THE TRIAL

Of the Tragic Bandits in Paris France is Creating a Vast Amount of Interest---They are a Clever Lot.

(Courier Leased Wire).
 NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A cable to the Tribune from Paris says: The trial of the tragic bandits yesterday was devoted to an examination of the accomplices charged with receiving and disposing of bonds and objects of value stolen by the active members of this well organized syndicate, or trust of crime. The system of the defence on the part of the accused was one of pure and simple denial of all the charges, and when cornered by the Judge the prisoners burst forth in grandiloquent glorification of their mystic principles of anarchy.

Every one in the court room, not excepting Judge Coumand, seem surprised at the cleverness and intelligence of the replies made to the questions from the Bench and the choice phraseology and wording of their answers, proving the high degree of education attained by the accused.

 During the session "Raymond Le Scific" was absorbed by perusing a huge manuscript and correcting the proofs of a treatise on "practical anarchy." This precocious lad wears gold eye-glasses and has the appearance of a student of theology.
 Soudy, who looks like a Latin quarter poet, wrote on scraps of paper and made some sketches of persons in the court room. The frisky little Mme. Maitrejean gazed gaily about her, and encouraged her fellow prisoners during their long and tedious examinations, by her smiles.
 The trial continues to excite the greatest public curiosity, and every square inch of space in the courtroom is filled by a throng of lawyers, journalists and notable Parisians.

Brantford Becomes an Important G. T. R. Centre

Trainmaster R. H. Fish, formerly of the motor and power department G. T. R., London, who recently came to Brantford, where he is making his headquarters, has been busy re-organizing the work in Districts 20 and 21. These are large and busy districts, running from Buffalo to Goderich, Tavistock Junction to Pt. Rowan and Harrisburg to Tavistock. A despatcher's office is being built at the station which will not be completed for some time, but in the meantime offices are used in his car. The force of despatchers include Chief Despatcher D. Dunn, London, Messrs. Rogers, London, Stone, Fort Erie, Walton, Stratford. They report for duty Monday morning. Roadmaster J. McGar has also been transferred from Stratford to Brantford. It might be interesting to note that some years ago, at the opening ceremonies of the new Grand Trunk station here, Trainmaster Fish was engineer of the official train which steamed in from Buffalo. Since that time his promotions with this railway system have been very marked.

George Barnard Shaw Expresses His Views

(Courier Leased Wire).
 NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A cable from London says: Geo. Barnard Shaw, in excusing himself from attending a large Suffragette meeting last night vigorously expressed himself against the woman's action in killing the woman suffrage amendment in the House of Commons. Shaw wrote:

"I shall not meddle with the meeting; it had better be left to the women; besides the line that will be taken is denunciation of the government for a breach of faith that is not in my line. I would concentrate the attack on the Speaker, accusing him not only of great partiality, but of concealing his trump card from the government until the last moment of the game, so as to discredit them and defeat the woman's play.

 "You people," Shaw concluded, "will hit out all over the place at everybody except the Speaker, who will escape while you are punning. Asquith."

Thirteen Pit Sinkers Killed in an English Colliery

(Courier Leased Wire).
 MANSFIELD, Eng., Feb. 8.—Thirteen pit sinkers were killed and a number of others injured to-day at the Bolsover colliery by the snapping of a chain to which was suspended a bucket containing 800 gallons of water. The bucket crashed down the shaft which was 500 feet deep and at the bottom of which the men were working. The workers were crushed into an unrecognizable mass. Only a few who happened to lie in shelter holes at the sides of the shaft escaped death. This city is the centre of a large coal mining district.

Lowther, military secretary, to the effect that the time of the party at Brantford will be short, in order to allow of the return from the Reserve within the time specified, that the proceedings at the reception here must be of the briefest possible nature, and on this account it has been decided to dispense with any guard of honor.

TURKS MEET WITH A CRUSHING DEFEAT

TRAGIC DEATH

(Courier Leased Wire).
 ORANGE, N.J., Feb. 8.—His foot caught in a frog of a switch, Thomas C. Ryan, a hatter, was cut down and killed by an express locomotive on the Lackawanna Railroad near his home here last night. Ryan had stepped from an eastbound track to let a train pass by, only to be caught in the death trap of the switch. He saw the rays of a leadlight piercing the darkness, but as he was on a short curve, the light did not shine on him and the engineer could not see him. Ryan yelled hoarsely, waved his hat and his arms frantically to no avail.

This Hog Swallowed a Two Hundred Dollar Watch

(Courier Leased Wire).
 CANONSBURG, Penn., Feb. 8.—While leaning over the side of a pig pen to get a good look at an especially fine porker on the farm of W. A. Hallam, near this city, Judge Charles V. Keeler, a noted poultry fancier, of Winamac, Ind., dropped his $200 watch into the feed trough, and a hog promptly swallowed it.

Judge Keeler then bought the hog for $100 and shipped it to Winamac, where he will butcher it and recover his watch.
 Keeler was the judge, who while passing on the merits of a prize hen in a western show last fall, had the misfortune to have a large sized diamond pecked from its setting in a ring.

GOT DAMAGES

In Connection With a Remarkable Mishap at Sea---The Strange Story Told in a British Court.

(Courier Leased Wire).
 LONDON, Feb. 8.—The story of the "Demon Cargo" of the steamship Hardy was written into the records of the King's Bench yesterday through the testimony of her captain.

On a voyage from Treport with a large cargo of mineral waters, water signed to a London firm, water reached a quantity of metallic sodium, which was also a part of the cargo, setting it afire. The crew not being aware of the nature of the sodium played the hose on it with the result that two tons of it were set afire and there was a series of explosions. Nonplussed the captain ordered all of the cases of the sodium heaved into the sea. When this was done the force of explosion of the sodium in contact with water caused several of the cases to jump back again aboard the ship, and the vessel itself caught fire. There was another explosion in the cargo which caused the vessel to break amidships and sink. The mate was drowned but the captain and crew were saved.
 The story came out in an action for damages against the Steamship company for the loss of the mineral water. The court awarded the plaintiff $5,000 damages with costs, and remarked to the captain that he seemed to have had the "devil among the sailors when the water got in."

HORNS LOCKED

Over the Lake Erie and Northern Route---Engineer of Company Complains That he Cannot Get Copy of Plans of Engineer Jones.

The following is the text of the objections to the Lake Erie and Northern route, as prepared by the City Solicitors in response to the request of the Brantford City Council Railway committee:

The corporation of the City of Brantford contends that the proposed route shown upon the plans unnecessarily passes through and injures the residential district. That the route cuts off from the city its water front upon the Grand. It interferes with the grade on Colborne street and necessitates a new bridge in lieu of the present Lorne bridge. It is unnecessarily costly. That a feasible route is available to the Railway Co., which would give the desired advantages with regard to passenger and freight traffic and which would also be less costly, which would be equally advantageous regarding grades, curves, etc., and would not cause the residential injury. The corporation of the city of Brantford desires that the proposed route or routes which may be inspected be considered by the boards engineer.

Dated at City of Brantford, the 4th of February.

Reply on Behalf of the Railway

February 8, 1913.

Messrs. Wilkes and Henderson, City Solicitors, Brantford, Ont.

Gentlemen,—I understand that the Parks Board or the City Council some time ago requested the City Engineer to make an examination with a view to suggesting an alternate route into the City of Brantford for the Lake Erie and Northern Railway.

On Monday last there was published in The Expositor, what purported to be a copy of the City Engineer's Report to the Parks Board, in a general way, describing the route which he had examined and which in accordance with this Report was supposed to compare favorably with the route selected by The Lake Erie and Northern Railway. I have endeavored to secure from the City Engineer plan, and especially the profile of this alternate route. The City Engineer absolutely refused to allow me to either see these plans or to give me a copy, stating at first that he would furnish these plans if ordered to do so by the Parks' Board.

Last night I called up Mr. Goold, Mr. Groby and Mr. Matthews. Mr. Goold also called up Mr. Frank Cocksbutt. All the members of the Board expressed themselves as being perfectly willing that we should have a copy of the plan, profile and Report of this alternate route.

I then called up the City Engineer, stating the position of the Parks' Board. I was then told by the City Engineer that he had consulted with you and that you had advised him that the Report was being made for the City Council and that he was not to furnish any plans until after the City Council had dealt with the matter.

This appears to us to be a very peculiar stand for the City to take. We are asked to consider an alternate route, while at the same time we are refused copies of the plans and profiles showing what this alternate route is.

The City Engineer states that his plans are not ready to be handed out. At the same time his plans are evidently sufficiently far advanced for him to make various comparisons to the exact foot in difference of length, length of curvature etc.

It would seem to us that if this matter is to be dealt with fairly we should be given a copy of the plans above mentioned. Nothing but delay could result from any other course and I trust you will see your way clear to advise the City Engineer to furnish us the information required.

I am forwarding a copy of this letter to the Railway Committee.

Yours very truly,

WM. P. KELLETT,
 Chief Eng'r and Gen. Man.

FIRST COURT

During the Present Season is Held by the King and Queen---It Was an Unusually Brilliant Function.

(Courier Leased Wire).
 LONDON, Feb. 8.—The King and Queen held their first court of the season at Buckingham Palace last night. The scene was one of unusual brilliancy, for the reception was attended by a large number of foreign ambassadors and their wives, with other members of the diplomatic corps, whose bright uniforms, with the multi-hued sashes of foreign orders added a vivid splash of color to the already brilliant scene.

The King wore the uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Coldstream Guards. The Queen wore a gown of silver brocade with diamond embroidery and train of coronation applique lace lined with silver chiffon. Their Majesties entered the reception room shortly after 9.30 and took up their position on the raised dais before which a large and distinguished throng passed in unbroken procession until midnight. Beautiful flowers adorned the reception room. On the grand staircase Yeomen of the Guard were stationed and in the throne room His Majesty's corps of gentlemen at arms were on duty.
 Supper was served in several large salons to the guests, but the King and Queen with a few specially honored friends supped in the private apartments.

SUFFRAGETTES

Get Into the Kew Horticultural Gardens and Destroyed Many Valuable Plants and Hot Houses.

(Courier Leased Wire). LONDON, Feb. 8.—Militant suffragettes destroyed many valuable plants and other damage in the hot houses of the Kew Horticultural gardens during the early hours of this morning when they developed another part of their plan of campaign to force the British Government to give the parliamentary vote to women.

It is believed a number of women hid themselves in the gardens overnight for this morning long before the day staff came on duty it was found that a large number of rare orchids had been uprooted and scattered in all directions. Thirty panes of glass in the orchid house had been broken and the total damage is estimated at from $4,000 to $5,000. When the nightwatchmen had made their rounds at 1 o'clock in the morning everything was still in good order and the women must have laid their plans well before-hand in order to find hiding places, where they could be in security. No trace of them has since been found.

The window smashing raids also continue in London. Two immense windows in an establishment in Oxford street, which has heretofore been immune because of the proprietor's contributions to the women's funds were broken during the night. The postal authorities to-day issued a notice that there would be delay on all telegrams despatched from the south to the north of England as the result of the cutting of telegraph wires in the provinces by the suffragettes yesterday.

"CSACARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

GENTLY CLEANSE AND REGULATE YOUR STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS WHILE YOU SLEEP.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and food gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered system which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the food undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a toe, box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

LAURIER'S FUTILE SCHEME

The futility of the Laurier scheme as outlined in the Navy Act of 1911 has been vividly demonstrated by the prepared by the Naval Service department, which show that the cost of outfitting the ships was out of all proportion to the benefits received, and that the recruiting of Canadians was a costly one, especially when the recruiting of Canadians was concerned there was little result. Laurier's Futile Scheme.

The futility of the Laurier naval scheme as outlined in the Naval Service Act of 1911 has been strikingly demonstrated by the figures prepared by the Naval Service Department, which show that the cost was out of all proportion to the benefits received, and that as far as the recruiting of Canadians was concerned there was little response.

The experiment of the Laurier Government in the navy question has been a costly one, especially as the Niobe stationed on the Atlantic coast, has been a great part of the time in dry dock.

The total amount up to date spent on the naval service, estimating what will be spent this year, is $4,273,474. Save for the capture of a few foreign fishing craft in British Columbia waters, that were fishing within the three mile limit, Canada has received little or no return from this expenditure.

In the present naval debate Sir Wilfrid Laurier loudly proclaimed that Canadians should man their own ships contributed to England and tried to score against the Government on that account. But the number of Canadians who have enlisted on the Niobe and Rainbow since the passing of the Act contrasts somewhat sharply with the Laurier idea of ease in recruiting young Canadians for the naval service.

A representative from the Maritime provinces in the person of the Hon. William Punsley stated that many thousands of Canadians were serving in the United States navy because there was no opportunity to do so in their own country. But the official figures prepared by the Canadian Naval Service Department tell another tale. Taking the figures by provinces they show the following Canadians enlisting under the Laurier act: Nova Scotia 162, New Brunswick 5, Prince Edward Island 19, Quebec 44, Ontario 113, Manitoba 1, Saskatchewan 2, Alberta 4, British Columbia 32. The total up to December 13th, has been 402 officers and men. During the same period 64 English officers and 626 men have been employed on the ships.

THE BRITISH MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES.

Women are supposed to be a bundle of consideration and tenderness. So they are in the main, but not altogether.

What man, for instance, would go around with the skin of a dead animal around his neck with teeth and eyes gleaming, or carry a row of such things on a muff, or stuff his hat full of feathers, often plucked from birds with much cruelty.

That brings to mind the story of the boy who was seen by a compassionate woman when he was robbing a bird's nest.

To him she exclaimed: "Oh, you naughty little boy. Just think of the poor mother's feelings when she comes back." To which the small personage made answer: "Gwan, you've got the nuzzer in your hat." And perhaps there could be no better illustration than this of the complex feminine disposition.

In the Old Land the militant suffragettes are giving a constant illustration of the latent and destructive tendencies of certain women when they think they have a "cause," which is paramount to property interests and individual rights.

At this distance, it looks as if they should be treated just as men would be under like circumstances.

If they do want equality with men in the matter of voting, they should expect equal treatment with men in the matter of punishment for malicious wrong-doing.

ENJOYING THE BEST OF HEALTH

Prof. J. F. Davis

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured His Rheumatism and elsewhere that "Fruit-a-lives" is my only medicine and has been for the last four years. Previous to that, I had been very much troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies as well as employing hot applications of salt bags etc., without getting satisfactory results.

Noticing the advertisement of "Fruit-a-lives", I adopted this treatment altogether, and as everybody knows, since taking "Fruit-a-lives", I have been enjoying the very best health and find it a pleasure to follow my vocation of Dancing and Department Instruction.

Prof. Davis, the celebrated teacher of dancing and deportment in Toronto, is quite frank in stating that "Fruit-a-lives" alone cured him of distressing Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

TRUSTS AND GUARANTEE COMPANY.

A dozen years ago the business of fathering trust funds and taking care of estates formed but a small part of the city's business activities.

The work of looking after the estates of the dead was largely in the hands of private individuals, and the companies then engaged were just beginning to show that by systematic and highly responsible control securities and funds left in their trust could be carefully fostered and appreciated with increasing benefits to beneficiaries.

The progress made in this field is shown by figures presented yesterday at the 16th annual meeting of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited.

In 1905 this concern had guaranteed trust funds of $82,922, and estates and trusts under its administration of $94,442. Each year the amounts placed under its control have been added to and the estates have appreciated until to-day this company's trust funds total $3,590,141, and estates and trusts total $5,196,383.

During the last eight years of the company's existence the assets have gone up from $2,870,906 to $11,446,006. A great deal of the assets is held in real estate, largely on mortgages, but debentures and other securities form a not inconsiderable share of the accounts. Last year the net profits were $177,966.75, and a balance left at the end of the year to the credit of profit and loss account of $394,540.

A notable addition to the Board of Directors was made when the Shareholders elected Mr. E. B. Stockdale to the Directorate. In addition to this advisory capacity, Mr. Stockdale occupies the position of General Manager of the Company.

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

For the Year ending in January, 1913

For many years the progress of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, while not spectacular has been rapid. To glance at the Annual Reports for the last twenty years is to observe an almost monotonous prosperity, happily unrelieved by a single calamity. The business of the Company in force 31st January, 1912 was $7,921,148.88.

It was with some degree of pride that in 1900 the total amount was quoted at over five millions. To-day they amount to over twenty millions or to, to be exact $20,071,344.80. All these funds are invested within the Dominion of Canada and no speculation.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured. The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q. is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where other have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished."

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

tive securities of any kind are carried. It is claimed by the Company and its claim is valid, that not since its foundation has one dollar of the policyholders' funds been lost.

Not the least remarkable feature of the year's Report is the low expense ratio. Referring to the mortality experienced last year the ratio of actual to expected was exceedingly low. This year it is 54 per cent which while higher than that of 1911, is still extremely favorable.

Good News From the Lumber Camp

Men in the lumber camps have free medical attendance, and while many suffer from piles on account of exposure from cold and dampness, the Ointment does not seem to have any cure for piles.

Many letters come from lumber camps in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and here is a sample of how they read.

Mr. Wm. Jones, cook in lumber camp at Prairie River, Sask., writes: "For a long time I suffered from itching, bleeding piles, and could not sleep nights, because of the intense itching. Two doctors treated me, but the relief was only temporary. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised in a newspaper, and it cured me completely over four months ago. Two besides me had the piles here at the camp, and were cured by ointment I gave them. After all the treatments I tried I never expected to be cured, and am grateful for it." Dr. Chase's Ointment is a positive cure for itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The London intermediate basketball League team was defeated here on Thursday evening, by the locals in a fast game by a score of 17 to 22. Both teams were in good shape and the game was fast from start to finish. At half time the score stood London 8 Paris 5. During the second half however, the home team got down to business, and defeated the visitors by a score of 22-17. The line-up: London—Adams and Hamilton; defence: Shaw, centre; ones and Steele, guards.

Paris—A. Fraser and I. Fraser; defence: Inkäster, centre; Roberts and Ellis, guards.

Do Your Hands Chap?

Zam-Buk Will Heal in One Night.

For badly chapped hands, cold cracks, frost bite, etc., Zam-Buk is the best. Wash the hands or parts affected in water as hot as can be borne. Dry with a soft towel, and then smear the Zam-Buk well over the part. If it is the hands wear a pair of old gloves over night. By morning the pain will be gone. Then use Zam-Buk a few more times and the cracks will be healed. Mrs. A. F. Phillips of Ayr, Ont., writes: "I suffered terribly from chapped hands. At times my hands were so sore that I could almost have cried with the pain. I tried Zam-Buk and in a very short time my hands were cured."

Mrs. W. M. Balliet, Port Hawkesbury, N. S., writes: "Some time ago my hands were very badly chapped. Ordinary ointments did not heal them, and I was advised to try Zam-Buk. To my great delight it healed my hands completely."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for piles, ulcers, blood-poisoning, varicose sores, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price.

So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

JUDGING A SINGER.

A Case Where Prosaic Fact Jarred Romantic Fancy.

"While we were stuck on a mud-bank," writes the author of "Panama," "one of the deckhands, who looked like an Italian, was enjoying his job of stitching a patch on a pair of overalls by singing the duke's song from 'Rigoletto.' And he sang it well. He had a rich baritone. His voice evidently had not been trained, but he sang true. Sitting there on a packing case, beating time against it with his bare heels, he threw into his singing a lot of measure of the airy nonchalance, the very spirit of the song, that is so often lacking in the performance of professionals."

"Now, listen to that!" the captain said. "That's the real Latin for you. Music born in him. I don't suppose he can write. But once, when he was a little shaver back in Italy, his father took him to the opera in Naples, and he heard some great artist sing that, and he remembers it still—sings it down here in the jungle, without any accompaniment, and he sings a lot of songs in English or an American university man could sing it with an orchestra."

"Let's get him to tell us about it," I suggested. The captain called him up and asked him where he was born. "New York," he said. "Halber street?" I asked. "Where did you learn that song?" "Oh, that? That's a Caruso song. I learned it out of a phonograph."

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

Its Two Great Archbishops and Its Two Legislative Bodies.

The highest office in the Church of England is held by the archbishop of Canterbury, officially known as primate of all England in distinction from the archbishop of York, who is simply primate of England. The jurisdiction of the latter extends over the province or county of York, which includes ten dioceses in that part of England from the Humber to the Dee and embraces the Isle of Man as well. The rest of England is under the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Canterbury. That dignity, however, as primate of all England, is supposed to possess a certain authority over the church in the whole country. He takes precedence on all public occasions not only of the archbishop of York, but of all the nobility save the immediate members of the royal family. He crowns the king, but the queen is crowned by the archbishop of York.

The church has two legislative bodies called convocations, which attend to ecclesiastical matters. Each convocation, that of York and that of Canterbury, contains two houses. The upper house is composed of bishops and other dignitaries, and the lower house of clergymen, archdeacons and delegates who are elected whenever a new parliament is chosen.—Harper's Weekly.

The Limb and the Law.

John Moran was summoned to the police court for committing a breach of the peace, but when his name was called he did not appear. A friend attended, however, and stated that Moran could not come, having broken his leg. The magistrate, being somewhat suspicious, sent a policeman to Moran's home to inquire, and the constable returned Moran seated at the window, apparently in good health. "Have you broken your leg?" asked the policeman. "I have," replied Moran. "How?" "With a hammer." "Let me see the leg?" "It's out in the woodshead. Go home and look at it," said the policeman. Moran found a wooden leg in the woodshead, mended it and then took Moran to the court.—London Globe.

Constantinople.

The Turks first captured Constantinople May 29, 1453. At that time the city was the sole remnant of the great eastern empire of the Romans. Before 1100 the Turks had possession of the once Roman territory in Asia and ruled as far as the straits before the city of Constantinople. The first sultan to cross over into Europe was Amurath I, who occupied Adrianople in 1360. During the ensuing ninety years the Turks overran southeastern Europe and eventually overcame the desperate resistance of the Greeks and Constantinople fell.

"Who's the little man with the melancholy expression?" "That's Hummer, the poet, who wrote the beautiful verses with the refrain, 'Life is what you make it—you can make it glad.' He suffers from chronic dyspepsia."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Good Advice.

SHE COULD NOT HOLD A CUP OF TEA

Doctors Agreed Toronto Nurse Had Bright's Disease.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her After Five Years Suffering—Felt a Benefit After First Box.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Mrs. Alberta Goffin, a nurse, living at 40 Wright Ave., this city, has been interviewed in regard to her reported cure of nervous or kidney trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. She states that the report is true in every particular.

"My sickness," Mrs. Goffin says, "was caused from a nervous breakdown and what the doctors called incurable Bright's Disease brought on by cold and long weeks of nursing. I suffered for five years."

"I was treated by three doctors and was a patient in two hospitals but gradually got weaker. Reading the experiences of other sufferers like myself led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. At that time I was so weak and nervous I could not hold a cup of tea without spilling some of its contents. "I felt a benefit after taking the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and eight or nine boxes cured me so completely I can now walk a mile without fatigue."

If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills yourself almost any of your neighbors will tell you they always cure Kidney Disease in any form.

When the Cold Tightens in the Chest

Whatever chances you may take with cold in the head and sore throat, you cannot but feel alarmed when the cold grips the chest, enters the bronchial tubes and threatens the lungs.

At this critical time you want a medicine you can depend upon to cure the cold and protect the lungs. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven its value by many years of unqualified success. When you use it you do not feel that you are experimenting, but rather that you are doing all that can be done to cure the disease and prevent serious results.

This medicine is particularly well known as an effective treatment for chest colds and bronchitis. It not merely clears the choked-up air passages, but also allays the inflammation, and has a far-reaching effect on the whole respiratory system.

By its soothing influence on the nerves, which are always excited in the case of bronchitis and asthma, it lessens the coughing and allows the irritated mucous lining to heal up. In this way the greatest relief is obtained promptly, and cure just as surely comes with continued use.

In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is kept constantly at hand for the treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping-cough, asthma and sore throat. With this great medicine at hand you can control any ordinary cold, and bring prompt relief, even in severe cases of bronchitis and asthma.

The work of looking after the estates of the dead was largely in the hands of private individuals, and the companies then engaged were just beginning to show that by systematic and highly responsible control securities and funds left in their trust could be carefully fostered and appreciated with increasing benefits to beneficiaries.

THE BRITISH MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES.

Women are supposed to be a bundle of consideration and tenderness. So they are in the main, but not altogether. What man, for instance, would go around with the skin of a dead animal around his neck with teeth and eyes gleaming, or carry a row of such things on a muff, or stuff his hat full of feathers, often plucked from birds with much cruelty.

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured His Rheumatism

Prof. J. F. Davis, 563 Church St., Toronto. I want to say to the people of Toronto and elsewhere that "Fruit-a-lives" is my only medicine and has been for the last four years. Previous to that, I had been very much troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies as well as employing hot applications of salt bags etc., without getting satisfactory results.

PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The London intermediate basketball league team was defeated here on Thursday evening by the locals in a fast game by a score of 17 to 22. Both teams were in good shape and the game was fast from start to finish.

Do Your Hands Chap?

Zam-Buk Will Heal in One Night. For badly chapped hands, cold cracks, frost bite etc., Zam-Buk is the best known balm. Wash the hands or parts affected in water as hot as can be borne. Dry with a soft towel, and then smear the Zam-Buk well over the part. If it is the hands wear a pair of old gloves over night. By morning the pain will be gone.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured. The cure of Mrs. E. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q., is another victory for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished." Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere.

JUDGING A SINGER.

A Case Where Prosaic Fact Jarred Romantic Fancy. "While we were stuck on a mud-bank," writes the author of "Panama," "one of the deckhands, who looked like an Italian, was enervating his job by singing the duke's song from 'Rigoletto.' And he sang it well. He had a rich baritone. His voice evidently had not been trained, but he sang true. Sitting there on a packing case, beating time against it with his bare heels, he threw into his singing a large measure of the airy nonchalance, the very spirit of the song, that is so often lacking in the performance of professionals."

Good News From the Lumber Camp

Men in the lumber camps have free medical attendance, and while many suffer from piles on account of exposure from cold and dampness, the doctors do not seem to have any cure for piles. Many letters come from lumber camps in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and here is a sample of how they read. Mr. Wm. Jones, cook in lumber camp at Prairie River, Sask., writes: "For a long time I suffered from itching, bleeding piles, and could not sleep nights, because of the intense itching. Two doctors treated me, but the relief was only temporary. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised in a newspaper, and it cured me completely over four months ago. Two besides me had the piles here at the camp, and were cured by ointment I gave them. After all the treatment I tried I never expected to be cured. I am very grateful for it." Dr. Chase's Ointment is a positive cure for itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

Its Two Great Archbishops and Its Two Legislative Bodies. The highest office in the Church of England is held by the archbishop of Canterbury, officially known as primate of all England in distinction from the archbishop of York, who is simply primate of England. The jurisdiction of the latter extends over the province or country of York, which includes ten dioceses in that part of England from the Humber to the Dee and embraces the Isle of Man as well. The rest of England is under the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Canterbury. That dignity, however, as primate of all England, is supposed to possess a certain authority over the church in the whole country. He takes precedence on all public occasions not only of the archbishop of York, but of all the nobility save the immediate members of the royal family. He crowns the king, but the grant is crowned by the archbishop of York. The church has two legislative bodies called convocations, which attend to ecclesiastical matters. Each convocation, that of York and that of Canterbury, contains two houses. The upper house is composed of bishops and the lower house of the laity. Constantinople.

The Turks first captured Constantinople May 29, 1453, but that date the city was the sole remnant of the great eastern empire of the Romans. Before 1100 the Turks had possession of the once Roman territory in Asia and ruled as far as the straits before the city of Constantinople. The first sultan to cross over into Europe was Asenath I, who occupied Constantinople in 1390. Durocrahan southeastern Europe and eventually overcame the desperate resistance of the Greeks and Constantinople fell.

When the Cold Tightens in the Chest
Whatever chances you may take with cold in the head and sore throat, you cannot but feel alarmed when the cold grips the chest, enters the bronchial tubes and threatens the lungs.
At this critical time you want a medicine you can depend upon to cure the cold and protect the lungs. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven its value by many years of unqualified success. When you use it you do not feel that you are experimenting, but rather that you are doing all that can be done to cure the disease and prevent serious results.
This medicine is particularly well known as an effective treatment for chest colds and bronchitis. It not merely clears the choked-up air passages, but also allays the inflammation, and has a far-reaching effect on the whole respiratory system.
By its soothing influence on the nerves, which are always excited in the case of bronchitis and asthma, it lessens the coughing and allows the irritated mucous lining to heal up. In this way the greatest relief is obtained promptly, and cure just as surely comes with continued use.
In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is kept constantly at hand for the treatment of coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping-cough, asthma and sore throat. With this great medicine at hand you can control any ordinary cold, and bring prompt relief, even in severe cases of bronchitis and asthma.
Imitators go so far as to use the name Linseed and Turpentine. The medicines are alike in name only. You can be sure of getting the genuine by seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the bottle you buy. 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

THE SAVAGE ABORS.

They Sacrifice Men, Women and Animals to Their God of War.

More unattractive savages than the Abors it would be hard to find. Of Tibeto-Burman origin they speak a language which is allied to that of the Tibetans, while their arts, such as they are, probably come from Tibet.

Their religion is animistic. The deity, Plang, is the god of war and the chase, and is believed to favor attacks on defenceless neighbors and the ruthless destruction of all game. In pursuance of a policy to propitiate him, men and women are killed or taken as slaves, big game is hunted, birds, squirrels and fish are trapped.

The elemental belief in man as the hunter, and consequently the more fitted to be the protector, still holds good, so the women and slaves toil unceasingly at the crops as hewers of wood and drawers of water, and my lord, bow in hand and with quiver on his shoulder, stalks off on the warpath, his arrows poisoned with aconite or croton berry.

Their burial rites present points of interest similar to those of African savages. Over the grave of each defunct warrior is a grass shelter, where are hung his cane helmet, dao, bow and arrows, the horns of the tame ibison which furnished the funeral feast, with a basket containing food to propitiate the deity.—New York Telegram.

PAMPERED PRINCES.

Luxurious Lives of the Gilded Young Rajahs of India.

"It is almost impossible for an American boy or girl to imagine the extravagance and luxury that surround some of these young India princes," says a writer in St. Nicholas. "Servants attend them night and day, fan them, dress them and obey their slightest wish. If a wind stirs while they sleep curtains are drawn that they may not be disturbed. When they drive out a mounted escort accompanies them, and all the people salaam as they pass.

"Once when taking tea with a rajah in his garden I was amused to notice that as he moved about among his guests a servant followed carrying a cup, which he kept always within reach of his master's hand. The rajah would take a sip of tea and with perfect unconcern set his cup down in midair. With unflinching dexterity the saucer was placed under it by the servant in time to avoid accident. "One prince had suspended from the ceiling a silver couch, which was kept gently swaying while he slept or read. Another had a beautiful vine covered arbor, where artificial rain was made to fall while the nabob sat under a marble canopy in the center, cool and refreshed with the rest of the world brooding about him."

Hardy Shetland Ponies.

The cost of raising Shetland ponies is remarkably low. These little animals are bred in a rough and semi-barren locality, where they are used to rustling for every mouthful of their food. When they are first brought over to this country they don't know the difference between oats and rice. They are complete strangers to a grain ration. In the Shetland ponies they run out the year round without any shelter, and pick their living from between the rocks. For generation after generation these ponies have had to make this kind of a struggle for existence, and the result is a race of hardy little animals that are able to thrive on the coarsest food and to stand an amount and degree of exposure that would put an ordinary American horse out of business.—National Stockman and Farmer.

Burmese Tartar Wooling.

Wooling is done among Burmese Tartar tribes as simple as it is idyllic. On the first day of winter the tribe holds a great feast at which all the marriageable girls gather and listen to the music made by the bachelors, who sit under the "desire tree" and play their favorite instruments. As the maiden he loves passes him a youth will play louder and more feelingly. If she ignores and passes on he knows she will have none of him. If she steps up to him and lays a dower upon his instrument he jumps up, takes her by the hand, taking care not to drop the flower, and off they wander.—Argonaut.

Sea Anemones.

Sea anemones, delicate and sensitive though they look, may attain great age. Sir John Dalyell, a Scottish naturalist, captured in 1828 a sea anemone of the liver colored sort so common around our shores. Its age was then estimated at seven years. It flourished in Edinburgh until 1887 and was just attaining a vigorous and sober maturity when from some unknown cause it died.—London Express.

It Hurt Him.

Tommy—Did the fowl hurt you, Mr. Squires? Mr. Squires—What d'you mean, my dear? What fowl? Tommy—Well, I wanted to know if it hurt, 'cause mummy said you had been benched for twenty years.—London Strand Magazine.

A Rare Feat.

"The patent sprinkler which is such a success for its inventor is a contrary sort of thing."
"In what way?"
"It raises the dust for him, you know, by laying it for other people."—Exchange.

"Ask your mother she married one."
"Why, I didn't know ma had been married twice."—Houston Post.

Recruit Class

A. and D. Squadron of the 25th Brant Dragoons will open their recruiting class Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 8.15 sharp at the armories.

Men and the Church

The pastor, Rev. Llewellyn Brown is preaching a special series of sermons on Sunday evening under the above title. To-morrow evening he will discuss the question, "What kind of a church should Smith go to?" There will be extra music, including a selection by the First Church quartette, a solo by Miss L. Hutchinson and the usual anthem by the choir. Strangers in the city and those without a church home, are specially invited.

Stoic Purse

One of the lady teachers of the city when returning to school yesterday, had her purse snatched from beneath her arm. Turning, she saw the culprit making off up Waterloo street. Mr. Standing, who was near by at the time, gave chase up Palace street. The thief evidently thought the pace was getting too warm and threw the purse away. This Mr. Standing recovered, but still continued the chase. However, the man got away. Later the police arrested a suspect.

Historical Club

The Brant Historical Club met at the home of Mr. Passmore, the President, last evening, for transaction of ordinary business. The reports of the Committees were brought in. The Crest Committee reported that the proposed new seal had been placed before the County Council, by the Chairman of the Club, His Honor Judge Hardy and had been approved by the same. The Seal had then been set to the Heraldic artist, Toronto, to be enlarged and painted, upon the return of which it would be presented to the County Council.

The Communication which was received from the Park's Board was also read, stating that the above Board would co-operate with the Society in the buying of a suitable lot near "Brant's ford" to be used for the erection of a memorial and small park. A Committee under Major Leonard, was struck off to deal with the work and also to meet the Park's Board relative to the selection of a lot.

Mrs. Brown the historian of the Club received a letter from Judge Hardy, dated back in 1867. The substance of the letter had to do with the preparations being made for the arrival of the Governor General. A copy of the first paper published in Canada, namely "The Upper Canada Gazette" of 1803 was received from Mr. Standing.

The Photo Committee was requested to try and secure pictures of several historical relics relative to the Six Nation Indians, also a copy of the picture taken of the Duke of Connaught on his visit here in 1869. Through the kindness of Miss Wilkinson, one of each of these will be available.

The Secretary was requested to send a slight testimonial of appreciation and thanks to John Ross Robertson for the valuable research work done by the same at no small expense to himself and from which the historical societies not only here but all over are deriving immense benefit. The club then adjourned, to meet again next month.

INGENIOUS DEVICE.

(Courier Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A safe of painted cardboard, to the eye an exact reproduction of a real safe they planned to rifle, was prepared by burglars who last night broke into a First Avenue saloon. The real safe stood beneath an electric light kept burning all night and in full view of the street. The artists who conceived the plan intended to substitute the cardboard strong box for the stolen and then to blow the real safe unmolested in a dark corner of the saloon. Something frightened them away, however, but they accomplished one purpose; for the proprietor to-day found after breaking in the thieves had fled, leaving their dummy safe behind them.

"A Travellingman's Life Not Strewn—With Roses."

Does anybody realize the hardships a drummer, selling goods on the road, has to encounter? He tets into town, goes to call on his customer, finds the man he has to sell goods to, has the toothache and a grouch on. The drummer must meet him with a pleasant smile and "How 'dy do," and open up the conversation with "Nice day."

Fred Byers in his new vehicle, "The Girl and the Drummer" will portray the character of the drummer in full view of the audience at the Grand on Friday, Feb. 7.

Every role in "The Girl and the Drummer" is played by a real artist, especially selected to portray their respective characters. The play is embowered with elegant special scenery for each and every act.

"The Girl and the Drummer" comes direct from Chicago, and will be produced in Brantford for the first time at popular prices. A large crowd is assured and an early reservation of seats should be made, if you get the most desirable ones.

THE ONE PERSON.

There was a certain old minister who had a blunt way of getting right at the bottom of things. With a solemn air he announced from the pulpit one day that a button had been found in the collection. "Only one individual in the church could have been guilty of this trick," he said, "and I shall expect this person to replace the button with a coin." After service a member of the church owned up to being the culprit and asked, "How did you know I was the man?" "I did not know," said the clergyman. "But you said only one person could have done it." "Just so," was the reply. "Two persons could not have put the same button on the plate."

TO BEAUTIFY OTTAWA.

Comprehensive Scheme of New Government Buildings Planned.

The Dominion Government has adopted for a comprehensive and carefully matured scheme for the further beautification of Parliament Hill in connection with the erection of the new departmental buildings on the high banks of the Ottawa River, to the west of the present main block. The plans have reached the point where the architects have decided on grouping of the new buildings, with the splendid landscape scheme and vista fronting on Wellington street. The work is being planned by Mr. Edward Wilson, the ideal city architect, assisted by Mr. Todd of Montreal, one of Canada's best known architectural artists. The Government will shortly call for a general competition of British and Canadian architects to submit plans based on this general design. It is probable that substantial cash prizes will be offered for the best five or six models, having regard both for architectural beauty and utility as departmental buildings. The final design adopted will probably not be known for some months, and actual work of construction may possibly not begin till next year. The new buildings will house the Department of Justice, the Supreme Court and various other departmental branches now scattered in rented buildings throughout the city.

The cost will probably run up to three or four millions. About one million has already been paid for the site, which is now occupied by stores and residences to the east of Bank street, and between Wellington street and the river on the north.

The site originally selected for the new buildings, fronting on Major's Hill Park, to the east of the present East block, and north of the Chateau Laurier, will, under the new plan, be the site of the new Customs house, the construction of which is expected to commence shortly.

The Government is now considering a general plan for the beautification of Parliament Hill and the capital generally, with a view of making the "Washington of the North," so far as possible under conditions which have already grown up. The ideal city of the future is being planned on an architectural and scenic viewpoint. It will probably take some years to carry out gradually the general scheme of parks and vistas in the central part of the city now contemplated. The proposal is under the special supervision of Hon. Geo. E. Peley, who is doing his utmost to make the other members of the Government enthusiastic, with a view to taking action before encroaching commercialism makes further inroads.

He Knew His Man.

Senator Archibald Campbell, who died in Toronto the other day, was one of the best chairmen of the Railway Committee the Commons ever had. The Railway Committee is democratic enough to suit Mr. Burnham, and if the chairman is not a strong man it is apt to get unruly. Archie Campbell ruled it with a rod of iron, and the man who got up in committee with the obvious intent of making a bit of a row and sure punishment. In the Upper House, Senator Campbell was really not so much at home as he was in the rough and tumble of the Commons. He rarely spoke, but when he did he made great preparation, and a story is told of one of these Senate "free for alls" when Senator Campbell was to follow Sir Richard Cartwright. The old Kingston knight had agreed to take up just an hour, but when the hour was up he had only got through his ponderous introductory passages. Campbell was seen to leave the chamber. One of his friends went after him and said, "Where are you going, Sir Richard?" "I thought you were to follow Sir Richard," he replied.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Campbell. "I made a date with my dentist for five o'clock. It's four now, but I'll be back long before Sir Richard gets to his peroration."

And he was!

Forty Thousand Miles a Year.

B. B. Hardwick, of Annapolis, Nova Scotia, claims to hold the record as a commercial traveler. He has certainly traveled some. He went on the road forty-one years ago, and during that time it is claimed he has covered about two million miles, and all in the interests of one house.

Mr. Hardwick, who is in Annapolis Royal shortly after New Year's going to the head office in the United States. From there he crosses to the West Indies. Then he crosses over to British Columbia and as far as Newfoundland. After a trip through the British Isles, he takes a short rest on his Nova Scotia farm. Like all Nova Scotians, Mr. Hardwick takes his politics seriously. Away back about 1880 he made a vow that he would not have his hair cut until Laurier was returned to power. He kept that vow, but bright and early on the morning after Sir Wilfrid achieved his great success the Samson locks disappeared. Now he only threatens to repeat the trick.

Boers Coming To Alberta.

It is stated that the graduates of wealthy South Africans will establish a settlement of Dutch farmers in north Alberta next spring.

Mr. Bynman, a Boer, who has lived in South Africa, is at the head of the syndicate and is at present looking over the country round Edmonton and in the Peace river district with the object of selecting land for the proposed settlers, who are all men of considerable means and have had experience in agriculture in South Africa.

Would Qualify for Pensions.

According to a preliminary report of the special committee of the Commons appointed to investigate an old age pension system for Canada, the number of persons sixty-five years of age and upwards eligible for old age pensions, according to the last census figures, would be 145,000, and should Australian conditions apply, about 131,000, or 1.68 per cent. of the total population.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with its spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of disease, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative, made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A cable to the Tribune from Paris says: The trial of the tragic bandits yesterday was devoted to an examination of the accomplices charged with receiving and disposing of bonds and objects of value stolen by the active members of this well organized syndicate, or trust of crime. The system of the defense on the part of the accused was one of pure and simple denial of all the charges, and when cornered by the Judge the prisoners burst forth in grandiloquent glorification of their mystic principles of anarchy.

HORNS LOCKED

Over the Lake Erie and Northern Route--Engineer of Company Complains That he Cannot Get Copy of Plans of Engineer Jones.

The following is the text of the objections to the Lake Erie and Northern route, as prepared by the City Solicitors in response to the request of the Brantford City Council Railway committee: The corporation of the City of Brantford contends that the proposed route shown upon the plans unnecessarily passes through and injures the residential district. That the route cuts off from the city its water front upon the Grand. It interferes with the grade on Colborne street and necessitates a new bridge in lieu of the present Lorne bridge. It is unnecessarily costly. That a feasible route is available to the Railway Co., which would give the desired advantages with regard to passenger and freight traffic and which would also be less costly, which would be equally advantageous regarding grades, curves, etc., and would not cause the residential injury. The corporation of the city of Brantford desires that the proposed route or routes which may be inspected be considered by the boards engineer. Dated at City of Brantford, the 4th of February.

Reply on Behalf of the Railway

February 8, 1913.
Messrs. Wilkes and Henderson, City Solicitors, Brantford, Ont. Gentlemen,—I understand that the Parks Board or the City Council some time ago requested the City Engineer to make an examination with a view to suggesting an alternate route into the City of Brantford for the Lake Erie and Northern Railway. On Monday last there was published in The Expositor, what purported to be a copy of the City Engineer's Report to the Parks Board, in a general way describing the route which he had examined and which in accordance with this Report was supposed to compare favorably with the route selected by the Lake Erie and Northern Railway. I have endeavored to secure from the City Engineer plan, and especially the profile of this alternate route. The City Engineer absolutely refused to allow me to either see these plans or to give me a copy, stating at first that he would furnish these plans if ordered to do so by the Parks' Board. Last night I called up Mr. Good, Mr. Grob and Mr. Matthews. Mr. Good also called up Mr. Frank Cockshutt. All the members of the Board expressed themselves as being perfectly willing that we should have a copy of the plan, profile and Report of this alternate route. I then called up the City Engineer, stating the position of the Parks' Board. I was then told by the City Engineer that he had consulted with you and that you had advised him that the Report was being made for the City Council and that he was not to furnish any plans until after the City Council had dealt with the matter.

This appears to us to be a very peculiar stand for the City to take. We are asked to consider an alternate route, while at the same time we are refused copies of the plans and profiles showing what this alternate route is. The City Engineer states that his plans are not ready to be handed out. At the same time his plans are evidently sufficiently far advanced for him to make various comparisons to the exact foot in difference of length, length of curvature etc. It would seem to us that if this matter is to be dealt with fairly we should be given a copy of the plans above mentioned. Nothing but delay could result from any other course and I trust you will see your way clear to advise the City Engineer to furnish us the information required. I am forwarding a copy of this letter to the Railway Committee.

Yours very truly,
The Lake Erie and Northern Ry. Co.

Chief Eng'r and Gen. Man.

FIRST COURT

During the Present Season is Held by the King and Queen---It Was an Unusually Brilliant Function.

(Courier Leased Wire).
LONDON, Feb. 8.—The King and Queen held their first court of the season at Buckingham Palace last night. The scene was one of unusual brilliancy, for the reception was attended by a large number of foreign ambassadors and their wives, with other members of the diplomatic corps, whose bright uniforms, with the multi-hued sashes of foreign orders added a vivid splash of color to the already brilliant scene.

The King wore the uniform of colonel-in-chief of the Coldstream Guards. The Queen wore a gown of silver brocade with diamante embroidery and train of coronation apique lace lined with silver chiffon.

Their Majesties entered the reception room shortly after 9.30 and took up their position on the raised dais before which a large and distinguished throng passed in unbroken procession until midnight. Beautiful flowers adorned the reception room. On the grand staircase the Yeomen of the Guard were stationed and in the throne room His Majesty's corps of gentlemen at arms were on duty. Supper was served in several large salons to the guests, but the King and Queen with a few specially honored friends supped in the private apartments.

SUFFRAGETTES

Get Into the Kew Horticultural Gardens and Destroyed Many Valuable Plants and Hot Houses.

(Courier Leased Wire). LONDON, Feb. 8.—Militant suffragettes destroyed many valuable plants and other damage in the hot houses of the Kew Horticultural gardens during the early hours of this morning when they developed another part of their plan of campaign to force the British Government to give the parliamentary vote to women.

It is believed a number of women hid themselves in the gardens overnight for this morning long before the day staff came on duty it was found that a large number of rare orchids had been uprooted and scattered in all directions. Thirty panes of glass in the orchid house had been broken and the total damage is estimated at from $4,000 to $5,000. When the nightwatchmen had made their rounds at 1 o'clock in the morning everything was still in good order and the women must have laid their plans well before-hand in order to find hiding places, where they could lie in security. No trace of them has since been found.

The window smashing raids also continue in London. Two immense windows in an establishment in Oxford street, which has heretofore been immune because of the proprietor's contributions to the women's funds were broken during the night. The postal authorities to-day issued a notice that there would be delay on all telegrams despatched from the south to the north of England as the result of the cutting of telegraph wires in the provinces by the suffragettes yesterday.

"CSACARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

GENTLY CLEANSE AND REGULATE YOUR STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS WHILE YOU SLEEP.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach. You remove the cause, and your stomach is as good as cured. Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

LAURIER'S FUTILE SCHEME.

The utility of the Laurier naval scheme as outlined in the Naval Service Act of 1911 has been strikingly demonstrated by the figures prepared by the Naval Service Department, which show that the cost was out of all proportion to the benefits received, and that as far as the recruiting of Canadians was concerned there was little response.

The experiment of the Laurier government in the navy question has been a costly one, especially as the ships stationed on the Atlantic coast, has been a great part of the time in dry dock.

The total amount up to date spent on the naval service, estimating what will be spent this year, is $12,734,473. Save for the capture of a few foreign fishing craft in British Columbia waters, that were fishing within the three mile limit, Canada has received little or no return from this expenditure.

In the present naval debate Sir Wilfrid Laurier loudly proclaimed that Canadians should man their own ships, contributed to England and tried to score against the Government on that account. But the number of Canadians who have enlisted on the Niobe and Rainbow since the passing of the Act contrasts somewhat sharply with the Laurier idea of recruiting young Canadians for the naval service.

A representative from the Maritime provinces in the person of the Hon. William Pugsley stated that many thousands of Canadians were serving in the United States navy because there was no opportunity to do so in their own country. But the official figures prepared by the Canadian Naval Service Department tell another tale. Taking the figures by provinces they show the following Canadians enlisted under the Laurier act: Nova Scotia 162, New Brunswick 5, Prince Edward Island 19, Quebec 14, Ontario 113, Manitoba 1, Saskatchewan 2, Alberta 4, British Columbia 2. The total up to December 19th, has been 402 officers and men. During the same period 61 English officers and 625 men have been employed on the ships.

THE BRITISH MILITANT SUFFRAGETTES.

Women are supposed to be a bundle of consideration and tenderness. So they are in the main, but not altogether.

What man, for instance, would go around with the skin of a dead animal around his neck with teeth and eyes chinking, or carry a row of such things on a muff, or stuff his hat full of feathers, often plucked from birds with much cruelty.

That brings to mind the story of the boy who was seen by a compassionate woman when he was robbing a bird's nest.

To him she exclaimed: "Oh, you naughty little boy. Just think of the poor mother's feelings when she comes back." To which the small personage made answer: "Gwan, you've got the nuzzer in your hat."

And perhaps there could be no better illustration than this of the complex feminine disposition.

In the Old Land the militant suffragettes are giving a constant illustration of the latent and destructive tendencies of certain women when they think they have a "cause," which is paramount to property interests and individual rights.

At this distance, it looks as if they should be treated just as men would be under like circumstances.

If they do want equality with men in the matter of voting, they should expect equal treatment with men in the matter of punishment for malicious wrong-doing.

Prof. J. F. Davis

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured His Rheumatism. I want to say to the people of Toronto and elsewhere that "Fruit-a-lives" is my only medicine and has been for the last four years. Previous to that, I had been very much troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies as well as employing hot applications of salt bags, etc., without getting satisfactory results.

Noticing the advertisement of "Fruit-a-lives", I adopted this treatment altogether and, as everybody knows, since taking "Fruit-a-lives", I have been enjoying the very best health and find it a pleasure to follow my vocation of Dancing and Department Instruction.

Prof. Davis, the celebrated teacher of dancing and department in Toronto, is quite frank in stating that "Fruit-a-lives" alone cured him of distressing Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble.

TRUSTS AND GUARANTEE COMPANY.

A dozen years ago the business of fathering trust funds and taking care of estates formed but a small part of the city's business activities. The work of looking after the estates of the dead was largely in the hands of private individuals, and the companies then engaged were just beginning to show that by systematic and highly responsible control securities and funds left in their trust could be carefully fostered and appreciated with increasing benefits to beneficiaries.

The progress made in this field is shown by figures presented yesterday at the 16th annual meeting of the Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited.

In 1905 this concern had guaranteed trust funds of $8,292, and estates and trusts under its administration of $944,442. Each year the amounts placed under its control have been added to and the estates have appreciated until to-day this company's trust funds total $3,592,147, and estates and trusts total $5,196,383.

During the last eight years of the company's existence the assets have gone up from $2,870,006 to $11,146,006. A great deal of the assets is held in real estate, largely on mortgages, while debentures and other securities form a not inconsiderable share of the accounts.

Last year the net profits were $177,906.75, and a balance left at the end of the year to the credit of profit and loss account of $394,540.

A notable addition to the Board of Directors was made when the Shareholders elected Mr. E. B. Stockdale to the Directorate. In addition to this advisory capacity, Mr. Stockdale occupies the position of General Manager of the Company.

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

For the Year ending in January, 1913. For many years the progress of The Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, while not spectacular has been rapid. To glance at the Annual Reports for the last twenty years is to observe an almost monotonous prosperity, happily unrelieved by a single calamity. The business of the Company in force 31st January, 1912 was $77,921,143.88.

It was with some degree of pride that in 1900 the total amount was quoted at over five millions. To-day they amount to over twenty millions or to be exact $20,071,344.80. All these funds are invested within the Dominion of Canada and no speculation.

Pains Have Vanished

Neuralgia Completely Cured. The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Guthrie, P. Q., is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished."

tive securities of any kind are carried. It is claimed by the Company and its claim is valid, that not since its foundation has one dollar of the policyholders' funds been lost.

Not the least remarkable feature of the year's Report is the low expense ratio.

Referring to the mortality experienced last year the ratio of actu to expected was exceedingly low. This year it is 54 per cent which while higher than that of 1911, is still extremely favorable.

Good News From the Lumber Camp

Men in the lumber camps have free medical attendance, and while many suffer from piles on account of exposure from cold and dampness, the doctors do not seem to have any cure for piles.

Many letters come from lumber camps in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and here is a sample of how they read.

Mr. Wm. Jones, cook in lumber camp at Prairie River, Sask., writes: "For a long time I suffered from itching, bleeding piles, and could not sleep nights, because of the intense itching. Two doctors treated me, but the relief was only temporary. I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised in a newspaper, and it cured me completely over four months ago. Two besides me had the piles here at the camp, and were cured by ointment I gave them. After all the treatment I tried I never expected to be cured, and am grateful for it." Dr. Chase's Ointment is a positive cure for itching, bleeding and protruding piles.

Do Your Hands Chap?

Zam-Buk Will Heal in One Night. For badly chapped hands, cold cracks, frost bite, etc., Zam-Buk is the best known ointment. Wash the hands of parts affected in water as hot as can be borne. Dry with a soft towel, and then smear the Zam-Buk well over the part. If it is the hands wear a pair of old gloves over night. By morning the pain will be gone. Then use Zam-Buk a few more times and the cracks will be healed. Mrs. A. E. Phillips of Ayers Cliff, Que. says: "I suffered terribly from chapped hands. At times my hands were so sore that I could almost have cried with the pain. I tried Zam-Buk and in a very short time my hands were cured."

Mrs. W. M. Balliet, Port Hawkesbury, N. S., writes: "Some time ago my hands were very badly chapped. Ordinary ointments did not heal them, and I was advised to try Zam-Buk. To my great delight it healed my hands completely."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for piles, ulcers, blood-poisoning, varicose sores, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price.

Trial is Inexpensive.—To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism or any ailment arising from derangement of the digestive system, a trial of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended.

Should the sufferer be unacquainted with them, the trial will be inexpensive and the result will be another customer for this excellent medicine. So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

JUDGING A SINGER.

A Case Where Prosaic Fact Jarred Romantic Fancy.

"While we were stuck on a mud-bank," writes the author of "Panama," "one of the deckhands, who looked like an Italian, was enlivening his job of stitching a patch on a pair of overalls by singing the duke's song from 'Rigoletto.' And he sang it well. He had a rich baritone. His voice evidently had not been trained, but he sang true. Sitting there on a packing case, beating time against it with his bare heels, he threw into his singing a large measure of the airy nonchalance, the very spirit of the song, that is so often lacking in the performance of professionals."

"Now, listen to that!" the captain said. "That's the real Latin for you. Music born in him. I don't suppose he can read or write. But once, when he was a little shaver back in Italy, his father took him to the opera in Naples, and he heard officially grown-up artists sing, and he remembers it still—sings it down here in the jungle, without any accompaniment but his heels, a lot better than an English or an American university man could sing it with an orchestra."

"Let me get him to tell us about it!" I suggested. The captain called him up and asked him where he was born. "New York," he said. "Mulberry street?" I asked. "Sure." "Where did you learn that song?" "Oh, that? That's a Caruso song. I learned it out of a phonograph."

CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

Its Two Great Archbishops and Its Two Legislative Bodies.

The highest office in the Church of England is held by the archbishop of Canterbury, officially known as primate of all England in distinction from the archbishop of York, who is simply primate of England. The jurisdiction of the latter extends over the province or county of York, which includes ten dioceses in that part of England from the Humber to the Dee and embraces the Isle of Man as well.

The rest of England is under the jurisdiction of the archbishop of Canterbury. That dignity, however, as primate of all England, is supposed to possess a certain authority over the church in the whole country. He takes precedence on all public occasions not only of the archbishop of York, but of all the nobility save the immediate members of the royal family. He crowns the king, but the king is crowned by the archbishop of York.

The church has two legislative bodies called convocations, which attend to ecclesiastical matters. Each convocation, that of York and that of Canterbury, contains two houses. The upper house is composed of bishops and other dignitaries, and the lower house is made up of deans, archdeacons and delegates who are elected whenever a new parliament is chosen—Harper's Weekly.

The Limb and the Law.

John Moran was summoned to the police court for committing a breach of the peace, but when his name was called he did not appear. A friend attended, however, and stated that Moran could not come, having broken his leg. The magistrate, being somewhat suspicious, sent a policeman Moran's home to inquire, and the constable found Moran seated at the window, apparently in good health. "Have you broken your leg?" asked the policeman. "I have," replied Moran. "How?" "With a hammer." "Let me see the leg?" "It's out in the woodshed. Go and look at it," said Moran. The policeman found a wooden leg in the woodshed, mended it and then took Moran to the court—London Globe.

Constantinople.

The Turks first captured Constantinople May 29, 1453. At that time the city was the sole remnant of the great eastern empire of the Romans. Before 1100 the Turks had possession of the once Roman territory in Asia and ruled as far as the straits before the city of Constantinople. The first sultan to cross over into Europe was Amurath I, who occupied Adrianople in 1369. During the ensuing ninety years the Turks in southeastern Europe and eventually overcame the desperate resistance of the Greeks and Constantinople fell.

THE SAVAGE ABORS.

They Sacrifice Men, Women and Animals to Their God of War. More unattractive savages than the Abors it would be hard to find. Of Tibeto-Burman origin they speak a language which is allied to that of the Tibetans, while their arts, such as they are, probably come from Tibet. Their religion is animistic. The deity, Piang, is the god of war and the chase, and is believed to have attacks on defenceless neighbors and the ruthless destruction of all game. In pursuance of a policy to propitiate him, men and women are killed or taken as slaves, big game is hunted, birds, squirrels and fish are trapped. The elemental belief in man as the hunter, and consequently the more fitted to be the protector, still holds good, so the women and slaves toil unceasingly at the crops as hewers of wood and drawers of water, and my lord, bow in hand and with quiver on his shoulder, stalks off on the warpath, his arrows poisoned with aconite or croton berry. Their burial rites present points of interest similar to those of African savages. Over the grave of each defunct, which is a grass shelter, where are hung his game helmet, dao, bow and arrows, the horns of the tame bison which furnished the funeral feast, with a basket containing food to propitiate the deity.—New York Telegram.

PAMPERED PRINCES.

Luxurious Lives of the Gilded Young Rajahs of India. "It is almost impossible for an American boy or girl to imagine the extravagance and luxury that surround some of these young India princes," says a writer in St. Nicholas. "Servants attend them night and day, fan them, dress them and obey their slightest wish. If a wind stirs while they sleep curtains are drawn that they may not be disturbed. When they drive out a mounted escort accompanies them, and all the people salute as they pass." "Once when taking tea with a rajah in his garden I was amused to notice that as he moved about among his guests a servant followed carrying a cup, which he kept always within reach of his master's hand. The rajah would take a sip of tea and with perfect unconcern set his cup down in midair. With unfailing dexterity the saucer was placed under it by the servant in time to avoid accident." "One prince had suspended from the ceiling a silver couch, which was kept gently swaying while he slept or read. Another had a beautiful vine covered arbor, where artificial rain was made to fall while the nabob sat under a marble canopy in the center, cool and refreshed, with the rest of the world broiling about him."

Hardy Shetland Ponies.

The cost of raising Shetland ponies is remarkably low. These little animals are natives of a rough and semi-barren locality, where they are used to rustling for every mouthful of their food. When they are first brought over to this country they don't know the difference between oats and rice. They are complete strangers to a grain ration. In the Shetland fens they run out the year round, without any shelter, and pick their living from between the rocks. For generation after generation these ponies have had to make this kind of a struggle for existence, and the result is a piece of hardy little animals that are able to thrive on the coarsest food and to stand an amount and degree of exposure that would put an ordinary American horse out of business.—National Stockman and Farmer.

Burmese Tartar Weaving.

Wooling as done among Burmese Tartar tribes is as simple as it is idyllic. On the first day of winter the tribe holds a great feast at which all the marriageable girls gather and listen to the music made by the bachelors, who sit under the "dewy trees" and play their favorite instruments. As the maiden he loves passes him a youth will play louder and more feelingly. If she ignores and passes on he knows she will have none of him. If she steps up to him and says a flower upon his instrument he jumps up, takes her by the hand, taking care not to drop the flower, and off they wander.—Argonaut.

Sea Anemones.

Sea anemones, delicate and sensitive though they look, may attain great age. Sir John Dalryell, a Scottish naturalist, captured in 1828 a sea anemone of the liver colored sort so common around our shores. Its age was then estimated at seven years. It flourished in Edinburgh until 1887 and was just attaining a vigorous and sober maturity when from some unknown cause it died.—London Express.

Recruit Class

A and D Squadron of the 25th Brant Dragoons will open their recruiting class Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 8.15 sharp at the armories.

Men and the Church

The pastor, Rev. Llewellyn Brown is preaching a special series of sermons on Sunday evening under the above title. To-morrow evening he will discuss the question, "What kind of a church should Smith go to?" There will be extra music, including a selection by the First Church male quartette, a solo by Miss L. Hutchinson and the usual anthem by the choir. Strangers in the city and those without a church home, are specially invited.

Stoic Purse

One of the lady teachers of the city when returning to school yesterday, had her purse snatched from beneath her arm. Turning, she saw the culprit making off up Waterloo street. Mr. Standing, who was near by at the time, gave chase up Palace street. The thief evidently thought the pace was getting too warm and threw the purse away. This Mr. Standing recovered, but still continued the chase. However, the man got away. Later the police arrested a suspect.

Historical Club

The Brant Historical Club met at the home of Mr. Passmore, the President, last evening, for transaction of ordinary business. The reports of the Committees were brought in. The Crest Committee reported that the proposed new seal had been placed before the County Council, by the Chairman of the Club, His Honor Judge Hardy and had been approved by the same. The Seal had then been set to the Heraldic artist, Toronto, to be enlarged and painted, upon the return of which it would be presented to the County Council. The Communication which was received from the Park's Board was also read, stating that the above Board would co-operate with the Society in the buying of a suitable lot near "Brants' ford" to be used for the erection of a memorial and small park. A Committee under Major Leonard, was struck off to deal with the work and also to meet the Park's Board relative to the selection of a lot. Mrs. Brown the historian of the Club received a letter from Judge Hardy, dated back in 1867. The substance of the letter had to do with the preparations being made for the arrival of the Governor General. A copy of the first paper published in Canada, namely "The Upper Canada Gazette" of 1893 was received from Mr. Standing. The Photo Committee was requested to try and secure pictures of several historical relics relative to the Six Nation Indians, also a copy of the picture taken of the Duke of Connaught on his visit here in 1869. Through the kindness of Miss Wilkinson, one of each of these will be available.

The Secretary was requested to send a slight testimonial of appreciation and thanks to John Ross Robertson for the valuable research work done by the same at no small expense to himself and from which the historical societies not only here but all over are deriving immense benefit. The club then adjourned, to meet again next month.

INGENIOUS DEVICE.

(Courier Leased Wire.)
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—A safe of painted cardboard, to the eye an exact reproduction of a real safe they planned to rife, was prepared by burglars who last night broke into a First Avenue saloon. The real safe stood beneath an electric light kept burning all night and in full view of the street. The artists who conceived the plan intended to substitute the cardboard strong box for the stolen and then to blow the real safe unaltered in a dark corner of the saloon. Something frightened them away, however, but they accomplished one purpose; for the proprietor to-day found that after breaking in the thieves had fled, leaving their dummy safe behind them.

A Correction
Referring to an item contained in Wednesday's paper, giving a report of the rally of the B.Y.P.U. of Brantford, held in Park Church, Monday evening. This item should have read that at this meeting a grant of $100 was voted to be given to the Baptist Foreign Mission Board by the Baptist Young People's Union of Brantford, and not by the Park Baptist Society as reported.

Pastor Marsh at the Conservatory
Pastor F. E. Marsh, who has been giving addresses along Scripture lines at the Conservatory of Music during the present week, gave two addresses (afternoon and evening) yesterday. The afternoon meeting was upon the atoning work of Christ, and the evening upon the seven royal things of Scripture. Ephes. iii. 16-21 was the basis of the evening discourse, showing that it was the Christian's privilege to possess all spiritual things through Christ, and that there was infinitely more for us than our vessels could hold. The discourses were listened to by an attentive and appreciative audience. Pastor Marsh speaks (D.V.) at the Park Baptist Church to-morrow, both morning and evening.

EXPERT ADVICE

Money spent on keeping time pieces "on the job" is really a necessary expenditure.

Plenty of good watches aren't doing their best work, simply because they can't.

Many a fifty or hundred dollar watch is being slowly but surely ruined, because it needs a dollars worth of cleaning.

If this reminds you that your watch is in that shape, let it also remind you that our repair dept. can attend to your needs on short notice.

praise and appreciation was paid to those taking part in the concert, and members expressed their cordial thanks for the valuable aid so willingly granted, also to the young ladies, who proved most efficient waitresses. A satisfactory balance was shown, which it was decided should go to the pipe band fund. Satisfactory progress is being made in the pipe band, and every effort is being made to provide a well equipped and efficient band at an early date.

Good Game

Brantfordites will have a chance of watching a really fast game of indoor ball here on Monday night, when E. Company, local champions, play F. Company of Hamilton. Both teams are in great form, and a fast game is expected. The affair will take place in the armories. The following will represent E. Co.: Allan, Stuart, Gordon, Curtis, Miller, Colquhoun, Hetherington.

Plasterer's Banquet

The officers and members of the local Plasterer's Union gathered around the festive board at the palm room of the Sunbeam Cafe last night and held a very enjoyable re-union. Covers were spread for twenty-five. After the inner man had been satisfied, H. Ramsbottom, president of the local union, called the boys to order, and the remainder of the evening was given up to speeches, songs etc. Speeches were made by the chairman, J. Paterson, T. Jennings, H. Wood, C. Porter, G. Hewson and C. Ramsbottom. The affair broke up at a late hour, when all present sang God Save the King.

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man cannot understand the torture and suffering many women endure uncomplainingly. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with patience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for immediate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy which is safe to take because containing no narcotics, alcohol or injurious ingredients. It is an alterative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women—Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Lizzie M. Hessermer, of Lincoln, Neb., 535 'C' St., says: 'I send a testimonial with much pleasure so that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your remedies. I was a great sufferer from female troubles but after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured.'

I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial.

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

FOOTBALL. The Sons of England Football Club will hold a meeting in the Borden Club rooms, Dalhousie street on Monday, Feb. 10th. The concert committee will report and other important business transacted. It is hoped all players and Englishmen interested will attend.

HOCKEY. INGERSOLL, Feb. 8.—With only one-goal margin at half-time, London intermediates in the second period of the sudden-death game played here last night with Paris, easily forged to the front and pulled down the district championship by a score of 8 to 2.

London showed superior form in stick-handling and in the dying stages of the contest completely out-classed their opponents. The London aggregation is considered the fastest that has ever played in the local rink. Not only are they strong in individual work, but have developed a dazzling two and four man combination. Paris displayed the tenacity that has always characterized their work. In the first half particularly they back-checked so closely that London's fast forward line could not break away with combination. The game was remarkably fast throughout with hard checking, for which several players were penalized. Several hundred spectators accompanied the London team on a special train and are celebrating their victory. The teams— Paris—Goal, Fraser; point, W. Peebles; cover, Thompson; rover, P. Gill; centre, W. Gill; right, Megzgs; left, A. Peebles. London—Goal, Wardrope; point, Berland; cover, Gramary; rover, McAvoy; centre, Reid; right, Waldon; left, Gillies. Referee—Beulah Davidson, Toronto.

Yesterday's Results. O. H. A. Intermediate. Cobourg 12, Port Hope 9. Warton 5, Goderich 2. London 8, Paris 3. Dunnville 6, Welland 2. New Hamburg 10, Berlin 7. Niagara Falls 10, Niagara Falls, Tec 5. Markham 7, Brantford 3. Ottawa in Favor of Seven Men. OTTAWA, Feb. 8.—In response to President Emmett Quinn's request for a telegraphic vote on the return to six-man hockey, Secretary Martin Rosenthal of the Ottawa Hockey Club despatched the following telegram: "Ottawa strongly in favor of seven man hockey. In view of the fact that the representatives at the last league meeting agreed unanimously to play one-half of the schedule with seven men, you cannot make a change."

Ottawa practically stood alone for seven-man hockey, as all other clubs of the N.H.A. had signified in favor of the non-descript article. It is argued in the capital that there never was a kick against seven-man hockey, and that the change was made by the N.H.A. when the Pacific Coast League bagged half the players of the east, making it imperative to adopt some departure to cover the loss.

CURLING. HARRISTON, Feb. 8.—The final trophy game in the Harriston house-spiel was finished at midnight between D. Caven of Paris, and Dr. Ireland of Harriston. The game was a battle royal from start to finish, and was witnessed by a large and interesting gallery of spectators, many ladies being present.

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that you have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing cures kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of common treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is by the evidence of compounding the medicine and sending it free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take time to write me. Understand, I will not send you so-called "sample, proof or test treatment," nor will I send you a package of medicine and say that you can use some of it and if it does you nothing. All my medicine supply free of charge, and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is indicated, as it is not a cure-all, and give herewith some of the leading symptoms of uric acid and rheumatic troubles. If you notice one or more of these symptoms, I will send you my medicine, and I will be glad to send you some of it if you will write me the numbers of the symptoms you have, give your age, and your name and address. My address is Dr. Frank Lynott, 28 Franklin Building, Toronto, Ont. You promise me nothing, you pay nothing for it. All I ask, so there shall be no mistake, is that you send me the numbers of your symptoms or a description in your own words, and that you take the medicine according to the directions I send you. It is my way of getting publicity for my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they will function with the bladder; it strengthens the bladder so that frequent desire to urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatic aches and pains immediately. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints quickly straighten. It reconstructs the blood and nerves so that you soon feel healthy and more vigorous, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout the day. It does all this and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely vouchered for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a

Like Magic To Weak Nerves. With the nerves, exhausted both mind and body are of little use. You feel tired, worn out and down-hearted, and the organs of digestion fail to perform their all-important functions. Nervous troubles do not go away of their own accord, but gradually grow worse and worse, until some form of paralysis is developed. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food can be depended upon to revitalize feeble, wasted nerve cells as nothing else can. Here is a case in illustration: Mr. A. Sicard Dana, Sask., writes: "When I began to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the recommendation of a friend, my system was so much run down that I was weak and exhausted, and could not at times attend to my work. The effect of the Nerve Food was almost like magic for in a few days the weakness wore away and I found strength and vigor being restored to the body. That cure was effected three years ago, but I generally use the Nerve Food in the spring, as I can find no treatment so effective as a spring tonic."

DR. FRANK LYNOTT who will send medicine to anyone free of charge few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider my expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All my fair-minded afflicted patients want to know if a certain thing will cure HIM or HER, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or importunate loss of time or sleep. MY DAYS may be the turning point in your life. All who are interested enough to write me for this free medicine will also receive a copy of my large Illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write out a letter of diagnosis and medical advice that should be of great help to you, but in order to do this I must know that you need my medicine. Write me the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promise. Show an inclination to be cured and you will be.

- These Are the Symptoms: 1-Pain in the back. 2-Too frequent desire to urinate. 3-Burning or obstruction of urines. 4-Pain or soreness in the bladder. 5-Frequent trouble. 6-Cries or pain in the stomach. 7-General debility, weakness, dizziness. 8-Pain or soreness under ribs. 9-Swelling in any part of the body. 10-Constipation or liver trouble. 11-Population or pain under the heart. 12-Pain in the joints. 13-Pain or soreness in the kidneys. 14-Pain or swelling of the joints. 15-Pain or soreness in the muscles. 16-Pain or soreness in the nerves. 17-Pain or soreness in the nerves. 18-Acute or chronic rheumatism.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Sealed tenders addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa until noon, on Friday the 21st March, 1913, for the conveyance of His Majesty's Mails on a proposed contract for four years six times per week over rural mail route from Brantford, Ontario, (Burford way) to commence at the pleasure of the Postmaster General. Printed notices, containing further information as to conditions of proposed contract may be seen and blank forms of tender may be obtained at the Post Offices of Brantford, Burford, Mount Vernon, and at the office of the Post Office Inspector at London. HAD RHEUMATISM IN ALL MY BONES

"Sometimes I Could Hardly Walk!"
2 Boxes of Gin Pills Cured Me

I SUFFERED from Kidney Trouble for five long years. I also had Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles—could not sleep at night—and sometimes could hardly walk. I was treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over fifteen pounds, was very weak, and friends, who had not seen me for some time, were astonished. One day, I met one of our leading hotel keepers, who had been cured by Gin Pills, and he advised me to try them, so I bought two boxes at my druggist's.

Before I had used one box, I felt a big change for the better, and before the second box was gone, I was completely cured. I assure you I can hardly believe it for if I had known what I know now about Gin Pills, I would not have spent over one hundred dollars for nothing, when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me.

Anyone suffering from Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism, should never be without EUGENE QUESNEL, Chief City Circulation Agent, "La Patrie" Montreal.

Drive your old energy out of your system. Be free of pain. Be able to walk and work and enjoy life. Away with pain in the back, Rheumatism, and Kidney Troubles. Take Gin Pills. A few boxes now, will mean ease and comfort for the rest of the year.

Remember, Gin Pills are sold on a positive guarantee to give satisfaction or your money refunded. So, a box, 6 for $2.50. You may try them before you buy them. Sample free if you write the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

Lady Marjorie's Love

The lawyer paused, Marjorie slowly put her hand to her head, looking at him fixedly. She was deathly white, but quite calm; he almost thought he had stunned her. He waited for her to speak, feeling miserably guilty, and knowing that she said yet it would be useless to continue for she must have time to recover herself, to realize the import of what he had said already.

"Ruined," she repeated slowly. A piteous, wild, uncertain smile broke over her face; she put out her hand to him. "I—I don't understand, Mr. Petherick. Don't look so shocked, so dreadfully sorry for me. You mean that I shall be poor instead of rich, don't you? Quite poor, perhaps?"

"My dear child, I am sorry to say that is what I really mean," Mr. Petherick answered sadly.

"Quite poor!" she repeated slowly, as though she were trying to understand it, to take the entire meaning in. "Quite poor!" With a change of expression she glanced aside at the Countess. "Not Feuchalton," she said questioning. "It makes no difference to her, does it? She is not poor too?"

The Countess's handsome face set into harder lines; she deliberately looked away from the girl, biting her lips. The dead man's daughter found no word or thought of reproach for him, but his wife's resentment and anger were bitter and deep. She had not been sparing in her expression of them to the lawyer, and he saw that she would not speak. He did so himself.

"It makes a difference to Lady Marjorie, certainly," he said—a great difference, but fortunately it does not make her poor. She has her own fortune and her marriage settlement. Neither could be touched for your father's liabilities, and both are her own still."

"I am glad of that." Speaking mechanically and yet with an involuntary breath of relief, Marjorie looked at the lawyer again, once more with that pitiful bewildered smile. "So I'm poor," she said slowly, "quite poor. I have lost everything but Castle Marling—everything but my home."

Mr. Petherick did not answer; he looked back at her dumbly. With a sudden wild flash of terror in her eyes, the girl sprang up, stretching out her hands in distracted, desperate entreaty.

"No, no," she cried aloud shrilly, "not that. Don't say that. Don't tell me that I have lost Castle Marling too. Don't say it. Don't say it."

It was only common mercy and humanity to answer her, and to answer her plainly. The lawyer was merciful and he did it.

"My dear child, to say that I am grieved for you only half expresses what I feel. But it would be only a cruelty to conceal the truth. Castle Marling is sold."

Her lips shaped the last word with a breathless gasp, but she said not a syllable aloud. Her hands gripped the arms of her chair as she sank back paralysed and dumb she could not have been more utterly mute and still. The old lawyer arose with a look of alarm, frightened by her glassy face. He would have spoken, but the Countess, with a slight smile, came to her aid, and she checked him with her hand upon his arm.

"Don't speak to her for a moment," she said. "It is a great blow to her; she has such an exaggerated fondness for this old place. I am really very sorry for her. It will be kinder to leave her to herself for a little while to let her realize it. Wait until she can speak to you."

Partly because of his uneasiness and alarm, partly because the advice was a woman's advice, Mr. Petherick complied. Nothing was audible for a minute or two but the tinkling of the bird's song outside the window and the crisp rustle of the Countess's skirt as she moved back to her former position. The lawyer, dreading his disclosure, had feared that some wild outcry, some hysterical paroxysm would surely follow, and had shrunk from the prospect nervously. Now he thought that he would a thousand times rather have encountered both than witness this frozen immobility. The kind-hearted old man could not bear it; it made his throat husky and his eyes dim to look at the sickening girl—such a bright little creature as she always was, he thought pityingly. He took her hand and in defiance of the Countess, tried to rouse her. Her fingers lay like heavy ice in his; her large eyes looked at him blank and straight; she seemed neither to see him or hear him. He stopped in the midst of his kindly blustering condolences and looked at her helplessly. The cessation of his voice seemed to do what his speech had not done—rouse her stunned attention. Her hand trembled in his; a change like a wrenching spasm passed over her face; she shuddered violently all over and in a hoarse, whispering tone asked the first question that she had asked yet.

"Who has bought it?"

The lawyer hesitated in an instant a passionate rush of scarlet flew over her white face; with a fierce little gesture of her hands she sprang erect to face him.

"Who has bought it?" she reiterated. "If Castle Marling is sold, Castle Marling is bought. Who is its owner now? Who is the master of my home? Her voice was hysterically high; the scarlet flush was mounting to her forehead. Mr. Petherick steadily answered her, prefacing his reply with a soothing word or two for preparation.

"My dear Lady Marjorie, do suffer me to remind you that, it being the unfortunate fact that Castle Marling has been sold, you really make no difference to you who has become its owner, none whatever, my dear child. As for the gentleman who has purchased it, it is only due to him to say—and I am sure Lady Marlingford will corroborate me—that both after the purchase and since, the gentleman of your father he has behaved with the greatest delicacy, kindness and consideration. Really, very much so, indeed. I am sure," the old lawyer went on, with a somewhat nervous glance towards the lady to whom he appealed, "that you will find it no difficulty to agree with me."

"Certainly, Mr. Petherick," the Countess answered coldly. She was impatient of his prolixity, and looked at him. "Shall I mention the name, or do you wish to do so?"

"With your ladyship's permission I will do so at once," he looked back again at the girl. "I think I am right in saying that on one occasion you saw the gentleman, Lady Marjorie, I believe, you mentioned the subject to me. The gentleman's name is Chadburn."

"Chadburn." The name recalled nothing to Marjorie's half-stupified faculties. She had for the present no memory whatever of the stout old man with the handsome face and the white hair who had accosted her in the park on the day before her father's death. She repeated the name mechanically, and then the second time "Chadburn? Who is he? What is he?"

"Who is he?" The lawyer glanced at the Countess for help, saw no promise of any and looked back again. "Mr. Chadburn is a very wealthy man, my dear child, I suppose I should not be far wrong in calling him one of our most important persons. He is a manufacturer and mill owner, has large transactions abroad and large transactions at home, and is well known all over England. A very wealthy man indeed, and I understand a most excellent man indeed."

The lawyer's eyes still looking at Lady Marjorie, made a little disdainful little gesture with her hand.

"You are telling me what he is," she said. "I did not ask you that. He must be rich or he would not have bought my home, but that does not interest me. I asked you what he is not, what he is not, what he is not."

The lawyer's thoughts comprehending the whole meaning of her question, Mr. Petherick well knew that if he answered her with an evasion once she would not allow him to do so a second time, so he wisely answered her plainly in the first place.

"In the sense that you mean, my dear child, I suppose I must reply that Mr. Chadburn is, strictly speaking, nobody. He began life, I believe, as quite a poor man, and has worked his way upward to his present position by his own efforts."

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

How Mrs. Bethune was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I had cramps, backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me, at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband's told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do all my own housework, work in the garden and entertain company and enjoy them, and can walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the week. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl, and tell them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it?

Do You Know

That soft water is better to wash in than hard water? Of course you do!

You know in washing your hands in hard water how difficult it is to get the dirt off.

You know that hard water curdles the soap, and makes it hard to lather. But in soft water—that is different.

In soft water the dirt melts away under the touch of a little soap the way it should.

With soft water there is no need of hard rubbing or of using strong soap or chemicals.

We use only filtered, softened water.

We have the finest water softening plant in Ontario. This is one item of proof that "we know how" to do good work.

One of the most successful affairs of a social character, held in connec-guardian of religious and political liberty was in the words of Milton

"our chief of men." Upon the principle of freedom the Empire ex-unity. Britain, the mother of Parli-of religious and political liberty. Its great champion must rank among vote of thanks, said that to hold the wreat attention of the large audience for so long without using a single note was a rare intellectual feat.

Mr. Dent seconded the vote of thanks in a few complimentary words.
A pleasing feature was the presence of many old Brantford friends among whom were Messrs. George H. Muirhead, J. McLaren, Charles
Nickel, T. G. Marquis and Robert Carlyle. In addition to the nephew of the great biographer of Oliver, there was present a direct descendant of John Hampden and of John Attilwell, who fought as one of the famous Ironsides and gave his life at Marston Moor.

A "Brown" Banquet

The choir of Wellington Street Church tendered a banquet on Friday night to Mr. John E. Brown and Mr.
Edwin Brown of Brooklyn, N. Y.
Covers were laid for seventy, and the color scheme was "carved" out in "brown" with a profusion of the national colors. The speech and Star making a very attractive scene. After fill duty had been done the festive board, Mr. Thomas Darwin took charge of the toast list, calling for the toast to the King. Mr. George Easterbrooke proposed a toast to the American guests. The speech and Star in behalf of the choir, expressed appreciation of Dr. Brown's splendid work during the four weeks of special service, and assured him of the love and sympathy which he so rightly deserved. In some well chosen remarks he thanked the choir for their services during his work in the church, helping to make the mission a success. Dr. Brown said that while he counted many friends,
there were perhaps none more dear than in old Wellington. Mr. Darwin and Miss Carling played a solo duet. The next toast was to Uncle Sam, and was proposed by Miss C.
Hicks and responded to by Mr. Edwin Brown. The toast to Canada was proposed by Miss Effie Elvedge, and responded to by Miss Rena Lake, the company singing "Oh Canada." Rev.
R. D. Hamilton proposed a toast to the choir, the choir master responding. Mr. Detwiler proposed a toast to Our Church, Mr. Fissette and Mr.
Ranton responding. Miss C. Hicks gave a reading, "Flying Days." Mr.
Jas. Darwin proposed a toast to the Ladies. The evening closed by the singing of Auld Lang Syne and God
Save the King.

A Notable Dance

One of the prettiest dances of the season was that given by Lieut.-Col.
and Mrs. M. F. Muir as the formal opening of their beautiful new home
at Gaywood on Monday evening.

lights were placed from Ava Road to the house, where on entering things presented a very military aspect. Flags and bunting draping the quaint stair case and a body guard of picked Dragoons stationed in the spacious hall, their uniforms adding a bright touch of color to the scene.
Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Muir received their guests at the entrance to the drawing room which had been cleared for dancing, the former in the dress uniform of the 25th Dragoons, and the latter wearing a becoming gown of black velvet with touches of crimson on the bodice and corsage bouquet of the same shade. A selected orchestra of three pieces furnished the music—cornet, violin and piano—and the card room to the right of the hall was also well patronized.

About 11:30 a most tempting little buffet supper was served, then dancing resumed until about 2 a.m., when the adients were sent and a three-tiered cake to the host and hostess for the hospitality extended. The invited

Two out of town weddings in which many Brantfordites are interested.

A marriage of great interest to Hamilton society was solemnized on January 29th, in Christ Church Cathedral, when Miss Violet Crear only daughter of the late Peter Duncan Crear and Mrs. Crear, became the wife of Mr. Herbert Gallagher, son of Mr. R. E. Gallagher and Mrs.
Gallagher, of Hamilton. The rector, Very Rev. Dean Almon-Abbott, officiated and the church was beautifully decorated, the sides of the chancel being banked with palms, while the altar was a profusion of fuchsia and white hyacinth. The bride who was given away by her brother, Mr. H. D. Crear, was fair and charming in her gown of white panne velvet, trimmed with Honiton lace, with court train, lined with silver tulle. The veil of tulle was crowned with a wreath of orange blossoms, and clusters of this bridal blossom also decorated the court train, and a shower bouquet of bride roses
and lilies of the valley was carried.
Mrs. Adam Beck, of London, Ontario, sister of the bride, was a gracious and lovely matron of honor in a gown of white cashmere, with marabout stole and muff and violet picture hat. Little "Maid Marion" Beck was a winsome flower girl in a dainty Kate Greaway costume of cream velvet trimmed with marabout, with cream poke bonnet and muff of marabout. Both the matron of honor and her little daughter carried bouquets of violets—the bride's mae flower. Mr. Harry Alexander was best man and Mr. Walter Harvey was usher. The organist was Miss Ambrose and, during the signing of the register, Mrs. Beck sang most effectively Allitsen's "A Song of Thanksgiving." From the Cathedral the bridal party and guests proceeded to "Dunedin," the beautiful home of the bride's mother, where a reception was held, only immediate relatives and friends of the hons- hold being included among the guests. Mrs. Crear was gracious and charming, wearing a gown of black crepe de chine, with turban of black and carrying an exquisite bou-quet of violets, presented by her son-in-law, Hon. Adam Beck. Mrs. R. E.

Gallagher, mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of black velvet and rose point lace, with black velvet hat and bouquet of orchids. Many a tender and regretful thought was given to the Master of Dunedin, who was taken so suddenly from his loved ones last June, and his gallant presence was sorely missed. After the wedding repast, Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher left for a southern trip, the bride wearing a costume of white cloth with purple velvet hat and ermine furs. They will reside in San Francisco, whither they are followed by a host of good wishes.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, 29th, at the home of Lieut.-Colonel James J. Grafton, Dundas, where his daughter, Adeline Minerva, was married to Dr.
John Alexander McCollum, of Toronto, son of the late Dr. John H.
McCollum. The Rev. T. J. Mansell, of Peterboro, assisted by the Rev. A.
R. Birks, of Dundas, performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and friends. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely gown of white satin and lace, with corsage ornamentation of crystal and pearl beads and the skirt draped over a petticoat of Duchesse lace. The veil of tulle and Duchesse lace as arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms, and a shower of orchids and lilies was carried. The maid of honor, Miss Bertha Ogden, of Toronto, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sara Bowman, of Dundas, were dressed alike, in quaint frocks of blue satin, with the fish-wife coat caught back over an under-dress of accordion pleated chiffon.
They carried pink roses and wore French caps of blue tulle and pink rosebuds. The groomsmen were Dr.
Geo. N. Ross, of Toronto. The bride's sunt. Miss Grafton, received the guests, wearing a gown of rose satin, veiled with gray chiffon. Dr. and Mrs. McCollum left for New York, en route to Bermuda, for the honeymoon, after which they will reside at Dunedin road, Toronto Saturday night.

Some Paris Social Notes

Mrs. Thompson, Paris, was the hostess of one of this season's most largely attended and enjoyable
"Teas" on Thursday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Harold Smith of Hamilton, being the house guest.
Mrs. W. Thomson also receiving with her. The rooms looked very lovely with pink flowers in profusion, the assistants, Miss Gladys
Jones, Miss Stella Murray and Miss Allen wearing on their pretty gowns beautiful corsage bouquets of orchids,
the gifts of the hostess.

Mrs. and Miss Murry "Riverview Terrace" entertained at "Bridge" the same evening.

These Pills Cure Rheumatism

To the many who suffer from rheumatism a trial of Parneelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended. They have pronounced action upon the liver and kidneys and by regulating the action of these organs act as an alternative in preventing the admix-ture of uric acid and blood that causes this painful disorder. They must be taken according to directions and used steadily and they will speedily give evidence of their beneficial effects.

LONDON AND PARIS NOTES * A DAY WITH THE PRINCE OF WALES

PROPOSED "MUSEUM OF FAKES" NOT APPRECIATED IN LONDON.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 M. JACQUES SELIGMANN'S proposal to open a "museum of fakes" of old masters in New York does not strike London fine art experts as a very brilliant idea. The general opinion appears to be that while there are many spurious pictures in America, painted by men now living in Italy and Belgium who are well known to the inner circle of art dealers, so there are also all over Europe, and that no useful purpose could be served by such a museum from an educational point of view. The suggestion was made by your correspondent that if exhibitions are required for the "education" of Americans in the fine arts, it would be much more interesting and instructive to hold periodical loan exhibitions of old masters similar to the winter exhibitions which are held annually at Burlington House here, so that the public could have the benefit of seeing the great pictures which have been acquired by private collectors in America, which they have no opportunity otherwise of seeing.

As American art collectors have taught the English the value of the rapidly diminishing supply of old masters, so they are bringing them to realize the artistic value of the colored mezzotint. In the revival of which Groux, a copy of which showed an appreciation of 200 per cent at a recent sale, and which is of even greater value now; Lady Hamilton as a Bacchante, after Reynolds; "Mrs. Cannon and Child," after Romney; "Lady Peel," after Sir Thomas Lawrence; "The Ladies Waldegrave," after Reynolds; "Lady Hamilton as Circe," after Romney, and the "Duchess of Devonshire," the famous picture by Gainsborough, which, after being stolen from London and hidden for many years in the United States, was ultimately recovered, and is now in the possession of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan.

Mr. Maurice Romberg, better known in Paris than in London, as a member of the French Orientalists' Society, and of the Belgian Royal Water Color Society, has brought to the Dore Gallery one of the most entrancing collections of water colors seen in London for a very long time. They are all illustrative of life, both peaceful and warlike, in Morocco and Algeria, bright, sunny and refreshing to the jaded Londoner in these days of depression and gloom. "A Study Here is one of the first to catch the eye, depicting a Moorish horseman stopping by a pool to water his warlike horse, and "Powder Play" at Tangier and Marrakesh are perhaps the two most effective, in both coloring and motion. "Crossing the River, Biskra, is one of the few landscapes, a beautiful piece of coloring with canals forming a stream to give life to the scene, and "Summer Evening on the Kasbah, Tangier, is a sweet, peaceful picture that commands attention.

Messrs. Colnaghi and Obeach acquired the great Haseltine collection of drawings by old masters they have been considering their dispersal. It is now almost settled that the Dutch (including Rembrandt), German and Italian schools will be sold separately, but the Gainsboroughs and Claudes will be disposed of only as complete collections.

The dispersal of the great McCulloch collection, as has already been mentioned in these despatches will be one of the greatest sales of the forthcoming season at Christie's. It has now been set for the end of May on a date to be decided, but it was as at first expected, during the Royal Academy week. The later date has been fixed in consideration of the fact that many pictures by Royal Academicians are included in the collection. Among the finest of the McCulloch pictures are those now on view in the Tate Gallery, and sale records may easily be established by the one of the paintings at MUIPANK. These are Orchardson's "Master 'Baby' and the Young Duke," and Sir John R. Millais' "Sir Isumbras at the Ford."

SCHEMES FOR BEAUTIFYING LONDON DISCUSSED AT MANSION HOUSE.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 AMBITIOUS schemes for beautifying London were outlined this week at the Mansion House, where the Lord Mayor presided over a meeting of the London Society.

Lord Curzon said the object of this society was to make London beautiful where beauty did not already exist, and to keep it beautiful where it already was. London was beautiful already by its rivers and parks, its inns and corners, its fairs and sections. There were ornaments in the figure of London, there were plastic spots on the skin of London which could be removed, and the London Society was to be the physician which was to give the prescription.

London has never been to the Englishman exactly what Paris was to the Frenchman or what Berlin was increasingly becoming to the German. The Englishman preferred to think of "Paris" as "the city of light" and his first idea was to get away from London. His dream of the London of the future looked to the south of the river. He would like to make a clean sweep and have a large conception.

Sir Aston Webb said that the society desired to see the Thames on the south side embanked from Westminster to Southwark Cathedral. If that was done the Thames would be the noblest river passing through the noblest capital of any empire. Another thing they would like to see was a great thoroughfare from the southern end of Westminster Bridge joining the southern end of London Bridge and forming a short and direct communication between the city and the west.

STEEL TRUST COUNSEL NOT AFRAID OF TARIFF REDUCTIONS.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 MR. FRANK BILLINGS, KILLGORE, general counsel of the United States Steel Corporation, who has come to London on important private business, told your correspondent that the feeling that Congress made an error in passing the bill giving preferential treatment to American ships is growing and there is a powerful and increasing sentiment in favor of arbitrating the dispute between the United States and England.

"I do not believe that the recent and much discussed speech by President-elect Wilson will have any effect upon business or finance," he said. "I myself have confidence in the ability of Mr. Wilson. As there will be a democratic House and a democratic Senate after March, there will be tariff legislation, of course. But the revision downward will not be radical, such as to disturb present happy conditions."

"The democratic party itself is not quite united on tariff policy. There are protectionists even among the democrats. These would form a modifying influence. But even were the tariff legislation to be more sweeping than it looks likely to be, the business of the country is too much flourishing to be disturbed by possibilities of it."

"I am myself in favor of reductions in many of the schedules, though I do not care to go into details. Some of our republicans tried to make such reductions, but did not succeed."

Mr. Killgore was asked whether he agreed with Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who had stated that the steel industries of the United States could get along without protection. He smiled and said: "I come from a protectionist country whose manufactures have been built up under the protective system."

Mr. Killgore was special counsel for the United States in the case against the Paper and Standard Oil trusts and has been a member of the Republican National Committee from Minnesota. Mr. Killgore is accompanied on his business mission here by Mr. Henry Clay Pierce.

PRINCE OF WALES' LIFE THAT OF ORDINARY STUDENT AT OXFORD.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 A King in Making" is the subject of an interesting description by Mr. Charles Dewar of a day with the Prince of Wales at Oxford, where the royal student has broken ground as a freshman. He has taken his stand there as an ordinary compeer of the goliath of the nobles; and he has associated freely with the undergraduates; he has made many friends. He has also discovered that he likes Oxford and that Oxford likes him. Oxford likes the heir apparent for his charm and simplicity, his sporting tastes and instincts, his desire to inhale the real atmosphere of his college and university.

The Prince rises betimes and attends roll call or chapel, which are the matutinal alternatives offered by alma mater to her sons. Breakfast follows in the junior common room. The royal undergraduate delights in the buoyancy of this mess, and then begins work. Perhaps it is a public lecture by one of the distinguished dons, or it may be a hour spent in tuition by the president himself, or some specialist in history and living languages.

Lunch finds the young Prince eager for social intercourse or set on sport which which to fill the afternoon before the dinner hall. Frequently he lunches with his friends, without or within the town, or he may elect to have his commons in his own rooms—dishes drawn from the college kitchen, for he has no private chef in his modest establishment.

Afterward comes the delight of football with the second association team, or a game at golf at Cowley, Radley or the course at Fulford, seven miles away. Or it may be shooting, a sport in which the Prince excels. Invitations reach him from country estates, and one day he is accounted for more than sixty pheasants and half a dozen woodcock. He has his father's prowess with the gun. But there is scarcely a sport in which he is not good. A bowler he is one of the best that run with the pack.

Dinner in hall at seven o'clock finds the Prince, not solemnly engaged with learning at the high table, but joyously seated with young men of his age in the humbler places of the common room. Sometimes the King in Making dines with his friends in the town or invites them to his rooms.

Work comes again after the cloth is removed and lamps are burning in the comfortable apartments, snugly furnished in solid English style. The Prince's evenings are often given to easy writing on subjects of his own choice, or to reading, or to every evening is so arranged in midnight talk. The Prince is "clubbable" and belongs to most of the institutions which exist in this fashion of the world of thought and sport. The Oxford Musical Society takes him to chamber concerts, the Union

FORMING THE PROCESSION FROM THE EUROPEAN EDITION OF THE HERALD

(Special Despatch.)

PARIS, Saturday.
 'T'S gone! The old horse drawn omnibus has left Paris forever! No more will a Paris 'bus conductor shout an "En bas!" No more will the combined exhortations and imprecations of the driver in the oilcloth hat mingle with the crack of his whip.

The garage has replaced the stable; the petrol can has crowded out the hayfork; the automobile has supplanted the faithful old horse in local transportation, even as the railroad and the trolley tram eliminated him as an agent of long distance conveyance years ago.

Old 320, pioneer in the horse bus world of Paris, has been laid to rest. And what a funeral it had! Such honors are paid few mere men after death. Funerals in Paris are officially classified, like railway carriages, the classes ranging from "first—the most elaborate—to ninth—the least." It was the first class for old 320. The enterprising newspaper, the Auto made all arrangements for the services and overlooked no detail.

Old 320 was slain by the hand of progress. Strictly speaking, it did not pass to the Great Beyond till midnight, but "the last sad rites" as the country correspondent would have it—were said at noon, and whatever followed may be considered in the nature of a post mortem. Cremona had been suggested, but no body had the heart to wait for the final disposition of the body.

Twenty-three automobiles followed the old 'bus on its last journey—23 for the 'bus vehicle! And what a contrast were offered! "Yesterday" and "To-day" were suggested respectively by the witness, and the trim, fleet "sporting machine" of Belanger Freres which M. P. U. Romano drove.

The funeral chariot was crowded above and within with mourners. The "Complet" sign was displayed early. From one side floated a streamer bearing a horse's head and the single word of grateful acknowledgment. "Merci," Floral tributes filled the second machine, a Grégoire automobile. There was a wealth of huge bouquets, forget-me-nots predominating. One wreath voiced the public's "Regrets" with mute eloquence. Banners on other automobiles were inscribed "Sic transit gloria equi," and "Soyez bon pour les animaux."

As the procession started from the Place Saint-Sulpice the bell in one of the steeple towers tolled twelve measured strokes. An orchestra from the Velodrome d'Hiver played a so-called dead march and the horns and trumpets of the automobile united in a dirge.

All the way to La Villette—in the Rue Bouaparte, Boulevard Saint Germain, Rue Danton, Place Saint Michel, Boulevard du Palais, Quai de Gesvres, Rue and Faubourg Saint Martin, Rue Lafayette and Avenue d'Albion—the crowds were visibly affected by the sad spectacle. Strong men stood with uncovered heads, and wept unashamed; little children clung closer to mothers' or nurses' skirts, and women wrung their hands in the agony of their despair.

Some were wont to be sure, who, mistaking the nationality of old 320, treated the occasion more in the light of a wake than a solemn service. A few men even laughed and shouted—but then every individual has his own way of manifesting sorrow.

Some saw in the passing of the horse bus only the triumph of progress—ad-

down a thinly covered run. The mild, open winter has evidently paid a visit also to these elevated white realms. Patches of bare rock and ground appear everywhere from the Swiss Alps to the Pyrenees. The snow on the steep slopes, and curling has been much in favor.

But even what the ice things have been, of course by the time these notes reach our readers the telegraph may have received heavy falls of snow, as one may expect these in January, but as the state of writing the weather forecasters do not hold out any hope of changed conditions.

The particular type of climate this winter has led to a great deal of walking and climbing from the resorts which offer the sportsman opportunities in this direction. Several well known peaks have been ascended during the opening days of this year; the snow on the high altitudes being in excellent condition and the going safer and pleasanter than during last summer.

Down on the lower levels along the lake sides the signs of spring are quite extraordinary. Violets are in bloom and primroses are plentiful.

And there is the Orillon Club, with its astronomical excuse, and the O. U. Club, with historians as the raison d'être. These two undergraduate may have been after penetrate the college premises after ten o'clock at night, permitted to be had until the midnight hour.

DOWN A THINLY COVERED RUN

After which, of course, there is the penalty of being "gated." The Prince ran some risk of it when he returned in kilts with companions thus attired, and preceded by two stalwart pipers, from the last Caedonian ball. It was a gay event, full of

FAITHFUL CANINE IS HERO OF FIGHT WITH VICIOUS BULL.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 ALTHOUGH somewhat belated, the following story, published in "Our Dogs," and said by its author, Miss Edith Hansen, to be a true one, is very interesting:—

"During the summer of 1912 a man of my acquaintance, who possessed a valuable bulldog, was spending his holidays at a place called Velle, on the west coast of Denmark. One of the first days after arrival he set off with his dog on route for the shore to enjoy a bath. In parenthesis I must remark that as the tide in Denmark is not very considerable one will often see cultivated fields reaching almost down to the water's edge, and such is the case at Velle. His friends noticed the dog on the shore but saw some stunted trees and bushes growing almost out of the beach, and these he thought would make an excellent 'bathing machine.'

He noticed that the field was occupied by a very fair number of 'cows,' but without giving them a second thought he proceeded to bathe. He had, however, not gone further than his shirt when, without a moment's warning, he received a most violent blow in the back and was lifted bodily in the air. He fell a helpless heap in the open, unable to rise, as several of his ribs were broken. On turning his head he saw that the bull (for such a creature now proved to be) was proceeding to return to the attack.

But at the same moment a little streak flew at the animal's head and he saw that his brave bulldog had got a firm grip of its nose. The bull's premeditated charge was arrested and he was now constrained to turn his attention to his antagonist. In 1912, Wolsey, Cardinal of St. Cecilia and Archbishop of York, sat in state near Paul's Cross while Bishop Fisher denounced Martin Luther and his accursed works, many of which were burned in the churchyard during the same period. But in spite of this the Lutheran doctrine flourished, and six years later Wolsey came again to St. Paul's, intent on reducing to ashes all "evil translations" of the Scriptures. At the foot of the great roof over the northern door a fire was kindled and fed with Bibles. The Lutheran heretics begged pardon on their knees, and were then sentenced to walk round the building with their heads and cast faggots on the top.

Newspapers as well as books were burned, and the most famous of the kind is that of the "North Briton," No. 46, in which Wilkes, as it was thought, had uttered a seditious libel. The mob, however, and when the paper was burned by the common hangman in front of the Royal Exchange they seized the burning fragments, chased the Sheriff's men through the streets and finally burned a jackboot at Temple Bar.

In later days there have been two famous burnings—the offending authors being Frodoe and Harry, with no other result than to make them more popular. As the editor of one burned book wrote:—'Books have souls as well as men, which survive the martyrdom and are not burned, but crowned with the flames that encircle them.'

FIELDING'S "TOM JONES" BARRED FROM DONCASTER FREE LIBRARY.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 SHOULD Fielding's "Tom Jones" require anything further to make it immortal, that would be found in the action of the Doncaster Free Library Committee, who have solemnly cursed the famous novel by bell, book and candle, removed it from their shelves and condemned it to the flames. Ever since there was a library "Tom Jones" has been undisturbed. It had been read and digested by the common community without a word of complaint, until one of the learned library committee took the book home, thinking that a standard work would be irrefragable, and was duly shocked. He made it the subject of a report to his committee, none of the enlightened members of which having read the book before, who signified their horror and the book was burned.

It has, however, been burned in good company, for fire has been the fate of many books now regarded as the choicest literary possessions of the English language. In 1521, Wolsey, Cardinal of St. Cecilia and Archbishop of York, sat in state near Paul's Cross while Bishop Fisher denounced Martin Luther and his accursed works, many of which were burned in the churchyard during the same period. But in spite of this the Lutheran doctrine flourished, and six years later Wolsey came again to St. Paul's, intent on reducing to ashes all "evil translations" of the Scriptures. UNPUBLISHED LETTER BY GEORGE WASHINGTON TO BE SOLD.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 HISTORY is again to be assailed by the auctioneer. A letter by George Washington is to be offered for sale at Sotheby's auction rooms on February 19, and it is said that its contents have not hitherto been published. Written at Mount Vernon February 5, 1783, about two months before the first presentation of the United States, it contains a passage of great interest to the students of early American electioneering and of Washington's attitude toward the federalists.

An interesting portion of the letter is the first attack of mental derangement. In the autumn of 1783 the King, after tating the waters at Cheltenham, got wet while walking at Windsor. On October 22 signs of mental trouble appeared. His mind was dwelt on the loss of the American flag. On December 5 his physicians told the Privy Council that his disease was not incurable, but it was impossible to say how long it might last.

Casting his mind back to the events leading to the War for Independence, Washington wrote the following remarkable statement:—

CANADIAN SUBSCRIPTIONS ASSURE MONUMENT TO GENERAL WOLFE.

(Special Despatch.)
LONDON, Saturday.
 AS the result of subscriptions taken in Canada a monument to Major General James Wolfe at or near his grave at Greenwich is assured.

Following the battle in which General Wolfe lost his life his remains were brought to England and interred in the family vault in the crypt of St. Alfege Church, in that borough. Nothing was done for nearly 150 years to mark his burial place.

In 1898 Ferdinand Foucault, a citizen of Greenwich a church warden of St. Alfege, placed a memorial window in the church at his own expense, and on November 20, 1903, the 120th anniversary of General Wolfe's burial, a mural tablet was erected in the church over the grave by his regiment and from public subscription taken up in England.

When the campaign was begun in the Western provinces of the Dominion to arouse public opinion and obtain funds for the construction of a Canadian monument near Wolfe's grave, which would be a fitting memorial, and at the same time worthy of the Dominion, it was believed that $4,000 would be sufficient for the memorial. It is now thought that $8,000 will be required.

It is probable that the sculptor will be Canadian. It is not yet decided whether the monument will be placed in the churchyard at St. Alfege, in Greenwich, where the space is very confined, or there is not room for display, Wolfe was living at McCartney House, which still stands in Greenwich Park and looks out on Blackheath. If the London County Council were to give a suitable site in the centre of Blackheath, which would not be far from the grave, a green and in close vicinity to his old home, it would furnish one of the best display points in Europe.

PROCESSION OF THE LAST PARIS HORSE BUS.

PARIS, Saturday.
 'T'S gone! The old horse drawn omnibus has left Paris forever! No more will a Paris 'bus conductor shout an "En bas!" No more will the combined exhortations and imprecations of the driver in the oilcloth hat mingle with the crack of his whip.

The garage has replaced the stable; the petrol can has crowded out the hayfork; the automobile has supplanted the faithful old horse in local transportation, even as the railroad and the trolley tram eliminated him as an agent of long distance conveyance years ago.

Old 320, pioneer in the horse bus world of Paris, has been laid to rest. And what a funeral it had! Such honors are paid few mere men after death. Funerals in Paris are officially classified, like railway carriages, the classes ranging from "first—the most elaborate—to ninth—the least." It was the first class for old 320. The enterprising newspaper, the Auto made all arrangements for the services and overlooked no detail.

Old 320 was slain by the hand of progress. Strictly speaking, it did not pass to the Great Beyond till midnight, but "the last sad rites" as the country correspondent would have it—were said at noon, and whatever followed may be considered in the nature of a post mortem. Cremona had been suggested, but no body had the heart to wait for the final disposition of the body.

Twenty-three automobiles followed the old 'bus on its last journey—23 for the 'bus vehicle! And what a contrast were offered! "Yesterday" and "To-day" were suggested respectively by the witness, and the trim, fleet "sporting machine" of Belanger Freres which M. P. U. Romano drove.

The funeral chariot was crowded above and within with mourners. The "Complet" sign was displayed early. From one side floated a streamer bearing a horse's head and the single word of grate-

 ALTHOUGH somewhat belated, the following story, published in "Our Dogs," and said by its author, Miss Edith Hansen, to be a true one, is very interesting:—

ONLY A SLEEP WALKER.
 (Courier Leased Wire).
 MONTREAL, Feb. 7.—Screams of "help, murder, police!" in a woman's voice, startled Sergeant Fisher of the Chenneville street police station as he stood at the corner of St. George and Dorchester streets this morning. Making an investigation Fisher found that Mrs. Annie Laughlin, a sleep walker, had during a nocturnal walk thrust her arm through a window and severed an artery.

Fisher was able to save the woman's life by making a tourniquet on her arm, something he only learned to be able to do at first and last given the police last week.

FROZE TO DEATH
 (Courier Leased Wire).
 NORTH BAY, Ont., Feb. 7.—Mr. Joseph C. Levlane of Morin street left home early yesterday evening to visit a neighbor. No anxiety was felt by her family when she did not return as it was thought she had decided to stay the night. This morning, early pedestrians on High Street found her frozen body lying at the side of the street. She had left a return home about 8 o'clock and it was presumed she was overcome by weakness or a fainting spell and before she could recover was benumbed by cold. She leaves a husband and four children. She was 40 years

HAMILTON HAS A GRAVEL FAMINE.

HAMILTON, Feb. 8.—During the past few months the price of gravel in Hamilton has been steadily on the increase, until at the present time it has reached an almost prohibitive price. Many of the local contractors who use large quantities of sand and gravel in their building operations, have been conducting an investigation as to the cause of the continual boosting, and while they have not satisfied themselves that there is any real cause for the increase in price, they have discovered a remedy, and that is that gravel can be shipped to Hamilton from outside points cheaper than it can be procured in this city. That he could have gravel shipped from Brantford to the electric cars and delivered in the city cheaper than he could buy it in Hamilton was the substance of a statement made this morning by Alderman Byers. Many other builders and contractors are securing their gravel and sand from Brantford, and there is a possibility of them getting together and deciding to do all the purchasing in the Telephone City, until the local pit owners can make a price interesting enough for them to consider. The city had a contract last year to purchase its gravel at $2.50 a load, but the board of control has been notified now that if a contract is entered into for this year's supply it will have to be at a greatly increased price.
