

SAYS CHANGES NEEDED IN VICTORIA HOSPITAL

Western Fair Board Decides On 25-Cent Fare Every Day

BUSINESS HEAD FOR HOSPITAL IS URGED IN REPORT

Prof. Brittain Says Reorganization of Administrative Departments Is Necessary.

ASKS PRESS HELP

Particularly Requests That Co-operation of Newspapers Be Secured in Effecting an Improvement.

Under the present conditions a general reorganization of Victoria Hospital is necessary, Dr. Horace Brittain, director of the Canadian Citizens' Research Institute, declares in his report of his recent investigation at the hospital, which was handed by him to the members of the hospital trust on Sunday.

"For this organization work a capable administrator is required," the report adds. "In this work, the co-operation of the newspapers should be encouraged. Constructive and fair criticisms would greatly assist in the efficient development of the reorganization, because if the hospital is to operate to the best advantage it must have the confidence and support of the public."

Dr. Brittain recommends that the hospital trust be responsible for questions of policy.

The trouble in the past, Dr. Brittain says, has been the lack of a simple and definite line of responsibility and authority. This has resulted in friction between the various department heads, and a lack of the co-operation so necessary in such an institution.

The report, summarized, deals with the subject under the following heads:

1. GENERAL ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION.

The trustee board is in general control of the hospital policies. This board is made up as follows:

Two members elected from the City of London.

The mayor of the City of London.

One member representing the County of Middlesex.

The general superintendent of the hospital acts as secretary to the above board.

The trustee board, in medical policies, is to a great extent guided by the hospital advisory committee.

This committee consists of the chiefs of the various departments as follows:

Chief of Medicine.

Chief Eye-Ear-Nose-Throat.

Chief Department Gynaecology and Obstetrics.

Chief Department Surgery.

Chief X-Ray Department.

The hospital general superintendent is responsible to the hospital trust for the administration of the institution. Correspondence and reports to the board.

INQUEST IS ORDERED IN BRANTFORD DEATH

Coroner's Jury Will Meet May 2 To Investigate Death of Arthur Dawson.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brantford, April 23.—The engineer of the train which crashed into an automobile here Saturday afternoon, killing four-year-old Arthur Dawson, stated this morning that he did not see the motorist until the car was practically on top of it, but that he immediately jammed on the emergency brakes and brought the train to a standstill within a very short distance. He stated that both bell and whistle were sounding as the train approached the crossing.

Coroner Fissette ordered an inquest in the death of the boy, and the jury after viewing the remains this morning adjourned until May 2 at 8 p.m.

"Up from the Death Cell"

—is one of the most remarkable stories ever written. It is a true account of some of the deepest moments in human experience, of the emotions of a man condemned to die, of a triumph to better things. It is written by the man himself.

"Up From the Death Cell"

begins exclusively in The Advertiser on Wednesday, and no newspaper has ever been able to offer its readers a more enthralling or more thought-provoking feature.

FLORAL TRIBUTES TO GLORIOUS DEAD.

Here are the commemorative wreaths which the Very Rev. Dean Tucker placed on the choir stalls during the Ypres commemoration service held in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday, and attended by all the troops in the city, together with the veterans and members of the medical and nursing staffs. The wreaths, which are in memory of "Our Glorious Dead," will remain in the cathedral under the shadow of the regimental colors until the return of the "day." They and their bearers were photographed by The Advertiser photographer in front of the city hall building on Dundas street.

YESTERDAY'S PARADE LEAVING ST. PAUL'S

The Advertiser staff photographer took this picture of the troops leaving St. Paul's Cathedral after the Ypres Commemoration on Sunday afternoon. They can be seen reforming in their original order of march and preparing to go to Victoria Park, where they marched past the South African monument, and General King took the salute. The photographer has caught the killed pipers of the Western Ontario Regiment, whose skirling pipes fitted in with the rainy weather, and seemed much more appropriate under the circumstances than the brass bands. The crowds were very much larger than can be seen in the photograph, as most of the people at this time were in the cathedral grounds behind the man with the camera.

STREET RAILWAY CONDUCTOR AND POSTMAN MOST COURTEOUS

GENTLEMEN—BOTH OF THEM.

Here is J. C. Seelhoff, street railway conductor on the North Belt car No. 100, who won the Kiwanis Club prize through The Advertiser for the most courteous official in London. He was caught by The Advertiser photographer shaking hands with M. J. Rourke, letter carrier No. 7 of the London Postoffice, who came second in the contest.

Jake Seelhoff, Conductor of North Belt Car, Wins First Prize as Most Courteous Public Official, With Michael J. Rourke, Letter-Carrier, Second—Frank Grey First Man To Nominate Winner.

Jake Seelhoff, popular street car conductor, has been named as London's most courteous public official by general vote in The Advertiser's courtesy contest, which closed Saturday at midnight.

Mr. Seelhoff wins the prize offered by the Kiwanis Club, which will be presented to him at the Kiwanis Club luncheon next Friday.

The Advertiser's prize to the man first nominating the winner is won by Frank Grey, whose ballot for Mr. Seelhoff was marked at 3:45 on the afternoon the contest opened.

Second in the contest stands Michael J. Rourke, and in third place is Mayor Wenige. On Saturday morning the three were closely bunched in the voting, but during Saturday Mr. Seelhoff pulled away to a commanding lead and finally topped the list with a margin of nearly 100 votes over the second man.

Mr. Rourke and Mayor Wenige made a close race of it for second place, and less than ten votes separated them in the final totals.

The other nominees, all of whom received considerable support, include Mr. Currie, postman; Sam Baker, Rev. Mr. Watts, E. V. Buchanan, Oliver Ellwood, Judge Macbeth, Ald. Colbert, Thomas Nickle, T. G. Meredith, Fred Landon, Alderman Judd, Dr. Hugh Stevenson and "Uncle Bill" Moore.

Victory a Surprise.

During his ten years of service with the London Street Railway, Conductor Seelhoff has convinced himself that courtesy is one of the greatest assets, if not the greatest, that a public official can have.

He was surprised indeed when appearing and informed that the citizens had picked him as the city's most courteous public official.

"Why, I never expected it at all," he exclaimed. "I didn't even know that the contest had closed. I was under the impression that it would finish Wednesday night."

Mr. Seelhoff is a native of London, Ontario, and has been in the employ of the London office 19 years this July. He takes the mail to the downtown business houses.

Mr. Rourke is postman No. 7 and has been in the employ of the London office 19 years this July. He takes the mail to the downtown business houses.

Mr. Wenige is conductor No. 130 and has been on the North Belt line for more than a year. Most of the time he has charge of car No. 100, a vehicle with a history almost as colorful as that of "Old 27."

This popular conductor likes the North Belt route and proudly declares that, considering the service, the patrons of that line are the most human and cheerful in London.

Mr. Rourke's View.

Although all his courtesy happens on foot so to speak, while Mr. Seelhoff practices his gift of courtesy riding, Mr. Rourke holds exactly the same views on the matter as the winner of the prize.

"My idea of courtesy is to respect everyone and to have a pleasant word for all, rich or poor, high or low," he says. "There is no reason in the world why civil servants should not be courteous. People are human and they will give a smile if you have one for them."

"Of course at times we are liable to become irritable when the public forget themselves and act unreasonably. But if you keep your head, don't argue and be pleasant you will make those kind of people your friends."

Mr. Rourke is postman No. 7 and has been in the employ of the London office 19 years this July. He takes the mail to the downtown business houses.

OTHER CITIZENS TELL OF SUCCESS OF ALBERTA COAL

Advertiser Sample Burned Well, Is Tenor of Reports.

SECOND CAR HERE

Fuel Engineer Pratt Will Return To Explain Qualities of Alberta Fuel.

Two weeks ago The Advertiser was fortunate in bringing to London the first shipment of coal from Alberta mines. This shipment has since been tested and distributed in Advertiser trucks to one hundred London homes. It is followed this morning by another carload of western fuel. This later shipment will also be tested and analyzed and a certain amount will be distributed to householders from Buchanan's coal yards. The Advertiser is not undertaking further distribution, but consumers who missed the first tests may now be able to obtain a supply by telephoning direct to Buchanan's offices.

Arrangements are being made by which the public may be able to see this morning's supply burning in the basement of Smallman & Ingram's store. This is through the courtesy and co-operation of Smallman & Ingram's and the McClary Company, the latter organization supplying the furnaces.

Mr. Pratt to Return.

G. R. Pratt, provincial fuel engineer of Alberta, who came to London last week under the direction of his provincial department, left on Friday night for Ottawa. He told The Advertiser on departure that he expected to return to London this week to be of further service to the public in explaining the fuel of his province.

Mr. Pratt expressed appreciation of the enterprise of the McClary Company, who have co-operated with the Alberta government in supplying demonstration furnaces throughout the country.

Interest in the Alberta coal continues in spite of the warmer weather and reports from householders who have burned supplies from The Advertiser's shipment last week invariably express satisfaction and increased interest.

The following reports were received this morning:

Wm. Gates, 280 Talbot Street.

"To give the sample of Alberta coal a thorough test the furnace was emptied and a fresh fire started on a cold day, when the thermometer registered seven degrees of frost, accompanied by a biting northwest wind. The results are highly satisfactory, since we enjoyed a maximum of comfort at a minimum of trouble. The house was never warmer throughout the winter; there was always a clear fire, and best of all, there were no tinkers, slate, or anything to make roasters with. The fire had burned itself out only the day before yesterday."

"With American coal, such as one we bought, say nine tons, and had seven tons of this in the way of clinders, slate, slag, etc."

"Canadian coal for the Canadians should henceforth be our slogan."

EDWARD JOHNSTON ADDRESSES LOCAL ROTARY MEMBERS

World-Famous Tenor Regrets Abyss Between Business and Professional Men.

EXPLAINS CAREER

Declares Artists Proving That They Are "Regular Fellows."

The Edward Johnston who addressed the Rotary Club at noon today, spoke to the club simply as a business man and a fellow-Rotarian, a member of the Guelph association. "There has been long an abyss between the businessman and the professional man, or artist," he said. "My conception of it is that—that any man who accomplishes anything which requires imagination is an artist and his production a work of art. So we are all alike."

Mr. Johnston talked of the profession in which he was as no other than a business man, and he pictured the competition which a young Canadian or American faces in entering New York, which, as he explained, was the mecca of all music. The story he told was in reality that of his own early career.

Went to Europe. "When a young man wins his way out of choir and quartet singing in the towns and cities here," he said, "he goes to Europe for further training."

"Arriving there, he is met with the prejudice of Europeans, who say: 'He is an American, therefore he can't sing Italian.' I consider it was only good business sense, when I decided to translate my name into Italian while I was singing in Milan."

"When I came back here, however, my ten years' experience was as nothing. My prestige was entirely gone. They couldn't believe that a fellow who hadn't 'inspired' or 'inspired' tacked on his name the name of a famous opera company, and they asked if I could sing 'Faust' in French, and 'Tannhauser' in German, and so on. I was ready to sing anything. I'd have sung in Yiddish to show them that I could deliver the goods."

Burst of Applause. There was a great burst of hand-clapping at this point in Mr. Johnston's tale of his own fight to further his career and still preserve his own name.

"Little by little," he said, "artists are proving to the world that they are regular fellows, selling the goods just as you are. The only difference is when you send out your goods, you put in a line. With our goods we have to be there when they are delivered."

"The agents peddle us around. We are, so to speak, the 'cheese' in the Latin countries, the goods have to be as per order or there is whistle, which means 'watch out,' something heavy is coming your way. In Anglo-Saxon countries, however, there is a bit more leniency."

Publicity Feature. Publicity is as great a feature in our business as in yours. They say that Mary Garden, after Roosevelt, is the most widely advertised person in the world, and she said to me once, "I don't care what the papers or the people say about me, as long as they say it."

"With Galli-Curci, for instance, or any other singer, only a few thousand people have ever heard them sing, yet out of all the millions on the continent, only a few are ignorant of the name and its significance."

Edward Johnston himself, who was introduced by Dean Sherwood Fox, the chairman as a cosmopolitan, but one of the best Canadian citizens alive, is as well typically Canadian and businesslike in appearance. He is of medium build, speaks with a cultured tone which betrays a knowledge of other languages but carries no accent, and accompanies his addresses with a delightfully friendly smile.

His address was pleasantly informal, and though he has just come from a tour of the Dominion, leaving the States, he commenced his address by extending the club the greetings of his home town of Guelph.

WARNS OF BAD ROADS. The London Motor Club issues a warning to motorists to the effect that between Cumberland and Thamesford on the Governor's road, and also between Lambeth and Delaware on the Longwoods road, the road is in a very bad condition. There is no convenient way of getting around these two places, and for the time being the club reports them as impassable.

ATTEMPT TO KILL CONDUCTOR WHO RAN OVER INFANT

Agonies of Dying Child Turns Spectators Into Frenzied Crowd.

BARELY ESCAPES

Only the Courage of the Occupants of the Car Saves Man's Life.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, April 23.—Frenzied with horror at the sight of the unrelenting sufferings of a boy of two and a half years, Salmie Dierman, who had fallen across the street car lines on St. Lawrence boulevard last night as a speeding car rushed upon him, and who lay under the car with one leg almost severed at the hip, a large crowd which had gathered at the scene of the accident made repeated efforts to lynch the conductor of the car.

Shouting threats and imprecations, men in the crowd hurled themselves time after time on the car, and only the courage of its occupants, who formed themselves into a solid mass to resist the capture of the car, in all probability saved the conductor's life.

At the risk of being beaten to death, he succeeded at last in rushing over the road into a nearby restaurant, the proprietor of which immediately locked his doors and notified the police. The crowd, which by now was many hundreds strong, besieged the restaurant and might have effected an entrance but for the arrival of a strong squad of police, who used their batons freely, saving the situation.

The conductor was got into the car again and rushed it from the scene of what had nearly been a double tragedy.

At the time of the accident it was found impossible to release the victim from beneath the wheels, and it was necessary to wait until the car could be moved up the street. It was then rushed to a hospital, but died before it was reached, having bled almost to death before he could be rescued.

The body of the boy, who had his nose and had his clothes almost torn from his body in the melee.

TRUSTEES TO CONSIDER DR. H. REASON'S OFFER

Will Also Deal With Appointment of Chief Attendance Officer.

Members of the board of education meet in special session this afternoon to discuss, among other things, the offer of Dr. H. T. Reason of a free site for the London West School.

Just what action is taken is problematical, as no one is in a position to predict what attitude the board will take.

It is generally felt among members that the offer is a generous one, but whether the price will be high and dry enough to be suitable, or whether the one condition that Dr. Reason insists upon will make any difference, remained to be seen. Dr. Reason offered any portion of 34 acres owned by the Reason estate in London West as a site for the school, providing that the building is named "The Catherine Reason Memorial School."

The board will also deal with the appointment of a chief attendance, co-ordinating and vocational guidance officer for the schools of the city. A report on the matter was brought in by a special committee some weeks ago, but the matter has never been discussed.

City Clerk Baker's letter regarding the revision of the bylaw covering the issue of school censures, but it is probably disposed of also. It is expected that after the meeting today the air will be clear of complications and the building program will be proceeded with.

Plans for beautifying the school grounds at the Central Collegiate Steward, a landscape gardener of Orenco, Oregon, a former student of the school. Mr. Steward has a kindly feeling towards the old school, and so he presented the board with free plans. They will be considered by the board today.

Boat Steered By Dead Man Found Headed For Open Sea

Absence of Empty Shells in the Boat Lead Police To Believe Murder Had Been Committed.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, April 23.—The motorboat Traveler, steered by a dead man, was found today by the Hudson River and headed for open water at full speed. Its lone occupant lay on his back across the steering wheel, his weight steadying the rudder. A pistol and two loaded cartridges were in the bottom of the boat. The absence of empty shells led the police to believe the man had been murdered.

Police hope to identify him through a license issued last January to Juan Ignacio of this city for a motorboat of the name and description of the Traveler. He was about 34 years old and wore a blue suit and sou-wester both torn by the single bullet that caused death.

Steevedores at work on the pier suddenly heard beneath them the roaring exhaust of a high-speed motorboat, and the Traveler, bumping and scraping against the piling, nosed out and started for the open river. Before the 22-foot craft could gather full speed she was lassoed by dockmen and hauled in.

The pilot had been dead for some time. The position of the Traveler's rudder led police to believe the derelict had cruised several miles before she headed into the pier, ran aground, and was discovered.

The pallbearers were Lieut.-Col. J. Innes Carling of London, Aubrey Schofield of Montreal, Arthur Leonard of Detroit, William Leonard of Hamilton, Gerald Aikman of Montreal and William Barron of Montreal.

The mourners were: Lieut.-Col. E. Leonard, Dr. Ibbotson of Montreal, and the late Mr. Leonard, who was a resident of London 70 years, died in Victoria Hospital Saturday afternoon, after an illness of three weeks.

Throughout the entire dominion he was well and favorably known, and was responsible for the successful organization of the Chamber of Commerce and for the promotion of the idea that boards of trade should not only deal with industrial problems but should represent the best interests of the cities in which they existed.

Besides his widow, one son, Col. Ibbotson Leonard, and three daughters, Mrs. Aubrey Schofield of Montreal, Mrs. Innes Carling of London, and Miss Alice Leonard at home, survive.

LONG SEARCH IS ENDED AT LAST

Spent Years Seeking Relief From Rheumatism and Found It in Tanlac, States Coulter.

"After suffering for years, and spending a small fortune trying to get relief, Tanlac has freed me up in short order. It's certainly surprising how quickly the right medicine will get a person to feeling right again," said Charles Coulter, 125 Sackville street, Toronto, Ont.

"My hands and wrists were so swollen with rheumatism I couldn't hold a bow to play my violin. My right leg was affected also, and hurt so bad I couldn't bend it, or lie on my right side. I suffered so terribly from the rheumatism, and my nerves were so unstrung I could hardly sleep a wink."

"I kept getting worse until I got Tanlac, but the rheumatism began easing up when I started on this treatment, and in a few weeks' time was gone completely. I feel fine in every way now, too, and can get around like a schoolboy now. I'll tell the world Tanlac is great."

MILBRA MACKIE STRUCK BROTHER IN SELF-DEFENCE

Hit David on Head With His Fist When Faced With a Monkey Wrench.

HE SEEMED ALL RIGHT

Became Unconscious Only After Returning From Barn Later, Says Milbra.

Canadian Press Despatch. Brantford, Ont., April 23.—W. L. Brewster, K.C., who represented Milbra Mackie of Drummond at the inquest into the death of David Mackie last week, makes the following statement of Milbra Mackie's story of the events preceding the death of David Mackie.

The two brothers, Milbra and David, owned farms across the road from each other, near the village, and Milbra went over to his brother's to borrow a wrench. He secured the article and returned home. Finding that it was not suitable, he took it back to ask for another.

While in the driveway for this purpose, he saw a plane owned by his father, which he picked up, stating that he needed it to fix a door. David replied "No," and Milbra then replied that he would take it. They got into an altercation, and while that was going on, Milbra swore, deceased David Mackie, raised a monkey wrench, which he was seen by a doctor and others.

The blow brought him to his knees. On getting up, he found that his brother again had the wrench raised for another blow. He then struck his brother on the head with his fist, but did not know him down. Next he pushed David over and held him down, but did not again strike him. His brother finally got up and went to the house, apparently all right. Later David went to the barn, but half an hour later returned in a dozed condition, and finally became unconscious, death following later in the Victoria Hospital.

The post mortem showed that the skull had been fractured and that there was a clot of blood on the brain.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, April 22.—While a street car which had just run over 2-year-old Halme Dinnerman was being jacked up off his body, a mob gathered on St. Lawrence boulevard, one of the principal streets of Montreal, tonight and attempted to storm the car for the avowed purpose of lynching the conductor. The occupants of the car stood by to protect the conductor, and he finally was rescued by a squad of police, who used their batons freely.

SAYS MUSSOLINI RULES ITALY BY RIGHT OF MIGHT

Descendant of Famous Violinist in London Discusses Italian Politics.

TELES OF FASCISTI

Thinks Revolution by Which Mussolini Rose But Preclude to Serious Upheaval.

A brief, but intimate glimpse into the affairs of the Fascist, ruling political party in Italy, was given to The Advertiser this morning by A. Paganini, who claims to be a descendant of the famous violinist by the same name.

Signor Paganini left this city early today for Montreal, after spending the night at a local hotel. His mission to America, he said, was of a business nature, but incidentally he intends speaking before the Montreal Publicity Association in connection with the Fascist movement of Italy.

Unlike many Canadians of Italian lineage he views the group of politicians, of which Mussolini is the leader, with great disfavor. The suppression of news revealing the true state of affairs leads Canada and the United States astray with regard to their attitude on Italian conditions, he declared. The recent revolution by which Mussolini attained power is but a prelude to a more disastrous upheaval.

"The persistent acts of violence, massacre of hundreds of our best men, burning of property and general devastation," Paganini said, "and the large number of wounded and refugees have brought about an indescribably grave and threatening situation. Co-operative societies, which have been violently suppressed, can be counted by the hundreds."

Revolutionary Party.

"The Fascist is a revolutionary party who overthrew constituted authority," he added. "Col. Dockery of the United States military establishment, has recently been advising the American Legion, a returned soldiers' organization, that they may shortly be required to perform the Fascist role. He gives as his reason the election to congress last fall of a large number of members with whom he does not agree on these things. The Progressive Democrats and some Progressive Republicans."

Mr. Paganini said he had seen an article published in the west, in which a retired Italian naval officer commends the Fascist movement to Canadians. There is no danger of it thriving in the atmosphere of Canada, but as it is spreading in parts of Europe, its significance is worth noting. All despots from Italy are strictly censured."

Reaction in Saddle.

The revolutionary party which reaction has become seated in the saddle in Italy, said Mr. Paganini, are condoned by the press both in Canada and Great Britain, and the revolutionary movement was immediately recognized by western powers. The statesmanship of Mussolini, the revolutionary leader, who defied constitutional authority and overthrew the government by force, is in many newspapers, highly praised.

"Fascism," declared Paganini, "under various guises is spreading to several European countries, and is apparently seeking to gain a foothold in North America. It is one of the most sinister forces threatening society. Its power for evil is increased by its abuse of the sentiment of patriotism and by the approval of its methods by a large portion of the press."

Mr. Paganini predicted a radical upheaval in Italy. Mussolini was at present reigning by force of arms, but this could not continue with many progressive societies against him.

Physician in Michigan for Forty-Four Years—Beloved by All for His Cheery Disposition.

Dr. Norman L. McLaughlin, aged 69, born in East Williams, and for 44 years a physician in Michigan, died a few days ago in Findlay, Mich., after the car he was driving had been involved in a slight accident with a street car.

His car collided with the street car, sustaining some minor damages, and the doctor was walking around examining the broken wheel when he collapsed. An inquest later proved that his death was due to heart failure.

Dr. McLaughlin was the beloved physician of Findlay, a sympathetic friend of every patient, with a generous, cheery spirit that endeared him to his patients. He was a leader in the community and a director of many campaigns to eradicate the liquor traffic.

Prohibition Pioneer.

He was prominent in the establishment of the public library, and was one of the pioneers in the prohibition movement, being president of the Hancock County Dry Federation. In the industrial development of the city he was as active as in every interest that concerned his town, and he furnished funds liberally for the purpose of developing industries within the city.

From 1892 to 1898 he was a city councillor, and was chairman of the Republican executive committee three times. The doctor was mayor of Cass City, Mich., the city in which he first practised. He was a Mason, an Elk, and well known in all local activities.

He was married on Nov. 27, 1878, in Blenheim to Miss Emma Jackson, who died June 12, 1907. To this union was born one child, Ethel May. She was married to Herman W. MacPhail, a banker, in Washington in 1909.

Wife Survives.

In July, 1918, Dr. McLaughlin married Lena Gertrude Robling, of Columbus, who survives him, as well as his daughter, Dr. McLaughlin's sister in Port Huron, Mich., passed away only a week ago.

The esteem in which he was held by the members of his profession was shown by the eulogistic resolution passed by the Hancock Medical Society at their first meeting following the death of Dr. McLaughlin. The resolution, the longest ever passed by the society, in no measured terms proclaimed his sterling worth and character. "No service to the sick was too onerous. He was faithful to the highest ideals of the profession. He was an astute business man, fair and honorable in all his dealings, and above all he stood for clean politics—a leader in the community and the director of many campaigns to eradicate the liquor traffic."

Resolution Concludes.

The resolution concluded: "Wherefore be it resolved that this expression of our high esteem and deep appreciation of our colleague be spread upon the records of this society and copies be furnished to the medical journals and to the local press."

The late doctor had a host of friends throughout Middlesex and Lambton counties. He was also well known in Strathroy and Watford. He had studied with Dr. Leander Harvey for some years. He came of that old Scottish stock that has always marched in the forefront of the Saxon race. He was a grandchild of Donald McLaughlin of Argyleshire in Scotland, and lived up to the finest ideals of his life of that prototype of his, Ian MacLaren's "Doctor of the Old School."

Business Head for Hospital is Urged

commendations, however, have in several instances been sent directly by department heads to the trustee board. The chief resident is responsible for the staff medical details, the treatment of patients, etc., etc., for the treatment of their accident cases.

37. That the word "public" be substituted for the word "free" on the sign near the entrance to the out-patient department.

38. That a printed schedule of all hospital charges be displayed in each room and ward in the hospital.

39. That all medications, dressings and extras be charged for at cost plus 10 per cent.

40. That automatic duplicate receipting machines be installed in all ion, should never have been allowed to develop to the extent that it has. The general manager, under the authority of the board, should have laid down definite lines of authority for the two department heads and should then have demanded a proper spirit of co-operation.

mental heads should be responsible to him, and if he finds that one, or both, are not willing to co-operate in the interest of the hospital he should demand the necessary action. These heads should act through him, and the sending of correspondence, reports, etc., directly to the hospital trust should be looked upon as a breach of discipline unless made in the form of appeals against his judgment, and then only according to definite rules and regulations laid down by the trust. The superintendent of nurses and chief resident are apparently individually most capable, but the lack of co-operation between departments has not only been a handicap in obtaining the best results but has made it difficult properly to enforce the necessary discipline.

Past Misunderstandings.

We feel that the present unfortunate condition has been brought about by a series of misunderstandings. These misunderstandings were the almost inevitable result of the looseness of the hospital administration, which allowed the overlapping of authority. Conditions, too, may have been aggravated by departmental tale-bearing, which has probably caused departmental heads, in a spirit of impulse, to make criticisms of other departments that have tended to further increase the lack of co-operation noted. Victoria Hospital is a small institution, and the knowledge of detail which can be supplied by the present departmental heads, but it also should demand absolute co-operation. The general manager, rather than general superintendent, should be the one to definitely settle the problem, and in such matters should be strongly supported by the hospital trust.

Our recommendations would be that the hospital trust assume full responsibility for questions of policy, and make their general superintendent responsible to them for administration of all executive work, and see that his authority is protected. This means that the general superintendent would in no way interfere with the powers except in the proper official way, which would be as a body and not as individuals. If any department head or sub-official finds that he can go over the head of the executive responsible for his work, then the power of this executive is destroyed. This point must be carefully watched throughout the entire organization. The dismissing or hiring of sub-officials should be by department hands, but subject to the approval of the general superintendent. For the purpose of protecting his authority the dismissing and hiring of the executive departmental heads should be done by the general

Organizer Needed.

To have a smooth-working and efficient organization, the chief executive must be a good organizer. He must possess firmness as well as tact, should appreciate the administrative value of proper accounting and be experienced in the principles of business administration. If these qualifications can be combined with a knowledge of the medical work, the ideal hospital executive is obtained. Capable medical men, however, are usually more interested in the medical than the business end of the institution, and in practice, the better organization seems to be to have a competent lay superintendent with an experienced permanent medical assistant superintendent, who would be in touch with all the medical departments. If the Victoria Hospital was an 800 to 1,000-bed hospital, the institute would recommend such an arrangement. In the Victoria Hospital the institute's recommendation would be that the chief of the medical advisory board be recognized as the advisor to the general superintendent in all medical organization, and that the general superintendent make the chief resident, as head of the resident staff, responsible for such medical detail as the experience of that individual, whoever he may be from time to time, may make him qualified to handle.

Must Have Definite Work.

When the Victoria Hospital carried on fewer activities than it does today, the general superintendent apparently looked after many of the details himself. As the service and activities increased, however, additional details were thrust upon and assumed by him, until the point was reached where not only the hospital organization suffered, but the general manager's health could not stand the strain. In fact, Victoria Hospital has now arrived at the stage where it cannot be effectively administered unless the general superintendent, as chief executive head, works through definite lines of responsibility. If these lines are not established, and disputes settled by a decisive executive head, as they arise, there will be a continued overlapping of departmental authority which, with aggressive heads, tends toward a loss of co-operation between the department hands.

Today in Victoria Hospital there exists a great lack of co-operation between the nursing department and the resident staff. This, in our opinion,

POLICE FIND BODY OF WHITE SLAVER, BULLET-RIDDLED

Believe Members of His Gang in New York Committed the Deed.

HAD BEEN LONG DEAD

Chinatown Maintains Its Usual Reticence Concerning the Shooting.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, April 23.—The bullet-riddled body of 19-year-old Carmine "Blackie" Stello, known to the underworld as a white slaver, dope peddler and burglar, was discovered in the back of a shop in Chinatown today amid evidence which police say tells a grim tale of gang revenge.

He was found beside a pile of egg crates, and had been dead for hours. In his head and chest were seven bullet wounds. His right hand clutched a small flashlight; his left, an empty .25-calibre pistol shell. Nearby lay a .25 automatic with six expended shells.

The body was identified by a policeman who recently arrested Stello and three of his pals for robbing an aged watchman.

Police believe "Blackie" was double-crossed by members of his gang. As they reconstruct the story of his death, he was lured to the squalid alleyway in the belief he was to be in on a "job." He was given a flashlight, and while he stood with it in his right hand his companions backed away and showered him with bullets.

"Blackie's assailants were two, police believe, unless a single marksman with unerring aim killed him, for there were seven wounds and only seven empty shells near the body. His assailants could have escaped by climbing the pile of egg crates and leaping the high board wall that surrounded the litter-strewn yard.

Police reserves were called out to keep back the crowd of "Blackie" friends and acquaintances of the underworld who flocked down Mott street when the news spread that his body had been found.

Chinatown maintained its habitual reticence. Although it had been reported to the police last night that shooting was heard in the neighborhood, today the authorities could find no one who knew anything about it.

CATHARINE MACDONALD LEAVES $25,330 ESTATE

According to the will of the late Catharine Mary MacDonald, entered for probate at the county buildings this morning, deceased left an estate valued at $25,330. Bank and other stocks comprise $18,900, securities amount to $2,106.45, cash in bank totals $1,324.03, while a half interest in a house at 639 Wellington street is worth $2,900.

Five institutions in the city are bequeathed $500 in cash, and the remainder of the estate is divided among relatives and friends. The institutions that benefit are the Salvation Army, the Victoria Home for Incurables, the Protestant Orphans' Home, the Y. W. C. A., and the McCormick Aged People's Home.

superintendent on the approval of the hospital trust. Each executive must be protected in his authority, but a working spirit of co-operation must exist and be fostered.

Under present conditions a general reorganization is most necessary. For this organization work a capable administrator is required. In this work the co-operation of the newspapers should be encouraged. Constructive and fair criticisms would greatly assist in the efficient development of the reorganization, because if the hospital is to operate to the best advantage it must have the confidence and support of the public.

Received Co-Operation.

Speaking particularly of the work of himself and staff, Dr. Brittain acknowledged the greatest courtesy and the fullest co-operation of all officials and trust members whose assistance was necessary. For this we wish to express our sincere thanks.

"The institute has assumed that, in asking for the report, the trust desired the frankest possible statement of the facts as we see them, and the fairest expression possible of our recommendations based on these facts. Hence the nature of the report."

"The institute has not written its report from the standpoint of personalities. Any reference to persons with malice in the report have been necessary to the development of the recommendations."

"Most of the recommendations of the report depend on a sound basis of the fundamental recommendations, viz.:

(1) That the hospital be organized so as to show clear lines of administrative responsibility leading up to the general superintendent, who should be the chief executive officer of the hospital.

(2) That the rules and regulations of the hospital be revised and brought up to date, and that these rules and regulations define clearly the duties of all the officials and committees of the hospital and outline the general procedure in conducting the hospital's affairs."

"Respectfully submitted,
"HORACE L. BRITTAIN,
"Director and Secretary."

SAY DRURY IN FAVOR OF WATSON REPORT

Commercial Travelers Return Pleased Over Interview With Premier.

Both Premier Drury and Mr. Raney expressed themselves to the commercial travelers' delegation who waited on them in Toronto on Saturday in connection with the Watson report, as being heartily in favor of the report, and especially in favor of the chief clause, that in which Mr. Watson recommended that hotels in the province be divorced from the enforcement of the O. T. A., on the grounds that the hotel business today had no relation to the selling of liquor, and that less than one per cent of all violations of the O. T. A. were laid to the charge of the hotel keeper.

The premier stated to the delegation that the government had already a bill drawn up embodying the recommendations of this report, and that it would probably be given its first reading today. He promised also that the bill would be pushed through the House as energetically as possible, subject to the opposition that the government might encounter in the passing of the estimates.

The delegation from London were George T. Hair, secretary of the Commercial Travelers Association, E. E. Harley and J. H. Laughton. The speakers for the delegation were John H. Laughton for London, Harry Dodgson for Toronto, and W. H. Moody for the Kitchener travelers. Both the premier and Mr. Raney replied.

ANNEXED SCHOOL TAX AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT

Industry Questions Why Increase Should Be Levied by City.

The "annexed school tax" problem bobbed up again today at the city hall, and bids fair to remain indefinitely before the public eye.

From one of the industries located in the annexed districts of East London, and affected by the 1923 increased school valuation, comes to City Clerk Baker a communication seeking detailed information why this increase should be levied.

The firm in question explains: "You have increased our assessment $10,000 for school purposes, contrary to our fixed rate set when this district became a part of the city several years ago. We would like a detailed explanation as to why this is done."

The city clerk has referred the communication to the proper committee for consideration, and it is expected that other documents of a like nature will be at hand before the members convene again.

SPEAKS ON TELEPHONE DURING COURTESY WEEK

C. H. Beard Gives Practical Demonstrations to Young People in City.

Lectures and motion pictures on the use of the telephone, delivered before young people's societies of various churches, and before clubs and schools, were interesting features of Courtesy Week, which ended Saturday.

On Monday, C. H. Beard, accompanied by two operators, Miss Crittall and Miss Long, who gave practical demonstrations on a model switchboard, visited the Young People's Society at St. Andrew's Church.

Mr. Beard gave a talk by way of introduction, touching on the work of the operators, the development of the telephone and its use, and explained the proper way of answering calls. He stressed the value of courtesy relative to increasing the value of the telephone.

This was followed by motion pictures. Several films, were shown to emphasize various phases in the use of the telephone.

Musical numbers were given by Rev. F. W. K. Harris and Mr. Lloyd.

The program was repeated at an anniversary meeting of the Anglican Young People's Society of the Church of the Redeemer on Tuesday night. Instrumental numbers were given by Jack Fox, and the Misses McMechan and Francis. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

On Wednesday Mr. Beard spoke, and demonstrations with pictures were given, before the students of Westviolet School, and on Thursday afternoon before the boys of the La Salle School.

The Hermitage Club heard the lecture on Friday night, and on Saturday Mr. Beard spoke before the Acadia Lodge at the Masonic Hall. Prof. Sturdevant of Western University also spoke before the Acadia Club on Saturday, taking as his subject "The Relation of Chemistry to Commerce."

Rebuilding is more than ordinary repairing. The worn parts—soles, insoles, tips, vamps or linings—are actually replaced with new material and the shoe made practically as good as new. The cost is moderate; the result—more economy on shoes which, even aside from this feature, give the lowest cost per day of wear.

LIBERALS OF PEEL TO AID FARMERS IN COMING FIGHT

Party Will Not Run Candidate As Result of Conservative Actions.

DECIDED BY BALLOT

All Efforts To Be Concentrated To Defeat Present Member.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Brampton, April 23.—Although up till 5 o'clock on Saturday the Peel County Liberals were decided to put a candidate in the field at the coming provincial election, the obstructive tactics of the Conservative party in the house in blocking the single transferable vote measure caused a resolution to be carried by the Peel County Liberal convention held here this afternoon, to the effect that in order to defeat the Conservatives no candidate would be put up against Major Kennedy, Conservative, and A. E. Orr, U. F. O. nominee.

Will Concentrate Effort. A three-cornered fight in Peel was eliminated by the carrying of this resolution, and the Liberals will now concentrate with the farmers on the defeat of the present member, who will stand again for this county.

The fact that no fusion was previous to the voting as to whether a candidate should be put in the field, there was considerable discussion as to whether only delegates from the political sub-divisions should be allowed to vote, or all Liberals in the hall should be given a say.

All Had Vote. Before this was decided the delegates had to vote on the question. They decided that all Liberals present should have a vote, and the majority of the Liberals finally voted that no candidate should be placed in the field by the Liberals of Peel at the coming election. Strength manifested by the Peel County U. F. O. convention last Saturday did not influence the Liberal convention in deciding not to put a candidate in the field, but to help A. E. Orr, farmer nominee.

MEMBERS OF BAR PASS RESOLUTION OF REGRET

Middlesex Lawyers' Association Decide To Attend Funeral of Philip H. Bartlett.

Moved by Thomas H. Purdom, K. C., and seconded by J. M. McEvoy, K. C., that the Middlesex Bar Association records with deepest regret the death of Philip H. Bartlett, Esquire, one of their number, which occurred on the 20th of April, 1923, at the age of 63 years.

Mr. Bartlett studied in the office of Meredith and Cox, and was called to the bar in 1887. He had practiced in the city continuously ever since and had a large connection throughout the country. He was a man of marked ability. During the past twelve years he was associated with Mr. Thomas W. Scandrett in practice. Mr. Bartlett was one of the best speakers at the bar and took an active part in the elections in the county, addressing many meetings very acceptably. He was a well-read lawyer and gave careful attention to all business entrusted to him. He was appointed deputy police magistrate in 1918, and performed the duties of that office conscientiously and with much ability. The members of the bar extend to his widow and family their sincere sympathy in their irreparable loss.

DISCOVER AGED MAN SITTING IN CHAIR, DEAD

Search Ends After Police Break Into South Street Home.

Sitting naturally in his chair, but apparently asleep, with his pipe fallen to the floor, was the position in which police found George Metcalfe, age 60, and an employee of McClary's foundry for some years past, when they broke in the door of his home at 52 South Street last night about 11 o'clock, in response to a request of the deceased man's brother, who reported to headquarters that he had not seen Mr. Metcalfe for some days and was anxious to know of his whereabouts. Sergeant Tomlin and P. C. Harper went to the little house on South Street, where the dead man had lived alone for some years, and found him as mentioned above. It is thought that he passed away Thursday, as neighbors had not noticed him since that day, and his brother, Jabez, who lives in Pottersburg, had not seen or heard from him.

Coroner Dr. Robert Ferguson, after conducting a post-mortem examination, stated that death had been due to natural causes, and that an inquest would be unnecessary.

Bird Notes

Contributed by The McIlwraith Ornithological Club

Birds came along pretty lively the past week, encouraged, no doubt, by the warmer weather. The ice has at last disappeared from the ponds and the roads have become more passable, for all of which we are truly thankful.

On the 18th a pair of Shovelers, ducks with broad, flat bills, as their name would indicate, were on one of the ponds. So far as we know, this is the first record for this duck for Middlesex. The female is an inconspicuous brown bird, but the male is very handsome, in white, chestnut, green and gray.

The Chipping Sparrow arrived on the 21st. Bradford Torrey thinks they should be called the "door-step" sparrow on account of the friendly, confiding nature and the fondness for living near the abode of man.

The Brown Thrasher also turned up on the 21st, bringing with it the Rough-Winged Swallow and the Osprey or Fish Hawk. The Solitary Sandpiper, not due until May 5, broke its earliest date (April 26, 1923) by five days, arriving before the commoner and usually earlier Spotted Sandpiper. It is slightly larger than the Spotted, and although somewhat tipsy in its actions, does not teeter quite so persistently as the latter. It is a rather rare spring migrant at London, but common enough in fall, arriving about the middle of July and remaining for a couple of months.

WILL PAVE HIGHWAY, MAIDSTONE TO ESSEX

Contract Awarded Will Give 17 Miles of Pavement From Windsor.

Special to The Advertiser. Essex, April 23.—The section of the provincial highway between Maidstone Cross and this town, a stretch of about five miles, is to be paved this year, the contract for the work having been awarded to the Campbell-Latimer Company of Toronto.

When this work is completed, it will give a cement roadway from Windsor to Essex, 17 miles.

In wet weather this section of road is extremely dangerous for automobiles, having a deep ditch on each side. From Essex, east to Leamington, the highway is in excellent condition, being passable, even after a heavy rain.

Gaston Glass New Centre of Professional Interest

Spotlight Turned On Young Protege of Sarah Bernhardt, and His Sensational Success In "The Hero."

By HALLETT ABEND. Special to The Advertiser.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 23.—Whenever a film actor or actress achieves a notable success, that marks a new high level for his or her career, all Hollywood is agog with curiosity about the new star's methods of work, kind of training, tastes and probable future.

Now it is Gaston Glass who is holding the spotlight of professional interest because of his smashing personal success in "The Hero." Glass has done fine work before, notably last year when he played the villain in "I Am the Law," but never anything approaching either in promise or achievement his work in "The Hero." In the film, though he is surrounded by a cast including trouper as able as Barbara Lamarr, John Sainpoulos and others almost as good, his acting is so fine that the others seem to be working at acting by contrast, while Glass stands out in marvelous naturalness.

The new star, who is only 27 years of age, was born in Paris. Until he was in his middle teens he wanted to be a comedian and studied at the Conservatoire. Then he attracted the attention of the late Sarah Bernhardt and was made her godchild. The war came along and he served in the trenches and in the aerial corps. Once he fell with a burning plane and spent ten months in a hospital. Then followed a time in Bernhardt's company. He has been in the United States three years and in films that long.

"If I have made a success," says Mr. Glass, who is neither vain nor spoiled, "it is because of my stage training. The face means little on the stage because we have no close-up there, you know, and I was trained to get effects by using my body, by pantomime and with my voice. Now, when working on the sets if I am supposed to shout, I shout instead of just opening my mouth and pretending. And I use my body, all I can. In many of my most emotional scenes I cover my face or avert it from the camera. More can be told by the inclination of the head, the droop of the shoulders, the general carriage or a sweep of the hand than by dilated eyes or facial grimaces."

Mr. Glass says he can neither paint, draw, write or model, but that when he is studying a script he likes to spend hours in an art gallery studying the poses of figures in fine marbles or in splendid paintings. "I couldn't write them but I make up plots around them, you see—fit emotions to their postures," he explains. The young star is under a three year contract with the Schulberg organization.

WILL SEEK TO PREVENT TEARING UP PAVEMENTS

Is there any way to prevent city pavements from being torn up at frequent intervals?

Ald. Leonard Douglass, chairman of the board of works, believes that preventive measures are possible and should be taken, and at the next committee session he proposes to open his campaign for better thoroughfares.

"It's a disgrace," he asserted today, "the way our good pavements are continually torn up when they have to lay gas and water mains. Why, certain of our best streets are being continually cut to pieces in this manner."

Ald. Douglass questions why provision should not be made for this contingency before the pavement is laid, when all connections to houses could be run over to the boulevard.

Your Backyard Garden

Spinach and Swiss Chard Respond Well to Attention.

Spinach and Swiss chard are the most common plants used exclusively as "greens," and in this capacity, as a boiled vegetable, they have entirely replaced the humble dandelion.

The two crops are similar in that their value lies in the large amount of tender juicy top that they supply, and among those accustomed to serving greens both these crops are greatly appreciated.

Spinach is the oldest or best-known of the two in this country, but the Swiss chard, through its dual uses as a green or, if desired, as a substitute for asparagus, is gaining in popularity each year.

Spinach is grown preferably on rich, sandy loams and also in black muck. It reaches perfection on a gentle south slope with a rich, light soil. It is a gross feeder and responds wonderfully to surface applications of nitrate of soda applied about half a pound to the square yard. There is probably no other garden plant that will show bigger returns for the amount of fertilizer applied than spinach, but it is necessary to use a lot of care in applying the fertilizer to the ground about the plants, as every time the tender foliage comes in direct contact with the chemical fertilizer a burning of the foliage is the result.

Spinach should be sown as early as possible in the spring in order to get well started while the spring rains are here, as if grown during the warmer weather which is to follow it is not nearly so palatable and tends to go to seed very quickly. There is another way of growing spinach, and that is to sow the seed in August and have the plants established by late fall. When the really cold weather comes cover the patch lightly with straw, leaves or litter of some sort to protect them from winter killing. By carrying the patch through the winter in this way it is possible to have extremely early spinach the following spring.

No matter which way you grow them, they are sown in the same way, i. e., in rows ten to fifteen inches apart and fairly thickly planted in the row.

Swiss chard is, like spinach, a heavy feeder, and the more fertilizer you can spare for this crop the better will you be repaid, provided, of course, that the application is kept within reason. Swiss chard is a much larger plant than spinach, and in fact, in England, where it grows to perfection, it is said that a half-dozen plants will give a continuous supply of greens for a family of three.

Swiss chard will eventually displace spinach as our favorite crop for greens, as it offers more than spinach for the same amount of work and is a much surer crop. Swiss chard can be cut time after time all season long and can be used to produce splendid greens, whereas if spinach is cut off instead of being pulled in the usual way a seed stalk will be sent up to replace the leaf, which has been cut off.

A splendid feature of Swiss chard is the fact that when asparagus has ceased to appear on the table, the large "mid-rib" from the center of the leaf of the Swiss chard may be steamed and served with a cream sauce on toast, and is almost as satisfactory as the asparagus itself. As a green in the ordinary manner of use, Swiss chard is considered, if anything, to be just a little superior to its better-known relative, spinach. It is undoubtedly better for the hot weather, when spinach cannot be grown satisfactorily in the open on account of its habit of throwing up seed stalks as soon as the weather gets hot.

If you grow either of the crops or both, it will be well to remember that the faster the growth the more tender will be the greens, and that fertilizer will yield bigger profits on these crops than on most others in your garden.

Depew Says, On Ninetieth Birthday, Live For Love, That Clears the Way

New York, April 23.—The world isn't going to the dogs. It is better now than it was 10 years ago and is getting better every day, despite divorce scandals, chorus girl murders, prohibition and jazz endurance contests.

Chauncey M. Depew, on the threshold of his 90th year, sat in his swivel chair in the room of directors of the board of the New York Central and propounded this bit of philosophy for the world.

"On Monday I will be 89 years old and I'll tell you how I did it. 'Love—just that one word, just that one thought. Love your work, love your recreation, love your life, get a good girl and love her and then go out and get the best bunch of pals in the world and love them. 'All this nonsense about not doing this and not doing that, not eating this and not eating that, not drinking this and not drinking that—foolishness. 'I say practice the rule of moderation in everything. 'Do everything, but do it moderately—that's what I say.'"

Depew chuckles when he talks. He loves living and he wants everybody else to love it. His characteristic long white mutton-chops are not as thick they used to be, but he still has the "pop" of a boy of 20.

O. JACKLIN, WATFORD, HONORED ON LEAVING

Masonic Brethren Present Secretary With Jewel Before Departure.

Special to The Advertiser.

Watford, April 23.—The members of Havelock Lodge, A. F. and A. M., held a special meeting in their lodge room this week to bid goodbye to Worshipful Brother Orlie Jacklin prior to his leaving for Windsor. After many of the brethren had voiced their regret at his departure, Brother Jacklin was presented with a diamond-studded past master's jewel, accompanied by a complimentary address. Brother Jacklin has been prominent in Masonic circles for a number of years, being the efficient secretary of Havelock Lodge, and district secretary of St. Clair District, No. 2, A. F. and A. M.

Mrs. Jacklin was also the subject of a presentation, when the ladies of Trinity Anglican Church gathered in the schoolroom to entertain her at tea prior to her departure. The presentation to Mrs. Jacklin took the form of a beautiful piece of fancy china. Mrs. Jacklin has proved herself an earnest worker in Trinity Anglican Church during her many years of residence in Watford, and her leaving is greatly regretted by the ladies.

Ladies Keep Your Skin Clear, Sweet, Healthy With Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Talcum

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multifid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Multifid in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten your hair with water and rub the Multifid in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multifid coconut oil shampoo at all drug stores. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure you get Multifid. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package. Adv.

Duke of York's Fiancee, Perhaps Future Queen, Tells of Her Hopes For a Better Era Among Men

Only Interview With Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, Forbidden In England, Secured For Exclusive Publication In The Advertiser Wednesday, April 25.

Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, who will marry the Duke of York on Thursday, says:

She has met ghosts face to face many times in her family's fourteenth-century castle, Glamis—and she looks on the spectres as old friends, even if they did frighten Sir Walter Scott speechless.

She is heart and soul with the Duke in hope for a better world, which leads him to pal with workers in factories while he studies economic conditions.

She'll be a royal highness, but she really doesn't mind what she is called.

British officialdom tried to stop this interview, the only one granted by the Scotch girl, who, through her marriage, will come next in line to the succession to the British throne. No woman will stand between her and the line of the crown. After her marriage she can never again be interviewed.

Sanction for publication here has been secured from the future princess herself.

This interview gives a human picture of the sprightly girl who was won by real love. It tells of her childhood and her trousseau and the wedding gifts, and much of that lies between those topics. Seldom is a personage of her rank revealed so fully and frankly—and so charmingly.

Conservatives in Need of Inspiration.

Conservatives of this district had a gathering in London on Friday. According to reports in the London Conservative mouthpiece, it was an "inspirational" gathering. This, of course, means that the boys of the district had to be brought together to gather up a little inspiration for the fray. When a cause is pretty well run down at the heels it is often well to call in the crowd, for there's sure to be some person present that has even a worse story to tell. So, although affairs are hopeless in many of the Conservative camps around here, the delegates were sure to hear of a place where they were still worse. Hence the inspiration of knowing that while Conservative chances are poor in some places, they are poorer in others even down to poorest in several, if such a thing is grammatically possible.

Mr. James Hodgins was the chief inspirationalist of the day. There were several others working at it before Mr. Hodgins came along, and some of them must have done very well, for when one man smote the premier hip and thigh "the building fairly shook with applause." At least that's what the inspirational reporter of the London Tory paper says. Well, after they made the building quit shaking Mr. Hodgins began. He's a regular old lifebelt Conservative, this chap. "The Conservative party had always been the saviour of the country in the hour of need." Boy, that's the stuff to feed 'em when an election is coming on. Yes, sir, plenty of this wrap-me-up in the Union Jack oratory.

Proof? Sure, he had it by referring to the way the Tories had saved Canada from sliding into the lap of Washington at the time of reciprocity in 1911. That campaign is a great one to inspire over. When the Tories first heard of the idea in the Commons they cheered it, but as soon as some of their office-thirsty engineers saw in it the possibilities of a flag-flapping campaign they turned right-about-face.

It was an agreement by which the products of the soil of these two countries could pass one way or the other free of duty. Mr. Hodgins and all those who helped defeat that move never brought in anything since that could do the work reciprocity would have accomplished, and Canada today is searching the world for markets.

Well, Mr. Hodgins gave the boys a good big dose of that and they liked it.

Some person must have applauded, but not hard enough to shake the building. These inspirers were not taking any chance on the roof coming down on them. Now, Mr. Inspirational Hodgins gives them another good one. Here it is; yes, sir, word for word from the Tory organ:

"Now, once again we will prove that the good old Conservative party stands where it has always stood."

Now, say, honest, wasn't that inspiring? The good old Conservative party stands where it has always stood. You know, Mr. Hodgins, or perhaps you don't, that that's just what a whole lot of people thought when they left the party. They got tired of waiting for it to move out of its tracks, and shake some of the moss from its back. But there it is, the grand old party, standing motionless just where it has always stood.

Getting through with his heavy gunning, Mr. Hodgins got funny. No, not exactly funny, for the London apologist for Ferguson uses the words, "humorously referred to Premier Drury being like a flea described in a story he once heard. The narrator said 'the flea is a little animal; you put your finger on him and he's gone.'"

Say, that man Hodgins is a funny beggar, isn't he? Just a few minutes before he had said Mr. Drury was running with the hares and hunting with the hounds, and then he says he's like a flea. That's powerful campaign stuff for the boys, Mr. Hodgins, bang-up inspirational diet. The country needs just such men right now to be "the saviour of the country."

It must have been quite a gathering that the boys had here in London. Of course, it wasn't the real beginning of the campaign, "merely inspirational," as the official scribe recorded. The high spots, of course, were (1) the building shook with applause; (2) the Conservative party has always been the lifebelt of the country; (3) the Tory party stands where it has always stood—hasn't moved up an inch, and (4) Mr. Drury is like a flea.

The date and place of the next inspirational meeting has not been announced.

Death of Frank Leonard.

The death of Frank Leonard, which occurred in the 75th year of his age, removes one of London's very best citizens.

Frank Leonard was the eldest son of the late Honorable Elijah Leonard, senator, elected for the Malahide division in 1862, after a hard-fought contest with the late Henry C. R. Becher, Q.C. There were two other sons, Charles and Edwin. Edwin died when about 20 years of age, and Frank and Charles continued the business founded by their father, until the death of Charles a few years ago.

From a splendid autobiography, published after his death, written by the late Senator Leonard, we gather that the Leonards originally came from Taunton, Massachusetts, and were iron workers from the beginning. A very interesting fact is recorded: "I have in my possession an old United States gazetteer (title page with date missing), which says 'that in the vicinity of Taunton 800 tons of iron were manufactured, of which 450 tons were made into spades and shovels, that Mr. Samuel Leonard rolled the first shovel ever done in America, and that this invention reduced the price one half.' I have every reason to suppose this was my grandparent. In 1870 I visited Taunton and was shown the locality of the Leonard forge, which had been in operation for over 200 years."

The Leonards came to Canada in 1829. In 1834 they settled at St. Thomas, where Senator Leonard established a business.

In 1838 Senator Leonard began to build his new foundry in London, where he remained till his death. His account of his political and business experiences are told with a delicious candor. You see the man behind the story. This is true, too, of his conduct towards his sons. He and they were companions. He taught them. Frank says, in his comments, he got his first lesson in arithmetic from his father. "As we became more companionable, he interested himself in explaining the workings and principles of mechanics, which have been so useful to us. Every boy, I am sure, feels a pride in being so recognized." He put them on his pay roll and kept them there all his life. His father said: "Death is a beautiful order of nature." What grand words these are! How fearlessly he must have looked into the great unknown future to have uttered them! "They have been a great comfort to us all, and I hope they will prove a talismen which will help us to lead such a life that we may be enabled to say the same."

These references from Senator Leonard's autobiography and his son's appreciation of them are the key to Frank Leonard's life. He was an ideal citizen. His disposition is best described by the Scottish word "innerly." Such men are the backbone of any country in which they live. His father's example and companionship were his great teacher.

Frank Leonard is first remembered as a boy at the old Union School. He changed very little during his life. He was a good boy every way, steady, reliable, able, a good student, and fond of play. He was even-tempered and kind to everyone. These traits of character remained with him throughout life.

He was a true and sound Reformer, or Liberal, all his life. His conversation proved him to be a true Liberal in the best and biggest sense of the word.

His home, surrounded by the magnificent oak trees, is a picture, and still the finest home in London. Any home with Frank Leonard as its head would be a happy one. All the qualities he had of head and heart were centered in his home and family. His reverence for his father was very great, and his father's remark near the end, "Death is a beautiful order of nature," had his entire approval.

During the great war his two sons, Col. Wood Leonard and Col. Ibbotson Leonard, were splendid soldiers. Col. Wood Leonard gave his life, and both rendered distinguished services, as did his son-in-law, Lieut. Innes Carling. Frank Leonard bore the death of his son, Col. Wood Leonard, bravely. In every relationship of life, from his earliest years till his death, he was one of London's most respected citizens.

It Pays to Watch Markets.

The market page of the daily paper is becoming the right-hand man of many an agriculturist who has stock to dispose of. The quotations given there enable him to figure out how he can sell to the best advantage. There are times when he can make more money by shipping to a new market; there are other instances where he can do just as well by disposing of his stock at home.

During the last week a farmer south of London had occasion to make a shipment of cattle. He had a price on them from a local dealer, to whom he had been selling in the past, but before he decided to let go of his stock he looked up the livestock quotations in The Advertiser to see where he could sell to better advantage. He decided that by shipping to Toronto himself he could get a better price than by selling to a local buyer.

He did this, and when he got his returns for the shipment found he was $95 ahead on the deal.

The information he secured by reading the market pages of his newspaper made that amount of money for him.

Note and Comment.

Frogs seem to do things backwards. They croak when beginning a new season.

It's a wonder Toronto did not make Rodolph Valentino mayor of the city when he was there. They did almost everything else for him.

Some busy men in London planted the garden Saturday afternoon, while others spent the day trying to find out where they left the spade last fall.

Amateur theatrical companies in Ontario towns are putting on "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This ought to bring up the market price for good, growly bloodhounds.

New York Herald: "If Pittsburgh's 'work or jail' rule were applied to New York that would be the end of our dance marathons, for there would be no spectators to make them profitable."

It's hard to see just where Mr. J. J. Morrison fits in with Ontario politics. This province does not need any power behind the scenes moving men and directing affairs. It is much more desirable to have them all out in the open where the people can have a good look at them. The powers that govern this province should be all settled on election day.

A reporter on the Stratford Beacon rushed off to the railway station to see 25 or 30 horses packed in a car, with no bedding, no water, and no attention of any sort. This sort of thing must be stopped—there must be prosecution and jail sentences. And there probably would have been had not the horses been of the wooden merry-go-round variety.

A London boy built a fine bird-house and nailed it on a tree, the idea being that a couple of robins might come along and rent the place. He had hardly reached the ground when a team of sparrows were seen taking in bits of grass and other items of furniture. Nobody seems to love a sparrow, but that doesn't seem to make much difference to him. He takes to a ready-made house just as quickly as he does to a spot under the eavetroughing.

THE WEEKLY PRESS ON MR. HICKS.

"Premier E. C. Drury in the attitude of a betrayed Caesar, exclaims in the face of the treachery of Andrew Hicks of South Huron. 'Et tu Brute!'" The prime minister may well say so. In a quarter where he might reasonably have expected a source of encouragement and strength he has received nothing but a withering fire of scorn and contemptuously concealed beneath an ambush of simulated friendship and fair dealing. This political coup or right-about-face has resulted in no windfall of public confidence for the member for South Huron. Instead, it has had the unexpected and boomerang effect of strengthening Premier Drury's position tremendously. —Wingham Times.

"... An investigation was held and Andrew Hicks couldn't substantiate what he had said at the picnic. He lost considerable prestige by that reckless statement, and has since been known as 'Windy Andy.' In brief, his charge against the premier was that in order to keep in power he had been planning fusion with a section of the Liberals. This has been indignantly repudiated by the premier, whose statement was corroborated by Wellington Hay, Liberal leader. Andy's intended bomb missed fire and has turned out to be a dud. It is expected to develop in time that the Hicks' explosion was prepared for him and that he has been the tool of those higher up in his own party." —Chesley Enterprise.

"Like a bolt from the blue came the sensational charges hurled at Premier Drury in the Ontario Legislature by his trusted whip, Andrew Hicks, whose masterpiece of contemptible treachery will everlastingly turn against him the respect of every fair-minded politician in the province. His totally unheralded assault on the premier and his followers, accusing them of dickerings for a Liberal-U. F. O. alliance, is substantiated by one single questionnaire, issued by an irresponsible Liberal organization, in an endeavor to ascertain the attitude of certain Liberals toward such an alliance. Both Hon. Mr. Drury and Mr. Wellington Hay have emphatically and unequivocally denied any knowledge of such negotiations, with the result that the only piece of evidence to sustain the government deserter is the letter unauthoritatively written and most dishonorably brought to light." —Simcoe Reformer.

WHAT SLEEPING SICKNESS IS AND WHAT IS KNOWN ABOUT IT.

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D., United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Lately the newspapers have had a lot to say about sleeping sickness. Indeed, ever since the influenza epidemic of 1918 there have been a good many cases.

You must not confuse the disease we call sleeping sickness with the disease met in Africa and known by the same name. First, I'll tell you about the latter condition.

This was first described by Dr. Livingstone, the famous African explorer. I wonder who has not read the fascinating story of his explorations, of his illness and of the struggles of his friends to rescue him.

The African disease is carried by the bite of the tsetse fly. Just as the mosquito carries malaria, so does this fly carry sleeping sickness. It is transmitted, not only to men, but to animals, as well. Possibly some of the large form of animal life disappeared from the earth by reason of disease carried by the tsetse fly.

Fortunately for North America, we do not have this kind of sleeping sickness. What we call sleeping sickness is entirely different. I tried to popularize the name "epidemic coma," but sleeping sickness is called, and will be till the end of time, I suppose.

The disease we read about these days is known to the medical profession as "encephalitis lethargica."

The brain is the "encephalon." Encephalitis, then, is inflammation of the brain substance. In epidemic coma the encephalitis is characterized by sleepiness, lethargy and stupor.

There are few authorities who think there is some sort of relationship between encephalitis and infantile paralysis. This is a matter far from proven. However, it is certain that the definite cause of both troubles is unknown.

It is believed that sleeping sickness is due to a germ of virus which, even though it is not identical with the causative agent of influenza, may be stimulated into activity by the influenza bug, whatever that is.

There are cases of sleeping sickness which come on with no history of influenza, due perhaps to the mildness of the attack. In other instances the coma follows almost immediately after the illness from influenza.

Inability to keep awake, long spells of sleeping, loss of ability to concentrate, mental dullness, such as is met in typhoid fever, double vision or drooping of the lids—these are the familiar symptoms of the mild attacks of epidemic coma.

It is a disease which, as I have indicated, is little understood, but fortunately it is recovered from as a rule. The patient is kept quiet, free from noise and disturbance, is sustained by proper feeding and, in due time, the symptoms disappear.

TO THE EDITOR

EARLY FALL WHEAT. Editor of The Advertiser. Sir:—I was looking over some of the fall wheat around here the other day, and could not help see that much of it had been damaged by the freezing and thawing of recent weeks, together with the cold winds that we had for some time.

On one farm the man who owned the place took me down to see two fields. One of them was planted on the 6th of September last year and the other one on the 26th of October. The reason for the late planting was to get away from the Hessian fly, which bothers the wheat crop.

The field that was planted early had come through the winter and the spring weather in great shape, and there is nothing very serious in the way of a setback for it, that field should be good for from 30 to 35 bushels to the acre. There is a fine showing now, and the plants seem healthy and well started. The other field is a sorry looking affair in some places. There was one patch that must have been as large as a quarter of an acre that was brown and dead, and the other did not have a very healthy look. I doubt very much if he will get 10 or 12 bushels to the acre from it. It is going to be interesting to watch those two fields to see if we are not paying too much for the late planting that is being done to try and get away from the Hessian fly. Yours truly,

ELGIN FARMER.

The Joy of Possession

By ANNE CAMPBELL. My car is just a little car. It cannot travel fast and far. But I with toleration gaze On all its cranky little ways. For after all, it is my car!

My house is just a little place. It has a sort of shabby grace. And I behold it every night With eyes that do not see its blight. For after all, it is my place!

My boy is just a little boy—An ordinary lad—but joy Is in my heart when'er I see That little kid who looks like me.

For after all, he is my boy! My wife is just a little wife, And dearer to me than my life. She may be neither fair nor wise. I see her with affection's eyes. And after all, she is my wife! (Copyright, 1923, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

A Real Live Dog.

The swain and his swainess had just encountered a bulldog that looked as if his bite might be quite as bad as his bark. "Why, Percy," she exclaimed, as he started a strategic retreat, "you always swore you would face death for me!" "I would," he flung back over his shoulder, "but that dog isn't dead."

PROPOSE NEW CAR TRACKS FOR OXFORD STREET

NEW CAR TRACK IS PROPOSED FOR OXFORD STREET

Would Mean Pavement Also From Richmond to Adelaide Streets.

CARS TRANSFERRED

Vice-President Ivey States Steps Being Taken To Improve Service.

New street railway tracks and a new pavement for Oxford street, from Richmond to Adelaide streets. This is part of the joint street railway and city council, 1923, program. If present plans are not rendered, Richard G. Ivey, vice-president of the railway corporation, explained to The Advertiser today that they were contemplating the replacement of the steel on this thoroughfare, from Richmond street east to the end of the line—a mile distant roughly.

The street railway authorities explain that as they have but a limited fund at their disposal for renewals and improvements this year, they are in no position to undertake the entire program as set forth in the program of the city council. They do propose, however, to do what they can and the Oxford street project is under favorable contemplation. As a matter of fact it is understood that the steel has already been ordered.

Paved This Year. This will mean that the street will also be paved this year—provided, of course, that a majority of the ratepayers on that thoroughfare do not object. It is felt that little or no opposition will be recorded, as Oxford street is now regarded as one of the worst in the city.

The councillors, at the instigation of Ald. Edmund, have recently authorized the construction of a pavement in the event that the street railway authorities would cooperate. It would appear that the company's intention to lay the new steel has cleared the way for a complete job this year.

Vice-President Ivey also directed attention today that the company were making every effort to improve the service.

Cars Transferred.

Five double-truck cars were transferred today to the Oxford and Hamilton road line, while a like number of the smaller cars were placed back on the Ridout and other routes. This will improve the service materially, it is believed. In any event the new scheme will be given a trial.

The vice-president stated further that the company has practically abandoned its contemplated purchase of five second-hand double-truck cars from the American side. "We cannot afford this now," he explained, "as the city council has rejected our proposal to convert fifteen of our other cars into one-man vehicles. That may be open for a course open for us to improve our service—the introduction of one-man cars. That is what is being done in other communities."

Mr. Ivey added further that they still are unable to fix a purchase price for their road.

STATES RAILWAY LINES NOT BLOCKED BY FLOOD

Detours Necessary in Places, Proceed Cautiously.

Special to The Advertiser. Montreal, April 23.—The following statement in connection with the flood situation in Manitoba was issued by D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the western lines:

"Canadian Pacific today reported traffic conditions improved but still somewhat hampered by high water. The main line is open throughout. The statement telegraphed from Portage la Prairie on Saturday to the effect that all railway tracks were impassable, was incorrect in so far as the Canadian Pacific was concerned, as Canadian Pacific operations through the city were not interfered with. The south line to Regina through Souris and Arcola is clear throughout. The only branch lines on which service is not being furnished at present are the lines from Macgregor to Vero and from Gaultier to Minota on the line from Larivière to Winnipeg, and from Portage la Prairie to Dredenburg.

"Service is being temporarily provided by indirect routes on account of the breaks in the line. The main trouble on the former line is at Morris, where a bridge is carried on, northwest of Portage la Prairie. There are serious washouts around Macdonald and Westbourne and in the vicinity of Birtle.

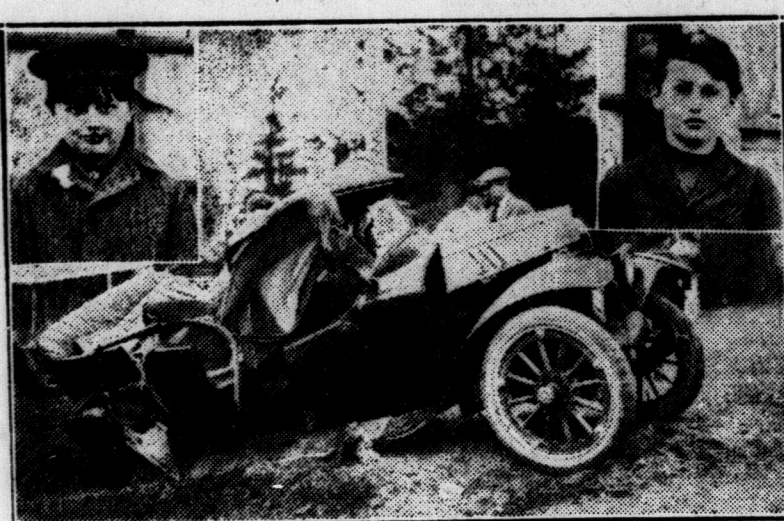

"On all other lines service is practically normal, although the water is up to the edge of the embankment in many places, and it is necessary to run trains with caution.

"The Canadian Pacific is continuing to detour traffic for other railways between Winnipeg and Emerson and between Portage la Prairie and Winnipeg."

DAYLIGHT SAVING TO BE OBSERVED BY POSTOFFICE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, April 23.—Postoffice will observe daylight saving hours in municipalities which decide on the adoption of the plan. THE BRANTFORD AUTO TRAGEDY.

Arthur Dawson, a bright four-year-old boy, was killed, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dawson, and Thomas Evans and Bert Leighton, all of Hamilton, were injured, on Saturday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a G. T. R. freight near the Brantford golf links. Photo shows the wrecked car at the scene of the accident. Inset are pictures of Herman and Allen Neff, two little Brantford boys, who saw the accident and secured the help of their older brother to render first aid.

TWO STILL DANCING.

Special to The Advertiser.

Washington, April 23.—A new marathon dance record was claimed today in behalf of Miss Elsie Weber and William Farrell, who were still going after more than 100 hours. The two were forced from Washington at midnight Saturday, when police closed the dance hall, where they had been appearing. They shuffled aboard a truck, and were taken to Marlboro, Md., continuing their dance in a hotel there. At 6:10 p.m. Sunday the two dancers had gone 90 hours and 10 minutes, and claimed that gave them the record, but just to make sure they kept on.

FEAR FRANCO-TURKISH CLASH IS NOW LOOMING

Sending of General Weygand to Syria Causes Wide Comment.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, April 23.—The sending of Gen. Weygand to Syria, coupled with the French government's protest against the Turkish concession to the Chester syndicate is widely commented on today by the government and opposition newspapers as the sign of serious difference between France and Turkey.

The fact that Turkey has voted 25,000,000 Turkish pounds to support her army, together with the mobilization of Turkish troops on the Syrian front is cited to show that Turkey is willing to meet the issues raised by France such as the Chester concession.

The review of the Turkish army by Ismet Pasha, prior to Ismet's departure for the Lausanne conference is another fact which has not escaped the newspapers.

ALD. DRAKE ASKS FIRE DEPT. PROBE WITHOUT DELAY

Says That Should Come Before Any Resignations Are Asked For.

CHIEF AITKEN'S VIEW

Claims If Let Alone He Can Make Fire Department Best in Canada.

To clear the air and set all minds at rest, Ald. Gordon Drake urges a "real and immediate" investigation of the fire department. "Find out what is wrong with that department, if anything," he states, "and then fix the blame for it and take whatever action would seem necessary under the circumstances." Ald. Drake questions the advisability of asking Fire Chief John Aitken to tender his resignation "right off the bat," as he puts it. "Business should not be conducted in that manner," he submits, "and it is not going to be with my vote. We should have an investigation before we start asking anyone to resign."

Should Have Report. "We did not have the reports of the different fire halls for inspection purposes, but nothing was done. No report was even submitted to the council or even the finance committee. This should be first done, I should think, before we commenced superannuation proceedings, as apparently they have been suggested."

Mayor Wenige has tackled a real job if he proposes to superannuate the fire chief, according to Ald. W. A. Wilson, who said decisively today that "it couldn't be done. The council will not vote for it."

"They have been listening to tales that are not true."

The Chief's Opinion.

This is how Fire Chief John Aitken sums the supposed dissension in his department, and the reported move to inaugurate certain changes of policy and staff, including his own superannuation. "No department, organization or institution is ever conducted perfectly," contends the chief, asserting, however, that if his department is not interfered with he can make it the most efficient of its kind in the Dominion of Canada.

Reviewing the situation to date, the chief concludes that there has evidently been a certain lack of unity in the department which have been "telling tales" to the city council.

This, he maintains, is not conducive to the best interests of his department, and he proposes to call a special gathering for tomorrow morning. He discussed the question this morning with Commissioner Donald Wright, who came to the city from Toronto after certain charges had been directed at him. He was exonerated upon that occasion, he relates.

VETERANS PARADE IN APRIL RAIN.

In spite of the April rain the veterans enjoyed their parade yesterday. Here are a few of them as caught by The Advertiser photographer just before General W. B. King inspected them. Many an old and historical medal saw the light of day for the first time in many years, and however faded the ribbons may have been, the medals themselves were bright and twinkling as stars.

WANT CITY CLERK AS SECRETARY OF L. AND P. S. BOARD

Mayor Wenige To Demand This at Special Meeting To Be Called.

AFTER PAY LIST

His Worship Still Fighting To Obtain Much Desired Salary Lists.

Aroused by failure to secure the London and Port Stanley Railway pay list, Mayor Wenige is determined to carry the war straight into the enemy's country.

At noon today his worship announced to The Advertiser that he was arranging for a special session of the L. and P. S. Commission, when he will not only again seek the coveted list, but demand that City Clerk Baker be appointed secretary of that body.

"It is only right," he maintains, "that the city council representative should be the clerk for the L. and P. S. Commission; and furthermore, that regular minutes be kept of all proceedings, and the same be available to each member of the council, in order that they will be in touch with the situation, and in close touch with it, too. I don't think that I, as mayor of the City of London, should have to go down to the L. and P. S. office and hunt up such information as I may see fit, although we may have the power to do so."

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the commission, is expected back this week. A session can be called any time that two of the members ask it, the mayor explains, and upon this basis he proposes to call a special gathering for tomorrow morning. He discussed the question this morning with Commissioner Donald Wright, who came to the city from Toronto after certain charges had been directed at him. He was exonerated upon that occasion, he relates.

Kidnapped Girl Reported Rescued From Tribesmen

Woman Whose Husband Was Murdered by Natives Goes to Aid of Molly Ellis.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, April 23.—Although all doubts as to the safety of Molly Ellis have been removed, the 13-year-old girl who was recently kidnapped by Afghan tribesmen in the Punjab, has not yet returned to British-controlled territory, so far as latest despatches report. Friends of the family in England received an official telegram assuring them that the girl was about to be restored to her associates and a message from Simla says that negotiations for her release are in progress.

Mrs. Starr, the woman physician who is reported to have rescued the girl in the Tirah country, reached her without trouble. Molly was exhausted and her feet lacerated, but otherwise she was unharmed.

Mrs. Starr herself has had experience with the ferocity of the border tribesmen. She was the helpless witness of the murder of her husband, Dr. Harold Starr, by natives three years ago. The murder occurred outside the hospital at Peshawar, where the Starrs were stationed as medical missionaries. Since that time Mrs. Starr has remained on the hospital staff as a nurse. She was born in India, the daughter of a missionary.

REFUSES TO MEET CECIL TO DISCUSS DRUG TRADE

Special to The Advertiser.

Washington, April 23.—Representative Stephen G. Porter, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, today reiterated his refusal to meet Lord Robert Cecil, British League of Nations advocate, to discuss the international drug trade and the league's part in suppressing it. Porter brusquely declined to meet Cecil on the ground that the League of Nations, while claiming to fight the narcotic evil, according to Porter, "done quite the contrary." In a letter to Cecil, he charged Great Britain had legitimized the drug traffic in India, because great profits were to be made.

FLOODS IN MANITOBA ARE QUICKLY ABATING

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, April 23.—Flood conditions generally throughout Manitoba were improved this morning, according to early reports. During the past 24 hours the weather has been cool, and this has helped the situation, railway officials declared. In many parts of Manitoba the water went as low as the freezing point, while Brandon reports a low of 29. In Winnipeg the temperature at 8 o'clock was 36, with a light snow falling.

Railway traffic was generally getting back to normal again today, but owing to damage to roadbeds trains are being run on slow schedules in some districts.

TYPHOID SITUATION BETTER.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Manitowish, Que., April 23.—There is very little change in the typhoid situation here. If anything, there is a slight improvement. The condition of two of the critical cases is more favorable. P. M. R. TELEGRAPHERS THREATEN TROUBLE

Company Attempts To Reduce Wages Without Giving Notice Required.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 23.—Trouble over threatened wage reductions is again reported to be brewing on the Canadian division of the P. M. R. Telegraphers, the members of the telegraphers' organization being the employees affected this time. A conference is being held in Detroit between the officials of the union and the company, and it is hoped that a settlement will be effected.

In the event, however, that an amicable understanding is not reached, it is understood that the federal government will be asked to intervene and to appoint a board under the industrial disputes investigation act. This company is said to have attempted to reduce the wages for telegraphers without giving the notices as required by Canadian law. About fifty operators on the division are affected.

The dead are Albert Sherman and his wife of Niagara Falls, Edward Meah of Niagara Falls and Arnold Cumrow of Ransomville. Sherman's body was recovered from the water yesterday. Mrs. Sherman and Cumrow also were terribly burned. Both died within an hour at the Tonawanda Hospital yesterday.

GETS TWO MONTHS JAIL FOR THEFT OF BICYCLE

Merlin Parrick Receives Light Sentence From Police Magistrate.

Merlin Parrick, the youth who stole a bicycle one morning a week ago, and then applied for a position on the police force in the afternoon of the same day, was sentenced to two months in the common jail by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court today. As it was his first offence, the magistrate was lenient, but warned Parrick to mend his ways, for if he came into court again charged with an offence he would be dealt with more harshly.

Parrick stole a bicycle owned by Harold Abbott, a student at the Technical School. He was identified by pawnbrokers as the man who sold them the bicycle, but he denied he had dealings with the pawnshop proprietors. He asked Chief Birrell for a job, stating he had a mother and several children to support. It was learned subsequently that he had not been living at home, and had not been supporting anyone.

William B. Shain, arrested on a warrant under the name of William B. Creek, was fined $10 and costs for assaulting his wife. She stated he came into the house in an intoxicated condition to get sandwiches for some friends. His wife objected to him withdrawing supplies from the family larder, as he had not been working for three weeks, and she had been living on the money she had received from boarders. Her objections lead to a verbal argument, and finally Shain struck her, knocking her to the floor.

Five drunks, one a woman, paid $10 and costs each.

GUELPH. April 22.—Saturday's market was by far the largest held in Guelph so far this year. The ideal weather brought out an immense crowd of buyers, and the large winter fair buildings were the scene of great activity all morning. It has been many months since eggs were as plentiful as they were at the produce headquarters this morning, and as the supply exceeded the demand the price dropped as low as 25c a dozen. Those who made their purchases early in the day paid 30c to 32c a dozen, however.

There was no shortage of maple syrup, but as the price asked was 30c and 30c a quart the vendors did not sell readily.

Butter was a little cheaper, and went at 40c to 45c a lb.

Chickens sold at 30c to 35c a lb.

Apples 4c to 5c; carrots, 10c; and parsnips 25c a basket, and celery 20c a bunch.

INGERSOLL. April 22.—All calculations relative to the maple syrup production in the district were shattered by the large offerings at the market Saturday. The season has been one of the most successful in many years, and the syrup went with a very slow demand Saturday. During the week large quantities were sold by vendors who went from house to house. The price Saturday was paid from $2 to $2.50. While $2.50 was paid in some cases, as low as $2.25 was accepted in others. No dressed poultry was offered.

Eggs sold at 28c and 30c per dozen. Butter, 45c per lb.

A large amount of butter and eggs were sold. Butter still sells 30c a lb., while eggs are 25c a dozen.

A great quantity of hay is being sold at $11 a ton. No straw was on the market.

Potatoes ranged from $1.15 to $1.25 a bushel.

Hay was $14 a ton.

ST. MARYS. April 22.—Farmers in this locality are in somewhat better spirits this week-end in view of the somewhat summery weather which will hasten seedling to a large extent.

Grains for the most part are stationary although wheat is up a little, the local quotation now being $1.15 per bushel. Oats and barley are 50c and 60c respectively. Rye is the same price as a week ago, although shorts are up 25c a quart, the former now bringing 32c and the latter 34c per ton.

Wholesale reports indicate 25c as the prevailing price for eggs. Butter is also easier, both old and new cheese falling off in price.

TILSONBURG. April 22.—Saturday's market was the biggest and busiest in a good many months with a huge surplus in the price of creamery butter. A week ago 50c to 55c was the ruling price while there was any amount of butter sold today at 42c. BRITISH WOOL PRICES WILL SHOW INCREASE Dealers Are Awaiting Offering of 187,000 Bales At Tuesday's Market.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.

London, April 22.—Wool interests are eagerly awaiting this week, when 187,000 bales are to be offered. They express confidence that the opening on Tuesday will show 5 or 10 per cent increase in values, and that American operations will be prominent among the fine-grade stock. This is inferred from the extent of inquiries and business that were noticeable features of the last fortnight at advances, much whereof was on American account.

Wool taken by America comprised merinos and fine cross-breeds. Continental users also obtained merino wools as well as coarser cross-breeds, and continuance of this demand is expected. British buying will be moderate.

South African wools also have gone into consumption readily, in many instances at 24 a pound above previous auction rates. Wool was again above topped by continental competition, the Ruhr situation, dearth of wool and aversion of users to pay enhanced prices. Whether these conditions will hold is exercising the minds of traders here, who are faced on the one hand with persistent American buying, which is forcing prices up, and reports of a coming shortage in wool, and on the other, by poor trade and belief that there are liberal stocks of wool at home, notwithstanding the large quantity taken out of the market in recent months.

There are large quantities of tops and cloth about, and the hope is expressed that wool won't get out of hand until this stuff has been liquidated or conditions of European finance become more settled and normal purchasing power asserts itself.

CANADIAN EGG REVIEW

Ottawa, April 21.—Reports of increased production are being received from practically all points, and, as a result, the market is a little easier. An interesting situation is developing in the United States in connection with the storage-packed stock, and it is reported that there is quite a short interest in April storage-packed, which may be reflected in prices at the end of the month.

Toronto—Easier; carton extras 37c, extras 34c, firsts 32c to 33c, seconds 30c; farmers' market retail 28c. Dealers are reported to be offering 28c f.o.b. for next Monday and Tuesday shipments. A case of extras is being offered at 36c, Ontario shipping point.

Montreal—Unchanged; Quebec country points 25c to 30c; Quebec City, jobbing at 30c to 32c, retail 30c to 42c. Western markets unchanged.

St. John, N. B.—Local and P. E. I. straight-killed 35c, extras 36c, retail 40c; farmers' market retail 28c. Fresh-killed chicken 50c, fowl 40c.

Chicago and New York unchanged. British cable (prices shillings per ten dozen): Liverpool—Market steady; Irish 11c, Danish 12c, Egyptian 8 1/2c.

COMMODITY NEWS

PACKING HOUSE PRODUCTS. Chicago, April 21.—The market for packing house products has been stimulated this week by the scarcity of hogs.

WHEAT. Fort Worth, April 21.—Wheat growers have begun to display uneasiness about the green bugs. So far this pest has appeared in Wichita, Denton and Grace Counties. Rust also has appeared in some fields, although not in alarming amounts.

TOPEKA, KAN., April 21.—The first report of the Kansas wheat crop issued today by the state board of agriculture showed a larger abandoned acreage than in 1922, but the growing crop is in better condition than it was a year ago although far below the five-year average.

YARNS. Philadelphia, April 21.—There is a steady, but not brisk, demand for worsted yarns here today. Spinners are active and there is good volume of business booked ahead. Higher prices paid in the mills and the increased cost of raw materials are responsible for the firmness in the yarn market.

FRUIT. San Francisco, April 21.—California will ship several thousand more carloads of strawberries to eastern markets this year than ever before. A survey by state authorities showed today that last year's production of 15,140 cars will be exceeded by this year's crop.

LUMBER. Houston, April 21.—The Kirby Lumber Company, the second largest producing company in the United States, has increased the wages of its men from 10 to 15 per cent, effective as of April 1. This adds approximately $200,000 to the annual payroll.

GRAIN MOVEMENT

Fort William, April 21.—Another increase during this week of approximately three million bushels has brought the stocks of wheat in store at this port up to a point where the actual capacity of the elevators is almost exhausted. The total stocks of all grains are now well over fifty million bushels. Shipments were exceedingly light, being altogether a little over half a million bushels as against total receipts amounting to 8,447,764 bushels. Owing to the fact that there are fewer grades to be segregated in separate bins this season, elevators are still able to take in grain, but there has to be a considerable exchanging of space between the various houses in order to keep unloading of cars going. It is expected that, unless it is possible to get some grain afloat by the end of next week, there will be no space available in the elevators by that time, and grain will have to remain in cars in the yards awaiting the opening of navigation.

Following are the figures of stocks, receipts and shipments for the week:

In store—Wheat 7,864,565 bushels; oats 5,778,814; barley 3,907,395; flax 341,887; rye 3,012,297.

Receipts—Wheat 2,350,069 bushels; oats 766,778; barley 186,409; flax 26,313; rye 116,201.

Shipments—Wheat 397,052 bushels; oats 144,564; barley 12,845; flax 410; rye nil.

Circulation decreased $137,000.

U. S. deposits deducted $17,740,000.

Aggregate reserve, $522,740,000.

Excess reserve $15,998,740, increase $5,002,440.

SUGAR

New York, April 21.—The reduction in the estimate for this year's sugar crop by Mr. Himely to 4,750,000 tons has not yet had its full effect in the sugar market today. In raws business was light, and there was no indication of what refiners would pay, although the appearance to be nothing available below 6c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 10c for refined sugar. There was a sale of 7,000 bags of Cubas to an operator at 6.25c, plus Cuba. The Himely estimate led to active general buying in raw sugar futures, with prices selling into high ground for the season and since 1920. The opening was 19 to 17 points higher, and prices continued to work higher, with May selling at 6.43, July at 6.65 and September at 6.79. July 11 to 12 points above the previous high. Reading checked the advance and brought about reactions of 3 to 20 points higher, with final prices 35 to 25 points higher.

Closing: May, 6.33; July, 6.57; September, 6.63, and December, 6.19.

The market for refined sugar was firm and unchanged, at 8.60 for fine granulated, but the demand was only moderate with buyers still inclined to be cautious.

Refined sugar futures were nominal.

COFFEE

New York, April 21.—The market for coffee futures today closed 19 to 14 points net higher. Sales were estimated at about 24,000 bags. Closing quotations: April, July, 8.65; July, 8.27; Sept., 8.47; Dec., 8.31; March, 8.39.

Old Silk Topper Is Given the Gate When Newer Hats Put It Out of Date

Washington, April 23.—The recalcitrance of the silk hat in Washington is becoming an acute source of worry to some of the younger foreign diplomats.

The war helped to drive the "topper" from Piccadilly and the Place de l'Opera, but something more than that seems to have happened to it here in the national capital.

There are a few still in existence, of course, but so far as the Harding administration is concerned, those who have them don't brag about it. A census taken recently at a dance at the British Embassy, where of all places the silk hat might be considered to have a home, revealed the fact that just two of the guests appeared in the fashionable but uncomfortable headgear.

The original assertion, however, was that somebody was worried about that state of affairs. "This true, but the worry is not because they are worn so seldom, but how to have the hat presentable when it is worn. The decline in that masculine fashion has resulted in the almost utter disappearance of those who know how to press a silk hat.

Take one into Tony on the corner who may advertise that he can clean and reblock any hat, and it will probably come out looking as furry as a four-year-old velvet. Careful inquiry and long search may possibly reveal one or two places where the art still flourishes, but what most of the younger diplomats have done is to induce some one of the embassy servants who has seen a silk hat before to take up the task for the entire staff as a profitable sideline.

STIRS AUDIENCE WITH PLEA FOR AID IN ZION MOVEMENT

Dr. A. Goldstein Lectures In Majestic Theatre On Future of Palestine.

AID NATIONAL HOME

Gathering Responds To Appeal By Contributing Sum of $2,500.

Twenty-five hundred dollars, the greater part cash, contributed in less than thirty minutes at a mass meeting in the Majestic theatre last night, measures the faith of the Jewish citizens of London in the Zionist movement and their belief in the future of Palestine as the national home of the race.

Several hundred people gathered at the theatre were stirred so deeply by Dr. Alexander Goldstein, of Petrograd, Russia, who spoke for almost two hours on the Zionist movement, that contributions began pouring in almost before he regained his seat.

Shouted Contributions. "How much do you give," urged Isadore Goldstick, the chairman, and as he continued his exhortations in Yiddish men and women rose from their seats and shouted amounts, many of which were in the neighborhood of $200.

Mrs. Fishbein, representing the Hadassah or the Women's Zionist League, was the first to respond. As her offer of $200 echoed through the house the audience broke into applause and then other offers followed in quick succession.

The total contributions averaged $25 for each of the 100 Jewish households in London. The generosity of the people and the spirit in which the gifts were made astounded even Dr. Goldstein who has lectured on behalf of Zionism in all parts of the world.

It was almost midnight when the last contribution was received and listed. It was found that $1,527 had been received in cash and that the balance was made up of pledges carrying promises of early fulfillment.

The large amount received in cash was due to an efficient system of collecting used by the committee. As Mr. Goldstick continued his exhortations much after the manner of a proficient auctioneer, girls in white distributed blank checks throughout the audience, which were promptly filled and returned.

The meeting was electrified by Dr. Goldstein who spoke almost entirely in Yiddish. He held the closest attention of old and young for almost two hours.

In his pleasant voice there was a

Erect Monument On Zeebrugge Mole To Commemorate Famous Naval Raid

Associated Press Despatch.

Zeebrugge, Belgium, April 23.—The foundation stone of what will be a noted memorial to the famous British raid staged here in wartime was laid today by the governor of West Flanders in the presence of a distinguished Anglo-Belgian company, including Admiral Sir Roger Keyes, Lord Burnham, Lord Emmott, the British ambassador, Sir George Grahame, and the Belgian minister of public works.

The memorial, which will stand near the shore-end of the Mole, will take the form of a granite column 70 feet high, surmounted by a figure of St. George slaying the dragon. It will be visible far out at sea, and will be inscribed on the side facing the sea with the words:

"Saint George for England." and also "United For Justice." Likewise on the monument will appear the names of the British who fell in the action, and also the names of the participating warships.

The governor, when performing the ceremony, described the landing of the British in the face of a German fire as one of the most brilliant deeds in naval history. Other speeches delivered at the ceremony and preceding the banquet in Bruges town hall stressed the close Anglo-Belgian ties. Magnificent wreaths were subsequently deposited.

land was being made habitable and attractive.

Great improvements were being made, he declared. The Ruttenberg scheme of utilizing the water of the Jordan for electrical development was well under way, he said, and already parts of Jaffa were being illuminated with electricity.

The economic development of the country was being looked after by the Jewish Mortgage Bank which was recently established.

He told of his visits to 13 cities in Canada and of the generous response to his pleas for help. He said that $10,000 in cash had been sent weekly during the month of March to Palestine from Canada.

Dr. Goldstick expressed gratitude to England for what had been done to re-establish the race. Her actions had been recognized in the adoption of English along with Hebrew and Arabic as the official language of Palestine.

Mr. Goldstick spoke on the Zionist movement expressing his belief that all opposition was dying out and that success was awaiting the cause in the very near future. To make this possible, however, it would be necessary for Jews to give money generously.

Max Lerner spoke in Yiddish. He also added materially in raising money by several unique offers.

DECLARES FRENCH WOULD AGREE TO CUT IN DEBT

Associated Press Despatch.

London, April 23.—A despatch to the Times from Paris says it has been learned, on what the correspondent believes to be excellent authority, that France is willing now to agree to a reduction in Germany's debt to somewhere between forty billion and fifty billion gold marks, provided in the settlement of the inter-allied debt all of France's indebtedness is extinguished.

RECALLS YPRES WHERE CANADIANS STOPPED THE HUN

Rev. Dr. Beattie Claims Late Conflict Showed Futility of War.

DESCRIBES BATTLE

Germans Astounded To Find That Poison Gas Failed To Demoralize.

A vivid impression of the second battle of Ypres was given by Rev. Dr. William Beattie at the First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening.

Delivering his sermon in commemoration of the eighth anniversary of the historic episode, Dr. Beattie described with marked intensity of feeling the disastrous engagement which brought such glory and honor to the Canadian troops.

From the day the Germans launched their life-destroying poison gas on April 22, 1915, until the final decision of gallant Canadian battalions, the speaker, in a colorful picture, carried his hearers. He related how on the morning of the battle General Smith Dorrien reviewed members of the First Division, complimented them on past performances and said he relied upon them to re-establish the enemy at the most vital and hottest spot on the line.

Two Canadian brigades were placed at the Ypres salient on April 22. Beattie told how a runner, breathless and panic stricken, informed him of the enveloping fumes that were pouring from the trenches and stifling the French Tunnies. The capable manner in which General Mercer met the emergency, the excitement and yet quiet determination with which the news was received, Dr. Beattie outlined in graphic descriptive phrases.

He told how the men responded to the call for reinforcements, how terrorized peasants scurried to the rear for protection and how the occasion was fraught with danger of the most dreadful kind.

ITALY PREPARING WARM RECEPTION FOR KING GEORGE

Visit of British Royalty Will Be An Elaborate Affair.

WILL CALL ON POPE

Royal Train Will Be Sent To the Frontier On May Sixth.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, April 23.—The visit of King George and Queen Mary to Italy next month will be the most elaborate affair of its character since the war. The Italians are planning to outdo any previous efforts at entertaining royalty. This is said to be largely due to the Fascist, who wish to contrast the splendor of this visit with the rather cold reception given by the Italian Government to the Belgian King and Queen last year.

The Italian royal train will be sent to the frontier on Sunday, May 6, in charge of Count Carlo Macchi Di Cellere, the master of ceremonies of the Italian court, and other officials, to meet King George and his party.

The Italian train will carry the arms of Great Britain beside those of Italy. The British royal standard will be flown from the engine. The Rome railway station and the route of the royal guests to the quinal will be decorated with British and Italian flags and arms.

Will Welcome King George. King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Helena, and the Royal Princesses, Signor Mussolini and his entire cabinet, the Presidents of the Senate and the Chamber of Deputies, members of the British Embassy and all the high dignitaries of the court will be at the station on the morning of May 7 to greet the British visitors.

The drive to the palace will be made in state in the royal carriages, escorted by the king's bodyguard and court officials.

A state visit will be paid to the dowager, Queen Margherita, prior to the private luncheon at the quinal. The state dinner will be held in the palace at night. The guests will include the royal princes and state and court officials. A brilliant reception in the magnificent hall of the quinal will follow the dinner.

Will Visit Pope Pius. The visit will reach its climax on Wednesday, when a state visit will be made to Pope Pius XI. The route from the quinal to the vatican will be decorated, and lined with troops. From the entrance to the vatican grounds to the pope's audience chamber, the royal party will be escorted by the papal court officials, while the famous Swiss guards will be in attendance.

This will be the first time since 1870 that such an elaborate display for a state occasion has been made by the vatican.

The audience will be somewhat private; only the highest dignitaries of the papal court will be present. The British minister to the holy see will attend King George, and it is expected that after the visit to the Pope, Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, will return the call at the home of the British minister.

Under such fearsome and mysterious circumstances it was little wonder young Beattie spoke to his men in hollow whispers. It was little wonder when the deadly fumes commenced to permeate their ranks that they advanced over the muddy bridge into the dense clouds of death with uncertainty and trepidation.

It was the most critical situation yet experienced," said Dr. Beattie. "The enemy's plan was to force a breach and get down to the Channel ports. Without the support of their artillery the Germans walked on, as death and destruction assailed them on all sides.

The rumble of jogging ammunition wagons and the noise of speeding motor cycles made the sight one of appalling magnificence. The Germans expected a great gap in the line and when they discovered the Canadians had stemmed the tidal wave they were astounded. The stream of death and victory was dammed by the Canadian "Beaver."

Dr. Beattie told of numerous instances of self-sacrifice and heroism during the famous battle. He lauded General Currie and Turner, and spoke of the genius of Col. Frank Ware for his uncanny faculty of being able to suggest solutions to seemingly unathomable problems.

"The war which proved fatal to so many of the flower of civilization," added the speaker, "has not come and gone without teaching a much-needed lesson. One of its finest is loyalty; loyalty to country, king and God.

NOVA SCOTIA DEFEATS VOTE ON SECESSION

Assembly Decides Strongly In Favor of Standing By Confederation.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Halifax, N.S., April 23.—The resolution of H. W. Corning, Conservative, Yarmouth, asking for a referendum in Nova Scotia on the question of secession of the province from the Canadian confederation, of which notice was given Thursday night, was defeated in the House of Assembly last evening, when only two members stood for it.

A decisive majority, comprising all the Liberals present, 14 to 4, was given an amendment, moved by Premier H. Armstrong, that the house should stand by confederation and exert its might in obtaining cheaper inter-provincial transportation in developing the foreign trade of Canada through Canadian Atlantic ports and the renewal of efforts to secure a reciprocal trade agreement with the United States and freer access to the markets of the world for the products of the Dominion.

Thirteen Years He Walked
In the Open

The thrill of open sunlight! The delight of looking for the first time in years on the outside of the wall that had inclosed him!

And the thrill of knowing that at least he—a murderer, a life prisoner, one who had touched bottom—was on this road, free for two hours, on his honor. That he had redeemed himself, had made himself a human being again, and was not just a numbered jailbird. That his guardians knew he meant it when he said he would return on time.

Those whose lives are untrammelled can know no such moment as that which came, through his own efforts and his striving upward, to Convict No. 1666—John W. Kane.

He tells his life story in "Up From the Death Cell." It is a plain recital stamped with truth in every word. It belongs beside the masterpieces of mankind's striving toward the light.

"Up From the Death Cell" is compact of the thrills of an adventurer's life, and of the thrills of a man's spiritual victory.

It will appear serially, day by day, exclusively in The Advertiser. The first installment will be published Wednesday, April 25.

NORTH END FIRE HALL CLOSED TEMPORARILY

Damage To Truck At No. 2 Station Makes Action Imperative.

The London North (No. 4) fire hall is again closed after a week's service.

This drastic action became imperative Saturday afternoon, The Advertiser was informed, following damage sustained by a similar truck at No. 2 hall. The No. 4 apparatus has been taken to the latter station pending repairs to the other truck.

It will be a few days, the fire department authorities explain, before it will be possible to again place No. 4 hall in the service. In the meanwhile but one man remains there on duty to keep the fires burning. No. 4 fire hall was opened about a week ago, Monday to be precise, following a resolution from Mayor Wenige and city council. At the same time they sanctioned the purchase of two additional trucks. Tenders are already sought. When this additional apparatus is available it is believed by the council that the situation can be handled as reasonably well as to be expected under the circumstances.

While No. 4 hall was opened no further men were added to the staff, although the services of several were dispensed with a year ago when the hall was ordered closed as a portion of ex-Mayor Wilson's "economy and retrenchment" program.

Just what other moves have yet to be considered by the council are not quite apparent. Not long since Mayor Wenige questioned whether it would not be possible to dispense with either No. 2 or No. 5 fire halls by placing the equipment of both in one of them. No definite proposal was submitted by his worship and it is now thought that he has abandoned the idea.

BOYS FIND BODY MISS STONEHOUSE IN RALEIGH BUSH

Much-Sought For Woman Disappeared From Chatham March First.

REWARD OFFERED

Empty Phial, Smelling of Carbolic Acid, Discovered Near Remains.

Special to The Advertiser. Chatham, April 23.—Rambling through a bush on the farm of Perry Dolsen Saturday two boys of this city found the badly decomposed body of Miss Annie Stonehouse, well-known Wallaceburg woman who disappeared from this city on March 1. An empty blue phial, smelling strongly of carbolic acid, found close to the body, is being held by the authorities as an indication that the unfortunate woman poisoned herself.

The boys who made the discovery, who are entitled to the reward offered by relatives, are Donald McTaggart, 223 Innes avenue, and Fred Jones, 238 Innes avenue. The beautiful weather on Saturday tempted the boys to take a walk in the country. Chancing to take a stroll in the bush they came upon the huddled form of a woman near a big tree. Alarmed, they ran to the nearest house and related their story to Mrs. Howe, concessionaire, Raleigh township. She immediately phoned the police who made arrangements for bringing the body to the city. Coroner McEwen, upon inspection of the conditions of the find, decided that an inquest was not necessary. Hugh Stonehouse of Wallaceburg, brother of the deceased lady, came to the city today to make arrangements for the interment of the remains.

J. Gammage Tells St. Marys Horticulturists Not To Commercialize Hobby.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Marys, April 23.—Friday night the St. Marys Horticultural Society met in the town hall to hear an interesting and instructive address by Mr. J. Gammage, London florist. Mr. Gammage pointed out the bad policy which some horticultural societies have of commercializing their work, which is unfair to the smaller florists in the smaller cities and towns. He stated that the government grant, which all horticultural societies receive, is for the horticultural education of people and the introduction of new varieties of flowers in the different localities. The date for the St. Marys flower show is to be set within the next two weeks.

VOTERS AT WATERLOO FAVOR RAIL FRANCHISE

Special to The Advertiser. Kitchener, April 23.—Only a small vote was polled on the bylaw in Waterloo Saturday to grant a franchise of 20 years to the Kitchener-Waterloo street railway of the local light commission for the use of King street in the town. The vote was 217 in favor of the bylaw and 19 against. This gives the light commission the authority to build a double track from Union street to William street and to construct necessary switches along the line. A clause in the bylaw guarantees that the same fare will be maintained throughout the life of the franchise.

YOUTH INJURED IN FALL TO CEMENT FLOOR, DIES

Archibald Irwin Meets Death While Assisting To Groom Horse.

Archibald Irwin, 21, of 115 Adelaide street, died three hours after he was knocked to the cement floor of a stable at the rear of the home of A. Stinchcombe, 74 Adelaide street, at noon yesterday. Coroner Robert Ferguson was called, but declared death was accidental and an inquest unnecessary.

Young Irwin had been in the employ of Stinchcombe but a few weeks. Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock he was helping to groom a horse when the accident occurred. He was standing on a box in front of the animal, clipping its mane, when the animal jumped, knocking him to the cement floor. The boy fell on the back of his head and became unconscious. Dr. F. R. Clegg was called, but nothing could be done to save him.

He died at 2 o'clock in the Stinchcombe home. The body was removed to N. J. Griffiths' undertaking parlors, Dundas street. Irwin returned from British Columbia but a few weeks ago, having been employed at the coast for the past three years. He was born at Dorchester, and was a son of the late Frederic Irwin.

His mother, Mrs. Harry Drake, 115 Adelaide street, and a brother, Angus, of London survive. Funeral arrangements will be made today.

JAMES J. LARKIN IS SENT BACK TO IRELAND

Noted Irish Anarchist Protests Traveling On British Ship.

Special to The Advertiser. New York, April 23.—In a belligerent mood, James J. Larkin, Irish anarchist, who was pardoned recently after serving two years of a five years' sentence in Sing Sing for criminal anarchy, was deported yesterday on the White Star liner Majestic. He was sent with the third-class passengers.

Over his violent protests against being forced to travel on a British vessel, Larkin was hurried on board by two uniformed members of the immigration department.

Larkin became excited when he was approached by a group of newspapermen. One of them offered his hand and Larkin scorned it, saying, "I have never shaken hands with a newspaperman." He refused to make any kind of a statement, saying that he had never talked to newspapermen and never would.

VETERANS PARADE

City Turns Out En Masse To Commemorate Historic Engagement.

Special to The Advertiser. Sarnia, April 23.—Memorial services for comrades of the great war who fell in the second battle of Ypres on April 12, 1915, were held Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Sarnia branch of the G.A.U.V. Units paraded from the city hall square to the Memorial in Victoria Park where Ypres veterans under command of Major A. W. McNally, 14th battalion, placed a wreath at the foot of the monument. A wreath of oak leaves from the American Legion of Port Huron, was placed alongside by a party of the Legion. Other units were No. 2 Company, and Machine Gun Brigade, War Veterans, Collegiate cadets and Boy Scouts. Lt. Col. C. S. Woodrow, commanded the parade which was led by the city band and the Imperial Pipe band.

Massed Service. The Imperial theatre was packed to capacity for mass memorial services which followed. Civic bodies, and the clergy being represented. Rev. A. N. McGillivray of Orillia, chaplain of the 91st battalion, gave an inspiring memorial address from the words, "They being dead, by their faith still speak to us." History, the speaker said, accounted the stand Canadian troops as it at dances in Logan and Elma townships.

Raw soldiers then, they did not know what it was to turn their backs to the enemy and they gained for Canada in ideals a name as great as that of any in the world.

"Eight years ago almost to the hour brave lads were pouring out their life-blood," he said. "Their hands are now long since folded and their voices long since stilled, but to me they live, with all their faults and imperfections, I loved them."

Soul Immortal. "You who did not see what they did do not appreciate it. Brave lads said with their last breath, 'Life is immortal.' I say 'Dust to dust and ashes to ashes' was not spoken of the soul."

Capt. McGillivray closed by exhorting his hearers to live for the ideals for which overseas men had fought and died.

When a vote of thanks, proposed by R. V. Lettner, M.P., was acclaimed, Capt. McGillivray replied, "I thank you for the privilege of being able to speak a word in behalf of brave men." A collection taken to defray expense of the parade and to aid the Last Post Fund recently inaugurated amounted to $140.

West Ends Win Senior Cage Title When Windsor Defaults

WEST ENDS GET SEEK DEFECT

Windsor Failed To Appear To Contest Closest O.B.A.
Honors In Years.

SHAMROCKS WIN National Lamp Girls, Dim- Colleens Had Good Work- Out—Score 41 to 13.

Toronto West Ends, Saturday night at the armory, won the senior O. B. A. championship, beating the Windsor Dodgers failed to put in an appearance, by a default score of 2 to 0. Walker the speedy Toronto center, tossed the winning counter, when his team lined up on his floor unopposed.

Mayor Brown of Stratford, president of the O. B. A., was present. Referee G. Mel Brook called the contest and George Madgett of Hamilton were the officials who stood by and watched this red-tape process.

The West-End team that took the floor for the formality of tossing the championship-winning basket, was as follows: Forwards, Fraser and Mitchell; center, Walker; guards, Tait and LaLonde.

In order not to disappoint the monster crowd of fans that turned out to see the Y. M. C. A. to see the Toronto and Windsor Dodge final encounter, and who moved over to the Windsor side, it became known that Windsor would not appear, the West-Ends agreed to divide their squad into two teams, the regulars and Yankigans, and play an exhibition game.

The regulars, after a fast session, came out shouldering the busy end of the 17 to 22 score. West Ends, in a snappy team, and the precision of their plays was a treat.

Leave It To Men To Decide If They Play In Mfrs. Loop

Meeting Over Week-End Comes To Agreement Over Drafting of Players For Senior Team, and Also Co-operating Elsewhere.

Over the week-end the baseball sub-committee of the L. A. A. had a conference with officials of the Manufacturers' League and the outcome was an agreement which leaves it strictly up to players chosen for the senior O. B. A. team whether they shall play with Manufacturers' League teams or not. This will probably be a final decision, and, under the circumstances, is probably the best conclusion, both apparently agree, which could have been reached.

In addition to this, the Manufacturers' League, though has done several important compromises, which shows a good spirit. One is calling off Wednesday games, and the other games are called for Wednesday, this will help out both on the box-office end and as it affects players. An unwritten agreement whereby Manufacturers' League occurring the night before a senior tilt and affecting senior players will be switched either ahead or behind scheduled time. Thus, if the Grand Trunk were scheduled to play Friday night and there were a senior game called for Saturday in which Grand Trunk players would be used, the Manufacturers' League game would be moved ahead to Thursday night. It will mean studying the schedules carefully and getting together often throughout the season in friendly co-operation. Both parties apparently are satisfied this is the best way out, for this season at least.

The Shamrocks' exhibition Saturday night, they composed an assembly of individuals, and individuals who failed to pass the ball where they were looking, when they tried to combine, but they were not of the game forgot all about such a thing as combination.

Shamrocks played hard. They combined well, worked successful play after play, and were accurate shots. Pearl Blackwell, Isabel Duncan, and Lottie Garrett had a field day, with 14, 12 and 11 points respectively. The Shamrocks, and Mary Clarke, had much trouble spoiling the "one-night" attack.

The line-up: Shamrocks—Forwards, P. Blackwell and L. Duncan; center, Lottie Garrett; guards, Mary Clarke and Mary Clarke; spares, C. Blackwell and Grace King. Shamrocks' forwards, P. Blackwell and L. Duncan; center, Lottie Garrett; guards, Mary Clarke and Mary Clarke; spares, C. Blackwell and Grace King.

Shamrocks won the Warrenton National Lamp girls in a disappointing exhibition, by the lopsided count of 41 to 13. The Shamrocks, who were coached by basketball experts, and at least hinted at, as holders of one of the new various world's basketball championships, were conspicuous by an absence of basketball ability. If they really are of championship caliber, it is hard to believe the Cleveland Favorite Knits, which really good team, had been seen in action, the Shamrocks, some of the other "World's Champions" in Ohio, they could not have been of such ability, at any time during Saturday night's play.

The Shamrocks showed practically no combination, and less defence. Although their forwards were inclined to try fancy shots, few of them even reached the backboard. Whether they had an off-night or not, runs into the realm of conjecture. MUNICIPALITIES TO PROTEST COST OF PAVING ROADS

Guelph Seeks Co-operation In Sending Deputation To Biggs.

COMPLAINT GENERAL
Sarnia, Kingston, Peterboro and Others Promise To Support Cause.

Special To The Advertiser.
Guelph, April 23.—In view of the alleged discrimination shown by the Ontario Government in paying the cost of certain highway improvement work in small municipalities and charging large amounts to cities, a move is now being made in Guelph to have a strong deputation of representatives from all the small cities in the province visit Toronto at an early date to make protests to Hon.
F. C. Biggs, minister of highways, and other government officials.

From the numerous complaints registered by various cities against the bills submitted to the municipal authorities for suburban highway work during the past two years, it is quite evident that the grievance against the government in loading a heavy percentage of the cost of pavements in the rural districts on the municipalities is quite general, and the Guelph city fathers feel that they will have the co-operation of the majority of cities in the province in the move they are about to undertake.

Telegrams were sent out this morning by City Clerk Leadley notifying the mayors of several municipalities about the action to be taken and within a few hours after these were despatched, word was received back from several places stating that the probable will be to join the deputation to lend their assistance, and to send representatives along with the joint deputation. Co-operation was promised from Sarnia, Kingston, Peterboro and Niagara Falls, while Mayor Stephens is expecting many more to join.

At last night's meeting the city solicitor and city clerk were instructed to arrange an appointment with Hon. Mr. Biggs at an early date for the deputation which will interview the minister about the grievance.

Hebrides Islanders Bid Farewell To Loved Ones

Inhabitants Come From Miles Around To Witness Departure of Emigrants For Canada.

Canadian Press Despatch.
London, April 23.—A memorable week in the history of emigration from Scotland to Canada closed yesterday when the Metagama called at Stornoway and took off 300 inhabitants of the Island of Lewis, specially selected by the Ontario government. All Scotland, indeed, the whole United Kingdom has been observing with the keenest interest this week's exodus from the Hebrides comprising nearly 1,000 men and women. In addition to the Hebrides, emigration there has been a striking outflow from other parts of Scotland. The Athenia, which sailed on Thursday, carried 1,200 from Glasgow, practically all of them being of the pioneer type.

Of the male emigrants it is estimated 20 per cent are mechanics bound for Detroit, Mich. The remainder are all bound for Canada, most of them to join friends. A striking feature of the emigrating women and children from Glasgow was the number of young children.

Came From Aboard.
Daybreak saw the streets alive with the emigrants and their friends. Some of them had tramped 20 miles, carrying boxes on their shoulders, and homely farm carts brought in other passengers. When the Metagama hove in sight a small fleet of little vessels gathered about the small craft, hovered around the liner as she dropped anchor. The steamer Hebrides, acting as a tender, took a small party of English and Scottish newspapermen ashore. The emigrants regarded the newspaper-men's attentions rather doubtfully, for these young curriers of Lewis were taking their departure from their native island as a serious matter and they did not appear to wish to talk about it. Those of them who would talk told practically the same story of the herring fishing being played out and the lately impossible task of making a livelihood without this addition to their meagre incomes.

The herring industry of the Island which once was of considerable importance, it may be stated, has disappeared largely through the failure of the Russian market, while the German market has been wrecked by the state of exchange.

Each Gets Gaelic Bible.
As the emigrants emerged from the sheds where the medical examination had taken place they were handed a Gaelic Bible each by the local minister on behalf of the Ladies' Highland Association. The crowd on the quayside though intensely interested was by no means exuberant as the young men and women, one by one, passed to the tender. The farewells had been uttered already, so the voyagers, with their trunks on their shoulders, stepped quickly across the gangway with scarcely a glance at the crowd. It was not that they were downhearted, but the sense of making a serious venture seemed uppermost with them.

Good wishes for the emigrants were telegraphed by Viscount Leverhulme and Sir W. Mitchell Cotts, members of the House of Commons for the Western Isles.

Frenchman Invents Small Machine Which Enables Man to Fly Like Bird

Special Cable To The Advertiser.
Paris, April 23.—The age-old ambition of a man to fly like a bird probably will be realized in the near future. A combination glider and airplane, "with beating wings," is nearing perfection.

After making 20 such models, J. C.
Roch, an air pilot even before the war, believes the result of his latest experiments justifies the prediction that man soon will be able to step into a plane, costing no more than a bicycle, flap his wings, and take to the air the same as a bird. The low price of the apparatus is based on the assumption that the plane will prove so popular they will be produced in great quantities, and become veritable aerial flippers.

The inventor, who thinks his
"Aeroviol" will be perfected ultimately to a point where the motor may be unnecessary, says flying his plane will be no more fatiguing than swimming, as the principle of gliding will be applied during the greater part of a bicycle, flap his wings, and take to the air the same as a bird.

Waters are Reported To Be Slowly Receding In Manitoba Capital.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, April 23.—Although the reports from Brandon did not sustain the hope that the flood there had reached its peak, improvement was reported from Portage la Prairie, halfway between Winnipeg and Brandon.

Taken generally, the indications tonight are that there will be a gradual recession of the Assiniboine river and its tributaries, which for days have inundated the low-lying land of central Manitoba, driving several hundred people from their homes and causing extensive damage. The river is still running high at Portage la Prairie, where residents were compelled to leave their homes on Saturday morning when the banks of the Assiniboine gave way west of the city, and flooded the west end of the city and railway yards. The water has receded fourteen inches, and the blasting of an ice jam east of the city, it is believed, will afford great relief and completely save the situation.

The waters at Brandon receded 12 inches, but now show an inclination to "come back" and eclipse former records. The heavy ice in the lower part of the day was about nine inches and afterwards remained more or less stationary.

Many people at Portage were able to leave their homes today for the first time in 24 hours. In other sections of the Portage lowlands, however, people were still marooned. If the water continues to go down as it has since Saturday night they will soon be freed.

TURKISH WOMEN WILL TRADE VEIL FOR VOTE
Wife of Kemal Pasha Proposed
As Deputy To Parliament.

Special Cable To The London Advertiser and the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
Constantinople, April 23.—Mustafa Kemal's wife, Latife Hanoum, has been proposed to deputize to parliament from Constantinople by local women, who are indignant over deputy Salih Effendi's unsuccessful proposal to make marriage obligatory.
Such ridiculous messages would not even be discussed if the Ankara Assembly included women, say Mme Latife's backers.

Although the Assembly recently de-fected votes for women, it is argued that no provision has been made disqualifying them from holding office.
The feminists believe the veil will be traded for the vote within ten years and Miss Sureya Ahmed, who will be graduated from the Turkish University at Stamboul next year as the first woman lawyer, says she is already preparing for a parliamentary career.

EDWARD JOHNSON, TENOR, SINGS AT GRAND THEATRE
Londoners who are lovers of the singing art will be afforded an opportunity tonight of hearing Edward Johnson, Canada's greatest tenor, and the man, who, it is dictated, will succeed Caruso as the leader in this class. He appears at the Grand Opera House, and all citizens who have heard Mr. Johnson before are unanimous in their unstinted praise of his high ability.
He is really a great singer, and for some years managed the Chicago Opera Company. He was born and received his early education in the city of Guelph, and hence is, in every sense of the word, a true Canadian.
