OF

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE SOCIETY

HELD AT TORONTO,

On Monday Evening, December 13, 1839,

E. W. THOMSON, ESQUIRE, M. P. P., IN THE CHAIR.

The Report of the Committee having been read by the Rev. J. STINSON, the following Resolutions were proposed and unanimously adopted:—

Moved by the Rev. J. RYERSON, seconded by the Rev. B. SLIGHT,—

1. That the Report now read be adopted, and printed under the direction of the Missionary Committee.

Moved by the Rev. P. JONES, seconded by the Rev. J. EVANS,—

2. That it being our firm conviction that the Gospel is the only remedy for the moral evils which afflict and debase hundreds of millions of our fellow creatures in Pagan lands, it is the imperative duty of sincere Christians to send that Gospel as soon as possible to the Nations which are still sitting in darkness and in the shadow of death.

Moved by the Rev. J. STINSON, seconded by the Rev. M. RICHEY,—

3. That the following persons be appointed as a Committee for the ensuing year:

AFTER the toils, the perplexities, and the dangers of another year, the Committee of the WESLEYAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY come forward, with sincere pleasure, to lay before their numerous friends a brief account of the present state and the future prospects of that department of the great Mission field with which they have the privilege and the honour to be connected.

Every year brings along with it increasing evidence of the necessity, the utility, and the unspeakable importance of this benevolent enterprise; and gives it additional claims upon the approbation, the prayers, and the support of all who participate the advantages of christianity themselves, and who desire to extend its benign influence to the remotest boundaries of the world.

If ever a benevolent institution was marked with the indubitable seal of the Divine sanction and complacency, this institution is so in a pre-eminent degree.

In the new fields of labour which are being opened to the agents of this and kindred associations; in the preparing influence which is going on in the minds of numerous Pagan tribes; in the disposition which is evinced, not only by the young and ardent, but by the venerable and experienced Ministers of the Gospel, to consecrate themselves to this work; in the increasing liberality, and the more fervent and united prayers of the friends of this cause; we have the most delightful evidences of the approbation of God, and the strongest incentives to make every exertion in our power to accelerate the glorious period when our Lord shall exercise a universal and absolute dominion in his redeemed world, and take the heathen for an inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for a possession.

Discouragements, difficulties, and opposition we expect to meet; but we have learned to bear or to conquer these, and never more so than during the past year. If any circumstances could have justified a people in neglecting the cause of Missions, the inhabitants of this Province would have been justified in neglecting that cause during the past year. The political excitement which has so generally prevailed; the stagnation of business, which has been so extensively and painfully prevalent; the alarming uncertainty and gloomy suspense which have been so deeply felt,—would have diverted their attention from any cause less sacred and less dear than the Missionary cause; but to the interests of this they are bound by ties which nothing can sever; and, to the everlasting honour of the friends of Missions, it ought to be recorded on earth, as it doubtless is in heaven, that amidst the din of war; the excitements of military demonstrations; the denunciations of an insulting and ferocious host of Brigands; amidst events which threatened to destroy the foundations of our social order, has this institution maintained its hold upon the public mind,—thus proving the purity of its character by its superiority to human contingencies, and its independence of worldly politics.

Confidently assuming that you feel a deep interest in every part of the Missionary work, and that you mark with pleasing solicitude its progress in every department of its widely extended sphere, we shall on this occasion present you with a brief sketch of the general operations of the Parent Society, as well as of our Canadian auxiliary.

In Ireland—where so mighty a struggle is now going on between light and darkness; between a pure and a corrupted christianity; and where the waters of strife are so deeply and fearfully agitated, your society employs twenty-four missionaries, thirty-one schoolmasters, and six scripture readers. These messengers of mercy visit the most remote, the most wild and destitute parts of the country, and carry the torch of truth where all would be otherwise left either in total darkness or in the mists and fogs of a dangerous and withering superstition. At the head of these faithful witnesses to the vital truths of christianity was the late venerable and apostolic GIDEON OUSELY, who to the last pursued his work with a zeal which neither age nor infirmities could abate. "I preach," said he, "fifteen times in the week, frequently in the open air. In my late tour the Lord has been graciously present with his blessed word; and many persons have been awakened to a religious concern, and have resolved to serve him for the remainder of their days."

On the European Continent, and in the Mediterranean—including Sweden, Germany, France, Spain, Gibraltar and Malta—we have nineteen Missionaries. These are waging war against Antichrist, Infidelity, and Neology, and are endeavouring to revive and strengthen those pure principles of christianity which were once maintained in those lands by some of the most distinguished Ministers of Christ that the world ever knew; men who sealed their attachment to the truth by their blood; and who, although dead, still speak. The missionary at Stockholm preaches regularly in the English and Swedish languages; is very much beloved by all classes of the community, and is made very useful to the people generally. In a late communication he expressed himself thus: "Blessed be God, the work of salvation is going forward, especially in the Swedish congregation. The crowds lately have been unusually great, and the public services, in both languages, have been peculiarly solemn and influential."

The Missionary Society at Stockholm, although chiefly managed and supported by another denomination of christians, has generously given to our society £150 towards erecting a new chapel at St. Bartholomew, and has promised to support any female teacher which our committee may select for that station. This spirit of christian liberality augurs well for the interests of religion in Sweden.

In Germany—our labourers and devoted agents have been arraigned before the bar of justice. They were charged by their enemies with having spread amongst the people doctrines dangerous to the ecclesiastical and political institutions of the country; but these charges could not be substantiated, and they were honourably acquitted. Their books and papers which had been taken away were restored; and, having by these proceedings had an opportunity of testifying to persons in high places the Gospel of the grace of God, they were left to pursue their course of unostentatious but useful toil without further molestation.

To France—the attention of the society is ever turned with the deepest solicitude. Her present moral condition; her influence upon the continental nations of Europe; the good which she might effect were she delivered from the trammels of infidelity and superstition, and were her gifts and resources consecrated to the promotion of vital christianity; all these render it most desirable that every possible effort should be made to render effectual the evangelical labours of those Pastors and Churches who profess the Protestant Truth. A great and effectual door is open to this domain of Satan, but there are many adversaries lying in wait to give a deadly thrust at those who, clothed with the garments of salvation, enter therein.

After all the sanguinary and lauded revolutions of France; and notwithstanding her vaunted and high-sounding liberalism, it is a melancholy fact, that the principles of religious liberty are yet but imperfectly understood there; that there is little toleration and no true liberty but for the demon of infidelity and the harlot of Rome! But our chief difficulty arises from the want of suitable labourers and more ample means to carry on our work upon a scale commensurate with the exigencies of the country. Nevertheless, many of our own and other members of christian communities, are prosecuting the task with tolerable facility and security, and the blessing of God has not been withheld from it.

Instances of scriptural conversion, from sin to righteousness, are by no means rare; and the general character of their societies, in point of scriptural attainments and practical godliness, is eminently satisfactory. One of the Missionaries makes the following forcible and, I trust, irresistible appeal to christians who are placed in circumstances more favoured than are our brethren in France: "There never was a more promising and important opening for the preaching of the gospel in France. Thank God, our cause is looking up! Our set time is come. The Lord of Hosts is with us, and his word is greatly glorified. Fathers and brethren, remember infidel, popish France. Has she not claims upon you! May our Macedonian voice have an echo in every heart throughout our connexion, as well as in the deliberations of our committee."

In Spain—the good cause is making gradual, although but slow advances. From Gibraltar, Cadiz, and Barcelona the word is being sent forth; and, notwithstanding the distractions of civil war, and the very unfavourable bearing of existing Spanish Law on every question connected with religious liberty, some degree of moral light is dawning upon that unhappy land; some imperishable seeds of Divine truth are being sown, which we hope will hereafter ripen into a glorious harvest.

Our important mission at Malta continues to repay the toil and expense connected with its establishment and support; and promises still more extensive benefit to that island and the adjacent countries.

ASIA.

India—is the most important field of missionary labour which the world now presents. Its vast population; the fact of its being accessible to missionary efforts in all its villages, cities, and provinces; the character and form of its idolatries; its intimate connexion with Tartary, Burmah, China, and other vast regions of the East, throughout which its religions and customs are known, and their influence felt and acknowledged; and the probability that the conversion of India would soon be followed by the subjugation to the gospel of the other nations of Eastern and Central Africa; all these circumstances, and many others which might be enumerated, concur in supporting the statement that India is the most important field of missionary labour in the world, and ought, therefore, to have a very large share of christian attention and culture. That it might have that attention and culture was doubtless the design of the Sovereign Ruler of the Universe in placing so large a portion of it under the influence of the British Government; which, to use the language of an American Missionary, is “the best earthly security that can be given for its being led to the enjoyment of civil and religious liberty and improvement.” It has long occupied the serious and prayerful attention of your Missionary Committee, and still shares a great part of their solicitude.

Here we employ thirty-seven Missionaries.

Amidst innumerable discouragements and difficulties, these devoted men continue to prosecute their labour of love amongst the besotted and degraded idolators of that country. By translating the Scriptures into the various native languages; by instructing the children in their numerous Sabbath and day schools; by frequent conversation with the people on religious subjects; and by the faithful preaching of the Gospel; your Missionaries are endeavouring to pour the light of evangelical truth into those dark places of the earth, where cruelty has long had her chosen habitation, and has feasted on human misery. God has graciously owned these labours of his servants in this department of the mission work; and has given them the first fruits of that glorious harvest which faith assures us shall ere long be gathered into the garner of the Lord! Amen!

A general spirit of enquiry has been excited amongst the heathen population; the doctrines of the Gospel have been compared with the religious systems of the country; heathen youths have been educated on Christian principles, &c.; by which truth and error have been brought into general collision, and a convulsive shaking produced amongst the enemy's strong holds.

The heathen priesthood have lost much of their power over the native population. Their revenues are diminishing; their temples are falling into decay, and their ceremonies and festivals are ceasing to excite anything like the deep interest and general attention with which they were formerly regarded: and, besides this general movement, the missionaries have the satisfaction of witnessing, from time to time, instances of sound conversion to God in natives who, by a consistent life, adorn their christian profession; and in others, who die in the Lord, leaving behind them the most satisfactory testimonies of their sure and certain hope of eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ. One of the Missionaries mentions the following pleasing facts:

A Tract in the native language was found by a woman who gave it to her husband. The consequence of reading it was a desire to converse with the Missionary, and to receive further instruction. From a worshipper of Buddha he became a follower of the Lord Jesus; he and his family have been baptized; and thus nine persons were added to those who enjoy the means of grace and the life-giving ordinances of christianity!

In one place where it has been necessary to build a new chapel, the people have come forward and accomplished the work themselves, without asking a dollar from the Missionary Committee; and even a Hindoo idolator has furnished ten large pillars for this chapel—he has done this at considerable toil and expense—may he soon become a pillar in the house of our God to go out no more forever.

In the South Seas we employ twenty-nine Missionaries.

In New South Wales, and Van Diemen's Land, the Missionaries not only preach the gospel to the respectable emigrants, who have in such considerable numbers taken up their abode in that country, and to the aboriginal inhabitants of the land; but they pay much attention to those unfortunate men whose follies and crimes have consigned them to penal shame and punishment, and involved many of them in the misery of endless imprisonment. Many of those who neglected the ordinances of religion, and contemned the ministry of the word of God in their native land, now reaping the bitter fruit of their infidelity and impiety, are disposed to attend those ordinances, and to listen to that word, as the only means of assuaging their sorrows; preparing them to endure the afflictions of the present life; and of fitting them for that which is to come. Some of those poor outcasts have been brought into the fold of Christ; they have heard and obeyed the voice of the good Shepherd, and are now led into green pastures, and beside still waters. Religion has produced so happy a change, not only upon their minds but upon their conduct, that the rigor of their bondage has been greatly mitigated; and they are placed in circumstances of temporal comfort, to which they could not have been admitted had they retained their wicked and vicious dispositions.

The Mission in New Zealand appears to be in a much more prosperous state now than it has ever been since the messengers of peace and salvation carried the gospel to that dark and cruel, polluted and miserable portion of the human race.

By the influence of the missionaries and of the native converts, in one or two instances, already has the tumult of war been hushed; and those who strove against each other's life have been induced to regard themselves as brethren. Amongst a people who were a few years ago utter strangers to letters, there are now several flourishing schools, where a goodly number of children and adults are learning to read those Scriptures which are able to make them wise unto salvation. On one occasion no less than one hundred and twenty-nine natives were publicly baptized; and several hundreds of the sons and daughters of cannibal New Zealand have become the sons and daughters of the Lord Almighty.

In the Friendly Islands—the triumphs of the gospel have been as signal and as extensive as in any part of the mission field. Nothing but an unshaken confidence in the truth and efficacy of the gospel could have induced the christian missionary to attempt to rescue the inhabitants of those islands from that awful state of degradation in which they had been for ages involved. But in obedience to the Divine command, and relying upon the Divine blessing, they entered the valley of spiritual death; they proclaimed the word of life; the Holy Spirit was poured out upon the people; and thousands were raised from the death of sin to the life of righteousness. Several of the kings and chiefs of these islands, and thousands of the people, have renounced idol-worship and all its attendant rites, cruelties, and abominations; and have not only embraced christianity themselves, but have laboured zealously to extend its influence far and wide.

It was not likely that Satan would witness this inroad on a territory which he had long held in peace, without stirring up his agents to oppose and destroy the messengers of truth and salvation. Accordingly, a most extensive and dangerous organization was formed by the idolatrous inhabitants of the island of Tonga, the object of which was the entire overthrow of the government of the christian rulers, and the extermination of christians and the christian religion. As in the days of old, on one side were arrayed the uncircumcised idolators; on the other were the servants of the living God. The conflict was severe; but He who fought for Israel in Egypt, in the wilderness, and in Canaan, gave victory to his chosen ones in Tonga; and caused the wrath of man to praise Him, and restrained the remainder of wrath. events the power of the heathen party has been, if not entirely broken, rendered so weak as to remove all cause for future alarm; the government of the christian rulers has been confirmed; and increased opportunities and means have been afforded for extending the empire of truth and righteousness.

In this island we have nearly eighty Local Preachers, and about the same number of Class Leaders; under whose care are one hundred and thirty classes. The number of members in society is one thousand and fifty; we have one hundred and seventy-three school teachers, and one thousand and sixty-seven children in our schools.

In the Haabai and Vavou islands nearly the entire population is under the pastoral care of the Missionaries. In the island of Vavou we have one hundred and sixty-nine Local Preachers, eight hundred and four Class Leaders, three thousand four hundred and seventy-three members, five hundred school teachers, and three thousand four hundred and ninety-nine scholars.

During the past year the inhabitants of Haabai have had to pass through severe afflictions and trials. Early in the season a tremendous hurricane swept across the island, and destroyed nearly all the fruits of the earth. Famine and disease followed; and many of the people were reduced to the greatest poverty and wretchedness. In the midst of all this they evinced great patience and resignation; and were enabled, by the grace of God, to bear up under their suffering, and to look forward with joyful anticipation to that better land, where want and disease, sorrow and sighing are done away. Upward of one hundred of our members have died during the year; most of whom left the present life in sure and certain hope of a resurrection to eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ.

In the Haabai islands we have ninety Local Preachers, two hundred and forty-two Class Leaders, and three thousand three hundred and twenty-three members. We have five hundred and forty teachers, and two thousand nine hundred and eighty-nine children in the schools.

A more extensive field of labour is opened to our brethren in the Feejee Islands—of which there are upwards of three hundred—and which contain a population of more than two hundred thousand souls. The moral and social condition of these people is wretched in the extreme; as the following graphic description given by Mr. Cargill will sufficiently prove:

“Most of the people live within places fortified by stone walls; and those stone walls are surrounded by ditches. The site of their fortifications is an elevated piece of ground, a ridge of rocks, or the summit of a mountain. Fear, I believe, and not inclination, impels them to reside in such inaccessible and dangerous places; for frequently the inhabitants of one town or district rush upon those of another without any warning or provocation but hereditary hate; slaughter the whole population, and burn the houses. Men and women of all ages and ranks, and even children, are indiscriminately massacred. The victors roast the dead bodies, and make horrid repast on human flesh. If any of the vanquished are permitted to live, they are reduced to slavery, and, at the caprice of their barbarous masters, may have their skulls cleft with a club, or be sold as beasts of burden, or articles of commerce to the people of other lands. The price of a female is a musket!"

On some occasions the canoes of the victors return home loaded with the dead bodies of the vanquished, that the barbarous conquerors may, like human hyenas, glut themselves upon them, and thus wreak their vengeance for fancied injuries, or obey the mandate of their blood-thirsty gods; for to kill their enemies, and to feast upon their flesh, are dictates of their religion. How deplorable their condition! How deep their depravity! How is this page of "Natural Religion," which their character unfolds, besmeared with dark blots, and stained with crimson hues!

AFRICA.

In Western and Southern Africa—the work of God is still advancing. The light of Divine truth is penetrating the darkness which has so long enshrouded that land; the streams of salvation are flowing into many a dry and barren portion of that interesting country.

Many even of the pagan chiefs are beginning to discover that the reception and protection of a missionary amongst the people, is the best plan that can be adopted to promote the peace, security, and prosperity of a tribe. The following is the substance of a communication addressed by one of these chiefs to our missionary at Butterworth Station. He desired the missionary to say—

"That he had been marking the progress of Missions for some time; and he had especially noted the different results accordingly as the chiefs had been earnest or lukewarm in their patronage of Missions. Garka had received a Missionary, but he held him with a loose hand; and the teachers in his tribe were prevented from acquiring a proper influence: and now that Garka is dead, his sons have followed his steps, and they have been involved in a war with the colony, which has done them great harm. Their cattle are dead, and their warriors are killed. Hintza received a Missionary; but when did he listen to him! Do we not know that if he would have lived like a friend with his Missionary, and taken the good advice which his teacher gave him, Hintza would have been alive at this day, and no harm would have come to his people! Pato and the Amagubnic received a Missionary; but the Chiefs of that Tribe acted differently from the other Chiefs. They took the Missionary to be their friend; he lived close to their kraals; they did nothing without his advice; their children learned many things in the school; and where were Pato and his people in the late troubles? They sat still—they were safe—no harm happened to them. And now at this day they are grown rich and strong; although they were once poor and despised. I therefore wish to have a Missionary, and he shall come and live on my place; he must be very near me. I do not send a message with my tongue—my heart comes with the messenger. Let a Missionary come, and we will take care of him, and listen to his advice." On a subsequent occasion he sent word that he was tired of war; that the Missionaries were men of peace; that peace was good and he wished to pursue it. In a conversation with one of our Missionaries he said, "The whole land is before you; choose where the Mission shall be, and then I will immediately come and dwell in its neighbourhood."

The history of our African Missions affords ample evidence that the labours of our various agents have already promoted the intellectual and moral, the spiritual and temporal improvement of the people to a very encouraging extent. Less than twenty years ago, it would probably have been impossible to have found a single individual of the Kaffre nations, living between the Fish River and Dalgoo Bay, who could read a sentence; now there is a considerable number who are regularly reading the four Gospels and other books, published by our Missionaries, and by the Missionaries of the Glasgow Society.

On one of our most central and important stations, God has graciously revived his work, and brought some hundreds of persons of different classes to the saving knowledge of the truth; many of whom, we may confidently expect, will in future employ their talents and energies in the diffusion of evangelical knowledge through the benighted regions of Africa. In speaking of this revival, Mr. Shaw says, "We know this work to be of God by signs following. Sinners have been converted—backsliders reclaimed, and drunkards have become sober. Many who had long before received the spirit of bondage to fear are now daily rejoicing in the spirit of adoption, whereby they cry Abba Father. Numbers of young people have had their steps turned to God's testimonies, and a new direction given to their views and wishes; which will probably influence all of them, more or less beneficially, through the remainder of their days. The converts are of all ages; from children in the Sunday schools to men and women of more than seventy years old; but the far greater number are from twelve to twenty years of age. It is difficult to speak with precision on such a subject; but, including a considerable number of persons of the Society who were previously living without the testimony of God's spirit to the fact of their adoption, I may say with confidence that not less than four hundred persons in this town and settlement have professed to enter into the glorious liberty of the sons of God during the last six months. It is also matter of thankfulness that the members of the Society, generally, have been greatly benefitted by the recent revival; not a few of them have received a deeper baptism of the Holy Spirit."

In Africa—we have thirty-four regular Missionaries, three thousand six hundred and five members, and four thousand five hundred and forty-one children in our schools.

WEST INDIES.

There is scarcely any part of the great Mission field where the labours of the Missionary have been crowned with greater success, in every respect, than in these interesting Islands.

The favourable change which has taken place in the civil condition of our fellow subjects here, has greatly contributed to their spiritual improvement. Since the first of August, 1834, our congregations have been much larger than formerly, and the number of our members has greatly increased. This has been most remarkable in Jamaica. In the year 1834, the number reported for Jamaica in the minutes of the Conference was 12,835; but from the returns of the present year, notwithstanding the endeavours of an individual who has abused the confidence reposed in him by the Committee, to agitate and divide some of our societies, the number in society in that colony is now 18,000, beside 487 individuals who are on trial as candidates for membership.

In these Islands we employ eighty-five Missionaries; we have nearly thirty thousand members; and we have sixteen thousand and twenty-seven children in our Sabbath Schools.

BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.

In the British North American Provinces—including Nova Scotia, Prince Edward's Island, New Brunswick, Newfoundland, and the Province of Lower Canada—the work of God is progressively advancing. The Missionaries supply the word of life to the widely scattered population of these rising colonies; and establish the ordinances of religion in the most remote settlements. So that, amidst the privations and difficulties with which the emigrant is environed, he is nevertheless cheered and comforted with the ministry of the Gospel, which is designed to be the power of God unto his salvation.

In these Provinces we have upwards of one hundred Missionaries, and more than five thousand members in Society.

Upper Canada.—We direct your attention to the religious condition of our Indian Stations in this Province with mingled emotions of sorrow and gratitude. We lament that, after so many means have been employed during the year by our Missionaries, the number of our Indian members is less than it was last year. The brethren have been under the painful necessity of enforcing the Discipline of the Church, and of excluding from our communion some who have been led astray by wicked men, and have been overcome by their old enemy, the fire-water. But while we mourn over these, and are determined to spare no pains to bring the poor deluded wanderers back to the fold of Christ, we have great cause to rejoice over the fact that, amidst circumstances of peculiar temptation and difficulty, so many of our Indian brethren have maintained their faith and love, and christian integrity. them have been called away for months together from their quiet homes and the ordinary means of grace; and have had to take an active part in those military duties which the circumstances of the Province have rendered necessary, in order to preserve the supremacy and perpetuity of British Laws and Institutions in this part of Her Majesty's dominions. And, when we remember the delight which they formerly took in scenes of war; and their entire abandonment to drunkenness and revelry, the opportunities for the indulgence of which are so frequently afforded during military operations—and now see the same men passing through a winter campaign, and, during the whole period, exhibiting such a degree of christian meekness, truth, and sobriety of conduct as called forth the admiration of their officers and companions in arms; we have an additional evidence of the genuineness of that religious influence which has been diffused amongst them, and which continues to produce the fruits of righteousness, to the honour and praise of God's holy name.

A brief review of the different Stations under our care will afford our numerous friends additional encouragement and motives to maintain and increase their interest in this cause of truth and charity.

ALDERSVILLE.

The Indians on this Mission have during the past year been, when at home, very attentive to all the means of grace; regular in their family devotions; industrious in their habits; and have evinced a growing desire to give themselves up to the influence of that godliness which they more than ever feel and prove to be profitable for all things, having the promise of the life which now is as well as of that which is to come. We have a day school and a Sabbath school here containing about thirty children; the former being taught by an Indian youth.

On this Mission we have tried, on a small scale, the system of Manual Labour Education. The number of young people whom we have thus instructed is fifteen girls, and six boys; the former have spent six hours in the school, and six hours in the field and in other useful employment; the girls have spent in the school six hours, and six hours in knitting, sewing, plating bonnets, and in the duties of the dairy.

We have fourteen acres of land cleared and fenced, and under cultivation; and we have thirteen cows, a number of hogs, &c. &c.

It is impossible for any person to see the neat and clean apparel—the healthy countenance—and the orderly conduct of these young people, without being convinced that the Manual Labour System is that which above all others is calculated to promote Indian improvement, and without regretting that our funds will not admit of our carrying out this system upon a more enlarged plan.

During the past year we have lost on this Station one of our most interesting and promising young men. JOSEPH MARSDEN was brought to the saving knowledge of the truth about seven years ago. Previously to his conversion he was remarkable for his amiable temper; his respect to his teachers; and his diligence in the acquisition of useful knowledge. After his conversion he adorned his religious profession by a life of entire devotedness to the duties of the christian; and, not satisfied with enjoying the salvation of the gospel himself, he longed to be, in some humble degree, instrumental in extending its influence to others. He offered himself as a Missionary Schoolmaster; and, as he possessed the literary and moral qualifications indispensable to such an office, he was gladly received and employed. He was appointed to the Muncy Mission School. There he laboured with great fidelity for upwards of twelve months, when his health failed, and he was obliged to give up his delightful employment and return to his father's house. A deeply rooted consumption, which baffled all medical skill, soon carried him to his grave. During the period of his sickness he experienced and exhibited the power of religion, and he died in the faith and hope of the gospel.

RICE LAKE.

This Mission has suffered much during the last few years by the death of most of the leading members of our society. Many of them were cut off in the prime of life; but they died in peace, and have left behind them a name which is as ointment poured forth—fragrant and beneficial is the memory of their humble walk with God, and their victory over death. The following is the substance of a letter addressed to me by Brother S. Hurlburt, the resident Missionary:

"Agreeably to your request I send you a short account of the state of this Mission. After the lapse of so many years; after the novelty of the work amongst our red brethren has subsided,—such is the sameness of every day's occurrence, that it is difficult to say anything which has not been said before as to the effects produced by christianity amongst this interesting race. Lately I have been greatly strengthened in the hope that the Indians may yet become a highly civilized, enlightened, and pious people. Although their progress to that elevation is not so rapid as we desire, it is not less slow than has been the progress of other people; we may, therefore, continue to labour in hope, and in humble reliance upon the Divine blessing.

"We have experienced some inconvenience from the excitements which prevailed during the past winter, as they tended to unsettle the minds of our people; but I am happy to state that, with two or three exceptions, all the members of our society stood firm against temptation; and, within the last quarter, there has evidently been an increased concern for religion—and this concern has been evinced by a very diligent attention to the means of grace.

"Our Indians, as a body, have been more industrious during the past than in any preceding year since my acquaintance with them; and, as I have taken a good deal of pains to ascertain the quantity of

- Three hundred bushels of Wheat;
- Twenty bushels of Peas;
- Three hundred and fifty bushels of Oats; and
- One thousand and forty bushels of Potatoes.

“Their crops this year, I think, will be for greater than they have ever been, and we have ample evidence that their bodily health; their domestic comfort; and their moral and religious improvement, are unitedly promoted by the influence of the gospel.”

BALSAM LAKE MISSION.

The Indians at Balsam Lake were formerly located with the Indians at Mud Lake, near Peterborough; but having received encouragement from that true friend of Indian improvement, His Excellency Sir John Colborne, they settled in this place three or four years ago, and now occupy a tract of land on the North point of Balsam Lake, about fifty miles East of Peterborough, and twelve miles East of Lake Simcoe. For some reasons or other the benevolent intentions of his Excellency have not been fully carried out; and instead of having ten comfortable cottages—the number promised to them when they left their former location—they have but two flatted log houses, and six others partly built; these are scarcely fit to be occupied, consequently most of the people live in bark Camps, both winter and summer. The land is of a tolerably good quality, but they have not at present more than twenty-five acres under what may be called good cultivation. As a body, they have not made that improvement in religion, education, and domestic economy which they might have done had they remained with their brethren at Mud Lake; but, while we have to regret the negligence and misconduct of some, others have, considering their limited privileges and their numerous difficulties, been an honour to their christian profession, and are determined to maintain their religious enjoyments and character.

The Rev. Mr. Gilmore is doing much for the Indian community at Mud Lake, the most of whom appear anxious to avail themselves of their superior advantages. With few exceptions, the young people are diligent in their attendance at the school; and the adults are truly pious, and are rapidly improving in their spiritual and temporal interests.

At Balsam Lake and Mud Lake we have fifty-seven members.

At the commencement of the year the Indians at both Stations were in an unsettled, dissatisfied, and unimproving state, owing to their having been deprived of their property, and no new lands granted to them. At Coldwater all at present is uncertainty; and though on Lake Simcoe a location has been allowed them, and a village commenced, some things have been done so contrary to their wishes that much dissatisfaction remains. They have been necessarily much from home, and consequently deprived of the pastoral supervision of those placed over them; and their absence has been attended with many temptations, inconveniences, and losses. Having few at home, the meetings have been small, the school badly attended, and the classes not regularly met. Scarcely anything, under these circumstances, has affected us more than the unavoidable injury sustained by the school, notwithstanding the ceaseless solicitude and exertions of their teacher. The Coldwater Tribe has been wholly without a school; but we earnestly hope that such will not be their deplorable lot another year.

Under these circumstances, it will excite no surprise that some of the Indians have yielded to sin, and that others have continued to serve God under great opposition and discouragement; but the generality of our members have been steadfast, and still shew that Indian improvement and piety are not a chimera. Nevertheless, we cannot conceal the fact that the protraction of the time for allotting land to the Coldwater natives is so disheartening and painful to them that their piety is greatly endangered.

Our White work has suffered some deterioration through the influence of the insurrection; but it has now more than regained its strength. We have eleven classes, containing one hundred and forty-five members. Before this year the Missionaries were almost unaided, but now we have eight additional persons labouring in a local capacity, to whom we have thought it right to give licenses to exhort. Several Protracted Meetings have been of use. Union amongst our members prevails, and an expectation of greater good being done. Eight Townships have more or less had a share in our ministry, in which we have twenty-six regular and occasional appointments. Christianity and Methodism gain ground, and, we believe, will continue to do so. Hasten the day when not an isolated family in these scattered settlements shall be without true religion.

To shew the propriety of sending another Missionary into this part of the Province, we are sure we need only state that the people in the seven or eight Townships on the Nottawasagie have been there five or six years, and have not heard as many sermons: and that the eight Townships we at present visit have scarcely any facilities for hearing the word but those furnished them by the Wesleyan Ministers.

We have cause to rejoice in the spiritual state of those who are still members of the church. Their steady and consistent piety is encouraging to those who have the oversight of them; and their conduct truly an example to their white neighbours. We have a small decrease this year when compared with the last; but, as compared with former years, an encouraging increase.

The temporal condition of this Station considerably improves. Last year we had to remark the Indians "have a greater quantity of land prepared for crops next year than they ever had before." We are still happy to say that progress marks their condition. They are still paying considerable attention to agricultural pursuits, and are continually adding to the quantity of their arable land.

Our numbers stand as under:

The number of children in our schools is twenty-five.

The knowledge acquired by our youths and children is sufficiently important to stimulate the friends of educational enterprise.

GRAND RIVER MISSION.

On this Mission the blessed influence of religion has been strikingly displayed. The Indians of the Six Nations who reside here were not less remarkable for their impiety than they were for their acts of warlike daring and relentless cruelty; and although a vast number of them had renounced the profession of Paganism, and had taken upon themselves the name of Christians, it is a notorious fact that for a number of years their new creed exercised but little influence upon their principles, their temper, or their conduct: for, with very few exceptions, they were addicted to drunkenness, uncleanness, and every other vice which characterizes a people who change their religious profession without experiencing the saving power of the Gospel.

Within the last few years they have been convinced that the mere profession of christianity will not yield them any real benefit in time, nor prepare them for a happy eternity; and a goodly number of them have yielded to the influence of truth, and experienced its efficacy. Brother Wright, who has laboured amongst them for the last twelve months, says in a recent communication: "We have just closed our last Quarterly Meeting; and I am happy to inform you that we had a good and pleasant meeting. A number, whose minds were much distressed about their spiritual destitution, were so influenced by the truth and grace of God as to become truly happy; and several who had previously been wandering about, as sheep without a shepherd, came forward and joined our Society. It affords me great pleasure to be able to say that this Mission is in a much better condition than it was some months ago. Our meetings are well attended; a good influence rests upon the people; and new openings for labour and usefulness are presenting themselves around us."

On this Mission we have ninety-one members.

MUNCY MISSION.

Our brethren at the Muncy Mission state that on their return from the last Conference they found the Mission in a state of painful disorder and confusion. By public order the Village had been abandoned; the invading Brigands were said to be about to attack the place; and, in their precipitate flight, the men, women, and children suffered much in body and in mind. This sudden movement was a serious injury to them in their temporal concerns also. They had to leave their corn half hoed and exposed to the cattle, and their houses unprotected from the cupidity of any marauder who might find his way into their settlement. Our absence during the sitting of Conference was taken advantage of to shake their confidence in, and affection for, us and our brethren; but, fully convinced of the righteousness of our cause, and feeling our responsibility to God and his Church, with humble reliance on the Divine blessing, we resumed our annual labours: in the name of the Lord we lifted up our banners, and determined to wage war against sin and Satan.

At our first Leaders' Meeting we found that a number of our members had gone astray from the path of righteousness, and that others were in a cold and low state of mind. This led us to weep and pray much. The Lord heard our cry and answered our prayers. At our Camp Meeting, in September, God was graciously pleased to revive his work; our ranks were again filled up, and our people went on their way rejoicing. Since then we have had good times. From October to March all the Indians in these parts were assembled at this post as a military rendezvous; and we have endeavoured to improve these circumstances for their instruction in righteousness. We employed two interpreters and three teachers; during the winter evenings we had service of one kind or another every evening in the week. You will be glad to learn that our Indians on this Mission are improving in their temporal estate. They have nearly double the quantity of seed sown this year that they had the last; and they are cheered with the prospect of an abundant harvest.

The best of all is, the love of God glows in many of their hearts. The genuineness of their religious experience has been evinced in circumstances of the greatest trial; yea, even in the prospect of death some of them have been enabled to triumph. I will mention but one case: A young Indian brother, whose life is rapidly wearing away under the influence of an incurable Rose Cancer, said to me the other evening, "I am near to die; but only one thing makes me sorry, that I don't fraid to die—I feel so happy—though I feel great pain."

ST. CLAIR MISSION.

The Report from the brethren of the St. Clair Mission speaks volumes in favour of Missionary enterprise. Hear, and judge for yourselves:

"The work of God has been gradually extending among the Indians. Several Pagans have been converted, and a few backsliders restored. We have a small increase upon our first Quarter's Returns. The meetings are well attended; and the people are generally sober, steady, and zealous. Only two cases of delinquency have occurred from drunkenness. One case was peculiar. A Shogonosh (white man) in the winter gave to one of our people some fire-water, and made him drunk; but, Peter-like, he remembered his fall, and immediately after went out and wept bitterly. In deep anguish of mind he fled to the bush, and there, for six days and nights, he bemoaned his departure from God, entreated forgiveness, and promised amendment. The Lord pardoned him; restored his peace; and since he has been remarkably faithful and pious.

"Two backsliders got drunk on New Year's Day, and beat and stabbed each other so much that both fully expected death would ensue. They were greatly alarmed, and very sorry for their conduct; and sent to their friends to pray for them, and to visit them on their sick-bed. They thanked God for sparing them; and confessed that if they had died misery and ruin must have been their portion. They promised amendment, were spared, and joined the church; since when they have been sober, regular, and attentive.

"We have now no drunken Indians on this Reserve; and only three men who remain Pagan. The change of habit and character is so great and so striking, that many people visit the Mission from far and near to witness it. Many Indians have come, and some have been induced to become christian from beholding the improvement, happiness, and zeal here.

"Our Leaders' Meetings have been seasons of profit and pleasure. The business has been done harmoniously: and the times of enquiry into their views, their christian experience, and the spiritual state of the classes, have been truly delightful; displaying a correct judgment of the things of God, and deep acquaintance with experimental and practical truth.

"Much praise is due to the labours of my predecessors for this improvement—the prospect is cheering to other places.

“Three female members have died, and all happy in God. . Baptisms : of adult Indians, 13 ; of children of white parents, 40 ; and of Indian parents, 22.

“There is a prospect of some good among the white people, who are indeed as sheep having no shepherd.”

We have on the St. Clair Mission one hundred and seven members, with eight on trial ; making a total of one hundred and fifteen.

SAHGEENG MISSION.

This Mission during the past year has been supplied by a native exhorter alone ; and it is a cause of gratitude that his humble, pious, and zealous labours have been so far crowned with the Divine sanction and blessing, that he has not only succeeded in keeping the Society together, but in leading them forward in the path of religious knowledge and enjoyment ; and has been instrumental in bringing some of the wandering Pagan Indians, who have visited the Mission, to the fold of Christ.

The Sahgeeng School has been under the exclusive care of a native Indian teacher, Brother J. Elliot ; and when the parents and children have been at home, he has faithfully instructed the latter in the various branches of a pious and useful education.

In the very heart of the Western wilderness, this Mission appears like a little vineyard, kept night and day, and watered every moment by the Great Head of the Church.

With feelings of sincere gratitude, and with the most pleasing anticipations, we refer to the prospects of usefulness which present themselves in the extensive Territories of the

NORTH WEST COUNTRY.

Since our last Annual meeting, our esteemed brethren, Messieurs Evans, Hurlburt and Jacobs, have laboured in that part of the great Mission field. They entered upon their duties with mingled sensations of hope and fear ; and they were followed by the deep solicitude and the fervent prayers of their brethren and friends. Many obstacles which appeared almost insurmountable arose to threaten the disappointment of their pious efforts. They knew not how they should be treated by the Agents of the Honourable Hudson's Bay Company ; they knew not how the Pagan Chiefs would receive the christian instruction they were going to give ; they expected to meet in every quarter the emissaries of Popery, whose acquaintance with the Indians and whose influence over them would occasion them much trouble, if not expose them to imminent danger ; and they knew that as the people were scattered in small tribes over a vast extent of country it would require excessive toil to obtain any profitable intercourse with them. In the face of all these discouragements, they entered upon their work in a spirit worthy of their Missionary character; and the God of Missions has been with them, and greatly blessed their labours.

They have visited eight or ten of the principal Trading Posts; and at every place they have been treated with the utmost kindness by the gentlemen connected with the Honourable Company who have charge of those posts. These gentlemen have furnished our brethren with rooms wherein to lodge and hold their meetings, and have supplied them with ample stores of provisions at a reasonable price. Such expressions of kindness on the part of persons occupying stations of respectability and importance, have not only been most gratifying to our brethren as men, but highly useful to them as Missionaries; because they have convinced the Indians that our agents are persons who desire the confidence of the people, whose moral and spiritual improvement is the great object of their Mission.

In every instance where our brethren have visited a Chief and his Tribe—after having explained the object of their visit, and made known the truths of the everlasting Gospel—have they been strongly urged to repeat their visit, and to send Missionaries and Teachers to reside permanently amongst the people.

In some instances the Chiefs, with a number of their people, have followed our brethren from post to post, and from encampment to encampment for days together, that they might hear more and more about the white man's religion.

The brethren inform us that although the people of those distant regions are really Pagan in their views and their practices, and consequently miserable in their condition, they are not debased by habits of intemperance; are not hardened against Christianity by a practical acquaintance with many of the disagreeable vices which too extensively prevail amongst those who profess the christian name; and are, therefore, better prepared to hear with attention, and embrace with readiness, the great truths of our holy religion than Indians who are more fully acquainted with the white man's unfaithfulness and hypocrisy.

Governor Simpson, of the Honourable Company's service, has given us the kindest assurances of his willingness to afford us all the assistance in his power in the prosecution of our work; and tells us that the whole country is open before us; and that at nearly every post we may establish Missions, and expect the benign and saving influence of the glorious Gospel. What a prospect do these encouraging events open to our view! Here is a country extending from our lakes and rivers to the shores of the Pacific Ocean and Arctic Sea, including a territory of fifteen hundred miles, containing a population of thirty thousand Indians; a great many trading posts where we might, if we had the means, employ fifty or sixty Missionaries, and twice their number of School Teachers.

This work must be done. This territory is included in the promised reward of the Saviour's sufferings; included in the cheering predictions of that word, every jot of which shall be accomplished. The North as well as the South must give up; yield the homage of renewed and grateful hearts to Christ, whose sons are to come from far, even from the ends of the earth; and find acceptance at his altar, and glorify the house of his glory. Who are better qualified to do the work than our Missionaries? We have men who understand the language of the people; who are well acquainted with their habits and disposition; and who have been the honoured instruments of turning hundreds of our red brethren from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God. These are not merely willing to go, but their cry is, Send us: and wherever we find an Indian's wigwam, or council fire, we will try to erect a temple of piety, and build an altar of devotion on which incense and a pure offering shall be presented to the Lord.

We cannot conclude our Missionary Report for the Centenary Year without adverting with emotions of heartfelt gratitude to the great things which God has done for us, and by us, as a branch of His Universal Church. The influence of that great revival of religion which has been promoted, and has been maintained by the instrumentality of the immortal Wesley, and his coadjutors and successors, is now felt in every part of our widely-extended Empire; and even far, very far, beyond its ample range.

In every quarter of our globe, Wesleyan Ministers are planting the standard of the Cross, and are directing their fellow sinners to behold the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world. In Sweden, Germany, France, Gibraltar, and Malta; in all the cities and towns of England; in many of those of Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, there are flourishing Wesleyan Societies. In the West India Islands; in Western and Southern Africa; Ceylon and Continental India; New South Wales; Van Diemen's Land; New Zealand; Tonga; Haabai Islands; Vavou Islands; Fejee Islands; in British North America; in the United States; in South America; this glorious work has extended its conquests, and scattered social, moral, and spiritual blessings. In England there are three thousand Methodist Chapels, one thousand and nineteen regular Ministers, and four thousand Local Preachers; two hundred and ninety-six thousand eight hundred members of Society; three thousand three hundred and thirty-nine Sabbath Schools, three hundred and forty-one thousand four hundred and forty-two Scholars, and fifty-nine thousand two hundred and seventeen School Teachers. In Ireland there are twenty-six thousand two hundred and forty-four members.

In our Missions we have above sixty-six thousand members; an equal number, not members, belong to our Mission congregations. We have forty-nine thousand two hundred and sixty-six scholars in our Mission Schools; making a total of more than one hundred and eighty thousand persons who are directly receiving spiritual advantages by means of the Wesleyan Missions. Printing establishments are employed; and valuable translations of the Scriptures, and other pious books, are sent forth in no less than twenty different languages. In the United States the Methodist Episcopal Church has twenty-eight Conferences, three thousand one hundred and six Preachers in actual service; two hundred and sixteen superannuated Preachers, and above five thousand eight hundred Local Preachers; six hundred and eighty-six thousand five hundred and forty-nine members; two millions four hundred thousand members and attendants on the ministry; eighty thousand coloured members; and two thousand converted Indians. Six Collegiate Institutions and one University, beside many minor Literary establishments!

Where is the Wesleyan who can look at this great work, so small in its origin; so rapid in its progress; so extensive in its range; and so blessed in its influence; without calling upon his soul and all that is within him to magnify the name of the Lord!

" Sons of men, your Saviour praise;
He the door hath opened wide:
He hath given the word of grace;
Jesus' word is glorified!

Jesus, mighty to redeem,
He alone the work hath wrought;
Worthy is the work of Him;
Him who spake a world from nought!"

While we survey the past with pleasure, we can look forward to the future with anticipations equally delightful.

This Centenary year sees Wesleyan Methodism exhibiting satisfactory evidences of unimpaired vigor, purity, and efficiency.

The state of our Connexion in England is such as, not only to afford satisfaction, but to call for gratitude. The ebullition of democratic feeling which took place in some of the societies, a few years ago, and was called forth by the spirit of the times, has, through the great mercy of God, entirely subsided; and the attempt which was made to subvert the Wesleyan plan of discipline, has not only failed, but has been overruled for good. That discipline stands upon a sure foundation, and is more deeply rooted in the confidence, both of the Preachers and the Societies, than it ever was at any former period. The wisdom and propriety of Mr. Wesley's maxim is every where practically acknowledged: "Do not mend our rules, but keep them; and that for conscience sake." Many of the Societies have, within the last two or three years, been greatly enlarged—never was the Wesleyan Ministry so numerously attended, since its commencement, as it is at this day. "Expectations of increased spiritual prosperity are generally excited, and more signal displays of the Holy Spirit's power and love, in the conversion of ungodly men, and in the improved piety of believers, are almost every where anticipated."

Our brethren in the United States are putting forth all their energies to increase the stability and extend the influence of Methodism, not only throughout their own Union, but they are sending their agents to Africa—to Texas—to South America, and to the shores of the Pacific; and are thus nobly carrying out the diffusive principle of our beloved and honored system.

In Upper Canada, and in the Lower Provinces, the same spirit of benevolent enterprise is at work; and the proceeds of our Missionary and Centenary Meetings for the present year afford ample proof that we are determined to imitate the example of our Fathers and brethren in other lands, in laying upon the altar of our Zion a thank-offering expression of our gratitude, and zeal, and love—a thank-offering whose influence shall be seen in the more extended and vigorous operations of all our benevolent institutions.

Let us maintain our Missionary character, and, with increased zeal, devote ourselves to our great Missionary work. Much yet remains to be accomplished; and we must regard all we have done as merely preparatory for still more glorious achievements.

The moral condition of our fellow men, in almost every part of the world, is still such as demands our deepest sympathy. A vast majority of the inhabitants of the most populous nations of the earth,—China, Japan, Tartary, Hindostan, Africa, the Islands of the South Sea,—are enslaved by the most revolting opinions—brutalized by the grossest ignorance—debased by vices which destroy the last traces of God's image from the human soul; transform the man into a brute, or fiend, and hurl him into the abyss of eternity in hopeless darkness and despair.

The inhabitants of Mohammedan countries are, also, in a most wretched and degraded condition. The tribes of Barbary, the dwellers in Arabia, Persia, Turkey, Egypt—exceeding in number more than a hundred millions—are the dupes of an audacious and monstrous imposture;—an imposture arrogating the name of religion—changing the truth of God into a lie—mingling its sacred facts with the most preposterous fables—and investing with the sanction of divine authority the dreams and reveries of an ambitious, cruel, and voluptuous tyrant. A system based in falsehood,—propagated by violence and blood; withering the rights which meliorate the condition of our species, and the virtues which exalt and bless it; inspiring a savage disposition—dictating a barbarous despotism—leaving the corruptions of the heart unrestrained,—nay fastening them in iron rivets, by the allurements of their sensual paradise,—and thus preparing them for that destruction which awaits the workers of iniquity.

The Jews, in vast numbers, are still wandering through the earth, blinded by unbelief—hardened by prejudice—adhering, with obstinate tenacity, to their former legal dispensation—despising the Gospel—blaspheming the Saviour of the world—and, by their avarice, sensuality, and infidelity, rapidly accumulating the weight of the guilt, and fearfully increasing the prospect of their eternal condemnation.

Hundreds of thousands of our fellow men are the slaves of Anti-Christ—the devotees of a religious system which withholds from them the lively oracles of truth; which associates with the heavenly doctrines of the Gospel the grossest falsehoods; which taints the sanctity of Divine worship by idolatrous admixtures; and substitutes for pure and undefiled religion a train of carnal ordinances—an assemblage of corruption, mummery, and imagery; and which supports its antichristian pretensions and dogmas by a spirit of intolerant bigotry; and, if not restrained by the strong hand of Power, by a cruel spirit of persecution.

Even amongst Protestants, how much evil exists and disgraces the very name of religion! Yes, in Protestant England and America, how much practical atheism and infidelity, trampling upon every thing that is true, and holy, and just, and good! Thousands are to be found there who glory in denying even the form of religion—profligate, abandoned wretches, whose eyes are full of adultery, whose god is their belly, and whose end is destruction. Thousands more exhibit nothing beyond a theoretic acquaintance with Christianity; who, while they possess the form of godliness, deny its power; and, even amongst those who know something about experimental piety, how few are there who fully live up to their exalted privileges, and walk worthy of their holy vocation!

How little is done for the glory of Christ, compared with what might be done! What worldly-mindedness! what lukewarmness! what formality! what instability of character, even in the most religious communities!

How are these evils to be cured? Not by the snarl of the cynic—not by the sarcasm of the satirist—not by the influence of human science, laws, or institutions; but by the diffusion of the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus.

Let us, then, more cordially embrace the Gospel ourselves—let us endeavour to realize more fully the solemn obligation we are laid under to send that Gospel to others. Let us cultivate a tender sympathy for those parts of the human race who are yet sitting in darkness, and in the region of the shadow of death, and who are ignorant of the only way of recovery from the hideous ruin of their fall. Let us unite with vigorous effort fervent and persevering prayer for the blessing of God upon our labours—then shall we be instrumental in bringing about that blessed period, when those who have sown in tears shall reap in joy—when the harp of pious sorrow shall no longer hang on the willows, but be attuned to notes of gladness and of triumph—when the groaning of creation shall be hushed, the crimes that pollute it, and the woes that desolate it, shall terminate—when the sad reign of ignorance and sin shall be no more—and the earth shall resound with songs of jubilee! O blessed day! when the gloom and the darkness which have so long enshrouded the world, shall vanish before the light of heavenly truth, and error and idolatry shall cease to curse our earth! The voice of tumult, and of war, and of bloodshed, shall be forever silenced—none shall invade the rights of his neighbour—Kings shall lay their sceptres at the feet of Christ—Legislators shall prevent evil, and not inflict it—Governments shall acknowledge that they are but subordinate agents of the King eternal, immortal, invisible—the only wise God! The kingdoms of this world shall be his whose right it is to rule over all! All things shall be put under his feet! His empire shall be the boundaries of the earth; and it shall be said of Zion, “Behold, thy God reigneth!”
