MR. McLELLAN'S PLATFORM.

Mr. H. R. McLellan has come to the conclusion that the New Brunswick Power Company must go. He sees nothing else for it. It is only encumbering the ground in St. John, and hindering all prospects of development.

RECOGNIZING THE SOVIETS.

Premier Lloyd George in his speech on Monday, in the House of Commons, spoke in a somewhat more definite way of the recognition of the Russian Soviet Government than the early reports indicated.

Those who came to hear Mr. McLellan talk, had quite a long time to wait while he got down to that matter. He seemed loth to leave the Power Company, and in dealing with it, he drew on his imagination quite a lot when facts failed him.

"If I had been in Mayor Schofield's place since 1920, I would have had a distribution plant erected and all ready for operation by this time," remarked the would-be mayor.

MR. IRVINE PROTESTS.

Mr. W. Irvine, Labor, M. P. for Calgary East, says he was misreported in the press account of his Montreal speech, such account having attributed to him the remark that the old people are no good, and the further Christian utterance that "if we had 600,000 first-class funerals tomorrow of people of 45 and up, it would help."

MR. VENIOT HITS BELOW THE BELT.

On another page in this issue we publish a letter written to Premier Foster by Mr. J. D. Palmer of Fredericton, who prior to the advent of the Foster Government was a Director and also Treasurer of the St. John & Quebec Railway Company, in which he takes strong exception to some remarks made by Hon. Mr. Veniot in the course of a recent speech in the Legislature, which implied to the then Board of Directors of the railway, grave impropriety of conduct.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN MR. IRVINE AND MR. McLELLAN.

The difference between Mr. Irvine's meeting and Mr. McLellan's lies in the fact that the former proposed a clear cut scheme for dealing with the hydro question, whilst Mr. McLellan had nothing to offer but support for the Power Company. The Mayor's policy may not be the best possible, but it is at least the most original. Mr. McLellan's leader's use of authority was plain in the

WHAT OTHERS SAY

The British Drink Bill.

National habits, especially that which is expressed in the drinking of alcohol, change slowly in this country, and G. B. Wilson's annual report on the national drink bill contains no shocks for anyone hardened to the idea that at post-war values we are pretty certain to be consuming somewhere between 400 and 500 million worth of alcohol.

France and the Pact.

As France is dependent for her own solvency on the payment by Germany of at least a very substantial portion of Germany's debt, it is obvious that no country can be more interested than France in stabilizing the European exchange and in the political and economic restoration of the countries of Europe than France herself.

A Very Lethal Weapon.

Mr. Michael Collins is a resourceful strategist. He has been found a very powerful weapon to beat against the "enemies" of the Irish Free State in the South—the weapon of ridicule.

The New Feminism and the Old.

There probably is a feminism that is not content with system under which men are permitted to think for the government, but it is not clear that this feminism is in the majority.

Dacoity Increases Amongst Indians

Prevention of Collisions, It is Said, Largely Depends Upon Tact of Police and Military.

London, April 6.—Official information received here from India shows that the native strike upon the East Indian railway which has proved so detrimental to business in Calcutta is now active along only a small section of the line. The revolutionary movement, The Christian Science Monitor learns, continues among the villagers alike in the United Provinces and in the Punjab, where semi-educated Indian agitators still go about holding open-air meetings at which they abuse Europeans, and incite the ignorant village youths to band themselves together to intimidate local storekeepers from selling imported cotton cloth and to interfere with the work of the local native tax collectors.

GERMANY TURNS CORNER IN HER TRADE BALANCE

Now Has Surplus With Which to Meet Reparation Payments—Coal Output Increased.

Berlin, April 6.—February trade statistics indicate that Germany probably has turned the corner in establishing a positive balance of trade from which to pay reparations. The surplus of exports over imports was registered for the third consecutive month in February, with a surplus of 2,500,000,000 marks, or about $12,000,000 at the average rate of exchange prevailing in February, compared with about $8,000,000 in January. This surplus would be about adequate if maintained throughout the year at the February rate, and when supplemented by the so-called invisible balance of money spent in the country by foreign visitors to provide Germany with the necessary foreign credits to meet the cash reparations payment on the scale proposed by the reparations committee of 1922.

Increases Coal Output
The annual report of the Federal Fuel Board shows that while coal production in the United States during 1921, fell off heavily during 1921, Germany was able to increase her output materially, compared with 1920, notably in the Ruhr valley, the principal coal producing area.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, April 6.—Pressure is high on the Atlantic and Pacific coast, while a trough of low extends from Manitoba to the Southwest States. The weather has been mild today over the Dominion with light showers in Western Ontario and fairly heavy rains in the northern part of the province.

Forecast
Maritime—Moderate winds, fair and comparatively mild.
Northern New England—Cloudy and somewhat warmer Friday; showers Friday night and Saturday; moderate southerly winds.

AROUND THE CITY

FUNDS FOR HOME
A successful tea and sale was held at the Provincial Memorial Home yesterday in aid of funds for the Home. Mrs. Francis Kerr was the general convener.

TRAIN DELAYED
The C. P. R. train from Montreal, due here yesterday morning at one o'clock, did not get in until after one o'clock, the delay being due to a freight train jumping the tracks at a point west of Mattawamkeuc.

POLICE COURT
The only matter of business before the police court yesterday was the case of Pietro Meyer, charged with driving and hitting around the C. N. R. coach house on Wednesday night. The accused was remanded.

CALIFORNIA AFTER DULSE
The Board of Trade yesterday received a request from a California concern for information concerning our duties and how to go about getting a supply.

CUT CAUSED STRIKE
A cut in pay caused a number of employees of the C. N. R. bridge and building department to go on strike yesterday. The men, who were removing some rock from an old wharf at Courtenay Bay, had their pay reduced from thirty cents to twenty-five cents per hour.

COMMUNICATION RECEIVED
A communication was received yesterday by the Board of Trade from the Canadian Traffic League to the effect that they were recommending to the Railway Association the abolition of the freight surcharge imposed during the war.

SUMMER TIME TABLE
A conference in connection with the summer time table on the C. P. R. New Brunswick district was held in General Superintendent J. Woodman's office yesterday morning. In addition to Mr. Woodman, those present were J. R. Gilliland, superintendent at Woodstock, J. H. Boyle, superintendent at Brownville, R. B. Merriman, chief dispatcher at Woodstock, and R. A. Sewell, car service agent for the New Brunswick district.

PATIENTS ENTERTAINED
The patients and staff of the County Hospital at East St. John, were entertained last evening by the St. Mary's Band, who rendered a pleasing programme of band selections, vocal solos, and choruses. The band was stationed in the main hall, and by the opening of the doors in all the wards the music was carried to every section of the building. The patients were deeply grateful to the band for their thoughtful kindness, and applauded each selection heartily.

SALAO TEA HELD
An air of spring and the coming Easter tide prevailed in the decorating scheme at the Salao Tea and Sale given in the Central Baptist church yesterday afternoon and evening by the Wiling Workers. The affair was well patronized, the substantial sum realized will be devoted to church purposes.

Those in charge were: General convener, Mrs. C. J. Stames; finance work, Mrs. H. P. Everett, Mrs. J. H. Bond and Mrs. T. N. Davidson; apron table, Mrs. George Scaplan, Mrs. J. J. O'Neil and Mrs. Porter; book, Miss L. Daniel; tea tables, Mrs. J. B. Hurd, Mrs. C. MacFarlane, Mrs. I. Hoar, Mrs. F. S. Alwood, Mrs. M. E. Campbell, Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. S. A. Belyea; salad and cake committee, Mrs. Stankhouse, Mrs. Ellison, Mrs. Fulton, Mrs. E. W. Smith, Mrs. B. Brundage and Mrs. T. M. Belyea.

LEXINGTON AND ROAMER MOTOR CARS

Through the courtesy of Wm. Fife and Co., M. R. Chipman, of Halifax, will be located at the Gray Dert booth for the remaining two days of the Motor Show. Mr. Chipman is covering the Eastern Canadian territory for Lexington and Roamer motor cars. An attractive proposition is open to prospective dealers to handle one or both of these cars. The Lexington, powered with the famous Anster Motor, is an exceptional car. The Roamer is a distinctive car equipped with either the Continental or 4-cylinder Duesenberg motor. The Duesenberg-powered Roamer holds the world's stock chassis record for speed. Mr. Chipman will be pleased to interview dealers or individual prospective owners at the Gray Dert booth at the Show or at the Royal Hotel. It will interest all motorists to investigate the merits of these unusual cars.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR DEALT WITH THE ISSUES OF THE PRESENT CIVIC CAMPAIGN

H. R. McLellan Favors Expropriation of Power Co. Plant, City to Run Street Railway, Scrap Gas Plant, Immediate Distribution of Current from Musquash—Herbert Philips Discussed Ross Report.

The Imperial Theatre was packed to capacity last evening to hear H. R. McLellan, candidate for the office of mayor, deal with the issues of the present civic campaign, and he was given a most attentive hearing. His platform, he announced, has no deal with the Power Co. and immediate distribution of the current available from Musquash. In dealing with this phase of the question he rather favored the expropriation of the present plant of the Power Co., the city to run the street railway and scrap the gas plant. A feature of his address was a vicious attack on the present city council alleging that they were in the pay of the "Big interests" and dangled to the tune their masters piped.

Mr. Philips, the contractor for the development at Musquash, seems to be reviving his opinion of the capabilities of the Musquash plant all the time. In discussing the Ross report he took occasion to refer to stored water, and stated they had in storage there enough to supply the city with energy for a year at the present rate of consumption of 4,900,000 k.w.h., exclusive of the street railway, suppose there was not a drop of rain fell. In this he comes away below Mr. Ross, who gives the minimum yearly production of 9,000,000 k.w.h. Mr. Philips seemed very anxious about what the St. John Standard was doing, and paid considerable attention to it, evidently something which he said hurt.

Alexander Corbet, candidate for commissioner was present and before the close of the meeting recited his platform as it had appeared in the press, for the benefit of an audience which was rapidly leaving the house. R. A. Willett

R. A. Willett, president of the United Organizations, and of the Hardware Clerks' Association, the chairman of the evening, opened the meeting by congratulating the large audience present for the live interest they showed in the question at issue. He said that if ever there was a time in the history of the city in which the citizens had been called upon to vote on, and for a principle, it was at this present time.

Mayor Schofield had by the stand he had taken on municipal ownership, he said, forced the United Organizations into the opposite camp. That organization believed that a city capable of producing such a man as Charlie Gorman and Milton Belyea, with such manufacturers as T. S. Simms and the Estabrooks Co. could compete successfully through municipal ownership with the other cities of the Dominion.

The United Organizations, he said, felt that if the hydro was handed over to the N. B. Power Co. for one year, or even for one month, it would be handed over to them forever. Mr. Willett then introduced Herbert Philips, whom he described as a man who had done more in an effort to secure cheap power and light for the city, than any other, and whom he felt satisfied would return to the satisfaction of his hearers, the arguments advanced by Mr. Ross.

Herbert Philips. Mr. Philips said he was present at the request of the United Organizations of St. John to explain what they stood for, and for what they had been working, and their position in the present situation.

The organization, he said, was composed of the Hardware Clerks' Association, the Dry Goods Clerks' Association, one lodge of the Sons of England, and the Trades and Labor Council, who had united for the purpose of throwing some light on the Hydro situation. They had been called upon to make a statement, but he considered had accomplished refuted all criticism. Mr. Philips said that to his mind it seemed that the mayor in considering the hydro question viewed it through a spy glass. In considering municipal ownership he looked at it from the end that made the advantages look small, and used the other side of the question, and the advantages looked large.

The trouble with City Hall, Mr. Philips said, was that they were trying to reconcile the interests of the city, the Power Company, and the Power Company. This, he said, demonstrated the futility of the mayor's platform, because the interests of the Power Co. and the city could never be made the same. Mr. Philips said he thought he was engineer enough to submit a report to the people that they could understand, and he then exhibited two reports. One, he said, was the Ross report, the other, he claimed, had been published by The Standard, who he said, he presumed had also distributed it.

The Standard's report, he said, set forth that the cost of electricity generated by public ownership in Ontario amounted to from $150 to $160 per h. p.; the Ross report said that the Musquash power would cost nine times more than Ontario power, which, he continued, meant that it would cost $1,440, or twenty times what it really would cost.

The statements in both reports, he said, were true in a fashion, but were not fair, and it was by such half truths that the reports were used to bolster up the campaign against public ownership. Mr. Ross, he said, had spoken of "stored water" in a manner that might lead the people to believe it was different from any other kind. To that he would say that it was not, and in fact was the only kind that could be used for power purposes.

Mr. Ross said that it required 900 cu. ft. of water to generate 1 k.w.h., and that the amount of power re-

Message Conveyed To G.W.V.A. Members

R. B. Maxwell, Dominion President, Addressed Large Gathering of Veterans Last Evening.

A spirit of unrest is being permeated throughout Canada today, not due to the aftermath of the war, but deriving its existence from the revolutionary principles of secret organizations on the continent of Europe, whose insidious propaganda has reached into the heart of this country, and is being used as a factor towards the destruction of society and civilization on this continent. Such was part of the message conveyed last evening to the members of the British Empire Service League, at the meeting held in the G. W. V. A. hall on Wellington Street. The hall was filled, and Mr. Maxwell's stirring address made a great impression on his hearers.

The speaker said that the G. W. V. A. was in better shape today than it had ever been since its inception, and had obtained more benefits for ex-service men than any similar organization in the world. At present there were 877 branches of the G. W. V. A. in the Dominion, and the great amount of good work they were doing was well illustrated by the fact that, since last fall, 700 branches had their own funds, had expended $1,400,000 in cash and $1,500,000 in food and clothing, among other work of relieving suffering ex-service men and their dependents.

Mr. Maxwell read the various resolutions and recommendations which had been submitted to the Dominion executive of the Association, dealing with gratuity legislation, land settlement, pensions, distribution of the national funds, and other features of paramount interest to ex-service men. The speaker said that a national outlook must have a national outlook, and in order to have this, they must have an international outlook. They must keep step with the other nations in this direction, and had been the suggestion of the G. W. V. A. for a conference of all ex-service men in the Empire. This conference would be held in Cape Town about a year ago, and the outcome was the formation of the British Empire Service League, an event of outstanding importance in the world's history. This league consists of a number of organizations banded together for peace, not war, and it will be a potent factor in preserving the world's peace in the years to come.

In the course of his remarks on the activities of the South African conference, Mr. Maxwell paid a tribute to Field Marshal Earl Haig, whom he described as the friend of all ex-service men. He also paid a tribute to the work being carried on by the American Legion.

In dealing with the national problem of Canada and the situations confronting all citizens, the speaker made reference to the tendency which is becoming evident in Canada to disintegrate and break up into groups, a situation which, if not combated speedily, will have a serious effect on the country as a whole. He attributed this state of affairs to an ignorant effort on the part of "democratic" organizations on the continent of Europe in spreading insidious propaganda, with a view to the destruction of society and civilization on this continent. He said that there was force at work, striving to the utmost to create a spirit of unrest throughout the country, and there was only one way to combat this movement.

Canadians must forget all differences of opinion, and get closer together by developing that moral fibre which exists in the people today as it existed in our Anglo-Saxon forefathers. The people must get away from the feeling of pessimism which seems to exist, and by their united effort prevent such propaganda from taking root, and strive to keep Canada in its position of one of the foremost nations of the world.

At the close of the speaker's address Hon. E. J. Ritchie, in a short but eloquent speech, moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Maxwell for his inspiring message. The motion was seconded in a brief address by Colonel W. H. Harson.

During the course of the evening, pleasing solos were rendered by Mrs. Louis LeLacheur and Thomas Guy, Fred Joyce and Fred Irvine.

GAVE A SHOWER

The members of the Edmund St. Methodist choir last evening gave a shower at the home of the choir leader, E. E. Thomas, in honor of one of their number, Miss Mabel Shaw, who is soon to be one of the bridesmaids at a happy event. Miss Shaw was made the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts. A pleasant evening was spent in song and music and dining refreshments were served by Mrs. Thomas.

EASTER EDITION

Rusty Red Among The Favored Tones For Early Spring

A feeling of spring in the air has brought out a regiment of new hats, mostly toques and hats with cloche brims, wrote a Paris correspondent recently. A pleasant rusty red is the smartest color, but black is frequent. Straw and chamode leather, or suede, are used together, straw is trimmed with velvet (a rope of velvet round the base of the crown.) Toques are made with Petersham, with corded ribbons, and some show three materials, straw, ribbons, and flowers. Ribbon ruchings trim hats of all kinds; so do feathers, curled and uncurled. Black hats may have a single note of color as trimmings, and the old-fashioned silk pom-pom has been revived. It is set under the brim at the side, not on it. The fashion of wearing the hat askew, instead of straight over the brow, is likely to return; exaggerated brims are less popular than brims of moderate widths, starting from crowns, draped or not, of reasonable proportions.

St. John Stores Are Offering Best The Market Affords

In presenting this Spring Fashion to the people of St. John, The Standard takes pride in the news matter gathered for its columns. The stores of St. John have given the most cordial co-operation in the preparation of the special news matter of this issue, and every article mentioned within these columns can be found in one or more of the shops of St. John. The information which is given regarding the correct modes of the season has been gleaned from many sources, and is the last word from the big wholesale firms of this Country and from abroad. The fact that St. John has something of every line of materials, and of every type of fashion here described speaks volumes for the enterprise and the up-to-date methods of our City merchants and reflects great credit upon them. The people of New Brunswick who wish for the best and the newest may have no hesitancy in selecting from St. John stores the type which pleases them, knowing that they will be rightly guided in their choice and given the best the market affords.

Spring Footwear

TAN AND BLACK FOR FOOTWEAR

Ultra High Heel Has Been Deposed by Medium and Low.

Suitable footwear is essential for the well-dressed woman, and our shoe advertisers possess a stock of shoes correct for every occasion.

The squeezing of feet into shoes not having the proper dimensions of length and breadth is not only uncomfortable but responsible for many foot deformities, and the shoe loses all its style and appearance, with the result that the wearer is dismissed as being ill-shod. However, persons on a street may be observed with heels all on one side? This is largely due to bad fitting. The salons of these firms possess special charts, whereby the most accurate measurements may be taken of the peculiarities of the individual foot.

The present season's display of footwear offers a large choice of footwear in different leathers and designs. Tan and black walking oxfords in semi-brogue and plain styles are decidedly in popular demand, while the patent leather styles are also prominent. Medium and low heels are the vogue for the coming season, the ultra high heel, which was so uncomfortable for walking, having greatly disappeared from the showcases.

While black and tan oxfords are to be worn for the immediate season, the various sport shoes are to be donned as the spring advances. These are made in grey leather and patent combination, black and white, tan and white, and other range of contrasts also are obtainable.

With the brown and black oxfords low cut sport spats may be worn. The popularity of patent leather shoes is still maintained, and a large selection of these is displayed. These shoes, which are worn on moderately smart occasions, are mostly in combination effects of patent and grey with the medium heel. Novelty is introduced with the new design. Hand-turned shoes after the sandal model in patent leather is in the ascendant, while ast-in pumps, rather plain, but some beaded with pretty designs, also enjoy popularity. Some models have one strap, while others have two and three.

For practical every day wear the tan shoes, some plain, and others semi-brogues, are decidedly attractive, while shoes in black kid or satin are shown in models suitable for any occasion. A patent leather shoe designed after the sandal model has a high-cut back, the shoe being decorated with insertion of yellow leather, which gives a very attractive appearance. White kid shoes with the moderate heel and one strap, and others in buckskin with two straps are offered for dress occasions.

Spat are given an amount of smart decoration with brown or black leather binding, or cut leather at the end. These are especially to be recommended for use with oxfords.

A Mean Distinction.

Domestic (tremblingly): "Oh, please mum, I hear burglars in the house."
Mrs. Blinks (reassuringly):

PARIS DICTATES LONGER SKIRTS

Spring Fashions Suggest Novelties in Materials and Colors.

The new models shown this season suggest that there will be but little change in summer dresses; straight, slim draperies and long waist lines are general. The skirts are slightly longer and quite narrow. Sleeves are in pleasant, loose and long, or three-quarter lengths. The necks are low and rounded, or almost straight across the shoulder.

The novelties are in the materials, and the way they are used—one most effective model as seen in the Oak Hill Women's Shop, is of Black and White Crepe Knit—the skirt of black. The long waist of white, with tiny bias bands of black around neck, down side front and around the low waist line. A cape of the Black Crepe Knit lined with White Georgette, completes this striking costume. Dresses of Canton crepes are also extensively shown, and black with a touch of bright color in sleeves or embroidery, seems to stand in high favor. Tailor Modes are either very plain and classic, or fantastic and youthful. Short, loose coats elaborately embroidered, are worn over a full dress of the same material, or over a dress of cloth, combined with crepe knit or Canton. These three-piece knit suits as they are called, are extensively smart and are most becoming.

One very lovely model seen at the Oak Hill Women's Shop is of fine polart twill. The skirt set on a low waist line, while the upper part is of tan crepe knit, a very full cape coat, beautifully in shades of tan, brown and grey, shades, and fastened by a single buckle, completes the costume.

Sport Suits are also greatly in the fore, as becoming spring attire. Tweeds and Homespun predominate, and some of them have stripe or check skirts with plain coats. Bright shades as Porcelain Blue and Rose are very popular.

This summer capes are so graceful, light and easy to wear, that they make a good finish to a summer frock. Many dislike wearing a dress without some sort of extra garment out of doors, and these capes, long and fitting on the shoulders, and not too full, supply a long felt want.

For early spring wear, Tweed mixtures and Polo Cloths, dressy Bolinas, or fine Veltour coats, are equally in demand, and are made in the belted, notch collar styles, or have backs, full collars and wide sleeves. One novel feature in the more dressy models is the embroidery or stitching on the sleeves.

Skirts, Blouses, Gloves and Hosiery are shown in a wide variety of shades and fabrics. A glance of the new fashions as seen in the Oak Hill Women's Shop leaves a pleasant impression, as if a moderating finger had been passed over everything, there is gaiety and nothing outrageous.

"Most likely it's Mr. Blinks just in from the club."
Domestic (positively): "No, mum, it's burglars. They haven't stumbled against anything at all."

Spring Styles For Women

ONE CAN TALK FURS YEAR ROUND WITHOUT BEING OUT OF SEASON

Moleskin Favored for Spring Wear — Chokers and Small Neckpieces Especially Featured—Variation in Capes.

In the past it was the custom to bring out one's fur at the beginning of winter, but all that is changed in the mode of today, and the women of fashion never abandon, even temporarily, her fur cape, her scarf of fox, her coat of broadtail. At present, one can talk of furs the year round without danger of appearing out of season, and it is clear, that if furs are no longer laid aside, it is because women dress much more lightly beneath them, so that even in warm rooms they find the added warmth of the fur pleasant, which leads to rather charming effects and also to the creation of original fur wraps.

MOLESKIN for spring wear, is being featured by H. MONT, JONES, LTD. The place of honor in an attractive exhibition of spring furs in their establishment is devoted to an exhibit of the finest examples of this beautiful fur.

Chokers and small neckpieces are, of course, especially featured for spring wear, although numerous moleskin stoles, capes and coats are also on view. The chokers are of various sizes and lengths, from the most conventional short straight out choker with square ends to the most elaborate triumphs of the furriers' craftsmanship. Moleskin, however, is too rich a fur to require much elaborate treatment. It is only its adaptability that tempts the furrier to measure his skill in its improvement. Variations of the conventional moleskin choker include crossed pieces, slit ends, pointed, triangular and round ends, decorated ends with fur balls.

SOME EVENING GOWNS

Draped at Back and Full in Skirts.

The new point about evening gowns—there are two new points, in fact—is that they shall be very much draped at the back or that they shall be full and fluffy in the skirts. Of course, these are two extremes. But the dress designers seem to be negotiating women more largely into two classes the figure. Then over it was imposed a balloon skirt of pink silk net. And, while the net was made into many layers and was as frothy and flimsy as it could be, it still was transparent enough to show the draping through its surface.

A draped gown was done in a shade of peacock green with a shade of a purple tinge to it. It was the proud possessor of two lower, very thin trains that started at the waistline and strung out across the platform of the Fashion Show for many yards. Where the train started there were bunches of purple marabou to set it going and then on the ends of the trains to weigh them and make them drag in that sinking, interesting way that trains have when they are made of bunches of the purple marabou. These feather patches were the only trimming that was visible on the dress and they gave the newest, nicest sort of an effect. Then, to make matters even more picturesque, the stunning, tall model who wore the gown carried a large, spread fan of purple ostrich feathers.

CAPE COMPLETES THE COSTUME

Of Circular Type and of Heavy Material for Season's Style.

For knickers and for suits and, last, but not by any means least, for the one-piece and the sleeveless dress, there is the cape to make the costume complete. Capes for sporting clothes seem to be almost a necessity of the present season. They are straight and quite inconspicuous in their general nature, and they are made to be, frankly, an extra covering of warmth as well as an extremely good-looking adjunct to the sport suit as it has always existed.

Another fascinating instance is the afternoon model in Bermuda crepe. The kimona sleeves are slashed to the shoulders and steel nail-heads and beads are interspersed with grey-like circles that glitter and dangle most becomingly from panels and sleeve edges. Tiny beads of sea green crystal are looped in circular motifs on the bodice and the neck. The neck outline is beaded, the narrow belt is heavily beaded and causes the plain bodice to blend slightly.

FASHION DICTATES PLENTY OF COLOR

Dominant Note in Tweed and Homespun Suits and Silken Gowns—Mantels Like Cape.

The spirit of spring has entered in to appear this season perhaps as never before. There is a joyous note in the colorings that will appeal to all, and particularly to those who welcome the coming of bright skies and warmer days in genuine delight, over the sense of freedom that spring days bring.

Designers have brought from many countries and many ages, the designs from which they have successfully evolved the lovely gowns for spring. This year it is color that counts. There are new colors, new tones, many of which will serve for themselves a permanent place by their beauty and appeal. This is particularly true of the tweed and homespun dress and the silken gowns for afternoon wear.

Among the latter one finds color and beads, beads everywhere, used so cleverly that other trimming is unnecessary. Gowns of satin backed crepe in the new and lovely periwinkle blue, shows steel beads used in a triple scalloped effect on the skirt and short kimona sleeves. The neck outline is beaded, the narrow belt is heavily beaded and causes the plain bodice to blend slightly.

Another fascinating instance is the afternoon model in Bermuda crepe. The kimona sleeves are slashed to the shoulders and steel nail-heads and beads are interspersed with grey-like circles that glitter and dangle most becomingly from panels and sleeve edges.

Taffeta, Canton crepe, satin-backed crepes and georgettes are the fashionable silks for afternoon wear and there's seldom anything else used for models that will be worn to teas and club affairs.

A Reminiscent Note.

There is a quaint reminiscence of great-grandmother's time to a gown of navy taffeta. The bonnet skirt has evenly spaced bands of two-inch black velvet ribbon which terminate with bows on either side of the front panel. The long-waisted bodice is shirred at the centre fastening and has more of the fascinating black velvet bows. The tiny puffed sleeves are drawn into a band of black velvet which also terminates in a bow.

Color runs riot in the lovely dance frocks. One in which georgette and taffeta are combined is in aquamarine. The centre panel of the georgette skirt is cross-barred in silver hemstitching and partly conceals a wreath of ribbon roses and leaves. The billowy overskirt of the taffeta has insets of georgette on which are posed flower wreaths encircled with double quillings of silver edged silk. These old-fashioned, new-fashioned quillings also encircle the girdle and overskirt.

with the suits that they look unmissably like parts of the same costume. Then, of course, the beauty of these extra yards is that they can be worn with other costumes if the occasion demands.

homespuns are also used for knicker suits.

Hiding habits are, of course, in the very serviceable wool mixtures and tweeds, chiefly in pla checks and leather tones. The little lady of 12 may be as smartly attired for her morning gallop as her older sister or mother.

Blouses are stepping out into prominence once more, for with suits taking the lead in spring attire, blouses must of necessity be considered. A wealth of old world art has been employed by designers, and the peasant embroidery of many nations has been used with striking effect. Crepe de Chine, the Alton-crepe are used, and whether in white or the brilliant tones, display vivid colorings in the embroidery motifs and designs.

Faggoting, cluster tucking and open work tubing stand high among the trimming.

One can but hint at the trend of fashion in millinery, for surely no other season ever saw such a display. Hats, there are favored types, but the range of styles covers everything from the closest fitting little hats to the large picturesque affairs.

Many of the hats are transparent horse-hair, crin and mohair with jet to give weight and emphasis. Street lists are marked by the use of color which has invaded the ranks of tailored hats, formerly shown in every quiet shade. There are quilt trimmed mushrooms, flower toques, sport hats whose brims have taken strangely fascinating quirks and softly draped laque satin. Flowers, feathers, quills and bird motifs lend captivating air to many hats and there are many saliors as well.

FINE CONCERT IN LUDLOW ST. CHURCH

Excellent Programme of Solos Readings, Dialogues and Choruses Greatly Enjoyed.

The large audience which gathered in Ludlow Street Baptist vestry last evening heard a fine concert and they were not slow in expressing their appreciation of the entertainment by liberal applause of the various numbers. The concert had been arranged by Deacon John F. Ring but in his absence it was conducted by George Vincent, assisted by Miss L. French and Eric F. Ring.

The first part of the programme consisted of the following numbers: Reading, Mrs. Bernard; solo, Miss Carrie Durkin; duet, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard; duet, Mrs. Brookins and Mrs. Peterson; solo, Mrs. Peterson; twenty minute reading, Miss Pearl Wayne.

The second part consisted of a dialogue, "Cross and Crown," chorus, "Soldiers of the Cross"; recitation, Miss Black; chorus, "At the Cross"; duet, Misses Carvill; choruses, "Stand up for Jesus," "Must Jesus bear the Cross Alone" and "All hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Those taking part in the choruses were Misses S. Bourke, M. Stinson, E. Black, F. Moore, H. Moore, A. McHarg, A. Clark, E. McLeod, R. Carvill, G. Belyea and little Moss O. Gray. Miss M. E. Mullin presided at the piano.

Dr. W. S. Carter of Fredericton, chief superintendent of education, is in the city and is registered at the Dufferin.

DELIGHTFUL SPRING FURS

at H. Mont, Jones, Ltd.

The Sprightly Choker

The Spring costume is never complete without that air of grace and elegance which the soft richness of a piece of fine Fur will supply. Fashion favors the choker, which may be presented in any of the smaller pelts, made up in a natural animal effect. There may be but one lovely skin, as pictured above, or there may be two or even three skins, but whatever the number of skins the quality must be unquestionable. The H. Mont Jones name on the label is your guarantee of both Quality and Value. Shown in Mole, Ermine, Seal, Mink, Opossum, Sable, Marten, etc. at most reasonable prices.

Prices from $10.00 upwards.

Foxes

The rich deep fur of the Fox, the beautiful shade tones, the luxurious effect which it lends, will render the Fox choker most popular this season. Shown in Taupe, Lucille, Black, Red, Cross, Blue and Silver. Prices from $25.00 upwards.

Spring Styles For Men

TWEEDS POPULAR FABRICS IN CLOTHES FOR MEN

Style, fit and wear are the indispensable factors in good clothes. Without any one of them they are not good clothes. Our advertisers in this issue, making a specialty of supplying men's clothing requirements, are showing garments with all the factors that go to make a "dressed man."

For the spring business tweeds are assuming an important role, and are meeting with the favor anticipated. While they run largely to the sport models for the young men, retailers state "there are no longer any old men," and they expect to do a fair share of business on tweeds with what was formerly regarded as conservative trade. It is pointed out that they possess the "snap" requisite for spring wear, and that good looking garments can be offered in tweeds at a moderate price. In general the popular tweeds are in plain weaves, twills and bird's eye effect. There are many novel effects being offered in this fabric.

Overcoats in this fabric are the best sellers, and fancy back effects are very prominent and popular.

COSSACK MODELS ARE NOW BEING SHOWN IN BOOTS

Turned Down Collar Reveals Inlaid Design in Grey Suede.

Modern shoemakers design such a variety of styles made in very different leathers that ability to distinguish footwear appropriate for the various social occasions is an essential qualification for women.

Recently the younger women have taken to the so-called golf oxfords in combinations of smoked calf with dark Russia calf in strap saddles with leather and rubber soles and plain toes. This style is worn with woollen hose. In regular oxfords, plain and brogue patterns are sold freely in light and dark colors, and buckles are used exclusively, some with three and four in the place of eyelets, while some use the lap with buckles at the side. Patent cut oxfords are also very popular and straps with cut-outs at front instead of tips in patent are also favored.

Gun metal oxfords in plain and wing tips with low cut heels, are in demand, and this style also may be obtained with buckles, both in nickel and brass. Grey and black suede is used in oxfords of the better grade, and the same leathers are also featured in light wells in one and two-strap patterns. Black kid oxfords on narrow toes with both low and high heels are being displayed. The popular taste seeming to favor that blacks are best in high cuts, with glazed kid in front; patent button with Louis heels being next in popularity.

Apart from weather conditions, low cuts still set the pace in women's shoes. The only apparent feature noticeable is that in really cold weather the Oxford patterns are demanded. For the spring months, however, the low cut with straps are the choice.

Straps and Fashion. Strap patterns predominate in the new models. Every conceivable style of strap is being shown—narrow and wide straps are both being used in the button and buckle patterns. Spanish, Baby Louis and Boxwood are the most popular heels at the moment, the latter varying in height from five-eighths to one and three-quarter inches. Cut out again play an important factor in spring footwear, and are more frequently found in the quarter than in the vamp.

The trend for spring wear is essentially the same as last year. Straight heel strap effects of patent leather, patent and beige or grey suede combinations, black kid, calf and suede seem the most appreciated. High French heels are far from obscure, the favorite today being patent leather, black satin and black kid Louis and Spanish heel models in strap and fancy pattern. Bizarre effects are abundant. One shop displays patent leather Russian boots with a turned down collar inlaid with grey suede, and also a number of Cossack models. Impressions of strap effects richly embossed and inlaid are also shown. In ornaments, small rhinestone buttons and slides, as well as cut steel slides, in small designs are shown. The white season is opening with plain white oxfords and strap effects overpowering a modest display of black and white combinations. In sport effects grey oxfords and strap effects with patent or gun metal trimmings are shown. Rubber-soled oxfords with spring heels are giving indications of great popularity.

CHOKER THE VOGUE

Range Displayed Includes Double Furred Models.

The dainty choker, which adds the final touch to the spring and summer costumes, is shown in wide variety. There are the single pieces, two, three and even six-skin effects, and the double-furred models as well. As for the favored furs, stonemarten, natural and taupe squirrel, ermine, mink and mole seem to be most prominent in the smaller neckpieces, though Russian sable always retains its place, and Alaska sable, kolinsky, Hudson seal and French seal are shown es-

WHEN THE PAPER DOESN'T COME.

My father says the paper he reads isn't put up right. He finds a lot of fault, he does, persists it all night. He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read. And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need. He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum. But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He reads about the wedding and he snorts like all get out. He reads the social dot's with a most derisive shout.

He says they make the papers for the women folks alone.

He'll read about the parties, and he'll fume and fret and groan; He says of information it doesn't have a crumb—

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

He's always first to grab it and he reads it plumb clean through.

He doesn't miss an item or a want ad—that is true.

He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys, I'm going to take a day sometimes an' go an' put 'em wise;

Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb—

But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

—Selected.—Waterbury American.

tensively. In the animal neckpieces silver fox is the favorite, with cross, black, white, georgettes, Isabella, Lullie and other foxes the selection of varied tastes.

A glimpse at fall coat models indicates that the full wrap effects are to be the vogue, being closely followed by three-quarter length coats with deep shawl collars to the waist. Bell cuffs, belts and self-bands are seen on many close-fitting coats. The wraps in Persian lamb, mink, seal and mole are exceptionally attractive.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE EFFECT IS VERY PRONOUNCED

Developments in Sweaters Depend on Bolting and Opposing Colors—What Paris Is Showing.

There are new developments in sweaters which have caused these highly useful garments to change their form. Innovations lie in the means of bolting the sweater, the combination of strikingly opposing colors in one garment and in the collar.

The Russian blouse effect bids fair to replace the straight sweater for the woman who wears exclusive clothes. This effect is obtained through the girle—that simple article of dress which has been called upon to do so much toward making new fashions during the past year. The evening gown, the street dress, the house dress, the negligee, all have depended upon it to bring them into the front ranks of fashionable dress, and it has not been found wanting in versatility. Now it must lend its support to the new Russian blouse sweaters.

Sometimes the sweater is bolted at a low waistline by means of an elastic band over which is placed an ornamental girle, or it may simply blouse over a girle. Among the late models is noticed an arrangement of shell rings through which a knitted ribbon girle passes. Every model shows something different in its style of bolting from the ordinary straight-cut sweater.

Opposing Colors Used.

Among the newest sweaters are those knitted of artificial silk with beautiful patterns introduced in opposing colors. For instance, a certain sweater will have a design in deep purple, a lovely shade of lavender may be relieved by flame yellow and again two shades of mauve may be beautifully blended.

Sweaters of Black Wool.

Odetta, of Paris, is showing some beautiful hand-knit sweaters and sweaters blouses. One of her most striking is named "Gelshe." The original is developed in black wool with a landscape pattern done in yellow, black and white embroidery, silk. A broad shawl collar, cuffs, girle and pocket bindings are in deep orange yellow. Odetta also makes this in other colors, one of the preferred combinations being bright green and brilliant green embroidery and trimmings. Embroidered purses and sports bags in Japanese designs are carried with these sweaters. Black sweaters, brilliantly embroidered, are worn with white wool skirts and frequently the sweater carries a Gelshe bag to match.

Morat, of Paris, is making two-piece suits of knitted fabrics. They consist of a skirt and hip length sweater coat which is made to blouse slightly by means of a narrow leather belt. One such model in gray has red introduced into the skirt by a woven pattern in diamonds and squares. The coat is made entirely of the gray but is bound with red and has a narrow girle of red leather. A medallion monogram, in diamond form, is worked in the silk on the front of the coat to correspond with the diamond design in the skirt.

Three-piece suits for country wear, consist of a flaring coat of knitted fabric, skirt and overblouse. Striking effects are achieved in these through the combination of a bright color, such as jade green or orange, with white. For instance, the coat may be of a deep orange, the full sleeves being of the white knitted with the orange. The over-blouse of white, having a collar and cuffs of the orange, is worn with a skirt of the same color.

Some Knitted Capes.

The three-piece idea is carried out in similar costumes, having capes in place of coats. The colors are likewise introduced into these capes which have either fur collars or throw scarves in a color to match the design in the material. Monkey fur is very popular on capes and cape coats of knitted fabrics.

While there is the greatest diversity in color in the knitted costumes, here, as everywhere else, a few colors become the extreme of fashion. In the dress and suit made to take their places with the tailleur, of cloth or the simple afternoon dress of silk, brown and gray are favorite. Great stress is placed on brown used either alone or in combination with gray or beige.

In the purely sports types very unusual shades of the brightest colors are seen, such as the above mentioned, cerise and purple. Emphasis is placed on yellow and black used in unison.

Plaided in Yellow.

There are smart Russian jackets of black plaided in yellow, with long yellow collars having a pattern faintly outlined in black. Often there is a hat to match the scarf. There are suits consisting of a skirt of black and yellow plaid, a yellow blouse and a black jacket.

There are much too fanciful, the conservative woman will say. No one will wear them. And the question has been raised on all sides, will women accept these new knitted things. Not only has this question been raised because of their unusual colorings but because the knitted dress never has been popular as anything but a sports costume. But the subject is no longer one for conjecture. The public has accepted them. A demand for any particular type of dress is a wonderful inspiration to designers and manufacturers and an incentive to do their very best in that particular line.

PERIOD FURNITURE POPULAR

Georgian, Jacobean, Queen Anne and Adam Maintain Old Hold—Rich Tones in Hangings.

The blending of color in interior decoration is a first consideration. Period furniture is the popular selection of the moment. Recent importations include the aristocratic of Georgian, Jacobean, Charles II, Queen Anne, and William and Mary, and the less expensive choice of Adam and Brunswick. In the latter, which the British furnishings made in the old English oak finish is found to be the popular inclination for the reception hall.

The fashion of plain carpets is still maintained. These are laid right up to the baseboard with no borders. The practice of placing numerous small rugs about a room is still upheld, which gives a very good base for coverings of chintz. For the windows sumptuous colored curtains of cloth run on ring pulleys, are used instead of shades, while the drawing rooms generally have plain net with curtains rods at the top and bottom, edged in real lace, with an over curtain of gold gauze running on ring pulleys. The favorite colors being used appear to be black and gold damask in Georgian and Chinese designs. For upholstery cut velours and mohair velour or silk damasks in stripes are mainly employed.

Yellow is Favored.

For use in the country home, fabrics with black grounds to colored designs are much in vogue, yellow or gold being considered the most attractive choice of color for use in the sun parlor. Luxurious old chairs, mostly after the old English style, in a great variety of shapes are used in every kind of room, while chest-of-drawers, made to fit in bay windows, are in demand.

The market for public inspection are decorated in many manners. Bedrooms furnished after Chippendale are especially attractive. A number of color schemes may be used for background to Chippendale furnishings. A large purple rug as a base to deep colored walls, with shot silk curtains in violet and yellow, and burnish and dressing table covers of similar material edged in gold, create an essentially regal atmosphere.

A Georgian living room which looks very pretty is one which has pearly shade walls with a similar colored carpet two tones darker, with slip covers for the furniture in shades of mulberry and yellow. The hangings at the window being in chintz, with net curtains in pale yellow, give a sunlight effect to the room. The room is completed in mulberry, black and yellow shades for the lightings, which are lined with pink.

is contrasted with a putty-colored wall and an ornamented plaster ceiling which is emphasized with light pastel tones. The windows have gold cornices, with curtains in various shades, and long gold net hangings. The curtains at the windows are shirred at the top and bottom, while Venetian blinds in shot silk are edged with a deep silk fringe. Over the fireplace is a large picture depicting Raphael's Madonna, which is completed with large canopies on the wall sconces. The Chesterfield in this room has throw-overs and woodwork in polychrome. Parchment is used for shading of lights.

An Italian Renaissance dining room is at once distinctive, the furniture consisting of five side and one serving table, with a dining cabinet and china cabinet, all being hand carved. Woodwork of the room is in white enamel, which is graced with Japanese grass walls, with sordolacquer rug in tones of blue used for the foundation. The hangings are carried out in Italian Renaissance made of velour with Italian metallic silhouettes, the cover for the buffet being in the same material. A deep chandelier has blue shades.

A Boy's Bedroom.

Color plays no small part in the development of the mind of the young, and special consideration is given to choice of shades when furnishing a boy's bedroom. Brown is the favored color for the carpet with yellow wall paper, the furniture being mostly in framed oak, together with hangings in brown and orange net curtains. The bedspread is also in brown edged with orange.

A large selection of wall papers and bric-a-brac is also shown. For the former, plain grass and wicker effects are greatly used, tapestry suggestions being popular for the dining room. Borders are not used in the latest decorative schemes. Artificial flowers have recently come into vogue, while the English Carlton ware is greatly favored for china objects.

Getting Rid of A Stubborn Cough Is Child's Play Now

Make the Medicine Yourself at Home—It's Cheap—but You Can't Beat It.

Fine for Chest Colds Too and Cheaply Made at Home.

If you want to take care of that bad, hacking cough and do it in a few hours, better get one ounce of Parmit (double strength) and mix a half pint at home.

You can do this in two minutes by adding a little sugar and enough water to fill a half pint bottle. You'll travel the world over before you get a medicine that will act so surely and quickly on the mucous membranes of the nose and throat. It kills the inflammation, the tickling sensation stops with the first spoonful, the heavy breathing goes and clean membranes, free from irritation and mucous follows.

STOCKINGS SHOW EMBELLISHMENT

Models from France Show Embroidery in Floss of Contrasting Colors—Clocks Are in Favor.

Stockings are an important item in this day and generation, and can by no means be dismissed casually or treated with flippancy. True, the over-lengthening skirt leaves less of the silken charm exposed, but what is lost in quantity is more than made up this season by quality, and the new stockings on view are, in their own way, works of art.

Gone indeed are the days when the poet could rhapsodize about the modest toe and instep of his lady—

"Her feet beneath her petticoat Like little mice stole in and out."

but a lover of beauty might well be aroused to enthusiasm by the exquisite coloring and design displayed on the ankle of a modern demodette. Clocks are much in favor and are seen in many charming color combinations and designs. Another development of the clock is seen in delicate lace insets at the side of the ankle. With the new strap shoe, however, the tendency is to have embroidery in the front of the instep, and from France come stockings of heavy silk heavily embroidered in floss in black and contrasting colors. Even more worn with evening dress is the stocking with a broad panel of lace inset on the front of the instep, and in some models this lace insertion is bordered with black or tinted sequins or delicate shaded beads. The ribbed silk stocking of last year is still holding its own, its great advantage being that it gives an effect of slenderness. These are found in the popular Richelieu rib with its open work line, and in a cord-

Two-toned and slight effects are much worn and will be worn with homogeneity and trend. Have that effect, however, are for too tame and unadventurous for sports wear this year, and the newest designs for the spring are positively charming. Last season checks made their appearance from England and were much worn with brogues, but they have been cast into a deep shade by some somewhat startling but very charming tartan designs, which will be much worn with heather skirts and homogenous costumes. They are found in all the popular shades, particularly blue in particular, and this soft blue is found in really beautiful blending of shades. Fairs, dark green and mauve tans will also be found to blend admirably with many a suit. Aside from the color of the new stockings, one is impressed with the exquisite quality of the new goods on view. Heavy rich silk has taken the place of the somewhat weedy texture of war days, and the woolen stockings are of marvelous softness and fineness of weave.

Through war worries, loneliness and other factors contributed through my unavoidable absence, her health had been steadily undergoing what I might describe as an undermining process, for years."
