ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Meeting of The Lambton Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company was held on the 25th ult in the Town of Petrolea. President Kingston presiding. The number present was not as large as on some former occasions, but that did not prevent them from appreciating and approving the reports presented.

The Lambton Company though a Mutual believes in collecting by the first fixed payment, a sum sufficient to pay all losses and expenses for the three year term insured. This way has been found very satisfactory and economical and enables the Secretary to manage the business with very little additional help. Where assessments have to be made annually, more help would be needed. Then again the large cash balance accumulated, enables every loss to be paid promptly and the same being well invested the interest more than pays the salaries of officials. Judging by the past, if the Company was to cease working the present cash balance would pay every loss occurring until the last policy had expired, without a new risk being taken.

The reports presented showed the Company to have over thirteen millions insured, nearly all of which is in Lambton Co. The Lambton takes only a 2% premium note-all the other Mutuals take a 3%-yet the unassessed premium note balance amounts to $174,188.53. #### BROOKE

Miss Allie Edgar spent the week end with her cousin, Miss Jennie Ed-gar, at the home of Mr. T. B. Taylor, Main street, Watford.

A large and appreciative audience saw the presentation, at the school saw the presentation, at the schoor house, twelfth line east, on Friday evening last, under the auspices of the Willing Workers, of "Much Ado About Betty", a humorous play by the young people of S. S. No. 10. "Much Ado About Betty" is a play well worth without Betty" is a play well worth witnesing and those, who were not present Friday evening missed a real treat and many a good laugh as well. Some parts of play being screamingly funny. Each actor taking part seemed to fill the role that was best suited to them. All acted their parts so well that it would be difficult to place the honors of the evening. It is a play that would be well worth repeating

The regular meeting of the Brooke W. I. was held at the home of Mrs. E. J. Carroll, Thursday, Feb. 8th. The meeting opened by the singing of the Maple Leaf. Roll call was answered by Current events. The minutes of the January meeting were read and confirmed. A good program followed consisting of a paentiled "Smiles" by Mrs. J. Searson. Instrumental solos by Miss. P. MacVicar, a duet by Mrs. Shugg and Miss Clark, an instrumental solo by Mrs. Shugg and a paper by Mrs. W. Annett on Dr. Coue. Community singing was much enjoyed as was also the guessing contest. The meeting was brought to a close by the sing-ing of the National Anthem and lunch was served by the hostess.

Refreshments were served and the Strathroy council will submit a meeting closed with "God Save The by-law to raise $5,000 for a soldiers" memorial.

Citymail couriers draw down from $1,700 to $2,000 per year, and are furnished with the clothing they need. County mail couriers do not get more than half that amount, and have to furnish their own horses and rigs for the carrying of the mail. It is anything but a square deal .--- Mil-verton Sun.

Guelph Herald:-There is plenty of sickness throughout the city just now, but there is no occasion for imagining that every little complaint "what may happen" is liable to make as many people sick as disease will, and the thing to do if you have a cold or feel indisposed is to exercise com-mon sense and, if necessary, call a doctor.

The passing of the Bruce Peninsula News, of Lion's Head; the Hep-worth Journal, the Preston Progress, worth Journal, the Preston Progress, the Hensall Observer and the Chat-ham Planet, all within the past month, is unmistakeable proof of the difficulty the present day publisher has to contend with in issuing a pa-per. Communities that are desirous of having the boosting influence of local newspaper should give it a local newspaper should give it their wholehearted support.-Milver-

A flat rate may not be within the compass of the hydro Provincial ser-vice, but the disparity existing now is too marked to place the smaller mun-icipalities within gunshot of the big towns and cities. Hon. Mr. Beck may be a very clever man and a recog-nized authority on the subject, but there are thousands of men with good judgment too, who do not agree with him on hydro procedure. A public utility must not be a pocket piece for a few, nor the law so rigidly applied as to utterly prohibit its usefulness on broad lines

"The Ontario Legislature has voted down a proposal to provide for the one-man-one-vote principle on money by-laws. Property is naturally

itoba. Prairie lands available for culture are two or three times the breadth north and south that the despairing critics of other days sup-posed. British Columbia, more than any of the other Provinces, is find-ing wealth in her northland. Farming, fishing, lumbering and mining are working their way north. In this Province, in Alberta, in Manitoba and in Ontario the cry for railways comes mainly from the north. NON-CO-OPERATION IN INDIA AFFECTS TEA PRICES

The doctrine of non-co-operation preached by Chandi, has had serious results on the tea industry in India —the largest tea producing country in the world. Natives under Chandi' leadership, have hindered, blocked and passively opposed British rule and authority, which made it ex-tremely difficult for the Tea Plant-ers to secure adequate numbers of Coolies to pluck the tea, and once plucked the Natives have employed every means possible to hold up ship-ment. The result is that there is a shortage amounting to approximate-ly 80,000,000 lbs, in the world's supply of tea. Prices are rising, and all indications point to still higher fig-ures in the near future.

GETTING MOST HEAT FROM SUBSTITUTE FUELS

Many a householder who has experienced great difficulty in trying to burn the substitute fuels thrust upon him this winter will welcome a pamphlet just issued by authority of the Dominion Fuel Board telling him just how to proceed to get the best results. The Mines Branch at Ottawa has been experimenting for months with these auxiliary fuels in ordinary domestic furnaces, and the pamphlet now issued tells what they have found out. The fuels tried out were soft coal, pea-size anthracite, gas coke, 72-hour nut coke, Welsh anthracite and peat. The pamphlet is written in clear non-technical language, and should be read carefully by every householder. It is being widely circulated and coal-dealers are being given a supply for free distribution to their customers. Copies can also be obtained on application to the Department of Mines, Ottawa.

The After Effects Often More Serious Than the Disease Itself

No reasonable precaution to avert an attack of influenza should be spared. The disease itself often proves fatal and its after effects among those who are spared, make the life of the victim one of almost constant misery. Ask almost any of those who have been attacked by this trouble what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the influenza I have never been fully well." This trouble leaves behind it a persistent weakness of the limbs, shortness of

The Hon. George H. Murray has retired from the Premiership of Nova Scotia after a continuous term of twenty-seven years in that office. This beats the record of twenty-five years made by Sir Oliver Mowat as Premier of Ontario. The records are alike in that neither Sir Oliver nor Mr. Murray was ever defeated, both retiring voluntarily, Sir Oliver in 1896 to join the Cabinet of Sir Wilfred Laurier, and Mr. Murray in order to conserve his health.

The cost of living is again increasing. The cost of living is again increas-ing. The average cost of a weekly family budget, covering 29 staple foods in 60 Canadian cities, was $10.52 at the beginning of January,

In January, 1922, the same family budget cost $11.03, as compared with $77.72 is Longer as compared with $7.73 in January of 1914 and $16.92 in June, 1920 the highest point reached.

A New York woman has brought an action for $10,000 against a cre-mation company for alleged careless ness in handling an urn containing the ashes of two of her husbands. When a woman goes to the trouble of having two husbands cremated and their ashes mingled in one urn, the cremating company should cer-tainly show respect for her feelings for the reason, if for no other, that she has been a good customer. And she has still a living husband to be disposed of. 1¥

Two whitewood trees have just been cut into logs on the Peter J. McCallum farm in Dunwich and tak en to Dutton for shipment to George A. Oldrieve, of St. Thomas. The trees made eleven logs, or about 8,000 feet, and are said to be the last of that variety in West Elgin last of that variety in West Eigin that once was found on every farm and so much prized by the pioneers for its grade of lumber for building purposes. The late Mr. McCallum, although more than once offered $100 for each tree, declined to part with these monarchs of the forest. That even leading persons in the

built up again, and for building up the blood and strengthening the nerves nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The value of this medicine in cases of this kind is shown by the statement of Mr. Edward L McGuiro (¥ Speaking of the Lausaune break statement of Mr. Edward J. McGuire Pembroke, Ont., who says:---"In the down many English newspapers place the fault at France's door. The Outfall of 1918 I was attacked with the influenza—and not a mild form either. I was confined to my room for three weeks, and although the influenza subsided I did not regain my health. As a matter of fact I played. Is it possible if we refuse even to discuss the matter with Turkey, Angora may again turn to France and make an alliance which seemed to be growing weaker. will plunge us into a costly Eastern war, thus leaving French hands free no appetite, was subject to fainting spells and my feet and ankles were badly swollen. The doctor told me to dismember Germany ,wreck Eur-ope and commit any desperate infamy that my condition had developed into in the knowledge they are safe from interference? And what but this, afa serious case of anaemia, and ala scrous case of anaemia, and al-though I was under his care for over two months I was not improving in any way. At this stage one of my friends advised me to try Dr. Wil-liams' Pink Pills. I was loadh to do ter all, can be the motive of France in this disreputable double-dealing?' The Nation takes the same tone, say-ing:--- "Agreement with France and peace with Turkey are very desirable things, but any British Government which attempted to buy them by open so, as I began to think my case hope-less. However, I was finally persuador tacit consent to the French policy in the Ruhr would soon be called on to pay a frightful reckoning."

ed to try them, and by the time I had used two boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I con-tinued taking the pills until I had used a dozen boxes, when I found that every symptom of the trouble had left me and I was again enjoying the best of health. I returned to my work and have ever since been in Vancouver Province:—There is no thin strip of Ontario and Quebec separated by a desolate waste from the prairies. No longer are the praiwork and have ever since been in good health and feel that I owe is entirely to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I think that anyone who is suffering from the after effects of influenza, or ries a narrow ribbon of land separ ated from British Columbia by moun tains so high that freight cannot be carried over them. HARD ON LITTLE ONES Our Canadian winters are exceed ingly hard on the health of little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little one out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little one healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

aken down with a stroke on Thursday last. He had just returned to the flour mill after delivering and jumpen. His right side was completely paralyzed and he fell up against the sleigh, where he was found later by his employees. Donald Fletcher, 45, of Mount Brydges, who was taken to Victoria Hospital last week suffering from abdominal injuries as the result of his having been tossed by a mad bull, was reported as improving last night. He was rushed from the farm where he was injured to the train by a Mount Brydges doctor. Dr. W. J. Stevenson took charge of the case in London, performing an operation. Riverside, the only churchless town in Ontario, is due to lose this doubtful distinction. Alphonse St. Louis, former reeve of the town, has offered a site for a church. Rev. Fr. F. X. Laurendeau, pastor of Our Lady of the Lake church, Ford, announced that plans for a church are being prepared. The site is located on Intersection road, south of the new separate school. The church will cost without equipment, about $50,-000 That thousands of dollars will have to be spent on bridges in the county of Middlesex within the next two years is the opinion of members of the county council. Steps to this end would have been taken at the session just closed, but the expendi-tures of the county are so high now that members decided to leave the matter over till the June session, when a committee will likely be ap-pointed to map out a program. It has been pointed to map due a program. It has been pointed out that bridges in the county are not safe for the heavy loads which traverse them today. They were built as far back as in the 200 contraction of the contraction is a set of the set of '0's, and were constructed to carry oads not in excess of six tons, but oday they are subjected to ten and twelve tons. Reports are encouraging for a successful season in the work of the Wyoming branch of the Ontario Horticultural Society. The initiatory work accomplished in 1922 was gratifying. Grants of money were given the Wyoming Bowling Club, which was used in preparing the soil and planting a beautiful row of cannas along the west side of the bowling green; also in the construction and planting of flowers in other parts of the village, in which $50 worth of tulips and other bulbs were planted last fall ready for spring blooming. SKINNING AN ANIMAL How to Get the Best Out of a

Hide.

Skin While the Carcase Is Warm-Have the Knife Sharp-Avoid Wrinkling - Cut Carefully About the Legs.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.) During the autumn season, considerable farm butchering is done, and in the operation many good hides are spoiled in the skinning. To do a good job easily select a clean hard spot in the shelter of a tree or in a building if the floor is good. A block and tackle or other hoist arrangement should be rigged in a convenient position.

Skin While Carcase Is Warm.

The animal should be clean; if not it will be difficult to keep the hide and carcase in proper condition. The skinning should start immediately the animal is dead, and the more quickly it is done while the animal is warm the more easily the hide will come off Make sure that the knife is sharp. After stunning and sticking the animal it should be suspended to facilitate bleeding. When in the suspended position the operator should begin skinning the head, cheeks and face. When skinning over the face leave the flesh on the head, The presence of meat on the hide is an objection. The head is removed from the neck at the atlas joint, or end of the spinal column. The horns should not be removed from the skull. With the head out of the way the animal should be completely lowered and placed breast up, being held in this position by a spiked stick be-tween brisket and floor. The legs should then be skinned out and the feet removed.

Avoid Forming of Wrinkles. After removing the feet the hide should be ripped down the belly from the sticking cut to the tail. The sides should then be skinned by working forward to the brisket and then back to the inside of the hind leg, close to the tail. The free hand should be used to lift away, pulling outward and upward against the knife. Care should be taken to prevent the formation of wrinkles under the hide as it is being removed. The hide should be skinned off nearly to the back bone, leaving it attached at the thighs and shoulders. Change the prop over to the other side of brisket and skin the other side in the same manner. Cut Carefully About the Legs.

For the cut at the front legs start For the center, cutting the skin well in the center, cutting the skin well forward at the brisket and in advance of the front legs, cut back to the union of the fore leg and body and on down the inside of leg to meet the cut made when skinning the shin. In skinning the hind legs start at the center line about six inches from the tail and split the skin in straight line to the hock. Skin over the rump and thighs. At this stage it is best to insert a gambrel above the hock joints and raise the carcass so that the shoulder will still rest on the floor. Split the skin on the under side of the tail and skin out the tail floor. bone to the end. Skin Away From Tail and Legs. Skin the hide carefully away from the base of the tail and strip from the legs and back, using the fist or a blunt instrument such as a knife handle, skinning stone or the back of a cleaver. Be careful and do not cut the hide, since each cut reduces the value. When skinned down to the shoulders the carcass is hoisted clear of the floor and the skinning completed down over the neck. Split the ears by cutting lengthwise and fold the hide fless side in. The for shipment.—Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

should be summary covered. The drier the sawdust the better. If the drier the sawdust the better. If the soil beneath the enclosure is impor-vious clay, a layer of gravel under the sawdust is advisable. If sawdust is not obtainable, plan-er mill shavings will serve. If neither is to be had, two feet of marsh hay or any wild hay will answer. The roughest kind of a shed that will re-sist the weather is all that is re-quired.

If you are not making money on the farm, scratch your head and do some hard thinking. Keep feeding the hens or they'll stop laying. Keep feeding the Fulless or they'll stop growing.

Live Stock.

Of Most Value When Cut Early-Oat Straw Best of the Cereals - Old and Musty Straw Not Desirable for Live Stock Feeding.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The quantity of straw consumed by the live stock of Ontario amounts to many thousand tons each year. It is important as a feed, but unfortunately its value is frequently overrated. Straws, the by-products of different grains, have different values. The line of demarcation between hays, straws and fodders is not clear, but generally speaking straw is the by-product of ripened grain or forage plants, being made up of the dry leaves and stems. The nearer the plant is to the mature condition at time of harvest the lower the feeding value, because of the concentration of the nitrogenous and fat properties in the developing and ripening

Straw Best When Cut Early.

The straw from over-ripe grain is generally hard in character, unpalatable and indigestible; while the straw from grains cut on the green side are softer, more palatable, and gen-erally contain a higher percentage of digestible matter. The hard condition of some varieties of straw causes such to be almost useless as a feed. Even if such fodder has a feed value that value cannot be satisfactorily ex-tracted by the digestion processes of our domestic animals.

Varieties of Straw Fed.

The straws generally used for stock feeding are oat, barley, wheat, pea and clover. Others such as timothy, fax, bean and rye straws are some-times used, but with indifferent results. Oat straw, the best of the var-ious straws for feeding, carries considerable feed value as indicated by chemical analysis, but unfortunately a large percentage of the nourishing properties cannot be extracted by the digestion processes of our domestic animals. What is true of oat straw is more pronounced with the other varieties of straw, the harder and

SOY BEANS IN ONTARIO

Its Seed Production Here Is Yet Rather Uncertain.

The Crop Is Good for Hay, Pasture Silage or Seed-Breeding Plants for Selection - Systematic Field Arrangement-Marl.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of. Agriculture, Toronto.)

Soy beans can be successfully grown for fodder in Southwestern Ontario and in the Niagara Peninsula, and in favored areas even farther north. The production of seed of the Soy bean in Ontario is a more uncertain problem. In good seasons, first-class seed of a number of varieties have been produced at Guelph, and in poor seasons no matured seed was obtained from any variety. Soil Inoculation Necessary.

Cheap Ice For the Farmer.

Farmers who have not already done so should prepare to lay by a store of ice for cooling milk and for house-hold use next summer. The cost of harvesting and storing ice is low when compared with the saving ef-fected. Ordinarily, it is safe to har-vest two tons of ice for each cow in the herd. This will allow for melt-ing and leave enough for family needs. Where cream only is sold, about one-third of that quantity of Did you ever try co-operation in ice harvesting? It works like a charm. Get one or two of your neighbors to go into such a scheme. One pend or stream and one set of tools will answer for all. The equipment necessary for harvesting and storing ice consists simply of saws, tongs, and iron bars for pushing the blocks of ice around. A rough board enclosure ten feet

A rough board enclosure ten feet square and eight feet high will hold sufficient ice to provide fifty pounds per day for 130 days after allowing for a reasonable amount of wastage. An important fact to be remembered is that the amount of the states of th An important fact to be remembered is that the smaller the quantity of ice stored the larger is the proportion of waste. The bottom of the enclosure should be covered with a foot of saw-dust, and a foot of space left between the boards and the ice, which should also be fulled with sawdust. The teralso be filled with sawdust. The ice drier such are the less the animals can extract from them.

Oat Straw Is a Good Bulky Feed.

Oat straw can be used as a feed for cattle, horses and sheep, during the autumn and winter period to supply bulk and some nourishment to the ration. Dry cattle can use large amounts of oat straw as a mainwork can use out straw, as a large part of their ration. Straw is too bulky for horses at moderate or hard work.

Barley straw, if free from beards, ranks next to oat straw as a feed, and may be used as a roughage, but a good part of the animal maintenance must come from some other source

Wheat Straw Poorer-Also Rye.

Wheat straw has a lower value than barley straw, and serves to give bulk and a small part of the required nourishment to the animal. Wheat straw as a supplement to roots and silage in winter feeding plays an important part in the maintenance of young and dry stock. Rye straw is generally so hard and indigestible as to be of little use as a stock feed. Clover and other legume straws while containing compounds of considerable feed value are frequently so hard and feed value are frequently so hard and unpalatable that the animal can make only partial use of them. Pea and vetch straws are generally the most valuable of the legume straws. Dry sweet or red clover straws or alfall: stems carry a feed value that is gen-erally out of reach of the average farm animal's stomach, unless these materials are steamed or finely ground.

Old and Musty Straws Are Not Desirable.

Old, dry and musty straws have little or no feed value, fresh soft and clean straws no matter from what source can generally be used to good advantage by all live stock If care is taken to prepare such in a man-ner that will aid the animal organner that will ald the animal organ-ism to extract the nourishing ele-ments. Cutting, steaming, or mixing with other feeds to increase palata-bility and digestibility is always advised.—L. Stevenson, Sec., Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

content than either common beans or field peas. This plant is a legume, and when planted for the first time should be inoculated with the proper nitrogen fixing bacteria. The Soy bean has varied uses, the whole crop being grown for hay, pasture, slage, and green manure, and the seed for stock feed. In the Orient, the seed is grown not only for stock feed but is grown not only for stock feed, but to an even larger extent for human consumption.

For Hay, Silage, Pasture or Seed.

Soy beans have been grown for Soy beans have been grown for fodder and seed production in the experimental plots at Guelph since 1894, and have been 'distributed through the medium of the Experi-mental Union to farmers of Ontario' each year for the past twenty-three years During the nast five years the years. During the past five years, the most promising varieties under test at Guelph have been the O. A. C. No. 211, Ito San, Minnesota No. 157, Early Brown and Early Yellow.

Sandy Soil Not too Rich Preferred.

A sandy loam soil not too rich is suitable for growing Soy beans. The seed-bed preparation for Soy beans should be much the same as for Inshould be much the same as for In-dian corn and they should be planted about the same time. Soy beans usually produce better results when planted in drills which are about thirty inches apart than broadcasted. It requires three-quarters to one bushel to plant an acre for seed, and about one and one-half bushels to plant the same area for fodder pro-duction.

Producing Plants for Selection.

A number of plant-breeding selec-tions are under test at Guelph, and it is hoped that before long varieties will be produced which will be early. will be produced which will be early enough to mature seed each year, and, at the same time, produce a good yield of green fodder. One of the best strains tested at Guelph is the O. A. C. No. 211. #### ELEPHONE USERS AND OWNERS CAN'T AGREE

Parkhill, Feb. 9 .- There is a tele phone war on in West Williams and the western end of McGillivary.

The Parkhill-Arkona line was purchased about a year ago from the original company and the new company have inaugurated several chan in the financial administration Big of the line. Calls are collected monthly and phone rent is payable quarterly. To users of the Bell quarterly. To users of the Bell phones this does not appear start-ling, as they have always been secustomed to paying in this way. But on rural lines the phone users have paid once a year.

The old company sold the line be cause they were unable to collect even once yearly from some of their customers, consequently their bad debts mounted into the thousands and there were no dividends. The new company in one year has acquired many book debts. The sharehold-ers in the old company were all in some other line of business and they could live without dividends from the telephone line. The members of the new company have no other business and are therefore compelled to look for dividends; also the new company has made a slight increase in prices and strenuous objection is stered against this move.

Meetings have been held and the ories have been expounded, with the result that the company and the people are at logerheads. Over 130 phones have been ordered out. So far the company has not complied

'E'll 'ave gone into the palace with the crowd for a look-see; we'll meet "im there an' syve 'im the trouble of untin' for us. Come!" And she half dragged the shrinking girl toward the gate, a block distant, where only a few minutes before Webster and Don Juan Cafetero had made their ineffectual stand.

"Don't look at the blighters, honey," Mother Jenks warned Dolores when, in approaching the gate, she caught sight of the bodies strewed in front of it. "My word! Regular bally mess -an' all spiggoties! Cawn't be. Must 'ave been some white meat on this bird, as my sainted 'Enery uster s'y. Hah! Thought so! There's a redheaded 'un! Gawd's truth! An' done all that-Gor' strike me pink! It's Don Juan Oafetero." Mother Jenks stepped over the gory corpses ringed around Don Juan and knelt beside him. "Don Juan !" cried. "You bally, interferin' blighter, you've gone an' got it!"

She ran her strong old arms under his dripping body, lifted him and laid his red head on her knee, while with ber free hand she drew a small finsk brandy from her dress pocket. Don Juan opened his buttermilk eyes and gazed up at her with slow ly dawning wonder, then closed them again, drowelly, like a tired child. Mother Jenks pressed the flask to his blue lips; as the brandy bit his tongue he rolled his fiery head in feeble protest and weakly set his teeth against the lip of the flask. Wondering. Mother Jenks withdrew, it-and then Don Juan spoke. "Have ye the masther's permission. allanah? I give him me worrd av honpermission. He-was good-to me-troth he was-God-love-me-boss

His jaw dropped loosely; his head rolled sideways; but ere his spirit fled, Don Juan Cafetero had justified the faith of his master. He had kept his word of honor. He had made good on his brag to die for John Stuart Webster and welcome the chance! Mother Jenks held his body a little while, gazing into the face no longer rubicund; then gently she eased it to the ground and for the first time was aware that Dolores knelt in the diri opposite to her striving to lift the v nnon whie mercy, gave all of her thought to the grim task before her. The cries, followed by the sudden, savage outbreak of fire when the guards made their dash from the palace, brought Webster and Don Juan to mind instantly. In a quick access of terror and apprehension she clung, trembling, to stolid old Mother Jenks.

"Somebody's breakin' in or breakin' out," the veteran decided calmly. "Come to the corner, dearie, an' 'ave a look."

She half dragged Dolores to the corner, from which they had an unobstructed view down the cross-street to its intersection three blocks distant with the Calle San Rosario; consequently they saw the dozen or more survivors of that ill-fated dash from the north gate of the palace flash for a second across their line of vision. Mother Jenks croaked dismally, like a disreputable old raven; she was trying to cheer.

"The rats are leavin' the sinkin' ship," she wheezed. "Come an' see them tyke the devils as killed my sainted 'Enery." She broke eagerly from Delores' detaining grasp and ran down the street. Dolores hesitated a moment; then, reasoning that her duty lay in pursuing Mother Jenks and preventing her from rushing headlong into the conflict, she followed.

Evidently the fleeing guards had scurried around a corner into a cross street shortly after Dolores and Moth-"the Bread that's er Jenks had seen them gallop past, for the firing down the Calle San Rosario had ceased entirely by the time they reached it. They stood a moment at the corner, gazing up the street at the dead-man and beast-with the Have you tried it lately ? wounded crawling out of the shambles Phone 73 and our wagon to the sidewalk.

Mother Jenks nodded approvingly as triumphant shouts from the north gate fession of sin or self-denial when the told her the Ruey men were pouring Prodigal comes home to the Father's care and love and says no longer into the palace; with their arms about each other the two women watched and waited-and presently the nation-

The strength of Dolores was unequal to the task: so Mother Jenks, hardened, courageous, calm as her sainted 'Enery at his inglorious finish, rose and stepped around to her side to help her. She could see this other was a white man, too; coolly she stooped and wiped his gory face with the hem of her apron. And then she recognized him!

"Lift him up! Give him to me!" Dolores sobbed. "Oh, Caliph, my poor dear, big-hearted blundering boy She got her arm under his head: Mother Jenkins aided her ; and the limp body was lifted to a sitting position: then Dolores knelt on one knee, supporting him with the other, and drew his head over on her shoulder; with her white cheek cuddled against his. she spoke into his deaf ears the little, tender, foolish words that mothers have for their children, that wom en have for the stricken men of their love. She pleaded with him to open his eyes, to speak to her and tell her he still lived; so close was his face to hers that she saw an old but very faint white scar running diagonally across his left eyebrow-and kissed

Presently strong arms took him from her; clinging to somebody-she knew not whom-she followed, moaning broken-heartedly, while eight men, forming a rude litter with four rifles passed under his body, bore Webster to the shade of a tufted palm inside the palace gate.

As they laid Webster down for a moment there Dolores saw a tall. youthful man, of handsome features and noble bearing, approach and look at him. In his eyes there were tears. a sob escaped him as with a little impulsive, affectionate movement he patted John Stuart Webster's cheek. "My friend!" the fainting Dolores heard him murmur. "My great-hearted, whimsical, lovable John Webster. You made it possible for me to meet you here tonight-and this is the meeting !"

CROUSE, Hemford, N. S. an, Ireland, in the year 1826. Coming to Canada thirteen years later, for some time she resided in Newmarket, Ontario. In 1844 she was married to Robert Dougherty. Eight children, two boys and six girls were born to them. Of these, the two sons Robert and William, of Hagersville, and three daughters, Mrs. T. P. Graham of Hagersville, and Mrs. Howden and Mrs. Frank Somers of this place, survive. Her husband pre-deceased her thirty six years.

Much of her life since marriage was spent in the village of Jarvis where her sweet and gentle qualities won many friends and gave her splendid opportunities for service in the Anglican church which remained dear to her heart to the last. Since the death of her husband she made her home with her daugh-ter, Mrs. Howden. They removed ter, from Jarvis twelve years ago, liv-ing for eight years in Watford. There she did her last active work when in 1917, interested in the work of the I.O.D.E. from June to September she knit 24 pairs of socks for the soldier boys.

Since coming to Waterford, four years ago, the infirmities of age kept her closely at home. Those who knew her well will not soon forget her benignity and sweetness and deeply sympathize with those who mourn her passing. The funeral service was held on Thursday afternoon. A short service was conducted at the home by the Rev. F. C. Rickard, assisted by the Rev. H. Wilkins. The usual burial service was held at St. Paul's church and cemteery, Jarvis. Ven. Archdeacon Irvine, rector of the parish, assisted by the Rev. J. H. Ross, of
