

WEDNESDAY MORNING

Lord Rosebery's Glasgow Address

Below is given the concluding portion of the notable address delivered by Lord Rosebery at Glasgow, on Sept. 10, condemning the Asquith budget. The World of Monday and Tuesday contained the previous part of the speech.

There is one great advantage in all this. There is a Scripture text which is not sufficiently observed in this advertising regard. "Let not your right hand know what your left hand doeth." But I venture to say that every man of any state of civility in which such incredible provision is made for the poor, and in which a system of espionage beside which that of the late Sultan of Turkey would pale in order to have any effort at complete-ness which the government seeks. Of course the idea is to prevent the trans-fer of property which may escape the death duties. The taxation they know is being not merely of escape, but that was not the original idea. The original idea, till a short time ago, was to prevent any one from disposing of his property. The original date was three years ago, Sir William Harcourt in 1886 fixed it at a year, and now it is distorted and totally different from that for which it was intended.

Flow of Charity Stopped.
Of course, if you wish to prevent charity, if you wish to prevent pensions which the government have exhorted us to give by their example, if you wish to prevent the commonest duties of humanity, this restriction is laudable. I would only remind you that the virtue which you wish to prevent was that that St. Paul reckoned the greatest of all—the virtue of charity. I never expected to see a Liberal government bring in such a provision as this, by which you will prevent, I say, a father giving an estate to his son at the moment when he is of an age to enjoy it and is himself getting old. Now, against the present character of the bill, I must again bring in a more illustrious predecessor. Mr. Gladstone always said, always enjoyed, this practice of the father giving an estate to his son in the highest degree laudable and necessary. He said that every man who got to the age of 50 should be prepared to hand over to his son some considerable part of his property, so that the son might not have to wait for old age itself to enjoy and administer it. Mr. Gladstone himself practised this—he himself handed over his estate to his son in his lifetime, and fortunately survived it by more than five years.

But it would have astonished him to hear that what he was saying now to know that what he had done was so criminal as to be under the special veto of his old colleagues and successors in office. Now, when I think of all this iniquity, I think of the excuse that is given by the fact that it is a more ill-considered predecessor. Mr. Gladstone always said, always enjoyed, this practice of the father giving an estate to his son in the highest degree laudable and necessary. He said that every man who got to the age of 50 should be prepared to hand over to his son some considerable part of his property, so that the son might not have to wait for old age itself to enjoy and administer it. Mr. Gladstone himself practised this—he himself handed over his estate to his son in his lifetime, and fortunately survived it by more than five years.

A New Inquisition.
But, gentlemen, I do not know till Monday that the inquisition is not to stop even at this point. The question is not merely, "How much have you got?" but "How did you get it?" That is a new question, we are told, which has been introduced, and which is repeated throughout the land. This is a new inquisition, I say, in its character of our nation is changed, and that our ignorant impatience of taxation has been supplanted by something much more like an abject patience of taxation.

Old Liberal Watchwords.
I want to say this, that this Liberal aspect of the budget naturally, in Society.

Mrs. Mathison and the Misses Mathison, 33 Albany-avenue, have returned to the summer. Mrs. Mathison, who spent the summer at Belleville, where they spent the summer.

Mr. Walter McKee and Mrs. McKee have returned from a six weeks' tour of the Pacific coast.

Miss DeWitt of Stratford is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Burke, Sussex-avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollman Evans leave for England at the end of the month, and will spend the winter abroad.

Mrs. Lorne Coutlee has returned to Ottawa after a visit to her sister, Mrs. Miles.

He purposes disposing of his large property at Pape and Balm-avenues before returning to his present home in Redlands, California.

One of the most attractive photographic displays seen in the show window of any studio in the city in many a day is that of one of Toronto's best known photographic artists in King-street West, an exceptional collection of portraits in a score or more of styles and twice as many poses. If you know Toronto folk at all you will readily recognize many of them. One very excellent portrait photograph is that of Sir William Mulock and there are shown a number of other notables in professional and business circles which makes this window display just a little more than ordinarily interesting.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.
Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 65, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her this way if your children trouble you in this way. Do not blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

One Boy Loses Arm, One a Hand.
SARNIA, Sept. 21.—Thomas, the 9-year-old son of Conductor Thos. Finan, who runs thru the St. Clair Tunnel, had his left arm cut off near the shoulder. The lad was running on the top of a freight car. A few weeks ago an older brother was so badly burned by getting in contact with some of the electrical equipment at the tunnel that one of his hands had to be amputated at the wrist.

Vegara Oratorio Society.
The inaugural meeting of the Vegara Opera and Oratorio Society will be held this evening in the Guild Hall, McGill-street, and all capable singers who are desirous of taking part in Der Freischutz, Faust, and Handel's dramatic oratorio "Samson" should be on hand to register their names. During the evening a short recital will be given by some of Signor Vegara's dramatic pupils, among whom will be the new tenor, Agostino Caruso.

Six Prisoners Escape.
Owing to the unsafe conditions of the jail at Black River, six prisoners have made good their escape lately. Three took French leave a week ago, and three more followed their example two days ago.

EVANS NOT GUILTY

Mining Transaction Not for Criminal Court, Says Judge.

Frank S. Evans of the firm of Evans & Co., mining brokers, was acquitted in the sessions yesterday on a charge of fraud, preferred by Patriarche & Co. The trouble arose out of a deal in mining stock. Patriarche & Co. ordered 5000 shares of Peterson Lake stock, and the next day, it is alleged, ordered the stock resold. In the interval it had dropped $700 in value, and this loss Evans & Co. carried until Patriarche & Co. turned in a cheque for $558 to be applied on the purchase of other stocks. The money was placed to the credit of Patriarche's account. When a request for the return of the money was refused, proceedings were started against Evans on a charge of fraud.

In giving judgment, Judge Winchester said the case showed he never been entered in the criminal court.

Wm. King pleaded guilty in the same court to stealing a quantity of silver from the Naamth Company, while employed as a dishwasher, and was remanded for sentence.

Guiltily of Assault.

John Boncock was found guilty of an indecent assault on a three-year-old girl, and was remanded for sentence.

STRATHCONA AND THE I.C.R.

Venerable Commissioner Pleased by the People's Road.

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Lord Strathcona had a fast run over the Intercolonial Railway on Monday while on his way from Montreal to Halifax, to pay a brief visit to Lt.-Gov. Fraser, in a special train from St. John to Moncton. The distance, 89 miles, was covered in one hour and forty-seven minutes. The high commissioner spent only a few hours in Halifax, leaving in the afternoon and enjoying the sensation of another fast run from the Nova Scotia capital to St. John. The special on this trip covered the distance, 276 miles, in six hours and fifteen minutes.

Passing thru Moncton Lord Strathcona expressed his pleasure with the evidences of prosperity along the line of railway in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia and declared himself particularly pleased with the I. C. R., which he described as a great railway. Years ago, he said, he looked upon it as a one-horse affair, but had changed his opinion now after sampling its excellence.

The Toronto World

A Morning Newspaper Published Every Day in the Year.

WELL DONE, MONTREAL.

Montreal is to be congratulated on the efforts of its citizens, irrespective of race or creed, to reorganize their municipal government and to adopt in a measure the system that obtains in Toronto, with a smaller number of aldermen and paid controllers.

The people of Toronto may in a way feel flattered that Montreal is desirous of copying any good thing they may use, but if this is to be the rule, it is incumbent upon us not only to make good and be an example to our fellow-countrymen all over the Dominion, but also we must keep up the line of progress and extend it in all directions.

For instance, if we make good in public ownership in Toronto, as we hope we will, and in public ownership in Ontario in the distribution of power and the working of the government-owned road in the north, we will do a lot, not only for ourselves, but for our sister provinces and generally for the cause of progress.

No city could have a more glorious mission than to bear aloft the torch. Under the circumstances we, therefore, hope that Mayor Oliver and the controllers joined with him will constantly keep before their mind their responsibility and the glorious task that appears to have fallen to their hands to do.

And the final thought that comes to us is that in all probability the desire of Montreal to follow in the footsteps of Toronto has been caused by a constant perusal of the editorial columns of The Evening Telegram, published in this city.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON.

By the death of John A. Johnson, Governor of the State of Minnesota, the Democratic party of the United States loses the man who, next to William Jennings Bryan, was its most outstanding personality. What is even more to be lamented is the fact that the Republic itself loses a citizen of the finest type of American democracy in its wider meaning. Sprung from the ranks, his spirit and temper, his courage and self-reliance, his devotion to the public interest, and his high ideal of public service came nearest these days to the standard set by the men whose names are bright and shining lights in the country's history. In his brave struggle with the last and greatest enemy, he revealed again the same simple heroism so conspicuous in his life.

Such men as Governor Johnson are the salt of a nation. There is no need to despair of the United States when its people have the capacity to recognize sterling quality, and can, without respect to party affiliations, set him in the highest office of the state. What the citizens of Minnesota had the wit to perceive and to secure in the first place for themselves, only required the occasion to ensure a wider appeal. That Governor Johnson stood well within measurable distance of receiving the next presidential nomination from the party with whom he was particularly associated, is unquestioned, and his untimely demise radically alters the political situation. But his memory will long remain an inspiration to his fellow countrymen.

THE TOOTHsome REPORTER.

We have been looking for an adjective descriptive of the newspaper reporter who does so much for the nerves of the newspaper reader of these days and we have hit on the good old Saxon word "toothsome" until we can find a better. The toothsome reporter was doing stunts yesterday, and has been for some days, in regard to the Peary-Cook affair. He has not only introduced Captain Cook and Commander Peary in a mighty hand-to-hand fight for the possession of that most intangible thing called the pole, but he has also worked in the wives and bosome and children of these two bosome antagonists. Mrs. Peary and Mrs. Cook are in telegraphic touch (both by wire and wireless) as to the dolags of one another and they act accordingly, and while they do not hurl epithets at one another, they manage to appear regularly in the line light that the toothsome reporter creates and they fit across the stage with declarations of confidence in their respective husbands; the respective children of these two daring and blubber-eating men are presented, one brood waiting patiently for its fond paternal fount at New York, the other at Sydney. The highest stunt of the toothsome reporter appears, however, in yesterday's dispatches which paint Peary as so un-nerved at the prospect of meeting his wife and progeny as the home-returning Roosevelt approached the welcoming steamer from Sydney, that he could not trust himself to appear on the rails of his vessel, but with his act of family hugging for the secret recesses of the private cabin of the ship! Later on the toothsome reporter may reveal how even this great incident of home-coming was effected. For even Homer has told us how Ulysses met his dear son Telemachus in the swine-herd's hut under somewhat similar circumstances.

Conlagas Mines Appeal

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board will hear the appeal of Conlagas Mines, Limited, on October 5, against the assessment of the Town of Cobalt. The assessment was confirmed by the court of revision.

The board returned from Halleybury yesterday, where it has been inspecting the ground upon which the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway proposes to make an extension. The citizens of the town object to the proposed route. The board reserved judgment until the engineer's report.

Bodies Not Recovered

The bodies of Joseph and Hunter Gilting, who were drowned in the bay on Sunday afternoon, have not been recovered, though dragging operations were kept up all day yesterday. An erroneous report that the bodies had been recovered led to Undertaker B. D. Humphrey, who is to conduct the funeral when the bodies are found, being overwhelmed with enquiries from friends and relatives.

Willinsky v. Anderson.—J. F. Heilmuth K.C., for plaintiff, for plaintiffs, appellants. H. H. Dewar, K.C., for defendants. Judgment. This was an appeal by plaintiffs from judgment of non-suit by Falconbridge, C.J. The action was for maliciously and wrongfully causing a search warrant to be issued and the premises and property of the plaintiffs to be searched and plaintiffs' goods to be seized and taken away.

In granting the non-suit the C.J. was of opinion that the plaintiffs had failed to establish want of reasonable and probable cause with reference both to the search warrant and to the proceedings before the police magistrate and at the sessions. As to all the proceedings other than the search warrant, he was of the opinion that the defendants were not responsible, because they were instituted solely by the court authorities and not by the defendants. We agree with the trial judge so far as respects the claims for malicious prosecution, that the action was properly dismissed, but are unable to agree with him that the plaintiffs claim for damages by reason of the search warrant should have been dismissed. In view of the contradictory character of the evidence we think it should have been left to the jury so far as respects the search warrant to decide whether the defendants did lay all the facts of their case fairly before counsel, and whether they acted bona fide upon the advice given. The result is, we dismiss the appeal as far as respects the claims of both plaintiffs for damages for malicious prosecution and

The accompanying cut shows the location of the Waldman ninety-two acres, which are marked in a block, in relation to the other rich properties in the Cobalt Camp. It is noteworthy that the Waldman is in a direct line south with the Nipissing, Trethewey, Buffalo, McKinley-Darragh & Coniagas and also in a direct line with the celebrated Lawson, Kerr Lake and Crown Reserve on the west. The trend of the veins discovered on the Waldman properties runs in a direction towards the latter mines, and theorists in the Cobalt camp argue that the Waldman veins are simply an extension of the rich veins on the above mentioned claims and which concentrate in the rich area which is covered by the Waldman property.

USUAL IRREGULARITY ON RISING MARKET.

World Office.
Wednesday Evening, Sept. 21.

The usual irregularity on a rising market was experienced to some extent to-day. Profit-taking was indulged in by those long of some stocks and professionals put out a few short lines. Under this pressure the market was influenced only fractionally and no nervousness was felt. Insiders are undoubtedly taking advantage of the increase in outside buying to float out securities as the opportunity occurs, but the market is not yet sufficiently broad to admit of much of this unloading.

Wall Street Closes Firm With New Records for Steel and Pennsylvania—Professionals Are Bearish on Domestics.

World Office.
Tuesday Evening, Sept. 21.

Despite the bearish opposition of many professionals, securities at the Toronto Exchange continue to display a definite amount of buoyancy. The only force on sentiment to-day was a reactionary period on Wall-street. This was immediately seized upon as a reason for selling domestic stocks.

While there was some realizing of a good portion of the sales came from those who think they will have a chance to buy at a lower price. Public buying was not a large factor and much of the selling was taken by insiders who, without being demonstrative, evidently favor increased quotations.

Manipulation is going on freely in the foreign securities. Sao Paulo was firm, Rio easier and Mexican Light and Power apparently weak.

With the public so limited in its speculative dealings, there is no incentive for the pools to put prices up enough against shorts. The rise in Mackay common has left many short of these shares at a lower level, and this is providing a substance for this rise.

Some selling of investment shares to-day may be accounted for by the desire of holders to get into issues which have freer movements.

Wall Street Pointers.
So far annual report shows balance after preferred dividend equal to 11.55 per cent. on common stock.

Copper prices firmer, but no large transactions reported.

Joseph says: Going buying of Pennsylvania goes consistently on. Buy Wabashes at the market. Get long of Northern Pacific. Great promises will be very quickly redeemed. All of the low-priced and cheap dividend payers, Ontario and Western is it.

It was officially stated after the meeting of the directors of the Am. Agr. Chemical to-day that full and honest discussion was given to the question of declaring an initial dividend on the common stock, but it was finally decided to postpone action until next quarterly meeting in December.

U. S. Rubber Co. has made an advance of 5 per cent. in its prices to jobbers on rubber footwear. This advance took effect on Monday and was made by reducing the customary initial discount of 25 to 20 per cent. The advance in prices was made because of the continuous high price of crude rubber.

Bull reports are strong on Smelting now, with reports of a drive at the shorts. Several houses seem to expect Louisville to do better. Good buying of B. R. T. is noted. St. Paul ought to be bought for a turn on this reaction of the market.

Profit-taking may involve reactions in some leading stocks, but the general market observes a strongly rising tendency and we still believe in buying stocks on soft places. Cotton conditions attract attention, but will hardly be allowed to interfere with the stock market plans of the more important interests, the pools in some of the western stocks may find their position difficult.—Town Topics.

Municipal Debentures.
The District of Peachland, B.C., has just confirmed the sale to Messrs. Wood, Gundy & Co. of $250,000 debentures, bearing 5 per cent. interest, payable half yearly and maturing Sept. 1, 1923. This issue constitutes the entire debt of the municipality, the proceeds being required for waterworks, electric light, road improvements and fire protection.

On Wall Street.
Erickson Perkins & Co. (Beatty & Glasco) wire: After heavy liquidation in stocks, which carried prices down sharply, there was a rally in the afternoon, resulting from supporting orders in U. S. Steel, Pennsylvania and other leading issues, and the market ended fairly steady, the 2 per cent. issues showed losses for the day. Such bidding up is familiar to all close observers and does after the facts of the case. We think stocks will work a good deal lower, by degrees, and we would let go of long holdings, as prominent interests find it necessary to lend support at times.

We expect an irregular market all the week and for some days to come. Ignore the strong spots. It was just a year ago that we had the so-called Bryan scare, with a resulting collapse in stocks.

Finley, Barrell & Co. wired J. P. Bickell: Disappointment because Jersey Central directors declared only the regular dividend caused a sharp break in the stock market early this afternoon. The mysterious feature of it was that Lehigh Valley broke 8 points, although it was not to receive anything from Jersey Central. This reaction is exactly what we forecasted a few days ago and far from causing alarm it should be taken advantage of to buy stocks, for it is only a natural movement.

Charles Head & Co. to R. R. Bondard: The market experienced a sharp reaction to-day, with such declines as four points in Reading, showing that the bears are still a factor to be reckoned with, tho the issue in question had been advanced altogether too fast. The failure of the Jersey Central directors to increase the dividend rate as expected was the direct cause of the slump. The market improved during the afternoon, following the shakeout, and closed firm under the lead of Steel.

We would advise purchases on such reactions for speculative turns and sales on bulges.

R. B. Lyman & Co. wired R. B. Holden: The bulls have increased dividend arguments in a number of securities, and as leading interests, who have been so influential in advancing stock market prices, are all arrayed on the bull side, we feel that no mistake will be made in taking advantage of the even slight dips to buy good stocks. We expect to see a strong market during the balance of the week.

NORTH TORONTO

NORTH TORONTO, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Resolved that the clerk be instructed to invite T. A. Murray, C.E., for an interview with the council to further discuss the sewerage question, as already reported by him, and that the appointment be made as early as possible, and that a special meeting of council be called for this purpose.

This was the resolution, in brief, which was introduced by Councillors Burnaby and Irwin to-night, and was by the casting vote of the mayor put thru.

His worship in the outset demurred, but Councillors Burnaby, Howe and Irwin were insistent that the engineer be recalled to clear up the charges levelled against the sewerage bylaw, and later recorded his vote with the majority, Councillors Murphy and Grice alone dissenting.

The mayor assented, in brief, which was introduced by Councillors Burnaby and Irwin to-night, and was by the casting vote of the mayor put thru.

A big gist of business was put thru, more or less important, and dealing largely with local improvements.

WEST TORONTO, Sept. 21.—While lifting some heavy timber this morning in the C. P. R. shops where he is employed as a blacksmith, Andrew Savage, 44 Medland-street, slipped into a hole in the floor and broke his leg.

He was taken home in a private ambulance and attended to by Drs. Hopkins and Clendenen.

Thomas Atkinson, one of Mr. Adair's teamsters, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning. He was driving a horse-drawn wagon when it was thrown off the track and rolled down the steep incline the heavily loaded wagon tipped over and turned a complete somersault.

Atkinson was thrown off the seat and rolled down the bottom of the incline, miraculously escaping from being buried under the heavy load of earth.

Except for a severe fright, Atkinson suffered no ill-effects from the accident.

John William Watts, of 236 Pacific-avenue, died last night of typhoid fever. He was 26 years old, and is survived by his young widow to whom he was married only two months ago.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2 p.m. to Prospect Cemetery.

EAST TORONTO, Sept. 21.—Those who predicted that the removal of the railroad shops from East Toronto would kill the town, are watching with much interest to see if such would be the case. However, no definite line can be had on the progress or backward movement of the town as this men who have to work at Mimico are still living in East Toronto, and going out to their work, and if the G. T. R. run a stub line to East Toronto, they will still continue to live there.

Miss Irene and Master Gerald Halsey, who have been visiting with their Aunt Maxwell, of Oakwood, Ont., returned home today after a very pleasant two weeks' vacation.

Chas. Sutton of New York who has been visiting for some time at the home of his brother, left to-day for his home in the States.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrington, who have been spending a few weeks at Barrie, Ont., returned home to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henley, who have for some time lived at Brooklyn, N.Y., have taken a house on the Danforth-avenue, where they intend to live for some time.

Martin Boles returned to-day from Buffalo, where he spent the better part of a two weeks' vacation.

Alfred Beaton left to-day to accept a position with the Hurdley Morris firm of North Bay.

DOVER COURT

Rally day services next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Davenport-road Church (Presbyterian) promise to be exceptionally interesting.

A special program has been prepared for the use of the church in Canada. Controller Hocken will speak and Douglas Stanbury, the famous boy singer, will sing. An audience well on to one thousand is expected.

BOND LAKE

BOND LAKE, Sept. 21.—(Special.)—Indications all point to a big day here to-morrow, when the citizens of Aurora will center to Herbert E. Peary, head of the big manufacturing firm, some public recognition of his worth as a business man and private citizen.

The Peary works have been primarily responsible in no small degree for the forward march of the village and irrespective of political considerations or anything of a similar nature, the townspeople will do him honor.

The 12th York Rangers will provide music, and there will be sports of every conceivable kind.

T. Herbert Lennor, M. L. A., is chairman of the committee and Charles Webster, secretary. The sports will begin at 10 o'clock.

PRICES MAY GO UP

In view of the rumor that the milk producers were thinking of raising the price of milk to the retailers next month, the Milk Dealers' Branch of the retail merchants' association, at a meeting yesterday, on account of the lack of facts as to the real condition of the milk business, it was decided to meet again in two weeks, the meantime conditions will be carefully studied, preparatory to possibly raising the price to the consumer.

Here the war has been again experienced, but it is not yet known if the winter months will see a serious shortage.

After a careful study of the prospects, the prices may be increased.

The same rule, if it be exact, applies to the United States. But there and here it seems the reckless rate of devastation realized the value of the growing tree. We have not yet fully realized that value. Badly, the building trade, furniture factories, everybody, employs to-day a class of lumber that a few years since was considered useless. This is the beginning of the lesson of necessity. You will text see that poplar, tamarac, hemlock, jack pine are valuable woods, and I do not mean in the comparative sense with the magnificent growth of oak, walnut, white pine that nothing will again restore. Perhaps it would not be too much to add that the big Douglas fir of British Columbia, passing among the illustrious species of the west, the waste has been considerable when this is considered apart, and the waste has not yet been checked.

"Do you suppose then, that the inferior lumber now brought into use can continue to be employed in all the directions which the products of the virgin forest found?"

"It must. Make every allowance for constructional steel, iron, asphaltum, cement and such materials, and still the quantity of lumber needed on this continent and for export will increase rather than diminish. The economic value of the tree, however, will never be understood until the scientific preservation of the cut product keeps abreast of the increased care that will be given to the growing forest. It has not been so in America up to the present. In Europe for more than a generation they have been treating railway ties with oils and chemicals. Here the wood has been used, or partially dried. The expense alone was in question. We will find, I think, that all external treatment of woods by these substances is unscientific. The vulcanizing process to which green timber is now beginning to be treated, and the use of the aqueous components of the sap, while the denser fluids, albumen and pitch, are retained in the pores of the wood. If you are interested in the principle, it means that the organic materials are utilized for the preservation of the fibre; the high heat attained in the vulcanization process produces its carbonization, which carbonizing the wood, which then inhibits the attack of pathogenic fungi and bacteria. I have been studying this matter to which attention is being directed by the United States government. Its economic importance is of vast concern to Canadian governments, and industrial interest in it means the certain realization of great profit from what have been classed as your inferior woods."

"You don't consider the government action as being late in the day then?"

"As to that Canadians need not fear any overweeningness even from the continued ravages of fire, storm, insect attacks, and cutting. I have read the statement somewhere that you may have no forest in another generation. That is nonsense. From your geographical position and the character of the country, no matter how rapidly settlement proceeds, you will possess for all time, one of the world's great reserves of lumber, the virgin forest may disappear. What you may expect valuable results from it. I have some idea of the waste in Canada, as many of my holidays are spent in the Canadian backwoods."
