Board of Education Seeks Toronto Advice On Hoag Post

BOARD IS SEEKING OUTSIDER

Education Officials Confer Today in Toronto For Successor to Greer.

CONSULT MERCHANT

Trustee Willmot Objects to "Chasing Around" — Wants Wheable for Appointment.

Events are moving rapidly with regard to the withdrawal of J. P. Hoag, R. A., Toronto, from the position of inspector-administrator of the London school system.

It has become generally accepted that the board of education will permit of Mr. Hoag's withdrawal, and color is lent to this report by reason of the fact that a number of the members of the board are in Toronto today interviewing the department of education.

Chairman S. Fred Lawton, Vice-Chairman A. R. Chalmers and Trustee Geo. F. Copeland, B. N. Campbell and Rev. R. D. Mess, M. M. are in Toronto and at noon conferred with Dr. F. W. Merchant of the department as to the appointment of another "outsider" man in place of Mr. Hoag.

Asked this morning as to the possibility of the board granting Mr. Hoag's request to withdraw on account of ill health, Trustee J. Thornley Bowman, M. M., member of the executive committee, ventured the opinion that "the board would certainly have to accept it if Mr. Hoag had tendered it."

"I can't guess that Mr. Lawton and the other members of the board are in Toronto seeing about bringing in another outside man," "I would think so," replied Dr. Bowman.

Willmot Wants Wheable. Trustee Norman E. Willmot is opposed to the board "chasing around the country for another man," because he believes that Inspector Geoffrey A. Wheable, R. A., M. C., is quite capable to fill the position and should receive the appointment.

Mr. Willmot, who is one of the four trustees who supported Mr. Wheable in the board at the time Mr. Hoag was appointed, stated this morning that he still stood "absolutely in favor of Mr. Wheable for the position."

Inspector V. K. Greer has informed us that Mr. Wheable is "able and capable," said Mr. Willmot, "and by stepping him up the board makes promotion possible all along the line."

"There were only two men mentioned for the position before and voted upon in the board," Mr. Willmot said. "Mr. Hoag and Mr. Wheable; now that one has dropped out that can only mean Mr. Wheable for the job."

CAPITAL LOAN REPLACES LEVY

French Minister of Finance Proposes Big Increase in Bank Notes.

CONFIDENT OF PLAN

Associated Press Despatch.
Paris, April 6.—Bills providing for an increase in the bank note circulation amounting to 4,000,000,000 francs and for a voluntary 10 per cent contribution by capital, were presented to the cabinet this morning by M. de Monzie, the new finance minister. The cabinet will meet again tonight to finish discussion of these measures which, when whipped into final form, will be presented to the chamber of deputies tomorrow.

It is understood that M. de Monzie will stake confidence on their adoption. The sort of capital levy provided for in the bills will, technically, be a loan to the state bearing 4 per cent interest. It will be payable in cash or French government securities at slightly above market quotations and will be devoted to amortization of the debt.

M. de Monzie is determined to resort to a straight capital levy plan only if the proposed measures prove unacceptable. These measures were debated by the cabinet for two hours and a half, when it was decided to adjourn until tonight.

LASHES AND TERMS ARE LESSENER FOR CITY MEN

Thomas Fox Will Serve But Seven Instead of Fourteen Years With Lashes Penalty Cut in Half, While Salvatore Sansone's Time Sentence Is Cut in Two With Whipping Omitted.

BOTH CONVICTED OF SERIOUS OFFENCES

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.
Toronto, April 6.—Thomas Fox and Salvatore Sansone, sentenced in London to 14 years and 20 lashes and 2 years and 10 lashes, respectively, for serious offenses, have had lightened the load of punishment on appeal to the first divisional court at Osgoode hall. The appellate judges have reduced the Fox sentence to seven years and ten lashes, and the Sansone sentence to one year at Burlington. Thus Sansone will not be lashed at all.
In the Fox case, the appellate court's reasons are: "The crime was a serious one, and the judge, in sentencing the prisoner, imposed 14 years and 20 lashes. It is, however, open to us, with due respect to his view as to what is an adequate penalty for the crime, to make the sentence such as will in our judgment best express our own opinion as to the proper duration and character of the punishment awarded in the circumstances disclosed by the evidence here. We think the sentence should be fixed at seven years, together with 10 lashes."

"Don't Shoot" Cries Hubby As Wife Hunts Burglar

Police Discover Biggest Coward and Bravest Woman in Same House.

HIDES UNDER SHEETS

Husband Shivers While Wife Climbs Out Window For the Police.

Aroused by ominous sounds in a room below, a London woman last night climbed out her bedroom window, awakened neighbors and summoned police while her husband lay terror-stricken beneath the bed sheets.

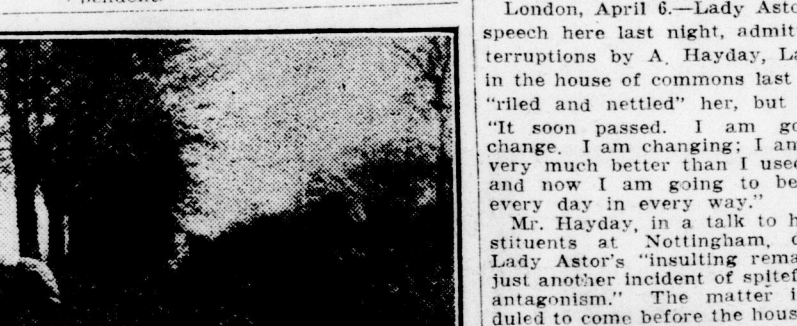

It was just past midnight. The man and his wife had gone to bed. Suddenly both awakened to the sound of stealthy footsteps. The sounds grew louder. Burglars were apparently in the drawing-room. "Somebody's in the house," the woman whispered to her husband. "You'd better get up."

But the terror-stricken spouse refused to budge. He shivered and shook under the bed clothes, drawing them over his head. His wife made up her mind that something must be done. She got up, raised the window and jumped to the ground. Then she ran to a nearby house. In two minutes she was telephoning the police. But it was not a burglar, only a brother of the owner of the house, who arrived, found poor husband under the bed clothes, trembling like a leaf, his brow perspiring with fear.

He screamed with fear as the constable pulled the clothes from his head and cried, "Don't shoot! don't shoot!" His wife and brother stood by laughing.

ASTOR ADMITS ANGER AT LABORITE'S SPEECH

Associated Press Despatch.
London, April 6.—Lady Astor, in a speech here last night, admitted interruptions by A. Hayday, Laborite, in the house of commons last Friday "riled and nettled" her, but added: "It soon passed. I am going to change. I am changing; I am really very much better than I used to be and now I am going to be better every day in every way."

Mr. Hayday, in a talk to his constituents at Nottingham, declared Lady Astor's "insulting remark" was just another incident of spiteful class antagonism. The matter is scheduled to come before the house today.

GERMANS SEEK TO CONTROL S. AFRICAN PLATINUM

Associated Press Despatch.
London, April 6.—Cables from Johannesburg, South Africa, indicate that the reason behind the recent boom of South African platinum stocks is an effort by Germans to secure control. Immediately discovered fresh finds were announced, it is reported, German syndicates appointed secret agents to buy up the shares of the platinum mine corporations. These agents, who were furnished with apparently unlimited capital, now hold large blocks of the most prominent platinum shares.

EVIDENCE TAKEN AT PORTSMOUTH

Sub-Committee Is Examining Peter Smith and Charles Matthews on "Tollgate."

MAINTAIN SECRECY

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, April 6.—The sub-committee appointed by the public accounts committee of the Ontario legislature arrived in Kingston last night and drove out to Portsmouth this morning, where the examination of Peter Smith, former provincial treasurer, and Charles Matthews, Jun., at one time deputy treasurer in connection with the alleged "toll gate" commenced at 9:30 a.m. Representatives of the press were excluded from the proceedings. The members of the sub-committee with the exception of W. E. Rancey, Progressive leader, who arrived by him, and put up at a hotel, travelled in a private car, upon which they breakfasted this morning. Mr. Rancey, the chairman, was interviewed regarding the activities of the sub-committee, but he stated he had absolutely nothing to give out for publication.

"It is no use newspapermen worrying about what we are doing," said Mr. Rancey. "We have nothing to give out now, and I do not propose to give out any statement when the sittings are over. It hardly seems to me to be the correct thing for a sub-committee to give out any statement before it has reported back to the committee of which it forms a part."

Accompanying the party in the private car were Major A. E. Nash, expert accountant of G. T. Clarkson & Co., who is conversant with all the details of the treasury matters, and was brought along to give pointers on which questions may be asked.

There was a representation made by some Toronto people wanting a merger some time ago, but we refused to consider it."

C. H. Ives, secretary of the company, said he had heard nothing as to any merger as far as the Empire Brass Company was concerned.

FORMER M. P. DIES TODAY

S. Frank Glass Passes Away After a Lingering Illness.

BORN IN MIDDLESEX

Was Active in Agricultural and Municipal Circles For Years.

Samuel Frank Glass, former member of parliament for East Middlesex, died at St. Joseph's hospital shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. He had been ill for the past nine months, having suffered a paralytic stroke last year. Four months ago his condition became serious and he was removed from his home to St. Joseph's hospital. From then on no improvement was shown. He gradually became weaker. Two weeks ago physicians at the hospital gave up all hope. Although five days ago he rallied from a relapse, he dropped into a semi-conscious state on Saturday. With him when he passed away this afternoon were his brother, Dickson Glass, his wife and daughter.

Born in London Township.

Samuel Frank Glass was born in London township, Middlesex county, in 1861, the son of the late William Glass, sheriff of Middlesex county. His uncle was the Hon. David Glass, K.C., who represented Middlesex in the dominion house from 1873 until 1874, and later was speaker of the Greenawald's first government in Manitoba and city solicitor of Winnipeg for some years.

Mr. Glass received his early education at the St. Helmut boys' college, from which many of London's oldest citizens have graduated. He later attended the Brantford collegiate institute.

At the age of 18 years he became associated with Robinson, Little & Co., wholesale druggists, of this city, and remained with them for four years, when he became a partner in the stock broking firm of Wright & Glass, also of this city.

For two years he was a general merchant and grain dealer at Tillamook, Wis.

COMPENSATION LAW CHANGES SUGGESTED

Railways and Unions Call Conference To Iron Out Differences.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 6.—Representatives of labor unions and the railways held a conference with Hon. W. F. Nickle, attorney-general, and representatives of the workmen's compensation board Saturday morning regarding payment of compensation to railway employees permanently injured who come back to work. In some cases men have been taken back at full pay, and in addition have been entitled to compensation pay for their injuries. The railways took the stand that a man was not worth more salary because he was injured, and had the injured men sign agreements not to draw salaries from the railways. The unions alleged was contrary to the workmen's compensation act.

They admitted, however, that the railways should not be forced to pay a man more money after he was injured and returned to work than they had originally paid him. The point was so technical that it was decided to have Peter Heenan, M. L. A., call a conference of union men and railway officials to arrive at a settlement.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS $500,000

Record Sales in Real Estate Are Registered in London in Last Month.

BUILDING BOOMS

Heavy Real Estate Investments Mean Better Business Generally.

More than a half million dollars' worth of real estate exchanged hands in London last month, setting a mark that has been equaled by only one other month since the war. Great improvement in construction circles is reported at the same time and a new pace has been set in building authorized during the past week. The first seven days of April will show construction authorized of $106,000 value.

This outstanding pick-up in real estate transfers and the simultaneous boom in building is interpreted in an optimistic manner by city hall officials. Business conditions generally are expected to improve considerably following investments in buildings and land here.

Property transfers during March show fairly sound conditions in the real estate market. Assessments are remarkably low in a great many cases in contrast with considerations recorded.

108 Property Transfers.

During March, there were 108 property transfers. A score of these were based on property deeds within families, in which no consideration was specified. Besides with transfers, property considerations reported amounted to $465,352, more than the total for the first three months of 1924. In June of 1922, this figure was improved upon, but that boom was caused by a legislative measure to register property deeds rather than an improvement in market conditions.

Some of the larger transfers during the month included the purchase of the Grand Theatre from the Trans-Canada Theatre Limited by Charles A. Maguire, for $46,000, and the subsequent sale of the same building to Clarence Robson for $50,000. The title for a 35,000 sq. ft. store property on the south side of Dundas street, valued at $36,000, passed from the John E. Boomer estate to Herbert Boomer.

April's List a Record.
London's boom in real estate came at the same time as an outstanding increase in house construction. Last month building of 15 new houses started. This month will more than treble that figure for house construction, according to indications after a week has passed.

The first seven days of April will show construction of $106,025 authorized, representing permits for 55 different jobs. H. L. Sliton today received permits to build three houses at $3,000 each on Oxford street. Other houses authorized today will be built by S. B. Baskin, 110 St. Julien; E. H. Peckham, $2,500; 110 St. Julien; E. Payne, $5,000; Oxford; E. Taylor, $2,600; Langrish, J. Gowerhera, $2,600; Van street; J. Metcalf, $2,500; Homan street.

CHANGES PLANNED AT PORT STANLEY

Railway Commissioners Move To Alter Property at Resort.

As a result of a visit made yesterday by the London & Port Stanley Railway commission to Port Stanley several changes will be suggested at the next regular meeting of the board. The only suggestion made yesterday which will be definitely carried out is a change in the arrangement of the entrance to the incline railway at the bottom of the hill. The entrance will be made larger, so that people can enter the cars more easily and without the crowding that is the case now. The estimated cost is about $175.

All the concessions at Port have been rented to the satisfaction of the commissioners with one exception, and this will be advertised again before the season opens.

Suggestions which will be brought up next Monday before the board include the building of a roof to the tea house on the top of the hill to give protection to visitors in case of storm and rain, and enlargement of the check room at the terminal.

The commissioners will also ask the municipality of Port Stanley to put the road up the hill in better condition. It did not meet with the approval of the Londoners yesterday.

The bath-house and the cafeteria were both inspected and a few minor changes recommended. With a fine summer, it is hoped to make this season at Port a profitable one for the railway and to see a surplus in the Port Stanley end of the L. & P. S. All the commissioners, with the mayor and General Manager Richards, made the trip.

Distribution of Palms Marks Triumphal Entry of Christ Into Jerusalem

M.P. Would Cut Talk and Pay

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, April 4.—Members of parliament should say less and get less pay, is the opinion of A. J. Benoit, Liberal member for St. John's and Iqaluit, Quebec. He has given notice of his intention to move in the house this resolution: "Whereas, the work of the session could be more expeditiously done by shortening the time allowed for debates;

"And, whereas, in thus practicing economy in speeches the length of each session could be shortened by 25 per cent.;

"Therefore, in the opinion of this House, it would be expedient to consider the reduction of the parliamentary indemnity in the same ratio of 25 per cent."

Palm Sunday Observed With Special Ritual in Roman Catholic Churches.

MAN'S FICKLENESS

Service Is Commemorative of the Welcome Afforded Jesus
by the Populace.

Palm Sunday, one of the oldest and most significant of feast days in the Roman Catholic ritual, was observed with quiet solemnity in the London churches yesterday, and thousands of palms were distributed among the laity.

The custom of distributing blessed palms within the shadow of Good Friday springs from the triumphal entry of Jesus Christ into Jerusalem a short while before he was put to death. The Scriptures relate how on that occasion the multitudes, full of praise and worship for the Nazarene, spread their cloaks on the ground and stripped palm trees that the path of Jesus into Jerusalem might be carpeted.

Shortly after that the people demanded His life, and the observance of the Lenten custom on the first day of Holy Week is symbolic of the shallowness and fickleness of man.

The blessed palms are kept in the homes throughout the year and are substituted for new sheaves on the following Palm Sunday. The ashes of burnt palms are used in the Ash Wednesday ceremonies held on the first day of Lent, when ashes are crossed on the foreheads of the faithful to remind them that man sprang from the earth.

Holy Week, the last week in Lent, began in the Catholic church yesterday and will conclude at noon next Saturday, which is called Holy Saturday. Mass will be celebrated every morning in the week, but on Good Friday only the celebrant may receive Holy Communion. The mass on this day is called the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified.

Good Friday is the saddest day on the church calendar, and the strictest solemnity marks the few services. The altars are bare, as in mourning for the crucified Christ, and empty tabernacles, with doors swung wide, emphasize this mood of days. In the afternoon the stations of the cross are held at 3 o'clock, the hour at which Christ is supposed to have died.

TRAVELLERS URGE REDUCTION IN SIZE

Suggest Parliament Be Conducted On Basis of Board of Directors.

Members of the Ontario Commercial Travellers' association went on record Saturday afternoon as being in favor of the reduction of members in both the Ontario and dominion parliaments by half, and suggested "that parliament be conducted on the basis of boards of directors dealing with matters of great concern in a thorough business way."

The resolution, which was passed unanimously, was as follows: "We, the members of the Ontario Commercial Travellers' association here assembled, feeling that we know the feeling of the people throughout the country, do hereby submit to the dominion and Ontario governments the following resolution."

"Resolved, that in view of the urgent necessity for the exercise of the greatest economy, especially when talk of redistribution and changes in the B.N.A. act are in process, urge a reduction in the number of members in each house by fully one-half, and that parliament be conducted on the basis of boards of directors dealing with matters of great concern in a thorough business way."

"We realize, too, that economy must come from those who occupy high places, and that copies of this resolution be sent to the prime minister of the dominion and Ontario parliaments, also leaders of the opposition in each house, and also to our local members, J. F. White, M.P., and Hon. Sir Adam Beck, M.L.A., and sister commercial travellers' associations throughout Canada."

Reports of the various standing committees were given at the meeting over which the president, P. E. Harley, presided. They showed that the association was having one of its best years with 254 new members affiliated so far.

The travellers, as in past years, will be the "clean-up men" of the United Welfare Fund drive. W. R. Grant was appointed as general chairman of the welfare committee and will have 24 team captains and 275 men working for him. The travellers will make a house-to-house canvass on Saturday afternoon May 2, and will call for subscription cards on Sunday.

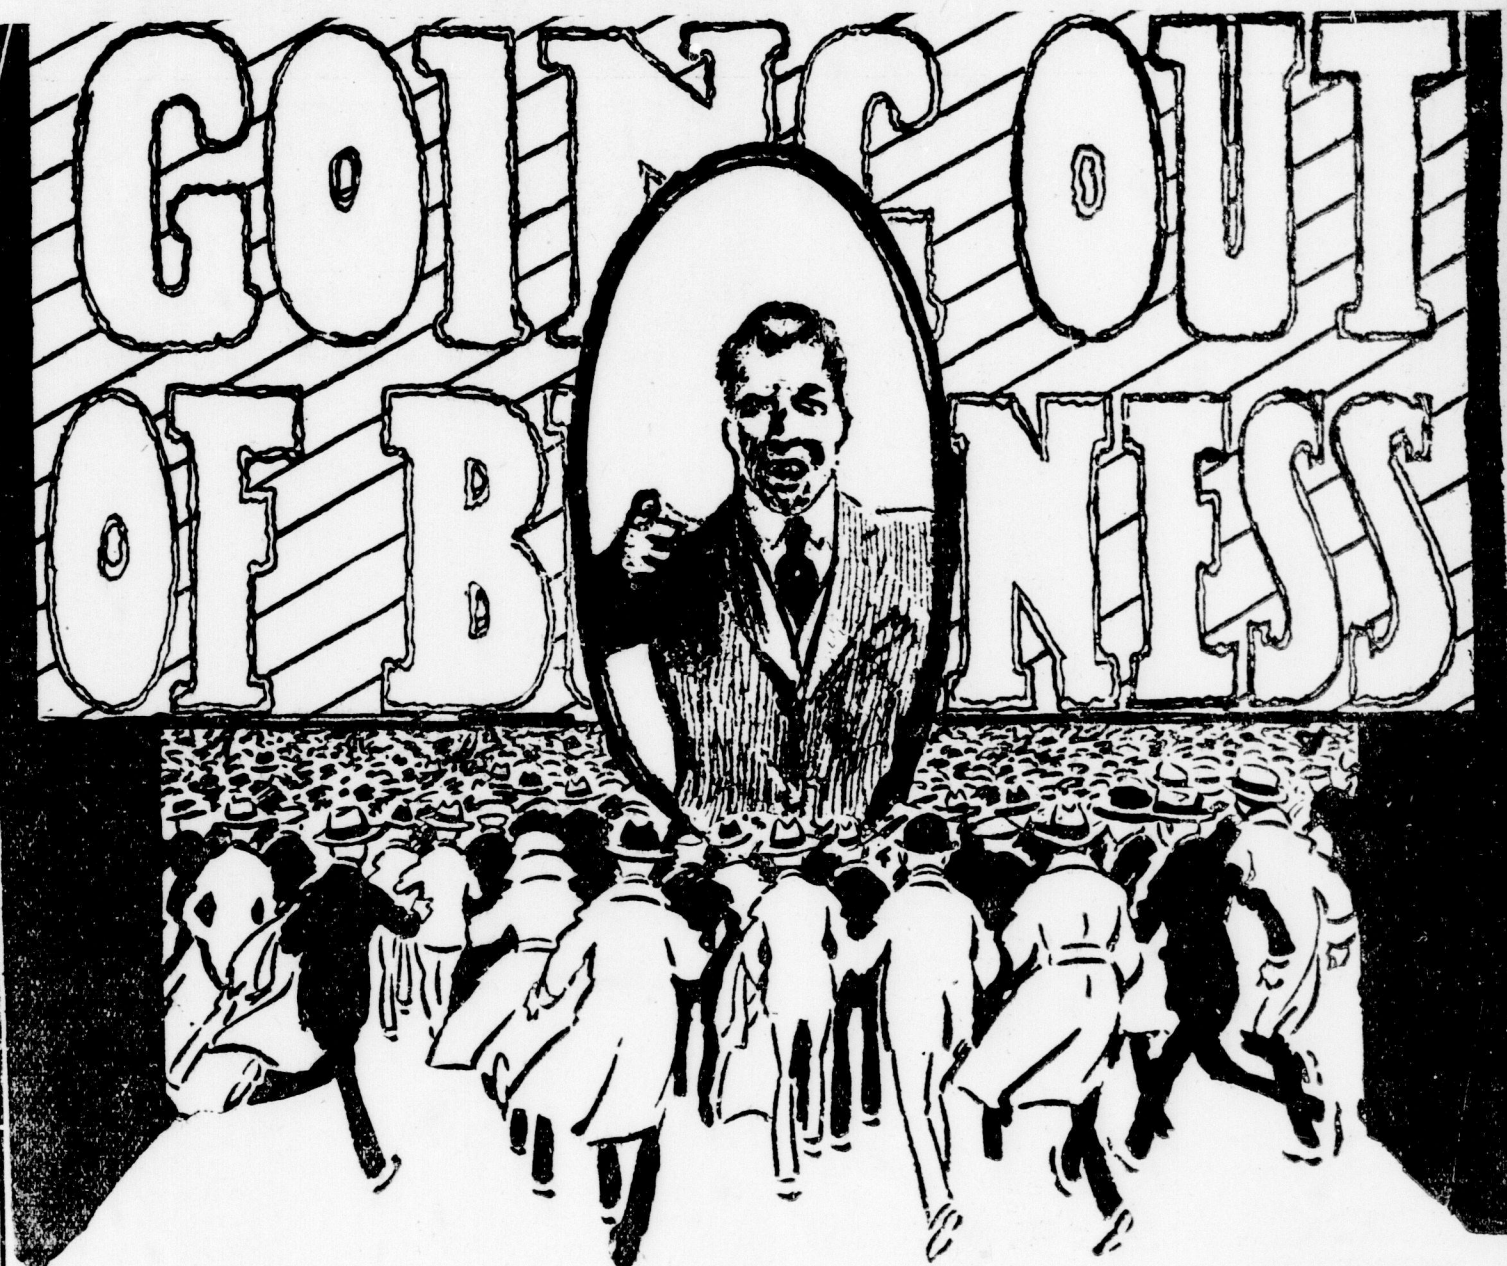

P. E. Harley was elected as vice-chairman and will be assisted by Secretary George T. Hair, who has already put in some hard work in team organization.

Brewers Protest Beer Making Restrictions :: Boy Admits Seven Burglaries

BREWERS OBJECT TO MANY RULES

Many Decline to Make New 4.4 Beer Unless Restrictions Lessened.

Premier G. Howard Ferguson, in his efforts to satisfy "all parties" with 4.4 beer, hasn't gained the approval of either the temperance or prohibition league elements, and now the brewers are scornful of the restrictions that will surround "Ferguson's beer." There is more than a possibility that, owing to government restrictions, the brewers will refuse to manufacture the temperance drink that the government hopes to make popular. In that event, the premier will lead the cabinet orchestra in a "vaudeville" interpretation of "What'll We Do?"

Charles H. Burns, president of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company, states that "We are going to put manufacturing 4.4 beer and stick to our export trade if we find that government restrictions are too both- some."

"Are you satisfied with government proposals regarding the sale of 4.4 beer?" Mr. Burns was asked.

"No, we are not satisfied," replied the president of the Carling company. "We think there are too many restrictions for a non-intoxicating beverage. Why are they necessary?"

"The premier speaks for over two hours on the subject, but I suppose we will have to take things as they come. However, we are going to put manufacturing 4.4 beer and stick to our export trade if we find that government restrictions are too both- some. That is the way we feel about it, and that is our attitude toward the matter at the present time."

The management of Labatt's refused to discuss the matter at all. It is stated, however, that their views are somewhat similar to those expressed by Mr. Burns.

MISSION ENDANGERED BY HONAN SOLDIERS

Shenku Being Attacked by the Government Troops—Urges Protection of Missionaries.

Associated Press Despatch. Peking, April 6.—Headquarters of the China inland mission at Shanghai telegraphed to Peking, stating that Honan government troops are attacking Shenku, where the China inland Missionary Tomkinson and his wife are stationed. A later message states that Assistant Superintendent Cline reached Shenku and that the danger there has become intensified.

The British legation has made representations to the Chinese foreign office in the matter, and the foreign office has wired to the military governor of Honan urging him to take all possible steps for the protection of Mr. and Mrs. Tomkinson and other foreign lives and property in the district.

THOUSANDS OF PILGRIMS ATTEND MASSES AT ROME

Associated Press Despatch. Rome, April 6.—Thousands of holy pilgrims of all nationalities flocked to the special Palm Sunday mass in the four basilicas yesterday morning, and in the afternoon prayed a furious hailstorm, which later turned into a torrential downpour of rain, to attend the services in the church of St. John Lateran.

Park War Memorial Fund Boosted By Band Concert

Program Including Solos Given Last Night in Capitol Theatre.

UNVEILING IN MAY

Monument Will Be on Exhibition in City Next Saturday.

In aid of the Manor and Highland Park war memorial, a concert was given last night by the R. C. R. band and several soloists at the Capitol theatre. Residents of these two suburbs of the city have raised a large amount of money for this memorial and are at present some $100 short of the full amount required. Last night a silver collection taken up added $21.27 to the funds.

A very fine program of music was provided by the regimental band, which played by kind permission of Lieut.-Col. Seeley-Smith. The program included solos by Miss York, Mr. Fred Ball and Mr. Frank Emery, which were greatly appreciated by the large audience.

Complete Cost $800. It is expected that this memorial will be unveiled about the first of May in Manor Park on the site chosen just outside the church. Contributions have been made for some time by members of the Parks, most of them returned men and their families. It will cost about $800 to complete the memorial and set it in place.

The first great war memorial in London to feature a statue will show a soldier in uniform standing at ease with a rifle in his hands, and will be mounted on a pedestal of rough stone. The monument will be on exhibition next Saturday at the London Granite and Marble Company on Richmond street.

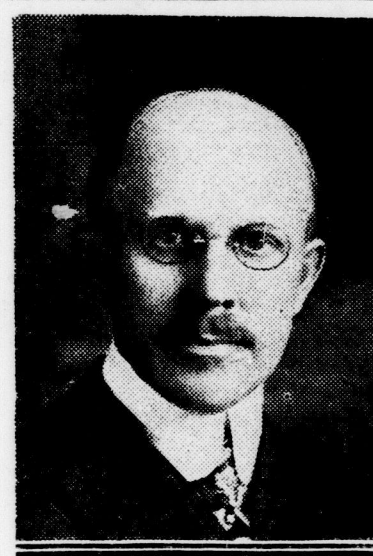

Lieut.-Col. Reason, D.S.O., O.B.E., who was chairman for the evening, in his address spoke in general praise of the work done in the erection of the Children's War Memorial hospital, and the efforts being put forth to erect this memorial.

The following is the inscription on the tablet which was donated by the Empire Brass Company: "To the glory of God and the honor of (with the names of the heroes from Manor Park and Highland Park). Let us forget." The fence which will go around the monument was given by the Dennis Wire and Iron Company.

Six returned men have been striving to get the memorial since Aug. 23, 1914, and have succeeded in approaching the amount needed to erect the monument. They are Messrs. Bradley, Whitley, Pike, Tattersall, Forbes, Wright and Gardiner.

Opening the program, the R. C. R. band played the Canadian national anthem, which was followed by "Heroic" by Saint Saens, a vocal selection by Miss York; overture, "Mignon" by Thomas; a selection from grand opera, "La Tosca," by Puccini; a piccolo solo entitled "The Wren" by Dambore; a solo by J. All-coat of the R. C. R. band; a solo by Mr. Frank Emery; ballet music from "La Reine De Saba" (The Queen of Sheba); Gounod; a solo by Mr. Fred Ball; "Slavonic Rhapsody" by Freidman; by the band, and the concert closed with the playing of "God Save the King." The band was conducted by Bandmaster Harrison. The Manor Park mothers' club assisted as ushers.

UNIONISTS ORGANIZE MISSIONARY GROUPS

Robinson Memorial and Colborne Street Methodist Churches Form Societies.

Unionist Presbyterian missionary groups have been formed in Robinson Memorial and Colborne street Methodist churches.

This action was taken at a social held last Friday in Ryerson public school by unionist Presbyterians, formerly members of New St. James' Presbyterian church, North London.

The motive behind the organization of such groups is that the missionary funds donated by those forming the two groups will reach the proper headquarters of the Presbyterian church at Toronto and will not be available for use by anti-unionist Presbyterians.

The Union women's missionary society of London North, in direct affiliation with the London Presbyterian church, was also formed. It is composed of the unionist Presbyterian women of the north end of the city. Mrs. W. A. Tanner was chosen as president and Mrs. A. L. Fletcher as secretary-treasurer.

Those present at the social cordially endorsed a resolution proposed by J. M. Robb and W. Ferguson, expressing appreciation of the action of the 14 unionist elders who resigned from the session of New St. James' church.

The one who participated in the musical program which was given during the evening with P. J. Thompson as chairman, included Mrs. Grant Harris, Mrs. Frank Smith, Miss Laura Kirkwood and Mrs. E. Tremere.

Those who were responsible for the arrangements of the social included Mrs. R. J. Webster, Mrs. J. D. Omond, Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Mrs. A. L. Fletcher, and Mrs. S. B. Gorwill.

FIFTY-FOUR LEAVE CHALMERS CHURCH

Withdrawal Certificates Are Granted Following Resignation of Rev. J. Richardson.

In all, 54 unionist Presbyterians have secured disjunction certificates from Chalmers' church since the resignation of the pastor, Rev. John Richardson, B.A., and have joined other churches in the vicinity.

Of this number, several have accepted the invitation of the joint official board of the Wellington street Methodist church to affiliate themselves with that congregation until union is consummated on June 10 next.

The Methodist board also extended an invitation to Mr. Richardson to accompany the Chalmers unionists to Wellington street church and become co-pastor with Rev. G. T. Watts, but since Mr. Richardson had already assumed temporarily the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Delaware, he was unable to accept the offer rather than to undertake pastoral oversight over his unionist people.

The unionist minority of Chalmers church have formed themselves into the Chalmers union association and have appointed a treasurer to whom the members can contribute their missionary funds in order that they may be forwarded to the missionary headquarters of the Presbyterian church at Toronto.

The officers of the association are: President, G. H. Allen, secretary, Festus Bell; treasurer, Miss Edna Hunter.

Mr. Richardson, whose resignation from Chalmers church went into effect March 31, occupied the pulpit of the Delaware church yesterday for the first time, preaching in Delaware, Cooke's, and South Caradoc churches.

MERRY FISHERMEN CAUGHT IN WEEDS

Liquid Bait Brings $80 in Fines and Cancellation of Driver's License.

Four young men from West Lorne who went fishing on Saturday with considerable "liquid" bait, turned out later in the day to be "fish" caught in the O. T. A. net of License Inspector Walter Bolton.

The boys, who had pursued a zig-zag course on the Longwoods road near Wardville in their motor car, finally came to rest on the outskirts of the village and some law-abiding citizen informed the inspector who was making a tour of the district.

The fishing party was then motorized to Glenora where Magistrate Peter Morrison heard the case of the "big ones" that got away. However, he did not let the boys leave until they had each paid over $10 and costs for being drunk, while the chap who had purchased the liquor at the drug store for medicinal purposes, was fined $5 and costs for illegal purchase.

The owner of the car, who was driving license taken away from him for three months at the request of Motorcycle Officer Black, who accompanied Inspector Bolton on the trip.

ANCIENT PRINTS ARE REPLETE WITH HUMOR

London and Bath Coach Was Novel Vehicle Operated by Steam.

Three colored prints of ancient vintage have been hung in the public library near the main entrance. They give interesting views of the first automobile vehicles which made their appearance on the highways of England.

One shows the London and Bath coach. It was operated by steam and had three funnels. The coach had the appearance of a converted road coach. It is described as a carriage 15 to 20 feet long. The rate of speed was eight to ten miles per hour. It carried 60 gallons of water and used coke for fuel. Six passengers could ride inside the bus while an additional 12 were accommodated on the roof.

A foot note with each picture describes the prints fully, in giving a view of Regents park in 1831 a print shows men and women riding velocipedes operated by steam. There is humor in all the pictures. They show the vehicles blowing up and otherwise acting contrary to the rules.

One print shows that the aeroplane was at least thought of. In those days men were pictured as flying with wings attached to their arms.

Old Relic Found Among Belongings of Late George Chittick.

WELL PRESERVED

Document Issued in Ireland to T. Souls, Owned by W. A. Howard.

An interesting Orange relic in the shape of an old certificate issued in Ireland in 1799 will soon be presented to the district county lodge here by the owner, W. A. Howard, 158 Dundas street.

This certificate, which was issued to a certain Thomas Souls, was found among the belongings of the late George Chittick, brother of Squire Chittick.

Thomas Souls is believed by Mr. Howard, himself an Orangeman, to have been the first man to bring the rules and institutions of the Orange order to north America. He became a close friend of the father of George Chittick and gave the certificate to him when he died. In this way it came into the possession of George Chittick. Mrs. Howard is a daughter of the late Mr. Chittick, and it was in looking through some of his belongings that the old paper was found. It is a small piece of paper about 12 by 8 inches, and bears on the left hand side the seal of the lodge issuing it. Considering its great age, it is wonderfully preserved. The seal is still legible and intact. It says in part:

"Loyal Orange Association, Number 415. Held in the Fernagh Registry, Dublin, Kingdom of Ireland. We the master and members do certify that Brother Thomas Souls has regularly received the degrees of a true Orangeman in this association and that he has at all times conducted himself to the entire satisfaction of all the members."

It is signed Elliott Armstrong, master; James Deane, deputy master; and James Dorothy, secretary. The date is August 28, 1799. Mr. Howard intends to present this unique document to the district county lodge in the near future.

DOUBT WISDOM OF CAPITAL LEVY

City Financial Men Cannot See Success in Herriot's Plan To Save Franc.

Capital levy, the life-belt that Premier Herriot would toss to the sunken French franc, is reviewed rather skeptically in London financial circles. With the franc standing at 5.17½ cents instead of the par value of 19.90 cents on the New York market Saturday, Londoners believe, however, that the republic must place its currency on a stable basis on the world markets.

France, in expressions of opinion obtained by The Advertiser this morning, has now awakened from her dream of German gold and realizes that she and not Germany must pay for the extravagant expenditures during the war.

A capital levy will touch more people in France than in any other country in the world," stated one financial head. "It is not a class tax, but a tax on the general support of government loans in the past weeks the world to the thrift nature of these people. The poorest peasant, who made a small investment then, now have his small stock of capital tapped by the proposed levy of Herriot."

Another prominent financier questions the sagacity of the levy on capital.

"It would appear to me," he stated, "that the wealthier French people would invest their money in other countries to avoid payment. When capital levy was talked in England large sums were sent to Canada and the United States to be invested in the English lost heavily before the plan for the levy had made any headway at all. Even if France should enforce a ban on sending out of securities, I don't see how the government would meet with success."

Smuggling would be comparatively easy and there may be the danger of stirring up the animosity of the other of the other nations."

Meanwhile, France's foreign trade would be reduced by the loss of the Company of New York show a surplus of exports over imports of 230,000,000 francs. This covers the surplus for January last. In January of 1923 there was an import surplus of 155,430,000 francs. The favorable balance this year is partly accounted for by increased export of luxury articles.

ATMOSPHERE DECIDES WEATHER FORECASTS

Director of Meteorological Service Gives Interesting Address.

An address of more than ordinary interest was given before the London astronomical society on Friday, when Sir Frederic Stupart, director of the meteorological service of Canada, spoke on "Facts, Fancies and Fallacies Regarding the Weather." Sir Frederic pointed out that climate depends on such factors as latitude, altitude, geographical position, circulation of the atmosphere, and variations in the output of solar energy. Of this last factor we know very little for certain as yet.

The most important factor in determining the weather is atmospheric circulation. The lecturer directed attention to the great amount of care and labor that is taken to get information from the many meteorological stations distributed throughout the continent of north America. This information is sent to Toronto every morning and from this data circulars are made. There are over 23,000 weather maps in Toronto—two a day have been made since 1870 and no two are alike. The problem of forecasting is very complex and difficult to solve with certainty. Sir Frederic says that no one makes long time forecasts, excepting those who know very little about weather conditions.

DECLARES BIBLE MUST BE ACCEPTED IN FULL

Evangelist Doner Opens Three Weeks' Campaign in the Masonic Temple.

The Bible must be accepted as a whole or not at all. The human mind is not capable of discriminating between truth and fiction as far as the Bible is concerned. It must be accepted as the inspired word of God or the word of man, and if the latter view is held, the fallacies and uncertainties of human nature must govern its interpretation.

"Such is the creed of Evangelist A. G. Doner, who opened a three weeks' gospel campaign in the Masonic Temple yesterday under the auspices of the Cleveland colored gospel quintet has returned to London to take a part in the services."

"I do not believe that there is a human mind capable of discriminating to the extent that some of the passages can be set aside as not inspired. The Bible is either the word of God, and as such it must be accepted in full, or it is the word of man, and it can only be taken for what it is worth."

"I believe that man was formed of the dust of the earth, as the Bible sets forth. The highbrows of today try to tell us that man was not so formed, and that he descended from the monkey, or a tadpole, or some such thing."

Likes Canadian Women Better Than Americans

Mrs. Wallace Reid Says America Most Hysterical Nation.

SCORES BAD LIQUOR

Says Chaney and Norma Talmadge As Leading Movie Figures.

Mrs. Wallace Reid, Dorothy Davenport of the screen, came to London today as the lone crusader of the continent in the interests of youth. Calling to a world, swept with a silly hysteria, Reid is a delightful image of happiness that comes from the better things in life.

Womanlike, she loves the Prince of Wales and is keenly interested in all he does, but will turn her conversation in a flash and discuss the business situation of Vancouver with a clear insight into economics and railroad problems.

Mrs. Reid does not come with a lurid tale of world vice, she hates the lurid, and sees in it one of the great causes of unrest in the world today.

Mrs. Reid's picture, "Broken Laws," which is being shown in the Capitol theatre, where she will appear this week, contains the story of the silly parent. Mrs. Reid likes her picture, for she sees that it carries a universal appeal as pleasant entertainment and underneath a quiet lesson in life. Sitting in her room in the Tecumseh house, Mrs. Reid met an Advertiser reporter, shook hands with a friendly grasp, smiling a welcome.

"What do you think of Canada?" inquired the reporter. Mrs. Reid fumbled at a lock suspended from a chain around her neck, for a minute, smiled, and began:

"Canada, I do not know really well, although I have made a few trips from the coast to Ontario, but I will tell you something that is a marked contrast to me. Canadian women are vastly superior to Americans. I hate to admit it, but the chatter, chatter of those in my own country is in many cases the limit of endeavor. In Canada I find that women do a thing that I never undertake; there is no fuss; it is done, and the women are ready for the next problem."

"Look at the war," Mrs. Reid paused. "Not a subject to be bringing up, is it? The war is blamed for so much it is better to forget it. They blame the war for all the unrest in the world, and I believe it is a factor it is not the greatest one."

FIRST HIKE OF SPRING.

Eight young men of the Y. M. C. A. took their first spring hike Saturday afternoon. They wandered through the fields as far as Pond Mills, making the trip in about three hours. Another hike is planned for a week from Saturday.

The party was made up of A. E. Garwood, G. Davies, R. G. Graham, C. B. Chapman, J. M. Collins, R. Schott, K. King and W. F. Sherwin.

Mrs. Reid while not strikingly handsome, possesses real beauty. Her titian bobbed hair is kept under control by two steady, pleasant brown eyes and a broad, kindly smile. She is dressed in a black and white chiffon blouse, black felt hat with a plain silk crepe band, and black patent leather pumps, perfectly plain, with black chiffron shoes. Mrs. Reid gives one the impression of extreme delicacy mixed with a strong character and an active brain.

Low "Chaney, great contortionist is the best actor on the screen, in the opinion of Mrs. Reid. He is so ghastly that I am afraid to forget it," she said, "but he has a great love for his work, and is paying dearly for his fame in the scars that will never come off."

Talmadge Her Favorite.

"Of course, Mary Pickford is very famous, but I believe for real acting and personality that Norma Talmadge is my favorite."

Turning to the dope traffic in America for a minute, Mrs. Reid blamed the propaganda against it for its spread. The lurid cartoons of disease and crime are attacked by the beauty of the screen as one factor in creating a continent-wide interest in drugs.

For youth Mrs. Reid has a great love. Bobbed hair she likes, and the freedom given the healthy, dashing girl of today meets with her approval. "Take youth out of the limelight and youth will behave," she said. "The great danger I see for youth today is bad liquor. Its contacts lead to greater lawlessness. Teach the child to respect the laws of the home and he or she will grow up to respect the laws of the land."

Mrs. Reid rose to her two children, Bill, eight, and Dorothy, five, came into the room. "I am not a propagandist," she said, "I just fill a little niche for doing good in the great moving picture industry."

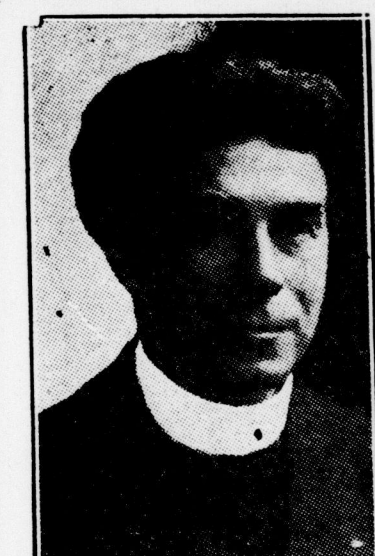

GORWILL TO HAVE CHARGE OF CHELSEA GREEN CHURCH

James Gorwill, B.A., will again have charge of the Chelsea Green Presbyterian church during the summer months.

Mr. Gorwill, who is now finishing his second year at Knox college, Toronto, will assume the pulpit of the Chelsea Green church on May 1 and continue until college reopens in October.

Rev. J. W. M. Crawford of Westminster has been taking a Sunday evening service in Chelsea Green during the winter months. Upon Mr. Gorwill's arrival, however, Sunday services will be held morning and evening.

Mr. Gorwill, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gorwill, this city, has been in charge of the Chelsea Green church during the past two summers.

REV. DR. ROBERT NORWOOD, former rector of Cronyn Memorial church here who is at present being treated in a Philadelphia hospital for nervous breakdown. Dr. Norwood was stricken in Baltimore ten days ago while on a lecture tour.

DR. ROBERT NORWOOD'S CONDITION IMPROVED

Former London Minister Now in Philadelphia Hospital Suffering From Nervous Breakdown.

Special to The Advertiser. Philadelphia, April 6.—The condition of Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood, rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church, Overbrook, who is in the Jefferson Hospital suffering from a nervous condition brought on by overwork was reported as satisfactory as could be expected. Dr. Norwood will leave the hospital shortly. He was stricken in Baltimore about ten days ago while on a speaking tour. He was forced to abandon his tour and on the advice of physicians returned here to enter the hospital.

Dr. Norwood is well known to Londoners. He was rector of Cronyn Memorial church here for some years, leaving London to assume his present charge in Philadelphia in 1917.

DECLARES SPIRIT CAN CREATE UNION

Rev. George Little Preaches at 46th Anniversary of King Street Presbyterian.

"Christianity is heart education," declared Rev. George A. Little, B.A., Toronto, in King street Presbyterian church yesterday morning. "And no one can educate the heart like Christ."

Mr. Little's inspiring sermon featured the first service to be held in the King street church by way of observing its 46th anniversary and the 14th anniversary of its present pastor, Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D.

The celebration of the two anniversaries will continue throughout the next two weeks.

"Christ has given a progressive program for His church," declared Mr. Little, who is associate editor of Presbyterian publications at Toronto, "and since He told His twelve apostles to 'go into all the world and preach the gospel,' one-third of the world has become at least nominally Christian."

"Such success has only been made possible through the spirit of Christ," continued Mr. Little, "and that is the one thing which will make church union possible in this country. Nothing is impossible through the spirit of Christ. He alone can create a world brotherhood, the one cure inclusive enough to cure all the ills of humanity."

"Everyone is talking at once today," pursued the speaker. "The 20th century is one of vehemence and not reason, one of heat and not light. There is a multiplicity of voices and we need an interpreter. The world is full of preachers—the press, the theatre, real good books, radio, clubs, billboards, the movies, politics, labor, business, industry—all have their preachers."

"We live internationally and everything that happens anywhere in the world has more or less of an effect on our affairs here in Canada. We have to listen to the voices of disarmament, education, credit and religion. The world is becoming a neighborhood."

"We must use our reason and listen to other voices, however—the voice of nature, the voice of history, and the voice of modern science. There should be no quarrel between real religion and real science because science must have a religious instinct and religion must have a scientific interpretation."

"God has given us an interpreter to all these voices," declared Mr. Little, "in Christ, the son of God and the son of man. God interprets Himself to us and interprets ourselves to ourselves. He alone can interpret this strange life pilgrimage to us. He interprets it in terms of practical, unselfish, loving service to the sick, the poor, the children, and the outcast, and in serving them lies the secret of life."

Mr. Little addressed a joint session at 10 a.m. of the brotherhoods of Askin street Methodist, Beth Emanuel Methodist, and King street churches, choosing as his subject, "The New Day in Religious Education."

Green Grass and Gardens Lure Londoners Into Open

Golfing and Riding Are Enjoyed as Mercury Reaches 64.

SIXTY ON COURSE

Sunday Golf Steadily Gaining in Popularity in Ontario.

Physically and sartorially Londoners celebrated the springlike weather which the week-end brought. With the mercury in the thermometer at 54, two degrees below the open-air fans found Sunday to their liking.

Golf riding, motorizing, walking, somewhat premature gardening, and in at least one instance hammock restfulness were all part of yesterday's recreations in the city. Probably the royal and ancient game attracted most devotees. On the links of the Hunt club, the Highland Park club, and on the municipal land at Springbank, swingers of the driver, and pushers of the putter were in evidence.

Start Regular Rounds. Saddle horses and hunters started on their regular Sunday rounds along the roads outside the city. From now on it will be part of their training. It will also do something to keep their owners and riders in condition.

The winter has been kind to the grass, and the greens on the golf courses have come out very well this year. Sunday golf is finding its way to popularity in Ontario and copying the European ideas in this respect. There were plenty of clubhouses and municipal courses alone accounted for about sixty.

But this was only the inward spirit of spring. Londoners, generally, achieved a kind of spring-cum-sport attire, which defied the colors of nature and the heat of the sun.

Latest in Spring Hats. Morning church saw the last word in spring hats; afternoon tea, the last word in frocks, and golf, the latest suggestion in plus fours and checked tweeds. The birds sang in the trees during daylight, and the debutantes in the evening by the firelight. That is, a few did. Most of them preferred to let the radio do the singing.

Spring flowers are ahead of time this season. Crocuses, and snowdrops are showing their blossoms in many gardens, and if this weather continues it is probable that tulips will be through by the end of the week.

But although the temperature was higher this year than last it was also lower. On Sunday night there was almost four degrees of frost, whereas in 1924 the lowest figure was 23 for April 5. The few early birds on Saturday and Sunday mornings realized that Jack Frost had not yet followed the cease.

MAN KILLS SELF. Canadian Press Despatch. Medicine Hat, Alta., April 6.—John Brooks, owner of the Riverside Nurseries, committed suicide Saturday. He used a shot gun, and died instantly.

"Vanity Cases Used 3000 B.C."

SCIENTIFIC excavations in the ancient city of Kish, so we are told by a news despatch, show that women carried vanity cases forty-nine centuries ago. Why did not the luxuries of that old civilization spread to the rest of the world? Why were the delicate and pleasure-bringing things of life buried and hidden away for so many years?

Without the printed word, information could hardly be spread to other countries, and the knowledge of events and things could scarcely be preserved. Today, if a better rug is produced in Kurdistan, it is soon advertised for sale in Canadian newspapers. If a better necklace is made in China, a printed advertisement will shortly describe it and quote the price on the other side of the globe.

Advertising publishes the secrets of good things from one end of Canada to the other. The newest and best products of nine provinces are told about, fully and truthfully, wherever the public press is read.

Read the advertisements and you keep from being buried like Kish.

Advertisements tell you what is best to buy—where to get it and what to pay for it.

Surgeons Stop Italian Duel

Rome, April 6.—Following their scuffle in the Italian chamber on Thursday, the Fascist deputy, Bottai, and ex-commandant Deputy Viola fought a duel with swords Saturday. The encounter ended upon surgeon's orders after the second passage, in which the Fascist duellist was wounded in the forearm.

MOVE TO REDUCE CITY HALL STAFF

Building Inspector Appointment Heralds Smaller Personnel.

A move to reduce the permanent staff of city hall employees, in the interests of economy, will be made in the city council tonight, when the matter of the appointment of a building inspector is brought in.

Four names will come before the council and from these men an inspector will be chosen. Ald. L. H. Douglass, M.D., will move to have E. K. O'Connor, acting inspector, appointed to the position and dispense with the need for an assistant inspector.

According to Ald. Douglass, the position can be handled fairly well by one man, and if need be, the inspector could secure assistance from other members of the city engineer's department.

It is pointed out that Mr. O'Connor has been employed in the city engineer's department for ten years, and the inspector may at any time secure assistance through Engineer No. 1, Ald. Douglass believes that the position can be handled by one man and that Acting Inspector O'Connor can handle the position.

Four names have been sent on to the council by No. 1 committee. One is Mr. O'Connor. Others are A. M. Piper, former inspector; William H. Hawkins, of 341 Emery street, an applicant with architectural, surveying and construction experience, and T. C. McBride, of 135 Dundas street, an applicant whose qualifications are given in the same lines as Mr. Hawkins. Mr. McBride superintended the building of Pine Lawn houses for the London housing commission four years ago, when the applicant was in the employ of his father.

WILL NOT FORCE AIKEN TO QUIT

Council Members Believe Fire Chief Can Stay as Long as He Likes.

Fire Chief John Aiken will remain in office until he voluntarily retires, according to council opinions given today. The veteran chief will not be forced to quit.

Storm of protest over the mayor's move to dislodge the chief has grown to outstanding proportions, and the council chamber will tonight be crowded with citizens interested in the chief's case.

Not more than five members of the council will vote to demand the chief's resignation, judging from information of general forecast on the outcome, was ventured today.

Unless a move is made to ask the chief to resign on the understanding that he is to receive a better salary in addition to his superannuation allowance, there is not much chance of any immediate progress in the "move to reduce" the city hall staff.

The council will uphold the chief tonight, with probably five members of No. 2 committee, and three of No. 1 committee voting against the mayor.

At the same time the incident cannot remain closed, as the mayor insists that the department "must be made efficient." Today his worship pointed proudly to his record in "cleaning up" the assessment, tax, license, relief, building and engineer's departments, and for improved conditions at Victoria hospital.

It must be admitted that conditions are generally away better than before these recommendations were made," emphasized Mr. Wenige. "I'm not prepared to say what I'll do about the fire department, though."

L. S. R. ACTION IS SEEN WITHIN TWO WEEKS

Matter Is Now in Hands of Solicitor, Reminds Ald. McKay.

Beyond a forecast that "there will be definite action within two weeks," Ald. Frank McKay, chairman of No. 1 committee, offered no new light on the street railway tangle today. Just what action will be taken is not suggested by the finance chief.

"The matter is in the solicitor's hands altogether," Ald. McKay says. "He has attached to the case a 10-day period to abide by the orders of the council. That was reasonable enough. It is now up to him to take what action he deems advisable."

The street railway matter will not be up in the council tonight unless impatient aldermen introduce queries.

ROBINSON MEMORIAL M. C.

The regular monthly meeting of the Robinson Memorial mission circle was held recently at the home of Mrs. McVicar, Patricia street. Mrs. K. P. R. Neville, the first vice-president, presided. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. H. W. Paddell. Miss Hawkins and Miss Hazel Franklin. A piano selection was rendered by Miss Guest, and vocal duets were given by Mrs. H. W. Spearman and Mrs. E. W. Jenkins.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Herbert Childs, who brought the members an inspiring Easter message. After the meeting a social half hour was much enjoyed by those present.

W. J. KELLY LAUDS ROTARIANS' WORK

Children's Aid Inspector Lauds Attitude Toward Unwanted Children.

Walter J. Kelly, inspector of the children's aid society for London and Middlesex, told the Rotary club here today that there was sufficient work in this district to keep three men busy if the work was to be properly done.

Mr. Kelly was the speaker of the day to the club, and took the work of the society as his subject. He especially stressed the danger to the community from the unwanted and uncared for child, and declared that only such work as the society was doing would prevent a very serious menace to society from these children.

"By taking care of these unwanted children we are able to remove a real danger to the community," he said. "After all, the criminal is only the end result of the child in a day, brought up in bad surroundings. When the society can remove these disabilities it does a good service, and to the city."

Then the feeble-minded mother is a great source of work to us. There are people quite willing to find a home for an unwanted child, but they do not find these poor mites in the city whose mothers are scattered all over the province. Not long ago I had a case where the child came from Windsor. It was being taken care of by a London woman for a consideration. This is the kind of case that gives us a great deal of work."

Mr. Kelly thanked the members for their help in many cases. In particular he thanked the medical men in the club for their practical aid.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Kelly presented the club with a rotary wheel which he said his son, Alfred Grant, in accepting the wheel for the club said he would hold it up as an example for a hobby for his members, and suggested that perhaps a hobby for adults might be another development of Rotarian activities in the near future.

HAS HONOR OF PAYING FIRST SPEEDING FINE

John Knott of Niseworth has the honor of paying the first fine for speeding in the Middlesex court this year.

Mr. Knott's son maintained a speed of 40 miles an hour on the Hamilton road Sunday morning, according to High Constable Wharton, who paced the young man for over half a mile. Knott said he told his son to be a careful driver and that he was the choice of the neighbors when they wanted someone to drive them carefully. The fine was $10, plus costs of $4.75.

AITKEN STILL BELIEVES FIRE WAS INCENDIARY

Investigation today by Fire Chief John Aiken of a fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, which last night destroyed an unoccupied frame structure at the corner of Argyle and St. Patrick streets, failed to reveal the manner in which the blaze originated. Chief Aiken is convinced, however, that the house was set on fire by persons who regarded it as a "revenger."

Another small frame house, burned several weeks ago, was believed to have been set on fire by a firebug. Chief Aiken sees no connection between the two blazes, however. "The house on Argyle street was only a shack, dirty and broken down. We have reason to think that it was started because of its ugly and dirty appearance."

Team Rescues Dull Show, But Big "Flop" Costs $300

Mitchell and Cummings Are Resourceful, But Court Says "More Seasoning."

BOTH 49 YEARS

Three Officer Critics Take Dislike to Rehearsal on Tipperary Flats.

The week-end show in Magistrate Graydon's court this morning would have been a dull affair but for the resourcefulness of Mitchell and Cummings, a promising pair of entertainers, who won the favor of the gallery through a series of cleverly planned stunts.

In private life, Mitchell is called Frank, and makes his headquarters at 148 Fullarton street. Cummings' Christian name is John, and he resides further down the line at 615 Fullarton street.

Both are well-built, showed striking stage personalities and teamed admirably, but to their misfortune, caught the managing in a dangerously critical mood, and when their act had been officially termed a "flop" were assessed a total of $300 or six months in jail or further seasoning. The chance to return to school was accepted.

Constables Knight, Ayres and Miles witnessed the dress rehearsal staged on Tipperary Flats in North London Sunday noon, and decided that the act was faulty and needed court revisions. The woodland setting was not disturbed by the chief property piece, a partly-filled bottle of diluted alcohol, was brought along as evidence of a lack of continuity in the show.

Watched Rehearsal. The trio of critics watched the rehearsal from a convenient vantage point. They saw Mitchell pick up the bottle, and hand it to Cummings, who shook it and drank thereof. When the stage was rushed, Mitchell was sitting on the bottle, which had been discolored with sherry and was a "flop."

Mitchell, who has been in "big time" for awhile back, having been convicted no less than ten times in the past five years on O. T. A. and similar charges, vigorously denied his latest escapade. He hadn't had a drink in five weeks, he said, though four officers swayed him in a chair, and he was "strongly" advised to accept a suspended sentence for theft.

Mixing his lines when he took the stand, Cummings admitted that Mitchell handed him the bottle, but he only smelled the contents and did not taste. He backed up his testimony in the claim that he found the bottle on Thursday night in the course of a Sunday ramble.

The court yanked the curtain, and found Mitchell guilty of having liquor in other than a private dwelling, and convicted Cummings for drinking in a public place. Mitchell was fined $200 and the latter $100.

That his home is but a "hell on earth," and the unchristianlike actions of his family had driven him to drink, was a plea which was rejected. He was fined $10, plus costs of $4.75.

AITKEN STILL BELIEVES FIRE WAS INCENDIARY. Investigation today by Fire Chief John Aiken of a fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, which last night destroyed an unoccupied frame structure at the corner of Argyle and St. Patrick streets, failed to reveal the manner in which the blaze originated. Chief Aiken is convinced, however, that the house was set on fire by persons who regarded it as a "revenger."

Another small frame house, burned several weeks ago, was believed to have been set on fire by a firebug. Chief Aiken sees no connection between the two blazes, however. "The house on Argyle street was only a shack, dirty and broken down. We have reason to think that it was started because of its ugly and dirty appearance."

MINISTER TELLS MIRACLE VIEWS

Rev. R. J. Murphy, pastor of Wortley Road Baptist church, believes in present-day miracles to the extent that "if it is God's will to heal the body he can do so."

Mr. Murphy asserts that any and every manifestation of divine power is a miracle and that the greatest of all miracles is the greater than any healing of the soul.

The Baptist pastor stated that on a Saturday evening during his pastorate in New York, he was called in by a family to pray on behalf of their mother, who was unconscious and for whom hope had been given up by the doctor. Her frail body had been almost unable to withstand the shock of the death of her husband a few days previously.

GOTHAM DOCTOR SUES LONDONERS

Mrs. Daisy Fitzgerald and Son and Daughter Named in Charges.

$50,000 IS SOUGHT

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, April 5.—Mrs. Daisy Fitzgerald, her son Frederick and her daughter Pauline of 290 King street, London, Ontario, are accused of having conspired to ruin the domestic happiness of Dr. Russell G. MacRobert, wealthy New York physician, and his wife, Mona Fitzgerald MacRobert. The charges are contained in a summons and complaint in alienation of affections action filed by Dr. MacRobert here.

The supreme court is asked to grant Dr. MacRobert judgment for $50,000 against Mrs. Fitzgerald and her two children. The complaint states that Dr. MacRobert and Mona Fitzgerald were married in London, July 1, 1915, within three years of the war period, while the MacRobert family had been in Canada since 1914.

During the following 20 months, he says, Mrs. Fitzgerald resided in a general store in New York, London, Lake Huron Beach, Sarnia and elsewhere, "wifely, wickedly and maliciously" made representations concerning her doctor to her wife, to induce her to leave him and sue for a separation.

He charges the plan succeeded, and he has lost his wife's affection and love, and has been injured in his practice because of this.

Mrs. MacRobert, who is living temporarily in Larchmont, has filed a separation action, in which she cruelly and failed to support her $1,500 monthly fees.

SPRING SEEDING WELL UNDER WAY

Farmers of Middlesex Report That Weather Conditions Ideal.

Seeding operations in Middlesex are well under way today, R. A. Finn of the department of agriculture stated this morning.

"Farmers are on the land a week earlier than last year," said Mr. Finn, "and if the present weather conditions hold, most of seeding will be finished in three weeks."

"Last year, if you will remember, a few farmers drilled in oats at this time. Wet weather set in and most of the field crops were lost. Conditions, however, are quite favorable this year, and we look for splendid crops."

Mr. Finn stated that Middlesex farmers were preparing to plow the corn ground instead of the usual disking.

"This will be done as a preventive measure against the corn borer," declared the agricultural expert. "There are 10,000 farms in Middlesex and corn is grown on at least 7,000 of them."

"Setting the average acreage at five, it means that the county grows 25,000 acres of corn annually. It is that this will mean a lot of extra plowing. Last fall was dry and the farmers as a rule did not complete six months in fall or further seasoning. The chance to return to school was accepted."

Constables Knight, Ayres and Miles witnessed the dress rehearsal staged on Tipperary Flats in North London Sunday noon, and decided that the act was faulty and needed court revisions. Twenty-four years ago, Mr. Glass sent the American Pottery in Canada, and in the same year became associated with the Confederation Life Assurance Company. Four years later he became district manager for Western Ontario, and soon afterwards formed a partnership.

Active in City. Mr. Glass had the distinction of being a former director of the London and Port Stanley railway board, the Western Fair association, the Western Ontario commercial travellers' association, and the London poultry association.

In 1917 he organized the Canadian flax growers' association in this city, and led a campaign for government assistance, as a result of which the number of mills producing flax fibre in Ontario increased from 15 in 1914 to 25 in 1917. The flax acreage increased from less than 2,000 acres in 1914 to more than 25,000 acres in 1917.

MONDAY, APRIL 6, 1925.

There Is No Middle Course.

The government has taken a very fair course in moving for the investigation of the charges of a shipping combine. The committee named is representative of all the groups in the Commons, a place being made as well for a member from the section that has departed from the Progressives. The government has received nothing but the most uncompromising opposition from the Conservative party and press in connection with this affair, and the chances are that having set out on that course they will steer true to it all through.

Mr. Preston, in reporting the existence of a shipping combine for the purpose of arranging rates, did not stumble across anything new. During the time the Conservatives were in power their own investigators told them of the same thing, and it was agreed that action to clean up the situation would be a very good thing, but that action was not taken.

The committee appointed by the Ontario legislature to investigate agricultural conditions came across the same trail. On pages 30-31 of its report, just published, is extended reference to the effect of ocean-carrying charges on shipments of beef cattle from Ontario to Britain. In one place this report says: "Ocean rates held down export trade to Britain. . . . This committee has followed shipments from Western Ontario to England conducted by men experienced in the cattle trade, and the results show that as many were unprofitable as profitable."

The same committee, appointed by the Ferguson government in this province, goes farther in its findings and says: "Mr. Shambert of New York is the chief buyer for export. Mr. Shambert's agents are in the union stockyards at Toronto; in the office of the International Mercantile Marine at No. 1 Broadway, N.Y., and at British ports. The committee satisfied itself that the usefulness of the Canadian government merchant marine is limited by the North Atlantic freight conference. It came to the conclusion that with his widespread power and influence Mr. Shambert controls the profits of Ontario cattle raisers."

That is the condition found to exist, and the dominion government can do one of two things: (1) Leave it alone, and allow the cattle trade and other lines of business to be throttled out of existence, or (2) have the courage to go ahead and fight the thing to a finish.

There is another decision to be made, and that is by the Conservative opposition. Mr. Meighen has the word of a committee of the Ferguson government that the beef cattle industry in Ontario is being smothered because of outside influences, and he and his party will have to make up their minds about the course they will follow. So far their contribution has been a recital of reasons why there should be no action; they have spoken their pieces as well as the press agents of the shipping companies could have done, and when that was finished they have turned again to the defamation of W. T. R. Preston's record. As a result, the Ontario shipper is just where he was before.

The opposition at Ottawa is in the same position as the government—it can do one of two things: fight for the combine or fight against it. It will have to make up its mind quickly if it intends to change its tactics, for up to date it has not made a move that is for the betterment of the Ontario cattle raiser in his efforts to ship to the British market and make a living out of the business.

A Dangerous Practice.

In spite of the experience of other years, there has been no cessation in the number of grass fires started in various parts of the city. On Saturday afternoon, when there was a strong wind blowing, the fire department responded to a call for a fire that was burning between Regent and Huron streets on St. George, and for a time there was the chance of several buildings becoming ignited. The strong winds drove the flames through the dry grass almost as it would a prairie fire.

These fires are generally blamed on boys, and there is hardly a boy in London today who could have escaped all the warnings and lessons that have been taught by the various campaigns carried on showing the danger of fire. The way to carry on a campaign against such practices is to conduct it in the woodshed.

Overdoing the Thing.

An article that appeared in "Howe's Monthly" regarding staying home or going out for most of the night has attracted some attention. In part it says:

"A man came to our town to accept a responsible position. He succeeded a good man, and has an ambition to do equally good work, so he pays a lot of attention to his job. He is young, and has a young and good-looking wife. They are invited everywhere, but the husband won't go much; he knows he needs his nights for getting ready for next day's annoyances. . . . And the women. I regret to say, criticize this man a good deal. . . . Criticize him! They should cheer him from the house-tops. . . . I am glad to add that his wife stands by him."

It is not necessary to fill in the names to complete that story, for the case can be duplicated in almost any community. A young man in a good position, accompanied by an attractive wife—when they come to town the invitations follow. There are all manner and number of homes opened to them, and it is a very easy matter for them to plunge into the round of social engagements, many of them meaningless and trifling.

The trouble is that entertaining in general is carried on too extensively and too expensively. It is not simply a matter of gathering in a few friends for an evening, but it takes on the form of squaring accounts with all those who have asked you to partake of their hospitality. It is a giant system that has been built up to take the place of the friendly, informal calls that used to take place between neighbors, when friends "dropped in" now and then because they wanted to, and did not feel that it was necessary to send warning in advance or to receive a special invitation to come at a certain time and dress formally or informally, according to the directions.

That young man referred to in Howe's is no difference from many another. He could not possibly stay out two or three nights a week until two or three o'clock in the morning and then be fit and clear for his work the following day. If more people would take the same stand they would close up evening parties at a reasonable hour. The trouble is that the average person is afraid to do what the young man did in this case did—run his own house and hours to suit his own case. The average person, for fear of offending a certain clique, becomes a slave to it.

Cut Down the Membership.

Ontario legislature is working on the question of redistribution, and forecasts indicate that it is the intention of the government to wipe out a number of rural constituencies and give greater representation to the cities.

The government has an opportunity before it now to make a definite move toward greater simplicity in matters of administration in Ontario. The Ontario legislature is like the federal parliament, and like all the legislatures of the other provinces in Canada, too large. The larger they become the tendency increases to make them more expensive without rendering any more necessary service.

Representation by population is the basis on which ridings are supposed to be made, but it is in theory only, because this basis has never been adhered to, and it probably never will. Ontario could get along just as well with a legislature of 50 as with one of 111 members, and other provinces could do the same. The difficulty in making a change is to get any government that will take the lead in such a movement, because to do so would be an unpopular thing with the organization that directs the affairs of any political party, but right now, when there is such pressing need for less cost and more simplicity in matters of government, seems an opportune time to consider the problem.

London used to have a council of 28 members; today it has 12, and last voting day the people decided they could get along with eight, and the committee of the legislature has given its approval to the idea. This should be an object lesson to the legislature of Ontario. Each section of the province could be given a fair voice in the conduct of public business with half the membership of the present body.

Put It Up On View.

Toronto courts are asked to annul a marriage that took place in that city recently. In the evidence of the man it was stated he was so drunk he could scarcely repeat the words he was required to answer, and he could not at the time recall the bride's name. The bride of 17 years said that before the ceremony she had several drinks of whiskey.

The minister of the gospel who performed the ceremony—and there is no law in the land to compel him to do so—said he did not think the girl was drunk, but admitted he could smell liquor on the groom.

This leads the Woodstock Sentinel-Review to point out that this took place right in Canada, where we are apt to spend much time in pointing to marital conditions as they exist across the line.

People often say newspapers devote too much space to accounts of sensational news, and it is a fair question to ask if a case of this sort should be suppressed in the papers or given full publicity. The answer is that it should be given publicity in order that it may be put up where the people can look at it, and note that it is something that took place in Canada. To do otherwise would simply be staking a claim in a fool's paradise.

Note and Comment.

Well, so far no person has brought out an automatic saxophone.

Extravagance is aptly described as wearing chin whiskers and a necktie too.

The Buffalo Post remarks that as Niagara Falls is 4,000 years old it must no longer be referred to as "she."

The bride who almost fainted when she cleaned the Christmas turkey is now trying her hand on the spring run of suckers.

The claim is made that the country needs big men to conduct its affairs. Quite right, but it also needs some representatives who still regard $1,000 as a lot of money.

Reporters will not be allowed in the jail when Peter Smith and Charles Matthews are being questioned. They might be recognized, and the coop's fairly well crowded with bankers now.

A school for physical exercise claims that it can make even an old man so that he can run and jump. That school will fail in a month, because the automobile has a monopoly in that business.

The East London Liberal association made an auspicious start on its opening night. There can be no mistake about the value of such an organization, particularly if it features a careful study of politics. No country has ever suffered from too great an interest in politics. The danger comes when large groups of people decide to leave them alone.

Bein' Fire Chief

Wherein we view the fickle fame that loses often as it wins, and how I'd hate to be about when they heave brickbats at my shins.

London city council is divided on the question of asking the fire chief for his resignation.

I'd often think when I was young I'd like to run a fire hall crew, and wear a uniform about and tell the firemen what to do. To go a-dashin' down the street and ride upon a screechin' car, and toot the horn at every turn a-lettin' folks know who you are.

To meet the folks upon the street when I be out upon parade, and have them bowin' unto me whose running on the fire brigade.

I've wanted many times to be a chief when fire breaks out in town, when chances look as though ten blocks be likely to be burnin' down. Right there I'd be a-hollerin' out before a great admirin' throng, directin' how to do the work and where to squirt the water on.

For then I know the village folks who would be standin' helpless by, would say as how the chief he be a brave and reckless sort of guy.

I'd stick a ladder on a wall and climb unto a window there, and in my strong and trusted arm I'd save a maiden young and fair. For when I plunked her on the ground and saved her from the fiery wreck, they'd toss their duets in the hat and bind a medal to my neck.

And when the fire was all put out and we had put the hose to dry, I'd call the firemen to my den and look them kindly in the eye—I'd tell 'em how their work today had saved from burnin' up ten blocks, how they had best be restin' now and bale the water from their socks.

The papers they would call on me and have my picture took for them, describin' how I saved a life a-fightin' with my merry men.

But after lookin' round a spell at how the council's in a knot, I'm not so sure if bein' a chief would be a jolly job or not. I don't be thinkin' how I'd like to have them layin' on the rod, and hearin' how the mayor he say how I be layin' off my job.

Such things would ruffle up my hide and prey upon my peace of mind, they'd make me belch out brimstone too, a-sayin' things that be unkind.

The medal that the folks give me for bein' a brave and reckless man, I'd strip it out from off my neck and heave it in the garbage can.

So after viewin' all these things and notin' how fame fades and melts, I'll stay a humble sort of fad and earn my salt at something else.—ARK.

Heading For the Old Bar.

Delaware Reader Says If Ontario Does Not Watch Out That is Where Ferguson Policy Will Land Them.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I have been reading all about the temperance question and the 44 per cent beer, and I think of all the autocratic legislation that has ever been put through, this has them all beat. The electors have voted on the temperance question three times now and carried it, and then to have Premier Ferguson force a thing like this on the people, I think it is the biggest piece of imposition that has ever been forced on us and if the electors of this province don't throw that bunch out of office in the next election they are soft.

We have hundreds of church members and preachers that voted for this man Ferguson, although he didn't promise them anything, nor didn't commit himself in any way. I think our province has gone back 25 years on the liquor question and the first thing we know we will have the old bar system again.

Delaware, April 1.

Charity Starts At Home.

Reader Suspects That Premier's Idea For Increasing Pay of Members Is To Make Hay While the Sun Shines.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Premier Ferguson's latest move seems to have taken the form of relieving causes of worry. This, no doubt, is all right as far as it goes, but it might have taken a better and more charitable form. The premier's excuse for raising all the ministers' salaries is "That they must not be worried," as they make so many sacrifices.

It is a question which has occurred to many of late, "What is the use of these ministers at all?" The people go out to vote as they did on Oct. 23, 1924, and the premier and his followers set themselves to upset what the people voted for.

No doubt a lot of their worry is caused by personating Mr. Facing-Both-Ways (as per "Pillgrim's Progress") instead of conscientiously trying to enforce the laws of the people.

Premier Ferguson should interest himself in the rural mail carriers, who have to tender so low that they cannot possibly make both ends meet, and underpaid bank clerks, and many others too numerous to mention, but this tends to show if everyone could raise his or her salary two or three thousand per annum it would certainly assuage a lot of worry, but we cannot all do what Premier Ferguson does.

It is a case of charity beginning at home and ending there with that honorable gentleman. Moreover, it may have occurred to him that the people of Ontario might possibly like to elect men of their word and that it might be wise to make hay while the sun shines.

A SUBSCRIBER.

A young man who went to Detroit six months ago, believing he could secure good wages, writes to his home in London saying the wages are all right, but the work is irregular. "Four young men in this house figure that in the last six months they have averaged $16 a week, and it costs that much to live!"

RIDGETOWN COUNCIL HAS HEATED SESSION

Finally Decide To Use Oil Instead of Calcium Chloride On Roads.

Special To The Advertiser.

Ridgetown, April 5.—The council held a heated session on Friday evening, with all members present. A motion regarding the paving of Main street east was placed on file. A letter from Mr. Reek was read concerning a new road leading to the Experimental farm. It was felt that all possible aid should be given.

After a hot discussion about the use of calcium chloride or oil for the dirt roads, it was decided to use oil this year.

Dr. Irwin, the scoutmaster, addressed the council in regards the grant of a plot of land for a headquarters and reforestation. It was decided

MOST of the present-day ills are traceable to faulty diet—to the failure of the body to receive proper nourishment from its food. Too much is eaten today of foods which are difficult for the body to handle; foods which are never properly digested and absorbed, and consequently remain in the body to produce harmful acids and poisons.

If you would get the most from life, if you would keep yourself strong and vigorous, be careful that you give your body sufficient nourishment in a form it can easily digest. A plentiful supply of easily assimilated carbohydrates is most essential.

Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat and malted barley. Three-fourths of Grape-Nuts are these precious carbohydrates. Long, slow baking has turned them into dextrins—a form that yields every ounce of their nourishment to your body quickly and easily!

Serve Grape-Nuts often with milk or cream. You're sure to like its novel, nut-like flavor and its crisp "crunchiness". Grape-Nuts is ready to eat right from the wax-wrapped package. Costs very little, too—four teaspoonsful, sufficient for each serving, costs less than one cent. Ask your grocer for it.

Local Druggists Have Modern Remedy for Colds

A Vaporizing Salve which is Rubbed Over Throat and Chest for Colds.

When Vicks VapoRub, the "external" method of treating sore throat, bronchitis, deep chest colds, or croup, is applied over throat or chest, the ingredients are released as vapors by the body heat.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath carry the medication directly to the affected air passages, loosening the phlegm and relieving the congestion.

At the same time Vicks acts as a counter-irritant, stimulating the skin, and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the inflammation.

Colds are usually relieved over night.

NASH MOTORS GOES UP 50 IN A WEEK

Today's Advance of 20½ Points Due to Dividend Plans.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, April 6.—Bullish enthusiasm was engendered by a forecast of repurchase plans and higher dividends and prices moved forward with renewed vigor. With Nash Motors directed action on Wednesday, spirited bidding developed for the stock, which shot up 20½ points to a record high price of 240, a gain of more than 50 points in the last week. J. P. Morgan & Co. extended to repurchase 100,000 shares, and Associated Dry Goods responded with a similar plan to repurchase the stock which was split up on a four to one basis.

United Fruit, U. S. East India, L. J. Mackay, U. S. East India, and Kelly-Springfield Tire 8 per cent preferred, moved up 3 to 5 points, while Atlantic Refining, Pressed Steel Car and Foundation Company sold 2 to 3 points up.

Call money renewed at 3½ per cent.

Market Sidelights

PAINTS AND WALLPAPERS. The paint trade started active this year, production so far being about 25 per cent above that for the same period of 1924. With the majority of factories now operating at capacity, according to reports to Dun & Bradstreet, while there is some talk at present, the general volume of sales is about 10 per cent ahead of the total for the first quarter last year. Demand is well distributed. Allied lines, such as glass, brushes and turpentine, are selling well.

There has been several price changes since last fall. An advance of about 10 per cent was made in ready-mixed paints in January, due to the sharp increase in oils and pigments. Linseed oil has declined a little since then, but the lead is also easier. Varnishes have been fairly steady in price, but turpentine has advanced rather sharply since November.

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.
Toronto, April 5.—One change has taken place in the personnel of the sub-committee appointed yesterday to go to Kingston penitentiary and examine, amid deep secrecy, on Monday, Peter Smith and Charles Matthews in connection with the alleged "toll gate," said to have existed at Parliament Buildings prior to the advent of Farmer-Labor government to office in 1919. Hon. W. E. Raney will take the place of Col. Carmichael as Progressive representative on the committee. W. E. Sinclair, Liberal leader, is already a member.
T. Herbert Lennox is the counsel representing Peter Smith, and it is stated that either Seymour Corley, K.C., or H. Goggin will act on behalf of Matthews.

Miami, Fla., April 5.—Bodies of three victims of the wind and hail storm near here this afternoon are in Miami undertakers parlors. They are a man named Sullivan, a Mrs. Scholtz and a boy. Twenty-four injured in the storm are in Miami hospitals.

The storm formed near Hialeah, a few miles from Miami, and struck with greatest force at the White Belt Dairy, wrecking homes and buildings and doing damage estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000. It continued in a northeasterly direction and passed out to sea about 15 miles northeast of here.

Reports reaching Miami say that rain and hail storms were felt along the east coast of Florida this afternoon from Homestead, 20 miles south of Miami, to Fort Lauderdale, 25 miles north of here.

Large hailstones were reported along the southern fringe of the storm's path. Some were solid ice, clear as crystals.
In the path of the storm houses were unroofed and debris carried to a height of several hundred feet. The noise of the storm was terrific.

Thousands of automobiles choked roads to the scene of the greatest damage. A number of accidents and collisions were reported. One ambulance was wrecked in Miami.

LEGISLATURE MAY CLOSE THIS WEEK

Premier Ferguson Still Confident Session Will End Saturday.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 4.—Premier G. H. Ferguson this morning was still confident that the second session of the sixteenth parliament of Ontario can conclude its public business this week if the committees get down to business and nothing of an unusual character takes place in the house.

If the house is to close this week the six days will be jammed with work and there is more than a strong possibility that there will be night sessions both for house and committee.
"I think we can get through this week, but I am not insistent about it," stated Premier Ferguson discussing the situation this morning. "If there is any valid reason why the legislature should not complete its duties this week we will stay in session. There is no real reason why we should not finish if we have the co-operation of leaders of the opposition groups," he added.
"What about the church union debate?" he was asked.
"There will naturally be some discussion on the question," replied the premier, "but the House will not

Prisoners Blamed As Liquor Disappears By Ceiling Route

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Reporter.
Sarnia, April 5.—Jail apparently was a bed of roses to Henry Quinn, an inmate of the Lambton institution.

The story was disclosed Saturday in a charge of theft of liquor preferred against Quinn. During the last month or so about 42 bottles of gin, 2 bottles of whiskey and considerable beer, which was kept at the jail under seizure, had been consumed.
Entrance to the cell block, in which the liquor was stored, was gained through the ceiling, and considerable ingenuity was evidenced in the process. Boards were removed from the ceiling sufficient to allow a man to descend from the room above, and after the return journey from the liquor den the boards were replaced and held in place by door buttons. Efforts had even been made to replace the dust.

doubt accept the bill. It is the result of weeks of effort by a joint committee representing the union and anti-unionists, and afterwards a sub-committee of the private bills committee.
"It is such an intricate problem that I do not think the House could hope to improve what has already had so much consideration," said the premier.

TAX EXEMPTION ASKED FOR GIFTS TO CHARITY

Toronto Deputation Requests This When Such Do Not Exceed 15% of Income.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 5.—Representing the federation for community service, Hon. W. A. Charlton, Ralph Constable and Harry Lowe, waited on the statute revision commission this morning and urged upon the commission an amendment to the income tax act, which would provide that exemption be granted for charitable bequests made when the total amount so given did not exceed 15 per cent of the total income.
The commission promised to take the suggestion under consideration when the various assessment acts are under consideration.

legislation. A. J. Benoit, Liberal member for St. John and Iqbalville, will move in the Commons shortly. Mr. Benoit submits that the change in standard time was tried out as a war measure to save artificial light, and he does not find that this aim has been attained. Economic and domestic disturbances have resulted from tampering with standard time. He thinks and asks the House to join with him in demanding federal legislation to maintain the standard hour throughout Canada "as long as the astronomical position and the various movements of our planet in relation to the sun do not otherwise justify a change."

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, April 4.—Mr. and Mrs.

LEAMINGTON GIRL HED FOR MURDER

Edna Brown Remanded To Jail
For Week Following Preliminary Hearing.

Special to The Advertiser.
Ridgeway, April 5.—Edna Brown of Leamington is held on a charge of murder, following the finding of the body of her year-old babe in a culvert not far from here. It is alleged that she strangled the infant and then hid the body in the culvert, where it was found after she had been closely cross-examined by police officials investigating her story that an unknown motorist had caused the death of the child. Preliminary hearing was held in Chatham on Saturday and she was remanded to jail for a week.

The remains of the infant were interred in Greenwood cemetery on Saturday, and the mother is in Kent county jail in Chatham.

Coroner Dr. D. Marr has opened an inquest, which has been adjourned until Wednesday afternoon next in the town hall here. Members of the coroner's jury are: J. R. Serson, William Rhody, W. Harrison, W.
Cudmore, J. T. Smith, Edward Smith,
William Miller, Hugh Hayes, W. A.
Walters, W. J. Campbell, J. H. Wilson and A. Early.

Blames Stranger.

On Friday last, the girl arrived at the home of Mrs. Humble, where she told a story of having been given a ride by an unknown motorist in a coupe. She said that this motorist had strangled the child, and then cut his throat. Mrs. Humble sent the girl to see Chief Tye, who, when he heard the story, sent for Provincial Officer Lowe at Chatham. The girl was subjected to a severe grilling, under which she is said to have admitted that her story was not correct, and that she was responsible for the death of the child. She was immediately taken into custody and then directed the officers to the hiding place of the body.

Walter Brown and family came here from New York state some years ago, and recently moved to the Leamington district. It is alleged that the girl was told by her mother that she could not remain at home with the babe, and that the girl came to Ridgeway on Wednesday last and went to the home of Mrs. William Finch of the Thameville side road, about three miles from town. From the girl was married while she was

LIQUID PAINT

The reason for the superior covering, hiding properties, and durability of Lowe
Brothers "High Standard" Products, is to be found in the purity of the lead, oil and other ingredients used;
the care exercised in their manufacture, and the fineness to which they are ground by very powerful machinery. They give a beautiful, protective finish which lasts for years.

Today I saw

Most frocks have a charm that even the best of cunninglycontrived showcases won't reveal! A slim line of beauty. A graceful drape.

So I've been watching with interest all the pretty costumes the model has been wearing these past few days.

Many of them I'd noticed before —and it was a pleasurable little surprise to find that a gown I'd particularly admired was even prettier than I had believed it to be!

I'm sure in your shopping you have seen the slender, lissom young person, who wears smart things so cleverly (and who usually has a price ticket draped obviously over one slim, white cravat!)

Perhaps you will see her on Fourth Floor in soft summer tub silks. Or a short time later on the Second Floor, wearing beaded afternoon garb, and chic black hat with equal grace.

Make a point of watching her during your selection of new things for Easter. It's a little fashion panorama that you will enjoy.

DECISION IS REACHED TO PAVE WESTWARD INTO TILLSONBURG

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, April 5.—The council chamber was filled to capacity with local ratepayers and representatives of district municipalities to greet S.
L. Squire, deputy minister of highways, and hear his contention in regard to the western entrance of the southern highway into town. Mayor Hollier occupied the chair, and explained the meeting was the result of a local delegation to Toronto a few weeks ago.

Mr. Squire gave a brief outline of several proposed surveys, and then asked for the opinion of the meeting.
The matter had simmered down to two proposed routes out of seven surveyed, namely, the John Pound road and Baldwin street. Several ratepayers and councillors gave their views, as did several outside representatives, and they were all unanimous for the John Pound road. The estimated cost for Baldwin street was $65,000, and the other route $45,- 000, and complying with the general opinion of the meeting, Mr. Squire promised their wishes would be conveyed to Hon. G. S. Henry, and tenders were now being advertised for 1½ miles of concrete road, connecting the eastern entrance into the town.

Previous to the meeting, Mr.
Squire was the guest of the Lions club at their regular luncheon in the

A Few Simple Hints on Electric Ranges

ELECTRIC cooking possesses such definite advantages that every woman now wants an electric range. More Moffat Electric Ranges are sold than any other make, because they have so many exclusive and superior features. A woman cooking on a Moffat Electric, for instance, finds that:—

- A Moffat has a marvelous oven.
It roasts meat and fowl with very little shrinkage of meat, which preserves all the juiciness, flavors and tenderness.
- This oven requires very little attention. Does 99% of the work itself. Will cook a whole meal while you go shopping or to Church.
- Has a mercury thermometer on the oven door to tell the oven heat.
- The range top elements heat up with great speed. Will bring food to the boil faster than any other element.
- These wonderful elements, under average conditions, will last for from seven to ten years.

- The range top is "electra" porcelain enameled and made all in one piece, as smooth as a table top.
- It is the cleanest range made. No corners or crevices for dirt or spilled food to hide in. You can clean the whole range in a few minutes. The "electra" porcelain enameled surfaces are smooth as glass and very durable.
- Everything on a Moffat Electric is so handy and easy to reach. A woman never gets tired cooking on a Moffat.
- It is built so strongly and of the highest-grade materials.
- Its electric heat is so admirably controlled, so quick in getting to work.

Electric cooking is the simplest, cleanest, most effective and satisfactory method in use today. It will improve a woman's cooking to a surprising extent. It is better for roasting, baking, broiling, stewing, frying and boiling.

booklet, "Kitchen Freedom"—free, of stration at your regular electrical
