WILSON'S NOTE A FIRM DEMAND FOR RIGHT OF NEUTRALS

Assumes Responsibility For Peaceful Status of the Lusitania, as Established by the Duly Constituted American Officials Before Clearance.

Washington, June 11.—The text of the American rejoinder to the German Government's reply to the note following the sinking of the Lusitania follows:

The Secretary of State, ad interim, to the American Ambassador at Berlin, Department of State, Washington, June 9, 1915.

"American Ambassador, Berlin: You are instructed to deliver textually the following note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs:

"In compliance with your Excellency's request, I did not fail to transmit to my Government immediately upon their receipt your note of May 28 in reply to my note of May 15th, and your supplementary note of June 9, setting forth the conclusions, so far as reached by the Imperial German Government, concerning the attacks on the American steamers Cushing and Guilford. I am now instructed by my Government to communicate the following in reply:

"The Government of the United States notes with gratification the full recognition by the Imperial German Government in discussing the cases of the Cushing and the Guilford, of the principle of the freedom of all parts of the open sea to neutral ships, and the frank willingness of the Imperial German Government to acknowledge and meet its liability where the fact of attack upon neutral ships which have been guilty of any hostile act by German air craft or vessels of war is satisfactorily established; and the Government of the United States will in due course lay before the Imperial German Government, as it requests, full information concerning the attack on the steamer Cushing.

"THE FALABA CASE

"With regard to the sinking of the steamer Falaba by which an American citizen lost his life, the Government of the United States is surprised to find the Imperial German Government contending that an effort on the part of a merchantman to escape capture and secure assistance alters the obligation of the officer seeking to make the capture in respect of the safety of the lives of those on board the merchantman, although the vessel had ceased her attempts to escape when torpedoed. These are not new circumstances. They have been in the minds of statesmen and of international jurists throughout the development of naval warfare, and the Government of the United States does not understand that they have ever been held to alter the principles of humanity upon which it has insisted. Nothing, but actual forcible resistance or continued effort to escape by flight when ordered to stop for the purpose of visit on the part of the merchantman, has ever been held to forfeit the lives of those on board. The Government of the United States, however, does not understand that the Imperial German Government is seeking in this case to relieve itself of liability, but only intends to set forth the circumstances which led the commander of the submarine to allow himself to be hurried into the course which he took.

"STATUS OF LUSITANIA

"Your Excellency's note, in discussing the loss of American lives resulting from the sinking of the Lusitania, adverts at some length to certain information which the Imperial German Government has received with regard to the character and outfit of that vessel, and your Excellency expresses the fear that this information may not have been brought to the attention of the United States. It is stated that the Lusitania was undoubtedly equipped with masked guns.

THE FREE MANHOOD OF NEW ZEALAND RESPONDING TO THE COLORS

Here we see the free manhood of New Zealand, one of the dominions of the British Empire, responding to the call of war. From east and west, from the mountains and plains of Australia and the corn lands of Canada the call of war has been answered with patriotism. The roll of the drum echoes across the great unguarded frontier from the Atlantic to the Pacific and reaches the ears of their cousins across the border, who, still wearing the silken hose of peace and ease, yet eye the men who march to "Tipperary" and the front.

BULGARIA PROTESTS STRONGLY

By Special Wire to the Courier.

LONDON, JUNE 11.—THE BULGARIAN GOVERNMENT, SAYS A BUCHAREST DESPATCH TO THE TIMES, HAS SENT A STRONGLY-WORDED PROTEST TO TURKEY BECAUSE OF THE CONTINUED INDIFFERENCE OF THAT COUNTRY REGARDING TRAFFIC ON THE DEDEGATCH RAILWAY AND THE DETENTION OF PASSENGERS AND FREIGHT.

GERMANS REPULSED WITH SEVERE LOSSES AT TWO POINTS ON DNEISTER RIVER

Petrograd Reports Additional Successes in Galicia—German Wedge East of Stry Repulsed With Heavy Losses—Muscovites Captured Over 6,000 Prisoners, 17 Cannons and 49 Machine Guns.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

PETROGRAD, June 11.—An official announcement from army headquarters given out today recites a Russian success on the River Dneister.

After hard fighting the Russians yesterday took from their antagonists seventeen cannon and 49 machine guns, and captured approximately 6,700 officers and men.

GREAT LOSSES FOR ENEMY.

The text of the communication follows:

"By heroic efforts our troops Thursday repulsed on the right bank of the River Dneister great forces of the enemy who had crossed near Zurawna, east of Stry. On the front from Julakow to Siewki the enemy sustained great losses. After a hard fight we captured 17 cannon and 49 machine guns and took prisoners 188 officers and 6,500 men. Among the prisoners is one entire company of the Prussian Fusilier Guards.

Petrograd, June 11.—An official statement issued last night at the war office was as follows:

"We successfully repulsed German attacks on June 8 and 9 on an extended front in the Shavli region.

"Between the Orzycs and the Visula there was an intense artillery duel on the 8th and 9th.

"On the right bank of the Pilicia at dawn of the 9th the enemy attempted to attack us with small forces, but was repulsed, abandoning to us dozens of prisoners.

"In Galicia the enemy attacked with strong forces our positions protecting Moscsiska (37 miles southwest of Lemberg). The attack was opened with an extremely active artillery fire at 5 o'clock in the evening of the 8th. Employing asphyxiating shells after three hours cannonade, the enemy

FAVORABLE RESPONSE EXPECTED

Probable Character of German Reply is Anticipated as Favorable

Washington, June 11.—With the publication to-day of the latest American note to Germany concerning the sinking of the Lusitania, officials of the United States government and diplomats generally discussed among themselves the probable character of the German Government's answer. While there was no definite information, the feeling in German quarters was that a favorable response was likely as the note seemed to open the door to a solution compatible alike with the interests of both Germany and the United States. The note it was said, was purposely phrased so that it would give Germany an opportunity to meet the wishes of the United States with dignity and in conformity with German public opinion. Many officials wondered why Secretary Bryan declined to sign the note which they regarded as friendly in tone and carrying many expressions of good will. They claimed its friendliness was the very means that he had suggested—persuasion to accomplish the American purpose. Most everybody in official circles disagreed with Mr. Bryan that the note might lead to war.

Unofficial advices received here said that the note which had been considerably delayed in transmission, had been received by Ambassador Gerard in Berlin. It was to be presented today to Herr Von Jawow, the German foreign secretary. It is expected here, however, that Germany will await the arrival of Meyer Gerhard, personal representative of Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who now is en route to Berlin to outline the attitude of the American Government before making response. The note which brought about the crisis in President Wilson's cabinet and culminated in the resignation of William Jennings Bryan, as Secretary of State, although friendly in character, firmly renews previous demands that the German Government give assurances that American lives and vessels shall hereafter be safeguarded.

AUSTRIANS REPORT A BRITISH CRUISER SUNK

By Special Wire to the Courier.

INNSBRUCK, June 11.—(By courier to the Swiss frontier and Geneva, 10.45 a.m., and Paris, 2.50 p.m.)—Announcement has been made here by the Austrians that one of their submarines yesterday sunk a British cruiser of the Liverpool type off St. Jean Medua, in the Adriatic.

ITALIAN WEDGE CHECKED

Advance on Isonzo River Met and Repulsed by the Austrians.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

Geneva, via Paris, June 11.—A La-bach despatch to the Tribune says: "The Italians began their march against Gorizia on the morning of June 8. When the first detachments were near the city the Austrian artillery opened fire and heavy masses of infantry which were thrown forward forced the Italians to fall back several times.

Italian artillery posted east of city opened great gaps in the Austrian ranks, but up to the morning of the 9th neither side had gained a decisive advantage. The Austrians lost from 8,000 to 10,000 men. Gorizia is overflowing with wounded who are being cared for at private houses because of a lack of hospital space."

GERMAN REPORT

Cologne, Germany, June 11.—The correspondent of the Cologne Gazette attached to the Austrian army headquarters in the south, says in a despatch that the first considerable battle of the war with Italy has been fought in the region of the Isonzo River, and that it resulted favorably to the Austrians. The Italians attacked Gorizia, Gradisca and Monfalcone, supporting their advance with artillery fire from pieces of large and small calibre. The Italian advance, the correspondent says, was checked by the Austrian fire on their flanks.

CONFIDENCE AGAIN FELT IN THE SLAVS

Wonderful Recuperative Power of the Russians is Again Shown.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, June 11.—British observers of the war, forming their opinions on the latest despatches from Russia, believe that the Austro-German forces threatening Lemberg from the south-east have been checked in their advance. Russia, they declare, has delivered a return blow and a hard one. The great masses of Germans and Austrian troops which have forced a passage of the Dniester River near Zurawna have, according to the latest announcement of the Russian war office been flung back with heavy losses in both men and material.

LEMBERG SAFE

Thus for the moment Lemberg is thought to be safe, for nowhere else along the Galician front have the Teutonic allies been making progress recently with the exception of couriers of their southern extension into Bukowina.

News was received yesterday that Russian reinforcements were moving south along the Dniester River from Mikolajow to Rohatyn, but it was hardly expected here that they would achieve such quick results. If this victory has been decisive, it is the first real check delivered by the Russians since the start of the new Austro-German rush through Galicia. Here it is characterized as giving renewed faith to Great Britain and France to the recuperative powers of the Russian arms.

"MY MOLARY"

A Clever Parody of a Well-known Song.

Just about everybody knows that beautiful song "My Rosary." A parody of it would be a shame unless cleverly done, and in this regard, Dr. Hart is chuckling yet. In connection with the sending of a dental account to a lady patient, he received this answer:—

"MY MOLARY."
"The hours I've spent with thee dear Hart,

To make a string of pearls for me, I count them over every one apart, My molar, my molar, my molar, Each hour a pearl, each pearl a care, You still a nerve in anguish rung, I count each bead unto the end—all with my tongue.

Oh! memories of drills and burn, Oh! golden gain and bitter loss, I feel each bead and strive at last to learn To come across, dear Hart, to come across."

Nuptial Notes

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Smale, 46 Brighton Row, when their only daughter Flossie, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. A. C. Digby both of this city. The happy couple left on the 6 o'clock train, amid showers of confetti, for Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon. On return they will reside at 51 Church street. Among the numerous presents was a beautiful hat rack presented by the employees of the B. and H. Railway of which the bride has been a recent member of the office staff. Rev. Mr. Martin of Wesley church officiated.

The death of Edith May, the wife of Richard J. Brown, took place at her residence, 10 Drummond Street yesterday. The deceased was in her 24th year and her demise will be mourned by many friends and relatives. The funeral will take place from the home to Mount Hope cemetery to-morrow afternoon.

Lorne Bridge Examination to be Made

A meeting of the board of works took place last evening when a large number of requests were received for additional street oiling. There will have to be a special by-law put through at the next meeting of the city council to confirm the same.

The members decided to engage the services of Mr. William Kirkpatrick of Hamilton, who has been a bridge inspector for the Grand Trunk during the past thirty years, for the examination of Lorne Bridge. He will be on the job to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, and will meet the board at 3 p.m. He will deal with the present strength of the bridge and any necessary steps to make it more safe, also whether cars can go over in order to sume the West Brantford street railway service. Saturday will be a good day for inspection because of the heavy traffic.

The board is also taking up the matter of the removal of poles on Colborne street, and the city engineer has been instructed to call a conference with representatives of the company's concerned. It is hoped to secure a satisfactory solution.

LAWN TENNIS

There are a number of excellent tennis games in the league to-morrow and the schedule of games will be as given below. Dufferin will entertain the T. By Special Wire to the Courier.

London, June 11.—The list of ships torpedoed by German submarines, which is printed by the morning papers, contains the name of the Schooner Express, the crew of which was landed at Liverpool.

STRATHCARRON SUNK
Cardiff, via London, June 11.—The Glasgow Steamship Strathcarron was torpedoed yesterday without warning by a German submarine, while on her way bound from Barry. The crew which put off in boats, was rescued by a steamer and landed here.

The Strathcarron was a vessel of 2,807 tons, built in 1912 at Greenock and was owned by the Strathcarron Steamship Company, of Glasgow. She sailed from Havre, May 28, for Barry, where she arrived June 2, and was reported to have entered the government service.

FISHING SMACKS SUNK
Holland June 10.—via London, June 11.—The British fishing smacks Welfare and Laurestina were attacked and sunk by zeppelins in the North Sea. The crews, which took to their boats, were picked up by a Dutch smack and brought here.

RUSSIAN BARQUE SUNK
London, June 11.—The Russian Bark Thomasina has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine off the southwest coast of Ireland. The members of the crew of the sailing ship have been landed at Buncinstown.

SWEDISH SHIP SUNK
London, June 11.—The Swedish Steamer Otogo, bound for Hull was torpedoed and sunk last night. The Otogo, of 979 tons net, was 241 feet long and was built in 1882. She was owned in Solvesborg, Sweden.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN ONE
London, June 11.—The Russian Steamer Dania has been torpedoed by a German submarine. The members of her crew were saved.

The Russian Steamer Dania was of 1,689 tons net, 314 feet long, and was built at Sunderland in 1905. She was owned by the Northern Steamship Company, Limited, of Petrograd. Maritime records show that she has been running between Liverpool and Archangel.

serve detachment, as a cyclist. My nephew Rifle T. E. Bell, 2965, 6th Barrage, city of London Rifles. The regiment is somewhere in France. My brother Jim was on H. M. S. Orion in the North Sea. He lost his left arm the night they fired on Hartlepool. Sister Bella's girl, (The Reg), was nursing at Ostend but is now at the infirmary at Portsmouth, my two cousins by the name of Bell are among the missing. My sister Bella's oldest boy is in the King's army, he is out here for the second time, (having been wounded once). He is a sergeant in the King's Own Rifles. I don't know the battalion.

The day before yesterday where we were going into action I saw the 4th Battalion. The crush I was with and nearly all the transport were O. K. They are mostly all Brantford boys, and one on the way to me. I don't know how many Brantford boys are killed, but I know a lot were wounded, as I was there when they got wounded. It was an awful sight. The artillery are always behind the infantry and the infantry advance under our shell fire, but whenever the Germans get our range they pound us, but it is diamond cut diamond and like chickens, when it gets hot we move, but they have to find us again. We got a German officer prisoner today. He looks very scared, when we mention "crucify them" or "don't forget the Lusitania." If the Germans were so light scared, we would send them to me. But with the gas, and the treatment they give their prisoners is beyond humanity. My brother Ernest sent me 150 cigarettes today. My brother-in-law George Meaby sends me 100 cigarettes a month. My niece, Kitty sends me cigarettes once in awhile. Your cousin Ethel Tweed in Guildford, sent me heaps of cigarettes, when we were at Ypres, and having none at all. If they went good, also relatives in England send me cakes and chocolates, and my nephew in England on home defence, sends me cigarettes too, also our issue are 30 cigarettes per week. So I have lots to smoke, but none to waste. I shall cable you again or whenever we are in any hot fighting, so as you won't worry. Also I may cable for money, as I draw all I can to buy eggs, bread, coffee and other things. It certainly shall cable anyway for money, when we get back to England again. It is quite true as the paper said, "My job isn't no bed of roses," and it is getting harder as so many are killed and wounded, and their men must be looked after and sorted.

The Germans are still using the gas. My eyes are left weak from the dose I got. It is awful stuff. Perhaps my eyes will get strong in time. Well, I must go for the time being. Remember me to all the postmen and Brantford friends. With love.

GERMANY STILL MAINTAINS HER RIGHT TO SINK

Contend They Are Not Violating Rules by Sinking Ship and Cargo.

Washington, June 10.—The German Government's reply to the secretary of the American note, regarding the sinking of the American ship Wm. P. Frye, by the Eitel Friedrich, reached the State Department today. Acting Secretary Lansing stated its contents would not be made public until the reply had been studied.

Cable advices from Berlin have stated that Germany's reply reiterates the stand taken in its original note acknowledging liability in the Frye case and referring it to a prize court. The United States government urged that the matter be transferred to the prize court to the Imperial German embassy here in order to expedite settlement.

The German answer insists that the stopping of supplies to an enemy belligerent may be effected by the destruction of the contraband and the destruction of the ship carrying the contraband, without violation of the obligations. It contends that a prize court is necessary to fix the amount of compensation and that there is no occasion for direct diplomatic negotiations in the case unless the prize court should fail to award compensation.

The obligation of a belligerent to pay compensation remains, regardless of the action of the prize court, the prize court will award compensation. Germany would undertake to arrange equitable indemnity. As a precaution and a preliminary procedure, Germany suggests that the American claimants enter their claim on record.

THE SITUATION

The Russians would appear to have met a crimp in the steady German advance. Berlin in its official report states that in one direction the foe "offered strong resistance" and that "the enemy brought forward reinforcements from a northeasterly direction in opposition to our encircling movement on the east of the Dubysa. On account of this menace our wing was withdrawn."

The French report is cheerful in tone, and the men of the land of the fleur-de-lis continue to demonstrate the quality of dogged stubbornness in fighting with which their names were not always previously associated. Brilliant dashes used to be their long suit.

The Italians continue to follow success with success in what sounds somewhat like easy fashion, but it may be taken for granted that they will have some strenuous headway to make ere very long.

Heavy fighting continues on the Gallipoli peninsula, with nothing of a decisive nature to report.

The sinking of two British torpedo boats off the coast of England yesterday does not make pleasant reading. One critic advances the opinion that there will be wigs on the green over the incident, because there can be no seeming explanation for boats of over 26 knots falling victims to an underwater craft of only 12 knots. To which it is sufficient to make answer that the comparison does not begin to hold good when it is remembered that there is nothing to prevent a submarine from laying in wait.

WILSON'S SECOND NOTE

The second note sent by President Wilson to Berlin with reference to the sinking of the Lusitania is not in any sense a bellicose or chip-on-the-shoulder document. To the direct contrary it is filled with the desire to avoid a rumour, a thing which from the very first the present occupant of the White House has done his best to sidestep. At the same time, there is a clear-cut tone about it which is commendable.

The Kaiserites made the bluff that the Lusitania was an armed vessel, and carried soldiers, and so on. The President makes short work of that by pointing out that she was under rigid inspection before starting from New York, and that she was in every sense what she purported to be, a non-combatant craft, engaged in the peaceful pursuit of carrying passengers. He points out that in this regard the "Imperial German Government" was "misinformed." Fabricated would have more nearly hit the mark. The note calls upon the Emperor and his war lords to exercise "justice and humanity," just as if they knew what the terms meant.

However, amid it all the issue is clearly put to Berlin that she must either sanction or disown the action of the submarine responsible for the tragedy. If not—well, who can tell what Wilson will do next?

TOOTH BRUSH DAY

The modern world has seen all kinds of days except "Fathers Day"—he doesn't count—and the latest move in this regard across the border is "Tooth Brush Day."

Recently the children of the public schools of New York city went through their exercises in this regard. The entire week was Hygienic Week, and was devoted to the scrubbing of teeth and dental hygiene.

At 9 o'clock the children were taught what first aid to the teeth means and the serious results of neglecting them. This was done by trained specialists, prominent dentists of the city, 150 of whom volunteered to aid the Board of Education. They spoke for an hour in the schools.

Friday, Tooth Brush Day, saw drills in every school immediately after the opening of the afternoon session. The actual demonstration was done in each class by a leader. The class leader had in addition to his or her tooth brush a cup of water, and the drill went as follows:

One, two, three, four, brush the teeth front teeth with a rotary motion. Dip. One, two, three, four, brush the teeth at the side with the same motion. Dip."

The leader had real water in her cup, but the children made believe, and with their brushes went through the "one, two, three, four, dip," following each motion of the leader.

A field day of dental hygiene brought the week to a close with tooth brush drills in Central Park, Prospect Park, Van Courtland Park and the Bronx. The school children in the contest, which was run by the department of physical training of the board of education, C. Ward Cramp-ton, director, competed for honors.

Thus these 800,000 children spread the gospel of mouth cleanliness in that many homes and to five million people.

occurred on the Dniester on the 8th and the morning of the 9th. On the right bank of the Dniester from Ugarsburg to Zidaczew we pressed her enemy back, capturing another 7,000 prisoners with fifty officers and eight machine guns.

"On the left bank of the Dniester in the Juravno region, the enemy was unable to employ advantageously, and after a stubborn fight was driven back behind the railway. We seized some villages, taking at the village of Bukaczew 800 prisoners including twenty officers."

AUSTRIANS FALLING BACK Geneva, via Paris, June 11.—A despatch to the Tribune from Innsbruck, in the Austrian Tyrole, purports to give details of Russian successes in the Galicia campaign. The despatch says:

"The Russians bombarded the Austrian positions from Stanislau to Bortnik on the left bank of the Dniester. They have driven the Austrians across the river making a large number of prisoners. The Austrians also have been obliged to fall back across the Dniester at Bukasowice. The Russians stopped the advance of an Austrian column marching on Kolomea. The action was fierce, and the losses heavy on both sides."

WILSON'S NOTE

supplied with trained gunners and special ammunition, transporting troops from Canada, carrying a cargo not permitted under the laws of the United States to a vessel also carrying passengers and serving in virtual effect as an auxiliary to the naval forces of Great Britain. Fortunately these are matters concerning which the Government of the United States is in a position to give the Imperial Government official information.

"Of the facts alleged in your Excellency's note, if true, the Government of the United States would have been bound to take official cognizance in performing its recognized duty as a neutral power and in enforcing its national laws. It was its duty to see to it that the Lusitania was not armed for offensive action; that she was not serving as a transport; that she did not carry a cargo prohibited by the statutes of the United States, and that if in fact she was a naval vessel of Great Britain she should not receive clearance as a merchantman; and it performed that duty and enforced its statutes with scrupulous vigilance through its regularly constituted officials. It is able, therefore, to assure the Imperial German Government that it has been misinformed. If the Imperial German Government should deem itself to be in possession of convincing evidence that the officials of the Government of the United States did not perform these duties with thoroughness the Government of the United States sincerely hopes that it will submit that evidence for consideration."

IRRELEVANT CONTENTIONS. "Whatever may be the contentions of the Imperial German Government regarding the carriage of contraband of war on board the Lusitania, or regarding the explosion of that material by the torpedo, it need only be said that in view of this government these contentions are irrelevant to the question of the legality of the methods used by the German naval authorities in sinking the vessel."

"But the sinking of passenger ships involves principles of humanity which throw into the background any special circumstances of detail that may be thought to affect the cases, principles which lift it, as the Imperial German government will no doubt be quick to recognize and acknowledge, out of the class of ordinary commercial diplomatic discussion or of international controversy. Whatever be the other facts regarding the Lusitania, the principal fact is that a great steamer, primarily and chiefly a conveyance for passengers, and carrying more than a thousand souls who had no part or lot in the conduct of the war, was torpedoed and sunk without so much as a challenge or a warning, and that men, women and children were sent to their death in circumstances unparalleled in modern warfare. The fact that more than one hundred American citizens were among those who perished made it the duty of the Government of the United States, to speak of these things, and once more, with solemn emphasis, to call the attention of the Imperial German Government to the grave responsibility which the government of the United States conceives that it has incurred in this tragic occurrence, and to the indisputable principle upon which that responsibility rests."

RIGHTS OF HUMANITY. "The Government of the United States is contending for something much greater than mere rights of property or privilege of commerce. It is contending for nothing less high and sacred than the rights of humanity, which every Government honors itself in respecting, and which no government is justified in resigning on behalf of those under its care and authority. Only her actual resistance to capture or refusal to accept those rights. It understands it, also, to accept as established beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact a belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag."

"The government of the United States deems it reasonable to expect that the Imperial German Government will adopt the measures necessary to put these principles into practice in respect of the safeguarding of American lives and American ships, and asks for assurances that this will be done."

"The Government of the United States therefore very earnestly and very solemnly renews the representations of its note transmitted to the Imperial German Government on the 15th of May and relies in these representations upon the principles of humanity, the universally recognized understandings of international law, and the ancient friendship of the German nation."

"The Government of the United States cannot admit that the proclamation of a war zone from which neutral ships have been warned to keep away may be made to operate as in any degree an abbreviation of the rights either of American shipmasters or of American citizens bound on lawful errands as passengers on merchant ships of belligerent nationality. It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights. It understands it, also, to accept as established beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact a belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag."

It does not understand the Imperial German Government to question those rights. It understands it, also, to accept as established beyond question the principle that the lives of non-combatants cannot lawfully or rightfully be put in jeopardy by the capture or destruction of an unresisting merchantman, and to recognize the obligation to take sufficient precaution to ascertain whether a suspected merchantman is in fact a belligerent nationality or is in fact carrying contraband of war under a neutral flag."

BRYAN A HUMBLE FOLLOWER

Second Statement is an Expression of His Principles and Outlook

Washington, June 11.—With the issuance of another statement—an appeal to "German-Americans"—William Jennings Bryan was expected to rest his case. This is his third since his resignation. Mr. Bryan declined to discuss the statement in advance.

In his second statement, addressed to the American people last night, and which was issued coincidentally with the publication of the American rejoinder to the German Government's reply to the note following the sinking of the Lusitania, he turned the public "sit in judgment upon my decision to resign rather than share responsibility for it."

He contends that the American note conforms to the standards of the old system of force, while he is an advocate of the new system of persuasion and "as a humble follower of the Prince of Peace" pleads that the United States lead the world "out of the black night of war into the light of the day" when swords shall be beaten into plow shares."

Mr. Bryan expresses confidence that the public will credit him with honorable intentions but says that good intentions are not enough. He adds that if the public verdict is given against him, he asks no mercy declaring that public men must be "willing to bear any deserved punishment from ostracism to execution."

Paris, June 11.—2:28 p. m.—The French war office issued the following statement this afternoon on the progress of hostilities: "There is nothing of importance to add to the announcement given out last night, with the exception of further success in 'The Labyrinth' where we have continued to force the enemy back and some progress to the east of 'The Labyrinth', where we occupied several German sub-trenches not far from the highway from Arras to Lille. "In the region of Hebuterne we have extended our advance made to the north and in the south of the battle front on June 7. The occupation of several trenches at this point gave us 10 prisoners and several machine guns."

Paris, June 11.—2:30 p. m.—An official announcement concerning the Dardanelles given out in Paris this afternoon reads as follows: "At the right end of the ravine of Kereve Dere we were successful, with minor engagements, in making some further progress. "Prisoners who fell into our hands confirmed previous reports that the special recruiting campaign opened in Kilkenny has resulted in about 120 men joining the colours in less than a week. One small village alone, Bennettsbridge, a few miles from Kilkenny, supplied fifteen recruits, all members of the National Volunteers. The majority joined the Royal Irish Regiment, others going to the Irish Guards and various other Irish regiments. "Three Leicester ewes, the property of a farmer of Tamniarn, Dungeniv, Co. Kerry, a few days ago, gave birth to twelve lambs, each ewe having four lambs. This eclipses the three Leicester ewes, owned by a Drumcree farmer in the same district, which some days earlier gave birth to ten lambs, one producing four, and the others three lambs each. "A Dutch sailor was sent to prison for three months at Sunderland for signalling seawards with an electric torch from his vessel, the steamship Mecklenberg, lying in Sunderland docks. A military patrol saw lights flashing from the deck of the ship seawards, and found the prisoner using an electric torch. He was employing the Morse system, and the light would be visible five miles out to sea."

Next Three Months Will Be Critical

So Says Sir W. Robertson Nicoll in British Weekly.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, June 11.—Where Germany once had a marked superiority in men she now has a superiority in ammunition, an advantage she will press to its fullest. The only way for the allies to avert disaster is to equip themselves, and to do this, Great Britain must stand behind David Lloyd George as minister of munitions as one man. Moreover, if he is not given a free hand, he may resign."

Critical Months

"We say with certainty that the next three months of the war will be the most critical for the allies. The superior strength of Germany in munitions of war has given her a second great opportunity of which she will take full advantage. "Our nation passed through the first crisis of the war without comprehending the danger. It will not be possible for her to pass through the second crisis without being aware of it. The sooner she is aware of it, the better. It is only in the light of full knowledge that she will be able to turn the difficult corner where the path skirts the precipice, in the assurance that all will be well for us in the sum of things. "The reverses of the Russians seem likely to set a million of the very best German troops free to act on the offensive in the west. This is the cardinal fact. These forces will be turned against the French and against the congested area now occupied by British troops. They will be powerfully supported by munitions of every kind. "No moral barrier will prevent the most cruel and reckless employment of every weapon. It is very likely that we shall have to meet almost daily raids in which burning liquids will be freely used. The Germans put much faith in gas and they will apply it on a great scale. They are almost certain to attempt an invasion. In short, whatever may be imaginable, the ferocity of the attack will, in all probabilities, come true. LAMENTABLY SHORT. "All these things will happen while we are yet lamentably short of munitions. It does not seem conceivable that we can take the offensive upon land. The peril thus involved is manifest. We may be sure that Germany still hopes to reach Warsaw, Paris, and Calais, and that the most determined efforts will be made to attain these ends. "The writer admits that the German plans may miscarry, "as they have miscarried before; and especially so if

RUBE DENEAU HAS WON HIS LAST GAME HERE

Foran's Timely Homer Was Cause of Desired Result—Brants' Luck Has Turned.

Judging from yesterday's game with the Saints, it looks very much as if the Brants' luck had reached the turning point. They have had their streak of bad luck, but if the new manager Slab Warner makes good, fortune might favor them in the future. This is still only the first part of the season and they are 44 more games to be played at home and 45 abroad, making a total of 89 games. Being in the cellar, there is a possibility of the team going up, whereas, if it were on top, its descent would be almost inevitable. Many fans are sorry to see "Rube" go, as he was very popular in the city, but it is best that he should go. He has put his best into the work while here, but it is now evident that Deneau, in the capacity of manager, has seen his best days. If he hasn't been able to make good this year in managers uniform, he undoubtedly will in that of umpire, which he dons for the first time to-day at Hamilton. He knows the game A. to Z. and is well known in the six Canadian clubs. Here's the best of luck Rube. In the game yesterday, he showed that he still possessed some of his old cunning, and proved to fandom that he wasn't an absolute failure by winning his last game. But it is unfair to give Deneau all the credit for the much needed victory. Pitcher Warner, or to give him his right title, manager Warner held down the heavy artillery of the Saints to seven hits, only one of which, being a double at that. He allowed only two men to walk and struck out eight. He helped four assists. In one instance though, his fielding could have been better. "Slab" is well versed in the game and has considerable experience as manager in his home town, of Cadillac, Michigan. Last years record of the Cadillac club in the Michigan State League shows that Warner ushered his team to third position, with 67 games won and 51 lost. His individual batting percentage was .325, and in the pitchers records he stood fifth, with a first class record. It is to be hoped that he will keep up his good generalship in the future in this league. But, returning to the game, it was really Foran who was responsible for the victory. His timely smash in the sixth drove the pill over the fence with the result of two more runs for the Brants, for he forced in Burrill, who had made a single. Foran has indeed proved himself to be right there with the goods, several times and is "worth his salt." Fried and "Dad" Stewart must not be forgotten, for they both made the second sack with their drives. It was this wallop of "Dad's" which gave the Saints their one and only run. Otherwise they would have been miserably shut out. He made it the first time up and the first ball pitched and it was no doubt this smash that steadied Warner for the rest of the game. Fried's double occurred in the second and, unfortunately, was of no use, as there were two out when he went to bat. The game by innings is as follows: The Brants won the toss up, and sent the Saints in to bat first. Kopp was near left and made first in safety. Dunlop smashed one out to the same place, also making first, while Dunn scored, through an error on the part of Todd, Dunlop stole second when Burrill went to bat. Burrill, out, Hughey to Ort. Score, three runs, seven hits, no errors. In the Saint's eighth, Stewart flew out to centre and made first. Hadley fanned and on Ort's force out. Stewart was put out, Dunlop to Fried. Todd flew out to left and was put out by the brilliant catch which Dunn pulled off. Score, one run, five hits, one error. The Brant's eighth and last was a poor one, Ivers was put out, Todd to Ort. Mullen, Fergie to first and Foran walked. On Fried's force out, Foran was touched out on second by Todd to Fergie. Score, three runs, seven hits and no errors. The Saints failed to score in their last inning. Inker went out to first, Mullen to Ivers, Fergie flew out to centre, out to Burrill. Harris and Hughey both made singles and the game closed when Kopp struck out. Score, one run, seven hits and one error. The score is: BRANTFORD A. B. R. H. O. A. E. SIGNIFICANT SILENCE IN BASEBALL WORLD

New York, June 11.—The dove of peace slowly is descending and soon will rest on the baseball world. Sixty days more, and if nothing unforeseen happens, the Federals and organized ball will be taking a few inhales from the same pipe of peace and buying each other champagne.

There are some who still are skeptical about the probability of peace, but if they will only analyze events that have transpired during the past six weeks they will not be skeptics any longer.

NO JUMPING EITHER WAY.

With the exception of Benny Kauff, not one player has done any jumping either way since the season began. The Federals have not made a single effort to grab a ball player from organized baseball and the established organization has not tried to get back a single one of its jumpers.

On the surface the action of the National Commission in returning Kauff to the Federals seemed amazing. Even more amazing is the fact that it ordered the suspension for one year of Dick Kinsella, Giant scout, for inducing Kauff to jump. Fandom thought that Kinsella's achievement in capturing the greatest player the enemy had should have won for him a raise in salary. And that's what Kinsella would have received were these still war time days.

The reason why Kinsella was penalized is because unconsciously he almost caused a renewal of the warfare.

JOHNSON TIPPED OFF.

About six weeks ago Ban Johnson "spilled the beans" in an interview given out in Boston. Later Johnson repudiated the interview. He realized afterwards that the time wasn't ripe for breaking the news to the dear old public.

Some weeks ago Garry Herrmann prepared the folks for what is coming by saying that if peace doesn't come soon some of the magnates will be ready to join the ranks of paupers.

The National Commission, it will be remembered, rejected the demands of the Baseball Players' Fraternity some weeks ago. They did it with much gusto. They did it as if they didn't fear the fraternity—and they no longer do.

A year or so ago they granted the bulk of the fraternity's demand. Why? Simply because they knew that the players would jump to the Federals if they didn't. But this year they rejected them because they knew the players couldn't jump to the Federals for the simple reason that the pact barred the Federals from taking them.

AGREEMENT NOW IN FORCE.

Many clubs in organized baseball let out to the minors some promising recruits and some real stars simply because they couldn't keep those men on account of the player limit rule. Did the Federals try to grab any of them? No, they didn't.

The baseball war is over; the details of peace and consolidation are being arranged now; along about August 1 or 15 the public will be permitted to come in on the "know."

Seen and Heard at the Game Yesterday

"Gabby" Ivers didn't accomplish much at bat. He was up three times but failed to connect with the pill. He had an off day; perhaps he was not feeling very lively on account of a sore ankle. His fielding work was well up to the mark.

"Shag" and his Senators will have to go some to beat "Dad" Stewart and his aggregation in the grouch line. They were not too bad yesterday, for they have been enjoying a decided streak of good luck.

Umpire Bedford must like this city for he has officiated here for the last seven games. His decisions on the whole are good.

Both pitchers were credited with a number of assists, Hughey making 20 and Warner 4. The Brants seemed to be unable to smash the ball past Higley, most of the time.

There have been only two homers walloped out to the dyke since the season opened here and trusty Foran has been responsible for both. He also made a three-sacker on Victoria day when the Hams were here that morning.

Dunn pulled off another of his sensational one handed catches yesterday. He caught a beautiful fly off Grimaldi's bat on June 1, also and a difficult one it was for he had to both run and jump for it. He always "eats them up," if he can get his fingers anywhere near them. Burrill was also there in centre garden also, making two put outs.

When "Slab" Warner stepped into the box in the first innings, he walked his first man, and allowed the next, Stewart to make a double. Then he stood down and held them down to one run for the remainder of the game.

COURIER CUP GAMES TOMORROW

Semi-Finals Will Take Place in Paris and Brantford for the Trophy.

The Courier semi finals will be played off to-morrow, when one game will take place in the city and the other in Paris.

Thistles and Holmedale's Tigers will meet on Tutela Park at 3.45, and a battle royal is promised. This game is sure to draw a big crowd.

The other games between Tutela and P. S. A. will be staged in the French capital. This is an innovation, and one which will prove decidedly popular with the Parisians.

Tutela will include young Royle in her line-up. Only 16 years of age Royle has proved a regular find, and is turning into a first class player. He has speed, is tricky and can shoot. He is an acquisition and already has proved his worth to the Tutelas.

The line-ups are given as follows: Tigers—Griffin, Midley, Captain Hoyle, Sevier, Williamson, Ellison, Lord, Belshaw, Hart, Coburn, Archer, Reserves, Street, Ross, Williams. The dressing room will be at King Edward school.

Tutela—Gore, Bowden, Alexander, Jackson, N. McLeod, T. McLeod, Binning, Hunt, Charlton, Royle, T. Clark, Reserves, W. Gray, Ellison, Lloyd.

All players to meet at the Grand Valley ticket office at 3.50.

In regard to the controversy now raging in local soccer circles as to the insinuation of foul play made against the Scots team, it is worthy of note that the Thistles have in their line several other nationalities. English and Irish are not banned from its ranks, so that the distinctly national flavor of the remarks do not necessarily reflect on the worthy citizens of that country, who are residing and supporting a team here.

It might also be stated that the article in question was written in the Courier office by the sporting editor as fair comment, and though doubtless one team received more than another of the tar-brush, many supporters of the game say a clean-up in the general aspects of the play in the field is far from undesirable. The fireworks at recent league meetings were not set alight for nothing. Saturday's games may, therefore, be fought out with the happy conviction that when one team gets a licking the other wins, and the Thistles, so far victoriously aloof from such disaster, need have little fear as to their unstained laurels.

UNITED ITALY AND THE WAR

BY F. D. L. SMITH

According to the cable despatches Emperor Wilhelm will lead the German and Austrian campaign against Italy. Just 14 months ago I saw his white yacht, the Hohenzollern, anchored at the outer end of the Grand Canal in Venice. She was captained by a German officer, and at hand was the arsenal upon which Austrian airships have now been trying to drop bombs. The yacht lay closer still to the palace of the Doges, with the Campanile of St. Mark's Cathedral, the reconstructed Campanile, the famous clock tower and the Palace all grouped about the square of St. Mark's, where the clouds of pigeons. The Emperor came to meet King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, who journeyed from his capital and threw the Venetian palace for the occasion.

months previously Italy had refused to join Austria in an attack upon Serbia, and it is possible that the Emperor labored with the King to the end that Italy should be more loyal to her partnership in the Triple Alliance. It is even possible that the war into which the Kaiser plunged Europe four months later was a secret subject of conversation between the two monarchs. Two weeks before I had seen 16 British men-of-war anchored in the harbor of Genoa, on the other side of Italy. The officers and crew were fraternizing with the officers and crew of a fleet of Italian ships, and I remember wondering at the time whether in the event of hostilities Italy would cast in her lot with Great Britain or Germany, with the Triple Entente or the Triple Alliance.

last it has chosen the course which Garibaldi, Mazzini, Cavour and Victor Emmanuel's grandfather of the same name would have taken. United Italy is only 45 years old, for not until 1866 was Venice incorporated with the kingdom as a result of the war with Austria, and not until 1870 did Rome become the capital of a consolidated kingdom, stretching from the Alps to Sicily. It may, therefore, be said that for the first time in modern history a unified Italy is at war—at war which so far as she is concerned has for its chief object the recovery of Italian territory still in the grasp of Austria.

WAR WILL HELP PEOPLE. Ever since August 1914 Italy has suffered many of the penalties of war without being at war. A treasure house of art and history, she depends upon a heavy tourist traffic for much of her annual income. Such cities as Venice, Florence, Milan, Rome and Naples ordinarily draw immense revenues from this source which for ten months has been practically cut off. Gondolas and guides have been idle, hotels closed and the whole vast machinery of sightseeing stopped. Art treasures have been removed to places of safety, unemployment has been widespread and multitudes have been in want. For a great proportion of the population the war will prove an economic relief for it will stimulate many industries and provide hundreds of thousands of men with employment in the army.

ACROSS NORTHERN ITALY. Northern Italy from Venice on the Adriatic to Turin in the west is a great plain bounded on the north by the Alps and to the south by the Appennine range. It is into this plain that the German-Austrian armies would descend were they to succeed in crossing the mountainous frontier. Rich agriculturally and dotted with many industrial centres, this plain is the most well-favored part of Italy, and the Huns would therefore, take a keen pleasure in over-running and devastating it as they have over-run and devastated Belgium and Northern France. Such ancient towns as Padua, Verona, Mantua and Bologna, celebrated in Shakespeare's plays, and such populous cities as Milan and Turin would afford splendid prey for the Blonde Beasts. Were St. Mark's at Venice the exquisite Gothic cathedral of Milan and other noble edifices of Northern Italy to share the fate of Louvain and Rheims the cup of the barbarians would be fuller than it is. One hesitates to think of the Teuton hordes pouring through the widespread vineyards and using the stately Lombardy poplars which dot the plain as vantage points from which to direct their cannon fire. It is only with pleasure, therefore, that we contemplate the initial advances of Italian troops through the passes of the Tyrol and towards Trentino and Trieste.

STORING ART TREASURES. South western Italy—that portion of the kingdom which lies beyond the Appennines, and in which are situated Florence, Pisa, Genoa, Rome and Naples—is too remote from Austria and too well protected by the rugged mountain chain to be in danger from invasion. Nevertheless one hears that the art treasures of the Pitti and Uffizi galleries in Florence are being stored beyond the reach of the successors of those vandals who despoiled Rome of her glory upwards of 1000 years ago. It would seem eminently fitting that German kultur should run amuck in the beautiful valley of the Arno, where modern art and literature may be said to have had their re-birth and where lies the body of Machiavelli, upon whose teachings German diplomacy and warfare are based.

THE GREAT DEAD. Here also is the great tomb of the Medici family, which in the time of its power gave Rome three Popes and Europe many sovereigns, and more than one murderer skilled in the use of deadly poisons. The Medici mausoleum is a costly edifice, decorated with sapphires and other precious stones, and is said to have been originally built as a receptacle for the Holy Sepulchre, which was to have been rescued from the Turks in Jerusalem, and carried to Florence. The age long dream is to be realized as a result of this war, at least so far as the deliverance of Palestine and the sacred places from Turkish rule is concerned. Meantime the Teutons would like to destroy the Holy Cross Church in Florence, which, with its monuments to Raphael, Michael Angelo, Andrea del Sarto, Dante and Rossini, is called the Westminster Abbey of Italy. It was in the vicinity of Florence that Galileo proclaimed the revolution of the earth round the sun, that Milton dictated "Paradise Lost" to his daughter, and that the poet visited the scientist when both were blind. They show you the spot in the market place where Savonarola was burned to death for criticising a bad Pope.

THERE ARE THREE ROMES. The despatches have told us that upon the declaration of war Roman crowds listened to impassioned speeches from the Capitoline Hill. What a scene does this statement call up in one's mind—what a vision of an ancient city which once ruled the world going to war again with enthusiasm after 2000 years. From the Capitoline Hill—one of the original seven hills that looked down upon the Tiber—one grasps the fact that the City of Rome is three cities, lying side by side, interlocking and overlapping.

ANCIENT, PAPAL, MODERN. First, their ancient imperial Rome with its magnificent ruins, left by a lordly race. Secondly there is that Rome of splendid palaces which sprang up under those Popes who patronized the arts, gathered the master artists about them and made the city queen of the world in a new sense. Thirty there is the prosperous and impressively built modern Rome which has arisen beside and around the ruins of ancient Rome, and the well preserved palaces and churches of mediæval Rome since the consolidation of the kingdom under the present monarchy in 1870. In suggestive dimensions and beauty of design and execution the great white marble monument to Victor Emmanuel II. (under whom Italy obtained national unity 45 years ago) may be said to rival the massive relics of imperial and mediæval Rome.

The MASQUERADER

By Katherine Cecil Thurston,
Author of "The Circle," Etc.
Copyright, 1904, by Harper & Brothers

"I conclude," he began quietly, "that your idea is to spread this wild, improbable story—to ask people to believe that John Chilcote, whom they see before them, is not John Chilcote, but somebody else. Now, you'll find that a harder task than you imagine. This is a skeptical world, and people are absurdly fond of their own eyesight. We are all journalists nowadays—we are all fact-finders. The first thing you will be asked for is your proof. And what does your proof consist of? The circumstance that John Chilcote, who has always despised jewelry, has lately taken to wearing rings? Your own testimony, unattested by any witnesses, that with those rings of his finger bears a scar belonging to another man? No; on close examination I scarcely imagine that your case would hold." He stopped, fired by his own logic. The future might be Chilcote's, but the present was his, and this present, with its immeasurable possibilities, had been rescued from catastrophe. "No," he said again. "When you get your proof perhaps we'll have another talk, but till then—"

"Till then?" She looked up quickly, but almost at once her question died away.

The door had opened, and the servant who had admitted Loder stood in the opening.

"Dinner is served!" he announced in his deferential voice.

CHAPTER XXIII.

AND Loder dined with Lillian Astripp. We live in an age when society expects, even exacts, much. He dined, not through habit and not through courtesy, but because it seemed the obvious, the only thing to do. To him a scene of any description was distasteful. To Lillian it was unknown. In her world people loved or hated, were spiteful or foolish, were even quixotic or dishonorable, but they seldom made scenes. Loder tacitly saw and tacitly accepted this.

Possibly they ate extremely little during the course of the dinner and talked extraordinarily much on subjects that interested neither, but the main point at least was gained. They dined. The conventionalities were appeased. The silent, watchful servants who waited on them were given no food for comment. The fact that Loder left immediately after dinner, the fact that he passed on the doorstep after the hall door had closed behind him and drew a long, deep breath of relief, held only an individual significance and therefore did not count.

On reaching Chilcote's house he passed at once to the study and dismissed Greening for the night. But scarcely had he taken advantage of his solitude by settling into an armchair and lighting a cigar than Renwick, displaying an unusual amount of haste and importance, entered the room, carrying a letter.

Seeing Loder, he came forward at once. "Mr. Fraide's man brought this, sir," he explained. "He was most particular to give it into my hands, making sure 'twould reach you. He's waiting for an answer, sir."

Loder rose and took the letter, a quick thrill of speculation and interest springing across his mind. During his time of banishment he had followed the political situation with feverish attention, insupportably chafed by the desire to share in it, apprehensively chilled at the thought of Chilcote's possible behavior. He knew that in the comparatively short interval since par-one day of his speech; then immediately and with characteristic clearness it opened up the subject nearest the writer's mind.

Very slowly and attentively Loder read the letter, and, with the extreme quiet that with him invariably covered emotion, he moved to the desk, wrote a note and handed it to the waiting servant. As the man turned toward the door he called him.

"Renwick," he said sharply, "when you've given that letter to Mr. Fraide's servant ask Mrs. Chilcote if she can spare me five minutes."

When Renwick had gone and closed the door behind him Loder paced the room with feverish activity. In one moment the aspect of life had been changed. Five minutes since he had been glorying in the risk of a barely saved situation; now that situation with its merely social complications had become a matter of small importance.

His long, striding steps had carried him to the fireplace, and his back was toward the door when at last the handle turned. He wheeled round to receive Eve's message, then a look of pleased surprise crossed his face. It was Eve herself who stood in the doorway.

Without hesitation his lips parted. "Eve," he said abruptly, "I have had great news! Russia has shown her teeth at last. Two caravans belonging to a British trader were yesterday interfered with by a band of Cossacks. The affair occurred a couple of miles outside Meshed. The traders remonstrated, but the Russians made summary use of their advantage. Two Englishmen were wounded and one of them has since died. Fraide has only now received the news, which cannot be overrated. It gives the precise lever necessary for the big move at the re-assembling." He spoke with great earnestness and unusual haste. As he finished he took a step forward. "But that's not all," he added. "Fraide wants the great move set in motion by a great speech, and he has asked me to make it."

WORRY AND WEAKNESS

Often Indicate Overwork, and a Run Down Nervous System

Overwork and worry have an evil effect on the system and often give rise to nervousness and sleeplessness. Other signs include a weak back, headaches and indigestion. In time if matters are neglected a complete breakdown of the nervous system follows. On every hand one can observe victims of this state of nervous exhaustion who are at a loss to know what to do with themselves, their nervous debilitated state having baffled all ordinary treatment.

If you are a victim of exhausted nerves, if your symptoms are as described above you need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills because they are a powerful nerve tonic. Their strengthening action on weak nerves is due to the fact that they furnish and build up the blood through which the nerves are fed. Under the tonic influence of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all traces of nervous weakness disappear together with the headaches, the insomnia, the feeling of intense weakness and depression of spirits that mark the victim of nervous ailments. Here is the proof.

Mr. Henry Marr, Port Felix, N.S., says: "It gives me greatest pleasure to testify as to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. When I began their use I was a physical wreck; my nerves were all unstrung, I suffered from frequent headaches and backaches, and was almost wholly unfitted for work. I had tried several remedies without success, when I finally decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. I took six boxes and they made me a well man."

What these pills did for Mr. Marr they will do for every other weak and nervous man if given a fair trial. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at $6 a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
