and five dealers, was appointed to deal further

The latter point referred to above, that is, uniformity of prices among reailers in a given centre, strikes us as being of the utmost importance. Here in Canada in any community one will note a variation of fish prices which the consumer finds it difficult to understand. He immediately jumps at the conclusion that some of the dealers are "robbers' and this naturally inspires a doubt as to the honesty of methods employed throughout the industry. Anyone who gives a little thought to the matter will realize that the fish business is not one of big profits, but if the demand for fish is to be increased confidence public that it is being given a square shake. We realize that many things enter into the fixing of the retail price of fish but some such scheme as that proposed in Hamburg would. we feel, go a long way toward removing a prevailing suspicion of the business morality of retail fish dealers.-Canadian Fisherman.

Lake traffic this year will probably the season over other years. For this the strike of coal miners is largely to blame, as the main upward freight of the lakes is coal. The shortage of fish in territorial waters. coal also affects the steel mills, and blast furnaces, and the result is that there are less shipments of ore down there are less shipments of ore down the lakes. This is an aspect of the ities. coal strike which is very apparent to anybody travelling on the lakes at tached a protocol expressing their Kent, Miss Meta Martin, Master S Peach, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hammond this time. The ships are not only apnumber of them travelling light up

The situation in the coal fields does it was a month ago. There is the same amount of talk about something being done to force the owners and the men to operate the mines, but talk is as far as it seems to get. The adequate

U. S. Vessels in Canadian Ports.

In view of the cancellation by United States authorities of privileges extended to Canadian fishing vessels Norway, Holland, Denmark, France in their Atlantic ports, there are a good many who do not understand stimulating demand. Germany is par- the present situation with regard to ticularly active in this connection and the liberties given American fishing vessels in our ports.

If conditions imposed by treaty were enforced, those provided in the Treaty of 1818 would rule. Under director of fisheries for the state of this, fishing vessels from the United States have the liberty to fish in common with Canadian fishing vessels in the territorial waters around the Magdalen Islands and on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence east of Point Joli at the mouth of the Natashquan river. They also have the liberty on the north shore to land for the purpose of curing their fish where there is no interference with the residents of the coast. On all other parts of the coast they are permitted to enter our ports and harbors for the by the war, was summarized in the purposes of securing wood, water, shelter and repairs and for these purposes only.

Conditions, however, do not revert to the treaty of 1818, at least, not just now. The Modus Vivendi arrangement which is now covered by section 3 of chapter 47 of the Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, applies. United States that inaugurated in Canada during States vessels taking out licenses under this arrangement are granted concessions not provided by treaty. It is interesting to learn how this Modus Vivendi came into being and the reason for its continuance

The Treaty of Washington of 1888. which is now commonly referred to as the "unratified Treaty of Washington," was signed on the 15th of February, 1888. It was realized by the negotiators that it would not be possible to have the treaty considered and ratified by the different governments in time to be effective for the fishing season of that year and in order to prevent the irritation and friction that would undoubtedly follow the limitation of privileges to United States fishvessels under the Treaty of 1818, the British plenipotentiaries attached as a protocol to the treaty a document in which, in view of the circumstances, they expressed their readiness to make the following arrangement for a period not exceeding two years, in order to afford a modus vivendi, pending the ratification of the treaty: 1-For a period not exceeding two years from the present date, the privi- It was God's will, it should be so lege of entering the bays and harbors of the Atlantic coast of Canada and of Newfoundland shall be granted to United States fishing vessels by annual licenses at a fee of $1.50 per ton, for the following purposes:

C. P. Liner Empress of Australia.

The latest addition to the Pacific ervice of the Canadian Pacific Steamships is the "Empress of Australia," a vessel similar in many respects to the "Empress of Canada," recently completed by the Fairfield Shipbuilding Company, and they are the largest and the finest of the company's fleet.

The Empress of Australia was originally named the Tirpitz by her German owners, for she is one of the vessels taken over from the German merchant fleet at the end of hostilities. She was intended for the South American service of the Hamburg-American Line, and was launched in 1913 by the Vulcan Works at Stettin. Although launched before the war, the delays incident to that catastrophe prevented her completion until 1921. when she was handed over to the British through the Reparation Commission. Since being acquired by the Canadian Pacific Steamships, she has been altered and overhauled, and fitted with oil-burning furnaces. The alterations have been in the nature of interior changes, including the prosteerage passengers. The lifeboat has been brought up to date and Welin

THE PROPELLING MACHINERY. The propelling machinery consists propellers through Fottinger hydraulic transformers. The main turbines are of the Parson's type with two Curtis impulse wheels and the total power twine, time, and loss of weight, from developed is 18,000 at the shaft, giving 75 cents to $1.00 per hundred pounds. Imperial Tobacco Company, who has a speed of seventeen knots under normal draught conditions.

The turbines run at 800 revolutions per minute, the propellor speed being reduced through the transformers to 150 r.p.m. The ordinary thrust blocks were originally fitted, but these have been replaced with the Mitchell thrust block with independent forced lubrication. For reversing purposes a reversing engine is fitted at the end of the turbine, which shuts off the steam to the turbine, operates the pumps for the transformer circuits, and opens the steam when the turbine is running in the reversed direction. For the ship's lighting and auxiliary purposes, four turbo generators are fitted, each of 115 kilo watts capacity running at 2,200 r.m.p. The boilers which were built in Germany at the Vulcan Works, are a water tube type, similar to the Yarrow, and working 250 lbs. per square inch. There are fourteen of them, in two boiler rooms, each boiler having three furnaces. Howden's forced draft is used.

The passenger accomodation is very sumptuously fitted up, with elevators running between main and promenade decks, smoke rooms, ladies' room, writing room, and the usual lounges among the public rooms. The first class dining room can accomodate 370 passengers at one sitting. The vessel will be a decided acquisition to the travelling public between the British Columbia coast and the Far East .-Canadian Shipping.

Have You Seen the

JEWETT CAR?

THE JEWETT IS PAIGE BUILT.

The new Jewett is of Paige conception, designed and built by Paige engineers and mechanics in the Paige shops. From its Paige origin the Jewett inherits those unmistakable marks of Quality, characterizing the work of a group of men, who for ten years past, have been building the fine six-cylinder cars, bearing the Paige monogram.

Let us demonstrate to you its remarkable power and quality-5 passenger touring-$2200; Sedan

TESTIMONIAL.

Mrs. James Simmonds, of Bishop Falls, writes of Dr. F. G. Kinsman's Heart Tablets, as follows:

Dear Sir,-I am glad to say that your Heart Tablets have done me a good deal of good. I was so bad before I took them I could not do any work. I had to put my washing out and when I stooped my heart was so bad that I had to put my hand against it to press it back as it seemed to me it was falling out, and to-day I don't feel anything wrong with me or my heart whatever. I ask you to publish this in the papers as I can prove these Heart Tablets are good for any heart trouble.
