Five More Turks Hanged at Stamboul To-day.

Condemned Men Sang Hymns Until Swung Off.

Pitiable State of Those Sheltered at Refuge Camps.

Constantinople, May 17 .- Five more men were hanged at half-past three ck this morning in front of the building of Parliament, opposite the Mosque of St. Sophia, in Stamboul. They had been found guilty by court martial omplicity in the murder of their officers in the revolutionary outbreak of April 13. One was a non-commissioned officer and the others were junior offi-The five men sang hymns while they were being conveyed from the War Office, where they had been confined, to Office, where they had been confined, to the place of execution. Thy continued their songs while the final preparations for the hanging were being completed, and up to the very moment that the stools on which they were standing, with the ropes around their necks, were knocked from under their feet, All through the condemned men were as calm as though saying their prayers in a mosque.

most of them decline to leave, because of of them decline to leave, because of lack of confidence in the protec-offered. The greatest danger is epidemics in the over-crowded and missions. Measles and ty ssary that the refugees be dispersed soon as possible. Money contribu soon as possible. M

MRS. SELIGMAN MARRIED. London, May 17.—Charles Walstein, professor of fine arts at Cambridge Uni-versity, and Mrs. Theodore Seligman, of New York, daughter of the late David L. Sew 1018, daughter of the late David L. Einstein, were married at the registry office here to-day. The marriage was thus celebrated on account of the very recent death of Mrs. Seligman's father, all unnecessary ceremony being thus avoided.

SAME SMITH?

Detective Bleakley Looks Over Brantford Burglar.

In the arrest of Joe Smith, the French-Canadian burglar at Brantford last week the local police think that the man responsible for the series of rob-beries which took place in Hamilton a being which took place in Hamilton a couple of weeks ago is now in jail. He pleaded guilty to eight charges of house robbery, and was remanded for sentence until his record could be looked up. Detective Bleakley was in Brantford on Saturday, and from information gathered there, it is believed that Smith is the man wanted here. His method of entering a house was peculiar, and it is the man wanted here the by which he has been traced. He generally entered a house by a rear window and carried a house by a rear window and carried a humber of short sharpened sticks with him to pry the windows open. He apnumber of short sharpened sticks with him to pry the windows open. He appears to have been a rather careless burglar as at several of the houses which he burglarized these sticks were picked up near the window. In Hamilton also several were found near the burglarized houses. Gaze of the B. & H. R. conductors is quite sure that he saw Smith last Wednesday. He said a man answering the description of the burglar got on his car near Brantford and rode to the outskirts of Hamilton and then got off. Smith was never seen in this city and it is doubtful if any of the local charges can be proved against him.

Boat Service to North Shore Will Begin Shortly.

The boat service to the north shore of the bay will be formally opened in the course of a few days. One of the Hamilton Ferry Company's boats, the Ivan R., arrived yesterday from Three Rivers, Que., and is now tied up at the wharf at the foot of Hughson street. As soon as she receives another coat of paint she will be placed on the regular run to the north shore. The Ivan R. proved herself a staunch craft on the trip up, which was made in good time. Mr. James Woodman, one of the officers of the company, came up on her and he is more than pleased with the way she weathered the big blow on the lake yesterday. The piers were reached shortly before 4 o'clock, and it took just sixteen minutes to make the run to the dock. The company has already received many enquiries about the opening of the service, and looks forward to big business. The boat service to the north shore

Queen of Portugal Receives Decorations of Three Orders For Heroism.

Lisbon, May 17.-King Manuel has estowed upon Queen Amelie, widow of King Carlos, the decorations of three or ders for the heroism displayed by Her Majesty on the occasion of the assassination of her husband and son in February, 1908. These orders are the Order of Christ, the Order of Santiago, and the military Order of St. Benoit

The decree recites that after King Carlos and Crown Prince Luis had been shot dead, the Queen, with noble courage and maternal instinct, flung herself in and maternal instinct, liung herself in front of her son Manuel and endeavored to thrust aside the weapon of Casta, lev-elled at him. Her escape was remark-able. The bullet struck her corsage, was deflected, and grazed the forearm of the able. The bullet struck her corsage, was deflected, and grazed the forearm of the prince. The Cabinet has given its unanimous approval to these decorations, never before conferred upon a woman. His Majesty has decorated also the policeman who shot Buissa, the man who killed the King, giving him the Order of the Tower and the Sweath This decoration endows the recipient with the rank of an officer, and entitles him to a royal pension.

Four Thousand Dollar Coffin and Forty Thousand Dollar Funeral.

Founder of Paris Department Store to Surprise the Public.

Paris, May 17 .- Almost every tourist who has visited Paris knows the great Magazins du Louvre, the big departmental store between the Palais Royal and the Tuileries. Its founder, H. A. Chauchard, now at the point of death, is preparing to give Paris a new surprise. He is a bachelor, many times a millionaire, and lives in a princely residence. He has often astonished the world by the fabulous prices he has paid for art treasures. He bought Millet's "Angelus" for $200,000, and paid vast sums for other pictures, notably Meissonier's "1815." In his declining years the old gentleman has become rather eccentric, and his chief occupation has been to arrange the details of his funeral, which he has planned upon a royal scale. He has already had a magnificent sarcophagus, costing $16,000, built in Pere la Chais cemetery, and selected a coffin costing $4,000, made of marinth wood, with chiseled bronze ornaments. For his funeral he has set aside the sum of $4,000.

The trouble was the result of a row over a switch, and Tony, who is an Italian, becoming hot under the collar, drew a pen knife with a blade about an inch and a half long, and flourished it in Hutchison's face. The constable appeared on the scene then, and Tony was arrested. At the court this morning Hutchison did not want to prosecute, and, as Tony bore a good reputation, he was allowed to go.

The police have been notified by Chadwick Brothers that a robber entered their Oak avenue brass foundry and their Oak avenue brass foundry and stole $179 from a safe. Mr. Chadwick locked the safe at 6.15 o'clock Saturday night, and when he went to the office Sunday afternoon he found the safe open and the money gone. Last of the Beamsville Libel Suit.

An action which has caused much excitement in the town of Beamsville during the past year has been brought to a close, that is so far as the civil end of it is concerned. In April of 1908, Arthur E. Bull issued a writ for libel against George Crain, asking for $3,000 damages for alleged statements made by Crain as to Bull's ability as a bookkeeper. Bull alleged that the defendant had defamed his character in connection with some alleged irregularities in bookkeeping, and that he appropriated moneys belonging to the defendant.

The defendant a short time after the issuance of the writ had Bull arrested on four or five charges of theft. Bull was committed for trial, and in December last was tried on one of the charges, and was acquitted. The rest of the charges were traversed until the June sittings of the court at Beamsville.

This morning Mr. S. F. Washington, K. C., counsel for Mr. Crain, received notice from Mr. Bull's lawyers, Nesbitt, Gauld & Dickson, of the discontinuance of the libel action against Crain. An action which has caused much ex-

John F. McIntyre, counsel for defend-John F. McIntyre, counsel for defendant, made the usual motion for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, and also contrary to law. Justice Garretson denied these motions. Mr. McIntyre then raised the point of jurisdiction of the Supreme Court over the defendant, contending that he had never been released from the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, and therefore the case was not properly before the court. Mr. Mc-Intyre also stated that Dr. Brush, who had been an expert witness for the defence, had attended Capt, Hains since he was convicted and found him insane. Justice Garretson said there was no evidence to that effect before the court and he declined to consider the motion in regard to jurisdiction.

The court clerk instructed Capt. Hains to come to the bar and proceeded to take his pedigree. The prisoner seemed dazed, and replied with some difficulty, in understanding the question. Lawyers McIntyre and Young, of the defence, stood on each side of Capt. Hains, and assisted him in answering the questions of the court clerk.

In passing sentence Justice Garretson said that the defendant had had a fair trial and had been defended by experienced lawyers, and a jury had rendered a verdict commensurate with the requirements of the law. He said that he was toot aware that any errors of law had been committed during the trial.

Gen. Hains, the defendant's father, and Major John Powers Hains, who were in court, displayed much emotion when the captain was sentenced. Immediately after sencence the prisoner's lawyers asked for a stay of sentence for a few days in order to make an appeal.

Justice Garretson said the case would take the usual course, andsgave the defence twenty-four hours in which to file an appeal. He then remanded Captain Hains to the custody of the sheriff.

"There are few men, even in London, richer than I am."

"Then, then my father was not de-ceived, and you have grown rich on the secret for which he gave his reason and life!"

"You mean the secret of the jasper rock," he said, quietly, almost sadly. "You forget that, if secret there was, it lived only and died with him. You wrong me, Constance. I left the hut immediately after you. I was carried away by the rangers.

away by the rangers. away by the rangers.

"No. do not wrong me by so unjust a suspicion. What! I rob you, for whom I would lay down my life! of whom I have thought day and night for all this long and weary time! Ah, Constance, do not treat me so coldly. Surely, such devotion, such faithfulness as mine, deserves better treatment. I come to you with the same love, as true and next. you with the same love, as true and passionate as ever, and lay it at your feet."

Constance shrunk back as she had shrunk yom him in the hut, and then, quiet restaurant and made her sit down.

"It you should," he said, "please let me know at once. Telegraph if necessary. There is the address," and he took a piece of paper from his pocket and handed it to her. "And now good-bye, my dear young lady; and with a smile and a respectful bow, he got himself out of the room.

"I-I will not listen to any more, as told you long, long ago, I-I-Mr. "I—I will not listen to any more, as I told you long, long ago, I—I — Mr. Fenton, if you have any regard for me, if you have any pity for me, please leave me!"
"Do you think I have not tried to crush my love for you out of my heart, that I have not fought hard against it, and tried to forget you?"
He looked around the room.
"Think! In exchange for this poverty and squalor I offer you a place among the best and highest—"

"You say you know me, and you ask me to—sell myself," she said, in a low voice of indignation. "Do not say another word. Even if I were as mercenary as you think me, I am not yet helpless," and instinctively, perhaps unconsciously, her glance fell upon the pile of Startled by the significance of his tone, she looked at his with a vague sense of trouble.

"You treat my offer with scorn be-cause you think you are independent. How little you know of the hard world if you think it so easy to earn the right live in it."
"I—I don't understand," she faltered.

"No?" he said, drawing a little closer, with the same smile of pity and conscious power. "You never suspected my breathed.

"You do not see, even now?" he answered. "Can you not guess that it was I who sent the man to you with the fictitious offer of work?"

It all flashed upon Constance's mind in a moment. She sunk upon the chair and hid her face in her hands.

"Constance," he murmured. "forgive me! I wanted to spare you the bitter disappointment which comes to all those who, like you, think they can find work in this hard world. Forgive me; it is all past now; there is no more drudgery for you, dearest; nothing but peace and happiness!" He sank on his knee and got hold of her hand as he spoke. "Constance, say the word; be my wife—"

"Never!" she panted. 'Not if the word would save me from starving. Your wife! I would rather beg—or die. Oh, why did you come? You love me, and deceive me so cruelly? You do not know what love means. Please go! Go this instant!"

"Is that your last word?" he said.

"Is that your last word?" he said, almost inaudibly.

She raised her hand and again pointed to the door.

"Heartless! Do not be afraid, I am going. I leave you to discover and realize the mistake you have made. Perhaps—who knows?—the time may come when you will admit it—yes, even to me."

For a full minute he stood looking at her, his face eloquent with the storm of passion that raged within him; then he took his hat and slowly left the room.

CHAPTER XIV.

With a low cry of relief Constance

With a low cry of relief Constance sank to the ground, and rested her herd sank to the ground, and rested her herd upon her arms outstretched upon the sofa. She was physically and mentally exhausted Then suddenly she rose and, seizing the papers, tore them into fragments and flung them into the fireplace. And as she did so, the act seemed to bring home to her the full sense of ber helplessness.

"Yes." he said. "Do not be angry. The great object of my life since I came to England has been to find you."
"To find me?" said Constance.
"Yes; I tried all means. I searched for you myself, but without avail. Then I sought the aid of a detective. I would have moved heaven and earth, would

She felt faint and giddy, and was wondering where she was and how she should get home—the home that could be home for so short a time.

A policeman came up with his measured tread, and eyed her at first sus-occiously.

Constance, feeling as if she were about of fall, caught the railing of the club and put her hand to her brow.

"Anything the matter, Miss?" asked the policeman.

"No, no, I am tired and—and rather faint. Will you call a cab for me if you please?"
The policeman hailed a hansom and you please?"

The policeman hailed a hansom and offered her his arm—a London policeman is a person of discernment, and soon learns to know a lady.

Thanking him Constance was getting into the cab, when a gentleman came down the steps of the club. He looked up and down the street, and his glance rested upon her for a moment: then with an exclamation he sprung forward and laid his hand upon Constance's arm. She looked up and uttered a cry.

It was the marquis.

The marquis drew her arm within his, and signing to the cabman to follow them, led her a little way in silence.

Then he looked down at her, and in a voice struggling for composure, said: "Constance—Miss Grahame, you here, and alone!"

He stopped for a moment, as if un-

"You are ill," he said, and he gave the waiter an order, and poured out a glass of wine, and waited, with true delicacy looking away from her, for some kinutes; then he asked:
"Are you better?"
"Yes, my lord," said Constance.
"Then tell me all—everything that has happened. I can scarcely believe that it is really you who are sitting there, that only a few minutes ago I was half mad with the disappointment of my failure to find you, and that now—"

"You were looking for me, my lord?"
"Yes, I have been looking for you for days. Where have you been? Tell me everything."
Constance half rose, looking around nervously.
"I cannot stay here my lord." she

He put his hand upon hers gently, soothingly.

"A few minutes longer, you are not quite recovered yet. Why did you not write to my mother, to Lady Ruth?" he asked. "Why did you not send them the address of your relation you have been nursing? Did you think that we—that they—were utterly indifferent as to what had become of you? When I came back to the castle that evening. I learned that you had been sent for suddenly and that you had gone without a word to anyone excepting Ruth, and she apon that you had gone without a word to anyone excepting Ruth, and she appeared to know very little. "I—I am in London, my lord," she said, speaking with difficulty.

"There is nothing to tell I—I came out to-night, and—and lost my way. I must go now at once," and she rose.

"You do not ask me why I have been searching for you," he said, as they passed out, and he drew her arm within his. "I have some sad news for you." passed out, and he drew her arm with in his. "I have some sad news for you."

SHOT DEAD.

Halifax Boy Was Training With Loaded Weapon.

McKenzie, a 16-year-old boy, was accidentally shot and killed on the Bedford Rifle Range Saturday afternoon while engaged in target practice. He had re-cently joined the 63rd Regiment, of Halfax Rifles, and this was his first visit to the range for rifle practice. It is also the first time a fatal accedent has oscentred on the range.

McKenzie had been firing, and was eaning on his rifle, with his hand over the muzzle. The weapon, which was oaded and at full cock, went off and the lad fell dead, the bullet entering the region of the heart.

NEW DEFENCE.

Germany's Chain of Airship Stations on French Border.

New York, May 16 .- A cable des patch to the Herald from Berlin says: Lorraine to the Rhine provinces, as far Lorraine to the Killer Provided Francisco Company and the Manburg.

As each of these stations will be within a short distance of the French border, the plan has its significance. There is vague talk of establishing another airship line skirting the Batic and North Seas. This would mean and North Seas. This would mean and North Seas. This would mean and North Seas of Britain, but and North Seas. This would mean looking in the direction of Britain, but the initial activity in the southwest may be interpreted as meaning, comparatively speaking, that Britain's military aerial forces are not yet formidable.

airship line between Lucerne and various German points, it has been stated that many branch lines will be necessary. The main line of communication will pass from Lucerne over Friedrichshaven by way of either Stuttgart or Strasburg to Maunheim, Frankfurt-onthe-Main, Cologne and Hamburg. In any case airship houses are to be constructed both at Stuttgart and Strasburg. Metz is on the list, of course, and it is well understood that the Zeppelin No. 1, famous for recent evolutions, will be lodged there sooner or later.

New Method of Drying Buildings. Drying new buildings is done perfectly three days by the new Sheffield method. Hitherto occupation of newly built houses has been delayed in order to allow them to dry, but with the use of this new apparatus freshly plastered rooms can be entirely dried within three days and the excessive moisture of the days and the excessive moisture of the walls completely extracted. The apparatus consists of a stove with The apparatus consists of a stove with a firebox suitable for coke fuel, surrounded by a number of small diameter tubes similar to gas pipes. By means of the apparatus fresh, dry, outside air enters constantly into the air supply tubes and is highly heated in the tubes surrounding the fire places. It ascends in a dry, heated state in the room, passes along the ceiling and walls, and absorbs the dampness, sinking down after being saturated with the same and re-entering the the apparatus.

ter being saturated with the same and re-entering the the apparatus. It then mixes with the coke gases in the outlet tube for the smoke, and eventually escapes into the chimney. This constantly renewed, fresh, outside air furnishes an abundance of carbonic acid to the mortar, thus handening it and producing in a short time the same effect as if the mortar had dried naturally. It is claimed by this system that no moisture can possibly show later on. A striking recommendation for the apparatus is that the German law prohibiting the habitation of any house until six the habitation of any house until six months after construction is abrogated by the authorities where this system is used.

BRANTFORD'S BOLD BURGLAR.

He May Also Have Operated in Hamilton and London

Grave Opening Case Causing Excitement in Brantford.

Seriously Hurt by Fall-Socialists and Militia.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, May 17 .- Joe Smith, the arglar, whose spectacular arrest was made here on Friday by the police, and who pleaded guilty to eight charges of who pleaded guitty to eight charges of house-robbery, is likely the same man who figured in burglaries committed in both Hamilton and London. Detective Bleakley, of the ambitious city, was here on Saturday looking him over at the local jail, and he believes that he is the same man who secured $40 and a pair of trougers in a recent burglary at the same man who secured $40 and a pair of trousers in a recent burglary at Hamilton, from which city Smith came to Brantford three days before his arrest. His method of operation was in all instances the same, rear windows being pried open, through which entrance was gained. Chief Slemin is at present securing more of the prisoner's record as it is believed he is a noted professional crook and may possibly be an ex-concrook and may possibly be an ex-concrook and may possibly be an ex-concrook and may possibly be an ex-con-vict. Smith is willing to be sentenced for any old period, so long as he is quietly and speedily disposed of.

SOME BUNGLING. The grave digging case against ExAld. William Dunne was adjourned here on Saturday for another week in order to secure the evidence of Rev. Father Lennon, the parish priest, with whom it was said arrangements were made for the removal of the three bodies of Mrs.
Carolan's children by the payment of $10 by the defendant Dunne. That testimony was adduced on Saturday morn-Carolan's children by the payment of $10 by the defendant Dunne. That testimony was adduced on Saturday morning, the defendant stating that he had nothing to de with the giving of instructions for the removal. Grave digger Patrick Jones, when recalled, stated that Rev. Father Lennon paid him for the work, but that Dunne had given him instructions. Strong comment was made by the court on the unceremonious dumping of the remains from one place to another. Mr. L. F. Heyd, K. C., acting for Mrs. Carolan, pressed for conviction as his client had already made ten trips from Detroit to Brantford in order to relieve her mind of the worry caused by the chaotic state in which her children's remains had been thrown, but Magistrate Livingston decided that the testimony of Rev. Father Lennon was essential. The Magistrate commented that it was certain some one had unwittingly gone against the criminal law which involves a seven year penalty, and he could not overlook the facts algreed.

The unfortunate follow sentinged a backer here is ate fellow sustained a broken bone in the spine, besides injuries causing brain cussion. He is a married man, re siding at 32 Gray street, and his receiv is regarded as doubtful.

AGAINST MILITIA. A party known as the Brantford Socialists came into the limelight here Saturday when a resolution was made public condemning the proposed grant of the City Council to the new 25th Draof the City Council to the new 25th Dragoons for equipment, on the ground that the principal function of the military organizations of present day society is to protect the capitalistic class and their property rights in the means of wealth production, and to uphold the robbery practiced upon the working class by the same class ownership of public necessities.

UNION CIGARMAKERS.

A gathering of the union cigarmakers of Ontario was held here on Saturday with the object of forming a league for the furtherance of the Blue Label. Officers were elected as follows: President, Jos. MEN'S MISSION.

Father Doyle Preached at the Opening Service.

A congregation composed entirely of nen filled St. Lawrence's Church to overflowing last night, and listened attentively to a powerful sermon by Rev. Father Doyle, one of the most forceful speakers of the Redemptorist order. It was the opening of the men's mission, which will last for one week. Mass will be celebrated each morning at 5.30 and 8 o'clock, with a short instruction, and the evening service will be at 7.30. Rev. Father O'deilly, who is associated with Father Doyle in charge of the mission, is another eloquent and impressive speaker. The church will doubtless be crowded at all the services throughout the week.

speaker. The church will doubtless be crowded at all the services throughout the week.

That the supreme aim in life of every man should be the salvation of his immortal soul was the chiel thought emphasized by Father Doyle in his sermon last night. Deploring the spirit of materialism that made so many forget the end for which they were created, he pointed out that while wealth, properly used, was all right in its place, more than one rich man died cursing the gold for which he had slaved. Touching on the last judgment, the speaker sketched an impressive picture. No man, he said, knew the day nor the hour when he would be summoned to meet his Maker. How essential it was that every human being should be prepared to meet that call. Many were making the mission perhaps who would not be there when another year rolled around. The mission was a time of grace and sanctification, and he exhorted his hearers to take advantage of the opportunity and not to make the fatal mistake of mutting it of and he exhorted his hearers to take advantage of the opportunity and not to make the fatal mistake of putting it off until too late. Picturing the glories of heaven, the missionary referred to the fact that it was easy to gain. A cup of cold water given in His name, and the little acts of charity, all these were recorded in the Book of Life.

In the afternoon the women's mission

In the afternoon the women's mission, which was in progress all last week, closed. Rev. Father O'Reilly preached a sermon in which he urged that those who had attended the service persevere in the good resolutions made.

There was a very large gathering of friends and relatives last Wednesday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. Frederick Shaver, who died on the 9th, to pay him their last tribute of respect. Rev. D. Scanlon conducted the service at the house, after which the remains were laid away in the graveyard a short distance away. "Uncle Fred," as he was called by all, had been very feeble a long time. About two months ago he had a stroke, and had been confined to his bed nearly all the time since. His son Charley and wife took excellent care of him. He was ninety-one years old, and the last of a family of thirteen children, He saw a great many changes during his life, but the greatest was the electric ear going through his farm. Dr. Farmer took him to Brantford on the cars. He enjoyed the ride greatly, and talked about it for days. He was very friendly to all, and will be greatly missed in the home. MONDAY, MAY 17, 1909.

OBLIGATORY STATE RELIGION short time ago the Synod of Hamil ton and London complained of the lack of Bible instruction given in the public schools, notwithstanding the provision made therefor, and expressed itself a of opinion that the failure was due to the lack of "provision for examination in Scripture lessons." The Synod ex pressed its resolve to petition for such changes in the law as would meet its views. The Synod of Toronto and Kingston takes a similar course. This question of religious teaching in the Public Schools under the compulsory system of state education is one involv ing great difficulty. He who bus over looked the obstacles to the way of its success has given but little study to the question. How to teach religion in the Public Schools, so as to meet the views ously trenching on the rights of the individual is a question that has never ye been satisfactorily answered.

Mr. G. K. Chesterton, the eminent English essayist, writing upon the sub-

The question of whether the Bible can The question of whether the Bible can be taught merely as literature is a question that raises the whole riddle of things that have two meanings, a big meaning and a small meaning. Can the anywhere except as literature Yes, anywhere except in Islam. Can the Bible be taught as pure literature! Yes, anywhere except in a Protestant country.

That is something to think about; and the more it is considered the more reasonable it becomes. The Bible cannot be treated as any other book is treated in a Christian country. Christians cannot desire that it should be so treated. To do so would be to outrage their religious sentiments. As Mr. Ches terton points out, "It is the old-fashioned theologians who ought to insist on secular education. It is the orthodox Puritans who ought to want the Bible kept out of the schools. The truth can, indeed, be put in a kind of dilemma. Either the Bible must be offered as something extraordinary or as some thing ordinary. If it is offered as something ordinary, that is grossly and atro ciously unfair to the theologians and the believers.

The assumption of those who advocate compulsory scriptural training in the State Public Schools is that if the Bible be taken out of the schools it will be taken out of the interest of those who believe in it. Mr. Chesterton says this is a mistake. "Those who do not believe in it are exactly the people who have no reason to object to it. It is the people who do believe in it who have a right to get restless." At some length ne deals with the difficulties of such Biblical instruction as is demanded for the Board Schools in England, and al-leges that if Bible instruction is a suc-any efforts which fakirs can make, our cess, then Board School instruction is a

We incline to the belief that in this country pressing for examinations on Biblical teachings in the Public Schools is a mistake-a mistake not only having in view the end to be attained, but a tactical blunder on the part of its advo cates. Our Public School law affords large oportunities for progress in religious and moral education. It is to be doubted whether good will result from demands for organized definite examinations upon the Scripture teaching there given. It is even to be feared that the measure of tacit consent given to the present regulations may be brought in dispute, and that the not unreasonable demand of the parent that the state refrain from intruding upon the domain conscience may be evoked. There are, we know, people who are always ready to argue for religion, to fight for it, even to die for it, when it would be far easier and more effective did they but live it. Perhaps, if these people combined in a crusade to produce a re vival of interest in home duties and parental training, and the quickening of church and Sunday school and other agencies of Christian culture, they would be less inclined to invoke the fleshy arm of the state in their aid. And probability is that there would be little need of it. The schools, like all joy is tempered by the fact that the the other institutions of our civilization, would then, by natural consequence, be- tion, but the world cannot resist the come truly Christian.

THE CARNEGIE HERO FUND.

Up to the beginning of this year the ssion having charge of the Carnegie here fund has made 246 awards amounting to $164,941. The pensions granted up to the beginning of this year amounted to $16,320 annually. In each case a medal has been awarded. Besides these grants, $124,462 has been given to aid sufferers from disasters. aid sufferers from disasters. Mr. Car-negie, in setting aside $5,000,000 for this fund, stipulated that wherever heroism was displayed in the United States, Can ada, or Newfoundland, the fund should apply. The Commission appointed to manage the fund is not proceeding in any slipshod manner. It has dealt with a large number of cases in the five years since its organization. In 2.059 cases which it has investigated, it has declined to make any award. At the beginning of this year it had 914 cases under advisement. Mr. Carnegie set an excellent example by this recognition of the heroic spirit. If it be proper to recognize valor on the field of battle, is it not also proper to recognize heroism and self-sacri-fice in the peaceful walks of life?

> A recent cable despatch indicates that loseph Chamberlain is in very poor health, and that his mental condition is far from hopeful. He suffers from loss of memory, and recently informed his wife that John Bright was coming to dine with him, although in a short time he had forgotten making the statement. The despatch says that he is not thought to have grasped the principles of the budget; but it is not improbable that a statement with regard to it, signed by him, will be given to the public. It is pitiful to think of the Chamberlain of old in such a condition, exploited by selfseeking politcians.

A contemporary looks forward to a sime, not far distant, when dirigible balloons will regularly run between the great cities. Taking the first cost of the airship at $150,000 and that of its rew and operation at about $112,000 a year, it estimates that it would have to ealize $900 for every 12-hour journey in order to clear expenses. Even if it carried 15 passengers each trip, this would necessitate a charge of $60. But there are many other charges before profits could be considered, not the least of which would be insurance and dam Perhaps, even then, not more than 25 per cent. of the passengers would need care afterwards other than to bury them.

The Vancouver News-Advertises Tory) gets off this joke upon the British Columbia Tory Government. Speaking of the marked increase of trade in the northern portion of the province, our contemporary, winking its other eye, says, "the result is due to the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and the vigilance with which the provincial government has protected the interests of the public in connection with that work." The point becomes evident when it is said that the British Columbia Provincial Government has een exceedingly active in placing every obstacle possible in the way of Grand Trunk Pacific, the Ministers stumping the Province and denouncing he Dominion Government for promoting the road. It should be said, however, that the News-Advertiser did not conduct that sort of a campaign.

It should hardly be necessary to press upon public attention the importance of the Tuberculosis Convention to be

MAN DRIVEN TO SUICIDE.

MAN DRIVEN TO SUICIDE.

To the Editor of the Times:
Sir,—It is very distressing to read daily in the press the number of suicides that are happening nowadays, especially among the business and financial men, which is accounted for by the fact that the strain in business is too great. It was a very rare occasion 35 or 40 years ago for a sane person to take his own life. I have known several in this city who were killed by being pressed financially too hard, who took their own lives to avoid trouble. The question arises, why should circumstances allow men to kill their fellow men, not by the bullet or knife of the assassin, but by a more cruel and selfish means, leaving families in bereavement and despair? The Coroner's inquest should be most assayshired in finite at the standard of the coroner's inquest should be most assayshired. The Coroner's inquest should be most searching in finding the details that compel men to self-destruction, and the law should protect men from the Shy-lock. Gambling in stocks should be stamped out, and conditions created that men cannot be pressed beyond en durance. Life is surely more precio than money. W. S. Lumgair.

Shows How Tariff Barriers Affect Trade Between It and States.

At the annual banquet of the Canadian Club of New York, held at Hotel Astor on Friday last, W. O. Sealey, M. P. for Wentworth, spoke on "International Trade and Commerce." The speech has attracted wide attention throughout the States and Canada, and the Times pub-

I thank the committee for the kind invitation, and am delighted to have the honor of attending this annual banquet of the Canadian Club of New York, more particularly so on account of your mos orthy president, who is not only a anadian born, but a native of our own ounty of Wentworth, where on county of Wentworth, where on the Janefield farm, in the glorious old township of Beverly, he spent his childhood days, no doubt helping to plant some of that magnificent row of trees that stand on either side of the long lane as you approach the beautiful elevation where the commodious farm buildings are situated in the centre of a magnificent two. ated in the centre of a magnificent twohundred-acre farm, still owned and occu nundred-acre tarm, still owned and occupied by his family. There, where the best of grain and high grade stock of all kinds, particularly horses, are produced and matured, and I have no doubt these environments of his early days, coupled with the spendid, bracing air of that northern locality, stimulated and helped to lead him to the honored position of to lead him to the honored position of president of the Canadian Club of New fork, as well as a leader in his calling, the medical profession, and for these reasons I feel particularly proud to be a guest here to-night.

Now let me turn briefly to the subject of the toast with which you have honored my name, that is "International Trade and Commerce."

Canada and the United States, two of Canada and the United States, two of the greatest commercial countries in the world, lying side by side on this North American continent, both most prosperous and progressive, each in their own individual way, which in many cases and under many circumstances are very similar, continue to hew out for themselves and their country their own future destiny, which they confidently expect to be greater than has been.

On account of their adjacent situation and on account of the much smaller population, industrial development and general wealth, Canada had looked up to the United States as being her

Thereafter, through the loyalty and foresight of that great Canadian, Sir Wilfred Laurier, a commercial preference of 12½, 25 and 33 1-3 per cent. Was given to the Mother Country, Britain, which was accepted in the loyal spirit in which it was made, and while not returned with an actual commercial preference, it was returned by a sentimental preference, which gave Canadian products special preference on equal terms under any circumstances, until to-day, the trade records show that while twelvy ears ago, calculated upon a per capita basis we ranged fifth or sixth among the commercial nations of the world, since that time, however, so great has been our progress, we have risen from sixth place commercially per capita, until to-day we stand at head of the list, being four times greater, per capita, than the United States and ten times greater than any other country in the world, and to-day the aggregate trade of the United States is vastly greater than any other country in the world, and to-day the aggregate trade of the United States is vastly greater than the aggregate trade of the United States is vastly greater than the aggregate trade of the United States is vastly greater than any other country in the world, since that time, however, so freat has been our progress, we have risen from sixth place commercially per capita, until to-day we stand at the loyal to the countries of the world, with their large population, which the United States is vastly greater than any other country in the world. The definite videa of the world, and the resolution of the world and the decided North resolved, that have

While Canada as per capita has this

FEEL THAT HER POSITION could be made greater, and that the po-sition of the United States could be made greater, if the barrier on natural sition of the United States could be made greater, if the barrier on natural and agricultural products were brought to a more mutually satisfactory basis. For instance, in the lumber trade, the natural source of supply for the eastern manufacturing States is from central Canada, and the natural source of supply of the middle west of Canada is from the northern central States, but by the United States trade barrier a great deal of the Canada central product is diverted backward to the middle Canadian west, and has to be freighted to the United States east. Hence, in that particular case, both countries are paying long and expensive freight charges entirely unnecessary, and without any corresponding advantage. But we have splendid transportation north and south, and while Canada has perhaps more forests than any other country in the world, she has been for years acting in advance of the suggestion of that great statesman, the president of the United States, and conserving her, forests, so that recently when there was an inclination to realize on southern pine, it was a transported to Canada and sold at $25 per M. or $15 less than it was worth, and $5 to $10 less thas it actually cost to produce. Central western Canada buys the product and still conserves her own, whereas the United States trade barrier continues and prevents to quite an extent the advantage the United States might have of bringing their resources from central Canada.

Then in the matter of hog products, by reason of a very small trade barrier both the extreme eastern Canada and extreme western Canada and extreme western Canada acquire this both the extreme eastern Canada and extreme western Canada acquire this commodity from their United States neighbors, but by reason of the unusually high United States trade barrier the product of central Canada is transported to Britain through our great lake and waterways at a minimum rate of freight, and here again the northern central States are losing an opportunity, and so I might go on indefinitely. Take the matter of wheat for instance, where the best wheat in the world, grown in the is required to mix with the unusually good wheat grown in the United States west, but the trade barrier again come in and prevents the United States en joying the advantage of this, except under the bonding privilege, which requires so many officers and accounting that it is worth the that it costs more than it is worth, experience in our mineral and agricutural products; for instance, the Unit States southern climate ripens the early vegetables and fruits when they arout of season in Canada, but with the moderate trade barrier we enjoy the out of season in Canada, but with the moderate trade barrier we enjoy the luxury, while on the contrary, when the most delicious of small fruits and vegetables produced in the world are in season in Canada, the trade barrier of the United States prevents the people of the United States enjoying these luxuries, and continues keeping their mouths watering for them. But, as mentioned at the outset, Canada is most prosperous and well satisfied with the present condition of things, and while the friendly feeling still prompts Canada's commercial men to be willing to treat for more equitable reciprocal trade with their neighbors to the south, the next initiative it would seem must come from the United States.

There are many indications that many people of the United States are agree-people of the United States are agreeable that a suggestion for limited or general reciprocal trade should come at an early date. Their movements indicate general reciprocal trade should come at an early date. Their movements indicate that they are pretty well pleased with the natural resources and special advantages of Canada. For instance, the fact that over 70,000 people from the United States came over to Canada last year and settled on farms in the Canadian Northwest; bringing with them an average of at least $1,000 each, making a total of over seventy million dollars, thus indirectly adding to the general wealth of Canada, a sufficient sum to build half a transcontinental railway each year, and if we add the further estimated value of each settler being worth a thousand dollars to the general trade, commerce and revenue of the country, we have one hundred and forty millions added to Canada's wealth annually from the United States, which is sufficient to build a whole transconting to the property of the country of the country will be used to be undered and forty millions added to Canada's wealth annually from the United States, which is sufficient to build a whole transconting to the country of the cou is sufficient to build a whole transcontinental railway every year. T firms who are not only investing but constructing many of the industrial re-quirements of Canada, providing for the conversion of relations, might be taken as a further and more definite evidence that many prominent people of the United States are anxious that the Government of the day should take the next step at an early date. I thank you once more for your invitation and crossing and the the front, if not in the very first early date. I thank you once more for your invitation and greeting, and the opportunity of assuring you of Canada's friendship and good feeling. I shall be glad if anything I have said will aid, ever so little, in helping to direct these feelings of friendship to wiser and more profitable trade relations.

HER NATURAL RESOURCES. HER NATURAL RESOURCES, such as forests, minerals, etc., into useful and necessary finished products, it would seem that their good impression of Canada, followed up by these practical results, might be taken as an indication that they are not only agreeable to the United States Government making a mere reciprocal suggestion to Canada, but that in the absence of Government action they are acting individually, all of which appears to imply that Canada's greatest continuous wheat fields in the world, her largest elevators in the world, her richest nickel ore deposits in the world, and her great transportation facilities, both rail and water, are all commending themselves to the consideration and action of the Minish water.

IN FIELD OF ICEBERGS. British Steamer Held Up for a Day

New York, May 16.—The sharp-nosed Britisher Volturno, of the Northwest Transport Line, out of Rotterdam via Halifax, warped her way into dock over in Erie basin to-day with a wintry tale in her log. Just a week to the day back she had been skinning her sharp nose against packed field ice for nearly 24 hours up off the coast of Newfoundland and the luck of the British marine played her more than fair in the getaway. It was at 3 o'clock last Sunday morning that the watch reported the loom of a big berg off the starboard. There was a bit of a fog hanging about the big white shape and Captain Harrison knocked off speed a trifle. Hardly was the berg, astern when a second of the ghosts from the north, with its trailing stroud of fog, appeared about a quarter mile off the bow. JUVENILE TEMPLARS.

At the regular weekly session of the International Juvenile Temple, I. O. G. T., held in the C., O. O. F. Hall on Saturday afternoon, one candidate was initiated, and three propositions for membership received. Mrs. Robert Morison, superintendent, presided over a good attendance of members, and was supported by Miss Addie Eydt, Chier Templar. The temple's secretary-treasurer, T. B. W. Macnaughton, who is also marshal of the Grand Lodge, was elected as the temple's delegate to the Grand Lodge session to be held next month in Renfrew county. On conclusion of business the members were all nicely grouped together and photographed by Duncan Campbell, an officer of the Britannia Lodge. The following programme was given: Plano solos, Misses Nellie Morison, Irene Elford and Addie Eydt; readings, Misses Jean Finch and Doris Patterson; song, Frank Cramp; dialogue, Misses Margaret Stove and Nan Brown. A bright, brief address was given by F. S. Morison, the greatly esteemed Past Grand Councillor of Canada, on "The I. O. G. T. in Many Landas". Next Saturday afternoon the programme will be of an impromptu nature.

AMUSEMENTS

During the past few years novelists have gained notoriety and a good deal of money by writing imagin ary accounts of the invasion of England by continental powers at a time when it was supposed the British fleet was evaded and from a military point of view the country was in a hopeless state of unpreparedness. These fiction writers took advantage of a nervous fear that obtained in the mind of a certain section of the British public as to the result of a war with a continental power. Still more recently alarmists have sprung up who utter dreadful forbodings as to the terrible consequences that would result, say, from a war with Germany. Major Guy du Maurier, the author of "An Englishman's Home," the play to be presented at the Grand on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, seems to have taken advantage of this feeling of apprehension and tells the story of the landing of a continental army on the shores of Britain and the ruin brought upon an English home in consequence of the occupation. It is supposed that, favored by a long-continued fog, an army of the "Empress of the North" succeeds in landing on the Essex coast. The satirical account of the unpreparedness of the home defence view the country was in a hopeless state ntrances, gavenur intrances.
So it looks now as if the park would soon come under the sway of a reorganized company.
The cottagers intend returning to would this season. The cottagers intend returning Grimsby as usual this season. Grimsby Park has an interesting his-tory. It first came into being as a sorted succeeds in landing on the Essex coast. The satirical account of the unpreparedness of the home defence forces is said to be very amusing. At the last extremity Brown, the proprietor of a villa in Essex, goaded to desperation, uses a rifle in defence of his house and family, and being caught by the invaders is promptly shot, for being a civilian he had no right according to a civilian he had no right according to the laws of war to become a combatant. In the first act he and his sons and friends are represented as taking no interest in anything but sport, while he himself is continually denouncing the expenditure on militarism. At the finale after all the mischief is done the invaders are supposed to be defeated to the inspiring strains of the bagpipe. The officers of the 13th Regiment will occupy the boxes on Wednesday evening.

"A BROKEN IDOL."

"A BROKEN IDOL." "A Broken Idol," one of the best musical shows of the season, comes to the Grand next Saturday. It is said to be a very big production, and goes from here to Toronto, thence to Boston for the summer. The first act in centred in Chinatown, Los Angeles; the second portrays Pugsley's home at Santa Monica. Both are beautifully staged. Incidentally a number of surprising spectacular creations are introduced. One of these in the first act is a human dragon, which comes on the seene spitting fire and wriggling its huge scaly form, only to break up into a group of entrancing butterfly girls; it is followed by a quartette of dancing Chinese lanterns, animated by the nimble, but hidden limbs of four members of the chorus.

In the second act the climax of sruprise is reached when the stage is suddenly darkened and a balloon appears, in the servings of which steps a charm; "A Broken Idol." one of the best mu United States naval pharmacist.

INSURANCE DISCUSSED.

se Made Good Progress on Saturday With Bill.

Opposition to Salary of New Minister of Labor.

Authority Given For the Fifty Million Dollar Loan.

Ottawa, May 15.- Although fatigued long vigils and reduced to small s by the departure of many bers, the House of Commons to day tackled the heaviest piece of legisof the session, and with such good purpose that the insurance bill. good purpose that the insurance bill, around which so much controversy has raged for two years, was all but finally approved. In its present shape the bill materially differs from the original draft introduced last session, but in detail it probabyl represents ome of the most carefully prepared measures ever submitted to Parliament. Modelled on some of the recommendations of the Insurance Commission, it was on its initial appearance committed to the hands of the Banking and Commerce Committee to anking and Commerce Committee to harmered into shape. Every fa-tiv was given to the insurance com-inies and others interested in the gislation to make their views known, and they made such good use of their opportunities that it was found impossible to carry the bill through last session. It reappeared this session considerably modified in some of its provisions, and again the Banking and Commerce Committee took it in hand.

MR. KING'S ENTRY TO CABINET MR. KING'S ENTRY TO CABINET.

The entry of Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King into the Cabinet was brought appreciably nearer by the passing of the bill creating a portfolio of Labor.

Mr. Borden had some criticism to offer against the multiplication of Cabinet Ministers, and Mr. David Henderson protested against the Minister of Labor receiving a salary of $7,000, but the desirability of the step proposed seemed to be generally recognized.

TAX ON OUTSIDE INSURANCE. In moving the resolution providing for a tax of 15 per cent. upon the net cost of insurance effected with unlicensed companies, Hon. Mr. Fielding gave a brief explanation of the considerations which had led the Banking and Commerce Committee to propose the amendment. Under the insuring and Commerce Committee to propose the amendment. Under the insurance law the home companies and foreign companies operating in Canada had to take out a license, put up deposits, and become subject to other regulations, and it was felt that to allow foreign companies to do business in Canada without any restriction whatever would not be fair. In the bill as originally drafted there was a provision that foreign companies could not inspect risks in Canada, but a controversy had arisen in which it had been claimed by the manufacturers particularly who insure with the New England mutual companies that such a provision would cause these companies to refuse risks in Canada altogether. At the meetings of the Banking and Commerce Committee representatives of the manufacturers had admitted that they would rather pay a fairly heavy tax on their premiums than be shut out by the mutual companies, and after careful consideration the committee had agreed that a tax of 15 per cent. on the net premiums of these unlicensed companies would be a fair and reasonable tax.

Hon, John Haggart doubted whether Parliament had the power to pass legislation which would tax contracts entered into in another country.

Dr. Sproule thought the Canadian into in another country.

Dr. Sproule thought the Canadian companies were themselves largely to blame for the growth of mutual insurance in the Dominion. Evidence had been given before the committee that manufacturers could not get the insurance they wanted from Canadian companies.

Miller (South Grey) was of opinion that a tax of 15 per cent. on the net premiums would have a tend-ency at least to increase the insur-ance business in Canada and reduce and go into committee on the bill, re-serving further discussion until Monday. The bill was then run through rapidly, upon which the Government had an option, or a total of $49,901,333.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLAR LOAN. On motion of Hon. Mr. Fielding a bill On motion of Hon. Mr. Fielding a bill was passed authorizing the Government to raise by way of loan a sum not exceeding $50,000,000 to redeem maturing loans. The Finance Minister explained that a loan of 1885 for six and a half million pounds sterling was about to mature, for which $20,974,000 would be required. There were also temporary loans maturing, amounting to $11,227,333, and a 4 per cent. loan of $17,750,000, upon which the Government had an sertion or a total of $49,901,333.

Replying to Mr. Perley, Mr. Fielding said it was his intention to attach a sinking fund to all future loans. PORTFOLIO OF LABOR.

PORTFOLIO OF LABOR.

In moving the second reading of the bill to create a portfolio of labor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that this step had been rendered necessary by the evergrowing importance of the labor question. During the past sixty years advancing civilization had caused quite a revolution in the relations between wage-earners and wage-payers, and Canada had shared in the advance. Nine years ago Parliament thought it advisable to organize a Department of Labor, and its success had more than justified the experiment. It was now proposed to make it a separate department, presided over by a Minister of the Crown, and that proposal had been approved by the labor organizations. The cost of such a step would be just $7,300, the sum of $7,000 for the salary of the Minister and $300 as part payment of the Minister's secretary.

MR. LEMIEUX'S ARGUMENT.

MR. LEMIEUX'S ARGUMENT. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux declared that any discrimination in the matter of the salary of the Minister of Labor would be at once resented by the labor becasts of the country. The department was growing rapidly in importance, and as a matter of fact the charge of affairs had rested principally with the Deputy Minister of Labor had more details to look after and more matters to handle with tact and care than had perhaps several of the other Ministers of the Crown. In passing Lir. Lemieux noted in connection with the question of Oriental immigration that the last reports of Japanese immigration to Canada showed that during the past six months only ninety-two Japanese had come to Canada, and the exodus of Japanese had been greater than the influx.

SHOULD INCREASE MINISTERIAL SHOULD INCREASE MINISTERIAL

Hon. Mc. Fielding declared that in view of the demands on the Ministers and the importance of their work he would be prepared, if he ever came to be on the Opposition side of the House, to advocate an increase in the Ministers'

Mr. Borden declared that he thought Mr. Borden destared that he thought there was no valid criticism to be offee ed in respect to the salaries or duties of the Cabinet Ministers. Their respon-sibility had largely increased since the salary was fixed at $7,000 per year in 1874, and he had no hesitation in saying that if the Government would bring in a bill to increase ministerial salaries a fill to increase initiation state of the would support it. He thought that if a new Minister was created the salary given should be the same as that given to other Ministers.

SEVERAL BILLS PUT THROUGH.

The Commons did the best three hours' work of the session during the evening sitting, clearing off the order paper a half dozen Government bills. Third reading was given the bill providing that the interest on the money advanced to the Montreal Harbor Compilies of the provinciation missioners for elevators and other terminal facilities shall be charged to the minal facilities shall be charged to the commission's capital account. He would prefer to leave things as they were.

Mr. Thoburn pointed out that the tax would mean a considerable addition to the cost of insurance. He knew of the case of a manufacturer who for $400,000 of insurance paid at the rate of $60 cents. His premium, therefore, was $2,400, and the tax would add $330, which was equivalent to $60,000 of insurance.

It was agreed to adopt the resolution of the committee on the case of a manufacturer who for $100,000 of insurance paid at the rate of $100,000 of insurance paid at the rat

ON CANADA.

Hamilton Old Boy at N. Y. Canadian Club Banquet.

Speech by Mr. Graham, President of the Barton Club.

The following speech was delivered at the annual banquet of the New York Canadian Club last Friday evening by Col. Alexander P. Graham, President of Col. Alexander P. Graham, Président of the Canadian Club of Boston, Mass. The Colonel is a native Hamiltonian, having been born in this city on March 18, 1864:
Our Canadian Clubs, gentlemen, can achieve real distinction by bringing together the leading public men of both countries, on such occasions as this, and discuss the great commercial and social questions, which are of vital interests to both peoples. The Canadians of Massachusetts, and particularly the Canadian Club of Boston, desire to see a still better understanding between Canada and the United States. And our Club's work will be in the future to cultivate such a spirit.

Canada is to-day, and it is growing in leaps and bounds, the best customer per capita we have. Why, then, gentlemen, should we not see to it that we still encourage and cultivate our best customers, and have our interests grow? The Boston Herald, with its great influential backing, has been steadily advocating for years closer trade relations with Canada, and I desire to say that it is one of the greatest newspapers in this country, and has devoted great energy in this line.

President Eliot, of Barvard College, in a recent speech at Boston, says: "For let me tell you the most precious possessions in all our lives is the great pleasure of looking back to the places where we were reared and born. The British leles may or may not be in decadence. the Canadian Club of Boston, Mass. The sessions in air our lives is the great pres-sure of looking back to the places where we were reared and born. The British lsles may or may not be in decadence. They have probably centuries of fight in them still, but the colonies of Britain them still, but the colomes of prican are but commencing long forces of wealth and power. If the whote Empire comes to the support of the Motherland, there are no forces in Europe that can overthrow her. If the continental powers realize that they will not fight England alone, but the English speaking states that energie the earth, they will see long way before proposition way.

and alone, but the English speaking states that endrele the earth, they will go a long way before provoking war. It has been a marvellous twelve years for the Dominion of Canada. Just think of the tremendous changes that have taken place, in the material condition and future prospects of that country, since the Canadian Club was organized. Its domestic and foreign trade has boomed as never before. Its agriculture has increased enormously. Its great Northwest has been invaded by thousands of settlers. Two new Provinces, young Empires in themselves, have been created. Its wheat crop has increased from 50,000,000 bushels to 150,000,000 bushes annually. Two new trans-continental railways have been subsidized. A fast Atlantic service has been provided for, both on the Atlantic and the Pacific. The Laurier Administration has been again returned to power triumphantly. The military defence of the Dominion has passed from Great Britain to its own control. The Alaska boundary question has been settled. In dustries have multiplied, and the Canadian national spirit has grown, Millions upon millions of English and American capital have poured into the Dominion. Such is the Dominion that we view today, the new Canada.

As for the Canadian Club of Boston itself, its work speaks for itself. In day, the new Canada.

As for the Canadian Club of Boston itself, its work speaks for itself. In the advocacy of reciprocal trade relations between the two countries, in the dissimenation of information respecting Canada, in the bringing together at the banquet boards the best types of American and Canadian citizenship, and is the leaguing together in a common in the leaguing together in a common cause of all the Canadian organization of the United States, it has a field tha may well occupy its best energy.

May its members all strive to the end that these two great nations typified by the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, under whose intertwined folds the members so often meet, may be united for the preservation of the world's peace and the prosecution of their best efforts to both peoples.

CONMEE'S BILL.

Senator Geo. W. Ross' Reasons For Supporting It.

Ottawa, May 15.-Mr. Conmee's biil incorporate the Michigan & Ontario Power Company passed in the Senate this afternoon the last stage of its fitful struggle through Parliament. The fittul struggie through rafinament. The battle over the question of Provincial rights was fought over again on third reading. the expropriation clauses in the bill as being an infringement of Ontario's legis, lative powers, while Hon, G W. Ross justified in the premises Federal incorporation for the company.

Senator G. W. Ross said he had opposed this bill previously, but it had been shorn of its objectionable features. He would be as quick as any man to resent any invasion of Provincial rights. Sir Mackenzie was a late convert to that principle. He had belonged to a party which had invaded the rights of Ontario and which had been resisted by the party to which he (Senator Ross) belonged. The Ontario Government was hardly to be quoted as a champion of the rights of private property-holders, for it had given the Hydro-Electric Commission authority to expropriate and take forcible possession of any water power in Canada. That was done on the ground that they were public utilities. The Michigan Power Co. would be a public service. Its rates would be under the control of the Railway Commission. The company proposed to spend five million dollars.

This powder, instead of softening the metal, as borax does, instantly changed the heated copper into such a degree of firmness that manipulation was impossible. Says Three Things Are Necessary to Fight Tuberculosis.

"Uncie Jee" Cannon's Defiance of the Chleroform Age.

Washington, May 16 .- That tuberculosis is no longer a problem for the doc-tors alone, that it will probably take tors alone, that it will probably take two or three generations to reduce the ravages to the rate at which typhoid fever has been regulated and that the public must be awakened to a greater sense of its responsibility in combating the disease, was the substance of an address by Dr. William Osler at a public meeting of the National Association for the Study of Prevention of Tuberculosis. Others who spoke were Ambassador Bryce and Speaker Cannon, both of whom urged children's playgrounds as a means of keeping them in the open air as much as possible.

Dr Osler dwelt at length on the need of money to carry on the work, and favored small subscriptions, ranging from 10 cents to $1. It was essention, he declared, that the public should get in the habit of contributing to so great a cause. One of the most important problems in dealing with the disease, he said, was improving the social condition of the poor.

"Three things remain to be done," said Dr. Osler. "The first is to keep the public awake, the second to obtain more money, and the third to arouse the interest of more men and women, because the campaign is one no longer entirely for the doctors.

Literary history records with dramaic unction the pitiful sums paid by ar tiquity for its masterpieces. A paltry twenty-six pounds for "Paradise Lost! There is latent in our surprise the assumption that, say, a million dollars would have been about right. It does not occur to us to be surprised that Milton was paid anything at all—paid for his sidereal song in the copper coinage of our mortality. And, so far as I know, no literary historian has attempted to trace what became of the money thus grudgingly and fantastically disbursed, though, indeed, fantastically disbursed, though, indeed, I can imagine no more fascinating matter for speculative inquiry. CHRISTIANS TO BLAME For the Jews' Love of Money, Says

Bishop of Stipney. London, May 16.—The Bishop of Stepney made a remarkable appeal last week on behalf of the charitable fund for the Jews of the east end of London. He believed the Jews' love of money was partly due to the very terror which had some upon him through had come upon him through age-long hunting. He hoarded because the Christians had thieved, and he saved because he never knew when and where he might be stranded in destitution.

HEARD THEIR NEW PASTOR.

First Congregational People Pleas ed With Rev. E. H. Tippett.

Rev. Marcus Scott, of Detroit, at Gospel Tabernacle.

Rev. J. D. Cunningham in St. Giles' Pulpit Yesterday.

First Congregational Church was well filled at both services yesterday, when Rev. E. H. Tippett, the new pastor, began his duties. Mr. Tippett has a most pleasing and persuasive manner and a forceful personality that makes itself felt. The possessor of a well-modulated voice, which he has at perfect command, he makes a pleasing impression when he is speaking. That the congregation was thoroughly satisfied with his sermons yesterday was evident from the expressions of opinion after the services.

In the morning Mr. Tippett spoke on the duty of a minister to his people, what he should be to them, and his conception of the work, the noblest work carried on in the world. The minister of to-day has the world of God to deliver, and he is a messenger through which God must have His messages given to the people, he said. The task is a difficult one, on account of the multiplicity one, on account of the multiplicity ficult one, on account of the multiplicity of demands that it makes upon the man. This is an age of specialties. The old practitioner must give way to the demands of modern science. The man in the business world, who is willing and ready to do anything, is not the man who is wanted. It is the man who is able to specialize in one department and makes a success of it that makes headway.

This, however, is impossible with the This, however, is impossible with the minister. The demands made upon him are more numerous than they have ever been before in the history of the world. A man can do a few things well, but a minister must do so many things in a passable way. There are three qualifications absolutely necessary in the make-up of a minister, if he is to prove a success. He must have experience, and by that the speaker meant a consciousa success. He must have experience, and by that the speaker meant a consciousness of a definite relationship with God and to Jesus Christ. The man who does not know the meaning of forgiveness can never make a successful minister. There may be many theories, but experience is deeper than any theory. Secondly, a minister must have the vision of God, that is a larger conception of God and His works. Unless the minister has a vision of the kingdom of God upon earth he will sooner or later fall from a vision of the kingdom of God upon carth he will sooner or later fall from the ranks. Lastly, the minister must have complete faith in the redeeming power of Jesus Christ. It has come upon the world in these days that many are apt to believe that the man who heals the body is the man who can save one's life. This was an erroneous idea, and if a minister lets materialism cet hold if.a minister lets materialism get hold of him, he is apt to lose his spiritual ideal. He must receive the vision of what ministers have done before him, and of what he stands for. He must not magnify the opportunities of his office, but employ his time and enegries as a leader of people for God. He must needs believe that the kingdom of Jesus Christ is coming. Then, again, a minister must be true to himself and his God. He must not lower himself by preaching lets materialism get ho must not lower himself by preaching what others want him to, instead of what his own convictions prompt him

Mr. Tippett, in conclusion, asked the Mr. Tippett, in conclusion, asked the help and support of the entire congregation. He stated that it was absolutely vital to his interests that he have the hearty co-operation of every member. He asked that as far as possible he be given a free hand in the leadership of the church work. He contended that the congregation could either make or break the minister. Speaking of pastoral work, Mr. Tippett said he flid not believe in making social calls and drinking aftersocial calls and drinking after on tea, with no other idea in view. His policy was, Go where you are needed, and where you are needed most.

In the evening Mr. Tippett gave another eloquent sermon on "The Purpose of a Church."

GOSPEL TABERNACLE.

Before a large congregation W Gospe Tabernacle last night Marcus Scott, o Tabernacle last night Marcus Scott, of Detroit, delivered an inspiring sermon on "Soul Worship." Mr. Scott is an excellent speaker, possessing a clear voice and features that readily respond in expressing emotions. The speaker dealt at length with forgiveness, its meaning, and what it meant to both giver and receiver. He said that it was a divine effect of the speaker dealt at length with the comes, divertily that comes divertily the comes divertily and the speaker divertily the comes divertily and the speaker divertily the comes divertily and the speaker dealt t, something that comes directly om God to us. It is also a pleasant from God to us. It is also a pleasant thing. The giving of it causes pleasure and the receiving of it is also a delight. He spoke on the condition of things on the other side of the border, especially in Detroit, where he resides. He said the people in the United States did things in a peculiar way. Some of them, he said, were quite willing to fail if by doing so they would only have to pay 80 les and they sought to get others to love Jesus. The world was convinced through them, and it was the power of the Master working through them that the best results were obtained. The spirit of the Master is like electricity, and after coming in contact with the Master it is easily noticeable by the eagernoss to do service for Him. A Christian is expected to be and is privileged to be electric in service. To the disciples it signified new power in their work, and they received new insight into the teaching of the Testament prophecy.

REV. J. D. CUNNINGHAM.
In St. Giles' Church last night Rev. J. D. Cunningham, of Cleveland, a former assistant pastor at MacNab Street Presbyterian Church, addressed a large and attentive audience. He chose for his text Mathew Xl., 3. "Art thou he that should come or do we took for amother." He said the words of Paul had the power of the Achilles, because he dealt with soul stirring facts. The message of John was the message for today. He said that entrance could be obtained to the kingdom of peace only by getting right with God. In the statement of the text the body is dominant over the mind, as it very often is with a good many people. One thing in human nature is that the power of the body is manifest over the body, as the body controls the mind, and it is that which should if possible he avoided. He said there are three things to be considered—first, the spiritual mastership; second, the matter of the life as a whole; third, service. He said that looking over the past one readily realize. second, the matter of the life as a whole; third, service. He said that looking over the past one readily realiz-ed what little had been accomplished.

REV. DR. STEWART.

Former Hamilton Clergman Tendered a Reception.

Fifty Years a Minister-Hamiltonians Honer Him.

The older Hamiltonians will remember the Rev. Dr. William Stewart, who was pastor of the old Baptist Church on Park street twenty-five or thirty years ago, and who was for so long a respected and honored member of the gospel in Hamilton. Mr. Stewart is still hale and hearty, and on Saturday was, on the occasion of the fiftieth an-niversary of his ordination to the Christian ministry, tendered a reception by Dr. Elmore Harris, president, and the council of the Bible Training School, in the assembly hall, 110 College street, Toronto. Toronto. Dr. Stewart is secretary of the school.

Dr. Harris presided, and the divine blessing having been invoked by Rev. Dr. Norton, notes were real by Rev. J. McNicol, principal of the school, Rev. A. B. Winchester, Dr. and Mrs. Howitt, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rogers and Dr. McKay. E. O. White read the record of Dr. Stewart's ordination at Beamsville, Ont., May 13, 1859, and the dry bones of the official report were clothed by Rev. James T. Dowling, Petrolea, Ill., and Rev. D. M. Mihell, Oshawa.

Ten persons who had been members of Dr. Stewart's Hamilton congregation were present, and had G. R. Roberts, formerly of Hamilton, for their spokesman, and it was fitting that George Jones should speak for Parliament street church, as he was the first one baptized there.

Miss A. R. Hitchen presented Mrs.

Stewart with a magnificent bunch of American beauty rosses.
In replying, Mr. Stewart said he had always thought that whatever work he had been enabled to do in the Bible Training School had been through the kind providence of God, who in the earlier part of his life had prepared him specially by leading him in ways he never could have chosen for himself.

Marched in a Body to St. Mary's Cathedral Yesterday.

Rev. Father Doyle Delivered an Inspiring Address

In Which He Explained Why Masonry is Opposed.

Members of the Hamilton branches of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association, four hundred strong, marched in a body to St. Mary's Cathedral yesterday afternoon and were addressed by Rev. priests, conducting the mission at St. Lawrence's Church. His Lordship Bishop Dowling, Grand Spiritual Adviser of the Order, had intended preaching to the society, but, owing to bronchial trouble contracted during his visits to teh schools last week, he found it impossible to speak at length and after

There was nothing grander, Father Doyle remarked, than a Catholice society, in fact as well as in name. Referring to some of the organizations the church put the ban on, he said, that hundreds of Catholics had spoken to him about Freemasonry, declared they could see no harm in it, and, that it had nothing more to say against the Catholic Church than any other church. The church opposed it because its principle was wrong and while that principle may be the could have tell when it would break forth. Catholics were often prone to view never tell when it would break forth. Catholics were often prone to view things from the present, but the church looked back over centuries. A society without God could never amount to anything, for it was God who dignified all diversity in life and who brought things out of chaos to make them beautiful. He exhorted his hearers to look up to the church for protection. The underlying strain of their society should be Catholicity, and they should see that it was in accordance with all that the church demanded. First they should seek the kingdom of God, look to the head of their diocese for advice and give dutiful obedience of the chaplain appointed by

WEST SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE.

MOOSE JAW AND INDIAN HEAD RECEIVE GREATEST SHOCK.

Earthquake Supposed to Indicate Great Disaster Somewhere-Volcanic Eruption at Cape Dauphin

Winnipeg, May 16.—Consternation was pread throughout Western Canada and he adjoining States of the Union last night when the whole of the vast area f country between New Ontario on the east and Swift Current on the west, Frince Albert on the north and St. Paul on the south, was shaken by an earth-quake. It occurred at 10.20 o'clock, and the disturbance lasted from thirty seconds to a minute, according to the locality. No damage to property has been reported, although many people in places where the shake was more severe were greatly alarmed. In Winnipeg the tremor seemed to be most pronounced in the vicinity of the Assimboine River valley, but it was noted throughout the city. In many house furniture was shaken. ast and Swift Current on the

NO LOSS OF LIFE. Recollections of the horrors of the an Francisco catastrophe were recalled, and until it was finally learned that life and until it was finally learned that file and property throughout the country were safe there was great alarm. The C. P. R. telegraph operators, who were in communication with the western towns when the convulsion occurred, were notified that the quake there was simultaneous with that at Winnipeg. Despatches were flashed everywhere, in Despatches were flashed everywhere, inquiring as to the results of the upheaval, and there was a feeling of intense relief when assurance came in that there had been neither loss of life nor property. Western towns and villages which had been shaken feared for Winnipeg's safety.

At Indian Head goods, were shaken from the shelves in stores, furniture and lamps, and dishes in houses were moved, and the citizens rushed to the moved, and the citizens rushed to the open, fearful of a terrible catastrophe At Moose Jaw there was also a genera exodus of citizens from their homes, and buildings were rocked quite perceptibly. Terrific electrical storms also raged in several localities, but whether these outbursts had any connection with the great con-rulsion of nature which shook the prai-ries cannot be known. Scientists, however, who have been consulted in the matter, declare their belief that the real force of the earthquake was not felt in this country, but rather this was but a tremor from some mighty convulsion of the earth in another section of the tremor from some mighty convulsion of the earth in another section of the globe, and they expect to learn of further details of a destructive visitation.

There is said to have been a similar disturbance here many years ago, although there is no authentic record of it excepting the memory of pioneers, but the prairies have always been regarded as peculiarly immune from earthquakes, owing to their distance from the centres of volcanic action, mountains or seashore, and also from the fact that the earth's crust here is of solid formation. Actual earthquakes are regarded as almost impossible, and it is, therefore, argued by authorities that last night's disturbance here it but a faint echo of something terrible.

As the ship was running down shore about fifteen miles from Sydney mighty Cape Dauphin rose above the sea line, and plainly distinguishd from its apex was a light vapor of thin grey smoke, curling lazily skyward. As the vessel assed down near the promontory thick black smoke was thrown high in the air black smoke was thrown high in the air from the summit in a succession of short, sharp bursts. There was a shaking which noticeably disturbed the sea. After a short period the gusts subsided, and a tour of exploration was made by the crew.

sea, its seven hundred feet rising per-pendicularly from the water. At one point a narrow gorge about two hundred yards long leads in between precipitous cliffs to a landing place, from which a path leads up the heights. The adven-turers had made half this distance when a huge wave rushed from the cavern and swept the frail craft back to sea. The rowers could with difficulty keep their boat on a very keep sea, its seven hundred feet rising per-pendicularly from the water. At one

Later, a second attempt was made, but again the men were driven back by overpowering fumes of sulphur which emanated from the interior.

This cavern, known as Fairy Cave, leads far into the mountain, and bas never been explored. At the foot of the cave there rests a huge cape of traprock which is considered by geological experts to be of volcanic origin.

UNION HORSE EXCHANGE.

Trade at the Union Horse Exchange,
Toronto, for the preesnt week was good.
One hundred horses were offered, all of which found a ready market, generally at mederate prices, although a few topnochers brought above the average quotation, More horses of good quality could have been readily disposed of, but dealers report horses hard to buy from farmers, who ask as high prices as are quoted at the sale stables.

Manager Smith reports the following prices: Draughters, $160 to $210, with $250 for top-notchers; general purpose, $140 to $180; wagon horses, $150 too $200, with $220 for one or two of extra quality; drivers, $100 to $150, and $200 was paid for two or three of the best on sale; serviceably sound, $35 to $80. It is thought that horses will be more plentiful as soon as the farmers get through their seeding. 3.

There are 47 car loads of live stock at the Union Stock Yards for sale at Monday's market.

SUGAR MARKET.

St. Lawrence sugars are quoted as follows: Granulate $4.70 per cwt., in barrels. These prices are for delivery here. Car lots 5c less. In 100-lb. bags prices are 5c less.

Three o'clock-Closing EVENING GRAIN LETTER.

(To J. R. Heintz & Co.) (To J. R. Heintz & Co.)

Chicago, Ill., May 17.—Market started a shade easier, but soon turned firm on good buying. The visible supply showed a decrease of 2,467,000. Northwest receipts, 282 cars; last year, 361. Winnipeg, 51 cars; year ago, 515. We believe September and December should be bought on all little recessions. Conditions both at home and abroad do not tions both at nome and abroad do not warrant any material decline from present prices. Statistics regarding supplies continue very favorable to holders of wheat. Liverpool closed steady, 1-8 lower to 1-4 higher. Market closed strong, 3-4 to 1 1-8 higher.

The second game was between the laradviews and Keystones, the former winning 9—6. Both teams played clean ball, but the Keystones had hard luck. The Keystones had one hard inning in the second, when the Broadviews landed on Oscar Smith and scored five runs. They tried hard to make up for the second inning, forcing the Broadviews to go the limit to win. On two occasions they had three men on bases and only one out, but could not score. "Nick" Botton served the benders for the Broadviews, and had some good ones. Uscar Smith, after being out of the box for a long time, went in again and showed some class. With the exception of the second inning he was always on the job, and used good indigent. "It?" Laber?" Laber?" I sheep.

GREAT SOCCER.

Dundas and Lancashires Play Tie Game. In the Hamilton Association Football

League on Saturday afternoon, Dundas and the Lancashire teams played a tie game, at Cotter's Field. The score at the finish was 2-2. J. Nevilles was the referee and the teams lined up as fol-

Lancashire—Dowell, goal; F. Smith and J. Taylor, full-backs; H. Wilkins, C. Whittle, A. Coombs, half-backs; C. Brown, J. Healy, W. Fennel, F. Healy, A. Lomas, Forwards.

Dundas—Cornell, goal; Jane and Fletcher, fullbacks; Graham, McArdle, Scott, halfbacks, Hollis, Chatland, Dwyer, Mallet, Stevenson, forwards.

Lancashires lost the toss and set the ball in motion against a strong wind. For the opening ten minutes or so the weight of the Dundas men seemed to tell against their lighter opponents.

weight of the Dundas men seemed to tell against their lighter opponents. F. Smith, however, was playing his usual forceful game, and his clearances were well timed and cleverly executed. His partner, Taylor, was called upon to stop several ugly rushes, and he came through the ordeal with great credit. A good long pass by Scott, the Dundas right half, looked bad for the Laucashires, but Dowell, the Lancashire's custodian, was ever on the alert, and cashires, but Dowell, the Lancashire's custodian, was ever on the alert, and made some nice saves. Graham with a splendid kick, put his forwards in possession. Smith had to be reckoned with once more, he again clearing his lines twice in quick succession. A foul for "hands" gave relief to the Lancashires. Wilkins and Coombs were now getting through a heap of work. Good dribbling by Coombs and the persistent tackling of Wilkins at last gave the Lancashires a chance. Brown and Healy worked the ball well down on the right. Brown centred across goal in great style. The ball went to Wilkins, who lay uncovered, and this player, steadying himself, drove in a magnificent high ball. The Dundas goalkeeper had to exert himself to the utmost to save, he bringing off a fine clearance. New life was in the Lancashires and Fennel shot past. Graham burst through the Lancashires' defence, his final pass going to the inside left, Hollis, who scored. Encouraged by this success Graham again flashed past all opposition and score a lovely goal.

Score at half time—Lancashires two goals down.

In the second Coombs dribbled the ball across the field and endeavored to get his forwards going. He ought to part with the ball sooner, however, he being robbed occasionally before could get in his final pass. Jane, the Dundas back, was being found a heap of work to do. Time and again he cleared his lines, but he would do better to copy the methods of Smith on the opposite side and keep the ball in play. It is not football to deliberately kick the ball out. Lomas, who came on the field at half time, now commenced to play a sterling game at outside left. Repeatedly he dashed down the wing, leaving the doughty Scott in the rear. Gossip and Comment

Dr. W. G. Thompson, the chairman of the Tigers' Committee which arranged the Bobby Kerr meet, is to be congratulated on the success of the affair. Had the weather been fine the park would have been too small for the crowds. The only regrettable thing about Saturday's meet was the lack of stakes on the running track. Two or three cases of interference would have been avoided if each contestant had his territory laid out.

Nothing further has been done in the deal whereby the Toronto Amateur Athletic Club will take over the grounds, but it will be closed in the fall.

Th report that the negotiations have been in the interest of the staffs of the different banks is incorrect. It has probably sprung from the fact that the staffs of Commerce and Metropolitan Banks are members of the Athletic Club. Should the present deal by any chance Should the present deal by any chance not go through, the T. A. A. C. will pur-chase grounds and erect a club house elsewhere.

First Race of the Season of the H. H. P. C.

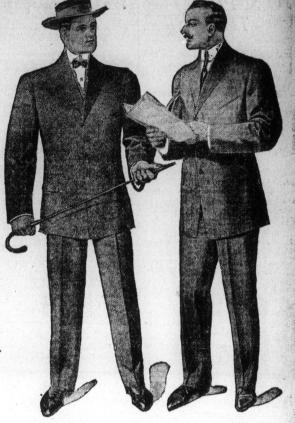

The Hamilton Homing Pigeon Club held its first race of the season on Sat urday afternoon from Brantford. There weer in all 50 birds entered, and the weer in all 50 birds entered, and the competition was very keen. The special prize for this race was donated by the M. Brennen Lumber Co., and was won, along with the other prizes, by M. J. Davis, who was so successful last year. The birds of Messrs, Roberts, Robshaw and Somerville were close up. The birds were liberated at 1.30, and, considering the weather conditions, the time made was very good. As far as is known there were not more than two or three birds lost. The velocity in yards per minute made by the first 18 birds timed in, with the owners' names, are as follows.

Saskatoon Council Backs Gilbert in Re-organization Scheme.

Programme For the Tuberculosis Convention This Week.

School Children Visit Government's Exhibit This Afternoon.

The Saskatoon Town Council has de cided to give Chief Gilbert, formerly eaptain of the Central station here, practically a free hand in reorganizing the fire department there. ago when Gilbert went to the western town the entire brigade resigned as a result of regulations he imposed. A spe cial despatch to the Times to-day anes that the council at a meeting on Saturday afternoon, decided to re place the disgruntled ones by new mer standing by Chief Gilbert, who is en joying a splendid reputation since his arrival in maintaining discipline. The aldermen are satisfied he is a capable and an industrious officer.

Much interest and importance at of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Consumption and other forms of tuberculosis, which opens here on Wednesday morning. Announcement of the meetings were made in all the Wednesday morning. Announcement of the meetings were made in all the churches of the city yesterday, and it is expected that big crowds will attend the meetings and hear what is being done to fight the great white plague. The morning of the first day will be devoted to the reading of reports and the appointment of committees. In the afternoor Dr. White, of Pittsburg Sanitarium, will deliver an address on "The Duty of Municipalities in Reference to Tuberculosis." In the evening of the same day his Worship the Mayor will deliver an address of welcome, after which Dr. Adami, of Montreal, will speak on a subject which ought to command attention, "How One Can Do Most Good in Arresting Tuberculosis at the Smallest Outlay," The topic set down for general discussion during the forenoon of Thursday is "The Duty of the People Toward the Movement for the Extinction of Consumption." Hon, Adam Beck, Mr. Downey, M. P. P., Dr. Fagan, of Victoria, B. C.; Dr. Geo. D. Porter, and a number of others, both physicians and laymen, are expected to take part in the discussion of this subject. On Thursday if adjourn to the Mountain Sanitarium to attend a reception given by the Iddies of Hamilton. ium to attend a reception given by the ladies of Hamilton.

The Ontario Government's free exhibit has been placed in the old Knox-Morgan building on King street, where the convention meetings will be held, and this afternoon the school children from the senior third grades of the Public and Separate Schools of the city viewed it and attended the illustrated lecture. London Lad Arrested in Detroit For Having Two Wives.

Detroit, May 17 .- His secret revealed his mother, Ward Aubrey, of London, at., and Halifax, was arrested here last night on a charge of bigamy and taken Windsor, later to be taken back to ondon. Ward admits he has another London. Ward admits he has another wife, and says he is willing to return and face the music. According to his own story, he married ten years ago, when 16 years old, leaving his home town, Halifax, and three children were born to them. He lived with his wife for three years and then left her but for three years and then left her, but later returned and stayed two years longer. Two years ago he went with his parents to London to live, and there met Mary Kilpatrick, 21 years old. They were married and have been living in Detroit since March. Ward married the girl without notifying her parents, and has been successful in keeping the affair a secret for several weeks. Ward's mother heard of it a short time ago from other sources and wearth total later returned and staved two year mother heard of it a short time ago from other sources and promptly told the girl's father, who swore out a warrant for Aubrey before Magistrate Love in London. Mr. Kilpatrick arrived in Windsor last night, and accompanied by Sergt. Reid, of that place, came to this city, and Ward's arrest followed.

CLARK'S IMMIGRANTS.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)
Toronto, May 17.—J. M. Clark's party of 1.907 English immigrants who arrived in Toronto this morning were given their final instructions and tickets to the different localities where they are to work. The whole party, with the exception of twenty, intend to buy farms in Ontario, and have an aggregate capital of $12,000. They are a better looking lot of men and women than the average immigrants, and are all trained agriculturists from the south and west of England. Many of them are going to points surrounding Hamilton and the Niagara fruit district, where they expect to invest money.
