

"I Had Terrible Backache From Kidney Disease"

Mrs. M. A. McNeill, Co-nam Sta., N.B., writes:
"I was troubled for years with terrible backache, resulting from kidney disease. At times in each month I remained in bed, the pain was more than I could stand, and to walk was almost impossible. I used about $50.00 worth of other medicines, but with little results. Now I am completely better, after using only five boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

STORY OF LOVE, INTRIGUE AND REVENGE

CHAPTER XXIV.

She was startled and unnerved by this sudden change, it seemed like a new atmosphere, a new world to her. She could hardly believe that she was the same woman who had come down to see the sun set over the river while overwhelmed by the sense of her husband's guilt. It was as though a young and vigorous defender had risen from him; as though fresh light were thrown upon this dark mystery.

"I pray Heaven," cried Gertrude, with sudden passion, "that I may never lie down to die until I have accomplished my end! Mamma," she continued solemnly, "show me my father's portrait. I shall know him better when I have seen his face. And you say he loved me, mamma—loved me very dearly?"

"The did indeed, Gertrude."

"Then I am the most fitting person to work for him. Do you mean to say that of all those who loved him, there was not one to defend him or believe in him?"

"Not one," replied Dolores.

"Poor papa! Well, I believe in him and I vow that I will establish his innocence, be he living or dead! Oh, how have you lived, mamma, with this terrible cloud hanging over you? Come in-doors quickly; I long to see papa's face!"

CHAPTER XXV.

In silence Lady Allan unlocked the drawer that had not been opened for sixteen years, and took from it a little parcel tied with faded blue ribbon. Opening it, she gave Lola de Ferras's two letters to Gertrude. In silence the girl read them.

"People say it is possible to tell character from handwriting," she said then. "If I were to judge from this, I should say that the woman who wrote these letters was a combination of good and evil. There is about this writing nothing open, frank or free. I should never have trusted her. In these letters, in which you find a certain proof of my father's guilt, I read his perfect innocence. She does not say, 'Sir Karl is with me.' He was not. She writes, 'You will never see him again.' She triumphs over you. She tells you that she has her revenge; but she has her revenge, but she does not tell you in so many words that my father has deserted you. After reading her letters, I am the more certain that he is quite innocent."

Dolores could not take her eyes from the fair, flushed face, so bright, so eager, so full of proud defiance.

"If the whole world," she cried, "had told me that my father was guilty, I would have disputed the statement. Put the letters back again, mamma. They are like venomous snakes. I could fancy that even the paper was full of poison. Put them away, perhaps some day I may ask for them again. Now, mamma you? If ever the dream and hope of my life are realized, I will give it back to you framed in diamonds. One look at the pictured face will give me strength to do anything and everything."

So, far into the night, they sat talking of the same mystery which sixteen years before had thrilled all England. Gertrude, although full of hope and faith, had no satisfactory answer when Dolores asked—

"Where can he be? If he did not go away with her—at her request—where can he be? Ah, Gertrude, who shall answer my question?"

"I will, mamma. Some time or other before I die I will answer it without fail."

Then Gertrude kissed her mother and said they must all go to rest.

"Have you decided, mamma?" she asked. "Shall you see Lady Fielden to-morrow?"

"Yes, I think so. She was very kind to me, and I liked her very much; I cannot refuse to see her. And yet it will be a terrible trial to me."

"You must not look at it in that way, mamma. You must believe that the hand of Heaven has sent Lady Fielden hither, and that perhaps through her coming my father's innocence may be established."

So the girls and their mother parted, but not to sleep. Dolores was too excited. She trembled at the idea of seeing her friend again. She knew the rush of pain, the bitter, burning memories that would come over her at the sight of the well-remembered face. Years before when the blow had just fallen on her, she had met it on her knees, praying for health and strength. So she prayed now. Heaven had taken pity on her, and would do so again. As far Gertrude, with flushed face and burning eyes she paced up and down her room, talking vehemently to Kathleen. Once she threw her bare, white arms round Kathleen's neck.

"To think," she cried, "that after all we are only half-sisters! How strange it seems!"

"But we shall love each other just the same," returned Kathleen. "It will make no difference. We are both mamma's children, you know; and, Gertrude, when I was little I loved your father very much indeed. I can remember him quite well, so that you must love me even more on that account."

"I do not think I could love you better," said Gertrude; and then she talked of her father, and of what she intended to do.

"I thought, only last week, Kathleen, how pleased I should be when we went to more balls and parties, and saw more of life, and when I saw that handsome young Englishman to-day in Pitti palace, I pictured to myself how pleasant it would be to have such a lover—so young and handsome. Did you see his eyes, Kathie? But now I shall never give a thought to anything of the kind again. I feel as though one single night had changed me from a girl to a woman, with a great wrong to set right."

"But, Gertrude, you are not serious? You do not mean that you will give your life to clear up a mystery which has puzzled older and wiser heads than yours?"

"My dear, I will, I shall live for it. Do you not love the memory of your father, Kathleen?"

"Yes, but I never saw him. I have only the instinctive love that I suppose every child has. I think—nay, I am quite sure—that I love your father best. But, Gertrude, do not fix all your hopes on fathoming this mystery. Depend upon it, mamma knows best. It would be a pity to spoil your life. Remember, three have been ruined already; do not add yours to the number. What a strange story it is! And we have lived here sixteen years in happy ignorance of it all."

"It is like a romance," said Gertrude; "but you must recollect something of it—the names and the faces. Do you remember Harry well?"

"Yes—him and your father best of all. And I remember a large house full of pictures, and with great trees round it."

Fiddles With Fortunes

£10,000 FOR THIRTEEN OUNCES OF WOOD AND VARNISH.

The price of the 600 Strads which are known to be in existence usually ranges from £500 to £1,500, but in a few instances these figures have been greatly exceeded.

Two violins, at least, are worth no less than £10,000 each. The first of these magnificent instruments is the "Emperor Stradivarius" that once belonged to the collection of the late, Mr. George Haddock. It is two hundred years old, and Joachim, the famous maestro, declared it to be the finest violin he had ever seen. The only one comparable with this is that left by Paganini to the city of Genoa. A sum running into five figures sterling was offered for it.

An Edinburgh man once paid £2,000 for a Strad, which, in common with many of its brother instruments, had a strange history. It was bought in 1827 by an eccentric named Tarisio, who gave up his trade as a carpenter and started searching every nook and corner of Italy for Cremona violins.

He lived alone in a wretched attic in Milan, and when he died in 1854, he was found surrounded by a confused heap of 250 fiddles.

Hearing of the collection, a Paris dealer rushed off post-haste to Milan, and purchased all the instruments for the nominal sum of £3,166. One of them was worth £2,000. During the Franco-German War he buried it in a damp-proof, air-tight box, keeping it underground and away from all harm, until peace had been proclaimed.

Sarasate, the great violinist, left a Strad worth £2,000 to the Conservatoire of Madrid, and a similar gift to Paris. One of these instruments had at one time been the property of a Geneva blacksmith, to whom it had been given by a traveller who could not pay for the shoeing of his horse. For years it hung upon the walls of the blacksmith's house, until another horseman, M. Boisier, a collector of violins, happened to pass that way.

The blacksmith asked him to buy the violin for any price he cared to name, or else find a purchaser. M. Boisier carried it away, cleaned off the smoke, discovered the Strad Mark, and did not defraud the humble blacksmith.

The favourite violin of Eugene Ysaie—a magnificent Strad, valued at £3,000, that was stolen from his dressing-room in St. Petersburg a few years ago—once changed hands for thirty-five shillings, having been sold at that price by an unknown traveller to the waiter at a railway restaurant in a small Moravian town.

A Good Investment.

Some sixty years ago a stranger came into the shop of a London musician named Betts, and offered a violin for the low sum of a guinea, Betts jumped at the bargain, put down his guinea, and secured the fiddle.

After remaining in his family for a number of years it was disposed of under the name of the Betts Strad to a foreign nobleman. The price paid was £1,400—not a bad investment!

Less than ten years ago £700 was paid for a Strad that had been played upon by a strolling player in the Notting Hill and Marylebone districts of London, whilst £1,600 has been paid for a fiddle that was knocked down at a public auction to a labourer for six shillings.

Fortunately for him, the son of toll knew something about fiddles, and disposed of his treasure to a dealer for £600. Ultimately the latter sold it for £1,600.

French Warfare Methods Adopted Round Sao Paulo

Canada Requires 37,000 Harvesters—U. S. Officials Seek Permission to Search Vessels on Rum Row—Housing Bill Passes Commons.

ENCOURAGING SCOTTISH IMMIGRANTS.

MONTREAL, July 26. The Colonization Department of the Canadian National Railways announced here to-day that the Department was opening a new office in Glasgow, Scotland, with the purpose of increasing Scottish immigration to Canada.

COOLIDGE RECEIVES ARGENTINE PUGILIST.

WASHINGTON, July 26. Luis Angel Firpo was received to-day by President Coolidge who greeted him cordially in a brief interview. No formal appointment had been made, but when the big Argentine fighter reached the White House on a flying tour of Washington, Mr. Coolidge received him almost immediately.

HER EIGHTH VENTURE AT 74.

BEAUVOIR, Miss., July 25. Mrs. Mary Saunders, 74, seven times a widow, will be married to her eighth husband here on Sunday afternoon. The bridegroom to be is A. J. Fuller, 56. Mrs. Saunders and Mr. Fuller are inmates of a home here. Uncle Pat McLoughlin, bachelor, 104, also an inmate of the home, will act as best man.

CANADIAN SHOOTERS LEAVE FOR HOME.

LONDON, July 25. The Canadian team which competed at Bisley in the recent annual shooting matches held under the auspices of the National Rifle Association, sailed for home to-day on the Megantic. Private Burke, of Ottawa, winner of the King's prize, takes home £250 and like each of the other members of the team he also takes a decent slice of prizes won in various events during two weeks' shooting.

AIRPLANES WITH THE FLEET.

NEW YORK, July 25. Permission to board vessels on rum row to search for narcotics and aliens to be smuggled into the country, will be sought by agents of the Treasury Dept., it was announced to-day, following the seizure of a letter on a prisoner indicating their presence on vessels anchored off shore. The letter, written by a man on one of the boats to Robert Wylie, Glasgow, stated that Chinese and other foreigners were aboard the boats, and also that an airplane has been making six trips daily from the fleet with illicit cargoes of liquor. The letter bearing the information fell into the hands of officials through the capture of a power boat carrying two hundred cases of liquor.

HALIFAX PREPARES TO WELCOME THE SQUADRON.

HALIFAX, July 25. The British service squadron, now on the way from San Francisco to Halifax, via the Panama Canal and Jamaica, is expected here Tuesday, August 5th, and is scheduled to remain till August 15th, when it sails for Quebec. Elaborate entertainment is being arranged for the officers and men by the Federal, Provincial and Civic Governments. The visits of the squadron coincides with the Halifax carnival, a ten day event commemorating the 175th anniversary of the city's founding.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

FREDERICK, Md., July 26. A young woman whose name was said to be Dorothy Grandon, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, was tarred and feathered near Myersville, last night, by an unmasked mob, said to have been led by a young married woman, who had objected to alleged attentions paid by her husband to Miss Grandon.

MONTREAL KIDNAPPING.

MONTREAL, July 26. Miss J. Bellanger, aged 23 years, 2292 Chabot Street, was kidnapped and held a prisoner in an automobile for nearly two hours early this morning and an attempt made to assault her by bandits still at large, who robbed and beat her escort, Rene Bruneau, aged 26, 1123 Bordeaux Street. The thugs used Bruneau's automobile to make their escape and kidnapped the girl. Before being thrown out into the road Bruneau was robbed of $47.00 his watch and chain. Miss Bellanger lost $8.00 cash and a pearl necklace while she struggled with the thieves.

MODERN METHODS OF WARFARE AT SAO PAULO.

BUENOS AIRES, July 25. The impression is growing stronger here daily that the Brazilian Federal forces besieging Sao Paulo are meeting with such formidable resistance that the capture of the city is far from being an event of the immediate future. It is becoming clear from scraps of information reaching here from one source and another, that the fighting between the Federal troops and the rebels has resolved itself into trench warfare, similar to that on the Western Front during the European conflict. The advances made by the Federal troops are reported in official communications to have been relatively small in regard to distance. This is believed to signify at most the capture of front line trenches. The rebels' main defences are reported to have been constructed under the direction of former German and Italian officers, who served in the European war, and who have resided at Sao Paulo. These defences are described as most formidable and of a character that would require the heaviest artillery to shatter.

37,000 HARVESTERS REQUIRED.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 26. Eighteen thousand workers from Eastern Canada are required this season to assist in harvesting Western Canada's grain, it was decided at a conference here to-day of representatives of railways, Provincial Governments, farm organizations and employment services. Nineteen thousand men, it was estimated, can be secured in the West and in British Columbia, and the total of 37,000 will be sufficient to complete the task. Last year about 65,000 harvesters were employed. It was thought harvesting would commence in Manitoba about August 20 and in Saskatchewan and Alberta about August 25.

HOUSING BILL PASSES COMMONS.

LONDON, July 25. The House of Commons to-day passed the third reading of the Government's Housing Bill after the Opposition's motion of rejection had been defeated 226 to 131. The Bill as originally drafted had been a good deal altered during the committee stages but the frame work remained intact.

MUSSOLINI STRONGER THAN EVER.

LONDON, July 26. The Government of Premier Mussolini is stronger than before the Matteotti crisis. There is not the smallest possibility that the leader will be overthrown and Italy is considered more prosperous than it has ever been, according to the conclusions of a special correspondent whom the Daily Mail sent out on a mission to Rome.

PATROL SHIPS AT HALIFAX.

HALIFAX, July 26. The special division of five United States cruisers, under command of Captain Russell Wilson, which will patrol the Northern Seas between Newfoundland and Greenland, and possibly Iceland, and safeguard as far as possible the lane over which the world encircling United States aviators will fly, arriving here shortly after four o'clock Thursday morning when the sailed from Newport, R.I. The general instructions to Captain Wilson, so it is stated, are to remain here until Tuesday, and then proceed to Indian Hr., Labrador. From there the boats will spread out at intervals sufficient to cover the waters extending between Greenland and possibly Iceland. The squadron includes the cruiser Lawrence, as flagship, the Charles Ausburne, McFarland, Barry and Coghlan.

LAYING BUOYS FOR FLIERS.

PICTOU, N.S., July 25. Buoys for anchorage of world encircling United States aviators, who are expected to arrive here early in August, were laid this morning from the United States cruiser Milwaukee, which reached port last night from Halifax. The Milwaukee will, on departure from Pictou, proceed to the Arctic Circle on a buoy placing mission.

Forty-Five Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram.

After Fifty-One Years

ONE OF THE PIONEER OPERATORS VISITS NEWFOUNDLAND.

(H. F. SHORTIS.)

To-morrow will be the fifty-eighth anniversary of the successful laying of the Atlantic Telegraph Cable, which occurred on the 27th July, 1866. All the first contingent of the cable operators who took up their duties in Heart's Content, at that date, have passed from amongst us to the Great Beyond. In fact I know of no person who was connected with the telegraph employ in that memorable and historic year except Mr. William Savin, of Hoylestown, for some years retired. But there remain a few of the old New York, Newfoundland and London operators of the old land lines still in the flesh, and amongst them Mr. Peter H. Glendinning, formerly of Mount Pearl, St. John's West, brother of Mr. Andrew Glendinning, the well known farmer.

Mr. Glendinning had a most interesting life since he left Newfoundland, and indeed, if fully written up, would read like a romance. In his early days he worked on his father's farm (the same place that Andrew has to-day), and one stormy day, the popular Superintendent of the Company, A. M. MacKay, St. John's West, Elmsley, was driving round Conception Bay on business, when opposite Glendinning's farm house, the horse and sleigh (like Uncle Joe Drover, so famed in song) got "bogged in the snow." Peter Glendinning hurried to their assistance, and with other help, managed to clear away the snow and extricate the horse and sleigh.

The Hon. Mr. MacKay asked Peter if he intended to remain a farmer, and Peter replied in the negative. "Well," said the good old Superintendent, "if you wish you can come down to the Telegraph Office, and I'll give you a chance to learn telegraphy." The Telegraph Office was then in the old Court House, on Water Street, St. John's. Peter commenced to master the dots and dashes. After a year in the St. John's office he was transferred to Hr. Grace and had for his associates R. H. Parsons, E. F. Howell, A. A. Thompson, James G. Scanlin, E. B. Thompson, James P. Thomey and myself. He remained in Hr. Grace for about three years, when he received orders to go to Grandy's Brook on the old West Line. After a short time that office was closed, owing to the cable being laid between Placentia and Sydney. He left Newfoundland and brought up at St. Peter's, Cape Breton, and having the highest recommendation from Mr. MacKay, he had no difficulty in procuring employment. He remained there three years, and then moved to New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, where he became Manager of the Western Union Telegraph Office, General Ticket Agent for the Lower Provinces of the Grand Trunk Railway, Agent for the International Express Co., Transmission Agent for Freight and Express for Eastern Nova Scotia, and remained there six years, starting for Sulphur Springs, Missouri, U.S.A., entering the service of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, as Agent and Telegraph Operator, as well as Agent for the St. Louis Ore and Steel Company. He was promoted after 17 years service to the station of Bismarck in the same State. After a time he returned to Sulphur Springs, and after two years went to Kimmiswick, two miles north. He was next appointed Agent and Telegrapher at Mineral Point, about 40 miles distant, where he remained one year, and thence he went to Silica. After a short time he removed to Monticello, Arkansas, and the next move he brought up at Standard, Louisiana. He went back to Victoria, Missouri, and thence to Bevely, in the same State; and there he (to use a nautical phrase) "dropped his anchor," and has had no cause to regret it. He was retired as an operator. Just previous to his retirement, his eldest son and himself started a Flour Mill at Polar Bluff, but owing to declining health of his son, he was compelled to sell out, and needless to say, being the son of a Scotsman from Moffat, Dumfriesshire, he did not sell under price; and is this secure as far as the world's goods are concerned, and can rest in comfort for the remainder of his days.

I must certainly say that although Mr. Glendinning is forty-one years older in years than he was when he left Newfoundland, and the white-wash brush has been applied to his liberto auburn locks, he is the same old Peter of the days we mastered our dots and dashes together, and with the passing away of all our boyhood associates, we remain as two interesting relics of the Old New York, Newfoundland and London Telegraph Company, the pioneer Telegraph Company in Newfoundland, and the forerunner of that great enterprise, the Atlantic Cable, which connected the Old World and the New.

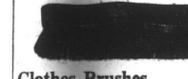

Mr. Glendinning is quite at home during his visit, which will extend until the last of August, to his brother Andrew, the farmer, and his four sisters, Mrs. Arch. Knight, Mrs. John Skinner, Mrs. John Calver and Miss Maggie, are leaving nothing undone to make his visit pleasant and interesting; and yet he sees many changes and misses many familiar faces.

Judging from present indications Mr. Glendinning will remain as young in health and appearance as he was

Monday's Big Special at the Nickel Theatre

BETTY BLYTHE STARS IN "HIS WIFE'S HUSBAND"

Monday's big special attraction at the Nickel is a great melo-drama entitled "His Wife's Husband," featuring Betty Blythe and Huntley Gordon. It has suspense, there is an element of mystery and the theme, while somewhat familiar is of unusual interest. The story has been well handled in all departments of production. The result is that the spectator's interest is obtained early and held throughout. The plot has been well built and in transferring it to the screen all who were concerned in the endeavor of making progress smooth accomplished their purpose, in every step, from the scenario to the editing. The production is appropriately mounted and Kenneth Webb's direction leaves nothing lacking.

Betty Blythe, the star, does some of the best work of her career, and she, of course, displays her constant alertness. She is frequently called upon for emotional acting and she never allows herself to overdo. The story has been adapted from Anna Katherine Green's novel, "The Major's Wife." It is a picture that should please even the most blasé movie patron.

REV. S. H. SOFFER SPEAKS ON BOY LIFE IN CHINA.

At Thursday's meeting of the Rotary Club, Rev. S. H. Soffer addressed the members, taking as his topic "Work among boys in China." Rotarian Herbert J. Russell acted as Chairman, and the guests included Rev. Dr. Fenwick, Mr. Thos. Soper, Mr. Geo. Peters, Engineer Commander Howley, Mr. J. B. Martin, Bell Island and Mr. Keylieber of New York.

Rev. Mr. Soffer's address is as follows:

Boy life in China is the same as boy life in any other land, for the real boy, the elemental boy, is a constant quantity, a universal element. He is not confined to time nor race. Education and environment are more influential with him than anything he may inherit. Two boys, one Chinese and one Anglo-Saxon, having equal intelligence co-efficient, if exchanged at infancy and placed in homes of approximately the same social status, would lose many of the traits that we now consider racial. The Anglo-Saxon boy would learn the Chinese language and customs. The mannerism and culture of his adopted home would become part and parcel of his life. Conversely, the Chinese boy would learn English and English customs. He would, for instance, know nothing of Pudding or how to use chop sticks. If you were to send him at the age of fifteen to China, he would have to begin at the very beginning to learn the Chinese language; and the Chinese boy would have to begin at the rudiments of the English language, if brought here. The same thing is true of moral and ethical values; these are not inherited but acquired. The worker with boys is ever face to face with this fact, that the boy is a very integral part of the society in which he finds himself, through no choice of his own. If the environment is of a high moral tone based on rational conceptions of life and service, it is very possible that the boy will imbibe these ideas and ideals naturally; if, on the other hand, the moral atmosphere in which the boy breathes is tainted, if the actions of his elders are immoral, or even non-moral, then the boy develops warped conceptions of life and becomes a problem to those people who have finer and higher standards than his own.

I am sure you will agree with me that the tremendous impact of an unfavorable environment is one of our great problems in dealing with boys. If that is so here, it is increased to a great degree in a land where the boy has no rights, where the height of virtue is attained by unquestioning obedience to his elders, whether they be worthy of it or otherwise.

The first agency to approach the task of finding out what constituted a real normal life of development for a boy was the Christian Church in all lands, under all conditions, in face of strange customs, and in every language of the globe. She has made beginnings. Because she is so close to the everyday life of the boy, she is the first to admit the difficulties; she realizes most keenly the enormity of the task. I am sure that any experiment made by any branch of the Church, in any quarter of the globe, looking to a better understanding of boy life, will be of interest to Rotarians. With that sublime daring that has characterized the Christian Church, ever since she set out to establish the kingdom of God on earth, the branch of the church to which I belong has founded a mission in the most inaccessible part of the globe. Twelve thousand miles across the Pacific from where we are meeting today, vast mountain ranges and towering craters, where river floods rise fifty feet over night in a land ravaged by civil war and bandit hords to a nation within a nation, in an area larger than France, with fifty million people in one province, in a civilization that has existed for forty centuries, costing tremendous expenditures of treasure, we have made an experiment in boys' work.

Just ten years ago, we opened our school in the city of Jenshow. To-day boys who have come through the province are scattered all over the province, they occupy positions in the customs, the Chinese post office, in Government schools. Teachers, preachers and hospital assistants, dental assistants, farmers and artisans are included in the number. A study of the personnel of the workers in the town and of the teaching staff of the Chinese schools showed us that there was a distinct cleavage in Chinese society. The teacher and scholar was superior to the farmer and artisan. This sense of superiority was not based on the possession of any native capacity, but on the established conception that the order Si, Lung, Kung, Shang; Scholar, Farmer, Artisan and Merchant was unalterable. No student ought to be expected to do manual labour—better a long gown and long fingernails, evidencing the marks of the scholar, than large rewards from honest toil. This constituted one of the unhealthy attitudes to life that the school had to rectify. We found our students taking their exercise in a most sedate and gentle manner; all the normal physical activities were inhibited, and from our standpoint, there was a most unhealthy attitude to life. When the school announced that practical farming was part of the regular curriculum, boys and teachers were astonished beyond measure. It was with considerable trepidation that we lined up our first class on the farm. The boys came; they wore the long gown of the student; they sported the long fingernails. These were the insignia of their dignity, their superiority to the world of the toiler. The establishment of the Republic three years before by no means abolished the idea that the student was exempt from manual labour. Theirs soon came to a head. A secret society was formed, a hunger strike proclaimed, and field work was tabooed. Kindness and co-operation in the hard work of digging and weeding on the part of two members of the teaching staff helped us to win out. To-day, the son of the rich man, poor man, beggar man, all do farm work.

Many of the boys have seen that they are of more use to society as good farmers than as inferior teachers, and have gone back to carry out, on their farms, lessons they have learned in the school garden. Besides farming, we have wood working, net making, weaving, rattan and bamboo furniture-making and photography. The school has a regular social service department running a night school for underprivileged boys of the town; the religious activities of the school, including a weekly meeting for discussion of religious and social matters, is conducted by the boys; the senior boys attend a normal group in Sunday school methods, and take charge of the teaching period in the Junior Sunday School. A self-government society has been formed and a mayor and councillors are elected each term. The boys take their duties seriously and are receiving a training in democracy that will be of real value. A study of the causes leading to these results, produced in one generation with boys from non-Christian homes, is of considerable interest.

The first fundamental fact that we face is that modern methods of intelligence testing, by such methods as the Binet Simon or the Stanford revision of the tests, have not demonstrated any inferiority in Chinese mentality. The native capacities of the race are of a high order. The question then naturally arises, if that be so, why is China so backward in the family of nations as she is to-day. The answer to my mind is two fold: first, the reason for China's lagging behind in the march of the nations, is to be found in the unfortunate assumption on the part of the official classes or educated classes that education and industry are divorced; while with us, true education has been the servant of the people, and discoveries in what we were pleased to term pure science, or pure mathematics, on the part of scholars were productive of inventions that increased the productivity of the worker. The second fact I submit for what it is worth, it is open to question in some quarters. To me it is more potent than the former; that is, that Christianity, teaching an supreme intelligent, all-wise, all-loving, first cause God has rid the human mind of any doubt that the universe presents a rational system, corresponding to the rationality of the human mind. The mind of man, convinced that there is an order in the world established by a beneficent mind, is stimulated to ascertain the nature and action of these laws, and to appropriate them for the bettering of his own condition, whereas the primitive Chinese thought fills the earth, the sea, the sky, the heavens, sun, moon and stars with warring spirits; these spirits to be avoided as far as possible, and to be placated, if angry. Only the emperor could approach Shang Di, the supreme mind. The people worshipped a bewildering pantheon of deified sages, natural forces, and ancestors. The sheer native intelligence of the race, their God given native capacities have enabled them to produce with no known intercourse with western nations salt wells a mile deep, the harnessing of natural gas wells, a fanning mill, rotation of crops, gunpowder, the ink ball, a wheat drill, printing by movable blocks, a steam cooker, a compartment boat, a balanced rudder, the mariners compass, a varnish impervious to boiling water and a host of food preparations that have enabled the race to subsist self contained and independent longer than any other single aggregation of humans. To help China overcome the handicap caused by the divorce of education and industry, to show her a sane healthy view of the world, the choicest portion of which has been assigned to her, are our reasons for doing boys' work in that far off portion of the globe.

Clearing the ground of false conceptions is one of the first essentials of progress. To understand the mind of the Chinese boy, we have to understand what conceptions are in the minds of his parents and what their wishes for him are. The Chinese mother knows how to capture the soul of the child. The visit to the city-god temple is an event in the boy's life; it is a dress occasion, and the Chinese boy is no more adverse to the influence of new and pleasing clothes than is his western cousin. The mother cannot enunciate the principles on which she is working, but she knows as well as does the psychologist that actions resulting in satisfying experiences tend to be repeated, and dissatisfying experiences tend to be discontinued, so she takes with her, in a copious pocket, a sesame-seed candy or a piece of succulent sugar cane, so dear to the boy's heart; then, in front of the idol, she rewards him with a delicious morsel. Then she takes him around the inside court of the temple, and shows him the wheel of transmiration; she shows him the diabolical master of the wheel; she tells him that the filial son is sure to come out in a next world as an official, the unfaithful son will come out a bird, a reptile, or a beast. And there, portrayed before him is the wheel, and the actual transmiration taking place. Then she takes him to the torture chambers, where the unfilial are seen in eternal punishment, being torn asunder, flayed alive, roasted, crucified, dacing on burning plates, scalded in boiling oil. All this she associates with the ultimate things of life; beyond this there is no order, no rationality. In the home, the necromancer is the man of power. The boy sees him called on all important occasions; the words of Confucius, the great sage, are incorporated with the gibberings of the soothsayer; the lines on a tortoise shell, the markings on the entrails of a chicken, lucky and unlucky stars, the white tiger, all green dragons are currents of power running through the earth. All these are in control of the necromancer and geomancer, and the boy is taught that the gods in the temple, the master of the wheel, the influences of wind and water, can be tugged and offset by cunningly opposing them with counter forces. His allegiance to these has been purchased by appeal to his terror of the dark, peopled with vampires and disembodied spirits. To attack these is to attack his mother and father and the principal men of the district. To express disbelief in them is to show oneself ignorant of a great mass of information that has been handed down to his family from past ages and is to call down on one the scorn of the boy who is loyal to his family and community and elders. Then again, the ground of the boy's mind is occupied with the idea that the sacred order of scholar, farmer, artisan, and merchant ever remains, and it is only necessary to attain to the dignity of the scholar to be forever rid of the drudgery of labour. How lead him to see that honest work might be the pathway to scholarship, and in the process teach him the duty scholarship owed to labour was no small task. We could at least be as wise as the boy's mother, we could apply the satisfaction with the experience of labour and depend on the tendency of satisfactory bonds to establish themselves. So we saw that all income from the sale of farm products was paid in cash to the boys' savings account. It worked, there were no more hunger strikes. In working for a very considerable savings account the boy was gaining full vigorous physical growth; he was gaining confidence in himself. He planted the seed, he harvested his crop, he marketed his product, he handled his money, he was given the advice of his teacher in spending it, he was independent in supplying himself with books or clothes purchased out of his own earnings, he learned a lot of practical botany that helped him in his examinations; chemistry confided in himself. He was gaining a bewilderment of names and formula to be memorized, he saw it working in the soil and the feeding of his plants. He was admitted to the realm of law and order in the universe; it only meant a suggestion that behind the very well established laws of chemistry there must be an orderly mind, else what is the origin of these things, how could a bewildering pantheon of deified forces on the back of one tortoise influence laws universally operative. And so the ancient prejudices are undermined, and education goes hand in hand with industry and the way is opened for real scientific study on an experimental basis. Finally the result will be that the mind of the student coming in contact with the problem of the farmer and the artisan will begin to invent means for the alleviation of many of the hardships of life and an increase in earning power, a raising of the standards of living and the consequent spread of education and reduction of illiteracy.

But there is another side of the boy's life that must be considered and that is his relationship to the larger group, the society of which he is to spend his life. For weal or woe China is a democracy, and a democracy she will remain. When the boy passes out from the school he enters a society that is struggling to organize itself on democratic lines. The great sage Confucius taught that the well being of the people depended on the integrity of the ruler. To-day the teaching of the sage is ignored and exploited for private ends. So industrious and widespread is the system that no one entering public life can escape its influence. No amount of teaching of ethical or social principles will take the place of learning by doing. Consequently the school life is organized around this principle; the boy learns of the need of honesty in business because he is a working partner in the profit sharing system used on the farm and in the shop; he learns to have orderly conceptions of the universe by his studies, but he must learn also that the organization of the school life is the only preparation for a larger life in society in order that the knowledge gained in the school may be transferred to conditions he will meet after his leaving the school. We have organized a students' self-governed society. This society started in the organization of the farm work, it is gradually extending to sports and studies. A boys' court has been set up in which judges and officers are appointed by the boys, the decisions of the court are final. A board of control is elected and the school is modeled after that of a well organized town.

It is a far call from one school thus organized in a population of a million to a reorganization of the millions of China, but it is only one of a great number of schools. In Sze Chuen alone there are twenty thousand students of all grades under Christian instruction. It is in such schools as I have tried to picture here to-day that the Chinese people are to learn to meet the new world conditions that are forced on them over night. The church at home is allowing her representatives to build foundations that are solidly laid in the boy life of China, and the day will come when even in far distant Sze Chuen Rotary will line up as it lined up here with all real attempts for the establishing of a better world order for the coming generation. Let us continue to stimulate each other till we have established national purity and international good will, the very kingdom of God on earth.

The Cost of Restitution

Judging by the amount that it was found necessary to pay out in overhead expenses in connection with the refunding tax on the export of codfish, it would appear that the recipients of the tax were extremely loath to claim their share.

The sum paid out in refunds amounted to $105,650.00. The cost of distribution totalled $9273.11, in round numbers, 9 per cent. of the total.

Port of Health Regulations

For some time the authorities have been concerned over the outbreak of sleeping sickness in England, and the fact that several cases have appeared in cities to the west of us makes it imperative that the Port of Health Regulations should be rigidly enforced in St. John's and elsewhere in the Island.

It is not our intention to cause alarm, but would suggest that by taking every precaution we can reduce the chances of having the complaint brought to our shores to a minimum.

Our isolation, it is true, is a natural safeguard against the diseases which from time to time have spread from one country to another, but with the modern means of travel, everywhere available, it has become necessary to take other measures in order to guard against troubles of this kind.

St. John's is in constant communication with the different ports of the North and South Atlantic and the Mediterranean, but as we proved in an earlier reference to this matter, the authorities had been remiss in their duties up to that time, and the health of the community had been unnecessarily exposed to danger.

The Mount Cashel Band will give another Band Concert in Bannerman Park on Monday Next. They will render several new numbers, including a big selection of Scotch Airs.—July 26, 11

An Outrage

FISHERMAN'S TRAP DELIBERATELY DESTROYED.

We hear now and then of acts of deliberate destruction of a man's wherewithal to make a living, the crime takes a more serious form and no effort should be spared to bring the perpetrator to justice.

At first it was thought that a motor boat had fouled the gear and that the occupants had been compelled to cut it clear from the propeller, but the fact that a knife had been used in several places at long intervals proved that the damage had not been incurred in that way.

Mr. Mallard is at a loss to understand why anyone should have injured his property, as to his knowledge he has not an enemy in the world. The berth at Cape Bay was only occupied about a week ago when it was vacated by another fisherman, and at seven o'clock on Thursday night everything was intact.

The sum paid out in refunds amounted to $105,650.00. The cost of distribution totalled $9273.11, in round numbers, 9 per cent. of the total.

While the rest of the city looks for a westerly wind which means sunshine and fine weather, those who live east of the Old Railway track, regard it with disgust.

It is not our intention to cause alarm, but would suggest that by taking every precaution we can reduce the chances of having the complaint brought to our shores to a minimum.

Further Particulars of the Train Wreck

The passengers and train crew of the wrecked express arrived in the city at 2:30 a.m. this morning. After having being three days on the road from Port aux Basques, this morning Conductor Neboulet who was in charge of the wrecked train, with others of the trainmen, were interviewed by Manager Russell and handed in their reports of the accident.

As far as can be learned, the train pulled out of Port aux Basques on Wednesday morning at 8:45. Everything went well until about twenty minutes later, when the engine and tender suddenly jumped, the rails about three quarters of a mile west of Cape Ray, and causing the front and rear baggage cars, besides two second class cars to be lifted.

At first it was thought that a motor boat had fouled the gear and that the occupants had been compelled to cut it clear from the propeller, but the fact that a knife had been used in several places at long intervals proved that the damage had not been incurred in that way.

House of Assembly Proceedings

FRIDAY, July 23.

The House met at 9 o'clock.

Mr. Bennett presented a petition from the residents of Upper Island Cove asking for a sum of money to repair a road. Messrs. Russell and Hickman supported same.

Mr. Sullivan presented a petition from Trepassy and other places on the subject of a road from Portual Cove to Cape Race and from Portual Cove to Chance Cove. Messrs. Walsh, Cashin and Moore supported same.

THE GANDER PROPOSITION.

The Prime Minister gave notice that he would on Monday move the House into Committee of the whole to consider certain resolutions to confirm a contract entered into between the Government of Newfoundland and the Gander Valley Power and Paper Company.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. Hibbs asked the Minister of Public Works if it is true that his Department has refused to recognize the rights and authority of persons elected on February 28th last under the "Local Affairs Act," to serve as Members of Road Boards, and that other parties are being substituted in place of the duly elected Boards to expend public moneys, and if so, where, to what extent, for what reason, and on what authority is this being done.

The Minister of Public Works stated in reply that the Government was prepared to recognize duly constituted Road Boards. During the past four years there has been too much money expended without the proper authority. This Department is responsible for its expenditure, and the Minister has to answer for the expending of moneys by this Department for the various Districts. The Minister is prepared to listen carefully and to take into consideration representations made by the Members of the various Districts and in fact to anyone who can give valuable information and assistance, but the Department reserves to itself the right to make its own decisions.

Mr. Halfyard asked the Hon. the Prime Minister if the S.S. Malakoff will be taken off Trinity Bay on or about August 1st? If so, what arrangements are being made for a substitute service? If the S.S. Malakoff is exclusively confined to the Bonavista Bay Service, state if any difference in cost of present service whether more or less. If Port Blandford is made the Railway terminus for the steamer, instead of Port Union what is the estimated cost of repairs to wharf and sheds at Port Blandford? The Prime Minister replied as follows:—It is the intention of the Government to replace the S.S. Malakoff on her old route in Bonavista Bay. The change is being made in compliance with a demand from the people of Bonavista Bay to restore the service that was most necessary and advantageous in the interests of the Bay. No arrangements are being made for a substitute service for Trinity Bay, which is already served on the north and south sides by the railway. Those sections which are not directly served by the railway will probably be covered by motor boat service or otherwise. The amount of traffic and convenience afforded by the Malakoff are wholly out of proportion to the cost of maintaining the service on that Bay. The estimated cost of repairs to the wharf at Port Blandford is about $3,000. No repairs are being made to the sheds.

Mr. Hietman asked Hon. the Minister of Finance and Customs if a building has been taken over for the examination and delivery of Express Parcels? Where the building is situated, what is the rental per year, and what additional appointments will be made to that Department?

The Minister of Finance stated that the Edgars' Building had been taken over for one year at a rental of $150.00 per month. He had not yet considered the matter of additional appointments.

Mr. Scammell asked Hon. the Prime Minister if the Government has as yet arranged to replace the Sebastopol on the Bay of Islands service, and if it is the intention of the Government when inaugurating this service to call for tenders.

The Prime Minister tabled the following reply:—The Mail Service on Bay of Islands is being performed temporarily by the steamer "George L." which makes four or five trips a week at a cost of $200.00 weekly. The subsidy paid the Sebastopol was about $2,000.00 per month. The Government has not yet taken into consideration the question of a definite Bay of Islands service, but will do so later.

The Colonial Secretary tabled a reply to question of Mr. Orimes on July 22nd, as follows:—
"Reply to Question of Mr. Orimes No. 4 on Order Paper, July 22, 1924, regarding the 'Hospitals'."

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Printing and Stationery Bill was read a third time and sent to the Legislative Council.

The Bill for the Encouragement of Shipbuilding passed through the Committee stage and was read a third time. The Bill relates to the bounty on ships, and extends the Act for 1925.

The Bill relating to the fees for stamps also passed through Committee and was read a third time.

The Bill deals with the discount on the purchase of revenue stamps. At present when a purchase of five dollars worth of stamps is made a certain discount is given. Under the new law no discount is obtainable unless twenty-five dollars worth is purchased.

The Boy Scouts Association Bill passed the Committee and was read a third time.

The Bill respecting the Game and Inland Fisheries Board, which is a modification of all the laws relating to this Board, was read a second time and will be committed at next sitting. The House adjourned until Monday next.

A war memorial tablet was unveiled recently on the summit of Great Gable, Cumberland, 3,000 feet above sea-level.

When the club started its war memorial scheme in 1915, it was suggested that a mountain crag or cliff be bought. Then a hill or small mountain was suggested. Finally twelve peaks, and nearly all the land in their vicinity above 1500 feet, was purchased, and handed over to the National Trusts.

Other peaks purchased by the club are Kirkfall, Green Gable, Brandreth, Grey Knotts, Base Brown, Seathwaite Fell, Glaramara, Allen Crags, Great End, Broad Crags, and Lingmell.

Our Dumb Animals

Report Chief Agent S.P.A. For Week Ending July 26, 1924.

Attended to the landing of 72 head of cattle, all in good condition; also to the landing of 89 head of cattle, 40 pigs, 17 sheep from S.S. Lisgar County. The cattle were all carefully landed and watered. I also attended three sales cattle, sheep, and pigs, at the St. John's Abattoir Company's premises, and everything was carried out satisfactorily with regard to the handling and looking after the beasts. Called to the Southside Road by Mr. Crane, to have a horse which had got caught in the fence and was so badly injured that it had to be put to death. I also received a report from Topsall of a horse belonging to Mr. Duff of the Topsall Road, near Woodstock. The horse was in a very bad condition. He presented himself to Veterinary Bishop and found the horse to be suffering from ringbone, also from the effect of a festered hoof and swollen fore legs. Dr. Bishop recommended the owner to have the horse put to death. The owner does not want to believe the horse will get better. I said that he was not to work it under any consideration or he will be summoned for doing so. He promised faithfully not to use it. He got the horse in a trade and hasn't had it very long. I will watch the case to see whether the animal improves. I also put to death a vicious dog on Charlton Street which had bitten a man. Several complaints in about barbed wire, particularly out about Thorburn Road where a lot of it has been broken up. This is left down in the wood and causes a lot of trouble to cattle grazing in this vicinity. Owners of fences there please take notice. This wire must be attended to, and cease using barbed wire. All complaints as far as I know have been promptly attended to. There have been quite a number of complaints about dogs being an annoyance. Owners should keep their dogs in as they are at large all night long and causing lots of annoyance where there is sickness and invalids. I call upon all dog owners to see their animals housed. In case I find any house owners locking up their premises for the care of their cats I will summon the parties for cruelty to animals. I was pleased to see that at a medical conference recently held, the doctors confirmed the fitness of the S.P.A. in reference to inspection of cattle for milk and slaughter purposes. Please all complaints to
JONAS BARTER,
Chief Agent.

Of Interest to Automobilists

The variation in the efficiency of the brakes when on a long trip is due to several things, but the condition of the brake lining is perhaps most important. Sometimes the lining will become polished, in which case the brakes will not be very efficient. In other instances the lining may be "roughened up," in which case the brakes will suddenly begin to be more effective. Generally speaking, the dragging of the brakes or long application of them down long grades will cause the lining to become polished, whereas a few sudden applications of the brakes will rough up the linings. Road dust and water will alter these conditions. An engine will sometimes heat up on a hill for lack of oil, depending largely upon the position of the pump, the type of oiling system and the condition of the oil. The pressure on the bearings during a pull uphill makes greater demands upon the oiling system, and if the bearings do not receive the proper amount of oil they will heat up, and perhaps stop the engine. The frictional force of the oil pressure gauge when descending a steep hill is simply due to oil in the crankcase flowing away from the oil pump in cases where it is located at the rear of the engine. There is no particular danger if the pressure is affected in this way, since the engine is usually under its own power in descending such hills, and therefore, does not need a constant high pressure of oil to its bearings. To clean spark plugs, soak them in a mixture of alcohol and kerosene over night. Then in the morning the carbon can be wiped off with a clean rag. Because of the highly glazed surface of the plugs, emery cloth or sand paper should never be used. When the glazed surface becomes roughened, the plug quickly fouls and stops firing.

In its dainty design and new blue and white dress the five cent Ivory Soap makes an instant appeal to ladies of good taste.—adv. 17

BIG MONEY.

The more a mortal crutcher earns, the more he blows, the more he burns, unless his head is level; his money tempts a man to waste in luxury and life is made one long and gorgeous revel. He sets forth poor when he is young; to gain a plunk his frame is wrung by hard and heavy labors; he saves a little coin at times, some nickels now, again some dimes, as do his tolling neighbors. He builds a modest little shack, with rose vines climbing up the back, he owns a plot of soil; his helpful prudence never ends, for all the capital he spends was won by grievous toil. His wife, his nieces and his aunt all gladly help him when he'd plant some rubies in the bank; they do without the things they need that he may save the chicken-feed, the kopeck and the franc. But now his patient, tolling feet have carried him to Easy street, his salary is large; all prudent thoughts have pulled their freight, he goes through life in pomp and state like Cloo on her barge. The women of his household aid; they scatter coin as with a spade, they dress like movie queens; and oft I wonder what they'll do, this gaudy, easy-money crew. If fortune spills the beans, I have been poor as any Jay, and I have drawn a princely pay, and wasted heaps of hoards; and I believe the happy lad is he who views his toll earned dead, the only one he owns.

A NEW CENSORSHIP.

We are getting all kinds of censorship these days and a friend of mine has a new one to suggest. I suspect you will flatter yourself as un-derstanded, inter-ference with the rights of the individual when I tell you what it is. Just as I did when he first suggested it to me. But perhaps in time you will come to modify your views as to its utter absurdity. Just as I have. For the Prevention of Cruelty To Scenery. My friend suggests an architectural censorship that will stop people from doing violence to the scenery by putting up any kind of a house, however ugly, however atrocious in any way, that their taste or rather their utter lack of it suggests. Preposterous you say? A man's house is his castle and his lot his kingdom. If he buys land surely he has a right to put any kind of a house he wants on it, even if other people do think it is ugly. But not so preposterous. Is it so far a cry to a council of architects to which plans for new building would be submitted and who, while of course they would allow the widest latitude possible, would condemn anything that was unnecessarily hideous? I said "preposterous" the first time the idea was broached. I don't say "perfect" yet. But neither do I say "preposterous" any longer.

Foreign Tariff Policies.

Of particular interest to exporters and foreign traders generally is the pamphlet recently published by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the U.S. Department of Commerce, entitled Trade Information Bulletin No. 228, "European Tariff Policies Since the War." As is well known, the war resulted in every important foreign country in prohibitions and other extreme measures of restrictions against the commerce and goods of other nations. In some cases, certain classes of foreign goods were excluded altogether; in others they were admitted only at very high duties. Everywhere the tendency was towards promotion of domestic industry and restriction of trade with other countries. This tendency is now undergoing a change. Nations, particularly European nations, are gradually swinging back towards their more settled pre-war policies. Numerous instances could be cited such as the repeal by the British Government of its 33 1-3 per cent. duty on automobiles, watches, clocks, etc. "Whether by direct governmental action, by means of the increasing number of treaty negotiations or by international conferences," says Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, in summing up the contents of the pamphlet, "the tendency seems to be toward more moderate duties, the easing up of import and export restrictions, and the general re-building of international trade relations on a somewhat more liberal basis than had marked the early years following the war."—Commercial and Financial World.

Good Cosmetics are Really Beneficial

The old idea that cosmetics were harmful has gradually been dispelled. To-day it is conceded that preparations when made of pure ingredients scientifically compounded, actually protect and nourish the skin besides performing their function of beautifying. If you desire a lovely, radiant skin—and what woman does not—your ambition can be realized by using the Instant Beauty Trio.

"Mrs. Busybody" Gets Tongue-Lashing
HALIFAX, N.S., July 10—(Canadian Press)—"Mrs. Busybody," to be found in every neighborhood, ready to run with tales that harm, was given a tongue-lashing by Magistrate Clancy in connection with the case of a young woman convicted of being an inmate of a disorderly house. Owing to extenuating circumstances the magistrate let her off with bond and suspended sentence. The magistrate said: "I understand that you started to make good last winter, and secured employment as a pianist in a moving picture theatre, until some busybody took pains to inform your employer of your past, and did her best to throw you back into the life from which you were trying to escape. This will serve to show you how hard it is for a woman to get up once she is down. It is to the credit of the man that hired you that he did not let the tales of this interfering person make any difference, but continued to give you your chance to make good until such time as he went out of business." LAST NIGHT'S FOOTBALL

Cadets The Victors.
In last night's football game the Cadets defeated the Felldians by an 8-0 score. In what proved to be the most interesting and best fought exhibition of the season. The attendance was larger than formerly and all away well pleased with the result of football so ably put up. The Felldians winning the toss, elected to defend the western goal in the first half, taking advantage of the fresh breeze and strong sun. From the face-off the ball was sent rolling lively clip up and down field. The forwards got in some good work, but the defence of the excellent Cadets set up by both teams, and the stops by the opposing goalkeepers. The Felldians pressed matters during this half, but the forwards were too anxious when getting within shooting distance of goal, and of course many good opportunities were lost. The Cadets on the other hand were playing well and controlling the play to their advantage. After several successful attacks up field Meeney secured the leather and passing to Walter Callahan at the opportune moment, the latter played lost no time in banking home the first goal of the evening, after ten minutes of play. The Felldians then pressed matters for a few minutes, and were soon rewarded in their efforts when "Bob" Withers availed of a good opening and equalized.

For the balance of play honors were very evenly divided.

2nd Half.
Upon resumption of play both teams entered wholeheartedly into their work, and a good exhibition of football was being handed out. The Cadets leading in the attack kept the Felldians backs very busy. But the defence set up was excellent and they were unable to score. Voisey in goal proved to be the big stumbling block. He saved several shots which looked good enough for sure goals. With the score 1-1, after twenty-two minutes of play, it was considered by many that the game would end in a draw. A few minutes later, however, the Cadets pressed the attack and secured a corner. This was nicely placed, and from a scrimmage in the goal mouth, Readigan landed the ball between the posts, which proved to be the winning goal. Towards the end of play the Felldians paid a visit near the Cadet goal, but were quickly repulsed. The game ended in a victory for the Cadets by 2 goals to 1.

Mr. F. C. Brien was referee. Several fouls and off-side went unnoticed by the referee last night. For the benefit of football, and in doing justice to both teams, there could be a big improvement in this direction.

REGATTA MEETING.

Governor's Cup Goes To Crew Making Quickest Whining Time.
The members of the Regatta Committee met last night in the T. A. Armoury. The meeting was presided over by President Hiseock, and with a large attendance of members present, much business was transacted and everything now points to a successful Regatta. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A communication was read from St. Andrew's Club, asking permission to enter a crew in the Senior Football Race. The Club will be advised accordingly. Mr. H. D. Reid was added to the list of Judges; while Col. Nangle and Mr. R. Sexton were made Honorary Members.

Treasurer James reported that $1,194.50 had been collected to-date. This is a very small amount as compared with the collections made last year, and it is hoped that the collectors, with a few more days left at their disposal, will meet with a ready response.

Mr. J. P. Crotty reported that he had completed arrangements for the luncheon.

It was decided to award the Governor's Cup to the crew making the quickest time for the day.

The rule governing the intermediate race came in for much discussion. Several members think it is unfair that anyone rowing in this race is not permitted to row in any other race for the day. A case was cited where under the present rule, one of the other of two crews would have to drop out. After many opinions had been expressed it was decided to make the rule read as follows:—

Competitors in this race must be under twenty-one years of age and shall not be eligible to row in any other race, except for a club, firm or bank. Those engaged in the fishery shall not be allowed to compete. A birth certificate must be furnished by each intending competitor at the time of entry.

The following additional crews entered:—

INTERMEDIATE RACE.
Cadet—(Felldians)—Aubrey Wight, (Cox); T. Chalker (stroke); A. Bailey, G. Crossie, W. Dowden, C. Crossie, H. J. Parsons.

INTERMEDIATE FISHERMEN.
Nellie R.—L. Rogers (Cox); C. Rice, (stroke); A. Strange, S. Martin, W. Lewis, R. Riche.

MERCANTILE RACE.
Red Lion—(Job's)—B. Hart (Cox); E. Keough (stroke); R. Kent, J. Keough, R. Stamp, H. Haynes, C. Williams.

JUVENILE.
The two vacancies in the Cadet Juvenile crew, entered last week, were filled as follows—John Gritch, Fred Lowe.

A few minor matters were discussed before the meeting adjourned.

MT. CASHEL HAS NEW SWIMMING POOL.

A splendid swimming pool has recently been added to the already numerous diversities provided for the boys of Mount Cashel Orphanage. This addition was undertaken but two weeks ago, and although the many preparations for the Annual Garden Party claimed the major part of the Brothers' attention, the work has been rapidly proceeded with and on Wednesday last was brought to a successful conclusion. Formerly the boys had to walk long distances to get a dip in the cooling waters of either Bally Haly or Kenny's Pond. To-day they have annexed to their playhall a magnificent concrete pool, measuring 80 by 25 feet and varying in depth from three to five feet. The bottom of the pool is of smooth concrete and around this miniature lake has been erected a wooden platform five feet wide. The whole is surrounded by a wide fence ensuring seclusion. The appearance of the glassy surface is in itself a delicious sight while the enjoyment of the youngsters as they splash about makes even the onlookers realize the great benefit and source of amusement the pool is to the hundred and fifty little orphans of Mount Cashel. The water supply is carried from the main by a three inch feed pipe, which is regulated to maintain a steady flow of pure water. At the deeper end a sluice has been built by a series of planks, the removal of which will empty the pool as required.

Another benefit afforded the institution is the possession of an ever available reserve supply of water in case of fire. Now the motor pumper can bring several streams into play on any of the buildings within a few seconds of arriving on the scene. It is noteworthy that the volume of water required to keep a steady flow in the pool is considerably less than the volume of water running waste from any two of the city hydrants. Consequently, without impairing the town's water supply, the benefits of a convenient swimming pool and necessary source of fire protection are now parts of the huge organization of Mount Cashel. This addition will be another of the many scenes to be visited by the patrons of next Wednesday's Garden Party and we know that all will be loud in their approval of such a splendid utility and means of enjoyment to the boys.

Tor's Cove Garden Party Sunday afternoon—Train leaves Railway Station at 2 p.m. sharp—Returning 11 p.m. Spendid programme sports, music and various other attractions—C.C.C. Band in attendance. Be with the crowd and spend an enjoyable afternoon.—July 25, 26.

Prospero Arrives From Northward

S.S. Prospero, Capt. Field, arrived from the Cook's Harbor service at 11 a.m. to-day, having made all ports of call on the round trip. The ship brought a small consignment of freight and the following saloon passengers: Messrs. Gould, Whitmarsh, Freeman, Morris, Avery, McCormack, Nottall, Pardy, Small, Norris, Snelgrove, Hartnett, Rendell, Guy, Jones, Spencer, Hearn, Porter, Jackman, White, Thorne, Harman, Lockyer, Newell; Mesdames Gould, Norman and five children, Misses Noble (2), Yates, Owen, Sharp, Barry, Lewis, Spencer, Burke, Nottall, Loring, Goodyear, Russell, Bendall, Joy, Thorne (2), Harnum, Freeman; Trimmer, Dowden, Jennings, Bourne, Primmer, Penney, Rendell, Guy, Humphries (2). The fishery is reported a total blank from here to Cape Norman with the exception of LaSalle, where the fishermen have done very well. Capt. Ambrose Payne has arrived there from Ball's Isle with 500 qts. while Patrick Miller has also returned well fished. The salmon fishery is now over. Soid has not yet struck in, while the caplin has disappeared. Coming south a large steamer was loading pit props at Springdale. Things are booming at Orange Bay. The Rossing plant being installed by Mr. Groves will be completed within the next ten days. Blackwood's crew has returned to Valleyfield with 200 qts. and is now getting ready to make a return trip. The fishery outlook is very discouraging and the catch is expected to be away below the average. Excellent weather prevails all over the coast.

Obituary.

JAS. P. CALLANAN.

A highly esteemed citizen in the person of Mr. Jas. P. Callanan, passed away yesterday afternoon in his fifty-third year. Deceased was stricken with paralysis during the morning and in a few minutes lapsed into unconsciousness. For more than thirty years Mr. Callanan has been employed in the office of Shea & Co., and his courteousness gained for him the confidence and esteem of all those with whom he came in contact. Of a quiet and unassuming disposition he had few interests outside the family circle. He leaves to mourn him, a wife, seven sons and one daughter to whom the Telegram extends sympathy in their bereavement. The funeral takes place to-morrow (Sunday) from his late residence, Pleasant Street.

Birds Attracted by Light

Our reference in last evening's issue to the fact of a gull having flown against the wind shield of a motor car with disastrous results brings us a tendency that all birds exhibit the information that all birds exhibit the focus of a powerful light to fly directly thereat.

Miss Irene Wagner Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples
"I was troubled with pimples from the time I was twelve years of age. Some of the pimples were large and some were small. They were hard and red at first but after the second or third day they usually came to a head and gradually disappeared. They looked so badly that I was disgusted and did not want to go anywhere."
"One day I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided I would send for a few boxes. I purchased more and in two or three months the pimples disappeared." (Signed) Miss Irene Wagner, Box 283, Havana, Mo., Aug. 27, 1923.
For every purpose of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are excellent.

Hundreds of Children Enjoy Playground Doll Show

Hundreds of children enjoyed the Doll Show at the Bannerman Park Playground yesterday afternoon. Over five hundred girls exhibited their dolls in the Doll Parade which was the opening feature of the exhibition. There were seven divisions in the parade. The first was of dolls dressed in street clothes, some dressed for summer in straw hats and beautiful linen dresses, and some dressed for winter with warmly made sweaters, furs, and winter hats. The second division was of dolls in fancy dress—the Cupie Dolls, and dolls in fanciful paper dresses. The third was of dolls in character dress—the best one being the Red Cross Nurse Doll. Others in this division were Scotch Highlanders, Chinese, Swiss and Negro Dolls. The fourth division was the baby dolls in long dresses and pretty little bonnets. Next came the dolls dressed for play in rompers and gingham dresses. After these came the dolls dressed in party dresses—gorgeous affairs in silks and satins and laces. And last came the Doll Carriage division. Seventy-five girls, with their doll carriages most beautifully decorated paraded in this group. This was the hardest of all the groups to judge. Every one deserved a prize, for hours had been spent in decorating these carriages and the results were delightful. One doll was dressed for a wedding and the carriage was beautifully trimmed with white satin. Another lay back in a bed of lovely paper roses. Real flowers, paper flowers, ribbon and colored paper were all used with splendid effect. The exhibition also included doll houses and doll clothes made by the girls themselves. Miss May Furlong was the Chief Judge. His Honor, Mayor Tasker Cook, pinned on the ribbons of the prize winners. Other officials were the Hon. S. Milley, Mr. Will Morris, President of the Rotary Club, Dr. V. P. Burke, of the Boys' Work Committee of the Rotary Club, and Mr. Lawrence Cashin. Considerably over a hundred prizes were given out, consisting of silver trinket cases, dolls' sewing boxes, bouncing dolls and miscellaneous toys, but even then one could not but pity the large number of disappointed ones who did not win a prize. The prizes were:—Dolls dressed in street clothes; first, Margaret Ryan, Bond Street; second, Bridie Tremblay, Duggan Street; third, Vera Sullivan, Circular Road. Consolation prizes: Annie Dillon, Hayward Ave.; Annie Colbert, Signal Hill Road, and Olive Ryan, Bartlett Street. In Memoriam

KENNETH RIDEOUT (Port Union).
We record with sadness the passing of one of the most respected of Port Union's citizens in the person of Mr. Kenneth Rideout, who was called home by God's Angel early on Sunday morning, July 6th. He was one of the earliest settlers at Port Union, having removed from Newtown, N.B., and made his home there some years ago, and was closely identified with the P.P.U. from its inception. For many years previous Mr. Rideout sailed schooners to the Labrador, and at the time of his passing was preparing to sail to Greenspond with a cargo from the Union Trading Co. On Friday morning, July 4th, he went to his work at usual where the schooner was being loaded with salt, and descending into the hold the vessel was shortly afterwards discovered by one of the men in an unconscious state, which was afterwards diagnosed as paralysis with loss of speech, sight and hearing. He was taken to his home and medical attendance obtained, but he never recovered consciousness and passed away on Sunday morning as the dawn was breaking. Kind and charitably disposed he was respected by all who knew him, and his friends were many. He was always ready to extend a helping hand to those who needed it. Deceased was 64 years of age, a very industrious man and up to the time of his death was enjoying excellent health. He was laid to rest in the Methodist Cemetery, St. John's, Sunday afternoon by Rev. Mr. Bellin, and the funeral was one of the most largely attended in the locality for many years. Left to mourn their sad loss are a wife, 2 sons and 2 daughters. A particularly sad feature was the absence of both sons. Capt. Will of the motor schooner "F. P. Union," Capt. George of the schooner "Ocell and Belle," and Miss Alma, one of the daughters, living in Boston. One son, Bert, paid the Supreme Sacrifice at Beaumont Hamel, July 1st, and only Vida, the youngest daughter, was at home. The writer extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved.

Banish constipation, skin and stomach troubles with this fresh food

The example illustrated here is typical of thousands of similar tributes to Fleischmann's Yeast.

There is nothing mysterious about its action. It is not a "cure-all," not a medicine in any sense. But when the body is choked with the poisons of constipation—or when its vitality is low, so that the skin, stomach and general health are affected—this simple, natural food achieves literally amazing results.

Concentrated in every cake of Fleischmann's Yeast are millions of tiny yeast-plants, alive and active. At once they go to work—infiltrating the whole system, clearing the skin, aiding digestion, strengthening the intestinal muscles and making them healthy and active.

Dissolve one cake in a glass of water (just hot enough to drink)

—before breakfast and at bedtime. Fleischmann's Yeast, in this way, is especially effective in overcoming or preventing constipation. Or eat 2 or 3 cakes a day—spread on bread or crackers—dissolved in fruit juices or milk—or eat it plain. Write us for further information or let us send you a free copy of our latest booklet on Yeast for Health. Address: The Fleischmann Company, 201 Duckworth Street, St. John's, N.F.

Fleischmann's Yeast comes only in the tin-foil package—it cannot be purchased in tins. All grocers have it. Start eating it today! A few days' supply will keep fresh in your tin box as well as in the grocery.

Banish constipation, skin and stomach troubles with this fresh food

“I am office manager for a large mercantile corporation. Two years ago I began to develop ‘nerves,’ stomach trouble, insomnia, and worst of all to me, an irritable disposition towards those under me. A friend urged me to try Fleischmann's Yeast, attributing his own excellent health to its daily use. At the end of a week I was eating it with a relish, and feeling a great deal improved. Now a day never passes that I don't eat at least three cakes—using them as a between-meal snack—with the result that I am in the best of health with an eager zest for my work.”

(Extract from letter of Mr. G. A. Dempsey, of Winnipeg, Canada).

Quantity Price Fair and Unfair--

Any grocer who sells BABBITS soap loyally and faithfully is entitled to just as good treatment and just as fair a field for profit as any other grocer. Favoritism is what kills the independent retailer.

We have only one concession for quantity—that which the buyer actually earns in the freight saving. We don't give it to him; he earns it.

We agree with the Retail Grocers that differentials so great that they upset fair competition should be condemned. The wonderful popularity of BABBITS soap is built on fair sales policies and real value to the consumer.

CLEAN UP and KEEP CLEAN

This is what the New Government intends doing. We have been doing this for 25 years, as Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing is our sole business. We devote our entire time to it and therefore we can give you better satisfaction than you can get elsewhere. Owing to the growth of our business we have had to remove to larger premises on the opposite side of the street (No. 22 opp. A. V. Duffy), which gives us ample room. We use the first flat, shop and showroom; second flat, repairing and pressing rooms; third flat, dyeing and renovating.

We would like you to see some of our work before sending elsewhere; all prices reduced since the New Year. Cleaning Orders given our first and personal attention. A rush job is our specialty. We call for goods and deliver them in two hours, if necessary. Suits Pressed while you wait; a nice dressing room; to change in. We can handle over one hundred pressing orders daily. In addition to Cleaning and Pressing, we clean and shape hats.
