ring Commission Cool Toward Dempsey-Carpentier Match—Heydler to Help Judge Landis—Late News of Sport.

ew York, Nov. 30.—In the event that suitable place can be found in the United States to hold the heavyweight boxing championship, between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier, the contest may be held in England, as it was reported in generally well informed circles here today.

After Tex Rickard, one of the trio of promoters, nor Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, would admit that negotiations had been started to hold the fight abroad, but Kearns said Dempsey formerly expressed antipathy to a fight outside the United States had been a proposition to shift the fight and it was said to have been promptly refused by Dempsey.

It is admitted that Charles B. Cochrane, English promoter in tentatively negotiating a suitable site near London in case it is to hold in the United States not consummated.

Jack Dempsey is acting as sporting agent to Jack Sharkey, local champion, in preparation for the latter's fight here on Thursday with Joe Egan. Dempsey has also commenced workouts for his bout with Bill Ryan here on December 14.

President of the National Boxing Association in every way possible the efforts were made to clear the game of dishonest promoters, so he announced today.

Heydler said the names of many men had been suggested with gossip that the scandal of the fight would be uncovered. He has a list of the names, many of them well known, and he said he would intend to present them, he added, well as certain investigations I have soon as he assumes his new office. I am sure the American League and all minor leagues will pursue a like course, at least, I think they will.

Heydler mentioned the controversy between Ruben Benton, of the Cubs, the former champion of the world, and Charlie Herzog, of the Athletics. There was no way of arriving at the truth in this case, said Heydler, as it was one man's word against another. "One must be telling the truth," he added, "and that one should no further part in the game."

Nov. 30.—Boy McCornick, brother of the Lord Lonsdale, belt, in and, and Jim Flynn, former champion for the world's heavyweight title, are to meet in a four round bout at an American legion box show tonight. McCornick announced last night that he had been scheduled to meet Battling Levinsky at London some time next month.

Nov. 30.—Wm. Plant, U. S. even male walking champion, will defend his title in the annual pecked championship at West at Yonkers December 5. Business care, he said, had prevented sufficient training for the event, and he decided to let it go by fault.

Nov. 30.—Miss Margaret Goodbridge, star woman swimmer, has accepted her plans to tour the antipodes with Miss Elizabeth Biebert, the Australian union having declined to finance a trip. Miss Biebert may also cancel owing to the attitude of the Central A. U., who discourage the idea because it would take her out of the country while the national championships are held.

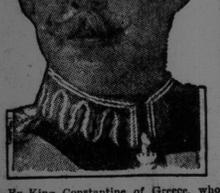

ADD BIG RING Nov. 30.—Frankie Schoell Buffalo, and Ray Fryel of Pittsburgh, will box ten rounds here on Saturday at 10 p. m. at Motor Square Garden. Fryel is a lightweight.

Ben on Boxer. Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 30.—The Toledo commission today took further steps to limit the activities of Chuck Egan, an Indianapolis lightweight, by asking Commissioner Biggie Michigan to bar Wiggin from participating in bouts in that state. Wiggin was first barred here when he failed to post a $2000 bond for his scheduled bout with Tommy Gibbons on October 6. The commission gave him six o'clock last Saturday night to get the money and voted to bar him if he failed.

STRIKERS GIVEN PRISON TERMS New York, Nov. 30.—Sentences ranging from eight to twenty years were imposed yesterday on five Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company strikers who pleaded guilty to charges of manslaughter in the first degree in connection with the death of Ferdinand Friedman, when a subway train on which he was a passenger was stoned on Aug. 31.

Grave Heart Trouble Renewed and She Was Much Worse This Morning.

Amsterdam, Nov. 30.—Augusta Victoria, former German empress, who has been suffering from a grave heart attack for some time, was much worse this morning. She had a high fever and was only semi-conscious.

BOTH MITCHELLS ARE ARRESTED

Peter and Frank Taken at Burnt Church

Coroner's Jury Says John Dedam Killed by Knife in the Hands of Peter Mitchell.

(Special to The Times.) Newcastle, N. B., Nov. 30.—Peter and Frank Mitchell, brothers, were arrested last night at Burnt Church Indian reservation in connection with the death of John M. Dedam, former Indian police officer, and were brought here this morning and placed in the Newcastle jail. Court proceedings have not yet been begun.

An inquest was held last night at Burnt Church. It was presided over by Dr. F. W. Desmondeau, and the jury brought in a verdict that death was caused by the stab of a knife in the hands of Peter Mitchell. It was said that there had been drinking and quarrelling during the afternoon. The stab took place at the Burnt Church bridge.

ELEVEN BOTTLES ON DOORSTEP Fred. Zaywart Says Never Saw It Before, in Police Court Liquor Case.

Fred Zaywart, 231 Brussels street, was in the police court this morning charged with having liquor in his possession other than in his private dwelling. He pleaded not guilty. Inspectors Journey and Hopkins told of going to the residence and entering through a store connected by a door into the hall, from where they went up stairs through the kitchen to the woodshed and on the doorstep at the rear they found a case containing eleven bottles of whiskey; also in the woodshed a bottle containing gin and in the kitchen an empty gin bottle.

The accused denied knowledge of any liquor being in the house and when his attention was drawn to the case produced in court he said he never saw it until this morning. He said he got some liquor last winter for medicine and his own use only. When asked how the case of liquor came to be on his doorstep the magistrate said, "yes, tell me about that. I want to know who is going around leaving liquor on back doorsteps," but the man said he did not know anything about it.

The case was postponed until Thursday at noon and the accused was allowed to go on putting up a deposit of $200 for his appearance. W. M. Ryan appeared for the prosecution and K. A. Wilson for the defence.

Albert Williams, charged with having liquor in his possession in his place of business, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 or six months in jail.

REV. MR. WILSON'S SON ILL; FATHER KEPT TO HOUSE

Diphtheria Case, But Crisis Passed—An Odd Liquor Case From Campobello.

(Special to Times.) Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 30.—Rev. W. D. Wilson will complete his term as chief inspector under the prohibition set tonight. His last day as chief inspector was spent at home and not at his office on account of a quarantine imposed last night by the Fredericton Board of Health on account of a case of diphtheria. The patient is Bently Wilson, youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Wilson. It is believed that the crisis of the disease is passed but until his son is on the way to recovery Rev. Mr. Wilson has cancelled all his engagements.

The annual meeting of the Alliance on Wednesday past and the illness in his home has changed his plans. The annual meeting of the Alliance is to be held in St. John this week but it is doubtful if he will be able to attend although his presence was expected and desired. He also was expected to go to Winnipeg to attend a meeting of the Dominion Committee executive of the alliance beginning December 2. It is not known who will be substituted in the event of Mr. Wilson not going. In former years Donald Fraser, Rev. Thomas Macdonald, W. G. Clark, S. B. Bastin, all had been delegates.

One of the last official acts of the retiring chief inspector has been the signing of one of his subordinates to special duty at Wilson's Beach, Campobello. Early on Sunday morning he received a message from the liquor house keeper at that place that a schooner had been wrecked and that liquor was coming ashore. The first report was that the vessel had a cargo of liquor but it was later learned that the liquor was the property of persons aboard her. The inspector took charge of the salvaged liquor.

GREEK AFFAIRS

London, Nov. 30.—Lloyd George informed the house of commons yesterday that it would be impossible to make any statement on Greek affairs while they were under discussion by the Allies.

The Italian foreign minister, Count Sforza, had a conference with Earl Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, yesterday afternoon, and there were other conversations among the allied ministers still in London, but all these discussions, pending the return of M. Leygues, the French premier, were purely informal.

A favorable view of the negotiations, especially as there is a report pending the return of M. Leygues, the French premier, were purely informal. A favorable view of the negotiations, especially as there is a report pending the return of M. Leygues, the French premier, were purely informal.

BIG REFUND TO U. S. MEAT MEN

London, Nov. 30.—Supplementary estimates totalling about $260,000 pounds are to be presented to the house of commons on Wednesday. They will include agreement with United States meat packers by which Great Britain obtained control of their trade during the war. The amount represents money withheld from the packers as a guarantee that they would carry out their contract, plus five per cent interest.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Horrebeam, "gather up your papers which I see in the papers that a number of hens have begun to lay goose-eggs on."

"I'll bet the gender's union'll hev something to say about that," said Hiram.

"It is an extraordinary thing to do," said the reporter. "I rather suspect it may hasten the adoption of the plan of selling eggs by the pound."

"That wouldn't surprise me," said Hiram. "When you get a dealer that sells 'em by the dozen, and a customer that comes along and 'picks out all the big ones, the next feller that comes is likely to think he's found a pigeon's nest."

"I really feel," said the reporter, "that we should applaud the man that produces the large egg."

"Yes, dey," said Hiram. "It's increased production—an' that's what we're all yellin' for last now. I s'pose you heard that story about Ike Hanson's pudlet?"

"I don't think I have," said the reporter.

"Well," said Hiram, "he says one of his pudlets laid an egg so big they thought they'd hatch it out, so they got a goose to set on it an' it hatched out a turkey."

"He did," said Hiram. "You winged him, of course?"

"Well," said Hiram, "we didn't none of us call him a bird, but when he crawled out of the pond I guess he thought he was a duck—yes sir."

GIVE HYDRO EVERY SUPPORT

In view of the strong criticism of the Drury government on hydro matters, a statement by Hon. Mr. Riggs at Belleville, that his government would develop the last ounce of energy procurable in Ontario, is very important. He added that they would stand firmly behind the hydro.

TO HELP HORSE

A horse, owned by Taylor & White, and driven by William Andrews, got caught in a manhole in Main street about 11.30 this morning, and as it was feared its leg would be broken an alarm was rung in from box 14, in order to get assistance from the members of the department. When the fire apparatus was approaching, a man who was sitting on the horse's head got up and as soon as the animal was able to move it rolled over and extracted its leg without any assistance. The driver was thrown from his seat when the horse fell, but was not injured.

CRUCIAL WEEK FOR ASSEMBLY OF NATIONS' LEAGUE

Big Questions Which Require Unanimous Vote of Delegates in Geneva.

Geneva, Nov. 30.—Many delegates to the assembly of the League of Nations regard the coming week as the most crucial in the history of the organization. Questions decided in committee by majority vote must be settled in the assembly by a unanimous vote. The only exception is in the case of the election of new members, and amendments.

If the assembly agrees without dissenting vote on the difficult problems to be placed before it during the next few days, it will, in the estimation of prominent members, have passed a most dangerous point.

The council of the league was engaged yesterday with the question of the mandates, and could not proceed to the election of a successor to Sir Reginald Dwyer as high commissioner for Danzig. A resolution passed by the sub-committee on blockades yesterday proposed that an international commission on blockades be appointed by the council, the body to report to the assembly the measures it would put into effect against an aggressor nation.

Delegates De Leon, of Spain, and Aguerro, of Cuba, have agreed to withdraw for the time being their proposal for the inclusion of Spanish among the official languages of the assembly.

The committee on the admission of new members of the assembly of the League of Nations finally agreed yesterday that it is impossible to admit now the new states carved out of old Russian territory. The terms of the committee is that these states will be admitted as a result of a Russian confederation, entirely changing their present status. The committee will recommend, however, that while these states are not admitted to full membership, their delegates shall be allowed to sit in the assembly in a consulting capacity without the right to vote.

LARGEST EVER BUILT ON MERSEY

New Cunarder Samaria Successfully Launched on Nov. 27.

Cable advice has just been received by The Robert Redford Co. Ltd., announcing the successful launching, on November 27 of the new Cunarder "Samaria" from the yards of Cammell Laird and Company, Limited, at Birkenhead across the river Mersey from Liverpool. England. She is the largest vessel ever built on the Mersey.

The "Samaria" is the fourth of the great postwar fleet of Cunarders to take the water, having been preceded by the "Scythia," "Albania" and "Tyrrhenia." Like those vessels and the remaining nine yet to be launched the "Samaria" is an oil-burner with a single funnel. Her dimensions are the same as the "Scythia." Her gross tonnage is 21,000 and she has accommodations for approximately 2000 passengers to be divided among 886 first-class, 840 second-class and the remainder third-class. The passenger accommodations are among the most modern lines and the vessel is equipped with complete wireless installation gyroscopic compass and submarine signalling outfit.

It has not yet been decided whether the "Samaria" and the "Tyrrhenia," which will be on the New York run will call at Halifax. Both the "Scythia" and "Albania," however, will call there on their westbound trips.

CITY HALL AND OTHER BUILDINGS IN CORK AFIRE

Belfast, Nov. 30.—The city hall at Cork was set on fire this morning, and reports from that city state the Thomas Ashe Sinn Fein club and the Charlotte Quay are ablaze. It is said much damage has been done.

Bantry, Ireland, Nov. 30.—The military after an exciting pursuit yesterday arrested four men who are said to be of high rank in the Irish republican army.

Macroom, Nov. 29.—Two motor lorries loaded with recruits in training for the "Black and Tan" auxiliary police, were ambushed by about 100 men near Kilmichael and fifteen of them killed. Reprisals were immediately begun and the inhabitants fled in terror from their homes. Shops were closed and business suspended.

Taking Precautions. London, Nov. 30.—Other big centres of population besides London and Liverpool are preparing for defense against possible Sinn Fein attacks.

Special police squads have been posted on municipal and other buildings in Glasgow, while the docks and quays of the Clyde are being strongly guarded. It is said that for a long time the authorities have had knowledge that a large group of Sinn Feiners resided in Glasgow and its neighborhood. Extra police have been provided for the Southampton docks in order to protect the property and shipping.

The insurance business against riot and civil commotion yesterday was the greatest in London for a long time. A large proportion of the business from Lancashire cotton district, owing to the contention by some of the fire insurance companies that the fires in Liverpool were not covered by ordinary fire policies, and that such incendiarian fires must be specially insured again.

London, Nov. 30.—Public buildings in London and in many of the other larger cities of England were closely guarded against apprehended Sinn Fein attacks by heavy detachments of police and detectives last night.

In this city the patrol was not limited to the streets, but armed motor boats moved up and down the Thames in front of parliament buildings.

With Downing street and its immediate neighborhood shut off from the city by a high fence which was made under the eyes of uniformed men and with the parliament buildings sentinel, government sections of London today assumed the atmosphere of an armed camp.

Masked men entered and set fire to the building housing the Dublin Freeman's Journal in Dublin last night. A considerable damage was done to the building. Scores of new arrests have been made in various districts of Ireland.

New York, Nov. 30.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. Terence MacSwiney, wife of the late lord mayor of Cork, is expected to arrive here Friday on the Celtic. She will stay with Mr. Viliard, wife of the organizer of the "Commission of Inquiry on Ireland."

The commission pays the expenses of all witnesses brought overseas. Ennis, County Clare, Ireland, Nov. 30.—A military contingent yesterday raided the Clare Lunatic Asylum, near Ennis. It is asserted that one inmate, who refused to obey an order to halt, was shot dead.

In Italy. Rome, Nov. 30.—Inquiry into the Irish situation is favored by many Catholic members of the Italian parliament, who declare there is a basis for demanding such an inquiry. Assertions are made that the situation in Ireland is quite similar to those in the Congo region of Africa, the Putumayo district of South America, Bulgaria and Armenia, which in the past were investigated. It is reported that Sir Roger Casement, who was executed for high treason in London during the war, conducted on behalf of England, the inquiry into the conditions prevailing in the Putumayo region.

GERMANS CUT INTO OUR TRADE IN MOTHERLAND

Begin to Supply Lines Which England Has Been Getting From Canada.

Ottawa, Nov. 30.—(Canadian Press)—That German manufacturers are already beginning to supply the people of Great Britain with many lines of manufactured goods with which Canada has been supplying the mother country since the armistice is a statement made in a report received by the department of trade and commerce from Harrison Watson, Canadian trade commissioner, with headquarters in London.

NEW MONTREAL WHARFAGE RATES

Revised Tariff, Settling Matter in Dispute Since August, Approved.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—The revised tariff of wharfage rates drawn up by the Montreal harbor commissioners on July 15 last, has been approved by the deputy-governor-in-council. It represents a reduction from rates which have prevailed this year, although they are an increase on the tariff of previous years.

This settles a dispute between the port and shipping interests which has been in progress since August of last year.

Among the changes made are: A jump in grain rates from five to seven cents a ton, flour from eight to twelve, asbestos from ten to thirty, wood pulp from eight to fifteen, tobacco from 25c to 31c, steel billets from 25c to 30c. In the latter case, the original intention was to raise the rate to forty cents.

There have been other similar modifications. A proposal to tax every passenger $1 a head was withdrawn.

METHODISTS INDIGNANT

Pastor Denies That Man He Married Showed Sign of Intoxication.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—Much indignation is being felt in Methodist circles here at the imputation cast on the conduct of Rev. Amos Thomas, of St. James' church, who was said to have married a man in an advanced stage of intoxication and whose marriage was annulled in the practice court here last week.

Mr. Thomas declares that the man did not at the time exhibit the slightest trace of intoxication, otherwise he would have refused to have performed the ceremony.

It is understood that the protest has been lodged with the authorities at Quebec, for Mr. Thomas was given no opportunity of being called into court at the time of the marriage annulment in order to state his case.

JUDGE LANDIS, NEW CZAR OF BASEBALL

Unlimited Authority and a $42,500 Salary

Is An Ardent Fan—The Events That Led Up to the New Organization in Baseball.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, of Chicago becomes the new head of baseball, the chief "ump" of the national American sport. He is to have almost unlimited authority and a salary of $42,500 a year. He was offered $30,000 but concluded that he would remain on the bench, so he deducted the $7,500 which he received as a federal judge from the $30,000 that the magnates offered him. Judge Landis will be a czar; apparently baseball needs a czar about as badly as Russia. It always has had one. The czar is Ben Johnson, also of Chicago, and president of the American League. For years Mr. Johnson used to delight in the title, and his critics now say that it was because he was czar-like that baseball degenerated until a considerable part of its operations was in the hands of a gang of crooks. What they did to the game, and especially their activities in the 1919 world's series are fresh in the public mind. Even people not interested in the sport were shocked by these revelations, which showed some of the greatest stars in the game deliberately trying to lose and succeeding. Landis is a Fan.

Judge Landis has long been known as a baseball fan. He rarely misses a Chicago game, and is a close student of its finer points. When the Federal League broke out, it was before Judge Landis that the invaders brought suit to declare the National and American League a trust. Judge Landis was not called upon to hand down a decision, though it is understood that had he done so he would have been obliged to find in favor of the Federal League.

W. O. McGeehan, sporting editor of the New York Tribune, says that Judge Landis did much to save organized baseball by delaying his decision. In the meantime there was a compromise, and the action was withdrawn. At that time Judge Landis came into intimate touch with most of the principal magnates, and is said to have deeply impressed them by his knowledge of both the game of baseball and its politics. There was some talk then of asking him to join the National Commission, but when the trouble blew over the magnates were satisfied to leave things as they were.

The National Commission. This was the cause of the trouble. The game then was in the hands of a National Commission, formed of the president of the American League, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Heydler, the president of the National League, and "Goo" Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Baseball Club. The commission was dominated by Mr. Johnson through the chairman, for it was an open secret that Herrmann never acted in opposition to Johnson. The latter received an annual salary of $30,000 and had an unlimited expense account as well as a long-time contract. The meetings of the National Commission in the good old days were hilarious affairs, and it used to be said that the commission would never survive prohibition. Still it might have survived had there been no scandal, and if Charles Comiskey had not quarreled with Johnson.

Comiskey Breaks Away. Comiskey, the owner of the Chicago American League team, had a bitter personal quarrel with the league president, and Comiskey is perhaps the most popular manager in baseball, with the exception of Genial James, the local owner. He found allies in Col. Ruppert and Col. Huston, owners of the New York Club, who were newcomers in baseball, and who strongly disapproved of what they termed the unbusinesslike attitude of Johnson. They had a dispute with him about the ownership of Carl Mays, a pitcher, and took the matter into court, where they succeeded. Harry Frazee, of the Boston Club, also a newcomer, was another insurgent, and Chicago, New York and Boston were the chief money-making teams in the Johnson circuit. The other owners, however, remained loyal and since there were five of them there seemed little prospect of putting an end to the Johnson regime.

Demand for Reform. The came the baseball scandal, and the demand for baseball reform spread from the three owners to the baseball fans of the United States. The eight owners in the National League demanded that the old commission be done away with and a new one, composed of men not connected professionally with the game, be appointed. This was called the Louker plan, in honor of the Chicago lawyer who promulgated it. The suggestion was opposed by Johnson, but later on he seemed to approve it. In the meantime the three insurgent American League owners joined the eight National League owners in demanding the abolition of the old commission, and the formation of a new twelve-member league if Johnson did not yield. For some little time it appeared certain that there would be another baseball war; but the owner got together, without either lawyers or league officials, and after talking matter over decided that they would have a new one-man commission. They offered the position to Judge Landis, and he accepted.

COUNT ANDRASSY ON DIPLOMACY. In October, 1918, when everything was already lost, Count Julius Andrássy moved into the Wiener Ballhaus, where, as Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, it was his duty to try to bring about a separate peace with the Entente. (Laiten & Co. (Leipzig) have just published his "Diplomacy and the World War.") After laying down the thesis that it is much easier to determine which state showed the best diplomacy during the war than to fix the amount of responsibility for the war that falls on each state, Count Andrássy admits that the Entente was quite superior to the Central Powers in diplomatic tact. Comparing England with Germany in pre-war days, he says: "There was just as much military power behind King Edward as behind Emperor William. And had King Edward been living in 1914 he would have taken just as decisive a part in the question of war or peace as was taken by Emperor William, with this difference: King Edward always made the impression of a tactful gentleman in civilian clothes. Emperor William could not be conceived of except as the Supreme War Lord in full uniform."

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION (Ottawa Citizen). The Montreal charter commission has decided to approve of an amendment to the charter under which the metropolis is managed, calling for the employment of the proportional representation system in all municipal elections in the future. The example of Montreal, our largest centre of population and one wherein are more political and racial elements than in any other city in the country, is one that will likely be followed by other communities. The proportional representation system is going ahead on its merits and within a short time should entirely supersede the present unscientific and unsatisfactory plan of electing public officials and so making representative government truly representative.

TOBACCO CROP SAFELY STORED
The Fall Has Been Exceptionally Suitable for Curing.

H. A. Freeman, Tobacco Inspector, of the Ontario tobacco crop has been invested without damage by frosts. The crop has been exceptionally fine for curing at the present time the crop is well advanced in curing, the early crops being practically finished. The leaf of the G.
Burlley and fine-cured tobacco as to be very thin throughout the tobacco belt, and the crop, including flakes, is below last year's standard in yield and quality. However, there are no fine crops of tobacco in the country south and south of Lake Erie in the present time there is somewhat less than one million pounds of crop on the growers' hands. Now all returns for the 1920 White crop of Ontario, including all varieties, amounts to 21,881,100 pounds of tobacco. This is the largest crop of tobacco ever grown in Canada.

Prize Compliments Producer of Western Spectacle.

London, Nov. 29.—The Prince of Wales paid a surprise visit to the Philharmonic Hall and listened with keen interest to the entertainment provided by the Southern Synopated Orchestra and singers. He particularly commented on the song scenes produced by Cavendish Morton, a new item on the programme, saying that the radiant western sky and the figures of the Indian braves silhouetted against it reminded him vividly of Canada. The Prince expressed his intention of visiting the entertainment again.

BATTLES WITH DOG TO SAVE CHILDREN

Coney Island Policeman is Church Crowd—Compan-Severely Bitten in View of ion Shoots Animal.

In view of several hundred men, women and children emerging from mass in-the Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Solace, Coney Island, New York, on Thursday, Policeman Christian H. Waldeck of the Coney Island station, battled with a vicious bulldog, and before the animal was shot and killed by another policeman, Waldeck had been bitten several times on the right arm.

Waldeck and Policeman John J. Donohue were standing at a police booth opposite the church when they saw the dog dash into West Seventeenth street, from Neptune avenue, a block away. The animal was frothing at the mouth, and was making for a crowd of children behind the church. The policeman dashed at the close of the church service. The policeman drew his pistols and started for the dog, shouting to the children to run back into the church.

The entrance to the church were crowded, and the children were unable to get further than the steps of the children, put his pistol back in his pocket and grabbed the dog by the collar. The animal was too strong for him and he tried to subdue him by jamming his right elbow in the dog's mouth as he forced him on his back.

The dog bit Waldeck several times before Policeman Donohue could trap it up with a rope. Then Donohue carried the animal to a lot, where he shot and killed it.

Waldeck's wounds were cauterized at the Kings County Hospital. The body of the dog was taken to the health office to determine if it had rabies.

HEALTH EDUCATION.

A bulletin just issued by the League of Red Cross Societies, Geneva, contains a valuable article by Knud Stouman, chief of the department of vital statistics, on Health Education. At the outset he points out that health is the cheapest of all worldly goods, free as the air and sunshine, and that most children are born with the gift of good health.

"In the highly developed industrial centres of the world the first half of man's lifetime is spent frequently in wrecking the natural foundation of his health, while the second half is occupied in frantic efforts to restore the lost blessing."

How true this is most people who have reached middle life fully realize. The late they see where lack of regard for the simple rules of health deprived them of at least a portion of the blessing, and left them with a legacy of ills which were preventable in earlier life.

"Mortality statistics teach us that death occurs from a certain number of causes which all depend on definite laws of frequency. Medical and sanitary science teaches us how to entirely prevent a good many of these diseases."

These preventive measures must begin with the infant life, even before the child has come into the world. After its birth there is a danger period during which ignorance or indifference is responsible for a needlessly large toll. It has been demonstrated that infant mortality may be greatly reduced by proper care, and every life so saved is a potential blessing to the state.

"In New Zealand only forty-eight infants under one year die out of every thousand born, and equally low rates have been reached in several localities of Australia, the United States and Great Britain. The infant mortality in several European countries is from 150 to 250 per thousand, and the possibilities for saving of life are evident. In England and Wales the infant mortality was actually reduced from 156 per thousand births during the period 1896-1900 to 91 per thousand in 1916. In Switzerland the corresponding reduction was from 188 in 1876-80 and 143 in 1896-1900 to seventy-eight in 1916. Most authorities agree that the principal reasons for a high infant mortality are to be found in the ignorance of the mother as to proper care of the child and in unsanitary habits and customs of the people. Health education is then the only remedy."

The necessity the war has brought for more determined efforts to cope with tuberculosis is dealt with in an impressive manner. Mr. Stouman says:—"Tuberculosis selects its victims among men and women at their best age, the maximum incidence is reached for women about twenty-five to thirty years, for men at about thirty-five to forty years of age. The consistently higher mortality of men in the thirties and forties than of women at these ages is due in part to unsanitary conditions in the workshops which obtain in too many industries. Tuberculosis is a preventable disease and much progress has been made as to its control in most advanced countries. In New York State the mortality from tuberculosis of the lungs was 177 per 100,000 population during the period 1901-1905, while in 1916 the rate was only 137; in Switzerland the death rate from pulmonary tuberculosis was 201 per 100,000 population in 1900 and only 132 in 1916. The decrease of tuberculosis had been slowing down already before the war, and the war years have brought a new increase almost everywhere; in several cities of Poland, Austria, Serbia, etc., we meet now with tuberculosis death rates of over 500 per 100,000 inhabitants. New efforts must be made, based upon the most recent knowledge of the methods of control so that we shall not lose the newly gained advantages."

The English mathematician, George King, has prepared a table showing the number of lives saved every year in England and Wales by the reduction of the death rate of 1910-12 in comparison with that of 1871-80. This saving was in part due to improved sanitary measures and in part to the general improvement of conditions. The table shows a saving of the lives of 116,401 males and 116,554 females every year, and the aggregate of the future lifetime of all saved runs into millions of years of individual life, with all that implies in regard to productive industry and the welfare of the state.

Discussing the question of educating the masses in right living, to promote good health, Mr. Stouman points out that we must get at the home. Ignorance and superstition must be overcome. There must be a thorough study of living and working conditions, prevailing diseases, habits and mentality of the people to be dealt with. People must be led to understand that life and death depend to a great extent upon their own actions. Whatever is gained in spreading knowledge must be followed up. The public health nurse, the infant welfare centre, the tuberculosis clinic and other agencies must be always busy, and sanitary reform must always be regarded as a first consideration. In conclusion Mr. Stouman says:—"We have too little imagination to understand the immense aggregate of suffering which is constantly going on, and those who have knowledge generally have no conception of how the others in the back streets are living. The secrets of life and death are not as yet fully unravelled to us, but if only we applied our present knowledge and experience, sickness would be largely curtailed. It is not the lack of knowledge, but the failure to apply what we have, which is responsible for most sickness and many deaths. A nation's health is not an incidental matter, but it is the very foundation of true progress and happiness. Disease has been gaining upon us during the last six years, and we can afford no delay in restoring and safeguarding the good health with which nature endowed us."

That closing sentence is worthy of serious consideration. Disease has been gaining on us since the beginning of the war. Now that the war is over it is more than ever necessary to combat disease, to save life, and to have a virile citizenship to solve the great problems of the time. The Red Cross sees its duty in the matter and is doing it, in conjunction with public health authorities everywhere. It is even more the duty of each individual community to face its own health problems with intelligence and courage.

THE MENTAL ATTITUDE. Each day bring its news of slackening industry, unemployment, and the possibility of a decline in wages in some of the industries. It would be far from wise to grow dependent over a situation that had to come, and that must be faced. There must come a time when stocks of merchandise will be reduced and demand will spring up again and the factories be filled with orders. Then the conditions will grow healthy once more. It is only a question of how long the buying public will restrict their buying in hope of still lower prices. The country is not poor. There have been several years of exceptional prosperity. Abundant crops were harvested this year. The basic conditions are sufficiently sound to ensure the return of normal times after the process of liquidation has gone far enough. How far it will depend upon the people themselves. If they maintain a spirit of confidence, and make the most of their opportunities to work and to save, making their purchasing needs wisely and getting industry a fair chance, there will be nothing approaching a panic in this country. Opece more the people of the maritime provinces may be thankful that they are not greatly given to speculation, and that the time of trial finds them as well or better prepared than the people of any other portion of the continent. To cultivate a cheerful frame of mind is a virtue of the highest value in times like this. Confidence begets confidence, and the citizen who goes about bemoaning the dull times helps to make them duller. There is as much reason now as at any time during the war for people to say to each other that they have got to see this thing through together, and that he who talks pessimism should be regarded as a public enemy. This does not mean that extravagance of any sort should be indulged in by the people, or that they should disregard the facts of the situation. It simply means that everyone should have faith, go steadily on, and make the very best of the situation until the tide turns. In the United States today business is suffering from over-much speculation, and the conditions are much worse than in Canada. The whole world is troubled by war burdens, and must go along patiently but courageously until the effects of the gigantic struggle are farther removed. In time they will be overcome. Meanwhile, as was said in this paper yesterday, there is a great field for co-operative optimism.

AMERICAN COWS IN GERMANY. When the association for providing Germany with milk cows after the formal declaration of peace was formed in Chicago the Germans greeted the news with unreserved delight. But insuperable difficulties arose. Transportation could be obtained only with the greatest difficulty and when it was obtained it was too expensive, amounting to $70 for each cow. Moreover, Germany is suffering from such a lack of hay and grain that she felt it would be more service to her if these supplies were sent, so that she might keep alive the cows she had. The original plan, however, is at last being put into effect. The first batch of 700 cows, with hay and grain for four months, was recently shipped from Galvestone. The cows will be apportioned among the larger cities by the Central Committee for Foreign Help.

HUMAN NATURE. The climate here is luscious, very, and even winter days are warm; but my old heart is so contrary I sometimes long to see a storm. Where I abide the weather wizard provides the smoothest goods he owns; and yet I long to hear a blizzard whoop past the house, with maudlin tones. The tourists come a cheerful legion, and visit me while and say, "This is the finest, grandest region—here every day's a perfect day!" They dance around, the joyous friskers, ecstatic over things they see; and I remark, "You bet your whiskers, this country's good enough for me." But when the tourists leave my shanty, into gentle pairs or bunches of five, I say to Jane, my spinster aunt, "I wish a cyclone would arrive! Oh, for a good old Kansas twister, destroying trees, uprooting trees! Oh, for a hot wind that would blister, or for a cold wind that would freeze!" And were I luck where winds are blowing, and winter's white with snow and rime, some grievous fits I would be throwing, denouncing such a beastly clime. There is no bliss for any mortal until he quits this vale of woe, and enters, through the shining portals, the land where all the rights are. And that bright land—perhaps he'll scan it, and mutter to his saintly guide, "This place looks cheap beside the planet where I grew up and loved and died."

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Common Happenings of Other Days

ATTACKING BEAUJOUR.

With such a commander as de Vergor, it is not an surprise that 1855 should find the French at Beaujour in a poor condition to resist an attack in force by the English. The traitor leader had stolen most of the funds and supplies intended for the security of the garrison there. So when early in June that year a strong party of British from the New England States sailed up the Bay of Fundy and anchored at the mouth of the French fort there was almost a panic in the French colony. The English were a splendid type of men, well equipped and led by trained officers. They were the hardy settlers who had come to the new shores, each an expert with the musket, through long experience in the wilds of America and subject to a discipline that made them behave very orderly on the Sabbath day and either stay on board the transports or else go to church and not to stroll up and down the streets."

When the English appeared, de Vergor was as badly frightened as the meanest peasant in the district. He sent an alarm to Louisbourg for assistance at once and ordered every man capable of bearing arms to take his place with Beaujour. This gave him a force of about 1,500 men of all classes—youth and old, trained and raw recruits.

He had about 140 regulars who were eager to resist the invading English, but they were unable to inspire any enthusiasm for the cause of the hearts of the new army that had been called to the colors. So fearful were they of defeat that they begged de Vergor to treat—treat if they did not join his army so that they would have an excuse to offer the invaders when the defeat came and they were found in arms. This was preparing a way of escape before the fight.

SAY IT IS MUSIC.

(New York Evening Post.) The first international song has made its appearance. It is called "The Sun and the Stars," and was written by a former member of the faculty of Keiojiya University. The hope is that it will help cement friendship among Japanese and Americans who sing it. Set to music by "Columbia," the Gem of the Ocean," the chorus runs:—

Hurrah for the sun and the stars! Banzai for the stars and the sun! Enshrined in all life it is written The God of all nations is one.

If this bi-national harmonizer works, as we all hope it will, who will be the first to carry it a step further and produce a poly-national anthem, taking in a few of the other countries with which we could afford to be on friendly musical terms? We may yet be asked to sing something like this, for example:

My country, 'tis of thee, Sweet land of Wacht an Rhein, Erin go bragh! Long may Britanna rule, Banzai, Hoch, Sante, Skoi! Allons, Czech, Turk, and Pole, A la patrie.

BANDITS STOLE $51,000. Blackjacked Garage Night Watchman in New York. New York, November 30.—Three armed thugs early on Friday blackjacked the night watchman of a motor taxi-cab service on East 6th Street, and after binding and blindfolding him, blew the office safe and made an escape with $51,000 in cash and promissory notes.

Under the guise of prospective customers, the band, acting to be shown an automobile in the rear of the garage. As the watchman, whose name was Paolo Gablamonte, led the way, he was threatened with drawn revolvers and ordered to throw up his hands. Devising his assailants, Gablamonte resisted and was fell by a blow on the head. When he recovered consciousness he found the safe opened and the money gone. In Brooklyn, James Flynn, night watchman of a towel supply company, was similarly attacked by four armed men, who knocked him unconscious with a crowbar, forced open a heavy iron safe and escaped with $12,000. When the robbers' victim regained his senses he found himself bound to an armchair. Crowing the ropes with his teeth he at length freed himself and gave the alarm.

When We Wound Up The Watch On The Rhine

Narrative of Canadian Participation in The Occupation of Germany After the Armistice

VII. (Continued from Monday.) The fall season in France and Belgium is noted for its rain and during the time two years ago when the Canadian divisions were on their way to Germany as a part of the army of occupation, they met several wet days which made marching somewhat uncomfortable. Incidentally the streams which thread the low-lying lands were swollen to a considerable extent by the rainfall—and thereon hangs a tale.

Two years ago today the Second Division left its billets in the Havelange area with a twelve or fifteen mile march in front of them. They traveled by way of Metz as far as a small group of towns in the centre of which were Grand Han, Petit Han and Durbuy.

One of the artillery units in the division sent out an advance party consisting of one officer and twelve or fourteen other ranks with instructions to allot billets for the incoming troops. As the route laid down for the main body was on account of the weight of guns and ammunition carried, over the main roads, which was a mile or so of their destination, they suddenly came upon a stream over which had been constructed a foot bridge, but the animals crossing the bridge, and vehicles was by the ford, but so badly swollen was the stream that it was difficult to find the ford. And even when it had been found, so swift was the current that it looked too dangerous to take a horse through it.

An attempt was made by one horseman to ride his animal across the foot bridge, but an ominous creaking as he had traversed a few feet of the distance caused him to apply discretion and proceed no farther in that direction. It was only with difficulty that he was able to back his horse to terra firma again, with a mile or so of the narrow to allow of his turning the beast.

The party was on the horns of a dilemma. To retrace their steps and enter the stream from the main road would take up so much time that the main column would have arrived and found that arrangements for their quarters for the night had not been made. So it meant the ford and chance the consequences.

After some hesitancy, one of the horses—the tallest in the party—was urged into the stream and after a sturdy battle against the torrent managed to reach the opposite bank. One by one the others followed, but not before several had been swept from the ford and reached the opposite bank after swimming for some time. It was not long, however, that some of the shorter legged beasts, but it was a great relief to the officer when he finally had his whole party landed safely on the "shorter" side of the river.

EDUCATIONAL CONDITIONS

(Montreal Herald.) Prof. Houlme, of Ohio, the chief speaker at the Bellows Educational Convention held in Belleville last week, gave some interesting and startling facts relative to educational conditions in the United States. He said that the average salary paid last year to public school teachers in the United States was only $865, and as a result tens of thousands of teachers are leaving the profession to take up other vocations where there is a chance of earning enough to get at least a decent livelihood.

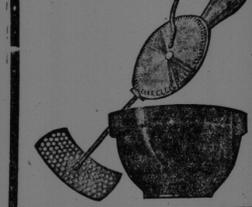

The average time that teachers remain in the profession is only three and a half years. Over one-third of the teachers, who took charge of the schools when they opened this fall, had never taught before, and 350,000 of the public school teachers now employed are between seventeen and twenty-five years of age. Last year over 39,000 public schools in the United States were closed because they could not secure teachers, which means that over 5,000,000 children of school age were unable to attend school. Out of every thousand children who attend public school, only 131 graduate from high school.

Let us hope that the record in Canada would make a better showing, but it is only too plain that in Canada as well as in the United States, the serious drawback to educational advancement.

"WICKED HORRORS."

(New York Evening Post.) A bequest of $100,000 has just been announced to "abate the wicked horrors of vivisection." It is always horrors with the anti-vivisectionist. He has been invited times without number to visit the laboratories of medical schools to see for himself just how modern vivisection is carried out. Come and see with your own eyes what the truth is. "No, I cannot bear the truth—it is too horrible." And fortified in this stubborn determination not to know the truth, he goes forth to encourage the publishing of such "wicked horrors" as the preposterous yarn put out last month in the Ladies' Home Journal, "stories" of vivisection abuses showing an

DAMAGED GOODS DRAWS MANY TO UNIQUE THEATRE

"Damaged Goods," the remarkable picture version of the famous drama, which upset the country three years ago, was again repeated at the Unique last night to a large and enthusiastic audience and proved to be as big a sensation as when it was first shown in this city. "Damaged Goods" is not a problem play catering to the morbid, but a genuine tragedy. As such it surely is entitled to take its place in the film literature of the day. The picture abounds in human touches and here and there in spite of the dire tragedy of the plot there are touches of humor. The leading role is taken by Richard Bennett, the star of the speaking drama. The action of the picture play shows how a young man, well born, well reared, an honor student, is lured to abandon, how the most innocent may become victims of the terrible scourge of the sins of others. "We start the ball rolling, others keep it up," says the last subtitle on the film.

DEFENDS CHARGE OF "SQUANDERMANIA"

Can't See Where Government Can Cut Down Expenses—Statement From Secretary of Treasury.

(Associated Press Correspondence.) London, Nov. 29.—A spirited defense against charges of "squandermania," the popular term for official extravagance, is made by Captain Frederick Guest, joint parliamentary secretary to the treasury. Captain Guest says he doesn't see where the government can cut down expenses. In a letter to a political correspondent published in the London Times, he examines the expenses of departments of the state thus:—

The navy and army.—The personnel of the fighting service has now been reduced practically to pre-war numbers. In 1914, however, the private soldier received one shilling per day. He now receives two shillings and nine pence. There has been a corresponding increase

In the pay of naval men. The result is that while the fighting services cost £28,000,000 in 1913-14, owing to these and other consequential increases, the figure is £269,000,000 today.

In 1914 the interest on the national debt was £24,000,000; today it is £245,000,000.

War Pensions.—In 1914-15 these were nil; today, £123,000,000.

Education.—In 1914-15 this cost £19,000,000; today, £23,000,000.

Bread subsidy.—This year it has cost £45,000,000.

Old Age Pensions.—In 1914-15 these cost £13,000,000. Today they cost £20,000,000.

Unemployment grants to ex-soldiers—£27,000,000.

Railway and housing subsidies—£32,000,000.

These, Captain Guest states, are the most considerable items in the government expenditure for the year. "No liberal in the country," he declares, "will wish to retrench on education. As for the other items, no fruitful suggestion has so far been made as to how they can be reduced and no specific case of extravagance has been made out against the administration."

"The more the financial commitments of the government are examined, the more it will be realized how profoundly the war has affected national finance and how difficult it is for the government, with the best intentions in the world, to keep down the national expenditure," Captain Guest declares.

Fred. E. Sharp, provincial superintendent of immigration, left yesterday for Elgin, Albert county, on business in connection with his department.

ONE-CHAIR CITY GETS MOTOR TRUCKLOAD

Paris, Nov. 30.—For many months the little city of Coulogne, in the Alsace region of France, possessed but a single chair, and it was the property of the mayor. It was officially known as "the chair" until the Junior Red Cross of America sent to that city a motor truck loaded with chairs and tables that had been made by the boys of America in their manual training schools. Last year thousands of these articles of furniture were received in the devastated areas of France.

LYNCHED HIS HORSE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 30.—When his horse balked, Edward Byrne, a farmer of Crunch Elbow, lynched the animal. He tied one end of a rope around the horse's neck, threw the rope over the limb of the tree and fastened the other end to the bridle of another horse, which became frightened and pulled so hard that it strangled its mate. Byrne was fined $25.

REAL PADEREWSKI BUT LITTLE KNOWN

O'Connor Regrets the Great Musician Will Not Return to Piano.

(T. P. O'Connor, M.P., in London Times.)

So Paderewski is to play no more. This is the tragic news I find in the newspapers. I will refuse to accept it as long as I can; it would mean too great a loss to the world. I wonder how many people—outside his own countrymen—know the real Paderewski. I knew nothing about his inner personality till an accident brought him and me together. I had looked at him from afar for years, and the rapt look with which he played, the long fair hair, the general dreaminess of the expression, even when he was not playing, and the reports I had heard of a certain melancholy that haunted him, gave me the impression of one of those artistic souls that live away from the realities of life, and especially from the joys of life.

And then, being in America on a mission, I found myself coming in contact with him constantly when business brought both him and me to Washington; and I began to form quite a different impression of him when, brought face to face, we discussed political problems. But the real occasion on which I was to get to understand him thoroughly came when I attended a great Polish meeting in Chicago. It was a most impressive gathering. There were 20,000 Poles present; amid impressive scenes some of them were sworn in to join the Polish legion to fight for France and for Poland on the Allied front. All the Polish priests of Chicago were on the platform to give their blessing and also their money to the cause of Poland.

Speaker and Raconteur.

But to me, of course, the main interest of the meeting was the chairman; and Paderewski was the chairman. I had been told—the statement was a surprise—that he was one of the greatest orators Poland had ever produced. I heard him for an hour. I could not understand him, of course, for the speech was in Polish; but I could see the effect on the audience; and I realized that this slight, almost fragile looking man, could sway the emotions of these people as completely and as promptly as the breezes sway the fields of growing wheat.

This was my first surprise. A greater came when later in the night I accepted his invitation to dine with him. For four hours on end I listened to him as he spoke on everything and a few other things. It was one of the most fascinating of my experiences. Melancholy! He was the gayest talker I had heard for years. Story followed story; all light-hearted, but with scorn for the Germans underneath, and equal scorn for the pacifists—especially in America. And he spoke in several languages—mainly in English—and with such ease and perfection that it was hard to realize that he was not a native of each of the countries whose language he spoke.

Then I realized that Paderewski was not merely a great pianist but a big man. As to his goodness, the years he devoted to his country's cause in America—away from his art, away from his beautiful home, journeying hundreds of miles every week, seeing thousands of people—they are the testimonies to his patriotism. But the man was what I had never seen before. He was one of the biggest surprises of my life.

MIDNIGHT CLIMB.

Steeplejack's Pupil Tied Handkerchief To Vane.

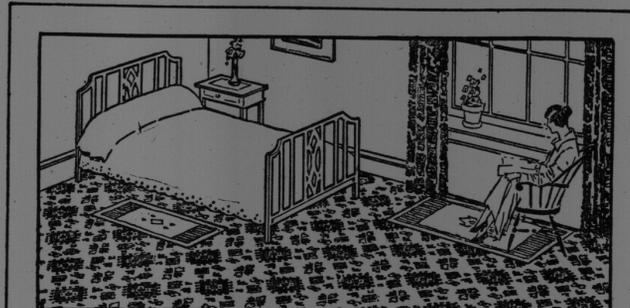

London, Nov. 30.—A pupil at a "school" for steeplejacks at Godalming climbed the leaden spire of the parish church at midnight and tied a khaki handkerchief to the weathercock, 170 feet above the ground. He made the climb without apparatus and while wearing a trench coat. When he descended he was met at the foot of the tower by a policeman, who took him into custody, but the incident ended with an apology to the vicar and a promise by the master steeplejack to remove the handkerchief.

A Barnsley steeplejack who is engaged in painting a tall chimney shaft at Pluckley brickworks, is assisted in his work on the chimney by his wife.

NOVA SCOTIAN DIES AT REUNION

Boston, Nov. 29.—Jared C. Withers, of Granville (N. S.), died on Saturday at the home of his brother, John R. Withers, in Newton Highlands (Mass.) With his wife he had journeyed from his home for a Thanksgiving reunion with two other brothers. He succumbed to pneumonia. Mr. Withers, who was sixty-seven years old and a native of Granville, was a farmer. His body was taken to Granville for burial.

IMPERIAL Premier WINTER GASOLINE

Gravity Has Nothing To Do With The Quality Of Any Gasoline.

If Better Gasoline Could Be Made Imperial Oil Limited Would Make It

Gravity is simply a measure of density (weight). It has nothing at all to do with quality. So-called high gravity tests are usually misleading.

For cold weather motoring satisfaction and "More miles per gallon," a straight-distilled, all-refinery product is required. Imperial Premier Gasoline is such a product. It is free from all impurities and in every drop is the pep for a quick and easy start. The pep for convenience and satisfaction and the power required to give "More miles per gallon."

Its chain of boiling (vaporizing) points is complete and unbroken, from its lightest fraction to its heaviest fraction. You cannot obtain a better motor fuel at any price than Imperial Premier Gasoline.

Robin Hood Flour

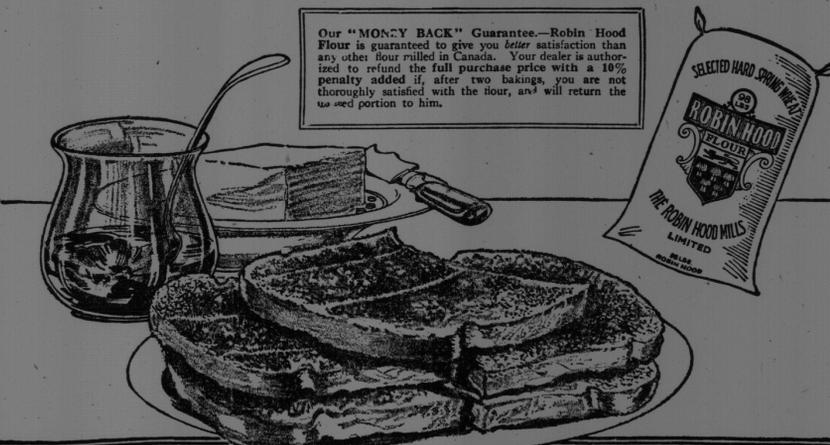

"Well worth the slight extra cost"

No other flour milled in Canada has the strength, the volume, the uniformity and nutrition that is contained in "ROBIN HOOD." It is a "thirsty" flour, it takes more water and consequently yields more loaves to the bag.

The extra nutrition and staying power which characterize the hard spring western wheat makes the ROBIN HOOD loaf the highest in food value.

Read this guarantee—it goes in every bag.

Our "MONEY BACK" Guarantee.—Robin Hood Flour is guaranteed to give you better satisfaction than any other flour milled in Canada. The petit jury has not yet been empanelled. Attorney-General J. P. Byrne appeared for the interests of the Crown and Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C. of Woodstock for the prisoner. W. B. BUILDING PERMITS IN NOVEMBER HERE

Building permits issued here during November covered an expenditure $29,000, as compared with $226,500 for the same period last year. The falling off in the amount is due to the fact that a permit was issued in last November for the building of the C. P. R. baggage shed at West St. John at a cost of $200,000.

The most outstanding permit issued this month was one for the erection of an additional story on the Dominion government immigration building in Union street, West St. John at a cost of $100,000. Other permits included: Albert Graham, Cranston avenue, wood bungalow, $1,500. Estate of John Keefe, 70 Leinster street, remodeling brick building, $1,500. C. E. Parks, 308 Duke street, wood dwelling, $5,000. Stephen Bros., 338 Brussels street, brick store, $6,000.

Giving Furniture for Xmas Means Building for the Future!

Seemingly, our lives are shaped by our surroundings. Our early environment is either a help toward success or an obstacle to be overcome. Early training and surroundings leave a lasting impression upon the character of the individual.

Memory casts a halo around the scenes of our childhood—the sweet influence of home is never forgotten. In youth our surroundings weave the warp and woof of character—until as men and women, our lives express either acquaintance with the beautiful or show familiarity with the commonplace.

This is a Nation of Homes. The standard of the Nation reflects the character of its homes. Primarily and ultimately it is a Nation of the average Home. Upon the standard of the Average Home depends the character of the growing generation. With this thought before us, can there be any genuine doubt as to what to give for Christmas?

Frankly, now, is there any real competitor of furniture in the direction of permanent and lasting financial value? As this Yuletide approaches this house just teems with useful, practical things to use as gifts.

NOT SO LONG AS IT USED TO BE

Scottish Dinner in Halifax Tonight—Record of North British Society.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 30.—(By Canadian Press)—One hundred and fifty-two years ago the North British Society of Halifax sat down to its first St. Andrew's dinner. Today the inheritors of that Society, one of the most ancient Scottish organizations in Canada, sit down to a like festive board, only they did not sit so long. In the days when John Gillespie, first Moderator of the Society, and his immediate successors presided at St. Andrew's dinner, the members assembled at three o'clock in the afternoon and the merry-making sometimes, they say, lasted for three days. However, those were the brave old times when the toast list was as long as one's arm.

Scots were always valiant trenchermen but the peace has carried on its British as it grew up with Halifax town and became one of the institutions of Nova Scotia, was not that of supplying tables to its members. The Society first concerned itself with the welfare of Scotland's sons and many a Scottish immigrant has blessed its name.

Playing a very large and altogether general role in the history of the old garrison city of the bluenoses, the North British numbered among its members the finest Haligonians, men distinguished in all pursuits from the laying of bricks to the occupying of the chair of the Chief Justice of the province.

Among a long line of distinguished presidents appear the names of Chief Justice Thomas Halliburton (Sam Sleek), Chief Justice Sir William Young, Col. James Bremner, Col. C. J. Macdonald, Hon. Robert Sedgewick, Dr. Allan Pollock, Dr. John Forrest and Premier George H. Murray.

Since its inception in Halifax in 1768 the North British through wars and the piping times of peace has carried on its charitable work, and exerted through its individual members and as a corporate body not a little influence on Halifax and Nova Scotia.

At today's dinner Alvin F. Macdonald, editor of the Morning Chronicle and the new president of the North British Society, presided.

The dinner was held at the Hotel de Ville, and was a most successful one. The guests were entertained by a most excellent dinner, and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

The shoe manufacturers of Lynn Mass. yesterday made formal request of the joint council Unions of Shoe Workers of America for abolition of the wage bonus of 10 to 20 per cent. that has been paid for more than a year.

Manufacturers claim that the elimination of the bonus is necessary to reduce their operating costs to the point where they may be respected and run with profit.

In a stabbing affair at the Indian reservation at Burnt Church, near Chatham, N. B. on Sunday night John M. Declan, former police officer among the Indians was killed. Two brothers, Peter and Frank Mitchell, residents of the reservation are wanted by the police in connection with his death. They were employed with a crew working on a bridge and on coming to work Monday morning and being told that Declan was dead, they fled and have not since been seen.

He was elected a member of the Board of Deacons in 1909 and for some time has been senior deacon.

Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Colwell were guests at a family reunion at their home, 144 Douglas avenue, yesterday.

EGGS FROM AUSTRALIA

The most interesting situation in eggs in Canada at the moment is on the Pacific Coast where considerable quantities of Australian, New Zealand and Chinese eggs have arrived or are due to arrive shortly, says a Government report. Some two weeks ago the first shipment of 1,000 cases of Australian eggs reached Vancouver via San Francisco, and was immediately put on the market. These eggs were sterilized eggs and grade firsts. On Saturday last the Steamship Nippon direct from Australia arrived with 1,929 cases of Australian and New Zealand, all consigned to Vancouver. These eggs arrived in various kinds of packages, some thirty dozen cases and some holding as high as 125 dozen, others as low as 20 dozen, the latter smaller cases were for San Francisco. The first lot of Australian eggs was sold in a jobbing way from 80c to 85c a dozen. A large shipment of Chinese eggs was due to reach Vancouver about November 15, most of which are said to be consigned to New York and Boston. Some importers on the Pacific Coast with connections in the Orient advise that shipments from Siberia may also be a factor on the coast markets at an early date.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look years younger! Use Grandmother's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur and nobody will know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Weyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

MONCTON PROTEST

At a meeting of the municipal chapter of the I. O. D. E. yesterday afternoon, with the vice-regent, Mrs. George K. McLeod in the chair, it was announced that Norman Coll of Sackville has been awarded the post-graduate scholarship for the province by the Imperial Daughters of the Empire. A letter from Dr. H. A. Farris asked that the I. O. D. E. maintain a free kindergarten at the East St. John County Hospital. The letter will be dealt with by the primary chapter. The meeting endorsed the establishment of a juvenile court. The work of the War Memorial Committee was reported on by Mrs. H. Vroom. A resolution extended sympathy to Mrs. A. W. Adams in her recent bereavement. It was decided to invite the members of the provincial chapter to hold its quarterly meeting here in January.

POLAND NOW SIXTH NATION OF EUROPE

Total Population Now Placed at 28,000,000 and Territorial Size at 150,000 Square Miles.

Poland is now the sixth largest state in Europe both in territorial size and in population. Russia, Germany, France, Spain and Sweden exceed the reborn nation in area while Russia, Germany, Great Britain, France and Italy have larger populations.

Poland has a total population of 28,000,000 and an area of 150,000 square miles, according to the figures recently compiled by Dr. Eugene Romer, the well known Polish statistician and professor of the University of Lvow (Lemberg). These figures take into consideration the territory ceded Poland at the Riga Peace conference, but do not include Upper Silesia. If this region is added to Poland following the plebiscite, the nation's area will be increased by nearly 6,000 square miles and the population by approximately 2,000,000.

Women as Brave As the Men

THEIR STRUGGLE SHOWS A REMARKABLE SPIRIT.

Talk of the bravery of men, but where can you find a finer spirit than among the half-sick women who are fighting and struggling to do their duty against the terrible odds of ill-health, and who will not give up.

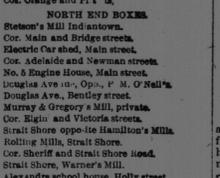

One woman in every three is struggling against weakness. Most of them are not exactly sick, but oh, how miserable!

NEW RELIEF BODY HEADED BY HOOVER

Eight Organizations Join Forces—Largest Co-operative Benevolent Council Ever Formed.

(New York Evening Post.)
The relief of three and a half million starving children in Eastern and Central Europe is to be undertaken under the direction of a newly organized European Relief Council of which Herbert Hoover is chairman and Franklin K. Meyer is treasurer.

Eight great relief organizations have combined for united action under the name. They are the American Relief Administration, American Red Cross, American Friends Service Committee, or Quakers; Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, Knights of Columbus, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

"This is the largest co-operative benevolent organization ever attempted in the United States," said Mr. Hoover in a statement given out by him. "The organizations represented have come to the unanimous though independently formed conclusion that nothing but prompt and united action by the whole American people can avert incredible tragedy for the helpless children involved. The organizations forming the council will organize their representatives in every town and community of the nation for the raising of the necessary funds."

In an address delivered at Chicago last night Mr. Hoover declared that he felt a glory to the United States that 100,000 hungry waifs should sit every day at her table.

"I would rather," he added, "that the American flag be implanted in the hearts of the children of Europe than it fly over any citadel of victory."

FEEDING HUNGRY AUSTRIAN PEOPLE

Children Watched to See That They Do Not Carry Away Food.

Paris, Nov. 19.—(Associated Press Correspondence.)—The misery of Austria's hungry children is told by Pierre Hamp, writing in Paris weekly. He watched breadlines before the soup kitchens here where American relief agencies are feeding all those under 14 years of age.

All the door each child must show a red and when they leave they are searched, says M. Hamp.

Because there is not enough for all the hungry to be fed, the children may not carry away food. Yet the keen intelligence of the young sometimes outwits the watchfulness of their elders.

"To be sure," one of the managers told me, "We should have to address the children. One little girl put her slices of bread in her stockings. The next day she came with a rag over her head, saying she had a toothache. Under the cloth she had a lump of bread. Pointing to two little girls, she said, 'then I must force them to eat. Grief thought that their mother has things kills their appetite. Unless I catch them the bread they leave on the table is taken by others.'

Family Shoes.

Another little girl, wearing men's shoes in which her feet were lost tried to crowd in ahead of her turn. Sent back the line, she cried. Asked why, the girl explained she was wearing the family shoes in the family. She wanted to try back so her brother might have a pair and come, in his turn, while she was still food."

"They are people," said the manager, whose pride is not yet dead. They could not let their children be seen in the street barefoot."

As the children pass in line and have their bowls filled with cocoa they begin at once to drink and to eat the white bread. They are too hungry to wait until served.

Sometimes, as the children leave, they are compelled to raise their arms, or some hold hidden bread in their armpits; and sometimes they are searched for many would, if they could, conceal food for the hungry mother at home.

HALIFAX IRISH DECRY VIOLENCE

Halifax, Nov. 29.—At a meeting of the Charitable Irish Society tonight resolutions were passed, defining their attitude on the "Irish" question. The resolutions, moved by W. P. Burns, president of the self-determination league, and seconded by Lieut. Colonel J. C. Hayes, one of the leaders of the British Empire Alliance of this city, and passed by a standing vote, read as follows:

"That the Charitable Society of Halifax, comprising Canadians of Irish descent, both Catholics and Protestants, records its conviction as follows:

- 1.—That only under a scheme of self-government, acceptable to the Irish people and already far too long withheld, can order and good will in Ireland be restored.
- 2.—That all efforts to identify the Irish problem with an irreconcilable feud between different religions, are likely to produce incalculable disaster, thoroughly unpatriotic in those who profess to desire a harmless commonwealth, and unworthy of any man who realizes what the mutual strife of religions has caused in the past.
- 3.—That the pursuit of political purposes by resort to violence and outrage on any side and in any interest, is to be unreservedly condemned.
- 4.—That the method of indiscriminate reprisals is to be repudiated with indignation and horror by all right thinking men, that such pretended rough and ready justice modelled as it is upon the very spirit of outrage which it professes to counteract, can only provoke

GOING AHEAD WITH BOYS' CLUB PLANS

Use of Y. M. C. A. But on Barracks Green For Lads of the South End Practically Assured — To Canvass For Funds.

A Boys' Club for the South End, as well as the enlarged skating rink, is now practically assured.

Following the meeting held a week before in the King Edward school, a meeting of representatives of the South End Improvement League, the Playgrounds Association and South End churches was held last evening in the Germain street institute, with Thomas Killen, vice-president of the South End Improvement League, in the chair, and Albert Ellis as secretary. The whole matter of the Boys' Club was fully discussed, and it was estimated that, with $2,500, the Y. M. C. A. hut could be purchased, fully equipped and a club carried on for the winter; and that this amount would give enough to ensure also the successful conduct of the skating rink.

Committees were appointed who will this week interview the business men of the South End in the interest of the Boys' Club, and a week from last night a larger meeting of representatives of the churches and the two other organizations named will be held, to complete arrangements for securing the balance of the necessary funds, and arrange also to begin at once the work of preparation for the opening of the Boys' Club.

The Y. M. C. A. hut, which will be entered from Sheffield street, will make an admirable Boys' Club. There are two large rooms, one of them a hall with stage and there are also several smaller rooms which could be utilized for reading or class rooms. All the rooms are on the ground floor and the building is in good condition. There would, of course, be a trained director in charge of the place and, with the backing of the South End Improvement League and the churches, it should be of very great benefit to a large number of boys who are not now linked up with any institution.

NOW HAVE ENOUGH FOR SCHOOL PIANO

The assembly hall of the King Edward school was filled to capacity for the concert given last evening for the purpose of raising funds for a piano for the school. The chairman, Rex R. Cormier, principal of the school, announced that the sum of $300 had been realized from subscriptions made by friends of the school and by relatives and friends of the scholars, and the sum of $100 had been received from the sale of tickets for the concert. This would be ample to buy the piano. Dr. H. S. Bridges, superintendent of schools, said that music was a great asset in connection with the regular studies. The programme of the concert was as follows: Piano duet, Mrs. Robertson; vocal solo, Miss E. Pearce; reading, Miss M. Manning; solo, Arnold Kee; piano solo, Miss Dorothy Stewart; vocal solo, Miss Ethel Parke; reading, Miss Ross; vocal solo, Mrs. L. M. Curren; vocal solo, Mr. Langan; reading, Miss L. Pearce; piano solo, Miss Lillian Clarke; reading, Norman Magnusson; reading, Mr. Magnusson; vocal solo, Mrs. Mercereau; vocal solo, Stuart Smith; national anthem.

A dog, the property of Mrs. Kelly, Ritchie street, was shot yesterday afternoon by Sergeant McLeese at the request of the owner. The animal was severely injured by being hit by a street car and was put out of its misery.

DROP IN COMMODITY PRICES—STILL GOING ON IN U. S. New York, Nov. 30—Continuance of the downward readjustment of the commodity prices remains a conspicuous feature, last week's recessions in the extended list of wholesale quotations compiled by Dun's Review numbering 80, as against only 10 advances. More irregularity in the grain markets, wheat and rye showing early improvement under the influence of reports that Europe would soon begin active buying, but later on losing all of the gain. Corn, oats and barley were weakened by some liberal marketings. In live meats, beef and hogs eased off in response to rather free offerings, while sheep were depressed by relatively larger arrivals. Weather conditions resulted in a slightly better demand for provisions, but price changes were not particularly important and about offset each other. Scarcity of fresh eggs sent the best stock up close to record figures, while some advances were established in high-grade butter and cheese was very firmly held. Quotations on iron and steel continued to recede, and weakness again predominated in the minor metals, tin being especially easy. Announcements of further price concessions in textiles was not expected and the yielding in hides and leathers has been extended, although there is hardly enough buying power to really test the market, and prices are more or less established. In rubber, the reactionary tendency has continued.

FINANCIAL Merchants Bank of Canada In Very Strong Position—Steady Gain in Deposits

Large Increase in Assistance Bank Has Given to Canadian Business. Total Assets Cross $200,000,000 Mark and Establish New High Record. Capital and Reserve Increased.

The Merchants Bank of Canada, in its half-yearly statement to October 30th, shows itself in a very strong position. During the past year there has been a marked change in the business conditions of the country and the Merchants Bank has been able to quickly anticipate them. Its close association with the growing business of the country and its special service to farmers in all the provinces has resulted in a very large increase in current loans and discounts, these now standing at $190,215,468, an increase of $18,745,946,564, an increase of $18,745,946,564.

making the price but is met by other refiners who care to take the business. It is thought that prices on refined sugar are now running close to replacement value. The new crop of Barbados molasses is reported to be short owing to the dry season and will not reach here until very late in the season probably around the first April. Cereals generally have a downward tendency in view of the recessions made in the grain market. Rolled oats are now rolling and Russia again has a slight reduction in quotations three cents lower than opening prices. Raisins are cleared up, packers are practically clearing up, the first shipment of about ten days. The primary market for teas has developed a firm undertone on all grades. It has been said that tea generally have been curtailed about the cost of production and the loss involved on the lower grades is exceedingly heavy. It is thought necessary that production should be curtailed about such a time as the abnormal stocks have been reduced and prices brought to a level above normal. GROCERY REPORTS FROM THREE CITIES OF THE DOMINION

The following comment on the market situation as regards food stuffs appeared in the Dominion Post last week: Grocery commodities are passing through a readjustment period and although many lines are selling at a profit there is no indication that the bottom of the market is due to fall out. The tendency is that prices will show gradual recessions which will give merchants an opportunity to clean up high price stocks without any great loss. Montreal—Lower prices are quoted on this week as a result of the better supply of hops offered on the market and lower prices paid. There is very little change in the beet market. Land prices show no improvement and a further decline is quoted on shortening. Butter is also in a weak condition but there is no change in prices. This also applies to the cheese market but the cheese now being sold by the trade is not affected. The egg market is at a standstill with every indication of a tight market holding. The storm lately has been hindering fishing operations so that there is a shortage of fresh salt water fish. There is, however, an excellent demand for smoked and cured fish. The feature of the whole market this week is the further decline in the price of sugar. In some cases prices reached the ten and one half cent mark. Beet sugar is still lower in price. Molasses also dropped in price. The nut market is much stronger with an advance of six cents quoted on the primary market for almonds. Other nuts follow this lead and with the increased demand. The same is the case in the market for dried fruit. The demand for these lines is even better than was expected by the importers and it is feared that the supplies will not be sufficient to meet the demand. Flour is reduced in price by forty cents a barrel following the reducing wheat market. Rolled oats is receding in price and considerable price cutting is going on by the different millers in an effort to get the business which is very good at this season. There is no change in the price of coffee. The price on lemons is reported to the potato market and view yesterday that the Canadian wheat market is already away from the farms, but even accepting this as approximately accurate—and that was what it did not mean that that quantity of wheat by means had been sold. Much of it had merely been shipped to elevators to be held for the grain market. At Spirit Lake, Alberta, it was said that oats were worth only 29 cents per bushel, and wheat $1.40, which was considered poor for that district, however, had suffered from heavy rains after harvest, and being grader as tough. Red Deer reported-

Schmidt grocery store and purchased a limburger cheese. Mrs. Adams asserts that upon arrival home she found the cheese had lost its normal and natural solidity and was strong in odor.

Whereupon, she returned to the store and sought to return the cheese, handing it to Mr. Schmidt. Then, her petition states, "without cause, provocation, unlawfully, wickedly, and maliciously, the defendant did seize the cheese and hurl it at the plaintiff's head."

Mrs. Adams says the cheese struck her with great force on the head, filling her eyes and her hair, covering her clothes, neck and shoulders, and "creating and great and sickening stench." Mrs. Adams also asserts that the son, Charles Schmidt, who performs the function of a butcher in the shop, then came up behind her and struck her and kicked her.

The experience, she states, caused her to move away from the locality and to undergo painful suffering and a big expense for medical attention.

Cooking Sells Cakes. The proprietor of the Nicholas Hardware Co., Oak Park, Ill., has an original way of advertising his fireless cookers which he carries in stock. He has his Sunday dinner cooked in them.

Every Saturday afternoon one of his precious windows shows the operation in progress, and the late shoppers see the finish meal appetizingly broiled. Sometimes it is nicely browned chicken, a loaf of bread and a tempting dish of macaroni and cheese. Sometimes a roast, a platter of potatoes and a pie. And the appetizing appearance of the food goes a long way toward selling the cookers.

SOME REDUCTIONS (Hardware and Metal, Nov. 27.) The outstanding feature of the week has been the reduction made in the price of white lead in oil and a decline in pig metal.

Other reductions include wax candles, lubricating oils, plumbers' oakum and sheet brass and copper. Tin plate prices are lower and black sheets and bar iron show an easier tone.

Many lines of goods in demand at this time of the year, such as snow shovels, skis, hockey sticks, game traps, etc., are none too plentiful. Jobbers' stocks are low and manufacturers are behind with deliveries.

Sales of seasonable lines are good and spring bookings though slower are regarded as satisfactory up to the present.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

That's the bill Mrs. Ernie Adams is seeking to collect from John C. Schmidt and his son Charles W. Schmidt, grocermen in Kansas City, because of a limburger cheese and its fate.

Mrs. Adams alleges in her suit for damages that she and her husband came to the Kansas City with the intention of opening a grocery store in the North Montclair neighborhood.

She states that she went to the store that farmers are very reluctant to sell their grain, owing to the fact that their grain owing to the fall in prices. An Edmonton reporter to the Imperial Bank said: "Business seemed to be a little better than they were, although they are holding back on account of the low prices."

British Ambassador Speaks on Influence of the Public Press

Excellent Address by Sir Auckland Geddes Before Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association

(Bankers Trust Co., New York.) The British Ambassador, Sir Auckland Geddes, in a recent address before the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, at Asheville, N. C., discussed the influence of the public press in shaping international sentiment, and the opportunity possessed by the press to foster peace and good will by promoting better understandings between races and nations.

There is no need for our nations to gaze suspiciously each at the other; there is every need for you, for the world, that they regard one another with mutual respect and understanding. I know of no reason why respect should be lacking, the deeds which each has done proclaim the character, the resolution, the capacity of its citizens.

But I do know of many reasons why each at present does not understand the other. To begin with, each sees the other in a mental atmosphere colored by misread or misrepresented history; each learns of the other's actions mainly through press reports which naturally and inevitably record the most striking and unusual items in the list of the day's week's and month's doings.

The Rise of Misunderstandings Newspapers, by the law of their being, must report events which stand out like mountain peaks above the flat plains of the average man's due performance of his daily round of duty.

The reader has all round him the facts of his own and his neighbor's daily life, but when an untraveled Englishman reads in one issue of some sensationalizing English paper of a railway accident in Texas and another in Maine, shall we say, "Good Lord! It must be more dangerous to travel in an American train than it was to go over the top."

When the same unimaginative soul reads in the paper of his choice of motor car accidents, hold ups, divorces and murders here, and here nothing and no chance of getting anything to correct his impressions, the inevitable happens—he concludes that he enters an American train you will probably be killed in an accident but that if you are not you will almost certainly be held up by a bandit and shot, and if you are not thereafter killed by a motor car.

Triumphs of Contradiction I solemnly read all the news that is printed about the British peoples and their public and private doings, and I find myself getting positively hypnotized into the belief that the British people are all either drowned or divorced, the Peer bankrupt, the government effete and useless in its treatment of domestic affairs but diabolically cunning in International matters. When I read in some American papers I am almost persuaded with a deepening sense of gloom that my fellow-countrymen, since I left them to their own devices, have gone mad in two directions at the same moment—mad with Imperialism and mad with Bolshevism.

But the greatest triumph of contradiction that we have achieved, according to the columns of one paper, is to be at the same moment bankrupt beyond hope of recovery, and a terror to the world because of our unrivaled financial resources. Of course, this is all nonsense.

A Confusing Picture. Yet clearly the daily press is one of the ordained and inevitable instruments for producing understanding of one nation by another. At present all I can say is that with the best will in the world the British press as a whole fails to convey to the people of England a picture of American people whom I know and admire and equally the American press as a whole fails to present a picture of the British peoples as I know them.

No sensible man would for a moment blame either press for this. I do not really see how it can be entirely avoided, but I do believe that if every newspaper man puts himself on his guard something, a great deal can be done.

Some may say, why should newspaper men take the trouble to foster good will and understanding between nations? Well, newspaper owning and editing is a solemn responsibility which in the vast majority of cases in English speaking countries is honorably assumed and honorably supported. I am not quite sure, however, that the international effects of day to day Journalism are fully recognized.

There are journals which create distrust of foreign powers by the gentle art of innuendo. Here is a sentence from a recent issue of a rightly respected daily paper speaking of the position of Russia when she is reconstituted: "Will Great Britain hold off fields which the Russians own?" The answer is "No, she will not then any more than she does now, and that is, not at all." But the suggestion to the reader that Britain is now holding Russian oil fields, and that she inevitably assumes that Britain has some reason to be hostile to the constitution and recovery of Russia.

Why Friendship Should Prevail. Now I put it to you—Does the existence of mutual understanding between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States of America matter; is it of any advantage to you, to us, or to the world? I answer that it matters more to you, to us and to the world than anything else at the present time, because without understanding there can be no friendship and without friendship there can be no co-operation. Would it be in your interest, would it be in the interest of the world, would it be in the interest of the expansion of your foreign trade in the teeth of British opposition? Would it pay you less if you effected it in reasonable co-operation with us? Would it cost you less to build a Navy commensurate to your needs in opposition to us or more in agreement with us? Would it help you to find difficulties largely of your own creation or reaction to your actions in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, in India and in every land in which the British flag flies as well as in every land in which the British trader does business and the British banks have branches? Would it harm you to find friends there and have to meet only the rival of competition that exists between rival concerns of the same nationality?

The Curt of Hostility. On the lowest basis, would it pay you if Britain were to develop cotton growing on a great scale in her African territories because of a sense of instability created by a feeling of American lack of friendliness? Would it help you toward a solution of your problems in the Pacific if Australia were to become hostile to your interests?

On the other hand, would it help us to be unfriendly to you? Again, on the lower basis, would it pay us? The answer in every case is "No." Then we have the great political and social-economic problems which require solution—problems as wide as the world and as deep as the human heart. Will they be helped if you and we are unfriendly and hickering with one another? Will it help you or us if large areas of the world lapse from civilization to Nuxated Iron contains organic iron, like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, the metallic iron, which people usually take, is iron just as it comes from the earth. It is not absorbed in small pieces of iron filings, or as iron ore, or as iron scales. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent in organic iron content to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables, or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat. Nuxated Iron will stimulate the blood, and it is the only iron preparation that is safe for the stomach.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Beware of having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every label.

force of circumstances, by the nature of your calling you cannot escape. In your hands largely is the making of international relations of the future. The hope of mankind that the last great war has been fought could be turned by you either to cruel mockery or advanced toward realization.

An Appeal for Good Will. With all the earnestness at my command, I beg you in the name of all who like myself are devoting their lives to the furtherance of the cause of international peace, to enroll voluntarily in the army of the international peace makers.

Try with all your skill and arts to make the nations realize their common essential humanity. Let them see each other as they are, groupings of plain simple people who love an honest and live and die very much in the same way in all the countries whose civilization is based on Europe. Get them to see that that civilization is indissolubly linked to its foundations with the Christian ethic—other civilizations were not and are not, but ours is, and assumes in all its conduct and its conventions a fair distribution of effective Christianity among the people.

Let your readers to realize how civilization has advanced by the genius of the few whose life works have benefited the many without regard to national frontiers. I wonder what percentage of adult American citizens could answer these questions—"What did Pasteur discover and how have his discoveries affected your life?" "What did Galvani discover and how have his discoveries affected your life?" "What did Schwann discover and how have his discoveries affected your life?"

I have chosen a Frenchman, a German and an Italian for my short questionnaire because I venture to urge that our Western civilization is not the property or the product of the genius of any one race or people. We who are European by blood and civilization though perhaps American or Antipodean by birth and residence, are bound to the one to the other by ties of thought and gifts of genius individually as slight as weak, perhaps as gossamer but so numerous that collectively they form the bonds and framework of the society and social organizations by which and in which we live. They have been spun out generation by generation from their original beginnings in the eternal city—Rome.

Civilization Belongs to All. Rich and precious is our heritage, but we hold only a life rent in our possession. It belongs to our children and to the children of the unnumbered generations of the future.

If you and we stand firm together the heritage will be safe, even though the world should be in a state of anarchy around us, but if the unspokeable horror of conflict should arise between us the heritage will be destroyed. You who hold the pen should be among the most influential of the world trustees. I beg you more consciously and more actively day by day and year by year to serve the trust and preserve the heritage of ordered freedom and human liberty.

POLICE THREATEN; CROOKS KEEP BUSY

While Chicago Thieves Are Warned Away, More Robberies in New York Are Reported.

(N. Y. Times.) While Acting Police Commissioner Leach was issuing a warning yesterday to Chicago crooks to stay away from this city, his subordinates were having a lively day with New York's own pointing to the large number of vacant cells in this city, detectives trying to solve the Palmer gem theft mystery were reporting that they had not been able to fill any of the cells or recover any part of the stolen gems and furs, which were valued by Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer at $767,000.

The biggest theft reported yesterday was that of nearly $30,000 in bonds and securities from the Union Sulphur Company in the Whitehall Building, but scores of smaller robberies came to light.

Chief Inspector Labey announced yesterday the formation of his annual special squad of detectives to watch for pickpockets and other thieves in the department stores during the Christmas shopping season.

Speaking of the recent police sweep-up of criminals in Chicago, Commissioner Leach outlined his plans for receiving lawless fugitives who get the idea that this city would be a nice place to spend the winter.

"We will meet them and put them in jail," he said. "There are still many vacancies in our jails, and I wish to serve notice in advance on all Chicago crooks and those from other cities to keep away from New York. We have enough policemen and detectives to meet and adequately cope with any situation that may arise in the wake of the Chicago raids. So the best thing for crooks who value their liberty is to stay away from this city."

Disregard Police "Deadlines." Disregarding police "deadlines," thieves some Saturday night of Sunday stole about $20,000 in bonds, cash

The Trying Days

It has been well said, a school teacher has more influence in shaping the lives of her scholars than their parents.

How necessary, then, is it that she should have a bright, clear brain, and be strong and vigorous in order that she may give them of her best.

The worry and the work, the strain and anxiety of a teacher's life are such as tell severely on the nervous system. Time and again teachers have had to give up good positions on account of a weak heart, run down health and shattered nerves.

To such Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills come as a boon and a blessing. Their purpose is to make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm, and thus build up the entire system to full strength and vitality.

Miss L. E. Hopkins, Kirkton, Ont., writes—"I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for weak heart. I was so nervous I had to leave school for two years. After I had taken five boxes of the pills I was able to go back to my school again, feeling in good health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ontario and securities from the safe of the Union Building at 117 Battery Place, New York City, on Sunday, at first believed to have been the property of one of the thieves who used it to cut cords to bind the servants, belonged to a member of the Police Department, who visited the house after the robbery. But it has not yet been returned to its alleged owner. Mrs. Palmer also turned over to the detectives a small tin box which she said had been found on the floor of an upstairs bedroom. She said it did not belong to her, and the detectives are trying to find out where it came from.

A man describing himself as Waino Anderson was arrested by the police yesterday as he ran out of the drug store of Edire Caracciolo at Madison Avenue and 125th Street with a handful of money. The proprietor said the man had snatched it from the cash register. Anderson admitted it and was taken to the West 125th Street Station. A man who called himself Frank Hill of Maywood, N. J., was arrested on suspicion of acting with Anderson.

Four men were arrested by the police of Montclair, N. J., yesterday as they were trying to break open a safe taken from the store of the National Tea Company at East Orange. Policemen heard the men hammering on the combination of the safe in a thick near the estate of Edmund B. Osborne, and with revolvers ready, crawled up on the party. The men tried to buy off the policemen with $800.

Other Robberies in Brooklyn. It came known yesterday that burglars entered the home of Mrs. E. Burdette Gair, daughter of Robert Gair, at 1148 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, last Tuesday, and stole $3,000 worth of jewelry, including some antique gems. Other places robbed in Brooklyn lately were the home of Mrs. M. J. Winter at 1077 Bergen Street, the grocery K. H. Muller at Bergen Street and Nostrand Avenue, and the apartment Mrs. Emily Pie at 1250 Bedford Avenue.

Detectives trying to solve the mystery of the robbery of Mrs. Charlotte King Palmer have so far run against stone walls in all directions in following their meagre clues. Captain Duane and other detectives visited Mrs. Palmer again yesterday in her home at 59 East Nineteenth

ACTRESS TELLS SECRET

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture. Jolee Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair and how to darken it with a home-made mixture: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make soft and glossy. To a half-pint of warm water add one ounce of bay rum, a small amount of Orlex and 1-4 ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought anywhere at a drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not fall out."

LEISURE AND WORK. (The Villager.) Leisure is not mere amusement; it is not freedom from work; leisure is the one of God's graces which our trouble life is most in need of, but leisure not an "after hours" matter; leisure what we must win back into both work and play, into life; leisure is what the employer wants as desperately as I clerk wants it. And it is just because leisure has been squeezed out, and it has been driven at a ludicrously small price to the hulk of a man's life, that he is so restless, and forced to leave his work, that human beings today are hating their work and seeking life somewhere outside it.

"Tanlac is the only thing that ever helped me, and that is saying a good deal, for I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get rid of my troubles," was the emphatic declaration made recently by Elie Cormier, of 740 Main street, Moncton, N. B.

"Seven years ago I had to leave my farm because I got too weak to do the work, and from then on my health continued to go down. My appetite left me, and I hardly ever ate a mouthful of breakfast. After meals I bloated up with gas so I couldn't walk for an hour. Honestly, I was hardly ever free from that light, bloated feeling. I dared not touch fats or anything rich, for I knew so well the misery it would cost me.

"Every home in my body seemed to ache with rheumatism and the pains in my arms, chest and back were almost unbearable. Many a night I didn't get a wink of sleep and some mornings I had such terrible headaches I could hardly get out of bed. I took medicine enough to stock a small sized drug store, but nothing gave me any permanent relief, and things were getting pretty gloomy for me.

"That was the shape I was in when I got Tanlac, but I had only taken a few doses before I got to feeling better. By the time I had finished the second bottle I was feeling fine, though I took two more to clinch the good work. Why, I can eat bacon for breakfast now, or just anything else I want and nothing ever hurts me. I never feel a touch of rheumatism and in fact all my aches and pains have left me, and I can work from sun up to sundown and feel fine all the time. I just can't say too much for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by the Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro; by G. W. McKay, Beaver Harbor; Willard J. Colwell, Evans; C. V. Parsons, Highland; John F. Mc...; Hanson, Lepreau; E. L. Conley, Leonardville; N. H. Johnson, ...; and by the leading druggists in every town.—(Adv't.)

Few people in Hartland or elsewhere know that right here in town there is one of the very finest strings of racing horses that was ever assembled in New Brunswick or Northern Maine. many call with good wishes on 60th anniversary. In celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. The drawing room was tastefully decorated for the occasion with pink roses and carnations. The table presented a very attractive appearance with its beautiful centre of yellow chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Colwell were assisting in receiving the visitors by their daughter, Mrs. W. C. Vincent of Winnipeg, and Miss Annie Colwell of Boston; their niece, Mrs. F. A. Kennedy of Boston, and sister, Miss Brittain of this city. During the afternoon, Mrs. E. B. Colwell and Mrs. A. Tapley poured and the serving was attended to by Misses Helen Simms, Dorothy Hunt, Margaret Coster and Mrs. R. L. Simms poured in the evening and Misses Maud Estabrook, Alice DeWolfe and Harriet Carson. Mr. and Mrs. Colwell's six daughters and daughter-in-law assisted in the drawing room.

All the visitors inscribed their signatures on an illuminated address which was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Colwell on Sunday in the Germain street Baptist church.

MUTT AND JEFF—AS A SKIPPER JEFF IS THERE LIKE A DUCK

SOAP MAGNATE VS. EXPERT IN OILS

Question as to Whether Purchaser of Picture Becomes Owner or Merely Trustee.

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

To what extent does the purchaser of a work of art become its absolute owner? What is a work of art? A British jury is about to answer both these questions, and we suppose it will be out not more than three or four years. They have been raised by a quarrel between Lord Leverhulme, author of Lifebuoy Soap and other popular works, and Augustus John, an English painter, who apparently is highly regarded in England, but whose fame has become world-wide only since Lord Leverhulme mutilated a picture painted by John. The picture was a portrait of Lord Leverhulme, seated in a chair, and the reproduction we have seen show his hair looking something like fudge, which may or may not have some connection with the merits of his soap for shampooing purposes. When the distinguished sitter was being painted he complained that the canvas of the artist was too small. Yet it was not long after the canvas had been delivered that he cut out the head and part of the shoulders, thus reducing the original picture by about one-fourth, and the remnant, consisting of arms, hands, chest and other parts and organs were shipped back to the painter.

Housekeeper's Mistake.
Naturally he was enraged, supposing that the masterpiece had been destroyed or that Leverhulme for some reason was dissatisfied with it. He demanded an explanation, and learned that it was due to the mistake of a housekeeper that the rim or rind of the painting had been sent to him. Lord Leverhulme had no intention whatever of affronting the artist. On the contrary he had so valued that part of the painting which concerned his own face that he desired to protect it against all hazards. He wanted to put it in his safe. But the safe was too small to contain the whole panorama and he had been obliged to cut out the face alone. The face was then put in his safe and there remained. Though there has been a heated correspondence on the matter we do not observe that the artist asked why, instead of making a smaller picture, Lord Leverhulme had not made a larger one. Nor do we quite understand that a safe is considered a suitable frame for a picture that is, as the painter alleges, a work of art.

Trustee or Owner.
The dispute narrows down to this assertion on the part of Lord Leverhulme—that a man may do what he likes with his own. The artist maintains that the purchaser of a work of art is really only its trustee—that he has no right to mutilate a great painting because he has happened to come into possession of it. Artists are unanimously with Augustus John. People who buy paintings, on the other hand, contend that when they pay for the artist for his work his interest in it is that they have a right to do with it what they please. Are they not to be permitted to choose whatever frame they like for a portrait? Can they not hang it in their homes? Are they to be dictated to as to what sort of background it shall have? The artistic consequence of a picture might not have it in the hands of an improper hanging, they say. Where is one to draw the line? One gathers that they are in the favor of drawing it round the neck of the impudent artists.

The Artists' Side.

The artists retort that while it is proper and necessary for a millionaire to buy a collection of Turners or some famous painting like the "Mona Lisa," he would not on that account be justified in destroying a great picture. The fact that a man has an immense fortune, nor the other fact that he has a desire to collect famous paintings does not necessarily imply that he is a judge of art. Can it be contended that any man of wealth is empowered to destroy paintings or sculpture which have been revered by experts for centuries? If so, it might easily be possible for a small group of millionaires to deprive the world of all the art treasures that remain in private hands. Indeed, the right of an artist to destroy his own works has been brought in question. If one can imagine Shakespeare in a fit of exasperation at the stupidity of the public or because he was depressed, tearing up the manuscript of Hamlet, we can get the point of view of those who say that a work of art by whomsoever produced or owned belongs to the world.

Injustice to John.
The artist's point of view is expressed by Albert Groll, American artist, who said in the New York Post that what Lord Leverhulme had discarded might perhaps have been invaluable. He said that he had been trying experiments in tempera, and added: "I have got something in this medium that I never got before. You can't tell when you are going to do that. How do we know that Augustus John didn't get something in the Leverhulme portrait that he never got before? If he did, the world was entitled to it." Another American artist says that if Leverhulme was dissatisfied with the picture he ought to have gone to the artist to have any corrections made. If a man is not pleased with the length of his coat-tails, he does not take a pair of scissors and shorten them. He refers the matter to the tailor.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.
Son Accused of Hestening Wealthy Father's Death.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 30.—Preliminary examination of Victor Check and his wife, Belle Check, of Topeka, Kansas, charged with murder in connection with the death of Victor Check's father, Thomas J. Check, here on the night of November 13, was begun in a justice of the peace court here.

Belle was expressed by court officials based on the number of witnesses summoned, that the hearing would last about two weeks. Dr. L. Dameron, the first witness, testified he was summoned to the Check apartments and found the elder Check lying on a bed dead. He said there was an abrasion on one hand. He said the younger Check told him he had died while in an automobile. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Check are alleged, in the murder charge to have subjected Check, who was reputed wealthy, to "brutal and inhuman treatment," calculated to hasten his death.

THE DRY SPOTS IN SCOTLAND

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Edinburgh, Nov. 12.—Scotland has at least five dry spots; Killyth, Sanguhar, Kirkintilloch, Auchtermarder and Rutherglen, as the result of the "local veto" liquor poll taken this month under the Temperance Act.

Two towns, Newport and Langholm, voted for a limitation in the saloon traffic and the thirty-seven other Scottish localities voted for "no change."

Everywhere the polling caused great excitement, and there was a lively poster campaign. Robert Burns' dictum: "Freedom and whisky gang together" was the slogan of the anti-prohibitionist forces.

In Aberdeen "dry" placards appeared bearing the words "Hell is the well of whisky." To this "wet" supporters retorted with a placard "O death, where is thy sting?"

In Glasgow twenty-four wards voted "no change," nine for limitation and four for abolition of saloon licenses. As a result, Glasgow's 1,604 saloons will be reduced by ninety-nine and there was much drinking of health to William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson, the American campaigner, with empty glasses turned down.

"We are not disheartened," said Colonel Kyle, who led the prohibitionist attack. "It is good work to have abolished ninety-nine saloon licenses in Glasgow, and when we attack again, it will be different."

The people most perturbed are the church leaders. In the light of the results they are asking if the churches have the influence in national life which they usually claim.

It will be three years before another poll can be taken. Although Glasgow, where the battle raged most fiercely, remains wet, prohibitionists derive encouragement from the large number of individual votes in that city on their side: 142,248 as against 128,260 for "no change," and the London Evening News judges that next time these figures may change places.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson is quoted by the London Daily Graphic as saying that the no-license people of Scotland, particularly Glasgow, did far better in this first prohibition poll than was ever accomplished in any American no-license election.

"The returns from Glasgow show," he said, "that nearly as many voted for no license or reduction of licenses as for 'no change.' This is better than any American city similar to Glasgow did at twenty years balloting."

SUGAR MAY DROP TO 9 CENTS AT RETAIL IN THE STATES

Federal Company Lowers the Wholesale Price to 8 3/4—Exceptional "Old Crop."

(New York Evening Post.)
When the "new crop" sugar begins to pour into American markets within the next few weeks from Louisiana, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and elsewhere, American wholesale and retail sugar interests will be carrying over the largest stocks of "old crop" sugar in the history of the sugar refining business in the United States, predicted an official of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, in explaining the reduction in price of refined sugar to 8 3/4 cents a pound.

This is the lowest wholesale quotation made by any sugar refining company in recent months. Other firms are listing refined sugar at from 9 to 9 1/2 cents a pound. Further reductions are prophesied because of the enormous

The mere fact that some brands of baking powder have the words "No Alum" on the label is not sufficient proof that they are what they are represented to be. Our chemists find a good many have "No Alum" on the outside but large quantities of it inside.

stocks of "old crop" sugar on hand. The Federal Company alone will have 750,000 pounds on hand, it is said.

The normal price differential between wholesale and retail prices is 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents a pound, representing broker's and retailer's profits, said this official, but because many retailers are already overstocked it was said that the price differential will be slashed without doubt to a much smaller figure. According to this information consumers should be able soon to buy sugar at a price in the neighborhood of nine cents a pound.
