Girl Shot

Thirteen Year Old Brother
Instantly Killed
Her.

SAWA, Ont. Sept. 17.— Anne McCoy, twelve-year-old daughter of her near Portage, five miles of Papineauville, was shot and killed by a rifle in the hands of her fourteen-year-old brother, at their home yesterday. The killing was accidental. The boy had the rifle which he had been given, at his sister, thinking that the weapon was not loaded. The accident, however, happened to have a fatal result, and when young Cochran pulled the trigger, his sister fell to the ground and upon examination, was found to have been killed through the heart.
The coroner, J. H. McKay, of Papineauville, after an inquest, a verdict of accidental death being returned.

It is delightful to see a woman's

THE INDIVIDUAL NOTE in HOME FURNISHINGS

ings! "What shall I use for curtains?" is so frequently asked; flit net is both durable and effective. As also are the plain nets, scrim, casement window materials, and soft silks.

DINING ROOM.

American people are so hospitable that with them the chief interest centers around the dining room, and for that reason it should be designed so as to foster the utmost spirit of geniality and good cheer. The selection of the furniture and decorations naturally go a far way toward furthering this result. The dining room furniture is best if simply designed, but solid in its construction. Plain materials are best for window draperies in the dining room. Blue is always used to good advantage in both the simple as well as the most elaborate type of a dining room. There has been a radical departure in dining room furniture. Adams and Sheraton periods are still used, but there is a revival of the Queen Anne and William and Mary Periods, not only in oak, but also in mahogany. A pleasing change has been made in the design of china and glass cabinets. The glittering show case with mirror back and glass shelves, sometimes gloriously enhanced with the use of electric lights, has been supplanted by cabinets lined with dark soft silk entering into harmony with the general scheme of the room, and the glass fronts show off to better advantage on the wooden shelves which replace the glass ones. Consoles are often substituted for sideboards. A dining room table which many will find convenient has an adjustable top, which can be taken out at a moment's notice, so that the entire room can be used for other purposes.

A dining room of especial good taste was papered in Chinese paper with silver back ground designed in blue figures. The hangings were blue velvet over plain pongee. A plain blue hand tufted rug was used and Chinese Chippendale furniture. The centerpiece on the table was of old silver larded with blue. The walls were free of all dust collecting and useless ornaments.

Another dining room in the William and Mary Period was furnished in antique oak with inlay of ebony. The chairs were upholstered in Spanish leather and had handsome gilt etching on the backs. The rug was in dull rose colors, as also were the hangings.

CHAMBER FURNISHINGS.

In chamber furniture the Adams Period predominates. Cave insets on beds, bureaus and seat furniture are seen so often they are becoming commonplace. Dull finished American walnut in exact reproduction of old pieces is much in demand. The craze for antiques continues, but there are so many excellent reproductions that the new seems old to us. Bedroom furniture is usually in old oak, Circassian walnut, mahogany, birds-eye maple, grained woods or painted furniture. Many bedroom suites in the Jacobean Period in mahogany are noted. A new addition to the Jacobean bedroom pieces is the chaise-longue with adjustable back upholstered to match the color schemes in the room. We have come to the conclusion that wooden beds are as sanitary as metal ones and possibly are far more graceful. Formerly the sagibility of a bureau depended upon the size of the mirror, but as the new bureaus are exact reproductions of the old ones, the mirrors are very small. Just like the kind your great-grandmother used to use. High-boys and low-boys are used by some instead of chiffoniers, adding to the quaintness of the room. Much attention is paid to the handles of the bureaus and other articles, so instead of just ordinary wooden knobs, they are in exact harmony with the rest of the furniture. Painted furniture is nothing new for as early as 1750 the Dutch used painted furniture. Then the demand was so great that the dealers bought up all the sleigh using the painted panels for cabinet work. Enamelled furniture with delicate decorations and cane panelling is a happy inspiration in bedroom furnishings.

A bedroom set, consisting of bureau, bed, desk, sewing table, dressing table, chairs, chiffonier, and table, was finished in grey enamel decorated with wreaths of old fashioned delicate pink and blue flowers. This was used in a room which was papered in pale rose with a stencilled border to match the floral decoration. A two tone plain rose colored rug was used. Velvet crotome with gay splashes of pink and blue flowers was applied with coarse mercerized thread on linen, and used for the hangings of bureau and bed covers, upholstered cushions, lamp shades and window seat. The curtains were battise with insertions of lace and reached just to the sill. Of course you can carry out the dominant note of rose in soft silk instead of linen if you prefer. Two new shades used in bedroom decorations are, water green and apricot color.

With a little ingenuity the bedroom more than any other room, at a small outlay can be made most attractive.

plain the hangings are figured; if figured the hangings are usually plain. A convenient little table called the Washington Irving table is an acquisition to the library. This has an adjustable book stand which closes down so the table can be used for any purpose.

Flower stands have shelves underneath for magazines. The library tables are no longer placed in the center of the room, but wherever they look best. The furniture in a recently furnished room was after Chippendale, the coverings and draperies selected were of mulberry velvet. The high backed chairs were covered to match. The rug was a beautiful specimen of an old Chinese rug in dull colors with Chinese characteristics in the border.

Though velvets and heavy materials are used, floras, crotomes, chaises are used in the town house as well as the country home. The craze for Chinese and Chippendale effects can be found in these materials in beautiful soft colors. These materials come from the cheapest up to $3.00 a yard and there is a wide variety to choose from. The sun-fade velvets are so often called for, that nearly all goods are guaranteed to have this quality. What a blessing to have non-fadeable wall papers, upholstery goods and hang-

STINT yourself as you think good in other things; but don't scruple freedom in brightening the home. Gay furniture and cheerful decorations are a sight day by day and make life blither. —Charles Duxton.

An apt quotation is often better than an original thought and the above advice is excellent for those who anticipate furnishing or re-furnishing the all-year-round house.

There is something elusive you feel rather than express between the words "home" and "house." Home in capital letters should have an air of hospitality, refinement, simplicity and harmony, which the architect cannot supply, but is achieved by the softening influence of the home woman.

Webster defines "Home" as one's dwelling place, but different homes reflect the people who occupy them and it is the appreciation of beauty and the home like air which makes a home out of a "residence."

Of course you must follow certain fundamental principles of home-craft and be ever keenly alert to the necessity of true comfort and making the rooms livable.

Most people have to live with the same furniture a long time, so simple, well constructed, trustworthy furniture is a good investment.

If a woman concentrate her energies first on the home necessities, she can bide her time in selecting the ornamentation and endeavor to have her home an expression of herself, indicating good taste and careful choice, ever keeping in view that furniture is not bought for today alone but for the future.

We cannot all indulge in the possession of antiques, but there are such true reproductions that the acquisition is really a joy. If you buy Period furniture, know something of the Period so that all the pieces in one room will be in harmony.

The living room is the heart of the home, and should be furnished with the idea of usefulness, restfulness, cheerfulness and coziness combined with artistic effects. The "company" parlor of by-gone days is a thing of the past. Parlors are now for everyday use and are furnished accordingly.

An open fireplace always gives an air of cheerfulness to the room. Low book cases filled with well bound books on either side of the fireplace improve the appearance of the room. Growing ferns in handsome jardinières can be placed so as to add a decorative effect.

Mulberry, soft tans, rose, and greys are good neutral backgrounds for the wall and the same shades predominate in the furnishings. This is the reason for velvets, plushes and brocades and tapestries. There is a strong tendency to make the living room more luxurious, but that does not infer the acquisition of useless furniture. Elegance and comfort are shown in the over-stuffed furniture. Sun-fade velvets are used for upholstery purposes with some of the chairs covered with a bit of tapestry, but the harmony of color is maintained throughout.

The carpets are usually the strongest color note in the room. Chinese and Japanese effects are probably responsible for the use of lacquered furniture. Lace shades of fancy net take the place of former lace curtains. Overdrapes of soft materials with valances are used over the shades. If the rug is

STYLE NOTES FROM MANY SOURCES

Thinking that a brief resume of styles for the coming Autumn might be of interest to you, we herewith submit this little compendium of Fashion notes, gathered from French, British and Austrian sources, by our buyer when on his recent buying tour.

We may be pardoned if we say that in the materials we show—embodying both in kind and also in the essential—we have taken a long feature of style as laid down stride ahead of any previous season.

All our better class goods are in individual lengths—exclusive in this—that no two costumes or articles of importance being alike—individuality is secured.

With our ordered departments under first-class management and well equipped; and a subsidiary fancy gown department having as well been arranged for—to cover the need of a place where stylish little gowns could be produced at very moderate cost—we are pleased to say we were never in better shape to attend to your orders.

In the matter of garnitures and trimmings of all kinds, our stock is from the best French and German sources—so that harmony can be secured.

We are, Madam,
Very respectfully yours,
E. B. Crompton & Co.

As to Suits, tailor made, and materials for same, the behests of Fashion emanate largely from Vienna.

Paris and Vienna both have spoken in unmistakable tones that Plushes, plain and brocaded, Velvets and Velvet Cords, will have an unwonted popularity this season.

Draping beautifully, and with an unexcelled richness in color and sheen, they are unrivalled for dainty Suits and Evening Cloaks. These are shown in a variety of charming colors.

Another nice fabric for street wear is Velour Delaine (Wool Velvet), with a cut pile in handsome brocade patterns, or in cord of a broad welt, with a floral design worked over.

Two-tone Boucle Tweeds are favorites. Made of finest wool, with a soft, almost furry finish, they are the acme of perfection in manufacture from the land of the Canny Scot.

In colors, Eveque or Bishop's Purple, Saxe Blue, Pheasant and Tobacco Browns, Dull Greens, and Violets are much in vogue.

Handsome, very heavy brocaded Silks, as heavy as cloth, are a very favorite material for EVENING CLOAKS. Also a very soft fabric of wool and silk called "Peau-de-Peche," with touch exact of peachskin. This is softer, not so glassy, and a little more weighty than the type of broadcloths of late used so much for the purpose named.

For Evening Gowns, beautiful designs in Brocaded Silks and Brocaded Crapes, besides the plain, soft fine, uncrushable Charmeuse Silks, in 38 to 40 inch, that would almost pass through a ring.

Pearl Garnitures and much LACE will have a strong decorative place this season in the pretty gowns dear to the heart of any woman.

Just a Word About Hats

Fashion has decreed that the Austrian Velour Hats will be in the lead. These are remarkable for their softness, pliability and usefulness. More colored hats, than of recent years are shown. Some strikingly soft and pretty tones with their garnitures give a stunning effect. Hats covered with Hatters' Plush, largely in self black, or black brims, and ivory Crowns are very chic. At a later period in connection with our formal millinery. Opening, we shall make a large and comprehensive exhibit of all the newest things in millinery.

Apologizing for the lengthy nature of our notes,

We remain,
Very respectfully,
E. B. Crompton & Co.

Clothes for the Little Fellow

As much ingenuity and skill, and it might be said truthfully more of these attributes, are exercised in the designing of Boys' Clothing than in 'clothes' for men. Probably this is because the manufacturers understand and fully realize that the clothes must appeal to the mother's idea of beauty, rather than the father, it being the prevailing impression that the maternal side of the family is gifted with better ideas of the beautiful. Here is where the exercise of these qualities is deemed essential and as a result we have presented for the boy's and his mother's approval several very handsome things in the line of boys' apparel for Fall.

Norfolks are the prevailing style, and of these a model with patched pockets is in the lead. Some have two patched pockets, while others have four, two lower and two breast pockets. An inverted plait in the back is a feature of one of the models and the belts may be either stationary, removable, or they may be half belts only. For those who prefer regular pockets, there are some good models. It seems that the Norfolk is destined to remain the leading coat for boys after they have gotten beyond the size when the juvenile suit was the thing to wear. They are manly enough to inspire the many qualities of the boy, yet distinctively boyish. There will be innumerable variations of Norfolks. Some with two plaits in the front will be shown, and other models with five or six plaits on each side of front will be shown. Still another model has a tucked effect in the back. A noble single-breasted suit built along semi-English lines similar to the man's suit of this same type, will be a favorite for larger boys, just before they merge into young men's clothing. These with patch pockets make an exceptionally good suit for summer. A double-breasted coat on the order of a Russian suit coat, made with patched pockets, the lower edge stiffened, is a novelty in a suit that is distinctively a winter garment for the juvenile. The regular double-breasted coat suits for boys will be no less popular during the forthcoming season than in former seasons. Like the double-breasted coats for men, some are made along English lines, in that they incline to fit the form snugly. Whether or not this characteristic will be in any degree permanent is problematical, even though it is an exceedingly stylish looking garment, because of the average boy's disinclination for restrictions of any sort. The popular materials for Fall are Cheviots and cassimeres, and in the richer shades. Black and white mixtures in other combinations than checks are said to lead. Green and olive mixtures are also said to be good, while the Homespuns and Scotch effect materials were never more popular than they will be this Fall.

For the little fellow, juveniles as they are called in the trade, Russians and Sakers will continue to be favored. Velvets and cords will be sought after in materials, while many attractive suits will appear made of mixed and plain chevrons. Middie suits also will be worn by the smaller fellows, as will also Eton suits. A Russian with a military collar is expected to be a favorite with many.

A novelty that will make its bow this season is known as a Junior Norfolk. It is cut on the lines of the Norfolk for older boys, having a yoke, plaits and belt, yet it is distinctively a little boy's suit.

Wash suits are increasingly popular in the heavier materials for Winter wear. Shops that have the best clientele report that the demand for wash suits the year around is a great factor, and in a large measure wash suits are supplanting the wool suit in the Russian and sailor styles. The vogue for straight pants instead of knickerbocker pants is also on the increase, a large part of the wash suits in the better grades and also cloth suits are made in this style.

There is an almost universal demand for two pairs of trousers with both boys' and juvenile's suits.

Overcoats for the school boy will be principally of cheviots, a serviceable material that combines style and warmth. The cheviots will be made with a shawl collar and with a half belt and the coat will be double-breasted. The shawl collar has replaced the convertible collar coat almost completely.

On some of these models the belts are sewed on in the back and loose in front. Aside from cheviots, black and white mixed chevrons are next in order of prominence. Light grey, medium grey, oxford, blue and brown are the colors which will be worn most.

For the smaller boys, the juveniles, as they are called in the stores, an excellent style is a double-breasted coat with a high, self military collar, this instead of the velvet collar of former seasons.

A great many mackinaws will be worn by the larger boys.

There is a commercial value in the luxuries of dress, and it pays to cultivate a taste for it. The success of many a prominent Business and Professional Man can be traced to the time he chanced into a clothes shop and was induced to put a few dollars into a Suit of Clothes. We young men in the prime of life are prone to picture ourselves like those we expect or hope to be. Why, then, should we not dress the part? Shabby clothes don't go with the successful man. What is more natural than that the man who wants to be successful should know the value of feeling and appearing so? When he once has felt the pleasure of looking the part, the virus of success is at work in him, and sooner or later he will be heard of

What Men Will Wear This Fall

By CHARLES W. GALLOWAY.

MEN'S outer apparel for Fall and Winter will be an aggregation of niceties, the equal to which has never before been witnessed in clothes for men. This is the almost unanimous opinion of clothiers and tailors alike, who have been giving forethought to these things.

The graceful lines of contour, the elegance and fineness of the tailoring, in fact every element in the detail and construction of suits and overcoats for wear when the chilly blasts portend the approach of Fall and Winter, surpass the best efforts of former seasons in this direction.

In the past we have been trying to make our sartorial lines by padding and by artificial means and though we have accomplished marvels in this respect in the past, we have now discovered that the natural lines of the human body cannot well be improved upon. Some say it is not so much the discovery as it is that American tailoring skill has reached a point where it can do better, and more artistically utilize the lines of the human body, and in the simple draping accentuate all its good lines, rather than resort to artificial means, that has brought us to this general improvement.

As evidence of the statement that our tailoring skill is improving, it is pointed out that when the no padding garments were first created, it was said that very few manufacturing organizations would be able to make them. Now practically all makers are using the lines of the natural figure, getting away from the idea of padding, which requires skill. The result is that we have natural garments, patterned after the English idea, yet departing from these ideas to an extent which makes the garments distinctly American. Fall styles have these general characteristics, though those who cling to the vogue of the more conservative models can suit their individuality, and have no difficulty in finding in almost any up-to-date shop just the style that pleases them. That brings another thought. Men are giving more attention to the matter of individuality in clothes. They are more and more studying their own individuality in relation to their clothes and suiting the latter to their physical characteristics, rather than following blindly that which they interpret to be the style worn by many others. The soft roll lapel coat is reported to be the leader in the metropolitan centers. If there is any noticeable tendency for or against the English idea, the characteristics of which are narrow shoulders, no padding, narrow sleeves, sometimes with narrow cuffs attached, the sleeves being a length that permits a wide expanse of cuff to be seen below its end, it is toward it. These characteristics combined with the short coat averaging between twenty-nine and thirty and a half inches, compose the English coat, as it has been modified just enough to conform with the American idea and thus appeal to the American mind. This is certain to continue in vogue for this Fall in the larger centers, but it is not so pronounced in the medium sized towns which have a style of their own—one really just as authoritative as the metropolitan. All this has special reference to the sack suit, or as it is called across the water, the lounge suit.

While the style described may be said to lead in the metropolitan centers, a moderation of this style appears to be a close rival according to leading tailors and clothiers. The hat lapel and coat lengths ranging from 3 1/2 to 33 are characteristic of a model much in favor with the younger element as well as with many business men. This again emphasizes the thought expressed in an earlier paragraph namely, that the build of the individual is a factor in the selection of his style, and it is commonly stated that the so-called English style does not adapt itself to all the various builds. The other is quite as popular. Rumor has it that this style will be worn by young men possibly another season and some are bold enough to think that the past summer, will, it is said, continue into the forthcoming season. The innovation of the season is the double-breasted coat. The new Fall models are built along neat and clean cut lines, in line with the English idea of no padding and short, narrow type of sleeves. It is narrow at the waist and averages 80 1/2 inches in length.

It is believed by many men who are close to the pulse of the style situation that a proper appreciation of Norfolk for a winter suit is growing. While this coat has always been classed as an outdoor garment it belies its appearance, which with its plain and belt or half belt as the case may be, is more appropriately a winter garment. Speaking of belts on Norfolk, it is said that it is hard to sell a full belted Norfolk or those without a belt. This seems to be the tendency.

Coming now to the ultra fashion of clothes. The Oxford suit with bound edges is one of the new things this Fall. We call it new but as a matter of fact a few have been worn for several seasons, but by the ultra fashionists. A few more will come forth this Fall, both in sack style and in a cutaway frock. And here it might be said that the cutaway is increasing in favor. It is considered an ideal style for professional men. Rumor has it that this style will be worn by young men possibly another season and some are bold enough to think that the vogue may even begin this Fall. The double-breasted style may be had in either, with two buttons or three buttons. In the three button model, the roll lapel extends past the top button so that it is really intended to be buttoned with two lower buttons. The most popular of these models are semi-form fitting.

Another innovation of the Fall is the skeleton lined suit coat. This suit is made of a very heavy Scotch Tweed or Housenum, of practically the same construction of these materials which are so popular for summer wear, but they are woven very much heavier. They resemble in weight some of the materials of a decade ago such as our fathers wore. These materials to be made up with full linings would be too heavy, but with scant linings or none they are said to be ideal garments. With the short overcoat in vogue, and many men wearing knee length underwear the year round, the heavyweight trousers add greatly to the warmth of the body.

A season of dark materials is considered quite certain. The darker variations of grey, the mixtures with black and blue the leading colors will undoubtedly have the call. Cassimeres will continue to be the favorite materials with a sprinkling of worsteds in the higher priced ranges. Worsteds cannot be produced to be sold for the popular prices. Quite a variety of patterns will be comprised in Fall clothing. Every sort of check except the large check may now be had and the patterns in which hair lines appear are legion. All the patterns however may be said to be clear cut, contrasting, though modest.

In overcoats, the garment in which we are seen most for this season, there are several good styles, and it would be difficult to state which of these styles are in the lead. There is the 40-inch coat with shawl collar, a coat that was popular a season ago and one which bids fair to be called for again. This style is principally to be had in chinillas. Other materials do not seem to adapt themselves to the style.

Then there is a short double-breasted coat made along English lines, with the same characteristics as the suit coat, in that it has no padding in the shoulders, thus making it fit snugly. It is made with a three piece sleeve. This coat is certain to be an exceedingly popular one. The next coat to bid for the fashionable man's approval is the winter made with a convertible collar. Rough materials will be almost universal in overcoats. It is predicted that chinillas will be called for extensively, with Shetlands popular, warmth without weight being the great argument in favor of the latter, though they are not a coat that will last more than a season and barely that. A store known throughout a great portion of this country predicts that knitted overcoats will be in demand.

Eleda Leednam Tells about THE NEW MILLINERY MODES

CAREFUL discrimination should be exercised in the selection of a hat, so that it will be appropriate for the costume for which it is to be worn. For the success of one's suit or dress depends upon the selection of the hat. Use keen judgment and discretion in buying your winter hat. There is no such word as "can't" in the millinery vocabulary. Simplicity is the watchword of this season's millinery creations. A hat may be simple in design and yet have all the requisites of smartness. Choose a style that will bring out your best points. Unless you are strong minded you will not be able to restrain from buying more than one hat for there is such a marvelous variety in the shapes, materials and trimmings this season, you will hardly be satisfied with just one model.

There are so many fantasies in this season's chapeaux that original ideas in millinery are often secured from art books and pictures of the peasantry of Europe. Don't hesitate to appropriate any idea for your own use, because the best style ideas are procured in this way and then modified to suit one's individual taste.

This fall hats are not the fly-away kind, but fit the head much as a man's Derby hat does. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if modified Derby hats would be worn. It seems safe to assert that hats will remain small and medium sized for fall. There are several new adaptations of the sailor shape with either straight, rolling or slightly drooping brim. The hats have rather narrow brims and are elongated in shape so as to conform to the lines of the head.

The first really cool day brought out the first velvet hats of the season. Did you get a glimpse of any of the new windmill bows, which are placed jauntily on the center, back or on the sides. Windmill bows are noticed on numbers of the imported hats. They are of tulle, or silk bound with velvet harmonizing or in contrast to the hat.

An elongated turban which is good to wear with a tailor suit was made entirely of satin ribbon. The narrow up turned brim was covered with folds of ribbon loosely knotted in the front.

Two high wired ends of ribbon with a soft knot at the base were placed in the back.

Another smart hat had crown of purple ribbed silk cut on the bias. A plaited bow of mauve velvet was laid on the crown a little to the one side. Two unicolor feathers stood erect in the back.

For early fall, there are excellent models in exact copies of the student styles in vogue in 1890. These are shown in velvet and usually trimmed with an extravagantly tall pompon of coque feathers.

The hat with the visor brim is assured a certain degree of popularity.

These hats resemble jockey caps and are often noticed with the crown of ribbon and the brim of velvet trimmed with little wing like loops, of ribbon in front and on the sides.

There is every reason to believe that soft felt hats will be in high regard. From Fashion's standpoint the crownless or transparent crown of tulle is the newest fad, with the brim of velvet or plush.

One cannot enthuse too much about ribbons. There will be two toned effects in fall and two toned effects in double faced satins and fullie moire. Many ribbons have velvet beiges or dowers on satin foundations. Egyptian effects in velours and uncut velvet with dark backgrounds and vivid colorings, will be decidedly fashionable. The principal shades in these ribbons will be carise, cherry, deep blue and gold. Huge bows will be made of Roman stripes and cross stripes, in width from 6 to 10 inches.

Revolutionary striped ribbon in red and green or other smart combinations are seen on a wide range of exceptionally clever models. Hats with narrow bandings of plain and fancy grosgrain ribbon in gay colors are another of Fashion's whims.

This little velvet and tulle latches are a pretty addition to the autumn millinery and these chin straps are reminiscent of the Tommy Atkins war bonnet, the most entrancing when worn with small hats and give a coquettish demure air to the wearer.

Following in the wake of the ribbon craze are the wings, quilts and feathers. Quilts have met with a tremendous success. A smart tailored hat had four quilts of various colors attached one over the other with just enough of each showing to form a unusual color scheme.

On one jaunty sailor the quilts were bent in curved effect and encircled the brim with two extending outward at the back. Long, short, wide, and in fact any kind of quilts used singly or in clusters decorate the most exclusive hats.

Nunlike and osprey, Paradise and coque, especially the latter in high slanting pom-pom effects are especially pronounced.

Feathers are shown in many novelties. Decidedly new are the stenciled effects in flat feathers. Imagine a beautiful ostrich designed with a brilliant hued rose.

Alfines are all the rage and velvet and moire hats are invariably trimmed with milline. Flowers are all laid flat on the brim and are of silk, velvet, or plush and are indeed very attractive in their deep rich colors.

You can't find any better trimming for the tailored or semi-tailored hats than the up-standing feather bands, but don't caricature yourself by wearing anything that imitates closely an Indian's head dress.

Height is emphasized in the new trimmings. Long pointed wings and narrow Pochontas bands with Absinth effect of wings will prove a strong feature for millinery trimming. Palm leaf effects and peacock effects in Pompadour colorings are another very new method of trimming.

Cones and imitation gourds in bands and high effects are very prominent. For the woman who motors, there are soft little Felo-shaped felt hats, and rainproof hats so cleverly fashioned that you would never dream they were waterproof. Silk hats stitched to keep proof hats so cleverly fashioned that you would never dream they were waterproof. Silk hats stitched to keep their shape, and hats to match the motor coats are made more becoming than we have seen in previous seasons motor hats.

As the small hats are in vogue veils will play an important part as a millinery accessory. Accordion platted chiffon veils, lace veils, with plain net in front, and many new mesh veils are shown.

Flat pins come in pairs and are about four inches long. These are placed directly in front about four inches apart. Hat pins with brilliant tops, fresh water pearl tops, or plain gold with the wearer's initials are in harmony with the present mode of trimming. If you have any corsage pins with pearl headed tops you will find them just the right length for use as hat pins.

If the home milliner has a little courage and carefully inspects even some of the best models, she will find it quite possible to copy them, as most of the shops keep help for the home milliner. But when making a hat be sure it is one adaptable for your age. The sixteen year old miss looks well in youthful styles, but though you may not like to hear it some styles are really too youthful for the matron of today, though she may look as young as her daughter.

The Trend of Fashion in Fur Styles

TRULY the furs of this year are a revelation of skilled workmanship and elegance of make which surpasses all previous efforts.

As the season advances a woman's thoughts naturally turn towards thoughts of fur.

Furs serve two purposes, that of ornamentation and of warmth.

Though the moderate price fur is quite as warm as the most luxurious pelt, yet each woman tries to buy the very best furs she can afford.

In no detail of the feminine wardrobe is there so much satisfaction as in the possession of good fur.

Furs are more fashionable than ever, and that is saying a great deal, and never has there been such a variety of styles developed in a moderate priced set.

The acquisition of a fur neck piece or muff is within the reach of everyone's purse.

Because of the popularity of muff fabrics, brown furs showing yellow, brown, or tan casts are seen in a large variety.

Deer, mink, waterhose, skunk, raccoon, mole, muskrat, leopard skin, civet cat, fish, ermine, sable, chinchilla, chinchilla squirrel, the wolf with a greyish cast procured from Europe, and all kinds of foxes—silver fox, Sitka fox, cross fox, blue fox, white fox, pointed fox and red dyed tawpe, caracul and seal are on the safe side of the fashion line. Fur sets include scarf, muff and hat. The neck pieces are what they are intended to be—a protection against bitter cold weather and with few exceptions are shaped around the throat and fit closely up to the collar line.

Heads, tails and paws are used extensively as trimming. Long wide stoles with cape shape back are so developed that when wound around the figure they resemble a wrap.

It is quite astonishing how many different effects can be produced by the combination of different furs and the rearrangement of the markings.

A Colonial scarf which caught my fancy was of civet cat, nearly three yards long and half a yard wide.

This had fancy markings in the middle and both ends and was lined in brocaded silk finished with silk ruffling.

The muff matched in design and was nearly gigantic in size. Mole and beaver is an entirely new combination noted in some of the scarfs.

A neck piece "fit for a queen" is constructed of four silver foxes, two skins hung straight down the front while the other two skins are arranged so that the tail of one hangs over the left shoulder, and the head of the other over the right.

Three skins were used for the large sized muff, which was lined with emerald green satin.

For evening wear, white ermine, white fox or cooney are used, though many sets are combined with ermine for day time use. Mole and ermine are a superb combination.

Silk ornaments, rich Oriental braids, fancy tassels and puffs and shirtings of silk lend smart touches to many sets.

There is no well defined style. If you like a small piece, or care for a large draped scarf, do not hesitate on the point of modishness, as both are equally popular.

MUFFS. Muffs are larger than ever. In fact the offly muff which is too large is the one which is too big for you to carry.

Unusual care and thought is given to the shaping, lining and trimming of the muffs, making them as attractive as they are useful.

Novelty is the keynote for many of the new muffs. Brilliant brocades, or plain silks usually line the dark furs, while the white furs have white satin, or chiffon linings.

In the parade of Fashion one observes pillow shaped muffs, barrel effects, heart shaped muffs, and those draped in accordance with the style of the neck piece.

Fur coats in many cases are made of two or more contrasting furs. Hudson seal, Persian lamb, and Caracul coats are more in evidence than any other.

Nothing is too extreme to be in style. Short and long coats show the same style features as do the cloth and velvet coats. The 45-inch coats, slightly rounded in front, with large notched collar and deep cuffs, is by far the most wanted style for those with conservative taste.

The coats are loose fitting with either deep set in or kimono sleeves.

In the more expensive mantles fancier cuts and shorter lengths are introduced. One of this season's dictates is that the wrap shall fasten at the left side with folds near the edge, giving a graceful draped appearance.

The fullness is just below the hip line and narrow toward the bottom.

A stunning mole coat has a Bulgarian blouse effect, with a wide band of beaver catching in the fullness at the bottom.

The collar and turned back cuffs are of beaver. This coat was lined in metallic brocade and measured only 30 inches in length.

The only word to use for the lining is gorgeous. No silk or satin, if it is the right weight, is considered too elegant to be used in a novelty for a coat.

The linings add greatly to the value of the garment. Furs also are a prominent addition to the evening wrap and suit and gowns.

Rarely a dress is complete without a bit of fur. It may be in bands, outlining the whole costume, or just a touch here and there.

Fur buttons are also noticed. Some are so large that they are ornaments in themselves.

A BIG INCREASE SHOWN IN CITY'S POPULATION

Assessors Expect That Returns Will Show Increase of 1000 - Assessed Values Will Also Show Big Increase

That an increase of 1,000 in Brantford's population will be shown when the assessors make their returns at the end of this month to the City Council is the statement emanating from the Assessment Department. The increase this year it is not expected, will be as great as last year, although it will be pretty close to it. Last year the total population was given as 25,337, there having been an increase during 1912 of 1,253. There has been less of a floating population this year, the assessors, claim, particularly among the foreigners. The poll tax collections have not been as great as they were a couple of years ago. This is said to result from refusal of boarding house-keepers to supply information. However, it is felt that an increase of 1,000 in population is gratifying.

There will be another big increase this year in assessed values, following the campaign inaugurated some time ago to get the assessment up somewhere around actual values. The increase will be general in every ward, the building trade having been unusually active during the summer. In 1912 there was an increase in assessment of $2,216,720 and it is thought that it will be equally as great this year. The Assessors are at present engaged in making their final compilations for the year.

MOTOR DRIVERS NOT YET DECIDED

Trade Union Badges Not Permitted and Strike May Be General.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The motor bus drivers of London have not as yet taken any decisive step in regard to the proposed general strike of transport workers, but the routes served by the motor omnibuses of the small companies, which originated the strike by refusing to allow its employees to wear their trade union badges were practically without these means of transport to-day. Of the 150 vehicles belonging to the concern fewer than 20 were taken out of the sheds this morning. As both sides show great determination, it is feared that the men employed by the other omnibus companies will carry out their threat of pocketing their whistles and ceasing work on Friday at midnight. The men say that in case they do come out they will return until all their grievances have been remedied. They have asked for a uniform rate of wages and also demand the adoption of reforms in regard to their hours of work and conditions of labor generally.

GALT WORKING ON HOTEL PROBLEM

Improved Accommodation is Needed, But Local Interest is Limited.

GALT, Sept. 18.—Scarcely better than a baker's dozen attended the public meeting called by the executive of the Local Option Association to discuss improved hotel accommodation. The feeling expressed was that good men and good government were the needs of the situation, as available hotel buildings were not lacking. It was decided to confer with representatives of the hotel company as to the best steps to take. The idea seems to be to have citizens provide the hotel, and hand it over to approved expert management. Interest in the proposition appears limited and many express doubt as to the fruition of the contemplated project involving a large investment.

Two Brothers Meet Again In Very Remarkable Way

Each Had Thought the Other Dead, But Meet in a New York Hotel Dining Room.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—While F. C. Waldman of Sydney, Australia, who has been stopping at a local hotel on a world-girdling tour, was sitting in the main dining room of the hotel last evening a page passed crying: "call for Mr. Waldman." Supposing the call was for him, F. C. Waldman took the message, but after saw it was addressed S. C. Waldman. "That's not for me," said Mr. Waldman, returning the telegram. Because of the similarity of the name to his he followed the page. A ruddy faced man in a remote corner of the dining room proved to be Samuel C.

New Nurses Home Which Will Be Opened Friday Afternoon

The above is the magnificent new Nurses Home, the result of six years splendid effort by the Women's Hospital Aid. The building will be opened to the public for inspection to-morrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock. During the afternoon the presentation of diplomas will be made to members of the hospital staff.

DUBLIN BOYS ALSO STRIKE

DUBLIN, Ireland, Sept. 18.—The boys attending the schools connected with the Catholic cathedral here joined the ranks of the strikers to-day. When the hour arrived for the beginning of a lesson requiring the use of books supplied by a firm which had locked out its workmen belonging to the Transport Workers' Union, the boys immediately rebelled. An attempt at coercion was followed by an attack with stones, which assailed their teachers, two of whom were so seriously injured in the fighting that they had to be taken to a hospital for treatment.

CANNOT LONG DENY DEMAND OF MR. BORDEN

British Press Regards His Remarks Regarding Empire Citizenship as Unanswerable.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The Globe, alluding to Premier Borden's speech at Halifax, says: "Mr. Borden feels that Canada cannot be content while lacking the fullest measure of imperial citizenship with the necessary corollary of voice in the control of imperial policy. That demand is reasonable and one to which England should be proud to agree. Nevertheless, it must be admitted that it raises constitutional issues of the first importance, which will have to be solved by the goodwill of all parties in England. The sooner the admission is made here, the sooner the principles which should govern the citizenship of the dominions to full citizenship, the better for the cause of imperial unity in the future."

Empire Depends On It. The Globe says that the empire's future may depend upon the solution, and adds that "the more fully and calmly the matter is debated in England at the present moment the easier it will be to find a satisfactory settlement when the time for the practical work comes." The Standard declares that Premier Borden's argument is unanswerable. "We in the mother country are like those parents who find it hard to realize that their children are growing up, and think it strange they should be demanding privileges of a manhood and womanhood. We must once and for all get accustomed to the idea that our great daughter states should take part in the policy of the empire if they are to share in its responsibilities. We have already admitted the principle by asking Canada to send us a representative to sit on the committee of imperial defense, but we cannot stop there."

French Labor Conditions. PARIS, Sept. 18.—The minister of labor has just published an instructive series of strike statistics. In 1913 there were 1,100 strikes and 230,000 strikers, with a loss of 2,333,333 working days. There were 1,400 strikes in 1911, with a loss of 4,000,000 days. The figures show that strikes on a small scale are more successful than the larger movements. L'Esclair suggests that Socialists draw the moral here from that a general strike would be ruinous to the proletarians.

AMAZING FIGURES IN STREET RAILWAY CASE

The Story in Figures in Connection With Local Railway Situation—Various Sums Run Up Enormous Total

It is a very long time since any trial in Brantford has caused such general interest, as that aroused in Brantford over the Street Railway case. And never before in the local court house has there been such an array of leading counsel in attendance on behalf of the various interests involved. These latter, especially so much that is involved, that perhaps a plain statement of the situation may be welcomed. Up until 1902 the rights of the Street Railway Company were on a go as you please basis, and as far as penalizing clauses, without any penalty. In the year named a fifty year franchise was drawn up with penalizing clauses and the late Dr. Ickes, who came here from the States, Mr. Wallace of Woodstock and Mr. Armstrong took hold. In 1907 Mr. Verner and associates from the States took hold under a similar agreement with some more onerous clauses added. They acquired the Grand Valley road which in the meantime had been built from Paris to Galt and also got hold of a ten mile line running between Woodstock and Ingersoll. A first mortgage exists on the Brantford Street Railway of $125,000. Another first mortgage of $140,000 on the Woodstock and Ingersoll line. Subject to these mortgages of $450,000 on the Grand Valley system between Brantford and Galt. The greater part of the latter have been exchanged for subsequent bonds, and the right of reinstatement is in dispute. In addition to all the above there is an issue of $1,000,000 of bonds, outstanding on the entire system, which entire burden rests upon a little less than forty miles of road. In addition, the promoters were pledged to construct from Brantford to Fort Dover, and Brantford to Woodstock, something which has never been done. There is at present a personal suit by certain bondholders against the directors for alleged negligence and for a general accounting.

Thanksgiving Day Monday, October 20 Order-in-Council Has Been Passed Fixing Date of Next Holiday.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—An order-in-council has been passed fixing Monday, October 20, as Thanksgiving Day.

CALGARY STREET RY PAYS CITIZENS WELL

Municipal Operation Yields a Net Profit of $64,492 for the Year

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 18.—The annual report of the superintendent of the Calgary Municipal Street Railway system, which is required to be filed with the Canadian department of railways at Ottawa, shows that the net earnings of the trolley lines for the fiscal year ending June 30th last were $64,492 after paying all fixed charges and deducting generous amounts for fixed charges and depreciation.

The gross earnings of the system for the year were over $200,000 and of this sum, $84,000 was set aside for interest on bonded indebtedness, $30,723 for sinking and $35,502 for contingent fund. Of this last amount $22,363 remains for depreciation after deducting sums paid out for accidents and damages.

Shot in Woods. SELVILLE, Spain, Sept. 18.—Marquis Vallo de La Kenia, a member of the Cortes, was shot in a mysterious way while hunting with a large party of friends yesterday on his estate at San Lusia de Barrameda. The marquis was lost sight of for a time, and finally two shots were heard. The hunters proceeding in the direction of the marquis came upon the body lying in the head. It is believed that the shooting was accidental, as suicide was thought improbable.

All Helped Financial Stringency at Ancaster, But Side-Walk Was Built.

HAMILTON, Sept. 18.—Ministers of the Gospel, members of Parliament, village and township officials and 50 residents of Ancaster yesterday solved the cement sidewalk question by turning in at 7 o'clock yesterday morning with pick, shovel, overalls, and all other harness with the object of constructing a cement walk around the School Square, which covers the main streets of the village. The materials were supplied by the village, which found it impossible to finance the labor out of it, which by yesterday's work did not cost a cent. At 7 o'clock in a drizzling rain the residents, attired in the latest creations of the overall and smock line, got down to work, headed by Reeve Guest, Deputy Reeve Kenrick, J. T. N. Regan, M. P. P., Reeves Belt and Webster, Dr. Farmer, Mr. Lloyd Gable, Mr. J. C. Garnett and Mr. W. J. Hodson, of Hamilton.

Women Just Thanked. Hundreds of women were on hand and some offered to help, but were thanked. The oatmeal water pail pushed during the work, while a lunch basket meal was supplied at noon. As many of the men behind the work are interested in the cement, gravel, lime and other industries the cost in that respect was minimized, while the water question is not causing any worry, as it is very prominent in Ancaster since local option was introduced.

Some Clever Work. HAMBURG, Sept. 18.—The Hamburg-South America Steamship Company has been swindled out of $800,000, according to the officials, by employment agents who hired stevedores made returns for a larger number than actually worked. Two of the agents have been arrested and it is said that some of the employees of the company are involved having acted in collusion with the agents.

STRIKE MAY BE DECLARED

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The executive committee of the National Union of Railwaymen discussed throughout the morning the question of a national strike. The committee-men declare that no statement of the results of the discussion will be issued until this evening. It is understood that the executive committee is anxious to avert a strike, but the men have got out of hand.

FINE BATTLE IN MONTREAL OVER H. THAW

Why Was He Not Produced Under Habeas Corpus? Write is Question

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—The representatives of the Dominion immigration department, E. Blake Robertson, E. F. Williams and D. H. Reynolds, who considered the Thaw case and ignored the writ of habeas corpus issued by Judges Gervais and Cross here by acting on the instructions of Hon. C. J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice to deport the Matteawan fugitive appeared before Judges Archambault, Carroll, Lavergne, Cross and Gervais of the appeal court, this morning to show cause why they had failed to produce Thaw as ordered. The hearing resolved itself into an examination of the constitutionality of the immigration act under which Mr. Doherty proceeded and pointed questions were asked by the judges as to the right of the Canadian parliament to pass a law suspending a fundamental feature of British legislation, namely the right of anyone to use the habeas corpus writ. N. K. Laflamme, K. C., acting for the Thaw family at the opening of the hearing at once demanded an explanation as to why the

Premier Asquith Ready For The Big Conference

Basis of Settlement of Home Rule Difficulty Must be More Definite Than Has Yet Been Known.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Premier Asquith is freely stated in government circles to be more than a little annoyed at the intervention of Lord Loreburn in the Irish Home Rule controversy, without any previous hint to himself. While it is asserted, he continues desirous to receive any suggestions of practical policy which would tend to reassure and safeguard Ulster Protestants, he holds that as the Cabinet have placed their plan fully before Parliament and the country, any alternative or amended plan should be made equally clear. He will not consent to the idea of a conference unless upon preliminary bases for settlement, which are far more definite than any Unionist in a responsible position has yet put forward. If, indeed, he did so consent, the fighting element in his party would drop away from him, while he would alienate the Nationalists for all time. It is significant that John Redmond remains silent. If there had been the least sign of yielding on the part of the Cabinet, he would have been found ready to speak, and very plainly. F. E. Smith, addressing a Unionist demonstration at Killeel, County Down, yesterday, said that Lord Loreburn had taken a long time to discover what Ulster had been saying for the last three years. The Unionists would have no compromise on the home rule question. "Sir Edward Carson, who also spoke said the Unionists in Ireland were not going into a conference which meant absolute surrender. They knew no surrender. "A nice conference it would be," remarked Sir Edward. "Just look at the position of the parties who would enter it. There would not be a free agent in the lot." The Unionists were not going to be led into a spider's parlor. They might be flies; but they were wily old flies. They had too much experience of the Ulster question. No matter what might happen, the loyalists were determined at all costs to preserve their civil and religious liberty.

FIGHT QUITE LIKELY

Grand Valley Employees Sworn In As Constables

Clash With L. E. & N. Gang May Take Place To-day

There may be a battle royal this afternoon at Galt. Employees of the Grand Valley Radial Company and the construction gang of the Lake Erie and Northern may clash on what might prove a serious affair. All kinds of feeling has been stirred up and threats have been issued of a bellicose nature.

The trouble arises from the fact that the Lake Erie and Northern Railway is about to construct a diamond crossing over Grand Valley tracks at the Galt end. The new company has an order from the Dominion Railway board to proceed, and proposes to do so. Operations are to commence this afternoon at Galt. This morning Chief Engineer Kelleit was awaiting a representative of the Dominion Railway board, who will proceed to the spot and look things over.

What makes things look bellicose is the fact that E. B. Stockdale, receiver of the Grand Valley, has had all his employees sworn in as constables. The Grand Valley is alleged to propose to stir and to resist by physical force any attempt to construct the diamond crossing. There are two other crossings of a similar nature to be laid and the Chief Engineer of the L. E. and N. is in no frame of mind to stand any unnecessary delays.

The Lake Erie & Northern Railway gang is reported to have in its makeup some mixers of the railway camp variety. Mr. Kelleit says they might become careless and let an iron rail drop on the toes of one of the tin badge Grand Valley constables. Then there might be trouble, superinduced by a smashed toe and a fall from somebody. Railway constables might attempt to arrest the railway construction gang, and then there would be no more constables.

There is no intention to incite a riot in these columns, but the above is the situation. Blood may be spilt near Galt this afternoon unless the timely intervention of a Dominion Railway board official is successful. Mr. Stockdale, who was in the city yesterday, was appeared to, but the L. E. and N. officials could get little satisfaction from him. In the meantime, if one happens to meet a Grand Valley employee, he should remember he is facing a newly sworn in constable, and might be arrested on the spot for "lese majeste" or any other calendar offence.

THE TANGO GARTER MORE MODEST THAN IT SOUNDS.

The modern dancing frock must absolutely be slashed from hem to knee or its narrow width will not give space enough for the graceful courtesy which is such a pretty part of the Tango. But the slashed dancing skirt is made quite a modest affair by this new Tango garter, to which is attached a deep fall or fringe. On the garter are two buttons, the skirt fastening to these buttons and the deep fringe falling under the slash and almost entirely disguising the stocking.

Declined With Thanks.
The burglar season is now on, and many small suburban households are the sadder for a visit from this gen-try.
There is a story told of a man who prepared to meet possible burglars by purchasing a small revolver. It was a nice little affair with "For Burglars" neatly engraved on the butt, and he was very proud of it, but one evening he forgot to take it upstairs to bed with him as usual.
When he came downstairs in the morning he found the house despoiled of all valuables and a note lying beside the revolver: "Thanks, but I always carry my own"—The Burglar.

TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Brantford Teachers' Association was held Monday, Sept. 15 at the new Dufferin School. After the roll call the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Several communications were then read and received due consideration. The teachers were invited to attend a lecture under the auspices of the Burrows Nature Study Class which they expect will be given Sept. 23. Mr. Kilmer gave an address in which he detailed the work of each grade for the school year. Dainty refreshments were then served after which all took the opportunity of inspecting the fine new school building.

Paris News

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Tuesday was the last day for appealing against the voters' list account for Paris. The Conservatives applied to have 142 names added and the Liberals 17.

Municipal workmen have been busy all week cutting away the limbs of the shade trees which came anywhere near the hydro wires. The move was no doubt necessary, but some of the streets have been denuded of much of their beauty.

Owing to alterations connected with the new Parish Hall, the annual Harvest Thanksgiving services in St. James' Church will be held earlier this year, next Sunday having been set apart for Harvest Home services.

Paris High School Field Day will be held on October 3rd. With a largely increased roll of scholars at school the events should be better than ever.

Mr. Jay Churchill, who has been critically ill for the past four months, has taken a decided turn for the better.

Mr. C. M. Howell of Chicago is spending a two weeks holiday with Paris friends.

Mr. Arthur White has returned from a month's vacation spent in the Maritime Provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Boul and little son left last Saturday for Regina, Sask.

Mrs. Trisch and Miss Rehder have returned from their trip to Germany, Denmark, France and England.

Mrs. Jno. R. Howard and children of Toronto are the guests of Mr. T. Shawcross.

Mrs. J. Ivey and little daughter of Fort Dover, are visiting relatives in town.

Mrs. H. L. Cowan left on Monday to join her husband in Stoughton, Sask.

THE COURIER

Published by The Brantford Courier Limited, at Dalhousie Street, Brantford, Ont., on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

Thursday, September 18, 1913.

THE STREET RAILWAY JUDGMENT.

All those who followed the evidence in connection with the suit of the City, versus the Brantford and Grand Valley Railway Companies, must long before the close have reached the conclusion that City Solicitor Henderson had marshalled a chain of facts which could lead to but one outcome.

The effort on the part of the defendants to show that the cars, the service and the general equipment were up to standard for a place of this size was manifestly absurd. When Mr. Watson, K.C., was contending that the cars were good, and the Judge interjected the remark, "I have ridden on them Mr. Watson," he expressed in laconic form the entire case.

As to "the good enough for the size of the place" argument, that also was sheer humbug. Galt, Guelph, Berlin, Hespeler and scores of other much smaller communities have for years enjoyed services so far ahead of the Brantford system as to make the latter blush—that is, would have made it blush had it possessed enough red blood for such an operation.

The summing up of his Lordship was brief, but concise as are all his deliveries. He intimated in unmistakable language that conditions had been such as to warrant immediate franchise forfeiture, but he allowed twelve months, in which to make good to the satisfaction of the Engineer of the Ontario Railway Board.

There are many bondholders in this and other communities, who are concerned and there will be no satisfaction over any losses they may sustain, but a public service such as a street railway, must be kept up to a proper and efficient mark, and if those in control fail to do so, some one else should take hold, in the opinion of the Courier the Municipality should markets lead to such an opportunity.

CLARKE AT IT AGAIN.

Dr. Clarke the member in the Dominion House for Red Deer, and a Free Trade haddist, has been spouting out West.

In one speech he declared with reference to Borden's proposed navy contribution that "no Imperialism has last which threatens Canadian nationalism."

In other words he was seeking to show that a cash contribution for three dreadnoughts would imperil Canadian national life, Canadian autonomy and Canadian self respect.

Anybody who would believe such stuff as that, would be prepared to swallow the fiction that the moon is made of green cheese.

Clarke knows as well as anyone else that Canada to-day enjoys the undisputed position of a nation within an Empire and that the contribution of three ships to be withdrawn should a Canadian navy be decided upon, would not affect said status to the extent the millionth part of one hair breadth.

Mr. Cooper of a weekly magazine published in Toronto, takes similar ground to Clarke, and in his last issue asks what would happen to the militia and cadet forces of the Dominion if Liberal fathers and mothers sought to block their boys from joining same. This he says would be on all fours with the course of the Conservative party in affirming that Canadian youths cannot man Canadian ships or practice for the same. That's a nonsensical contention. Men and boys resident in the Dominion can take up military and cadet practice after work and school hours. Does Mr. Cooper actually believe that a similar opportunity offers with regard to acquisition of naval knowledge? What would be his plan? To have them practice on the contents of water tubs in their back yards?

CONSERVATIVES REDUCING THE DEBT.

Assertions by Liberal journals that the Borden Government has been adding extensively to the net debt of the country are strangely inaccurate. The Borden Government in its two years of office has reduced the debt by many million dollars.

June 30, 1898, this stood at $264,000,000 and on June 30, 1911, at $340,000,000, the increase thus being some eighty millions. The net debt now stands at less than $300,000,000, having in two years been reduced by over forty millions.

During the last four years of the Laurier régime the following debt increases took place:

Table with 2 columns: Year, Amount. 1907-8: $1,428,999; 1908-9: 45,969,419; 1909-10: 12,338,267; 1910-11: 3,773,595; Total: $76,370,192

In 1911-12 the Hon. W. T. White met capital expenditure and other disbursements additional to consolidated fund expenditure of nearly $39,000,000, and yet had a surplus over all disbursements of $122,500. This constituted of course a reduction of the debt.

In 1912-13 the capital expenditure was $32,396,000 and after this had been met there was a reduction of debt of $24,233,530. This is a record in the history of Canada.

This heavy surplus over all disbursements comes at a moment when the government is at work on a chain of productive expenditures of great magnitude. The Transcontinental is being finished; the Quebec Bridge is being rebuilt; great harbour works are being pushed at Halifax, St. John, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Thunder Bay, Vancouver, Victoria and Port Nelson; the New Welland is being built, the French River is being deepened, the Trent Canal is being finished; the Hudson Bay Railway at last is being constructed; a terminal elevator is being built at Fort William and interior terminal elevators are going upon the prairies.

This enormous body of expenditure on the transportation system is being carried on at a moment when these heavy debt reductions have been scored.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

It should not only be the pleasure but the duty of all classes of city and county residents to visit and inspect the fine new nurses' home on the days and within the hours specified for that purpose.

The Stratford Beacon (Liberal) rises to remark that "the last thing Mr. Borden likes to face is an appeal street railway, must be kept up to a proper and efficient mark, and if those in control fail to do so, some one else should take hold, in the opinion of the Courier the Municipality should markets lead to such an opportunity."

This is the way the Guelph Mercury rubs it in: "Brantford police authorities have been warned to keep an eye on Mrs. Pankhurst should she visit Dyketown on her Canadian tour. They fear a plot to set fire to the city hall."

A girl caught in Toronto for masquerading in men's clothing said she did so in order to more readily obtain employment. That gives somewhat of a jolt to the theory that the fair sex with normal clothes on are displacing men.

A palace of peace has been dedicated at the Hague. It is not believed that there would be room on the facade for the names of all the battles which have taken place since the movement started.

An official statement sent out from Ottawa estimates that coal deposits in Canada total 1,234,269,310,000 tons. It will be mighty hard for a man to believe that this winter when he sees his coal bin emptying at the rate of $6 or $7 per.

Mr. Truax is the Liberal candidate who is running in the bye election in South Bruce. After the affair is over he is liable to find the kind wielded by his competitor was truer.

writ of habeas corpus had not been obeyed. L. T. Marchal, K. C., representing the immigration department contended that Thaw had not been produced for the following reasons:

1.—That the original of the writ had not been served on the immigration authorities connected with the case, but only copies, which was irregular.

2.—That each writ served should have borne the original signature of the judges issuing them and the man who served which law had not been fulfilled.

3.—That being a criminal matter Judges Gervais and Cross sitting in chambers had no right to issue the writ, which should have come up before a judge of the district in which the prisoner was held.

4.—That being a criminal matter that court had no jurisdiction, as it was a civil tribunal.

5.—That the immigration department under act had supreme powers in such a matter and that its decision could not be reviewed or quashed by any court, unless the party affected was a Canadian or Canadian domiciled.

Judge Archambault, the president of the court, asked if it was contended by the immigration department that the legal procedure connected with the writ of habeas corpus could be put aside by legislation.

Mr. Marchal said it could be in an instance like that of Thaw who was not a Canadian or Canadian domiciled.

Judge Lavergne suggested that only the imperial parliament and perhaps not it, had the right to deny a British subject the advantage of a writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Marchal thought the Canadian parliament was supreme in criminal matters.

Judge Gervais believed, according to an act passed in Great Britain the colonials only had the right to pass laws which were not repugnant to the fundamental principles of British law, one of which principles was the right of any man to the protection of the writ of habeas corpus.

Mr. Lafamme had just begun his argument in favor of the sustaining of the writ when the court adjourned till this afternoon.

Continuing his arguments this afternoon in favor of the sustaining of the writ of habeas corpus, secured from Judges Gervais and Cross for Thaw, who is ignored by the immigration officials, N. K. Lafamme, K.C., contended Mr. Marchal's contention that the original writ and notice should have been served on them. He said the original writ was shown to the officials holding Thaw, and that certified copies were handed them.

Mr. Lafamme's language argued that Thaw had been a resident of Canada for two weeks prior to the service of the writ, which might have brought him under the clause in the immigration act giving the rights of people domiciled in Canada to appeal.

Commenting on the alleged powers given the immigration authorities to over-ride the habeas corpus writ, Mr. Lafamme said, if such a view was upheld a subject of the British Empire was left unprotected. By suspending the benefit of the writ the government was establishing an autocracy.

Here Is The Newest. BEACON, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The grand jury at Poughkeepsie to-day began an investigation of charges of conspiracy against Harry K. Thaw in connection with his escape from the Matteawan asylum.

NINE CAR ROBBERS ELUDE CAPTURE MANY MATTERS WERE DISCUSSED

Left Bridgeburg and Fort Erie Before Warrants Were Served. Trades and Labor Council Met Last Evening Features of Business.

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Sept. 18.—Sentences were imposed on four young men for thefts from the railways yesterday afternoon by Magistrate John G. Rathvon, of Bridgeburg. Percy White, aged 29, and John Fickett, age 18, were each given two years less one day. William Goulding, age 21, and John Fordham, age 22, were each given nine months. Earl Sensenbough, the last man to be arrested, was remanded on bail given by his sister for another week.

In a crowded court room in the Fort Erie Town Hall the four young men, all members of respectable Bridgeburg families, filed into the room in charge of Detectives Moynihan and Bond. White and Fickett were told of another charge against them, that of stealing 24 raincoats from the Michigan Central Railroad on July 21, and after electing summary trial, pleaded guilty to the charge without any hesitation. None of the men had engaged legal advice, and the only lawyer in the room was the County Crown Attorney, T. D. Cowper, of Welland. Each of the young men were asked by the magistrate if he had anything to say for himself, and they one after another stood up and said that they were guilty and that there was nothing more to be said about it. Fickett, who is only eighteen, and the youngest of the quartette, said, "I done it, and I don't know why I done it."

The Rector's Plea. Rev. A. C. MacIntosh, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church here, was granted permission to address the court on behalf of the boys. He called attention to the fact that the accused had saved the county and the railway companies a great deal of trouble, difficulty and expense, in admitting their guilt. He asked his Worship to temper justice with mercy. They were all the children of respectable parents, and while their admission of guilt would forever mar their lives, the evil associations of prison life would not incite them to better things. The rector said that what these boys needed was remedial punishment, if being sent to prison by others older than themselves. "It is not for me to dictate or even suggest what you shall do with these boys," concluded the rector, "but I can assure your Worship that I never intentionally deal with them. My action will earn the gratitude of the boys' parents and the people of the community."

The Crown Attorney addressed the court briefly. He reminded the court that the maximum sentence for an ordinary theft was seven years, while for stealing from the railways it is 14 years. Therefore, said the Attorney, in dealing with these unfortunate young men, you have the law to take into consideration. The law must consider that the railways are entitled to twice the protection that private individuals are, or it would not impose twice the penalty. The railways are more open to thefts than are private individuals. And these young men cannot say that they were not been warned. It is little over 3 years ago, when four of the young men of the community were sentenced for the same thing by the late Judge Wells.

Two of the fathers of the young men, Jos. Goulding and John Fordham, also spoke, asking for mercy. In spite of Rev. Mr. MacIntosh's plea, however, it was decided that the prisoners' expected sentences of considerable length, for when his Worship, without any comment on the cases whatever, announced the sentences, they all received them with apparently no emotion whatever.

All four were removed to St. Catharines prior to going to the Central Prison this evening.

It was admitted by Detective Moynihan, of the M.C.R. that of the 14 warrants that were out the officers were unable to serve nine of them, the parties having left town for parts unknown.

The police have refused to divulge the names of the parties who are wanted, but they say that they will get them within a few days. "One man sent word this morning that he was ready to come and take his medicine," said Moynihan.

It is said that a number of Bridgeburg men would be arrested very soon. Evidence has been secured of men taking goods to supply their own families. One man who has made restitution, walked up to a detective yesterday and said: "You see this suit I am wearing? It was made from cloth stolen from a Wabash car." That the officers do not intend that any more suspects get out of town is shown by the fact that every train leaving Bridgeburg in either direction, whether passenger or freight, is closely watched.

A request, which if carried out by the city council, will result in a thorough investigation into the collapse of the Marlboro' St. Methodist church will be made in the form of a resolution passed by the Trades and Labor Council at the meeting in Union Hall. In the resolution, it was asked that a thorough investigation be made, and that competent tradesmen make the investigation into the case. It was further asked that the blame be placed on the proper party or parties.

Delegate Foran. Delegate Foran, who occupied the chair in the absence of Vice-President George Moore, introduced the subject. He said the building inspector did not seem to do his duty, and the city council refused to deal with the matter. It had been stated that a citizen, that the city council would do nothing that was requested by the Trades and Labor Council. However, notwithstanding this, he was strongly in favor of the matter being referred to the council even if the matter was dealt with the same as the cheese question. (Laughter).

Delegate Brown. Delegate Brown held that the council should have investigated in justice to the inspector and all parties concerned.

Did Not Want Lawyers. The council did not want lawyers, doctors, bank clerks, and others, of the corporation making the inspection, and accordingly the clause asking that tradesmen make the investigation was put in.

Scaffold Inspection Discussed. The non-inspection on scaffolds gave rise to a discussion which was carried on in connection with the discussion over the collapse of the church. As yet, Brantford has not an inspector of scaffolds. It was pointed out by Secretary Tookes that there was an act which called for the inspection of scaffolds.

Corresponding Secretary. Symons and Delegate Brown, who will attend the Montreal conference of the Trades and Labor Congress next week, were asked to take the matter up.

An Interview. Delegate Bert Brown read a clipping from the Western Morning News, in which it was stated that Plymouth, England, was by an organizer of the Canadian Trades Congress. It recites an interview which the paper had with Prof. Norman Andrews on a recent visit to England. He endorsed every line of an article, the paper published on Canada. The article deals with wages the labor men obtain in Canada. The Professor told of several things to be guarded against by the immigrant to Canada. Mr. Symons dealt with the work being done by the Imperial Home Re-union Association of Brantford. In the article it was stated that Mr. Andrews said there was a contract in this city which could not be undertaken because of the scarcity of men. This statement was pooh-poohed by several delegates and it was decided to send the clipping to Mr. Andrews with a request that he explain certain items.

Will Assist Widow. Delegate Barteam from the musicians' union stated that the musicians union were going to send a cheque to the widow of President Pierce. If the council were going to assist the widow the musicians would include their cheque, if not they would send it anyway. The council discussed the matter and it was decided to appoint a committee to look into the matter report at the next meeting. The following were appointed: Delegates Foran, Brown and Symons. The matter will be taken up by the unions.

Plasterers' Complaint. Delegate Ramsbottom from the plasterers' union, asked if the plastering on the hospital extension would be done by union men. The council's delegate on the hospital board will deal with the matter.

Another Complaint. The wiring at the hospital is being done by a Buffalo contractor and Buffalo men are doing the work. There is a strong objection to the employing of men from out of the city, the delegates believing that local men should be employed.

Still Another. Delegate Perrin from the Plasterers' Union complained that union bricklayers were doing plastering to the extent of patching. The plasterers will attend the bricklayers meeting to-night and take the matter up.

Sergeant-at-Arms Appointed. Owing to acting as Secretary pro tem, Delegate Brown asked that another delegate be appointed Sergeant-at-Arms. Delegate Mitchell was appointed.

Delegates Received. The following delegates were received from the Hod Carriers and Building Laborers: Bros. Rycroft, C. Webber, A. Pattison, J. Huke, T. Pearson and Joseph Clark; from the Musicians' Union Bros. John McHutchinson, E. C. Duval, W. R. Barteam, G. Beattie, H. T. Kent.

Bros. Barteam, Beattie and McHutchinson were present.

"NO CHECKEE, NO WASHEE" SOO HOO'S DECLARATION

Case in Police Court To-day Went Against the "Chink"

"No tickce, no washee," said See Hoo, a Colborne street laundryman when Herbert Klippner called to get his laundry, consisting of one shirt and two collars, and as Klippner could not produce any "tickce," Soa refused to give him any "washee." The result was that the Chinaman was called to court this morning to answer to a charge of conversion. The plaintiff claimed that he left his laundry at Hoo's place about the 3rd of September, and instead of being given a ticket he was called upon to sign a slip of paper. When he called for the laundry about ten days later the laundryman said there was nothing for him, and asked him for his ticket. Klippner was sure that he had left his laundry at Hoo's place of business.

The Chinaman denied that he had ever seen the plaintiff, but the Magistrate was convinced that Klippner was not mistaken in the place, and advised that the case be settled. This was finally arranged, the plaintiff being given $1.75. The Magistrate remarked that, in his opinion, Hoo had a very loose way of conducting his business, and advised that he give checks to all his customers after this.

Chucky to Inspector. Chas. Howe was charged with using insulting language to License Inspector Eacrett, but he pleaded that he was so drunk that he did not remember the occurrence. The evidence of the inspector was enough to convince the Magistrate that the language addressed to Mr. Eacrett, when the defendant was ordered out of the bar of a local hotel, was insulting, and a fine of three dollars and costs was imposed.

Still Drunk. When Paulo Dmitertevy, charged as a drunk, was arraigned, he was still very much under the influence of liquor, and although a friend offered to escort him home, the Magistrate thought it better that he spend a few more hours in the cells. He was accordingly remanded until to-morrow. Another foreigner, who was up only a few months ago on a drunk charge, was fined three dollars.

WALKERTON GIRL IS HIT BY A TAXI

Miss Kate McKinnon Seriously Injured While Crossing Toronto Street.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—Struck by a taxicab on Dundonald street at about 9 o'clock last night, Miss Kate McKinnon, a domestic employed at 27 Dundonald street, who came to Toronto only three weeks ago from Walkerton, Ont., received serious injuries and is now lying in the General Hospital.

Being unable to avoid the taxi in time Miss McKinnon was knocked to the pavement and suffered a compound fracture of the leg and other injuries.

At first it was thought that the young woman was fatally hurt, but after being taken to the hospital the doctors announced that she had been seriously but not dangerously injured.

Special Demonstration

We are featuring for this week only, a demonstration of the famous Ocedar polishing mop and polish—it is a wonderful thing. The Ocedar mop not only banishes dust, but also polishes hardwood, waxed, painted or stained floors, saving 80 p.c. of the labor and at the same time does magnificent work, the mop being round and padded makes it impossible to scratch the most delicate surface; it conforms to and fits those hard to get at places, and cleans from floor to ceiling. Price $1.50.

The polish is not only a varnish food, but a cleanser, restoring the varnish to its original lustre, preventing it from checking and cracking and leaves no residue. For your piano and highly polished furniture, including white enamel it has no equal. Prices according to size of bottles, 25c. to $3.00.

Demonstration Main Floor.

How the Pulmotor, New Life Saver, is Operated

A Device That Anyone Can Handle With Ease—Is of Great Value in Drowning Cases.

The following article from the Ottawa Journal will be of interest to Brantfordites in view of the fact that the City Council has decided to purchase a pulmotor.

To have to die is a distinction of which no man is proud.—Alexander Smith Dreamthorp.

Of course it is wonderful, if it weren't it wouldn't be worth writing about. It isn't an automobile, though part of its name might suggest it. It isn't a pair of lungs, although it will breathe for you quite handsomely. It is neither fish, flesh nor fowl, nor is it run by gasoline, electricity, nor steam. In fact on the whole it is an utter enigma, until you hear about it. If you see it working it looks like an octopus caught in an overgrown suitcase. Two of its tentacles—and brass-bound ones at that—have wandered out. Long, subtle, snake-like things, they join in an arrangement at their extremities which is really an air-tight mask, but might be a variety of sneaker which has settled on some poor fellow's face.

The middle of the curious mechanical animal is still in the suitcase and if you lie the lid it lies all exposed. Really it's deep sea prototype surpasses it in fearsome appearances. Instead of a slimy body and eyes there is an innocent bomb-like affair that might belong to an anarchist but actually is a mere oxygen tank. There are two or three levers, two little bellows and some nickel-plated tubing. That's all. As you watch it the bellows in the centre expand and contract in a manner so monotonous as to be fascinating. And with each of these movements there is a business-like click.

Every two clicks (there are thirty-six to the minute when the machine is in its stride) corresponds in time to a human breath. This is the reason should be for the pulmotor is designed to, in emergency, take the place of human breath and to imitate it as closely as possible. With the mask properly attached and the machine in good working order about every four seconds the lungs of the person to whom it is attached are pumped full of fresh oxygen and air to their utmost recesses, and then emptied. This process goes on continuously for forty minutes, the chest of the unfortunate one rising and falling as quietly as in normal respiration. At the end of this time the process can be continued indefinitely by substituting new oxygen tanks for the used ones.

It is essential to use the pulmotor that the person to whom it is applied should be first placed in a position that is in such a position that the channel in the lungs is free. If, however, this is not the case, if the head is too far forward, for instance, or if a particle of food blocks the wind pipe, the apparatus immediately begins to work irregularly or very quickly and the bellows fly to and fro at a great rate just as though they were trying to protest at this futile sort of business. If, on the other hand, the face mask is not applied as closely to the face as it should be the machine is likely to register its complaint by stopping absolutely short there and then. So that altogether the pulmotor seems to be a human thing rather than an inert mass of steel and rubber.

Apparently Drowned. This beneficent machine, for such a name seems to fit it exactly, has been used under many and various conditions. Most spectacular perhaps has been its use in the case of drowned persons. It has been reported that men have been under water for periods of fifteen minutes and over and although apparently lifeless at the end of this time have been revived by its use. When one considers that formerly if a drowning person sank and remained under water for more than two or three minutes his case was practically hopeless, this is all the more remarkable.

No less wonderful are the reports in regard to electrical shocks and burns. From an electrical company in Louisiana, for instance, comes the story of a man who was unfortunate enough to come in contact with a wire carrying twenty-three hundred volts. He was terribly burned and pronounced dead by a doctor in attendance. The pulmotor was attached notwithstanding this. Within fifteen minutes he commenced to breathe and his pulse was strong. He was taken to the hospital in a very shaky condition, but within three days was able to leave for home.

Asphyxiation. Again, in Pueblo, Kentucky, the janitor in a moving picture theatre became asphyxiated by gas. It is reported that the physician who arrived could find no sign of life. He attached the pulmotor and the same condition of affairs persisted for an hour. At the end of this time, however, natural respiration and heart beats returned and the man lived.

Such instances might be multiplied indefinitely. The injuries have not been limited to those mentioned, but cases of poisoning of various kinds, the inhalation of noxious fumes, and even bodily injuries resulting from accidents have given rise to collapse in which the pulmotor has proved to be useful. Physicians report from all over America that men near to death and even in not a few cases men apparently dead have been brought back to life and health by this wonderful mechanical life-saver.

Used by Anyone. With a very little instruction anyone can use the pulmotor. It therefore has a wide field of usefulness not strictly limited, in emergency, to the medical men's own field. This, as well as the value of the machine, has been largely recognized. It is used in the German navy, for instance, as well as in the British, and entrusted to first aid squads who can supply it quickly in emergencies. Hospitals find it most valuable, while, especially in Europe, it is commonly found in ambulance police patrol wagons, electric light plants, and at bathing resorts.

More especially at this season of the year is the pulmotor obtainable in the vicinity of water. Recently a coroner's jury holding an inquest on the body of a boy drowned in the Flumber river, Toronto, brought in a recommendation that a pulmotor be bought and kept near at hand to the child suffering from the fever from its parents. Another discovery reported at the congress by Dr. Henry Head of the London hospital was that insanity eradicates itself in third generation.

This is the British boxer's announced program for Saturday. Weigh in at 12.15 p.m. at 135 pounds, hop through the ropes at the arena an hour later, shadow his opponent, and declare himself world's champion, victor his lawyers and make a claim for the $25,000 forfeit money. Ritchie's forfeit was posted as a check on which he stopped payment before he left for San Francisco.

DR. GORDON BATES, Ottawa. GOLFERS SWEAR AND BILLIARDISTS DON'T. WHY? ASKS EXPERT. LONDON, Sept. 18.—"Why should you swear at golf when no one swears at billiards—a game quite as irritating to the novice?" asks an expert. "I have never heard in a billiard room anything like the furious outbursts of the golf course. When a man misses his stroke he will not swear—he says only 'Ah, too fine,' or 'Not legs enough,' and makes way quietly for his adversary. A man who swears like a golfer in a billiard room would be evicted immediately. Where does the difference occur?"

Contagion is stopped from scarlet fever. One of Discoveries Made at Big Medical Congress in London. NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Dr. J. B. Murphy, the surgeon who cared for Col. Roosevelt in Chicago when he was shot, returned yesterday from the International Medical Congress. It was demonstrated at the meeting that rubbing the patient with eucalyptus oil in scarlet fever prevented contagion, he asserted. "If a child is rubbed daily with the oil directly the case of scarlet fever is discovered," he said, "no one else will contract the fever, and there is no need of going to expense of quarantining the house or separating the child suffering from the fever from its parents. Another discovery reported at the congress by Dr. Henry Head of the London hospital was that insanity eradicates itself in third generation."

"I ATTRIBUTE MY CURE SOLELY And Entirely To Taking 'Fruit-a-lives'"

HILL, QUE., Dec. 24th, 1909

"For the past twelve years, I had painful attacks of Dyspepsia. I could not digest my food and everything caused the most agonizing pain in my stomach. I also had a fearful attack of Constipation and at times, I had no movement of the bowels for two weeks. Three doctors attended me for two years and gave me all kinds of medicine but did me no good. My weight came to only 80 pounds and everyone thought I was going to die. Finally, I had the good fortune to try 'Fruit-a-lives' and as soon as I began to take them, I felt better. I persisted in the treatment and to my great joy, I steadily improved. Now I feel very well, weigh 115 pounds, and this is more than I ever weighed even before my illness. I attribute my cure solely and entirely to 'Fruit-a-lives' and can never praise them too much for saving my life. To all who suffer from Dyspepsia and Constipation, I recommend 'Fruit-a-lives' as a miraculous remedy."

PETER PAN, A PLAY THAT NEVER GROWS STALE

Maudie Adams presented Peter Pan all of one season in New York and a portion of another. For three consecutive years she devoted herself exclusively to it. There has always been a demand for it and it promises never to lose its novelty, its freshness and its charm. The actress revived it at holiday time in New York and it was also revived in London where one of the reviewers referred to it as "The Play That Wouldn't Grow Stale." Peter has also found his way to the German stage, increasing his popularity and vogue. The news that Mr. Frohman was to revive the work with Miss Adams in it probably caused more pleasure than any announcement that was made for the present season. The actress is to be seen as Barrie's youthful hero at the Grand Friday, Sept. 19, at 8 o'clock.

Cricket. On Saturday next Brantford St. George team play the Paris team to decide the destiny of the Roberts Van Lane Silverware. Both teams have lost one game each in the City League, so a keen struggle is sure to be seen by any who journey with the team leaving by the 2 o'clock car.

St. George team will be chosen from the following players, who are asked to be on hand: F. W. Derbyshire (captain), W. Walsh, A. Bland, C. Wilkins, E. Stewart, Lieutenant Hall, E. J. Winyard, F. Usher, Geo. Johnson, C. W. F. Rawle, H. Elliott, A. Elliott, H. Whitton, Geo. Bailey, H. J. Bonner, Umpire, Geo. Richards, Scorer, A. Houghting.

The Lawyers Will Do Most of the Fighting For This World's Title. VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 18.—Freddie Welsh, British lightweight champion, proposes to shadow box himself in the world's championship here next Saturday afternoon, the day he was to have fought Willie Ritchie for the latter's title. Having disposed of his imaginary opponent, Welsh said to-day he will demand Ritchie's forfeit, claim himself world's champion and set in motion legal machinery to obtain damages from Ritchie for several remunerative matches. Welsh declares he has lost through waiting for the champion.

Football

It was decided at a meeting of the Football Council held in the Borden Club last night that a double header should be played at Agricultural Park on Saturday afternoon next.

The draw game between the Dufferin Rifles and Sons of England in the Courier Cup series will be played on the north grounds and is scheduled at 3 o'clock sharp. Last Saturday the game ended in a draw, one goal each being called on account of darkness.

Mr. Cassels will referee the game. From all accounts the two teams are pretty evenly matched and supporters of both teams are confident of victory.

Charity Cup Game. The semi-final game between the Y. M. C. A. and Cockshutt United on the south grounds at Agricultural Park on Saturday afternoon commencing at 5.30. The football council has appointed Mr. E. Goateley to referee the game and Messrs. Farnsworth and Cassels to act as linesmen.

With the double header at the Park on Saturday there should be a large turn out of followers of the game. There are two good matches on the programme for Saturday afternoon and as the four teams are all about equal in strength.

Protest Not Sustained. The football council has ordered not allow the protest of the Tulea team against the Holmedale Tigers in the Cup Tie series or the one put in by the Dragons against the All Scots in the Courier Cup series. The winners stand and were awarded to the winners, the Tigers and All Scots.

S. O. E. Football Notice. The football council has ordered the Courier Cup game next Saturday afternoon, Sept. 20th at 2 p.m. at Agricultural Park. The following team will represent the S. O. E.: Goal, A. N. Other; backs, W. Mitchell (capt), J. Keighley; half backs, Westcott, I. Clark, J. Mathias; forwards, W. Budd, W. Smith, H. Westlake, J. Smith and A. Johnson. Players meet at armories at 2.30 p.m. Reserves, D. O'Dowd, H. Smith, H. Sleeth.

AT THE GEM THEATRE. "Penalty of Crime" is a sensational feature in two parts and is being used Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The incident showing an auto at full speed, crashing over bank of river is one of the most thrilling ever enacted in motion pictures. A complete new program of photographs will be shown Friday and Saturday.

Shaughnessy Said To Be Plotting to Get Pitcher Bramble for Ottawa Club

The Berlin Telegraph predicts that the Dutchman will lose pitcher Fred Bramble through the draft and that the Fort Wayne Club of the Central League Association will be the club to land him. And woven around this appears to be a nice little plot on the part of Frank Shaughnessy to land the Berlin heaver for the Ottawa Club next season.

Shag is After Him. It seems that Shaughnessy has a part interest in the Fort Wayne Club. The idea is that Fort Wayne will draft Bramble and then he will be turned over to Ottawa next spring of being the Senator's property. Shaughnessy has been after Bramble for some time and he offered to buy him from the Berlin Club this past season. However, his offer was turned down, as the Berlin owners thought they could get a better price elsewhere. Now, Shaughnessy is taking this other means of landing the pitcher who is undoubtedly one of the best curve ball fingers in the Canadian League.

Will He Pay $500? The scheme looks pretty feasible on the face of it, and it may turn out as the Telegraph predicts, but one must consider that before Fort Wayne can get Bramble by draft, five hundred hard-earned simoleons must be paid for him. All players drafted from the Canadian League net the club owning them $500, that being the Class C draft price. The question is, is Shaughnessy willing to pay that much for Bramble?

Bramble's 1913 Work Only Fair. Bramble is not a consistent pitcher. He will pitch shut-out ball one day, and the next time he goes in the box he is batted all over the lot. His record for the past season will show McInnis suffered a slight injury, and the veteran Harry Davis, took his place at first base for the Athletics. The latter's lead is still nine and a half games.

Rain caused the postponement of all National League games. To-day the Giants are carded to meet St. Louis, while the Phillies, according to an announcement from Pittsburgh last night, will meet the Pirates this afternoon. It is not improbable that the Giants and Cardinals will agree to two games. McGraw's team has an advantage of seven and a half games over the Phillies.

FROM ALL OVER THE GREAT WEST. Come Reports From Women Dadd's Kidney Pills. Telling of Renewed Health Fresh Vigor Through Using Great Canadian Remedy. OVERLAND, Sask., Sept. (Special)—"From all over this west are coming statements from men who have found renewed and fresh vigor through using D. Kidney Pills and in this great community evidence is not lacking that the great Canadian remedy daily gaining friends among the whom the burdens of life fall heavily. Mrs. M. D. Forsberg, well-known resident says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills did me a great deal of good. I tried two kinds of medicines before using but it was Dodd's Kidney Pills benefited me."

Women's health depends on kidneys. If the kidneys are not the result is weakness and wear and a burden of pain almost too to bear. But when Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys right, the result is that all poison is strained from the blood, the seeds of disease removed and the purified blood restores health and vigor to all parts of the body.

Almost any bright, healthy woman can tell you why Dodd's Kidney Pills are known as woman's best friend.

LIVELY TIME WITH HORSE IN THE RIVER

Mickle Dymont Company's Teamster Surely Had Exciting Experience

There was a lively time at the bridge which spans the Grand River near the Glue Factory yesterday afternoon. It appears that a horse attached to a buggy went to cross the bridge and right behind it was a horse and wagon, belonging to the Mickle Dymont Company drawing a load of lumber and driven by a man named Venables. When the two rigs were on the bridge the horse attached to the buggy started to back up and force the horse attached to the wagon to do the same with the result that the Mickle Dymont's horse and a load of lumber backed right off the bridge into the river.

Mr. Venables called for help and his appeal was answered by men who happened to be nearby. The horse's head was held above water while the driver had to dive in the water and unhook the horse and cut part of the harness before the animal could be got out of the river.

The wagon and lumber were gotten out of the river and the only damage done outside of the cutting of the parts of the harness was a broken shaft.

Keys Lost. There are a larger number of keys at the most offices left there by parties who have boxes. They are a useless commodity at the post office and would gladly be given up to the proper parties.

Petty Thefts. During the past week petty thefts have become very numerous in the Township. Vegetables, chickens and meats are among the stolen goods. The county constables are making an effort to locate the guilty party or parties.

Trying to Identify. A report has been received from the West, that Alfred Tucker, who at one time worked at a farm, laborer near Harrisburg, is dead. Loucheud, Bennett and Co., Calgary lawyers, are trying to identify him as the son of George Tucker of the County of Surrey, Eng. Some property is involved. It seems that his right name was Alfred Joseph Tucker Peach.

Out on Bail. Ernest Pike was arrested yesterday afternoon by High Constable Kerr. He was held on a charge of possession of a revolver which he is alleged to have stolen a revolver from his neighbor, Mr. Porter of Oakland, and swore that he secured the revolver in Kingston. Affidavits have been secured which show that the revolver was not secured there.

A Presentation. A very pleasing event transpired in the post office yesterday afternoon when the mail had all been delivered when the letter carriers assembled and presented one of their fellow members, Chas. Stone, who recently joined the benedictus, with a handsome marble clock. The address was read by George Broach and Alfred Stevens made the presentation. Mr. Stone was completely taken by surprise, but made a suitable reply.

A New Lodge. A new lodge was dedicated at Lynbrook to name of "Biddy"; rough haired, fawn color; very timid; last seen around Mohawk and Alexandra Parks. Strayed two weeks ago. Any one delivering the same will be rewarded. Mrs. Wright, 16 Victoria St. f12

Laid at Rest. Marion Rose Beedall. Mar on Rose, aged 7 months and one child, of Mrs. Sammie Beedall, 22 North Gilkinson St., passed away yesterday. The funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of the parents to Mt. Hope Cemetery. Rev. Chapman officiated.

Mary Toth. The funeral took place this morning of Mary, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Toth, 153 Albion street, from the parents residence to St. Basil's church; thence to St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. Father Clohey officiated.

Obituary. J. A. Maynard. Mr. James Arthur Maynard, 128 Eagle Avenue, died this morning, after a short illness, typhoid fever being the cause of death. He was 30 years of age and had resided in this city about two years, making many friends. He was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance and an employee of the Massey Harris Co. The deceased was not married. Besides the father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Williams, England, and Mrs. Gertrude Baker of this city and five brothers, Edward, Ernest, Sidney, Bert and Harold all of this city. As four of the other members of the household are ill with typhoid the funeral will take place from Beck's Terminal Emporium Saturday afternoon to Mt. Hope cemetery.

New York Police Continue to Unravel a Nasty Murder - Dentist Is Held

(Canadian Press Despatch) NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Dramatic evidence showing that a murderer, a promiscuous note for $300, dated April 16, 1911, and bearing what purports to be the signature of Dr. Ernest Muret, the priest's alleged counterfeiting partner, have been acquired for a longer time than Muret admits, has been found, according to the police. Dr. Muret has claimed that he never knew Father Schmidt before the latter called on him last winter to have dental work done. To-day the police have been investigating the matter. The priest, Dr. Muret, which was found in the priest's room in the rectory of the church of St. Joseph of the Holy Family yesterday.

This note, the police believe, proved beyond a doubt that the priest and the dentist have been friends for a long time, perhaps for many years. Inspector Faurot declares the finding of it served to convince him more than ever that the men have in common much more than friendship, and that ultimately they will be proved to be relatives.

Following the discovery in Dr. Muret's offices yesterday of letters and papers indicating that he had at one time lived in London, Inspector Faurot called to the Scotland Yard authorities asking that they make an investigation. One of the letters bearing a London post mark and signed "Vera," who describes herself as "your loving wife," urged him to come home as he had nothing to fear "from the detectives." This leads the police here to the conclusion that the Scotland Yard detectives had been trying to locate Muret at one time.

More the detectives were running down the clues of the mysterious activities of Schmidt, the more they became convinced that only a minor part of these activities have been uncovered.

Touching on the question of the chief of the United States secret service in New York, a man with long experience with counterfeiting, declared last night that in all his experience he had never heard of an insane counterfeiter.

No Record There. LONDON, Sept. 18.—The police authorities at Scotland Yard have no record in their registers of the name of Dr. Ernest Muret, the dentist arrested in connection with the confessed murderer, Father Hans Schmidt at New York. The registers at headquarters, however, show an entry concerning a Dr. Ernst, and it is thought possible that the defective department that this person may be identical with the man detained in New York.

Dr. Ernst, while in London, was under surveillance on suspicion of being connected with the white slave trade, and the publication of indecent literature, and the disappearance, evidently having learned that he was watched.

Personal Notes. Mr. Chas. Felton is holidaying in Buffalo.

Mr. Wm. P. Innes of Simcoe was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Ralph Hagey left to-day for Kingston to attend Queen's University.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Turnbull returned Tuesday from the wedding trip to Montreal and are residing at 321 Dalhousie St.

Mr. Jim Miller, the Colborne St. barber who has been camping at Mohawk Park for two weeks has forsaken pleasure and returned to business.

TO THE PUBLIC. The Board of Governors of the Brantford General Hospital and the members of the Executive Committee of the W. H. A. invite all residents of Brant County, and more especially those who have contributed in any way to the funds for the Nurses' Home, to attend the ceremonies connected with the formal opening of the Home at 3.30 p. m. on Friday afternoon next, when the graduating exercises for nurses will also be held.
